

Carpet Sale AND White Wear Sale

Carpets and Whitewear are two items of special interest in this month's selling.

Our Display of Ladies White Wear is admitted by all the ladies who have seen it to be the "best yet", both in regard to styles and values. We feel justly gratified at the success of our opening because we have never given quite so much time and trouble in the collection of our display and have never taken so much pains to secure the very best values in the trade.

Ladies Gowns at—50c, 75c, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75 up to $2.50
Ladies Skirts at—$1.00, $1.50, $1.65, $1.75, $2.00, $2.50 up to $6.50
Ladies Drawers at—25c, 50c, 75c up to $1.00.
Ladies Corset Covers at—25c, 35c, 40c, 50c, 75c, 85c up to $1.50

Our February Carpet Sale has become an annual event looked forward to by many housekeepers and prospective carpet buyers. The reason for it is very obvious. Just before our new stock arrives we are anxious to reduce the stock on hand to a minimum and are willing to sacrifice profit to gain this end.

THOS. STONE & SON EVERYBODY

Even a store is entitled to a "square deal"—a "fair show." That's a point upon which all good people agree. Now let us inquire,

Is it fair to us when you conceal a disappointment or a wrong you have suffered in your buying at our store, and allow us no opportunity to make amends?

We tell you of the goods and when they are examined at home, if there is a disappointment or a regret, if "money back" would please you most it is only necessary to tell us of your wishes. We do not want, and will not have, if we know it, any dollars to come to us at the cost of a patron's good-will.

Try us and see how it will work out.

BOOKBINDING.

Orders for bookbinding should be left at this office. It is surprising how few volumes can be made of these magazines, even though they are somewhat soiled from much handling. Books, magazines or periodicals bound or rebound in any style at very reasonable prices. Blank books, such as journals, ledgers, day books with any kind of ruling, made to order. All work warranted first class.

Russia Assumes Control of Telegraphs in Siberia.

Various are the causes addressed—Little Attention Paid in London to Rumors of Peace Mediation—News From the South of Conflict Between—Russia's Interference At Chongchun—Gen. Kuropatkin Reports a Win.

London, Feb. 7.—Considerable speculation has been caused here by the fact that the Russian Government on Monday assumed control of the Siberian telegraph lines from 8 o'clock in the morning until 4 o'clock in the afternoon. It is said to be the first occasion on which telegraph communication has thus been stopped since the war began. Various possible causes are discussed, such as the extension of the strike movement to the Siberian Railway and important correspondence with General Kuropatkin. Little attention is paid here to rumors of peace mediation, but The Chronicle's St. Petersburg correspondent sends the statement, which, however, is not confirmed in other dispatches, that the recent conference of the Grand Ducal party to consider the far eastern prospects arrived at an agreement as to the desirability of ending the war, and that the rumor of General Kuropatkin's resignation was started to facilitate negotiations for peace.

Russian Extraneous.

Tokio, Feb. 7.—Official announcement is made that everything is quiet in the vicinity of Chongchun, with the exception that the Russians are strenuously intrenching. The Russian force, which attacked Chongchun Feb. 4, retired northward Feb. 5. On the afternoon of Feb. 4 and the morning of Feb. 5 the Russian artillery west of Tanshan shelled Manchukuo Mountain and vicinity. Small bodies of Russian infantry attacked, but they were repulsed. Before abandoning Songchun in North-eastern Korea, the Russians burned all their stores. It is thought that the Russians intend to abandon all operations in North-eastern Korea.

Reported Russian Win.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 7.—Telegraphing under date of Feb. 5, General Kuropatkin reports as follows: "A Russian detachment marched to Sankatzi, 12 miles southwest of Sibonay. The Japanese at Sankatzi and Sankatzi were repulsed. The Russian losses were insignificant. The Japanese resumed the offensive along the line to Chongchun today. Several of their batteries advanced, but the Russian artillery repulsed them."

Kuropatkin Stays On.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 7.—The Associated Press is authorized to announce that not the slightest information has been received at the War Office regarding the alleged illness or resignation of Gen. Kuropatkin. On the contrary, the War Office's information indicates no change whatever in the headquarters staff in Manchuria, and that the departure of Gen. Gripenberg for St. Petersburg is due to illness. The version of the departure of Gen. Gripenberg now given in the best informed unofficial circles is that the general left the front because he exceeded General Kuropatkin's orders in pushing beyond Sandepes and needlessly sacrificed thousands of men. This led Kuropatkin to demand Gripenberg's recall.

Japan Shuts Out Foreigners.

Tokio, Feb. 7.—After debate in the Japanese House of Representatives, the amendment to the mining law, prohibiting foreigners to work Japanese mines, was passed during Monday's session. The bill was fought bitterly by the foreign residents here, having mining interests in Japan, and the Government has been severely censured for advocating a measure which must needs antagonize certain influential interests whose good-will is believed by many to be important and necessary at this time.

The friends of the measure insisted, however, that, as mining in Japan was only in its infancy and as the soil and mountains were rich in metal and mineral deposits, the benefits to be derived therefrom in the future should be reserved by the Government for native Japanese.

As the law is retroactive, it will play havoc with several British, American and French syndicates having large mining interests in the country.

Gen. Hamilton's New Post.

Gen. Kuroki's Headquarters, Feb. 7, via Fusan.—Gen. Sir Ian Hamilton of the British army, who has been observing operations at the front, and who has been recalled to take command of the southern military district of England, left for Japan yesterday. On his way home he will stop in India to confer with Gen. Lord Kitchener, commander of the forces there.

Opponent to the Bill.

Brantford, Feb. 7.—It was announced here yesterday that the American Machine Telephone Company had sold their United States rights to the latter having a capitalization of $10,000,000.

The American Machine Company is the company that is installing a system in Peterboro in opposition to the Bell, N. D. Bell, president of the company, who was in the city yesterday, said they felt sure of obtaining a similar franchise in Brantford. There is considerable Brantford capital in the scheme.

A POLITICAL INTRIQUE

Caused Dismissal of a Satisfactory Postmaster.

Mr. Barr Traces Postmaster-General's Action, But Mr. William Mulock Declares It Is Not Politics—A Number of Interesting Questions Asked and Answered—Appropriations For the Dominion Mint and Archives Building Passed.

Ottawa, Feb. 7.—Speaker Sutherland, who was banqueted at Windsor on Saturday and was returning to Ottawa, missed connections at Toronto Sunday, his train being four hours late. Charles Macell, Deputy Speaker, took the train yesterday afternoon, the Speaker himself not arriving until 5 o'clock.

The Speaker announced that he had received the certificate of election of R. L. Jordan for the County of Carleton.

Questions and Answers.

Hon. H. R. Emmerson stated that petitions had been received advising the Government to acquire the New Brunswick Southern Railway, and make it a part of the Government system. There is no present intention of taking over the road.

The Minister of Public Works stated in reply to Mr. Pringle that $486,510 has been spent on the deepening of the Welland Canal during the past four years.

Mr. Pringle asked why the contract for dredging the Sault Ste. Marie Canal in 1903 was given to United States contractors.

Mr. Emmerson replied that it was necessary to have the work done at a time when Canadian contractors were unable to do the work.

Mr. Lennox was told that no arrangements have been made to retain Mr. Macdougall in the service of the country as Auditor-General. Mr. Macdougall having withdrawn his resignation, Sir Wilfrid said no statement will be made in regard to this question till the Minister of Finance returns from Europe.

The Prime Minister stated that Captain Louis St. Louis, who was deprived of his certificate by the judgment of the Wreck Commissioner, Salmon, in the Canadian-Cape Breton affair, has been reinstated. The Prime Minister added that the reason for the reinstatement was that Captain St. Louis had been illegally deprived of his certificate.

To Whip Wife Beaters.

The Minister of Justice, replying to Mr. Ames, said an amendment had been suggested to the criminal code whereby persistent wife beaters may be sentenced to be whipped. The department is considering the point, which will come up for discussion in connection with the bill to amend the criminal code.

Local cost for year for the past three fiscal years of the office of Immigration Commissioner Preston in England was $10,582.

Mr. Monk was informed that the expense incurred by the Government in connection with providing official cars for the new Railway Commission last year was $21,171. For legal expenses in connection with the Commission $1,250 was paid. The total amount expended in connection with the Railway Commission during the year ending Feb. 4, 1905, was $70,600. The Commission during the year rendered 861 decisions, of which 72 were on contentious points and 289 on non-contentious points.

A Postmaster's Dismissal.

Dr. Barr moved for copies of all correspondence between the Government and any parties concerning the dismissal of the postmaster at Shelburne, Ont., on March 7, 1903. Dr. Barr said the dismissed postmaster had filled the position for 37 years and had given general satisfaction.

He traced the dismissal to political intrigue and hinted that the new Ontario Government could not be blamed if it gave the Liberals of Ontario some of their own medicine.

Sir William Mulock assured the House that there were no political motives behind the dismissal. The postmaster in question was interested in a local mercantile business, and was therefore not an acceptable occupant of a position which of itself yielded a sufficient income.

Committee of Supply.

The House then went into Committee of Supply, taking up the Public Works estimates. Some discussion took place over the appropriation for an archives building. The building is to be three storeys high and will cost $80,000.

Mr. Hyman stated that the cost of the building for the mint would be in the neighborhood of $350,000. The building is to be of stone, 220 feet from north to south, and 154 feet from east to west. The item was passed.

The House adjourned at 8 o'clock.

Nominations in Wright.

Montreal, Feb. 7.—The nominations in Wright County, Quebec, took place yesterday at noon. E. B. Devlin, Government nominee; J. M. McDougall, Conservative, and Lewis Cousineau, Independent Liberal, were nominated.

Mr. Fielding in London.

London, Feb. 7.—Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance of Canada, will meet Mr. Lloyd-George, John Morley and other leaders of the Liberal party at a dinner this evening at the National Liberal Club.

TO HONOR MR. WHITNEY.

Conservatives of Toronto and the Yorks Will Greet Him With Torchlight Procession and Bands.

