For Seventy-Nine Years

The Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co., of Canada, have been the leaders in Wood Craftsmanship, until to-day their name stands as the Hall-Mark of quality on Wood Goods. Their final achievement is built after the fashion of their own manufactures, and backed by their seventy-nine years experience. That is why the Brunswick is the leading phonograph on the market to-day. It is not an experiment, but a reality.

The Brunswick Phonograph

has been acclaimed as the "Final Phonograph"—because it plays all makes of records correctly. It is built like a violin, with an all wood tone amplifier.

Pauline Frederick At The Happy Hour

The famous plays of Victorian Sardou, the great French playwright, served as starring vehicles for such talented players as Sarah Bernhardt and the late Fanny Davenport for many years. The pietization of several of the more notable of these plays by the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation with Pauline Frederick as the star, has attracted much attention everywhere, and chief among these in point of beauty and effectiveness, is "Fedora," which will be shown at the Happy Hour Thursday.

This is an unusually strong play, and the story affords Miss Frederick one of the finest portrayals of her career in the silent drama. It is a story of Russian love and political intrigue, and, like most of Sardou's creations, the theme is intensely tragic. The story concerns a Russian princess whose fiance, Count Vladimir Androvitch, is slain by Boris Ipanoff, a jealous husband, and she pursues the supposed murderer to Paris, where she obtains a confession from him, or rather, a complete justification. She finds herself in love with Ipanoff, only after she had placed the police on his track, and after she had caused the arrest of his brother in Russia as an accomplice.

She weds Ipanoff, but later he learns of the part she had taken in the tragedy of his life, and when his brother is drowned in his dungeon and his mother dies from the shock, he attempts to strangle his wife. She eludes him and swallowing poison, dies at his feet. The picture was produced by Director Edouard Jose and a highly capable cast of supporting players was provided.

The Brunswick plays all makes of records correctly. Bring your favorite record in and let us show you how the Brunswick plays it. The Brunswick Shop. 6-1

WOMEN'S HAIR
FROM DANDRUFF
Fair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a small bottle of Dandruff.

If you care for heavy hair that glazes with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fully and lustrous, try Dandruff. Just one application doubles the quantity of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have too heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. The attractive secret robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots furnish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Dandruff from any drug store and just try it.

Will Again Operate Drummond Iron Mines

Company Will Commence Operations Again During The Coming Summer

That the Gloucester iron mines, near Bathurst, will be operated upon a larger scale than ever by Canada Iron Foundries, Ltd., just as soon as the labor and tonnage situations reach a normal basis, was the statement made by Mr. W. F. C. Parsons, representative of the Canadian Iron Foundries, who was here from Middleton, N. S., while the Provincial Government was in session here.

Mr. Parsons announced that the Canada Iron Foundries now had an offer from Philadelphia for 500,000 tons of ore from the Gloucester mines annually for a long period and declared that everything pointed to a resumption of work at the mines on a large scale just as soon as tonnage was available and the labor market became settled after the upset caused by war conditions.

At the present time the railway is not in a condition to be operated, as $10,000,000 worth of steel rails were taken off the line by the St. John Valley Railway Company for use on that road, and the Valley Railway now pays interest to Canada Iron Foundries, Ltd., on that amount. The arrangement under which the rails were allowed to be removed, Mr. Parsons says, is that they must be replaced within a year of the conclusion of peace.—Gleaner.

Hale And Hearty At Ninety-Five

Mrs. Nancy Vanderbeck, of Millerton North, Co.

Mrs. Nancy Vanderbeck, mother of Coun. J. W. Vanderbeck, and who resides on the homestead at Millerton, with her son, Burton Vanderbeck, was Friday (Feb. 7) 95 years old. She is now almost the only living person who passed through the great Miramichi fire of the 7th of October, 1825. At the time of the fire she was an infant and was saved by being taken out on a raft of logs along with a number of people from Newcastle. She can relate many interesting incidents of the great fire, which she learned from her parents. During the war she has followed the fortunes of the Canadians with the greatest interest, reading the news from day to day, without glasses. She has knit many articles of comfort for the lads overseas and has always hoped she might live until the end of the war and see the boys come home again.

Mrs. Vanderbeck, in speaking of the high cost of living, says that she can remember when flour was $16 a barrel, cornmeal, $12 a barrel; tea, $1 a pound; brown sugar, 17 cents a pound, molasses 80c. a gallon and tobacco 85c. a pound. One hundred years ago, by accounts in her possession, a barrel of rye flour cost $17, a barrel of Indianmeal cost $19.44, a gallon of molasses $1.56 and tea $2 a pound. By her father's account, in May, 1817, flour was $21.84, potatoes $3 a barrel; pork $43.52 a barrel; raisins, 48c. a pound, sugar 34c. a pound, and butter 42c. a pound. Wages for men per month was $29, river drivers $2.40 per day. A ton of timber was worth $4.80; a yoke of oxen cost $2.19; board for men per day was 72c.; hay $24 a ton; 1,000 sup. ft. of planks cost $16.50 sawed by hand with whip-saws. She remembers the rebellion in Canada in 1837, but it did not excite the people of the Miramichi very much.

At the time of the Crimean War, in 1854, they received news of the war once a month. The flour, or most of it, came from the U. S., and was cheaper. By her husband's accounts, molasses was 84c. a gallon; meal $8.40 a barrel; tea, $1.09 a pound; sugar, 22c. a pound; flour, $13.00.

When the Civil War in the U. S. was raging here and the people lived mostly on cornmeal. They used to grind corn and peas of their own raising, with a handmill or quern. The men in the woods made tea of the hemlock and tamarack branches. The farmers used to shave pine shingles by hand and trade for cornmeal. Some-

C. S. E. T. Concert Enjoyable Affair

The concert given by the C.S.E.T. boys in St. James' Hall on Thursday evening last proved a most enjoyable affair. There was an exceptionally large audience and every number on the program was forced to respond to an encore and quite a tidy sum was realized, which has been handed to the Salvation Army Home-Coming Campaign Fund. The program was as follows.

Chorus—Girls and C.S.E.T. Boys.
Recitation—Homeward Bound, Katherine Stables.

Address—Rev. L. H. MacLean.
Recitation—The Freedom of the Seas, Robert Sutherland.

Chorus—Girls and C.S.E.T. Boys.
Solo—Mrs. Frank Burgess.

Recitation—Song for Our Fleet, J. Corbett.

Selection—Robert Galloway.
Recitation—The Weaver, Florence Cassidy.

Solo—Mrs. L. H. MacLean.
Reading—Mrs. C. C. Hubbard.

Tableaux.
Chorus—Girls and C.S.E.T. Boys.

Miss Olive Williamson acted as accompanist and Geikie Bros. Orchestra furnished the music.

The Brunswick phonograph, which also assisted in the musical program received much favorable comment from the audience.

WELCOMED RETURNED HERO

On Saturday, Jan. 25th, a number of the Ellenston friends gathered at the home of Driver Fred Siddall to welcome him back from overseas and presented him with an address and a coat, for which he showed his appreciation by a few well-chosen remarks. During the evening a dainty reception was served, after which the party broke up having spent a very pleasant evening.

