CHRISTMAS.

To-morrow is Christmas Day... to us is there that needs to be reminded of what Christmas means...

Christmas is a season of social rejoicing... in the enjoyment of our plenty, let us not forget the poor...

Let us not withhold our hand from the needy... let us not forget our Christmas worship...

Sleep, Holy Babe; Thine Angels watch around thee... Sleep, Holy Babe; with I will with Mary...

Sleep, Holy Babe; with I will with Mary... Sleep, Holy Babe; with I will with Mary...

The "Patriot's" Lame Excuses... The Patriot labors last Saturday in an endeavor to outwit the management...

The Patriot is wildly inaccurate... The troubles of the Administration of 1872 were brought upon themselves...

The Patriot is amusing when it says that... The Liberals of this Province never have been extravagant from the days of Hon. George Coles...

The Liberals of this Province never have been extravagant... The idea of identifying the Haythorne-Laird or Davis-Stewart combination with the old Liberal party...

THE CHARLOTTETOWN HERALD.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1884.

The Patriot is assuming too much... we pointed out last week, when it stated that there is a deficit upon the present year's operations...

Ursus Friday evening we shall have a Christmas sermon... which will contain the highly interesting lecture delivered on Monday evening...

At the bonds of the Island were at a premium in 1872... it was because Confederation had a large extra edition...

The Patriot misstates the facts... the bonds of the Island were not at a discount in 1872...

After last week's snow storm we were glad to notice so many of our citizens... who were out in clearing the snow...

The "great Tory Conspiracy" by which the Grits claimed it was attempted to overthrow the Ontario Administration last spring...

At a few minutes before ten Father Dan brought his charming lecture... which was well received by the audience...

Turning over the leaves of my note book, I find I have by the way... that I have been very busy...

The singing class, presided over by Mr. A. McKinnon... is very well attended...

The Catholic male orphan asylum, in Brooklyn, was burned last Thursday... the building was a fine one...

The fire originated in the dining room... from a lighted candle by one of the inmates...

The loss by disaster in the Gloucester, Mass., fishing boat for the year... was fully insured...

THE RACE OF SORCERERS.

A very large audience gathered in the Market Hall on Monday evening... to hear the Rev. Mr. Loring's lecture...

The Rev. Mr. Loring's lecture... was a most interesting and instructive one... dealing with the history of the race of sorcerers...

CHRISTMAS CHILDS.

By the late Professor Proctor.

Set it ringing—set it ringing—
Set it ringing—set it ringing—
Set it ringing—set it ringing—

Tom looked at the lawyer,
and then he looked at the lawyer,
and then he looked at the lawyer.

'I'll do it,' said James.
'By the way you would be a fine match for her.
She hasn't got a cent, and can't expect anything better than being a mechanic's wife.'

'Yes, and others. Mr. and Mrs.
Middleton are both as mean as they can well be. Notwithstanding the liberal board I paid, they tried to starve
me at first, but I wouldn't stand it,
and they had to improve their fare.'

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.

THE BULLY OF THE VILLAGE.

TOM TEMPLE'S CAREER.

BY HORATIO ALGER, JR.

CHAPTER XV.

There was another tea-table in Plympton where Tom's affairs were discussed the same afternoon. As the reader will conjecture, I refer to that of Lawyer Davenport.

TOM LEARNS THE LESSON OF POVERTY.

Was Thomas Temple here this afternoon? he asked, when they were all seated.

TOM LEARNS THE LESSON OF POVERTY.

'Yes, said Imogene, promptly.
Imogene is setting her cap for him,'
said James.

TOM LEARNS THE LESSON OF POVERTY.

'You should not tease your sister,
James,' said his mother. 'It is perfectly natural that Tom should be polite to your sister. He is in her own social rank, and will possess a fine fortune. What do you say, Mr. Davenport?'

TOM LEARNS THE LESSON OF POVERTY.

'That the intimacy had better cease,'
said the lawyer.
'Really, I can't understand your reasons,' said Mrs. Davenport.

TOM LEARNS THE LESSON OF POVERTY.

'What is the matter with Tom?' demanded Imogene.
'I have heard some news about him
this afternoon,' said the lawyer, 'which influences me in what I have said.'

TOM LEARNS THE LESSON OF POVERTY.

'I can't be true, papa,' said Imogene.
'It is perfectly true. I had it from Mr. Middleton, and he received the information this very day from Mr.
Sharp, the boy's guardian.'

TOM LEARNS THE LESSON OF POVERTY.

'But how could he lose it?' asked James.
'By bad investments, and the failure of large creditors.'