Toronto, Feb. 7.—The Conservatives of the city and the three Yorks will embrace the opportunity to let themselves loose in an outburst of their still-bubbling enthusiasm over "the result" of Jan. 25, on Mr. Whitney's arrival in the city. All the local ward associations met last night and entered into the spirit of the occasion with admirable zeal and completed arrangements for participation in the torchlight parade and the subsequent meeting in Massey Hall. It is expected that fully 40,000 people will take part in the demonstration. The parade will leave the Queen's Hotel at 8 o'clock and proceed via York, King and Yonge streets to the hall. Torches will be distributed by the hundreds. The Premier—for such he should be by tomorrow night—will probably have his carriage drawn by stalwart supporters. There will be three military bands, the Queen's Own Highlanders and Grenadiers, Arthur Vankoughnet will march in the procession, assisted by Capt. Thompson and J. E. Cameron. The doors of Massey Hall will be opened at 7 o'clock. The first gallery will be reserved, as usual, for ladies and escorts.

Last Day of Liberal Rule.

Toronto, Feb. 7.—This is the last day of Liberal rule in Ontario. At least for a time. Yesterday afternoon Premier Ross authorized the press to say that he would go to Government House this afternoon and place his resignation in the hands of Lieutenant-Governor Clark. Premier-elect James Pliny Whitney will be in the city to-day. It is likely that he will come up on the fast train arriving in Toronto at 4.30 o'clock. The retiring Premier will resign about 3 o'clock and Mr. Whitney will be called to Government House immediately on his arrival.

Only three of Premier Ross' colleagues were with him yesterday afternoon—Messrs. Dryden, Mackay and Charlton. Hon. G. P. Graham, Hon. F. R. Latchford and Hon. Richard Harcourt went home Saturday. When the Ministers left the Council room, Hon. Mr. Charlton jocularly observed: "The last call for supper," and followed this up with the remark that the last official act of the old Administration had been performed. He did not say what the last official act was, but Hon. Mr. Mackay had in his hand a bundle of departmental papers which had been left over from Saturday. The Council broke up about 4.30 and Mr. Ross left for his home early.

The opinion prevails that Mr. Whitney will submit the names of his Cabinet to the Lieutenant-Governor to-night.

Ontario Railway Commission.

Toronto, Feb. 7.—The commission appointed by the Legislature to take evidence on the question of railway taxation will hold its final session in the Parliament buildings on Thursday of this week, when its report will be completed for submission to the Legislature.

DRAWBACKS FROM EVERYTHING.

Sweeping Decision of U.S. Customs Following Attorney-General's Opinion.

New York, Feb. 7.—The Washington correspondent of The Tribune, whose announcements upon Government policy are often official, declares that as a result of the decision of Attorney-General Moody, allowing a duty back of duty upon goods imported for the manufacture of flour for export, free hides, free wool, free lumber—in a word, free raw and partially manufactured materials of every sort and description—are now at the disposal of American manufacturers engaged in the export trade. By the provisions of the circular of instructions issued by the Secretary of the Treasury, pursuant to the opinion of the Attorney-General, manufacturers may import every class of material, pay the duty at the time of its importation and recover 99 per cent. of such duty when it is shown that the imported article is contained in a finished product subsequently exported.

Fire At Portage La Prairie.

Portage La Prairie, Man., Feb. 7.—A disastrous fire broke out in Frank Sallow's furniture store in the Campbell block yesterday morning. The stores of Messrs. Bailey, Caldwell and Chas. were in serious danger, as well as other business places within the block, where the Dominion Express Co., the C. P. R. telegraph office and a large photographic gallery are located. The fire was in the heart of the town, and it is hard to estimate what the actual loss is, but it will not be less than $40,000 or $50,000.

Managed By a Commission.

Ottawa, Feb. 7.—The Dominion Government is to be asked to take over and run the affairs of Ottawa. At the City Council last evening a motion was unanimously carried appointing a civic deputation to wait on the Federal Government and ask that the City of Ottawa and part of the surrounding districts, which would take in some fine park areas, be constituted into a federal territory and managed by a commission. This is the way the affairs in Washington are conducted.

A ROW IN THE HOUSE.

There was a row in the Commons last night. Mr. Bennett precipitated the trouble by reading some things from the Montreal Herald (Grit) about the Blair resignation plot, in which it was charged that Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick and the minister of the interior were to take in $100,000 each, and the minister of marine $75,000. Thereupon Messrs. Prefontaine and Fitzpatrick became, apparently, quite angry, and were presently joined in their hot wrath by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, whose sunny smile had given place to a black and terrible thundercloud. All hands chattered at once, and Mr. Bennett was likened to a "cur." It seems that all Grits when accused of wrong-doing, call their accusers the names of lower animals.

It was a beautiful performance, and was sufficient in itself to show that the resignation of Blair was a much more important thing than appeared upon the face of it. In view of these things, the Grit press will undoubtedly lose all interest in the once "great conspiracy."—Hamilton Spectator.

SALMON FISHING MYSTERIES.

Sporting and Dramatic News. Although prawn fishing for salmon has become the commonest method next to worm-fishing for capturing the king of fishes, no two men are agreed as to the best form of prawn tackle. Neither are they agreed as to what induces salmon in rivers to swallow baited prawns in preference to almost every other lure.

FASCINATION AMONG THE PINES.

Sawville Equity. A number of young men of this section have gone to the woods during the past two weeks, and there are still leaving. Once a winter's apprenticeship is served "le chancier" possesses a fascination for the average young son of the soil, which is hard to resist. Away in the woods among the rugged hills and lofty pines, he puts in a jolly, contented and healthy time; and then the home coming in the spring, with the prospect of a hearty welcome from the folk at home, including his best girl, caps the climax of his joys.

THEIR ENERGETIC EXCELLENCE.

Montreal Witness. While among us Lord and Lady Grey did indeed lead "the strenuous life," and must at times, delighted as it is to be so popular, have longed for a little more of "The Simple Life," as advocated by Pastor Wagner and decried by President Roosevelt. They seemed, indeed, to those of us who followed with interest their many movements through the newspaper kaleidoscope, to be almost ubiquitous for they were no sooner here than they seemed to be there, and how they could crowd all they did into the time is yet a marvel.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

We don't put Scott's Emulsion in the class of advertised cure-alls; it doesn't belong there. We hardly like to use the word "cure" at all, but we are bound to say that it can be used for a great many troubles with great satisfaction. Its special function is to repair the waste of the body when the ordinary food does not nourish, and this means that it is useful in many cases which are indicated by wasting.

ALD. AUSTIN AND WESTMAN MAKE STRONG APPEALS

Ald. O'Keefe, King and Edmondson Frankly State Their Views—Ald Bell was Much Puzzled and Twits the Two Advocates—Council Takes Wise and Businesslike Stand on the Market Building—Will meet in Committee and Investigate All Plans and Estimates.

There was the largest crowd at the Council meeting last evening that has been present at any meeting in years not excepting the night that the St. Clair street pavement owners and Ald. John Edmondson monopolized the meeting. The liquor question in reference to the reduction of the number of hotel licenses from 14 to 10 was responsible for a good percentage of those present. Others were attracted by the market project.

The Council had barely been called to order when Ald. Westman moved that the deputation from the Royal Templars of Temperance be heard. Mayor Cowan gave to the Clerk to be read a petition that had been handed to him. The petition stated that the tavern licenses were in excess of the requirements. There had been no reduction for a great number of years. It was asked that the number of hotel licenses be reduced to 10 and to limit the shop licenses to two. There were about 300 names on the petition. The deputation, the members of which were the Rev. Mr. Cobbleck, Rev. Mr. Hoyt, W. L. G. Snell, Wilson Taylor, Leslie Snyder, W. H. Johnson, A. D. Westman and Alex. Hall. The Rev. Mr. Cobbleck was the first speaker. He said that the fundamental principle of the liquor traffic was public accommodation. It was a well-known fact that a number of the present holders of licenses in this city afforded no accommodation to the public. Their whole business was devoted to the sale of liquor and on that alone they depended for their profits. The reduction in licenses had been shown to reduce the criminal records. In 1891 in the city of London the number of licenses were reduced by 19. In that year there was a 30 per cent. reduction in the number of arrests for drunkenness and a reduction of 46 per cent. in the number of arrests for disorderly conduct. It might be urged that there would be a loss to the city in revenue. More police protection was being asked for. This would be unnecessary if the number of licenses were reduced. The city of Chatham had the maximum number of licenses with the exception of two other places.

The Rev. Mr. Hoyt gave statistics to prove that the reduction in the number of licenses would result in a decrease of crime. In 1882 there were 3,372 hotels in Ontario and 3,497 commitments; in 1892, 2,905 licenses and 2,736 commitments; in 1892, 2,025 licenses, were not asking anything that it was not the prerogative of the Council to grant.

Ald. Westman said that in the city of Toronto there was one license for every 1,600 persons, while in Chatham there was one for every 600. He felt honored by the visit of the delegation. He was satisfied that the request would be given every consideration. A by-law in his hands and would bring it up under the proper head. A request was received from Messrs. J. A. Courtney and Shaw, a labor committee, asking that laborers be hired on the work for a living. It was claimed that many men, who were retired and living on their incomes, were employed.—Referred to Board of Works.

Andrew J. Murphy, Port Huron, wrote asking if any brick pavements were being laid in this city this year.—Referred to Board of Works.

The City Clerk reported that all the local improvement reports were ready and asking that Feb. 28, 1905, be fixed as the date for the first meeting of the Court of Revision.—Referred to Finance.

A communication in regard to reciprocity was referred to Finance. A communication in regard to the British Fire Commission, re licensing Canadian membership was referred to Finance.

W. Moffatt wrote requesting the position of auditor.—Referred to Finance. The Mayor requested that all motions should be in writing.

James Herman, night engineer at the waterworks station, wrote requesting an increase in salary. He now receives $50 per month.—Referred to the Property Com.

Ald. Westman said that he had made inquiries and found that Mr. Herman had not been privileged to lay off on Sunday. It was a shame that a civic employee was not able to go to church.

A petition was received, signed by 15 residents of Queen St. South, asking that the electric light on Queen St. be moved opposite Mercer street and another light be put out near Indian creek.—Referred to Property Com.

Ald. Bell reported for Finance: No action re requests from civic officials for increases in salary. That $125.75 be accepted in full for taxes on Park St. property in dispute.

That Children's Aid Society account of $26.15 be paid.

That the Registrar be asked for amounts due the city to date.

That the Council's accounts be paid. That the Clerk instruct the City Treasurer to supply new bonds.