Driver Siddall arrived home on Jan. 23rd. He enlisted in the 25th Battery in June, 1915, and has seen much active service.

His many friends are very glad to see him in their midst again, looking so well, after having been twice wounded.

A barrel would be divided between two families. Most of the supplies were towed up the river from Newcastle, Chatham and Nelson in rafts by horses and oxen.

Mrs. Vanderbeck said, in the old days, although the people had to suffer greater hardships than they do now, they were just as happy, healthy and more neighborly, and they had many amusements. She remembers when the first circus came to the Miramichi. She was about eleven years of age. They travelled through from Fredericton. When they came to Wilson's Point the elephant refused to go in the ferry scow after first being put in with his trunk; he then swam across the river with the keeper on his back. A number of people from Newcastle went up to see them crossing the river. They had a lot of beautiful horses, a zebra, a giraffe, a panther, a horned horse, a lioness and subs (the lion had died on the way), two cages of monkeys. One monkey was trained to ride around the ring on a pony's back. They had their tents on Newcastle square. They had a nice seat rigged on the elephant's back. The manager asked for two girls to take a ride on his back. The keeper made him kneel down and put a step ladder up, and Mr. Hammell of Newcastle, took his daughter Mary Jane, and myself, and helped us to get onto the elephant's back. The keeper then led him around the ring three times. The circus travelled through to Halifax and set sail in a ship. When several miles from land the ship caught on fire. They had an awful time with the animals. The manager put the valuables and money in a box and put it along with the keeper on the elephant's back. When the fire drove the elephant overboard he swam towards land, when he came close enough to touch bottom it was all mud flat and he could not get through, and he turned and swam out to sea and that was the last seen of them. One old man talking about it after said: "There now, all the little bit of money that we had in the country went to the bottom of the ocean with the elephant."

Demobilization Of German Troops Urged

French Writers Agree That Only Sure Plan is to Disarm and Demobilize German Forces

Paris, Feb. 10.—The new armistice now being framed up by the opening of the Allied War Council and the opening of the German Constituent assembly at Weimar, are the two chief subjects of comment in the French press, and in some of this comment "there is a threat."

The militarist newspapers here ask for an additional clause in the armistice treaty calling for German demobilization, disarmament and the adoption of a constitution. Most editorial writers seem to agree that the time has come for the Allies to be more severe toward Germany, particularly from a military point of view. In Premier Ebert's speech at Weimar the French newspapers see a direct attempt on the part of the Germans to divide the strong army of occupation which is now ready to cope with any eventuality.

The Gaulois sounds a warning note when it tells the Allies that, and the newspapers say it has irrefutable proof that its assertion is correct, the German factories continue to turn out munitions and airplanes day and night.

The 25th Battalion home in July

Second Division of Which They are a Part Expected to Land in Canada That Month

Toronto, Feb. 8.—A special cable to the Telegram from London today says I am authorized by Canadian headquarters in England to state that most of the Third Division is in England and that the remainder is moving today. The division goes to Normandy. The First division is moving down to the French embarkation ports vacated by the Third and second is following the First division and the Fourth division is coming behind.

"The Third division should reach Canada sometime in March, with each of the other divisions about two months behind. This would bring the First home in May, the second in July, the Fourth in August.

"The railroad strike held up the departure of the ten thousand troops for Canada this week. The twelfth railway battalion has sailed, third and sixth battalions following.

"Though a general strike is averted the tubes are still in bad shape and most of the underground lines are still idle. The consequent blockade delays the arrival of troops from France."

HOW LT. BENN WON THE MILITARY CROSS

The following interesting account of how Lt. F. W. Benn, of Nordin, won his Military Cross is taken from the Canadian, published at London.

Lt. F. W. Benn is a son of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Benn, of Nordin, and went overseas with the 132nd North Shore Battalion.

Lt. F. W. Benn, 26th Bn., Can. Inf., New Brunswick R.—For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. This officer started as junior subaltern of his company in this action. When his platoon was checked by a machine-gun nest he went to a flank and sniped the gunner, and then with his men rushed the post, capturing eight prisoners. The next day he was in command of the company and when held up consolidated the line and obtained touch on both flanks by patrol. He then collected stragglers and prepared an attack. His work was excellent throughout.

WELCOMED HOME

Douglastown Temperance Hall was the scene of a very pleasant gathering on Thursday evening, 6th inst., when the members of Wycliffe Lodge No. 82, L.O.A., and Golden Link Lodge, No. 201, L.O.B.A., met to welcome home their Brother Corporal S. Sterling Wood, and Mrs. Wood, from overseas.

Corporal and Mrs. Wood were called to the front, an address read them by Thomas Vye and a handsome silver tea service presented them by Mrs. Everett Gray.

SNOW SHOE PARTY AT DOUGLASTOWN

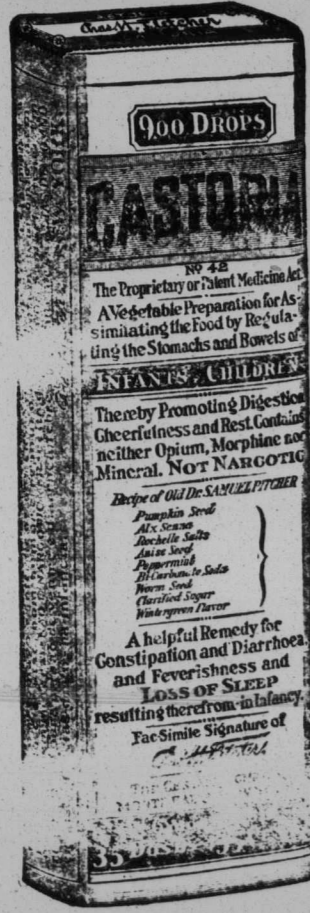

A very enjoyable snowshoe party was held in Douglastown Wednesday night. The chaperones were Mesdames H. A. Gray and Elmer Wood. Among the young ladies were the Misses Sadie Scott, Alice McKnight, Stella Bransfield, Eliza Simpson, K. Pittman, Florence and Jolie Brown, Marguerite and Barbara Craig, Katie and Annie Driscoll, Kathleen Cameron, Clarissa Firth, Marion Gray, Annie Young, Mildred and Hazel Wood, Mary Wason and Mesdames Jack Henderson, Bert Cowie, John Wood, Kennedy Henderson, Yorston Benn, Weldon Jardine, David Hutchinson, Clifford and Herbert Jessamin, Arthur and Robert Wood, William and George Jessamin, Johnston and Stewart Geikie. On their return the party had luncheon in the Douglastown Temperance Hall, and passed the next hour or two with games and music.

MISSIONARY INSTITUTE

A missionary institute will be held in St. James Hall, opening Wednesday evening of this week and continuing until Friday evening with afternoon and evening sessions.

The Institute is open to delegates from all churches within convenient reach. It is interdenominational in character, being one of a series organized by the several Protestant churches in Canada and conducted from time to time throughout the Dominion.

The program will be varied and will in turn provide general gatherings with addresses, class work for study of different missionary lands according to the interest of the delegates, with public platform meetings in the evening, some addresses being illustrated with lantern slides. Among the leading speakers on the program are Rev. H. C. Priest, of Toronto, J. L. Stillwell, of Toronto, W. H. Barracough of Moncton and Rev. A. F. Robb, of Womasan, Kansas.

