CHAPTER XX.
LADY COMYNGHAM AND MRS. ALWYN UNDERSTAND EACH OTHER.

She descended, her still handsome countenance gone into visiting of a grave composure; her costume of rich steel satin; ostrich-tips the same hue about her head-gear; a slightly superabundant figure rounded down by a costly Spanish mantle. With perfect gloves, a card case and a silver, her eyeglasses peeped from her bodice, no ornaments save a necklace of superb onyx beads. Mrs. Alwyn might have passed for a press going to patronize the theatre. Her mirror said as much, and furnished her with self-possession for the expedition. One glance she cast at the liveryed groom—at the little carriage—at the pony, and the neatly mounted harness. These passing impressions irrefragably, she took her seat, and her sunshade, with hope beating high, gave the order. "To Oakleigh Place they go."

At that very hour Lady Comyngham was studying a letter received some morning from Lady Avena. It was not the countess's address "at home," so in the absence of well-worn morning costume her dress was deposited on her own small drawing-room sofa, her daughter Margaret and Gertrude posed at the table as she read scraps of their mother's missive.

"Ornamenting-day so fine! Baby looked like a little angel. The girls—Ah! that I read at breakfast. I skipped a piece because of your note. He's disposed to limit our visit."

ing circle in a way that I tell him can't be done in the country. But he nearly rebelled at our omnium gatharium last summer, and would joke me forever if he found I had taken people up whom now I wanted to drop. He stopped at this bit about Mrs. Alwyn. Here it is, Listen, my dear. "One singular thing happened on the christening-day. When I went up from dinner, I had to go for a peep at my boy. As a great treat I gave my maid Lewis leave to go to the nursery and assist in putting him into his bassinet. Imagine my vexation when I saw his beautiful robe, which Mrs. Alwyn sent him, scorching in front of the fire in the night nursery! The lace was ruined. It was Lewis's fault, it appears, and when I reproved her for her carelessness, she broke forth crying violently, and sobbed out that the lace was horrid stuff still through, and she wished it might bring the dear baby ill-luck. Of course I insisted on this being explained, and then she told me that her father had lost all his savings through this Mrs. Alwyn's husband, and that when she had been at St. Clair's with me and seen the style of living at the Dale, she wrote in her mother's name, begging a trifle for the old couple, and got an angry letter back and the noble sum of two-and-sixpence!"

"The cold-blooded creature!" cried Lady Margaret. "Mamma, I never liked that woman! But is Avena sure it's true?"

"Well, hark. "I quieted Lewis, and I made an opportunity of asking old Lady Wynne about these Alwyns. It seems that years ago they lived near each other, and Mrs. Alwyn, according to Lady Wynne, was a handsome, pushing person, who forced her way into society where she was not so welcome as her husband would have been if he had cared to enter it. He was a lawyer and immensely respected. He was rich too, but after he married his wife gave him no opportunity of saving. And when he failed through some mining catastrophe, Mrs. Alwyn gathered all the valuable together that she could, and decamped with them, and refused to spare one penny of her handsome settlements to save her husband's unlucky creditors from any misery whatever!"

"Horrible woman!" chorused the countess's daughters.

"The Wynnes and every one at Stillcote considered her conduct most grasping, and I assure you, dearest mamma, the notion of being under no obligation to such a person is most painful to me. I felt relieved that the robe was destroyed. I shall let Lewis sell that Machin she gave me and pass the price on to her poor father. I need not say, pray don't let the girls get intimate at the Dale! And, in future, Edward—Oh! that's all."

"And quite enough too, mamma!"

"Yes, annoying, is it not? But it's quite impossible to enter a new neighborhood without making a blunder. We must get over this as civilly as possible, but let Mrs. Alwyn distinctly see we intend no visiting in future."

ASPIRIN
"Bayer" is only Genuine

Warning! It's criminal to take a chance on any substitute for genuine "Bayer" Tablets of Aspirin, prescribed by physicians for twenty-one years and proved safe by millions. Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting Aspirin at all. In every Bayer package are directions for Colds, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Earache, Toothache, Lumbago and for Pain. Handy tin boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell larger packages. Made in Canada. Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada), of Bayer Manufacturing of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

Which owes a call, my dear—Mrs. Alwyn or myself?"

"You do, mamma. She came a day or two after lunching here."

"Obtrusive, very. However, we go to Scotland in August. Till then we'll take care to see nothing of her—"

The door opened and a footman appeared. "Mrs. Alwyn, my lady."

"Not at—" began the countess. But too late. The soft sweep of the visitor's skirt was on the steps. Mesdames Gertrude and Margaret vanished into an adjacent conservatory. Mrs. Alwyn sailed gracefully into the room, and Lady Comyngham lurched inelegantly from her sofa to receive this undesired guest.

With silent satisfaction Mrs. Alwyn perceived her hostess at a disadvantage. Gauging other person's feelings by her own she attributed to her deshabille the annoyance that swept over the countess's features and proceeded to offer apologies, which she half considered her own due. To be found not bien arrangee after luncheon struck Mrs. Alwyn almost as a sin!

"How exceedingly kind of you, dear Lady Comyngham, to admit me on one of your off-days! I felt sure you would." ("Why?" the countess suddenly stiffened figure seemed to ask.) "Or rather, I hoped you would. I so much wanted to see you."

Then Lady Comyngham, smoothing her crumpled frills, replied, unsmilingly, "that Mrs. Alwyn was very—kind."

"I had been thinking of leaving St. Clair's for a few weeks. The Dale is so relaxing. My daughter requires a more bracing air, but—"

"Ah!" interrupted the countess, with real interest, "one daughter is gone out, I hear." (Mrs. Alwyn flinched. What was coming?) "But not, I think, as you expected when you last spoke of her. Not as a bride?"

"No—oh, dear, no! She is merely away—boldly—on a long visit."

"Not a rupture, engagement, then, I hope," returned the countess, civilly. ("For," as she said to her daughter afterward, "that younger girl was a gentlewoman. I am not ashamed to admit that I liked her.") "I should be sorry to hear of any disappointment to Miss Alwyn. She seemed so radiant when we last met."

"And might have remained so had she taken my advice," replied Mrs. Alwyn, vastly relieved to find no idea of the truth concerning Sydney existed at Oakleigh; "but," going on more confidently, "my younger child is not like my elder, and she must abide by her own independence. Some day, dear Lady Comyngham—but not now—I do so wish to tell you part, at least, of my last month's vexations!" (the countess just bowed, without any appearance of being charmed at the prospect). "To-day it is pleasanter to dwell on my Leonora's trust in her mother. She, dear girl, leaves all things, her closest hopes, in my hands."