That Coll. Inst. Board be granted $25,000 for current expenses.

That Simon & Co. be paid $34.50 in full of acct.

That membership in Canadian Municipal Association be continued.

That W. H. Robinson be granted $50 increase as auditor.

To this clause Ald. Westman moved in amendment that Mr. Moffatt be given the position. Ald. Bell seconded. After a short debate the amendment lost and the clause was adopted.

The acts of the newspapers were also passed.

Ald. Austin called attention to the fact that the Banner's charges had been excessive. The publication of the same letter in The Planet cost $12 and in the Banner $18. Ald. Austin asked the aldermen to make special arrangements in future.

Ald. O'Keefe, for the Board of Works, reported: That the city proceed with the opening up of Richmond St. in conjunction with Raleigh Council.

Ald. Potter reported for Parks and Cemetery: No action until midsummer on Mr. Turner's request for repairs. These repairs were needed.

Ald. Westman reported for the Property Committee: No action re Harbert's request for increase in salary, and that Council advertise for a competent general scavenger.

Ald. King for the Building Committee, reported the proceedings of that committee, as previously reported in The Planet, and read the motion passed at that meeting.

Ald. King said he would not move the adoption of this report, but did so to bring it before the meeting.

Ald. Edmondson moved in amendment that the plans of Ratley & Son be accepted and the work proceeded with. In so doing, Ald. Edmondson said it was the project that the people voted for and the Council should obey the voice of the people. He was opposed to cutting off the front of the building. Ald. Westman seconded.

Ald. Potter moved in amendment to amendment that the three architects be asked to prepare plans of a market building and police station.

Ald. Potter said if the matter were referred back he felt sure more satisfactory results would be secured. There had been a good deal of discussion and dissatisfaction over the estimate, and the speaker believed that all the architects had not been treated alike, which was not fair. The Council was embarking on a large and splendid enterprise. He trusted that the aldermen would go into the matter justly and honestly, seeking only the best results for the people who were paying the price.

The city had a site that would be a great credit and a city hall could be erected on it that would also be a credit to the city. He would also be a credit to the city. He would also be a credit to the city.

Ald. Edmondson said. The great objection, however, was to carry out the wishes of the people. He felt it was necessary to find out what the people wanted. He thought that the whole thing should be reconsidered. He wanted in a position to give an intelligent vote. The question of cost was a serious one and he proposed that the matter be referred to a committee of the whole council.

Ald. Marshall felt that more time should be taken. He wanted to know what he was voting for. The matter should be considered by the whole Council. It is not the matter of whose plans, but what is in the interests of the people. He moved in amendment to the amendment that the whole matter be submitted to the whole Council as a committee to consider plans, etc., as submitted by the three architects, and to report back to the Council one week from today.

He thought that whatever is done should be done quickly, but the aldermen should know what they had voted for.

Ald. Austin felt like supporting Ald. Marshall's amendment. The Property committee were not unanimous and evidently did not know all they wished to know about it.

Ald. Edmondson was surprised at Ald. Marshall that he didn't know what he was voting about. The plans were adopted by last year's Council. He (Ald. Edmondson) had had the perspective of the plans accepted exhibited in a conspicuous place. The scheme has been endorsed by the people, and what more is wanted? He did not want to reject what the people voted for and accepted. As to the city hall plan, the people were not asked to vote on a city hall, but on a market building. The people want a new market and they should get what they want.

Ald. Marshall in turn was surprised at Ald. Edmondson's attitude. Marshall said he was going to support a market. He voted for a market, and the cheapest market, would be supported by him.—Applause. But let us go carefully.

Ald. O'Keefe endorsed what Ald. Marshall had said.

Ald. Westman—Ald. Potter said all the architects did not have a fair show. I wish to deny that. Mr. Wilson and Mr. Ratley had a fair show, but possibly Mr. Piper didn't have a fair show, but then we extended the time one week so, I do not agree with Ald. Potter when he says that meat stalls should not be in the market. I think meat stalls are essential. He says the front would cost $15,000. The expert said $10,000.

The Mayor—Between $10,000 and $12,000.

Ald. Potter—That is what I said. It was said between $12,000 and $15,000.

Ald. Westman—No.

Ald. Potter—I rise to a point of order. I was at the meeting as well as you.

Ald. Westman did not think the Council would be any better off in a week's time.

TREATMENT OF PILES

Permanence of Cure The True Test!

Many so-called "cure" remedies will afford the user slight temporary relief and the majority of those afflicted do not expect more than this.

The average sufferer, after having tried every preparation recommended for the cure of piles, comes to the conclusion that there is no cure except by an operation and rather than undergo this "last resort" he suffers on, resigned to the situation, so far as may be. The attention of those interested is invited to the following experience.

"After ten years of suffering from blind, bleeding and protruding piles and after using every remedy I could hear of without any benefit, I finally bought a fifty cent box of Pyramid Pile Cure and used it with such good results I bought next a dollar box, which I used up the job. That was nearly six years ago and as far as piles are concerned I am cured, and have never felt a symptom of them since."

"Many others have used this remedy by my advice with the same results and I always recommend it to sufferers with piles." C. H. Pettis, Burlington, Kans.

Testimony like this should convince the most skeptical that Pyramid Pile Cure not only cures, but cures to stay cured. It is in the form of a suppository, can be applied directly to the parts affected and does its work quickly and peacefully.

Drugs generally sell this famous remedy for fifty cents a package and sufferers are urged to buy a package now and give it a trial to-night. Accept no substitutes.

A little book describing the causes and cure of piles is published by the Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., and same will be sent free to any address for the asking.

THAT PALE, TIRED GIRL.

She is in society, in business, at home, everywhere you see her, but always worn and fatigued. She has not heard of Ferrozone or she would be perfectly well. How quickly it gives—what a glow it brings to pallid cheeks! The nutrient contained in Ferrozone puts strength into any body. Laughing eyes, rosy lips, and bright, quick movements all tell of the vitality Ferrozone produces.

Thousands of attractive, happy women use Ferrozone—why not you? A box of fifty chocolate coated tablets costs fifty cents at any drug store.

Shoemaking in the Black Forest.
The Black forest of Germany, a region famous for centuries, is hundreds of years behind the present age in methods of living and conducting simple industries. This fact is strikingly exemplified in the primitive ways the natives follow in making leather and shoes. When a farmer kills his beef he takes the hide to the local tanner, who will keep it for two years before he considers it fit for the shoemaker.
When the hide is leather the shoemaker
is informed of the fact.
Then some morning the shoemaker comes to the farmer's house with his kit of tools and for the time being is one of the family. Every Katrina and every Johann is marched before him
and measured, and the work of making shoes for the family begins. It may take a month, more or less, but he sticks to his job until every one is properly shod, when he is away to the next customer needing his services.—

The Baboon's Nine Lives.
When baboons once take to a mealie field they will not leave it till they have eaten every cob. When they depart every evening for home they refill their stomachs, their cheek pouches
and their arms! You cannot poison
these pests, for fifteen grains of pure strychnine in a banana has failed to kill one. Only shooting with a rifle will do, and no human army was ever cleverer in setting sentries. Even at nighttime a large force of hunters has often been defeated in the attempt to surround the rocky stronghold of Cynocephalus porcellus. Even dogs sent against the baboons fall before creatures which have hands with which to seize their enemies before biting them. Let the stay at home farmer congratulate himself on possessing merely rooks, pigeons, rats and sparrows—Country Gentleman.

Hornets as Fly Killers.
Hornets, or "white faced wasps,"
have no evil traits or obnoxious features. It is true that they will sometimes sting, but this is only when they are attacked in their own homes or when their young are in danger. The great value of these insects is that they live entirely upon insects, mostly flies,
and, in fact, when they are near dwellings their food is generally the common housefly. They are nature's greatest factors in reducing this serious pest. It is well known that flies carry disease germs, such as those of typhoid fever, and it can thus be seen that hornets have a decidedly sanitary effect as a result of their desirable insectivorous habits.—Field and Stream.

A CARDBOARD WOMAN

THE MALIGN INFLUENCE OF A MUM-
MY CASE FROM EGYPT.

Queer Sequence of Events and Hard Luck Experiences That Appeared to Be Unhappy Legacies to Those Interested in Its Custody.

In a corner of the first Egyptian room at the British museum, behind the crouching body of the prehistoric chief who lived before there were pyramids in Egypt or pyramids on the Nile, stands a woman molded from some ancient form of cardboard. She is merely a shell, the cover of a mummy case. Her hands are crossed above her breast, and her dark eyes stare forward into vacancy.

According to the catalogue she is
No. 22542, a problematical royal personage and a priestess of the College of Amen Ra. She lived in the mighty city of Thebes some 1,600 years before Christ.

And about this same coffin cover
there hangs as terrible a story as ever an Edgar Allan Poe or a Balzac or a Kipling produced from a gloomy imagination.

If you question the attendants in the first Egyptian room they will shake their heads and say nothing. But there is a famous professor in the museum who knows that the facts are true, though whether they be a coincidence or a manifestation of supernatural power who can say? He says:

"For three months I have been gathering the tangled threads of evidence.
I have now in my possession proofs of the identity of all those who suffered from the anger of the priestess of Amen Ra. But for the sake of friends and relatives I have been requested to suppress the names.

"About the middle of the sixties of the last century a party of five friends took ship in a dahabeh for a trip up the Nile. They traveled to Luxor on their way to the second catara, and stayed there to explore the ruins of the great and wonderful city of Thebes,
with its avenues of sphinxes and ram's
its vast hall of columns and its temple
to Amen Ra, which is unequalled on earth in the sublimity of its ruined magnificence.

"One night an Arab sent by Musta-
pha Aga came to one of their number,
Mr. D., as we may call him, saying that he had just found a mummy case of unusual beauty. What became of the mummy the man did not explain.
The next morning Mr. D. bought the case. Both he and his companions were impressed by its remarkable beauty and by the curious face of the woman portrayed, a face that was filled with a cold malignancy of expression unpleasant to witness.

"They had agreed that, being all interested in Egyptology, they should apportion their finds by lot, and, though Mr. D. had been the cause of its discovery, he lost the mummy cover, which passed to a friend, whom we will call Mr. W.