JUST TRY IT AND SEE how much better you feel in the morning. That "leggy" headachy, tired, don't-know-what's-the-matter feeling will be gone—you'll feel fine.

TROUBLE IS, your system is clogged with a lot of poisons that your over-worked, excited and unbalanced organs can't get rid of. Pills, oils, salts, catenol and ordinary laxatives, cathartics and purges only force the bowels and prod the liver.

Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) acts on the stomach, liver, bowels and even kidneys, not forcing, but toning and strengthening the organs. The result is prompt relief and real, lasting benefit. When Baby is Cross Mothers, when your baby is cross—when he cries a great deal and no amount of attention or petting cheers him up—something is the matter. It is not the nature of the little one to be cross and peevish—the well child is a happy child. Give him a dose of Baby's Own Tablets and he will soon be well again. They are a mild but thorough laxative; regulate the bowels and stomach; banish constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers; in fact they cure all the minor ailments of the little ones. Concerning them Mrs. Alphonse Lachance, St. Apolline, Que., writes:—"My baby cried continually but Baby's Own Tablets soon set her right and now she is fat and happy." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MAKES PORT AFTER 30 DAYS AT SEA

MARINE CHASER USES SAILS OF RED CLOTHES

Engines Break Down, Despite Application of Salad Oil and Butter When Oil Gives Out.

How the crew of a submarine chaser rigged up hot clothes as sails, their signals of distress failing to bring help after the vessel's engines were disabled and her navigating instruments washed overboard in mid-ocean, and how they plotted the craft, through the open sea for a month until they reached the Azores, is graphically described in the report of Alexis Pulihen, the sailing master in command, which has just been made public by the U. S. Navy Department.

The submarine chaser, which was called No. 28, was American built and one of a group turned over to the French government. Manned by French crews the vessel left the Bermudas on January 7, 1918, and soon struck heavy weather. The tugs and chasers found it hard to keep together. In a terrific storm on Jan. 12 the tug convoy was scattered and No. 28 lost sight of her companions. Heavy seas carried away her life-boats, davits, boxes of coal and gasoline and ventilators. The engine room was flooded, but the crew managed to start one engine and keep the vessel going. When the weather moderated somewhat No. 28 started out in search of her convoy. She then developed engine trouble, and the shortage of lubricating oil became alarming.

Although the crew worked frantically they could not locate the trouble and the engines finally went "dead." Submarine chaser No. 28 was therefore helpless, and although many signals of distress were sent up nobly seemed to reach them.

Reported at the Azores.

When the group of chasers reached the French port, No. 28 was reported missing, and it was generally believed she had been lost. Then on Feb. 18, much to the surprise of both the French and American navy departments, she was reported at the Azores.

The expedients to which the crew of the vessel resorted to in their month at sea are best related in the sailing master's own report:

"The machinists set to work to fix the engines, and on Wednesday, Jan. 16, at midnight, the central engine started up. I set course east. There was nothing in sight. At 3 a. m. we again broke down. At 3.30 a. m. I saw the lights of two steamers to port on the horizon, headed east. I showed red lights at the masthead and signalled to them with the blinker. They did not answer me and continued on their course to the east.

"The boat continued stoned and the machinists kept at the repair of the engine. I kept naming the bilges, where the water reached a height of twenty inches. The boat made a lot of water from the springing of her seams.

"At ten minutes to twelve a. m. I saw the mast of a 'scout boat on the horizon to the northwest. Considering my boat to be in a critical condition by reason of the length of time it had been disabled and the near exhaustion of my lubricative oil, I fired a salvo of six shots and hoisted the signal of distress. I obtained no answer and could see nothing more of them a few minutes later. At noon the central engine started up; course east. Nothing in sight. At one p. m. a new breakdown of the engine. The chief machinist, Fairnour, reported to me that the lubricative oil was all gone. Thereupon I used soap suds and several greasy substances to replace the oil. But these gave bad results.

Buttered the Engines.

"I then gave all the salad oil and butter for the lubrication of the engines. These latter gave very good results, but were not sufficient. There was about five gallons. At twenty minutes to six p. m. the engine started up; course east, nothing in sight.

"At half-past eleven p. m. another and last breakdown of the engine and burning out of the dynamo. The chief machinist reported to me that he would not be able to make the engines run any more. The radio would not work. It was impossible for me to call for help. There was nothing left me aboard but a few pints of salad oil, which I used only for the lubrication of the auxiliary engine with which I pumped bilges when the state of the sea was such that I could not use the hand-billy (hand pump).

"I found myself, therefore, in complete distress, drifting toward the southeast, at the mercy of the winds and sea, with no exact position. I estimated my position at this time as thirty-six degrees, thirty minutes north latitude, and thirty-nine degrees, west longitude (about seven hundred miles from the Azores).

"I remained in this condition until the eighteenth of Feb. without getting help of any kind. I ordered a jury lug rig to be got up, pumping the bilge all the time, putting out and taking in a sea anchor when I thought it well to use it, sparing the drinking water as much as possible, rationing the crew to the lowest possible amount, in view of the probability of LIFE appointment of Lt. Col. G. McLaren Brown as Knight Commander of the Order of the British Empire is the result of the very fine service rendered by the European Manager of the C. P. R. to the British Government during the last three years of the war.

C. P. R. OFFICIAL HONORED

"G. McLaren" as he is popularly known, both in Canada and the Old Country, is the son of Adam Brown of Hamilton, Ontario, and was born in 1853. In 1887 he was appointed agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Vancouver, and promoted five years later to be Asst. General Passenger Agent, Western Division, and subsequently became in turn Executive Agent, Superintendent of Hotels, and Dining and Sleeping Car Dept., and General Passenger Agent C. P. R. Atlantic Steamship Lines. In 1908 he was appointed General European Traffic Agent, and in 1910 General European Manager, with head offices at 62-5 Charing Cross, London, S.W.

Col. George McLaren Brown, says a friend writing in the Montreal Gazette, "is one of those rare men whose friendships are equal to the number of their acquaintances. To all in that wide circle the announcement of the new honor which has been conferred upon him comes as pleasant and very welcome news. It is a recognition of qualities and services which they all know him to possess and to have rendered. The reputation which he enjoyed in Canada, not alone in the railway world, has been enhanced in proportion to his larger opportunities as European Manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway in London, and the value of his service in the organization and direction of troop transportation during the war can hardly be overstated. It was as successful as it was generous, and although given with no other thought than that of duty, was none the less deserving of recognition now accorded. It was but one, if the chief of his war activities, which were in fact as varied as were the demands upon his help and counsel. In all this McLaren Brown has been true in both impulse and action to the stock of which he comes. Similar impulses, finding similar expression having regard to place and circumstances, have characterized the long and honorable career of Adam Brown, his father, now and for many years postmaster at Hamilton. Active and successful in commercial life, a pioneer in railway development, and one of the fathers of the National Policy, Adam Brown at ninety years, is still young in spirit, giving largely of his time and substance in philanthropy, and to the support of war relief organizations. As is the father, so is the son, strong in his undertakings and, withal a thoughtful, kindly gentleman."

Sir George McLaren Brown.