"Very becoming," said the countess, dryly.

"And to be very, very frank, it is this confidence my child puts in me which brings me here now."

"Indeed!"

The ejaculation was cold. Mrs. Alwyn felt the ground terribly delicate, the sympathetic atmosphere not exhilarating. She endeavored to impart warmth into the situation by a touch of sentiment, and with her diaphanous square of lawn at her eyes, murmured:

"Mothers will do anything for their children, dear Lady Comyngham."

"Of course they will," answered her ladyship, wondering why in the name of fortune such a truism was launched at her just now.

"And—I was most unfortunately prevented seeing Mr. Duvesne when he called at the Dale." (Her hearers' eyes suddenly shot forth apprehension, then contracted with a dangerous sparkle.) "So when I saw my dear girl anxious, distraite, reluctant to leave St. Clair's, though her health is suffering, I took my resolve for her sake. I said to myself, "Don't let false delicacy stop you. Elders may set everything right easily." So I came straight to you."

Ward at a considerable height. Some astronomers have seen birds at night crossing between their telescopes and the moon's disc, and have estimated their elevation at nearly two miles.

The best observations in the past have pointed to the conclusion that it is very unusual for birds to migrate at altitudes greater than 3,000ft., and that they tend to keep below the lowest clouds.

Kestrels in East Africa.

It is not obvious why they should seek to go higher, into levels where it is colder and where it is more difficult to breathe.

Some new evidence has been submitted by Colonel R. Meinertzhagen, D.S.O., as to the altitude of migratory night. He obtained much information from pilots of aircraft.

On one occasion, when he was himself flying over the southern slopes of Kilimanjaro, in East Africa, he encountered a large, scattered flock of lesser kestrels and bee-eaters making their way north 6,200ft. above the slopes of the hill.

The most striking general result of observation both in the air and from the ground is that flight at anything like 5,000ft. is very unusual, and that the bulk of migratory birds fly below 5,000ft. by day and by night.

There are high-fliers, like lapwings, gulls, cranes, and rooks, and there are low fliers, like swallows and wag-tails, but when the weather is bad, especially when it is cloudy, all birds fly low.

How High Do Birds Fly?

Flocks Seen Two Miles Up.

Some birds, such as larks, finches, buntings, starlings, and thrushes, fly in flocks from one part of the country to another in their partial migrations, and one sometimes sees a great crowd crossing the sea no higher above the level of the water than the rigging of a ship, and looking like a cloud of smoke.

But this is not the way with the majority of migratory birds; most of them fly fairly high. Even wild geese, whose flying phalanx we see so plainly, and hear as well, go north-ported to have been lost with the ZR-3, was one of the foremost of British air pioneers and his loss, if confirmed, will be felt by all. Many rumours have been afloat for the past few days concerning the stability of the airship, and Commodore Maitland was quoted, whether rightly or wrongly is not known, as saying that the future of lighter-than-air travel largely depended upon the results this airship showed. (The ZR-3 has hitherto been known as the R38.—Ed.)

SINN FEIN'S REPLY. DUBLIN, Aug. 24. Eamonn De Valera and his cabinet began to-day what promises to be a final consideration of the Sinn Fein reply to Great Britain's terms for settlement of the Irish question. It was expected that the work would be expedited and that the complete draft of the reply would be ready for submission to Dail Eireann at to-morrow morning's session. It was apparent yesterday that Mr. De Valera and his colleagues wish to bring Sinn Fein bodies into accord on the subjects to be covered in the reply to Great Britain, and it seemed that differences of opinion had developed over the nature of the note. The reply will be delivered at No. 10 Downing Street on Thursday night or Friday morning, it is expected here.

REFUSAL PREDICTED. DUBLIN, Aug. 24. Belief was expressed here to-night that Dail Eireann's answer to the proposals of Premier Lloyd George for peace in Ireland will be refusal of the terms, but that the refusal will be followed by arguments seeking to continue negotiations. This belief was considered to be substantiated by the fact that two of the Under Secretaries from Dublin Castle, Messrs. Cope and McMahon, had talked to-day with Robert C. Barton and Eamonn J. Dugan, two prominent members of Dail Eireann. The conference lasted several hours, and is thought to have concerned the continuation of the truce in the event of the rejection of the Government terms.

KING FEISAL ENTHERONED. BAGDAD, Aug. 24. In the courtyard of the Government buildings at six o'clock this morning, Prince Emir Feisal, formally ascended the throne of the Iraq region. A great assemblage witnessed the ceremony. Sir Percy Scott, British High Commissioner for Mesopotamia, read the proclamation, declaring British recognition of Feisal as King, and handed him a personal message of congratulation and greeting from King George. This message announced the approaching conclusion of a treaty "to consecrate the Alliance into which we entered during the dark days of the war."

SIR SAM HUGHES DEAD. LINDSAY, Ont., Aug. 24. Sir Sam Hughes, former Minister of Militia and Defence in the Federal Government, died early this morning at his home here. (Sir Sam Hughes, M.P., ex-Minister of Militia and Defence under the Borden Government, was born at Darlington, Ontario, on January 8th, 1853, and was therefore 68 years of age at death. Educated at Toronto Normal and Model Schools and Toronto University. Elected M.P. (Canada) for Victoria and Haliburton Counties, 1894, 1898, 1911, 1917. Served in the Militia and Defence, 1911. Took part in Fenian raids of 1870. Served in South African War, 1899-1900, and was several times mentioned in dispatches. Knighted by His Majesty the King at Buckingham Palace and made a K.C.B., 1915. Resigned portfolio of Militia, November, 1915. Was twice married. Prominent in Masonic and Orange Societies and a member of the Canadian Conservative Club, his political affiliations being with that party. In religion Sir Sam was a Methodist. He has been ill for some time and though a robust constitution made several rallies, yet the end was not entirely unexpected. An active and aggressive personality in the national affairs of Canada, Sir Sam Hughes will be missed in Conservative circles.—Editor Telegram.)

U.S. PEACE WITH AUSTRIA. VIENNA, Aug. 24. The treaty of peace with the United States was signed at one o'clock this afternoon.