"It was on their return journey that
the series of misfortunes commenced.
Mr. D.'s servant was handing him a gun, when without visible cause it exploded, the charge lodging in his arm,
which had to be amputated; a second
died in poverty within the year; a third was shot, while Mr. W., the owner of the mummy case, discovered on his arrival in Cairo that he had lost a large part of his fortune. He died soon afterward. The priestess of Amen Ra had signified her displeasure in a very convincing manner.

"From the date it was shipped on board the steamer Mr. D. lost sight of the mummy case for several years.
He did not at the time in any way
associate the misfortunes that had occurred to the party with its discovery,
but when he next heard of it and had full information of the disasters which had been subsequently associated with its possession he began to suspect that it was not merely chance, but merely a coincidence, that had brought so sinister a fate on all who had dealings
with the priestess of Amen Ra.

"On the arrival of the case in England it was given by its owner, Mr. W.,
to a married sister living near London.
From the day the case entered the house misfortune followed misfortune.
The family suffered large losses, and the end came with painful troubles
which need not be specified.
"The lady while in possession of the case received one day a visit from Mrs. Blavatsky. The great theosophist became very disturbed on entering the room, and after a few minutes'
conversation told her hostess that there was something in her house possessed of a most malignant influence. She asked to be allowed to search the house
and on discovering the coffin lid appealed to her hostess to send away an object which she described as of the utmost danger. Her hostess, however,
refused, laughing at what she imagined
to be an example of foolish superstition.
"Some time afterward the lady sent
the case to a well known photographer in Baker street. Within a week the chief of the firm came down to this lady's house in a state of great excitement. He had, he said, photographed the face with the greatest care, and he could guarantee that no one had touched either the negative or the photograph in any way, yet it was not the ordinary features that looked out of the photograph, but a living Egyptian woman staring straight before her
with an expression of singular malevolence. Shortly after the photographer died suddenly and mysteriously.
"It was about this time that Mr. D.
happened to meet the owner of the coffin lid and begged her upon hearing her story to get rid of it at once. She agreed, and a carrier was found to convey it to the British museum. This carrier died within a week."

LOVE DIES.

Mrs. Ella Wheeler Wilcox says there comes a time in the course of married love
when "the thrill goes out of the handclasp and the kiss at times, and it is then that husbands and wives may be susceptible to other magnetic personalities." The result for this condition of affairs is often the fault of the husband, but how often is it not due to the wife's nervousness and irritability due to some trouble with the organs peculiarly feminine—the wife under such circumstances feels languid and apathetic—she suffers perhaps from headache
and sleeplessness.
Backed up by over a third of a century
of remarkable and uniform cures, a record
such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever obtained, the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $50 in legal money of the United States for any case of Leucorrhoea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb, which they cannot cure with a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.
A great deal of sickness may be saved by

mon Sense Medical Adviser." Sent free,

THE PANTHEON.

It Has Withstood Vicissitudes of Time Twenty Centuries.

The Pantheon is the most interesting
of all the interesting places of Rome.
It was used for its present purpose as a place of religious worship before the foundations of the Coliseum were laid.
Its huge doors have opened to admit the great ones of the earth, from Augustus Caesar to Napoleon, an assertion that will scarcely be disputed.
It stands in the very heart of old Rome, and the vicissitudes which have befallen the Eternal City during the 2,000 years of its existence have left it practically unchanged. The gilded bronze that lined its roof has been carried off to "decorate" St. Peter's, where,
in the form of clouds and Cupids, cords
and curtains, it fills the beholder with displeased amazement.

Its tiles of bronze and gold were removed to Constantinople 1,500 years ago, and the statue which adorned it have long since perished. But the mighty walls yet stand, firm as ever,
sweeping up to the majestic dome, the largest, though not the highest, in the world.

One hundred feet across, a hundred feet high and perfectly circular, no architect could design a building more perfect in its proportions, more harmonious as a whole. It is lighted solely by an aperture in the dome, a circle
thirty feet across. Standing on its marble floor one looks up to the greatest dome man ever raised and through that to the blue dome which bends above
it, sending summer sun or winter rain through those bare yards of space.
The effect is so impressive, so entirely unmatched and unrivaled, that the dullest of hearts and most untalented of minds must perforce acknowledge its influence. A man may think St. Peter's "disappointing," may condemn the Coliseum as barbaric or decide that he does not care for the cata-combs, but every man who has viewed it has been impressed, even to the pitch of respectful silence, by the Pantheon.

The huge leaves of the bronze door revolve on their mighty hinges as they have done since the days of the Caesars, and so perfectly balanced are they that a woman's wrist can unclose them. Through those doors they carried Julia, Caesar's daughter, with all the pomp of her imperial power about her. And after the lapse of twenty centuries King Humbert was brought across the selfsame threshold to sleep
his last sleep in the ancient place.

C. P. R. Engineer's Experience with Dodd's Kidney Pills.

They Brought Back His Strength
When He Could Neither Rest Nor Sleep.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 6.—(Special).
Mr. Ben Rafferty, the well known
C. P. R. engineer, whose home is at 176 Maple street, is one Winnipeg Pills.

"Long hours on the engine and the mental strain broke down my constitution," Mr. Rafferty says. "My back gave out entirely. Terrible sharp cutting pains followed one another, till I felt I was being sliced away piecemeal. I would come in tired to death from a run. My sole desire would be to get rest and sleep,
and then the pains would follow me
not get. Finally I had to lay off work.
"Then I started to take Dodd's Kidney Pills, and the first night after taking them I slept soundly. In three days I threw away the belt I have worn for years. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me."

Crabs Hard and Soft.

The process of crabs shedding during the summer season is as follows:
The crabs become fat; then they assume a bluish look on the back and yellow on underside. When in this condition if an outer shell be broken
there will be found a skin similar to the inner skin of an egg covering the crab. In this stage the crab is known as a peeler. The next stage is when the outer shell begins to open, and the crab is then known as a buster. When the outer shell is stuffed, the crab is then a soft crab. If she has escaped from the cannibalistic male crabs, who pursue her during this period, she lies hidden in the grass in shoal water until the next tide, which hardens her shell considerably, and the crab is called a buckrum. Buckrums are the tough crabs sold as soft crabs, and when cooked the shell turns red, like that of a lobster, and is not desirable on account of its brittleness. In another tide the crabs become truly hard and go where they please without fear of being devoured by the male members.

One of Poe's Experiences.
Poe, one night during those last weeks he spent in Richmond, related this personal experience, adding that he would carry it with him to the grave.

"I was living in Philadelphia during the epidemic of the cholera there. All day I would pace the streets, seeing the dying and dead, until my heart was faint and sick within me. Late one evening, on coming home after one of these aimless wanderings, broken down and with a thousand pictures of suffering and death dancing hideously before my eyes, I lay upon the bed. In a moment I was asleep and dreamed that a black bird like a raven came into the room and perched over the door. I asked what it was. The bird replied:

"I am the spirit of the cholera, and you are the cause of me."
"I woke with a start, but the apparition was so real that it made an impression on me I shall never forget."—Lamp.

Origins of Grammar Schools.
"Grammar schools" are schools which were founded to teach grammar at a time when the word had a very different meaning from that which it bears
at the present time.

Grammar is the science which investigates the laws of language and the art of using it correctly, and one would naturally imagine that a grammar school must necessarily be a school
where the English language is taught,
but it is not so.
In the middle ages, when the clergy
were the only educated men, Latin was the language in which knowledge was preserved and handed down either orally or in writing, so "grammar came to mean the grammar of the Latin tongue
and a 'grammar school' was an educational place for teaching Latin (and afterward Greek) to poor scholars, to fit them for universities."

Tight Lacing and Great Men.

A correspondent says that the tight lacing periods of history have always been productive of the greatest geniuses, the loose dressing periods the reverse. Bacon, Shakespeare, Drake, Marlborough, Thackeray, Dickens,
Scott—to mention only a few names—
were born when chroniclers and fashion artists reveal to us the fact that "women were never satisfied till they could span their waists," and "while eighteen inches was the fashionable standard, many fashionable girls and women possessed waists fully two or three inches smaller."
But Thackeray said he would as lief marry a girl with a humped back as one with an eighteen inch waist.

Perishable Pearls.

Pearls are perishable. They cannot be considered a first rate investment like diamonds. After a time they decay. Sometimes a fine specimen will lose its luster and beauty within a few months, so that the possessor of such treasures does well to keep them put away in a sealed place. They consist of thin films overlaid one upon another,
with more or less animal matter between the layers, and it is no wonder that they deteriorate.

Qualified His Statement.

She-To think that you once declared that you would love me as long as you lived! And now, although we have not been married a year, you care nothing at all about me! He-But you see,
when I told you I would love you as long as I lived I wasn't feeling very well, and I really didn't think I should live long!

Plenty of Advice.

"His trouble was just due to a neglected cold."

"A neglected cold? I don't believe there ever was such a thing. No man ever had a cold without having at least a dozen friends attending to it for him."

A Ringing Speech.

Graves-In a ringing speech last night George declared that he could not live without me, and asked me to be his wife. Gladys-In a ringing speech, eh? Graves-Yes; and if you don't believe it, there's the ring!

Pride.

"Why did you tip that waiter? You can't afford to give away money."
"I know it, but I didn't want him to find it out."

Victims.

First Girl-Did you hear that Mr.
Williams got a dreadful fright on his wedding day? Second Girl-Yes, I was in the church and saw her.
Opponents think that they refute us
when they repeat their own opinions and take no notice of ours.

Sunlight Soap does not harden or shrink woollens

It is injurious chemicals and adulterations in common soaps that destroy your clothes. It is adulterations that harden your woollens and the excess alkali that destroys and shrinks them.

Sunlight Soap

contains no adulteration or excess alkali. It is just pure saponified fats and oils. That is why it cleanses your clothes perfectly in hard or soft water and does not injure them.

HYPNOTIC JAG-CURE.

Russia is trying a new treatment
for alcoholism by hypnotic influence.
For some years the government has maintained institutions in certain cities in which those who sincerely wish to be cured are treated. Treat-employed is hypnosis, which favorably influences the mental processes

and imparts the necessary volitional

500 TEMPERANCE PETITIONERS FAIL TO MOVE CITY COUNCIL

Ald. Ainsworth went into the discussion and comparison of the different plans. He wanted the front part of the building built according to the plan. He understood that Rutley's plans would be accepted subject to changes. He favored Ald. Westman's proposal.