ORIGIN OF ARMY CUSTOMS

Some of Them Date Back to Ancient Roman Days.

Putatively detaching from his hat a brim an imaginary bug, the soldier stood at attention.

It is the salute—the "snappy" salute now deemed most correct and expressive of soldierly alertness.

This particular kind of salute is rather new. Formerly the proper method in all armies was to raise the flattened hand to the hat or cap with palm to the front. Sharp and quick, of course, but a different kind of motion.

It had a meaning. By origin this salute dated back to very early times, when assassinations were frequent. It signified that the hand, with palm outward, concealed no dagger or other weapon.

The salute with the sword dates back to the Crusades, when, as a sign of obedient acceptance of orders, that weapon was lifted so that the hilt (forming with the blade a cross might be kissed. Thus the good knight pledged himself to duty, with God as his witness.

Military customs are perpetuated through habit of discipline, and so have a tendency to survive long after their origin has been forgotten. At the funeral of an officer (if in a mounted branch of the service) his horse, saddled and fully equipped, is led behind the vehicle (usually an artillery caisson) that bears the coffin. His army boots are in that struts, his hand held to the front to show that his long march is ended.

Three volleys are fired over his grave. Why? Because the ancient Romans threw earth three times upon the coffin of a fighting man at the burial service, crying him three times by name as they did so.

The sounding of "fans"—ordinarily meaning "Lights out!"—is, on the other hand, relatively modern. As marking the end of the funeral ceremony, it has a striking and beautiful symbolic significance.

Hurrah! How's This

Cincinnati authority says corns dry up and lift out with fingers.

Hospital records show that every time you cut a corn you invite lock-jaw or blood poison, which is needless, says a Cincinnati authority, who tells you that a quarter ounce of a drug called freezone can be obtained at little cost from the drug store but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You simply apply a few drops of freezone on a tender, aching corn and soreness is instantly relieved. Shortly the entire corn can be lifted out, root and all, without pain.

This drug is sticky but dries at once and is claimed to just shrivel up any corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. If your wife wears high heels she will be glad to know of this.

Minard's Liniment Cures Diphtheria.

A Winter Evening on the Farm.

Out of the west one level ray—Leaps before the close of day—And bathes the hills in rosy stains—And glids the burnished weather vane;

Then all at once the red sun drops—Behind the keen-edged mountain tops, And purple shadows swarm the hill In silent companies. But still Against the sunset's fading walls—One gaunt and rigid oak tree sprays—Lisschapeen, weather-beaten, curved—In ebony, and reaches starved—Old frozen fingers up to hold—The last dim shred of dwindling gold.

While the day crumbles in the west—The farmyard slowly sinks to rest—Deep in the barn a lantern lights—The farmer as he puts to rights, Showing the gleam of milking pails, Old harness, rows of swinging tails, And felloes buried deep in straw;—And in the loft's capacious maw—Brown tods of hay, like unkempt hair, Pulled loose and hanging in the air. In finds the blade of an old axe—Far in a corner, gleams through cracks, And makes a cobweb by its side—A thing of wonderment and pride.

At last the farmer's task is done, An hour behind the setting sun. He lifts the light down from the peg and takes it with him; leg and leg, Lit by the swinging lantern, throw—Enormous shadows on the snow. He stamps his feet, looks round once more, Then stoutly slams the farmhouse door.

And now, unless a shingle snaps—With cold, or icy finger taps—Against his window, silence falls. Cattle are quiet in the stalls, The fox has left his rook lair, And timid rabbits sniff the air;—The crow, perched in the frozen oak—Ruffles his feathers for a cloak.

Then, after the last sound of day, Sifting from very far away, Without a breath, without a sound, Mysteriously comes the snow, Soft benediction of the snow.

Minard's Liniment Cures Distemper.

"ORIGINALS" GET STAR

Those Who Served in Opening Stages of War.

When you see anyone wearing a bronze star with no clasp, but with a red, white and blue ribbon, you will know that he was one of the first to volunteer. The star will denote that he or she (for nurses are included) actually served in "a theatre of war" between Aug. 5, 1914, and Dec. 31, 1915.

The Australian Government issued a decoration on its own account called the Gallipoli Medal, which they regarded as equal to the Mons star.

Two Aspects.

Two soldiers were conversing. One asked the other what made him enlist. "Why, I had no wife and children—no one but myself to think of; and, besides, I like war. But how came you to join the army?" "Well, you see, I had a wife, and I joined the army because I like peace."

CLAIM FROM THE NORTH SHORE
(Fredericton Gleaner)

Sir,—In enclosing my subscription for another year of The Daily Gleaner I want to say that I agree entirely with your editorial of Friday "St. John Hogging it O'gain." The time has arrived when the claims of other parts of the province must have attention; otherwise I can see that St. John is riding to a very serious setback. It is certainly already fast losing the sympathy and support even of the very patient people. If it takes the greater part of the resources of the province and almost the whole of New Brunswick's appropriation from the Federal government to carry St. John through, or to satisfy its cravings to a degree, we in other parts of the province are concluding that in our own interests, for our own protection, and to preserve our self-respect, we must serve them with notice "to quit."

MAGIC BAKING POWDER

MADE IN CANADA

To remove the Discharge Depot from Fredericton to St. John merely to give the merchants of the latter city a monopoly of the business in selling civilian clothes to the soldiers after they have received their discharge is a demand truly characteristic of at least a section of the Press of that town. In the absence of a better argument than that the North Shore stands behind Fredericton. A returned soldier told me a day or two ago that Dispersal Stations were to be established for the purpose of expediting discharge. As most of the soldiers will come over in the summer months, many of them for New Brunswick will, in all human probability, land at Quebec, and the Intercolonial Railway will be used to bring the men of this province to their homes. In that event, there should be a Dispersal Station either at Campbellton, Bathurst, or Newcastle for the convenience and accommodation of the men, and to expedite discharge immediately on their getting to their home province; and you can rest assured that the boys want their discharge promptly. The North Shore and the Miramichi did nobly in the number of men who went forward to serve under the colors, and our many sacrifices were made ungrudgingly. We can, therefore, well claim the right to a Dispersal Station for the province during the summer months. It may possibly sound St. John like, but the request is reasonable if Dispersal Stations are established to expedite discharge with the least possible delay and with the least inconvenience to the men. Now let me see what attention the Militia Department will give to the claims of the North Shore in the advantages it offers.

Yours very truly,
Campbellton, Feb. 3rd, 1919.

Lingering Weakness Following Disease
Banished by the Wonderful Tonic Powers of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

My wife has disappeared. They do not pack up, strengthen as they ought, and remain tired, listless and discouraged. The one and only reason for this is that the blood has been impoverished by the ravage of the disease through which the victim has passed. Strength and full activity will not return until the blood has been restored to its normal condition. The blood can be enriched and purified by no other medicine as quickly and as surely as by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. To enrich the blood and strengthen the nerves is the whole mission of these pills. Thousands have found them to be the most wonderful strength-giving remedy after disease had left them weak and run down. Miss Beatrice Cassidy, Vroomantou, Ont., says:—"From my own experience, I can speak in the highest terms of praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I passed through a severe attack of scarlet fever, from which I did not regain any strength after the fever itself had passed. I was left very weak, pale and frail looking, and although I was continuing to take medicine, I did not improve. At this time a friend advised me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and following the advice, I soon felt the pills were helping me, and after taking them for about a month I found myself fully restored to my old time health and strength. I therefore strongly advise anyone who feels weak or run down to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial and I feel sure they will not regret it."