WARSHIPS FOR BLACK SEA. CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 24. A British airplane, which was making a practice flight on Saturday last, was brought down within the Turkish lines at Gelveh, thirty-five miles southeast of Ismid. Its pilot and observer were made prisoners by the Turks, who affirmed they were making a reconnaissance in it for the Greeks. The Turks also declared that the flight was proof that the British were assisting the Greeks. As the Turks are refusing to liberate the pilot and observer, the British are expected here to make reprisals against the Turks. British warships have been dispatched to the Black Sea.

BRITAIN'S POPULATION INCREASE. LONDON, Aug. 23. The population of England, Wales and Scotland according to the new census, made public to-day is 42,767,850, an increase of 40,234,896 in 1911.

WILL STARVE RATHER THAN PAY DEBTS. RUSSIA will be compelled to decline British and French famine aid, said the Pravda of Moscow, because these countries have agreed to assist only on condition that the Soviet Government recognize the debts of the former Russian regime, amounting to several million gold roubles. The newspaper, which is quoted in a Renter despatch from Riga, declared the Soviet Government would prefer to purchase the necessary food itself at a cost of one hundred million roubles, rather than pay even the interest on these debts, amounting to about 500,000,000 roubles.

BAD RAILWAY SMASH. GRAND JUNCTION, Colo., Aug. 24. Two persons are dead, two are believed to be dying, from 25 to 35 others are injured, as the result of a wreck on the Rio Grande and Western Railway near Gale, Colorado, early to-day.

SUICIDE IN GROUPS. RIGA, Aug. 24. The number of peasants, threatened with starvation in the Volga region, is now placed at thirty million, by a Moscow wireless despatch. Of this number 5,500,000 are children. Several instances of hungry families committing suicide in groups are reported from Tartar villages, where, according to the despatches, peasants seal up their rooms, light fires in stoves, close up the chimney and await asphyxiation. Moscow announces that in the Government of Stavropol and in the Tartar Republic the Government's situation is becoming very serious and threatens to become even worse than that in the Volga region.

LEVIATHAN ON FIRE. HOBOKEN, N.J., Aug. 24. Fire broke out late to-day on army pier No. 5 near which the giant liner Leviathan is docked. The flames spread rapidly and soon enveloped the structure. The bodies of several hundred soldiers, dead, brought from France, are on pier No. 4. The mast and some of the woodwork in the forward part of the Leviathan also caught fire. Fanned by a strong southeast wind the flames soon spread to piers 4 and 6 and the evacuation of all movable property was begun. (Later: All the bodies escaped the flames.—Ed.)

PANAMA WILL NOT RESIST. PANAMA, Aug. 23. The Panama Government has notified the State Department in Washington that Panama will not resist by force the demands of the United States that Costa Rica be permitted to occupy the disputed territory. President Parrae of Panama made this statement to the Associated Press to-day.

MUFFIN ON HIGH SEA. NEW YORK, Aug. 23. Two water tranders and firemen of them a negro from the Steamship Alliance, which arrived to-day from Charobel, were held in $1,000 by United States Commissioner Stanton in Hoboken on a charge of threatening the ship's officers, and inciting to mutiny. The Alliance arrived with twenty Marines on board, transferred at sea from the battleship Connecticut, at the request of Captain Stone who feared open mutiny among the crew, which he said had been disorderly during a large part of the voyage.

Why Discriminate?

The members of the newly formed organization known as the Postal Association, comprised of Post Office Officials only, have a very genuine grievance, and one that they are going to take every opportunity of ventilating. It appears that the reduction axe was applied to their salaries, while those of the Telegraph department of the postal service were not cut. The Postal Telegraph Service may be said to be interdependent, not independent, hence the employees of the Postal branch have good reason to be peeved because of discrimination in favor of their colleagues of the Telegraph branch. Up to the past year or so the employees of the Postal Service were amongst the most poorly paid servants of the Crown in Newfoundland, and even to-day none of them receive salaries in proportion to the importance and scope of their work. An out-port postmaster in receipt of the munificent salary of Twenty dollars per year is not likely to save enough to keep him beyond the reach of want, yet this same individual has been mulcted of Two dollars per annum by the application of the percentage reduction, as have all Postal officials in the island. The Salaries Reduction Act provided that all persons in the public service of the colony should come under its terms, yet we are given to understand that in the case of the Postal Telegraph department, only such persons as were connected with the Postal branch were affected, the employees of the Telegraph section not being touched, and therefore are in receipt of such salaries as are provided in the 1921-22 Estimates.

There is no reason to doubt the authenticity of the information supplied us on this head. The action of the Postal Association holding a meeting on Monday night last, for the purpose of protesting against the reduction in their salaries is sufficient evidence that there has been discrimination, because had all been treated alike, the Postal officials would have been obliged to grin and bear it, as had those of other public departments. Whether the cut, under the circumstances now existing, was justifiable or not, it should at least have been followed, according to the preamble of the Bill submitted to a Committee of the whole House, which distinctly declares that all persons in the public service of the Colony shall have their salaries reduced according to the succeeding schedule. To have made invidious distinctions, is manifestly unfair to officials who have given the best years of their life to improvements in the Postal System, for long before the Telegraphs were thought of the Postal was. It is also said that the officials employed in the Agriculture and Mines Department were similarly favored with those of the Telegraph, and were exempt from the application of the axe. This is indeed a distinction with a vengeance, and it is no wonder that the Postal men have formed themselves into an Association to look out for and demand equal rights. We have faith enough in Hon. W. W. Halfyard, Minister of Posts and Telegraphs to believe that he will see justice done to a hard worked and capable body of officials of whose zeal in the service employing them, he has had ample proof. "Fair play is a jewel" is an old saying, and as it is only fair play and British fair play at that, which is being sought by the Postal Association, our faith in the Ministerial head that he will see justice done is all the more sincere, since he is such an exponent of fair play himself.

Bleeding to Death.