Ald. Marshall's amendment carried, just Ald. Westman and Edmondson voting against it.

Ald. Westman asked the Chairman of Finance why he had not reported on the matter in reference to the communication of the Chatham Navigation Company.

Ald. Bell reported it as being under consideration.

Ald. Potter asked if there is a by-law prohibiting the throwing of ash on the streets.

The Mayor—You will find it in the by-laws.

The Court of Revision was set for Tuesday, Feb. 28.

Ald. Edmondson brought up the matter of Fire Chief Pritchard applying for the Fire Chief's position in Windsor. He thought his wages should be raised $150. Chatham never had a better chief. He had saved the city $50 last year in working with the chemicals. He moved that his salary be increased to $750. It will, of course, be necessary to amend the by-law.

Ald. Westman thought the chief is not receiving as much as he should. He favored the suggestion and seconded the motion.

Ald. Marshall—Will the chief stay for $750?

Ald. Edmondson—He assures me he will.

The Mayor—The Windsor Council held a meeting last night, and if Chief Pritchard gets it, he will go unless he is assured of $750 to-night.

The motion was carried unanimously.

The Mayor advised the Board of Works to advertise early for supplies.

The Mayor asked the Board of Works to notify the Government that they have not paid their share on the William street pavement.

The Mayor said the weigh scales had a deficit of $50 last year. Why is this? He referred it to the Property Com.

The Mayor brought up the matter of the advisability of erecting an isolation hospital, and referred it to Finance, to meet the Board of Health.

The Mayor also brought up the disarranged condition of the cemetery and thought it should be attended to. It looks more like a hay-field than a cemetery. He referred it to the Cemetery committee to communicate with other towns as to the business management of other cemeteries.

Ald. Potter—We are already engaged in that work, your worship.

The Mayor—I am glad you are.

The by-law regulating the number of liquor licenses in the city and also one for the extension of Richmond street westerly to the city limits were put through the first readings.

The Council then went into a committee as a whole to consider the by-laws, Ald. Potter being called to the chair.

Ald. Westman moved that the number of tavern licenses be limited to 10, and the shop licenses to 2.

Ald. Austin seconded the motion.

Ald. King moved that they be left the same number as at present.

Ald. Marshall, while in accord with the majority of the by-law and thought it should be considered, yet he wanted more time to consider it. He favored temperance measures, but there were several things to consider, such as revenue. He would favor a reduction to 12.

Ald. O'Keefe leaned towards temperance, but he thought that Chatham has not sufficient hotel accommodation now. They should be made to live up to the mark, and if they do not do this, then, cut them out. We should have commissioners appointed who would not grant licenses to people who should not have them.

Ald. King thought the matter should be left in the hands of the commissioners, and they should be asked to see that the hotels live up to the law—a matter they had apparently neglected.

Ald. Bell was in favor of doing whatever he could to bring about the betterment of the city. We should consider the interests of everyone. There is the matter of revenue. The whole question turns on whether or not there is enough, not enough, or too much hotel accommodation. He suggested a committee be appointed to obtain information for the Council.

Ald. Westman thought that every alderman could recall five hotels in Chatham that are no good for accommodation to anyone. Some of them have not got proper sanitary arrangements. He thought if hotels should be forced to give proper accommodation, he thought as far as revenue is concerned if the number of licenses are reduced crime would be reduced and we should not have to appoint extra policemen. He thought it was not a matter of money but a matter of moral reform for the benefit of our young men. The aldermen spoke temperance and he hoped they would vote that way.

Ald. Potter—What is the revenue Mr. Merritt—About $3,600.

Ald. Austin thought the ground was well covered by the deputation. He thought that many of the hotels do not receive meals for the public and they should in every hotel. The most of the hotels are merely saloons. He thought ten hotels would supply sufficient accommodation. He spoke strongly in favor of the reduction of the number of licenses. He thought the financial side should be taken seriously when the moral condition of the city was at stake.

At one hotel they will not serve meals at 12 o'clock.

Ald. O'Keefe if the prayer of the petition is to cancel licenses to houses that do not give accommodation I will support it.

Ald. Westman pointed to section 29 of the statute which provided that the Council could compel hotels to furnish proper accommodation to the public.

Ald. Bell explained that he wasn't in a position to know what the accommodation in the hotels was. He perhaps didn't frequent the hotels as much as Ald. Austin or Ald. Westman.—Laughter.

Ald. King agreed with Ald. Bell in regard to leaving the matter over for consideration.

Ald. Edmondson thought it strange that if hotels in Chatham were not living up to the law the inspectors should have reported them. A brand new Government had been elected with sufficient intelligence to deal with this matter and the petition should be referred to the Government to deal with. New commissioners and inspectors would probably see the law was in force. That was what Mr. Whitney had promised.

Ald. Westman added that he only corrected a statement made by Ald. Bell but didn't intend to interfere.

Ald. Bell—I've been a temperance man in principle and practice since before Ald. Westman was born and the statement he undertook to correct I didn't make at all.

It was moved by Ald. Bell, seconded by Ald. Marshall, that the petition be referred to a committee composed of Ald. Austin, Ald. Bell and Ald. Edmondson to consider the matter and report on the hotels not keeping the law.

Mayor Cowan said that it struck him that it was not so much the amount of hotel accommodation that was in question, but a reduction of the excess of the drinking accommodation. He favored a reduction of three in the number of licenses. He wanted aid to understand where he stood. Would the new commissioners under the new Government see better judgment or carry out their duties better than the old had done? It was a well known fact that both the inspector and commissioners had not seen that the law was lived up to in the past.

Ald. Austin did not think it fair to refer the matter to such a committee. Everyone concedes that the working of the hotels can be improved. Take 100 schoolboys attending the Collegiate Institute and 90 of them can name three hotels that break the law. The License Inspector has but done his duty. We all know that. The reduction will make those left live up to the requirements of the law.

Ald. Edmondson—You say five do not live up to the law. What about the other ten?

The Mayor moved the motion be put.

Ald. Austin suggested that the motion be that the licenses be reduced to 12 and 2 shop licenses.

DENTIST,
Office: 26 King St. East, over Turner's Drug Store. Phone 357

Ald. Marshall—That will mean a reduction of four, because I understand the Hotel Santa will apply for a license.

The motion lost, only four voting for it—Ald. Austin, Marshall, Cowan and Westman.

The by-law for the opening of Richmond street was passed by the Council.

The following accounts were passed—The account for the cost of the registration in connection with the recent election, $251.

DROWNED IN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

J. A. MacLaren of Ottawa the Victim of a Peculiar Accident.

Toronto, Feb. 7.—Dr. J. T. Fotheringham of Carlton street, uncle of the unfortunate young man, received word from Vancouver, B.C., last night that John Alexander MacLaren, fourth son of David MacLaren, the well-known capitalist of Ottawa, was drowned near Darnley, 12 miles from Vancouver, on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 4.

Young MacLaren, with two comrades in a canoe, was leading the way to a camping place for a string of canoeists intending to make the canoe route in the lead. MacLaren and his comrades were in the first one. They struck a heavy sea and were capsized. Two of the canoeists caught a log and urged MacLaren to join them. He declined, believing the log would not hold up three. He clung to the overturned canoe. The next canoe came along and offered to take him aboard. He saw it was already overloaded and refused to join. He was alone and drifted down the river.

When they returned they found he had righted the canoe and had crawled into it, but apparently had fainted from his exertions and had drowned in the water shipped by the canoe in being righted. Everything was done to revive him, but in vain.

John Alexander MacLaren was 25 years of age, an old boy of Bishop Ridley College, a second year medical student in Trinity University, and a favorite wherever known. He left Toronto three years ago and went to the Yukon, being associated with Governor Ogilvie. This winter he had come down from the north and was in charge of the firm's interests in British Columbia at Darnley. The body will be taken to Ottawa for interment next Monday.

Conductor Dies of Injury.

Toronto, Feb. 7.—As a result of injuries sustained in an assault committed upon him some months ago James Galvin, a conductor on the Toronto Street Railway, died at his home, 32 St. Charles avenue, on Sunday. It was while on a late night run last fall that Galvin, in demanding the fare from a couple of passengers was set upon by them and brutally assaulted. The men were sent down for short terms. Galvin was 42 years of age, and is survived by a widow and five small children.

Stakeholder's Fatal Impulse.

London, Feb. 7.—On Sunday morning J. W. Night of this city, a G.P. R. brakeman, was killed at Blundstone. He ran ahead of his train to turn a switch, fell and was killed. He was 30 years of age, and leaves a widow.

One Killed, Ten Injured.

Portland, Ore., Feb. 7.—An unknown man was killed and ten persons were injured yesterday in a runaway street car. The car ran away on a girder, and on striking a curve jumped the track. The car was almost chopped to pieces before the last of the injured could be removed.

Crime in Scotland.

Comparisons of the criminal statistics of Scotland for the years 1898 to 1903, in the report on the latter year just issued, show that the more serious crimes are increasing, while minor offences are decreasing.

The total number of crimes and offences reported for 1903 were 163,189, which corresponds nearly with the number in 1898, namely, 165,908. From that year the numbers rose, and reached a maximum of 138,599 in 1902, since which they have decreased.

The Irish statistics for 1903 give 82,669 as the number sent to prison in that country, and it is pointed out that, although the population of Ireland is almost equal to that of Scotland, the imprisonments in the latter country, 59,902, were nearly double. No fewer than 7,698 boys and 650 girls under the age of sixteen were convicted in Scotland last year.

An Englishman As a God.

At one time there was an Englishman in India, John Nicholson, who in his own proper person was worshipped as a god in spite of his protests. Such a hold had this powerful personality taken upon the native mind that a strong sect of worshippers persisted in regarding him as a god. If, however, one of the Mihal gyps fakirs so far lost control of himself as to offer worship to the deity in person Nicholson was in the habit of ordering him to receive a dozen lashes, a fact which did not in the least interfere with the worshippers' belief in his divinity. When Nicholson was killed, some of his worshippers slew themselves upon his tomb, but the remainder went over in a body to Christianity, saying: "Our god told us that he was but a man, and now we see that it was true. We wish, therefore, to be Christians, as he was."