Rich red blood is the whole secret of good health, and from the first to the last dose Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enrich and purify the blood. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50c. a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HIS HONOR CANED
Recently upon invitation of Mr. W. F. Napier, a number of citizens including His Honor, H. F. McLatchey, gathered at Mr. Napier's home to spend an evening. During the evening Mr. R. B. Rosborough, on behalf of a few citizens made a very felicitous address and presented to Hon. Judge McLatchey a beautiful snake-wood cane, with ivory handle and gold band. Upon the gold band was engraved H. F. McLatchey, appreciation Campbellton, N. B. friends, 1918. His remarks the speaker spoke of the good work of His Honor during the years of the war, and particularly in regard to the Victory Loans. His Honor was taken completely by surprise and for a time it was difficult for him to speak. He spoke in a most happy and friendly manner. Remarks were made by the gentlemen present and a very pleasant evening was spent.—Graphic.

Pupil Nurse Wanted
Young ladies desiring to become trained nurses having graduated from grammar school and having one year high school work or its equivalent, can enter the classes now forming at the JERSEY CITY HOSPITAL, Jersey City, N. J.

The Jersey City Training School offers exceptional opportunities for young ladies desiring to enter this profession. The course consists of three years, and pupil nurses will be paid at the rate of $15.00 per month for the first year and one-half and $20.00 for the second year and one-half. The "Nurses' Home" is one of the finest in the country, accommodating 125 to 130 nurses, and it is completely equipped with every modern convenience.

Jersey City is ranked among the largest cities in the country, having a population of 250,000. The latest building is a modern and comfortable one, and its accommodations are second to none in the State. Its professional and social life is most interesting. A new addition is now under construction which will have facilities for 650 beds.

The educational course and lectures will be supervised by some of the leading professors of the country, and our graduates will become specialists in such branches of Public Service as Public Health Nurse, Dental Hygienist, School Nurses, Social Service Workers, Dietitians, Assistants and Institutional Nurses.

To those contemplating the study of nursing, it would be well to investigate more fully what Jersey City has to offer, and to all those desiring further information, same will gladly be furnished on application, either in writing or in person, to Miss Ella M. Hulse, Superintendent of Nurses, Jersey City Hospital, Jersey City, N. J.

WHEN OTHERS FAIL

Zan-Buk cures the most stubborn skin diseases and more. This is because Zan-Buk's method of healing is entirely different and superior to that of ordinary ointments. When Zan-Buk is applied it does not remain on the surface skin, as an ordinary ointment would. Because of its unusual refinement it penetrates to the underlying tissue. This is where all skin troubles have their origin. The germinal population of Zan-Buk when applied, kills germs and thoroughly cleanses the diseased parts. Having done this, the healing process is continued in Zan-Buk as it stimulates the tissues that new healthy skin is quickly produced. The result is a complete and permanent cure of the sore or injury. Zan-Buk is best for eczema, ring worm, scalp dandruff, boils, pimples, scalding, rash, itching, shingles, sunburn, rashes, "barber's rash", blood poisoning and piles. As a first aid, for Zan-Buk is irreplaceable. It gives a soothing, cooling pain, draws out matter and inflammation, prevents infection and heals quickly. All ointments are for FREE. Send for a free trial box of this paper, and you will receive a free trial box of Zan-Buk Co., Toronto, and we will send you free trial box.

AWARDED BAR TO THE D. S. O.
In a list of Canadian officers granted bars to the D.S.O., published in London papers is included the name of Col. A. E. G. MacKenzie. The reasons for the grant are thus read:—
Lt. Col. A. E. G. MacKenzie, D. S. O., 26th Inf., 1st New Brunswick R. For conspicuous skill in handling his attention during the capture and consolidation of the objective allotted to his command. His coolness and fine example inspired all ranks. The success which crowned the operations of this unit was in a large measure due to leadership and courage of the C. O. (D. S. O. gazetted Jan. 1, 1917).

A CRIPPLE FOR THREE YEARS

Helpless In Bed With Rheumatism Until He Took "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

MR. ALEXANDER MUNRO
R.R. No. 1, Lorne, Ont.
"For over three years, I was confined to bed with Rheumatism. During that time, I had treatment from a number of doctors, and tried nearly every thing I saw advertised to cure Rheumatism, without receiving any benefit. Finally, I decided to try 'Fruit-a-tives'. Before I had used half a box, I noticed an improvement; the pain was not so severe, and the swelling started to go down. I continued taking the fruit medicine, improving all the time, and now I can walk about two miles and do light chores about the place."

SOUR ACID STOMACHS, GASES OR INDIGESTION
"Peps" Dopepsin neutralizes excessive acid in stomach, relieving dyspepsia, heartburn and distress at once.
Time it! In five minutes all stomach distress, due to acidity, will go. No indigestion, heartburn, sourness or belching of gas or eructations of undigested food, no dizziness, bloating, foul breath or headache.
Peps' Dopepsin is noted for its rapid and reliable effect on stomachs. It is the most effective stomach sweetener in the whole world, and besides it is harmless. Put an end to stomach distress at once by getting a large fifty-cent box of Peps' Dopepsin from any drug store. You're often in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder caused by fermentation due to excessive acid in stomach.

BOIESTOWN

Boiestown, Jan. 28—Hello, everybody, isn't this beautiful weather after the severe storm of last week. The lumbermen are looking some brighter.

The "flu" has at last disappeared from our midst, we hope never to return, as it left so many sad homes behind it.
Miss Anna Fairley of Peaceful Valley, is spending the winter at Icha-hed, Norrad's in order to attend the Bloomfield school.
Olan and Irene Carson, who have been ill with a bad cold, are able to be around again.
Mrs. Henaloh Norrad and Mr. and Mrs. Bond Brown and son Billie took tea with Mrs. Burt Carson on Sunday last.
We are more than glad to see our boys returning from overseas again, although some are in an almost helpless condition. Yet we thank God for their lives.
The many friends of the late Mrs. Henry Waterton were very sorry to hear of her early death, and extend their sympathy to the bereaved husband and her family.
Mrs. Harold Casson of Ottawa, is the guest of her sister Mrs. Harry Norrad here.
Mrs. Gordon Dook and daughter of Fredericton, are spending the winter with Mrs. Willis Norrad.
Miss Avela Brown, who is spending the winter at "The Ridge," is greatly missed by her many friends here.
Our school has reopened again under the management of Miss Fraser, of Covered Bridge. We are glad to have her among us once more.
Miss Annie Cameron was calling on friends last week.
We are glad to hear that ex-Kaiser Wilhelm is in perfect health from an attack of the "flu." We hope he may recover in order to get some of the medicine he gave to others.
Pte. Everett Green paid a short trip to Fredericton on Monday.
Pte. Sterlis McKay was called to St. John last week to get his discharge from service.
Miss Gladys McEwan, of Tazmourt has obtained a position as head clerk for Miss Grace Wilson. John Munter is underclerk.
Mrs. Clair Young and children are visiting Mrs. Young's parents at this place.
Pte. Angus Elney, Taymouth, who has been wounded overseas, and is called home, is being warmly welcomed by his many friends.
Pte. Judson Luna, who just lately returned from overseas, after recovering from wounds received while over there, has slipped back into his old place among us once more.
Miss Nellie Case was calling on Miss Fairley recently.
Lumbering is the order of the day.