The prediction regarding the financial plight of the Colony made by Sir Michael Cashin in his speech on the Budget which was published a few days ago is being speedily confirmed. Last week, we understand, the Customs Revenue for St. John's was only $35,000 against $141,000 for the same week in 1920. This showed a shortage of $106,000, a very serious matter in itself. But it becomes positively alarming when we remember that this shortage occurred in spite of the Super Tax of twenty-five per cent. on existing duties, and the Sales Tax of five per cent. on duties, freight, etc., which were imposed by the Budget of Premier Squires on May 26th. According to his calculations it would require all the Revenue of the Custom House last year, and forty per cent. additional which the new taxes were designed to bring into the Treasury, to make up to last year's total. We are informed that for the three months since the Premier's Budget Speech was delivered, there has been a shortage of over $320,000 which is at the rate of $110,000 a month. If this condition continues there will be an actual shortage of Customs Revenue for St. John's alone, as compared with last year, of about $1,200,000 and there will be no forty per cent. additional or the two million dollars which it was supposed to bring into being. Under these circumstances it is hardly too much to claim that the country is rapidly bleeding to death, and that it is now facing the almost certain condition that it will be unable to meet its obligations at the end of December next.

Supreme Court.

(Before Mr. Justice Kent.) In the matter of the petition of Ralph Murfin of St. John's East, Newfoundland, alleging that he is insolvent and praying that he may be so declared. Thos. P. Halley for petitioner, states the facts of the petition. Ralph Murfin, sworn and examined by Mr. Halley, John G. Higgins, and John Hayse, creditors. It is ordered that the petition be granted, and that the Registrar be confirmed as trustee. No costs were allowed.

Sagona's Report.

PROSPECTS OF AVERAGE FISHERY According to passengers by S. S. Sagona, which recently arrived from Labrador, the fishery up north is, up to the present, a poor one. The prospects are good for an average catch. The hook and liners are now doing well, and the weather is very good. The weather is very bad for making fish. At Emily and Horse Harbors, Cape Harrison and Helton, good catches were made. There is no shortage of salt now, all necessities for the present having been met. As far as is known there is no destruction amongst the fishermen. Several icebergs were seen by the Sagona, but not any more than are common at this time of the year. The weather both coming and going was very bad and dense fog was experienced along the coast.

Distinguished Visitors.

Messrs. John Elliott, President of the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Chamber of Commerce, and H. P. Ketchum, Vice-President of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, are present in St. John's city and will leave by S. S. Sagona, sailing on Monday. The gentlemen are gathering information about the city and the country's trade and will represent the city at the annual meeting of Associated Boards held in Brantford on November next.

Cricket Revival.

The first cricket match of the season will be played on St. George's Field on Saturday between the Nonde-scipians, captained by Rev. J. Brinton, and the Palladians under the leadership of Mr. H. Hayward. The proceeds will go towards the Grand Falls football excursion. Quite a number of well known visitors of the field will take part in the match, and rumor has it that in one team there is a "goody" bowler whom no batsman will be able to withstand. The fielding team is H. Hayward, M. G. Winter, Jr., L. Munn, A. Martin, R. Martin, T. Payne, E. Jerritt, R. H. Tall, E. G. Evans, G. Hunt, E. Chase.

Child Welfare Benefits Largely. The large audience which attended the Recital given by Capt. J. H. Campbell at the Casino on Tuesday night, greatly appreciated the excellence of the entertainment provided for them. As a result, too, of the Recital, the Child Welfare Association will benefit to the extent of nearly $200. In all, Capt Campbell sang eighteen songs, and each was delightfully rendered and was loudly applauded. Moreover, at the end of each part of the programme he had to respond to an encore. The song which proved most popular was "The Sweepers." The recitations of Mr. T. H. O'Neill were indeed excellent. "King Robert of Sicily" to a musical accompaniment being greatly appreciated. The new version of "David and Goliath" also caught the popular fancy. Mr. F. R. Emerson at the piano, excelled himself. The accompaniment to two of the songs sung by Capt. Campbell were composed by Mr. Emerson.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

AGITATORS MAKING TROUBLE. BOMBAY, INDIA, Aug. 24. A grave situation has arisen in Malabar district, on the west coast of British India, where seditious agitators have been working on the religious fanaticism of ignorant natives. Their activities have resulted in serious mass rioting, bloodshed and destruction of property. Military forces have fired upon the rioters, causing many casualties. Railway lines have been cut, postoffices have been robbed, and mob law is almost supreme in several small towns. A proclamation has been issued by the British officer commanding troops in the Malabar area. It refers to "open rebellion prevailing in the district of North Penani," thirty eight miles south east of Calicut.

SCHOONER RETURNED.

HALIFAX, Aug. 24. The Tern schooner Bernice B. owned by M. J. Paris and others, of Lahave, N. S., has been returned to its owner after having been captured by the British officer commanding troops in the Malabar area. It refers to "open rebellion prevailing in the district of North Penani," thirty eight miles south east of Calicut.

A FEASIBLE THEORY.

LONDON, Aug. 24. Naval Officers here express the opinion that the wreck of ZR-2 was due to hydrogen escaping from one of the ships gas bags, ignited by the exhaust from her six motors. What they say they are unable to understand, is how it was possible that a gas leak sufficient to make an explosion possible, could have occurred without it having been discovered through the pressure gauge fitted to each bag.

JAPAN ACCEPTS.

TOKYO, Aug. 24. Japan's acceptance of the invitation of President Harding to participate in the conference in Washington on far eastern question and disarmament, in November next, was forwarded to Washington to-day.

Backs Up Postal Officials.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—It is with much pleasure I hear that the postal officials have formed an association, and I know of no more worthy body of men to have their claim awarded to them than this branch of the Civil Service. As one of the public I fully realize the work—and the value of it—of the postal officials, and I am sure the public in general are one in sympathy with the postal staff in their just demands.

It has always been a matter of surprise with me that the pay given to the postal clerk is so small, and particularly in this so when we realize how important to all of us is the necessity of accuracy and quick despatch in the huge amount of work performed. I am, I think, personally acquainted with nearly every man in the St. John's office, and not a few in the outport branches, and this I know that all of those men are giving good service, each of them is competent, and none of them are sufficiently paid for the work they do.

I trust the new Postal Association will win out in their present claim, and that claim is certainly a just one. They resent the discrimination made in the department when one branch of the service (the Postal Telegraphs) was made exempt from the late "cut" and the other members of the same employ received the full force of the retrenchment. This is certainly far from fair, and it is to be hoped that something will be done to equalize matters.

Yours truly,
ONE OF THE PUBLIC.

Manoa Arrives.