Appetite Was Poor.

Dizzy-Most of The Time.

"Could Not Sleep at Night."

Many people are unaware of having anything wrong with their heart or nerves until some little excitement or overwork makes them feel faint and dizzy, or perhaps simply going up or down stairs causes dizziness and specks to float before the eyes. People troubled in this way should heed the warning, and not fail to take treatment before something more serious occurs.

For all heart and nerve troubles there is nothing to equal

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

We do not claim that they will cure chronic heart disease, but we do claim that they will strengthen the weak heart, and build up the shaky nerve system.

Here is what Mrs. Sidney Hoffman, Millville, Ont., says:—

"I was troubled greatly with my heart, and was so very nervous that the least little thing startled me."

"My appetite was very poor; I could not sleep at night and was dizzy most of the time. I took three boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and I am very pleased to say that they did me a wonderful lot of good."

THE AQUILINE PASSING

WANE OF DISTINCTIVE FEATURE OF ANGLO-SAXON CONTOUR.

Portraits of Men in Higher English Life Reveal the Fact That the Fine Racial Curve, Known as the Roman Nose, is Rapidly Becoming Extinct—What It Represents in Character in Days Gone By.

A number of things are passing in this twentieth century days, among them that peculiarly distinctive feature of Anglo-Saxon contour, the aquiline or Roman nose. This is no fancy speaking for England alone, any comparison of portraits of representative men in the highest walks of the reveals the fact that this fine racial curve is rapidly becoming extinct.

From the Duke of Wellington down this nose has been associated with greatness in military or naval affairs, in literature (notably poetry and criticism), and in finance and diplomacy until the possession of such a significant organ has become almost a synonym of a man of an individual destined to be famous or successful. Varieties of course existed, such as when combined with beaming brows, and sunken eyes you recognized a professor or arch critic of the generation of Dr. Hooker, when taken with the square forehead, thin mouth and visionary eyes of the military genius, you got some great general or, simply existing in a silly notion of good faculty and meaning nothing whatever, in this case usually high at the thin bridge and in profile far too strong for the weakness of the face. In women of gentle extraction this nose was found beautifully proportioned. In ladies of the mid-Victorian era were the lineaments of Caesar clearly revealed, associated with the delicacy of coloring and softness of rounded chin and cheek which reflected them from hard masses, stat-smen and the grand dames of society. Caricatured, it lived in the drawings of Leech and Du Maurier, and in the hands of the creative artists both of pen and brush when dealing with the heroic. Superficial writers confused it with the Hebrew nose, and in prints of criminal and depraved characters one frequently found it "distorted and wreathed to conditions of ugliness. Tennyson and the latest murderer apparently owned the same facial angle, if you corrected the droop of the eyebrow, the curve of the nostril, the set of the ear. Then, the Roman or aquiline nose made itself and its possessor known to the world. Other noses might, if they liked, take a look at this nose never. Sala, Lamb, Kingsley and others, in the nose. The American variant is seen in hundreds of nineteenth century writers, preachers, New England farmers, old Cape Cod characters, Gloucester fishermen, actors, especially of tragic mould, seamen, lecturers, bankers—the nose has prospered in the new world. The significance of the feature is matched by its endurance, by the persistency with which it appears in every decade up to the present.

For with the opening of a new century, the aquiline in its purest state, equine with accompaniment of cruel fangs and sharp teeth in its worst, seems on the point of disappearing. The contemporary portraits of great men and beautiful women no longer display it. There is a new nose. It is to be hoped that it retains the powers which the old aquiline was originally endowed; for example, we suppose that it still can detect and appreciate, repulse and show the path to glory, as an index of force of character or intellect, it is practically useless. The new nose is modest, retiring, seeketh not its own, is never puffed up. You would know it for a nose, certainly, but its ample and aristocratic proportions are wanting; it lacks a bridge, is spineless, immature, unfinished. Yet it is set in the faces of many eminent thinkers and workers among the younger men. It is already allied to keenness of vision and talent, and may or may not be associated with good birth and breeding. The query is—is it a new nose, or only one that has always been with us, but is now gradually supplanting the old one? Did the nose aquiline largely represent class, and does the phenomenon of the new semi-straight, semi-upturned nose represent the intrusion of money? Against this timid and, it may be, spurious generalization you may pit the workingman with the nose of a duke and the young colonial ruler with the unformed, delicate features of a school-girl. So we accept the fact that in our own day types are passing.

The English face is going. It has served its turn, perhaps. Infusion of American and Chinese blood will help to change it. The high-nosed country gentleman or landed noble, with beret or Viking blood in his veins, find that like Alick in the Wonderland, it takes all he can do to keep where he is, and the work entailed takes something, a good deal out of him. One thing goes, then, another; finally, he casts away his birthright, the arch, bridge of his nose, and his son and the younger members of his family appear shorn of that important feature. The plebeian nose, so long as it is neither pug nor pig, is safer, better. Men are not afraid of it. Syndicates and boards breathe more freely when the barriers of nose are broken down, and a good mediocrity of feature may yet avert a war or preserve a treaty. At all events, a study of our chief contemporaries will bear out a considerable portion of this reasoning. The beauties of society and the stage have a leaning to noses tipped like the petals of a flower, or to a nose which is a kind of modification of the Greek, frequently found among Americans. There is fast growing up a type of head, gleam-shaven, firm, expressionless young faces, who bring their thick, straight dark hair and blue-grey eyes from the country to the town. They are forsaking the plow and the roadside school for the warehouse and the pestle and mortar. It is now openly reported of such that they would rather wear a black coat and starve than wear fustian and dawdle, to quote Thomas Hardy, but the stress of things drives them. The rural communities are dull; amusements are lacking; there seems nothing to live for outside work. Nature poets and wild animal delineators are not among these set, earnest, straight-featured faces. The former are more likely to be denizens of cities. Anyway, in this slightly dour American face you shall see few aquiline noses, and yet such is the danger of generalizing that no doubt the first people readers of this article may meet perusing it will be a group of students, none of whom has a set hair and eyes, and all of whom have Roman contours. Likewise, on opening the current number of a leading foreign journal, the long, high, prominent nasal organ of Sir Edward Elgar confronts us, whose peculiar cast of thought, confirms the impression that spirituality and fine artistic conception and power to achieve are still the dower of those possessing this fast disappearing feature.

TOLD BY COLOR.

Dr. Hooker's Experiments to Show Position by the "N"-Rays.

The London Lancet publishes a letter from Dr. Hooker on the results of three years' experiment on the Blomditz N-rays emitted by the human body. Dr. Hooker claims to have established the fact that these rays differ in color according to the character and temperament of a person, and also that the rays are not merely heat vibrations, as he proved by passing rays from his hand and to the forearm of a corpse to a prepared screen which immediately showed increased luminosity. In reference to the differing colors of the rays, Dr. Hooker says: "Rays emanating from a very passionate man have a deep red hue. One whose keynote in life is to be good and to do good throws off pink rays; an ambitious man emits orange rays; a deep thinker throws off deep violet rays; an art and refined surrounding, yellow, an anxious, depressed person, gray; one who leads a debased life, muddy, brown rays; a devotional, good-minded, light green, and physically or mentally ill person, dark green rays."

Dr. Hooker admits that his statement may be received at first with a smile of incredulity, but he is confident that it will sooner or later be accepted as a fact. He further claims to have proved that N-rays are not given by the human body but by objects which have been in contact therewith. He obtained this impression from a letter 30 years ago, which proved that the rays were radio-active and retain their power on the paper on which writing is made.

Afflicted with Erysipelas For Ten Years.

Cured by Four Bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters.

Mrs. N. Peister, of Brighton, Ont., was Cured Two Years Ago and Has Had No Return of It Since.

Read what she says:—"It is now about two years since I was cured of a terrible attack of Erysipelas, with which I had been afflicted for about ten years. I had tried almost everything, including medicine from several doctors, but could get no relief. I had given my case up as hopeless, but I procured four bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters, and it completely cured me. In fact, the cure has been permanent. It is now two years since I took Burdock Blood Bitters, and I have not had the slightest sign of the disease returning. I fully believe that your wonderful remedy has taken it so completely out of my system that I shall never be bothered again with it. I have the greatest of faith in Burdock Blood Bitters."

Reminders of the Moors.

Concerning the dwellings in the Argentine Republic a traveler writes: "Wherever there was a collection of houses I was greatly struck with the character of the architecture—like Arab or Moorish villages, one great wall without windows surrounding them. The country is very quiet now, safe enough for a very schoolgirl to travel by day or night—but still the peculiar architecture remains. At Negra Muerta, where we camped, there was only one large building, once the headquarters of the 'estanciero' who owns hundreds of square leagues of the surrounding country, but now tenanted by his manager, a superior sort of half-breed Spanish Indian, with his family. There was the huge square outside wall without any windows of any kind, one arched doorway and the inside house or houses built against the outer wall and facing into a patio—a most Moorish looking place. Truly the occupation of Spain by the Moors has left its deep markings; they extended across to the new world, influencing today even the customs of the Indians of Spanish South America."

A Royal Catnap.

Peter the Great particularly delighted in drawing teeth, and he strictly enjoined his servants to send for him when anything of that sort was to be done. One day his favorite valet de chambre seemed very melancholy. The czar asked him what was the matter. "Oh, your majesty," said the man, "my wife is suffering the greatest agony from toothache, and she obstinately refuses to have the tooth taken out." "If that is all," said Peter, "we will soon cure it. Take me to her at once." When they arrived the woman declared that she was not suffering at all—there was nothing the matter with her. "That is the way she talks, your majesty," said the valet. "She is suffering torture."

"Hold her head and hands," said the czar. "I will have it out in a moment." And he instantly pulled out the indicated tooth with great dexterity, and profuse thanks from the husband. What was Peter's indignation to discover a little later that his valet had used him as an executioner to punish his wife, who had never had an unpleasant tooth in her head.

Old Time School Whipping.

Sir Sydney Waterlow, lord mayor of London, thus described to a London Express writer a "good, old fashioned thrashing" in school:

"My master at St. Saviour's grammar school, Southwark, at the foot of old London bridge, was a counterpart of the tyrant of Dotheboys Hall."