OBITUARY
MRS. JOHN WAMBOLT
The news has been received in New castle of the death of Mrs. John Wambolt, at her home in Mictau, N. S., after a lingering illness. She is survived by her husband, John Wambolt, and the following children: Stewart, of Mictau, N. S.; William, of Caladonia, N. S.; and Laura, (Mrs. Brinard), of New York. Mr. James Schultz is a brother of the deceased lady. Mrs. Wambolt is well known here, being a former resident of Lytleton, having removed to Nova Scotia last April.

MRS. EDWARD L. KELLY
The sad death occurred at Calais, Me., Sunday, Jan. 26th, of Mary, wife of Edward Kelly, from Spanish influenza, followed by pneumonia, at the age of 38 years.
Mrs. Kelly was formerly Miss Mary Gills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Gills, of Redbank. Besides her parents she leaves her husband, one little daughter Margaret, and the following sisters and brothers:—Mrs. Ethel Barnes, Millerton; Mrs. Greta Murphy, Wytopituck, Me.; Kathleen Hunter, Me.; Irene, Helen, Beatrice, Earl, Arthur, Cyril, at home. The funeral took place Wednesday morning at St. Thomas' Catholic Church, services were conducted by Rev. P. V. Duffy. Joseph Gills, Ronald Gills, Clarence Burns, Leonard Burns, Clarence Nolan and Mark Lawlor acted as pallbearers.
The remains were accompanied home by her husband and sister Kathleen for burial.

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD
Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little stomach, liver and bowels.
Look at the tummy, mother! I contend, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad, has sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, which has been building up in the system, will be expelled. It is pleasant to give, and it is safe. Place a child again, at 12 years of age, for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

ON THE D. I. LIST

A Base Hospital Incident.

He had a very bad penetrating wound of the chest. Very breathless and irritable, and—was a Jock, a dear, lovable, contrary Jock.

"Hay! Sister!" (cough, cough)—"Sister, Sister!"

"You mustn't call the Sister like that," came the stern reprimand from an English N.C.O. on the opposite side of the ward.

"Ach! she's no heeling!" irritably answered Jock.

One must understand the Jocks. Jock's "no heeling" did not mean lack of attention, but simply that Sister's mind rose far above such trifles as being offended at "Hay! Sister."

Jock had made up his mind very quickly as Sister had only been a few minutes in the ward. She stepped quickly to his bedside, and asked, "What's the matter, Jock?"

"Ach! it's me pills—they've a' s'pilt down an' a' canna git comfortable."

Sister deftly put his pillows right. Jock had a bad fit of coughing—spits up some blood.

"Oh! Sister, dae ye see you; dae ye think I'll get too Biggity?"

"I am sure you will," says Sister gravely. In her heart she wonders why Bightly, and decides quickly to draw the N.C.O.'s immediate attention to this case and have him put on the Dangerous II List.

For the benefit of those who do not know, the D.I.L. means that they are just about as bad as they can be. At the base hospitals in France if there is any hope of the patient living long enough, the next-of-kin are allowed to pay a visit. I am happy to say that very often by the time the relatives come the patient is almost ready to go to England.

Immediate operation was ordered for Jock, but ill though he was his interest in life was keen.

"What are they gainin the dae tae me, Sister?"

"Well, Jock, they are going to open your lungs up and let the stuff which has gathered and is making your breathing so difficult, drain off."

"Ach! it'll be fair kilt—Am nae wantin' it. A've had three injections w' needles fower times up the line, and twice afore A went up, and A've had the m'ast, etc., etc."

"Well, Jock, seeing you have braved all that and Germans as well, surely you are not going to show the doctor a coward's way, especially when it will do you good."

Jock was wavering by this time, and then Sister added: "It's not like our countrymen, is it?"

Jock looked at Sister slowly.

"What's your country, Sister?" he asked querulously.

"Scotland," she answered.

"Oh, my! are ye Scotch tae, Sister? A didna think it. Ye see, ye speak nice. A thoct ye was just English."

"Well! I'm not. I am just Scotch. Now they've brought the stretcher for you."

She helped him on.

"Good luck," she said, as the stretcher-bearers made to move away.

Jock thrust his hand out and took hold of Sister's. "Ye'll be here when I come back, wull ye?" he asked happily.

"Yes, I will, Jock." She smiled brightly to him, but her eyes were misty. Jock's breathing was very noisy and distressing. His very blue. Would he come back? she wondered.

Some hours after Jock opened his eyes and stared blankly round. He tried to recollect where he was, but everything was very hazy. He then felt a cool hand was laid on his brow, and a voice that he seemed to have heard in distant ages quietly told him to turn his head to the side of the pillow. He opened his eyes again and saw Sister.

"Ach! Am I dead—an' A no?"

"Yes, but you'll feel better presently."

"Ach! A dianna ken," Jock said doubtfully.

"Sister, here, if A could jist see ma mither A would like it fine."

"You may see her soon, Jock."

"Are they sending me tae Bightly?" asked he anxiously.

"No, not yet, but your mother is coming over here soon—perhaps your father, too."

"Ach! your joking, Sister. Ma mither's never been further than Edinburgh, an' ma father has been jist yince in Glasgow afore he was m'ast."

"Well, they're on their way to Franco now."

"A canna believe it," said Jock obstinately but respectfully.

He sank back on his pillow exhausted and fell into a very restless sleep. He dreamed that he was scrambling over the hills at home—sometimes he slipped—sometimes, what was it? Oh, yes!—sharp-edged bullets, seemed to be chasing him. How did they get there on the quiet hillsides? Then everything was quiet and peaceful again—too quiet, not the usual quietness of the hillsides, for

MYSTERY SHIP GOT 2 U-BOATS IN DAY

BRITISH SAILING VESSEL MADE NOTABLE RECORD

"Mary B. Mitchell," in the Decoy Service Since Early in 1916, Sank Many Hun Submarines.

Two German submarines were sunk in one day by the Mary B. Mitchell, a sailing vessel, one of the "mystery ships" of the war. This craft was one of the first, if not the first, of the decoy ships which played havoc with the U-boats. This vessel went into the decoy service early in 1916, under command of Lieutenant John Lowrie. All her officers and crew volunteered for the hazardous work. She was provided with a twelve-pounder and two twelve-pounder six-pounders.

She sighted the first submarine three miles away and looted along awaiting a chance to lag it. The German craft followed at a safe distance for a time, but finally crawled closer and after satisfying itself that it had superior speed and gun power opened fire.

Failure of the mystery ship to return fire at once baffled the German officers. They were quiet for fifteen minutes and then resumed fire. When the submarine came sufficiently close and was in good position ahead, the concealed guns of the sailing ship were brought into play and landed six mortal hits on the submarine, which was unable to fire an additional shell.