S.S. Manoa which left Montreal on Friday last for here via Gaspe and Charlottetown, arrived in port at 5 p. m. yesterday. The ship encountered dense fog off the coast which somewhat delayed the passage. During the trip an interesting programme of sports was carried out, prizes being presented to the winners by Mr. J. Elliott of Belleville, Ontario. On Sunday a service was held and a substantial collection was taken up, the sum of which will be handed to the Grenfell Mission. The ship brought a large freight and the following passengers:—W. R. Aitken, Chas. E. Akhurst, Jenny L. Akhurst, Rev. T. W. and Mrs. Ball, Chas. C. Beahan, Nellie C. Beahan, Elizabeth Beahan, C. P. Bingham, Henry Bell, Chas. V. Caesar, Robert Currie, Julia M. Currie, David Currie, Myrtle Currie, Sarah H. Grouchy, Margaret Coughlan, Mary Coughlan, Mark E. Coonley, Catherine R. Casey, Mary J. Shipping Notes.

S.S. Canadian Sapper left Charlottetown on Wednesday for this port. Schr. John W. Currie, Stan Duder, left Bahia on Tuesday for here. Schr. Little Princess is expected to sail for Barbados with a cargo of fish on Saturday. Capt. Eugene Ross, of Carbonar, will command the vessel in place of Capt. House, who is ill at Barbados. S.S. Sable I. arrived at North Sydney this morning at 5 o'clock. Schr. Little Stephano has arrived at Porto Rico, and was discharged on Saturday last. The vessel has been ordered on to New York to load hard coal for this port.

From Cape Race.

CAPE RACE, To-day. Wind N.N.E., fresh, weather fine; S.S. Rosalind passed in 4.20 and schr. Helen G. Morse at 8 a.m.; the steamer Lady Learer finished discharging and sailed for Halifax last evening; Bar. 30.18; Ther. 54.

The Labor Situation.

SEEMS TO BE A DEADLOCK.

At the meeting of the L.S.P.U. which was held in the Union Hall on Tuesday, the matter of the new wage scale was discussed at length, but no decision was arrived at. A communication was read from the Employers' Association in which they set forth their view of the situation. The proposed new scale brings the men back to 1919 wages, or a reduction from 55 cents to 50 cents per hour for steam-hoist men, and from 35 cents to 29 cents for fish handlers, and general work. Discussing why it is imperative that a wage reduction should take place, the employers state that wages and cost of living throughout the world are being reduced, and that unless there is a reduction in wages here they will not be able to compete in the European markets in the sale of fish. They further say that unless a settlement is made, many of the firms will be compelled to reduce their permanent staffs, and already several firms had done so. The Longshoremen's Union on the other hand contend that the cost of living has not declined since the reduction in May, 1920, any extent, and that they are justified in not accepting the decrease now proposed. The Union will hold a further meeting on Friday night, when it is hoped some solution will be reached.

Buoy Removed.

VESSEL STRIKES ROCK.

Writing from Catalina, a correspondent states that for some unknown reason the buoy on Charlton Rock, entrance to Catalina Harbor, was removed about a year ago, by order of the Marine and Fisheries Department, and placed in another position, where it is by no means an aid to navigation. The schooner Saladin whilst making Catalina on Monday evening, 15th, during a strong S. W. breeze, ran upon Charlton Rock and was considerably damaged. The vessel was coal laden from Sydney and sprung heavily, causing considerable leakage and necessitating three days' extra delay at Catalina to effect repairs. A lookout was kept for the buoy when going through the entrance, but the captain did not know it had been taken away, hence the accident. The action of the Marine and Fisheries Department in removing this buoy is very autocratic, and there being now no mark on this rock it is constantly a menace to shipping entering port. It is quite possible that Capt. Turk of the Saladin will seek to recover damages by legal process against the Marine and Fisheries Department, for delay and damage, for which that department, by the removal of the Charlton Rock buoy, is responsible.

Wedding Bells.

MOULTON-KEAN.

A very pretty wedding took place at St. Thomas's Church yesterday afternoon when Dr. Cecil D., youngest son of Capt. A. and Mrs. Kean, led to the altar Miss Lella Moulton, daughter of Mrs. and the late Thos. Moulton of Burgeo. The bride was given away by her uncle, Mr. George A. Moulton. Dr. S. G. Kean acted as best man and the bridesmaid was Miss Allie Kean, sister of the groom. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. Clarence A. Moulton, cousin of the bride. The church organ pealed forth suitable music as the bridal party entered the church. The bride was dressed in white satin, with hat to match, and carried a magnificent bouquet of flowers. The bridesmaid was handsomely gowned and also carried a bouquet. On leaving the sacred edifice the bridal march was played, and the newly married couple with their friends, boarding motors, were driven to the "Anchorage," Topsall Road, the home of the groom's parents, where a sumptuous repast was served and congratulatory speeches and songs indulged in. The bride and groom at the conclusion of the festivities left by motor for Danovian, and will leave from the city by Monday's train for their future home at Burgeo. Dr. Kean has been practicing at the latter place since his return from the war. To the happy couple the Telegram extends congratulations.

K. of C. Memorial School

The beautiful Memorial School erected by the Terra Nova Council, K. of C. with the aid of Ladies' Auxiliary of that body, is fast nearing completion. The interior furnishings are being rushed to permit of its being ready for occupation at the re-opening of the Academy which has been deferred till September 12th. The formal opening will take place on the 12th of October. After school re-opens some time will be spent in classification of the pupils according to their different grades, as the four large classrooms on the top story are to be occupied by pupils in the four grades of High School. Elaborate preparations are being made by Sisters and pupils to celebrate the formal opening in a manner befitting the occasion.

The new school, when completed, will be one of the most up-to-date of its kind. It will be steam heated throughout, equipped with an auditorium and gymnasium where athletic exercises, callisthenics and general physical training will be practised, and with a modern domestic science school. The teaching of domestic science is a new feature in school management in the Academy. Classes will be held daily, enabling the Institution to serve hot luncheons to the pupils at a very moderate cost. Parents who wish their children to take advantage of this will find it a great convenience, particularly to those whom distance prevents from going home at noon. Many parents will be glad to hear of this innovation which the domestic science room will render feasible.

The Academy of Our Lady of Mercy, Military Road, needs no commendation from us. The excellent educational advantages afforded by the good Sisters are well known and widely appreciated, and have proved an inestimable boon to the country. We look forward to the accomplishment of even greater things with the added facilities which the present modern equipment affords.