"Finding that at the age of two years I had not made much progress in the proper comprehension of the four corners in Latin, he determined to give me a good birching." He was a most practiced hand with the rod and was four in the long, with plenty of small, sharp cones on it. He never used the same one twice.

"The flat having gone forth, I was stripped to my bare back and made to kneel. The master then inflicted three strokes as hard as his strong arm enabled him to give, causing the blood to spurt all over my back. Many of the cones remained in my flesh for days."

Varied Mourning Colors.

The following are the various colors used for mourning in different countries, together with the reasons given for the selection: Black expresses privation of light, yellow, the sun and yellow leaf, Egypt and Burma; in Britain widows' caps among the peasants are yellow; purple and violet, to express royalty, mourning for the cardinals and kings of France; white is the mourning color for Turkey; violet, emblem of "white handed hope," China; deep blue, fasting mourning; the significance of this selection is not known; pale brown, the withered leaves, Persia; grayish brown, earth, Ethiopia and Abyssinia.

Observed Orders Strictly.

The sentinels at Pompeii who died at their posts during the eruption because they had received no orders to leave them are held up as types of perfect obedience, but then the punishments in the Roman army were brutal, and they knew it. Different was the case of an individual who, being ordered to take a hot bath by his doctor, complied with the order and remained in it until the learned man paid his next visit. "The doctor exclaimed when he heard, 'Why, it is enough to kill you by paralyzing or chilling!'" "It was all your fault," said the doctor sulkily. "You only told me to get into a hot bath. You ought to have told me when to get out as well."

The Monks of Tibet.

A traveler in Tibet says that the peasant women of that country are cheery and, when washed, buxom and comely. The monks are the blot on the landscape. They bear no resemblance to the women of the country. One would think they belonged to a different type, and yet they are the sons and brothers of these women. The reason probably is the low, degraded life led by the ordinary monk, a life without interest, without work, devoid of any pursuit, intellectual or otherwise, and passed in the droning of chants and the performance of ritual, the meaning of which they neither know nor care about.

The Upper Amazon Basin.

The whole upper Amazon basin is subject to annual overflows which make it impossible to build homes on the rivers, as we are accustomed to do on our American rivers. There are only a few points in all the great stretch of river country that are above the flooding point, and these are commonly composed of rock or clay, quite unfit for cultivation.

How Hard Luck.

"I made an awful faux pas last night," said Mrs. Oldcastle.

"Did you?" replied her betters. "I've been wanting to make one for a long time, but I ain't been able to get a pattern. Whose did you have?"

REASON No 11 WHY YOU SHOULD USE

Red Rose Tea

Because it is always fresh and sweet.

My teas are shipped to St. John direct from where they grow, instead of being imported from London, where teas often lie in warehouse for several months.

The sales of Red Rose Tea are so large that any one lot of tea seldom remains on hand more than a few weeks; fresh lots arrive by every steamer.

Then, in the grocery store, Red Rose Tea is never dead stock. Except where being first introduced, the demand is such that each shipment is sold in a very few weeks.

From start to finish, Red Rose Tea is handled so that the consumer is sure to get it while it is fresh and sweet.

HOUSE FURNISHING.

THE DEVELOPMENT OF AN ARTISTIC AND PRACTICAL FEATURE.

Window Seats Must Be Well Planned. They Assist in Making the Living Room Cozy and Inviting—Box Seats For Bedrooms.

A seat built below a recess window is almost always justified by its pictorial effect even if it is not used to any great extent. The person of matter of fact tendencies is sometimes heard to object to this kind of seat because "when sitting in it one can not look out of the window." Yet it is certainly true that often the visual enjoyment of a room that is tastefully appointed exceeds that afforded by a commonplace exterior view, the former prolonging itself indefinitely through artificial lighting, says the Designer, in preface to the following suggestions: To incorporate the window seat successfully within the architectural lines of the house it is necessary to realize the importance of this part of the interior fittings while the plans are in preparation. The remodeling of an old house sometimes makes the introduction of a window seat practicable.

Window seats, notwithstanding their popular appreciation, are rarely overdone. One may call to mind single rooms where the window seat contributed to the attraction, but the house is still to be built that is rendered distinctive throughout this feature. Window seats are disappointing when they are not properly located and when their construction is not rightly understood. A window seat in an entrance hall where no one sits and where it receives only casual attention is practically wasted. Formal rooms of the house make no special claim for the window seat, but its presence in the living rooms is a means for securing cozy, inviting interiors. The best situation for the window seat must be a question for individual decision. The dining room has probably the most urgent claim when it is much in demand for afternoon or evening entertainment, and the picturesque quality of the window seat is always welcome among the conventional furnishings of this apartment.

Brick houses with walls eighteen or more inches deep offer the simplest solution to the making of window seats, but with walls of ordinary thickness good effects can be made by projecting a case window outside of the running wall. This has been done, as in the illustration, where the window and seat combine with the fireplace to make a charming living room. Sometimes an uneven line of wall or a "jog" invites the introduction of a window seat, and the arrangement is made

A SURE OUT SEAT.

Souly satisfactory if it is enclosed like a box. In a bedroom a window box of this description is always available for storing unused underwear or shirt waists or extra bedding. In a living room it can always be utilized as a showy for articles that must be kept at hand, but out of sight.

In the construction of the window seat the primary consideration is the height. With a cushion laid over the top of the seat the distance from the floor should be less than if it is left uncovered.

The Danger in That Common Disease, Catarrh.

Because catarrhal diseases are so common and because catarrh is not rapidly fatal, people too often overlook and neglect it until some incurable ailment develops as a result of the neglect.

The inflamed condition of the membrane of the nose and throat makes a fertile soil for the germs of Pneumonia and Consumption, in fact catarrhal pneumonia and catarrhal consumption are the most common forms of these dreaded diseases which annually cause more than one quarter of the deaths in this country.

Remedies for catarrh are almost as numerous as catarrh sufferers, but very few have any actual merit as a cure, the only good derived being simply a temporary relief.

There is, however, a very effective remedy recently discovered which is rapidly becoming famous for its great value in relieving and permanently curing all forms of catarrhal disease, whether located in the head, throat, lungs or stomach.

This new catarrh cure is principally composed of a gum derived from the Eucalyptus tree, and this gum possesses extraordinary healing and germicidal properties.

It is in the form of a lozenge or tablet, pleasant to the taste and so harmless that little children take them with safety and benefit.

Eucalyptus bark, as we know, is sometimes used but not so convenient nor so palatable as the gum. Undoubtedly the best quality is found in Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

These may be found in any drug store and any catarrh sufferer who has tried douches, inhalers and liquid medicines, will be surprised at the rapid improvement after a few days' use of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets which are composed of the gum of the Eucalyptus tree, combined with other antiseptics which destroy the germs of catarrh in the blood and expel the catarrhal poison from the system.

Dr. Ramsdell in speaking of Catarrh and its cure says: "After many experiments I have given up the idea of curing catarrh by the use of inhalers, washes, salves or liquid medicines. I have always had the best results from Stuart's Catarrh Tablets; the red gum and other valuable antiseptics contained in these tablets make them, in my opinion, far superior to any of the numerous catarrh remedies so extensively advertised. The fact that Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are sold in drug stores, makes them a household necessity."

For colds in the head, for coughs, catarrhal deafness and catarrh of the stomach and liver, people who have tried them say that Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are a household necessity.

Antiquity of the Acrostic.

The acrostic certainly dates back to about 250 B. C., when the names of the plays in the arguments of the "Comedies" of Plautus were indicated by this ingenious device.

Cicero, about a hundred years later, has his "tristitia" and "tristitia" in the verses of the syllogisms are distinguished by an arrangement which the Greeks call acrostic. From the first letters of each verse in order are formed words which express some particular meaning, as in the case of some of the verses of the "Comedies" of Plautus.

A similar device was employed in some of the Hebrew psalms, notably in the One Hundred and Nineteenth, where each verse begins with the letter which stands at the title of its separate part throughout the twenty-two divisions of the psalm.

HE TOOK HIS WIFE'S ADVICE

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Cured The Stomach Trouble of His Confined Henry A. Coles to His Bed.

One of the unpleasant features of Indigestion and Dyspepsia is that it always keeps getting into one's head. Take the case of Henry A. Coles, of St. Mary's River, Guelphboro Co., N. S. He says:

"I had Stomach Trouble for about five years, more or less, and the last I was taken to my bed and the doctor called in. He did me no good. I was suffering a great deal and did not know what to do."

Everyone must know Mr. Coles was in a bad way. But that's what Indigestion leads to if you neglect it. But if Mr. Coles did not know what to do, his wife did. She said, "Try Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets." Like a wise man he took his wife's advice, and of the result he says:

"I took seven boxes, and I have not felt any of the trouble since. I heartily recommend Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets to any sufferer from Stomach Trouble. They cured me."

No man can be provident of his time who is not prudent in the choice of his company.

Sore Throat and Coughs

A simple, effective and safe remedy for all throat irritations is found in Crescote Antiseptic Tablets.

They combine the germicidal value of the soothing properties of glycerine and boracic acid. All Druggists 10c.

THE CHURCH.

Some Anecdotes of Archbishops That Furnish Amusing Reading and a Quiet Laugh With Catholic Teachers.

A former Archbishop of York once disputed the question of precedence with an Ambassador at a dinner party. The latter claimed to represent his prince.

"But I," the Primate retorted, "am the Ambassador of the Most High."

Martyr's Remot.

A lady, greatly admiring a certain preacher, took Dr. Magee, afterwards Archbishop of York, with her to hear him. Afterwards she asked her companion what he thought of the sermon. Dr. Magee replied that it was very long.

"Yes," said the lady, "but there was a saint in the pulpit."

"And a martyr in the pew!" immediately added Magee.

What Part?

Archbishop Ryan (Roman Catholic) of the United States was a short time ago about to take a train for Baltimore at the Broad street station when a young man accosted him, saying:

"Your face is familiar. Where in hell have I seen you?"

"I really don't know," replied the archbishop, blandly. "What part of hell do you come from?"

Unexpected Applause.

Dr. Croke, R.C., Archbishop of Cashel (Ireland), who died in July, 1902, was a brilliant athlete in his youthful days. A few days before he died, being then over seventy, he was walking in a field near Thurles with an old friend, when they came to a rather high fence.