Just three minutes after the first hit the submarine was blown up by a shot which holed it just below the foredeck and caused an explosion which threw a vast column of water high into the air.

A Successful Ruse.

Later the same day another German submarine approached the Mary B. Mitchell and opened fire at a distance of about a mile. The sailing vessel returned the fire with her twelve-pounder and six-pounder guns. The German submarine was stopped and a boat put off. To all appearances the craft was abandoned. The submarine approached the supposed wreck at full surface speed. Then it submerged for a time and suddenly rose to the surface again.

The gunners of the Mary B. Mitchell landed a shell just below the conning tower and pierced the side one foot above the water. A flash of brilliant blue flame and a dense yellow smoke came from the hole. Almost instantaneously another shell struck forward and the submarine was enveloped in black smoke and sank into the water bow foremost, with a loud gurgling and hissing.

The official report does not say that the Mary B. Mitchell was filled with wood to keep her from sinking, but this was doubtless the case, as other forestry ships were so equipped and were able to float in spite of any damage inflicted on them by torpedoes and shells. Their guns were frequently hidden behind doors in the sides of the ship which could be swung open.

BLACK FOX INDUSTRY

Carried on Extensively in All Parts of Canada and Northern States.

The number of foxes in the ranches of Prince Edward Island at the beginning of the pelting season in 1917 was approximately ten thousand.

From December 1, 1917, to January 31, 1918, 2,500 foxes were killed and their skins marketed. The pelting season for 1918 is 1918, therefore, making the number of foxes at the opening of the present pelting season 11,000. If estimates of 3,500 for this season's kill and shipments abroad are correct the season of 1919 will open for ranch breeding with 7,000 selected foxes as a breeding stock.

Japanese and Norwegian operators are entering the fox breeding industry on a small scale, Japan having taken 34 island foxes this year and Norway 24. Good prices have been realized, probably averaging $75 each. American ranchers took 233 island foxes in 1918.

Raising ranch bred foxes is an industry that is being carried on extensively in all the Canadian provinces, in at least a dozen of the northernmost of the United States, and beginning in Japan and Norway, all by way of much the same climatic belt, adapted to domesticating the black fox under the most favorable conditions.

"In Flanders Fields."

(Canada's Answer.)

Rest now in peace ye Flanders dead, With each a cross to mark his bed Where poppies grow.

The boastful Hun Who thought by might and sword and gun To win the world, his quest has fled. Ye noble dead, The fight ye led is won, And peace is round us shed. We live and love because you bled "In Flanders fields."

Your cause has triumphed 'gainst the foe, To us in vain ye did not throw The torch; With pride we hold it high, And freedom's light shall never die. Sleep in peace Where poppies blow "In Flanders fields."

Haig Holds the Line.

"Extriel!" the newbies call—Extriel! Big German Drive in France! Extriel! Ten Thousand Prisoners! Extriel! All About the Big Hun Smash! Extriel!

Is that yer smallest, Boss? Extriel! Chimmie! Change a buck! Extriel! Down every street with shrill-pitched cry.

And flying feet—we hear—Extriel! All about—Extriel! From Harlem to the Battery. From London to the Zuyder Zee. From Tokio to fair Dundee— In divers tongues they cry "Extriel!"

The "Blood Bath"—such the name They dubbed it—well, at last it came With gas and flame. Then fell Baupenne, e

They took Combes and crossed the Somme.

To Montdidier they drove their wedge With Noyon on the southern edge. For seven days the long front bent Until it seemed their force was spent, And on they surged across their dead, Yet ever in the news we read—"Haig Holds the Line."

A million men and more they flung Against a wall that swayed and swung— Out-numbered—yes! But unafraid! The earth rucked with their cannon-roar, But oh the Hunish blood that drained With every shell-swept yard they gained.

In Berlin, banners waved that day And bells rang out—but who can say What, depth of woe they knew who read.

Those columns of the endless dead— Who saw their wounded—mile on mile Return—train after train—the white Haig holds the line!

They strove for Paris and Coleis, They thought to scatter and dismay Our hosts—to split the allied mass— The answer came—"You shall not pass!"

From guns left by the Bolshevik, From Austria's guns they had their pick. Gods what a duel! A stadium Where all the eager world had come To see the best receding there In red defeat—while everywhere Haig holds the line!

THE D. C. M.

Takes Precedence of All Other Decorations Except the V.C.

Who does not know the red, blue, red ribbon of the Distinguished Conduct Medal? Yet it is quite a modern decoration, dating with the conspicuous Gallantry Medal of the Royal Navy in 1854, the year of the commencement of the Crimean Campaign. The Meritorious Service Medal dates back nine years earlier.

The earliest known medal for distinguished conduct is that awarded by Charles the First. The recipient was Sir Robert Welch, of the Irish Command, who recovered the Royal Standard at the Battle of Edge Hill. Presumably that award would be the equivalent of officer's D.C.M. of to-day—namely, the D.S.O.

The youngest winner of the D.C.M. is Private John McKinnon, of the Black Watch, a sixteen-year-old boy. The medal was awarded him in 1916, and, much to his regret, his parents succeeded in getting him discharged from the army because he was under age! Youth will be served.

During the war something like one thousand D.C.M.'s have been conferred for individual cases of distinguished conduct and devotion to duty in the field. Many of the recipients have earned the decoration on a second, third and fourth occasion, and have been given bars to their medal accordingly.

Here and there many years have separated the winning of the D.C.M. from that of gaining the bar. For example, Company-Sergeant-Major W. L. McIntyre, of the King's Royal Rifle Corps, who won the D.C.M. in the South African War during 1902, was given his clasp for bravery during the present war in August, 1915. Thus 14 years separated the winning of the medal and the winning of the clasp.

On one occasion the D.C.M. was cancelled and the Victoria Cross given in its place. This happened a couple of years ago to Pte. W. Jackson, of the Australian Imperial Force.

A man in the ranks wears the D.C.M. in the place of honor on the left breast of his tunic, unless he holds the V.C. All other medals and awards—excepting the V.C.—follow the D.C.M. But the officer who gains the D.C.M. in the ranks and afterwards wins further decorations in the form of the D.S.O., M.C., D.F.O., D.F.C., or any of the Orders of Knighthood wears the D.C.M. after them, but still in front of all war medals.

A pinch of salt added to fruit when cooking greatly improves the flavor.

Nursing The Sick.

The time must come in the life of nearly every woman, when unless she is willing to shirk the most sacred of duties to the sick and suffering, and when those whom she loves will look to her for care and comfort.

One of the first qualifications for the position of nurse is a willingness to yield absolute obedience to the physician in charge, and to use painstaking accuracy in carrying out his directions. The patient's faith in the doctor should also be encouraged as long as that physician has charge of the case, since it has a distinct value in furthering the recovery of the patient. A tranquil mind being of the utmost importance to the patient, everything must seem to be moving smoothly and easily, no matter what difficulties the nurse may have to encounter. The invalid should not be allowed to feel any responsibility whatever about his own case.

I know you will say—"Why, everybody knows those things." But it is the little things that count in a sick room, and though everybody knows these simple precautions are very often neglected.