There has been such an influx of pupils during recent years that accommodation was entirely inadequate, and when the Knights of Columbus undertook the erection of a memorial to the fallen heroes of that body, nothing was more fitting than that it should take the form of an educational institution to meet the growing needs of the Catholic girls of the city. His Grace the Archbishop, to whom primarily the credit of this idea must be given, made known to the Council the necessity of greater school accommodation to remedy the congested conditions which prevailed at the Military Road Academy and the K. of C. intimated a desire on their part to meet his wishes. The result is the present K. of C. Memorial School erected at the rear of the Mercy Con-

Obituary.

MRS. JOHN A. WHITE.
(H. F. Shortis.)

The dark shadow of sorrow descended on the family and friends of Mrs. John A. White, when it was announced that she had passed from amongst us on Monday last, at her late residence, 125 Bond Street, after an illness of some months, which she bore with Christian fortitude and resignation. The sad parting of a faithful wife and loving mother overflowed the cup of sorrow of an affectionate family, and wounded the hearts of dear ones so that time alone can relieve the pain. The patience and fortitude with which she bore her sufferings were edifying to those who administered to her dying hours. The deceased lady had been in delicate health for some time, but was able to be around, and attend to household duties until two months ago, when she was stricken with the illness which proved fatal. Mrs. White was a woman of sterling character, and worthy of the high regard in which she was held. A commendable trait in her character was her love for her home and family, for they were always first in her thoughts. She was a type of true Christian lady. To a cheerful and deeply religious disposition she added the practice of thrift, and instilled these qualities into the minds of her children. She was known for her charity, although she wished it to remain unknown. Mrs. White (nee Margaret Pittman), was descended from one of the pioneer well known and most highly respected families of Trinity, who from time immemorial played a prominent part in the commercial and industrial life of the country. She was a daughter of Robert and Mary Pittman of that historic old town. She was twice married, her former husband being the late Joseph Ash, brother of the famous Arctic navigator, seal-killer and master in our mercantile marine, Capt. Frank Ash. She leaves a husband, Mr. John A. White of H.M. Customs, two sons, three daughters, several grandchildren and hosts of friends to mourn their sad loss, to whom the Telegram extends its deep sympathy in their bereavement.

Can We Live Forever?

Dr. Carrel, a French biologist, has proved by experiments (says the "Matin") that the tissues of which we are composed are practically immortal. This extraordinary claim is based on another claim to the effect that Dr. Carrel kept a fragment of tissue from a chicken's heart alive for 104 days after separating it from its organism. "Human immortality is therefore theoretically possible," adds the Matin.

"and when an organized health practice knows how to maintain the balance and functioning of each of our organs, then we shall live as long as we want." Perhaps!

You remember the last Garden Party at Wireless Bay. We are going to have another such time on the 28th. We expect all our own patrons and as many more. Don't miss it and be sorry when you hear about it.

COMRADESHIP.
When Forty Years walk hand in hand with Nine,
And share the beauty of the morning sun—
Age telling Youth what mortal men have done,
Sustaining young feet to pathways truly fine,
Teaching young eyes to see perfection's sign—
God smiles upon the father and the son!
For this, the world was made and life begun,
For this the woods ring out with songs divine.
Oh Forty Years, if you would come to Joy,
God's richest friendship waits at your command!
Let each day draw you closer to your boy,
Go walk the world together, hand in hand;
Would you be rich in all that makes men glad,
Then be a comrade to your little lad.

Final Regatta Meeting.

At the final meeting of the 1921 Regatta Committee, which will be held next Tuesday night in the T. A. Murray, gold medals will be presented to the Cold Storage crew who won the Labourers Race in the Nelson. Matters of importance will also be discussed, and it is hoped all members who can will be present.

Inter-Town Tennis.

The inter-town tennis match between Bay Roberts and the Aero Tennis Club of this town which was to have been played at Bay Roberts on Monday 15th inst., was postponed until Tuesday 16th. Early in the afternoon the team and a large number of spectators left here for Bay Roberts by motor car. The wind was a trifle high and interfered somewhat with the play, but the games were, in most cases, hard fought ones. The result of the match was another win for Bay Roberts by 4 events to one. The following is the programme of events, players and scores:—

Bay Roberts Harbor Grace
Ladies' Single. Mrs. A. Anson. Mrs. A. Wilson. Won by Bay Roberts.
Score 2, 6, 6, 0, 6, 5
Ladies' Double. Mrs. A. Gordon. Miss G. Oke. Mrs. J. J. Bell. Miss L. Butt. Won by Bay Roberts.
Score, 6, 4, 6, 2.
Mixed Double. Mrs. H. Noseworthy. Miss M. Chafe. Mr. H. Noseworthy. Mr. D. Duff. Won by Harbor Grace.
Score 1, 6, 2, 6, 0.
Gent's Single. Mr. R. B. LeDrew. Mr. A. Gordon. Mr. R. B. LeDrew. Won by Bay Roberts.
Score 5, 6, 2, 6, 3.

Following the game tea was served at the Mess by the lady members of the Bay Roberts Club, after which dancing was indulged in until about 1 a.m. when the visitors returned home having had a most enjoyable evening. Bay Roberts won both matches and stand as winners for this year, but it is rumored that the series will be extended to best three out of five. This would give this town another chance and maybe more matches to play. The additional contests would add considerably to the interest in this branch of sport.—Harbor Grace Standard.

Football.

NAVY AND CITY DRAW.
In the soccer game played last night between a team from H.M.S. Wistaria and H.M.S. Briton vs. a City team, the result was a draw. Each side scored two goals. The ground was very wet and the good exhibition of football which was given was therefore all the more creditable. The city obtained both their goals through Macklin in the first half and the Navy got their goals in the second half.

GUARDS DEFEAT BRITON.

The Guards defeated the Briton in the League football game played on Tuesday night, by 2 goals to 0. The game was a most interesting one but owing to the slippery condition of the ground really good play was an impossibility. Macklin and Quick were responsible for the victors' goals. The Briton, through poor shooting, lost several excellent chances to score.

SCOLDED.

I'm tired of being scolded by highly moral folk, whose thin lips ne'er unfolded to laugh at any joke. So earnestly crusading to have all evils banned, for years they've been parading across the weary land; so stern is their demeanor they leave me stricken dumb, as they denounce the wiener, and curse the stick of gum. Their banners fiercely holding, they push themselves along, and scolding, always scolding, they bore the human throng. If they would spring some laughter, hand out a time, far more pep and zest; but they all balk at humor as up the heights they climb; they think a joke's a bloomer, and happiness a crime. Crusaders might be swarming and not stir up my bile, if they would try reforming with something like a smile; but they are always bitter while handing out their jolts; they never chirp or twitter or kick around like colts. They never try to josh us or polly us along, but grim, severe and cautious, they tell us where we're wrong. They never try to fold us to bosoms warm and true, but stand around and scold us and swipe our home made brew. They never try to lead us, with love light in their lamps, but bludgeon us and bleed us and call us sinful scamps. Oh, I might well be molded to suit the moral law, but that I have been scolded until my nerves are raw.