The archbishop, in times gone by, thought nothing of vaulting over such obstacles, and when his friend in a jovial way hinted that he was not so agile now, the veteran prelate, taking a hasty look round to see that none of his flock were near, with a bound cleared the fence and alighted on the other side, only to hear an Irish farm hand, who was digging potatoes in the field, exclaim:

"Bravo, your reverence!"

The archbishop hurried home. Keen on Hunting.

Archbishop Harcourt, of York (he died in 1857), was very fond of hunting—so fond, indeed, that he was very near refusing the high post in the Ministry of the Interior because he thought if he accepted he should have to give the sport up. He consulted a friend, who said that he must take counsel with others.

"Of course, I should never join the hunt," pleaded the archbishop, "but, you know, I might fall in with the hounds by accident!"

After some time the friend came back and said that on the whole the party considered that the archbishop might hunt, providing he did not shoot!

Weighty Sermon.

Archbishop Tait, of Canterbury, once made effective use of a sermon. Driving down a steep hill, he was confronted by a runaway horse, attached to a heavy dray, making straight for his carriage. He threw a sermon in its face. The animal was so bewildered by the fluttering leaves that it swerved and paused, the driver regained control, the sermon was picked up, and the archbishop proceeded on his way.

"I don't know," he said to the Archbishop of York, a few days later, "whether my sermon did any good to the congregation, but it was of great service to me."

Cutting Capers.

Dr. King, Archbishop of Dublin, having invited several persons of distinction to dine with him, had on the table, among other dishes, a fine leg of mutton and caper sauce. The divine, who was remarkable for preferring a trencher to a plate, had some of the above-mentioned pickle introduced dry for his use, and as he was mincing the herbs, he called aloud to the company to observe him.

"I here present you, my lords and gentlemen," he said, "with a sight that may hereafter serve you to talk of as something very strange—that you saw an Archbishop of Dublin, at fourscore and seven years of age, cut capers upon a trencher!"

Old Cook's Joke.

Dr. Thomson, Archbishop of York, used to tell a good story of himself. He had been dining with a friend several miles from his residence at Bishophorpe.

After dinner he ordered his carriage to drive him home, and when about to enter he noticed that his coachman was rather shaky on the box, and also that his voice was anything but clear.

Before the carriage had proceeded far it became evident that the coachman was incapable of driving with safety, so there was nothing for it but for the archbishop to exchange places with him if he wished to arrive home safely. Having deposited the man inside, he mounted the box, and all went well until the narrow road up to the stables was reached. Here the carriage was driven in the dark over several large "spars" which were lying by the side of the road.

The noise caused by the collision attracted the stable boy, who seized hold of the horses' heads and led them into the yard, muttering the while some not over choice language at the coachman for his carelessness.

"You old fool! Drive again!"

A light from the stables revealed that above him, three other wells.

"Well! Why you've got the old cock's hat!"

The archbishop thought the joke had gone far enough, and said:

"No; it's the old cock himself."

STILL ANOTHER CASE

The new system treatment, Anti-Pill, continues to work wonderful cures.

When Dr. Leonard, of Lincoln, Neb., gave Anti-Pill to the world, he had unbounded faith in the treatment but he did not foresee the world-wide and wonderful results it is now achieving in the cure of disease.

Here is the story of another Anti-Pill victory—

"For many months I have been troubled with dyspepsia, dizziness in my head, cold, chills, and suffered most of the time from constipation, and was unable to do my housework, tried every kind of pill and medicine that either the doctors or myself self could think of, and finally tried Anti-Pill. The treatment has practically made a new woman of me. I am able to do all my own work. The dizziness has all gone, my stomach feels much better, and I am no longer troubled with constipation. I cannot praise Anti-Pill too highly." Mrs. Thos. Tabb, Emerald Street North, Hamilton, Ont.

Mrs. Tabb's letter is only one of many.

Anti-Pill is sold by all druggists at 50c., or The Wilson-Fyle Co., Limited, Niagara Falls, Ont. Sole agents for Canada.

The average woman can break a man more successfully than she can crack a joke.

When a boy turns his bulging pocket inside out we marvel at the quantity and variety of articles he has stowed away. Old lengths of string, marbles, a horse-chestnut, a top, brass nails, hickory-nuts, an apple, and many more articles are garnered by this "snapper-up of unconquered trifles." We think the collection must be hard on a boy's pocket. And it is. But do we ever think of the variety and miscellany of the substances we put into the pocket of our stomach? Here's the apple and the nuts, and things besides quite as indigestible as brass nails and with no more food value than so many marbles. And yet we wonder that the stomach "gives out." When the stomach breaks down under the strain of careless eating and irregular meals it can be perfectly and permanently restored to health and strength by the use of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

The action of this medicine on the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition is so marked, that relief from disease is at once experienced, and the headaches, liver troubles, and kidney disorders, skin eruptions and other symptoms of a diseased stomach are quickly cured. Whenever the use of a laxative medicine is indicated, use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They act in harmony with the "Discovery" and assist its action by purging the bowels of foul accumulations.

If you would flatter a man, ask his advice.

The publisher of the best Farmers' paper in the Maritime Provinces in writing to us states:

"I would say that I do not know of a medicine that has stood the test of time like MINARD'S LINIMENT. It has been an unfailing remedy in our household ever since I can remember, and has outlived dozens of would-be competitors and imitations."

AN ACT OF TERRORISM

Assassination of Procurator of Finnish Senate.

Helsingfors, Feb. 7.—Soininen Soininen, Procurator-General of Finland, who before he was assassinated was known by the name of Johnson, was assassinated yesterday by a young man, whose identity up to the present time has not been determined. The assassin and Soininen's son were both wounded in a revolver duel following the killing. The motive of the crime apparently was purely political, the slain official being a prominent member of the Government party.

The murderer appeared at the procurator's residence at 11 o'clock yesterday and sent in a card bearing in French the name of Alexander Gadd, who is in the Russian service. The young man, who was smartly dressed in an officer's uniform, promptly admitted to the officials private study, and on his entrance fired four shots from a revolver, one of the bullets piercing the breast of the procurator, who expired almost immediately.

See Fights Assassin.
His 17-year-old son, hearing the shots, rushed in from an adjoining room and fired three or four shots at his father's assailant, whose right leg was broken below the knee by a bullet. He was also slightly wounded in the shoulder, and a finger of his hand was struck. The assassin fired the one bullet remaining in his revolver at Soininen's son, wounding him slightly in the calf of his right leg. He then endeavored to escape, but fell unconscious on the floor in the ante-room. There he was seized. Doctor Wasatjerna was called immediately, but found the procurator beyond need of his services. The assassin was removed to the surgical hospital, where he lies guarded by police, answering no questions and evidently unconscious. His recovery, however, is thought to be certain. Up to the present the authorities have been unable to identify him. He is of dark complexion and apparently between 25 and 30 years of age.

The Senator's Career.
Johnson was born in 1856, and practiced at the Finnish bar. He was highly esteemed, and had held various Government appointments, including that of provincial judge. He was appointed Procurator of the Senate in 1901, and in the same year was made Procurator-General of the Duchy of Finland. Johnson was regarded as a wise and patriotic official. It is understood that it was at his initiative that the Finns exiled by Governor-General Bobrikoff were allowed to return to Finland.

Predecessor of Terrorism.
St. Petersburg, Feb. 7.—The news of the assassination of Soininen Soininen, Procurator-General of Finland, though occurring before noon on Monday, was not known generally in St. Petersburg last night, but may be expected to produce an immense sensation when it becomes public, as it will be regarded as the precursor of an era of terrorism for which the events of January in St. Petersburg and throughout Russia gave the signal. Until the identity of the assassin is known it will be impossible to establish positively the motive for the attempt, but the present conditions in Finland render it almost certain that the crime is of a purely political character and of the same nature as that of Count Bobrikoff, the Governor-General of Finland, in June of last year.

Russification Opposed.
The Russification of Poland has been meeting with great opposition and creating much bitterness, especially since the formation of the party of active resistance, recruited from the older spirits of the original party of passive resistance to which the perpetrator of the latest crime probably belongs. With the conference of revolutionary parties of Russia, comprising representatives of the Finnish active resistance party, the Polish National League, the Russian Emancipationalists and other revolutionary organizations in Berlin last November, a program for general concerted action was drawn up and the assassin of Soininen undoubtedly was in touch with the dissatisfied element throughout Russia.

Plot Against Government.
Berlin, Feb. 7.—The Vossische Zeitung's correspondent at Oseto shows the following: "The military are taking sharp measures against the populace. Many soldiers and police have already been killed. Some high officers have been arrested for plotting against the Government. The people are living in extreme excitement and great fear. Many have fled to foreign countries. There have been a number of dynamite explosions caused by Socialists, but they have failed to do much damage. The schools have been closed."

How Treason Is Obedied.
St. Petersburg, Feb. 7.—Lessner's torpedo factory here resumed work yesterday. The managers dismissed the employees in obedience to Governor-General Trepoff's orders and then engaged them.

Aged Official Dead.
Meaford, Feb. 7.—Thomas Plunkett of Meaford, for 42 years clerk of the third division court of Grey, died suddenly at his residence here on Saturday evening. He was born at Carleton Place, Lennox County, 75 years ago. From there he removed to Owen Sound, where in 1863 he received his appointment as division court clerk. He is survived by a widow, four daughters and one son.

—OUR SIXTH ANNUAL— WHITE GOODS SALE

BEGINS WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY THE 8th, and will be continued until the end of the month. It will surpass in scope and importance all previous sales of this kind. You will know by this time that this is not a spasmodic effort, but a carefully mapped out merchandise movement of gigantic proportions to the preparation of which we have devoted months of study and labor, and all the money-saving energy this Seven Store Organization is capable of.

This sale embraces in addition to Women's and Children's White Under Garments and its kindred branches, also House-Keeping Linens, Cottons, Pillow Casings, Sheetings, Cambrics, Towellings, Towels, White Quilts, in fact everything the component parts of which are cotton and linen, and the very fact that it is offered in this sale should be a sufficient guarantee for substantial, reliable quality. Next to quality the prices are important. We believe Our Prices Are Lower, quality considered, than can be obtained elsewhere in or near this city. That's our candid opinion, and if you'll carefully compare goods and prices, we're satisfied it will be yours too. For instance:—