Too much stress cannot be put upon the appearance of the sick-room. It must be as cheerful and attractive as possible, that the eyes of the patient may rest with pleasure upon his surroundings. The nurse herself must contribute to the agreeable environment. Her dress must be simple and tasteful, but above all, scrupulously neat. No food must be in sight—even medicine bottles should not be obtrusively in evidence.

Stillness has power to soothe, and aids nature's healing processes. So all grating and disturbing noises must be banished from the sick-room. The putting of coal on the fire is often accompanied by nerve-racking noises. It may be brought to the room wrapped in newspaper, and lit noiselessly on the fire, paper and all.

As fresh air is said to be the best tonic, the sick-room should be well ventilated. An open fire is a fine means of ventilation. A thermometer should be frequently used in a sick-room. A window may be opened at the top on a sunny day no matter how ill the patient may be, if in the opening a wooden frame covered with flannel is fitted. An umbrella covered with a shawl makes a good screen when the windows are open, the patient being sheltered by it as in a tent. A room a little shaded is more restful to a patient, but a little sunshine in the room makes it more cheerful.

The one in charge of a sick person should not allow visitors to stay long, even though the physician has given permission to receive callers. Neither should the nurse talk too much herself. Often the patient is fatigued in this way. Some otherwise good nurses fall in this particular. They do not use discretion about when to talk and when to keep silent.

Unless the attendant has some little occupation to fill the odd moments of leisure, the sick one is often unpleasantly conscious of being a burden to one who may have other duties to attend to. So the nurse may occupy her hands with some bit of work that may be readily picked up and laid down. Don't read, unless the patient is asleep. That is too absorbing in appearance, and the patient often hesitates to interrupt.

Making the bed properly is one of the necessary requisites of a good nurse. Stretch the under sheet tight over the mattress and tuck it in firmly, and much discomfort will be avoided. In order to change the sheets while the patient is in bed, the under one is rolled lengthwise from the edge of the bed to where the person lies. The clean sheet rolled in like manner, is tucked in at one side, and unrolled over the space from which the first was taken, until the two rolls are side by side. The patient may then turn or be lifted over the rolls to the clean sheet, the soiled one is removed, and the rest of the clean one unrolled. The upper sheet may be changed by freeing all the clothes at the foot of the bed, and spreading a clean sheet over all. Over this sheet a blanket is laid. The clean clothes should then be tucked in securely at the foot, and the soiled set slipped from under. Blankets are the better for frequent airing. Pillows may be comfortably arranged by placing a large one under the back and shoulders, and a small one under the head, drawing the lower corners of the latter well down so as to fit into the nape of the neck, thus giving support to the head.

To raise a person in bed to a sitting posture, when too weak to help himself, have the patient put his right arm around the nurse's neck while her right arm supports his shoulders. The nurse then leaning backward need make but little effort, and with practice can raise the patient with ease.

Frequent bathing is refreshing, and acts as both cure and antidote for feverish conditions. The water should be tepid for face and hands, and warmer for the rest of the body. The patient should be uncovered only a little at a time, and allowed to make no exertion himself. A foot bath may be given under the clothes to one who bed and often induces sleep when all else fails. In illness no detail is so important that can add in the least to the comfort of the sufferer.

Substantial Supper Dishes.

During the cold weather the housewife turns her attention toward more substantial dishes than those which have satisfied her family during the summer season. We are coming to realize that meat once daily is in fact cases sufficient, and, following the suggestion of those who have made dietetics a study, are finding acceptable many dishes which do not call for meat at all. Besides being nourishing and appetizing, the dishes described below are comparatively inexpensive. All have been tested, and found to be both palatable and good, although it is not claimed that all are original.

Spanish Rice.—Cut in small pieces three or four slices of bacon and fry until brown. Slice in the pan one good-sized onion, and allow to cook slowly a few minutes. To this add two cups of cooked rice and the same amount of canned tomato. Cook together until well blended, seasoning to taste with salt and pepper—cayenne if liked—or chopped red or green peppers. Serve alone or on toast.

Biscuits with Cheese Dressing.—Make a white sauce and in it melt a cupful of cheese cut in small pieces. Open the biscuit and pour the cheese mixture over them. This is a hearty dish and very good to taste. Serve hot. A few hard-boiled eggs, small can of tuna, or dried beef added to the cream sauce furnishes a pleasing variation to the biscuit dish.

Salmon with Hot Biscuits.—Bake a tin of baking powder or butter-milk biscuits, using one's favorite recipe. Remove salmon from the can, drain it from bones and skin and add it to a rich milk gravy or white sauce made quite thick. Break the fish into suitable sized pieces for serving. Open the biscuit and arrange on a platter, then cover with the hot gravy and fish. The biscuits may be buttered, but if the gravy is rich enough, this will not be necessary.

A CANADIAN IN GERMANY

Describes Triumphant March Through Hunland—Canucks Looked Fine.

Major Geary, of Toronto, in a letter from Bonn, under date of December 8th, says in part:

"We have had a great time ever since the 11th of November. First there were the receptions and that sort of thing. The joy of the Belgian people was unbounded, and nothing was too good for us. The only difficulty was sometimes in avoiding their kindnesses and different methods of expressing a welcome. Even the poor people ran for hours with pitchers of coffee, a substitute for what someone called a "frigid salve." They look foolish, sullen, or mournful, or uninterested. They take off their hats, but don't smile; neither do we, so far as that goes. The girls, however, are girls, and I expect a good many of them—they do smile.

"On the whole, the country we have passed through has not been noticeably hostile, nor do the people appear to have suffered much. Now we are just outside of Bonn and within a few miles of the Rhine, and begin to encounter a distinctly hostile atmosphere, but that does not worry any of us. We are the vanguard of the British forces and the first in Germany, and it is all novel and interesting. I am lucky to be in this march, but it has been a long, hard one. The men have been splendid—did their 15 to 22 miles a day with full equipment, and at the end of it marched into billets in some German towns looking as fresh as daisies. They did not feel that way, but no German was going to know how sore were their feet and backs.

"We carry colors, the Boche salutes the flag, and everything is lovely. I have never seen the battalions look so well. It seems to be tacitly accepted, however, that every man look his best, do his best and be his best. The Boche is seeing a force of real soldiers. All I hope is that he will never think of 'starting something'—he would simply get more than he was looking for.

"All in all, this march has been a wonderful experience, from Mons to Bonn, from the last days of fighting to the entry deep into Germany, and an occupation of her rich Kingdom of Prussia. One must pinch himself to know that he is not dreaming and to realize that after all the hardships and come. We are definite victors and peace is practically assured."

PUBLIC MEETING

WELL ATTENDED

The public meeting called on Friday evening to discuss the proposed Hydro-Electric development for Newcastle, drew forth a large number of ratepayers and at times became very spirited. Mayor Troy presided and the speakers included Mr. McKechnie of Halifax, who took the survey of the water powers.

The proposition was heartily endorsed by Mayor Troy, Ald. Durick and Crocker, F. C. McGrath, M. L. A., Hon. John Morrissey and D. Morrison and Messrs. J. M. Troy, C. J. Morrissey, E. A. McCurdy, and others and opposed by Messrs. E. P. Williston, Tracy-Gould and C. E. Fish, who favored the development of the Grey Rapids, or utilization of the present plant, but the majority of the citizens present seemed to favor the Sevoile proposition.