Marine Engineers Meet.

An important meeting of the Marine Engineers Association was held at the British Hall on Monday night last, when employment amongst that body was discussed at length. A special committee was appointed to interview the various employers to see if there is any solution of the problem, and a further meeting will be held next month, when the Committee's report will be submitted and the Association will be prepared to take necessary action.

Tired and Nervous—from the Lack of Sleep? Do You Know the Reason Why?

Sleep time is the time when the reconstructive processes in your body are busiest—turning food into blood, and nerve tissue, and living cells.

That's the reason why lack of sleep makes you irritable, inefficient and nervous; and why you lack "punch" when you don't get a proper amount of the right kind of sleep.

It has been the experience of many that the cup of tea or coffee, taken at meal-time, robs them of sleep.

In Gould and Pyle's Cyclo-pedia of Medicine and Surgery you'll find that "caffeine is a rapidly acting stimulant to the brain and spinal cord, quickens the action of the heart, and raises blood pressure."

This makes it a very good medicine if prescribed by a doctor for cases of collapse, when a patient needs to have his system normally forced into activity. But caffeine is not good for people whose systems don't need to be drugged.

So if you don't get your proper sleep at night, it may be because you are being kept awake by tea or coffee.

Stop tea and coffee for awhile and drink Postum—the delicious cereal beverage.

Postum is a pure cereal product, and contains no harmful element whatsoever. Your first taste of Postum will surprise and please you. Many people prefer the flavor of Postum to that of coffee.

Order Postum from your grocer today. Drink this hot, refreshing beverage in place of tea or coffee for ten days, and see what a wonderful difference it will make in the way you feel.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tin) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

HOW MUCH WISER WE WOULD BE.

Is there a more fascinating indoor sport than discussing the way other people ought to spend their money and don't; or ought not to and do? Here's the sort of thing I mean! Some friends of ours have recently bought a house. It is a very pleasant house, it is the sort of house they have been dreaming about for years while they lived in the sort of house one does not dream about—unless one has nightmares. Unfortunately, the very high cost of houses at the present time has made it cost more than most young people put into their homes.

Wagging Tongues.

And so the tongues are wagging. All the young people in their set who have less expensive houses, or who have only rented houses, are saying what a mistake it was for these people to buy such an expensive house. They can't afford it, say the wagging tongues, the upkeep will be more than they expect, and so forth and so on. Unquestionably any envy they feel finds a comfortable outlet in these comments. Incidentally, the house does not cost more than twice the man's annual income—which, according to the budget-makers, is the amount one should not exceed in investing in a house.

Another couple I know are constantly criticised for the amount they spend for travel. They are always going off on trips of one sort or another (but at home they live very simply indeed). And another family comes under fire because they expend so much of their income on their table.

One of The Spices of Life.

Now most of us cannot have all these things we would like—a beautiful home in a beautiful location, pretty clothes, a luxurious table, amusements, travel, the best of education for our children and many other things. The result is that we all have to choose which things we want most. And since each one places the emphasis a little differently, each can find in his neighbor's budget a topic of criticism, and the inevitable corollary of criticism—a sense of his own superior wisdom. How uninteresting, when you come right down to it, life would be if it were not for these little diversions. Surely no one should grudge giving pleasure his way, since most of us receive it!

Notes and Comments.

Small electric fans are among the novel equipments for motor vehicles, especially in closed cars and in ambulances.

One reason why there is so much unemployment, says the Dalton (Georgia) Citizen, is because a lot of dollar-a-day men are hanging around waiting for some one to offer them $3 a day.

Since the advent of Prohibition more charges of men driving motor vehicles while in an intoxicated condition have come before the Traffic Court in New York than before the dry law went into effect.

Citizens of Zeta, Mo., while watching a freight train pass through the city counted 136 men on the train stealing rides. The travellers were hanging to all parts of the cars, riding the rods, clinging to ladders, even sitting boldly on top.

France is going to have the best crops that the country has had since the days before the war, including a bumper wheat crop. The dry, hot summer, too, has produced a superior vintage, likely to yield the best wine that France has produced for nearly 20 years.

Prof. Arthur de Jacowski and Ni Vavilov, Russian agricultural scientists who have arrived in New York on the S.S. Esthonia, had passports which attested to the difficulty experienced in getting out of Russia. The passports consisted of 312 separate papers containing more than 300 signatures. They were 45 days in procuring the visas.

road surfacing known is being laid on the great highway system now under construction. The cost of the work is from $35,000 to $85,000 per mile. The most popular surfacing is brick, laid on a concrete base, although water bound macadam, plain concrete and sheet asphalt have been used extensively.

The New Governor-General.

(From the Toronto Star.)

Lord Byng of Vimy is heartily welcomed throughout Canada on his arrival as successor to the Duke of Devonshire in the office of Governor-General. It is understood that the new Governor-General was selected by His Majesty with the approval, not only of the British, but of the Canadian Government as well. In this country Lord Byng is highly thought of because of his achievements in the war, and scattered everywhere throughout the Dominion are men who fought under him in victorious campaigns. There is, therefore, something new and not quite measurable as to its effects in the coming of Lord Byng to Rideau Hall. He is not like the Duke of Connaught, born to adorn such an office, nor is he like Earl Grey and the Duke of Devonshire, seasoned in constitutional usage. But he is a man of ability and character who has made a success of whatever he has undertaken, and he has, in Canada, to an unusual degree the hearty approval of the country. There is not in the sky a cloud except one about the size of a man's hand. It is an excellent thing that the new Governor-General should be an old soldier high in the esteem of the Canadian forces that fought in the war. He may exert a useful influence, but it is not unlikely that among our returned men there may be many who will expect of him, and urge upon him, courses quite beyond his constitutional range. They may expect of him the impossible. His arrival does not mean a changed administration. He adds grace and symmetry to the form of monarchical government which is ours. In all this Lord Byng is thoroughly versed, and the only risk to which he is exposed is that returned soldiers throughout the country may press upon him from all directions to take courses other than those favored by his constitutional and only advisers. It is for them to know that this cannot be done. But he can exert a potent good-will within limits.

Chatterton, the Misguided Genius.
 Thomas Chatterton, "the marvellous boy who perished in his bride," was born on November 20, 1752, at Bristol, where for 200 years his ancestors had been sextons of the church of St. Mary Redcliffe. When he went to school he was regarded as an absolute dunce, but being attracted by the bright colours of an illuminated manuscript he learned his letters from it, and afterwards read anything he could get hold of. As he had access to a large number of ancient documents, he became familiar from an early age with the antique style of spelling and handwriting. At the age of eight he was sent to Colston's Hospital, the blue-coat school of Bristol, and at twelve he wrote poems which appeared in the local newspapers. He adopted an ancient system of spelling, and could thus easily write poems which appeared to be several hundred years old. His next feat was to forge a pedigree for one Burgum, a pewterer, showing his descent from the De Bergshams, who came over with the Conqueror. In 1787 he was apprenticed to John Lambert, attorney of Bristol, but in this situation he was very unhappy, although he had much leisure to fabricate his poems. These he alleged to be the work of one Rowley, a monk, and that he found them in the muniment room of St. Mary Redcliffe. He sent some of them to literary men in London, and they occasioned the greatest controversy, many eminent men of letters maintaining that they were genuine and others that they were forgeries. He was discharged by his employer for threatening suicide, and went to London on April 24, 1770, where he took lodgings in Shore-ditch. He interviewed booksellers and wrote for magazines, but the remuneration he received was not sufficient to live on and he was too proud to accept invitations to dinner. When nearly starved to death he took poison, and died in his garret on August 25, 1770.

Merchant Says He Has Gotten Rid of Trouble
 Alberta Citizen Suffered Twelve Years—At Last He Finds Complete Relief.
 Albert M. Blais, a well-known merchant of Villeneuve, Alberta, is now an enthusiastic champion of Tanlac. On a recent visit to Edmonton Mr. Blais said:
 "My troubles started twelve years ago with my stomach. From that time up until recently I didn't know what it was to be able to enjoy a hearty meal. Everything I ate seemed to lie in my stomach like a lump of lead. The gas that formed bloated me up so that I could hardly get my breath. My stomach was just as sour as vinegar and I had a mean, sickening taste in my mouth nearly all the time. My nerves gave way and I was about as miserable as a man could be and still keep on his feet.
 "The first bottle of Tanlac worked such a change in me that I was amazed. I have kept on improving until now I'm as sound as a dollar. My appetite is keen, nothing I eat disagrees with me. I sleep like a log at night and get up feeling just fine. In fact I'm just like a new man."
 "Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere."

When the Sea Bulges.
 The rise and fall of large bodies of water—a phenomenon to which we have applied the name of tides—is the result of the influence exerted upon the earth by the moon and sun. Both pull or attract the earth in varying degrees, the power of the moon being about two and a quarter times as great as that of the sun. This attraction is most evident in the fluid portion of the earth's surface—the oceans and larger lakes, which are so affected that they bulge outward, forming a rising of the water on the side of the earth nearest the moon, and also on the opposite side, with corresponding low water between.
 The reason for extreme high tides at the times of the new and full moon is because the moon is then in a line with the sun, and the water reacts to the combined pulls of both bodies. At the time of the first and third quarters of the moon this influence is divided—the single-unit pull of the sun acting at right angles to the two and a quarter-unit pull of the moon, thus diminishing materially the attraction exerted upon the earth and producing tides that do not rise nearly as high as the ones occurring during the times of the full or new moon.
 As the moon appears to revolve about the earth once every twenty-four hours and forty-eight minutes, two tidal waves continually sweep around beneath her, causing two high tides and two low tides in each approximately day.

What Two Subalterns Did.
 Two young British subalterns and half-a-dozen sepoy actually "confined to barracks" a Georgian "army of liberation" which came to the Batum Province, then occupied by British troops:
 "Soon they went outside, and discovered a Georgian force of some three hundred men drawn up in battle order. There was a front line, bringing flat all round the bungalow, then a reserve line, machine-guns, and so on, and, at the back, the stretcher-bearers. The subalterns stepped through this martial array and ordered the Georgian officer to house his troops in some empty buildings a little farther up the hill-side. The Georgians, bewildered at their reception, retired into the houses, and the British subalterns issued orders that they were to stay there and not to come outside. The Punjabers were posted as sentries over them. At this point the Georgian commander, who, in expectation of a scrap, had taken up a strategic position some miles in the rear, arrived and blankly acquiesced in the arrangements."

"Hill 60" Sold to Brewery.
 (From the Pioneer, Toronto.)
 The Echo du Nord says:
 "Hill 60. Everyone remembers the famous hill to the southeast of Ypres, where furious fights took place. On this account it ought to have remained a sacred place. Now this hill has just been sold to a British brewery, for the purpose of erecting a large hotel. Could not the memory of the heroes of Hill 60 be commemorated in a more fitting fashion?"
 "A brewery, you will notice!" exclaims the Glasgow Forward. "The fine, delicate capitalists, who urged us out to fight against 'materialism' and for things great and spiritual, stick a booze factory upon Hill 60."

Are There Two Moons?
 There is a suspicion that we have another moon, quite a tiny affair and not one for poets to rave about.
 What gave rise to the suspicion was a large dark object which was seen crossing in front of moon No. 1. As this object must have been far outside the earth's atmosphere, the natural conclusion was that it was spinning round the earth just as our familiar moon does.
 As something of the sort had been seen before, there is a feeling that after all there may be a second moon, but one which does not reflect enough of the sun's light to enable us to detect it until it reveals itself against the bright face of the full moon.
 A search is being made for this mysterious body, as it is felt that there is no reason why we should not have two moons as well as Mars.
 Indeed, we are very badly placed in the matter of moons. Our solitary one (so far as we know at present) is trifling compared with the ten of Saturn, the nine of Jupiter, and the four of Uranus.

KAUSTINE

Equipment is universally recognized as the standard for waterless sewage disposal. Over fifty thousand systems are now in use, and are approved by leading authorities after the most severe tests and searching investigation. The principle is right, and the quality of material used throughout the entire KAUSTINE product is right, permitting us to stand firmly back of the equipment by a binding, long-term guarantee.
