MARKET REPORTS

indicate that there is no surplus of Anthracite Coal in the U.S. The shortage caused by the strike of Anthracite Miners last year has not been made up, and American hard coal will, in all probability, be hard to get and high priced. Coke is an excellent substitute for hard coal, and we have on hand a stock of same that will soon be disposed of, because a shortage of hard coal invariably creates an increased demand for our product.
We advise our customers to book their requirements as soon as possible.

CHAPTER XIX.

"I'll give it back again to Joyce," he says, hurriedly, dropping it into his pocket again. "I hate the sight of the thing. She was false to me for the sake of this ring and a few gew-gaws like it. I hate it—and I hate her falseness and—sometimes I hate her! Besides, what if Yolande ever saw it or knew I had it? Poor, little, romantic soul! She doesn't imagine that there could be a woman who would barter the man she loved for 'gear an' gowd.' Poor, little Yolande! I wish she didn't dread me and shun me as she does," he says, with a frown and a deep, quick sigh. "I wish I could see her now. I would try to atone for this day, if I could!"

When, a minute later, a gentle tap comes on the door between his room and Yolande's, it startles him like a mystical answer to his desire. He starts up eagerly—he is ashamed to feel how eagerly—and hurries to the door.

"Yes, yes!" he says, in quick, unsteady tones. "Is that you, Yolande?" "Yes," she replied, in a weary, quiet voice opening the door; and the pale, young face, the wistful, bright eyes, the slender, silk-robed form appear in the dark portal; for the two candles on the toilet table utterly fail to light the huge, cheerless room behind her. "I wanted to speak to you. I have been writing letters, and I wanted to speak to you for a minute, to consult you—please."

"Dallas takes the cold, little hand that is holding the door, and clasps it in both his.

"You want to speak to me, Yolande?" he asks, huskily, trembling beneath the sudden passion of keen emotion that surges over him. "And I want to speak to you, my own little wife, my darling!"

How to wean Baby

The critical time in baby's life is the change over from breast feeding. This is the time when great care is necessary in the selection of baby's diet.

Cow's milk alone cannot take the place of human milk, but Virol contains just those food elements that are necessary to build the body. It is essentially the food for growth. Virol makes firm flesh, strong bones, good colour.

More than 3,000 Infant Clinics use Virol regularly.

"Captain Glynn," the unhappy wife exclaims, trying to draw her quivering hand from his strong clasp. "It is needless—and it is cruel—I think—to use such pretences. I know quite well that—I am not your darling!"

CHAPTER XX.

Dallas and Yolande—"man and wife together" by the laws of church and state, but disunited and almost strangers in sad reality—stand now with clasped hands, gazing at each other in wistful silence, until the young wife's dark, moirated eyes are dim with unshed tears.

"What do you mean by saying that you are not my darling?" Dallas demands, angrily, but in husky, unsteady tones. "No, I won't let you go until you tell me!"

Compared with his muscular strength, hers is slight indeed; besides, the resistance she offers is not very strenuous. So, with both her ice-cold hands imprisoned in one of his, Captain Glynn draws his forlorn girl-wife close to his breast, and presses his face to hers.

"Oh, don't, don't! Let me go!" Yolande cries, sobbing miserably, but yielding in spite of herself, of her pride and anger, her jealousy and wretchedness. "You are cruel, cruel! Let me go, Captain Glynn!"

"What is the matter with you, my poor little woman," he whispers, kissing her. "Don't cry so, Yolande, darling; you are bedewing me with your tears!"

He shuts the door, places her in an easy-chair, and, wondering rather vexedly how women can shed such floods of tears as they do,

"I beg your pardon," she says, in a resentful tone, and trying to thrust his hands away. "If you let me go, as I asked you, you will not be annoyed with my stupid tears!"

"I am not annoyed—I am grieved," Captain Glynn responds, not quite truthfully. "Let us shut this door, and come into my room. This big, gloomy mausoleum of yours is enough to give you your death of cold! No wonder you are half frozen!"

He shuts the door, places her in an easy-chair, and, drawing the red embers of the fire carefully together, puts on them some paper, a handful of wax matches, and a little coal.

"See what a capital housemaid I am!" he says, laughing.

As Yolande watches him on his knees on the hearth-rug, with the flickering firelight shining on his close-cropped, red-gold hair, on his low, broad brow and thick, curling hazel lashes, she wonders if there was ever anybody so handsome and winning and lovable.

"There, dear," he goes on, looking up with a gay smile, as he breaks up a cigar box to feed the blaze; then, dusting his fingers in his silk handkerchief, and, kneeling at her feet, he lays his fair, handsome head gently upon her arm. "Give me a smile and a kiss, Yolande, for a reward!" he says, coaxingly.

"You don't care for my smiles or my kisses, either," Yolande answers, coldly, with a heaving breast, her heart aching with anguish.

His brow darkens sullenly at this, and he rises to his feet.

"Why can't you let bygones be bygones?" he cries, resentfully.

"I did not think they were bygones," Yolande answers, rising, also. "I have had no reason to think so, you must admit."

"You allude to my having gone out with Miss Murray to-day, I suppose?" Dallas says, coloring, and twisting his mustache angrily. "I asked you, but you refused to come with me."

"Yes," Yolande admits, curtly. "I knew I wasn't wanted."

"You are insulting me, Yolande!" he mutters, through his clenched teeth; and his eyes blaze with fierce anger.

"I am not," Yolande retorts, turning away with a haggard look of weariness. "I am only stating a simple fact—that you had chosen the company you preferred, and did not want mine."

"You are insulting me!" Dallas cries, again, angrily reproachful. "You are accusing me, your lawful husband, of infidelity of heart and purpose toward you!"

"There can't be infidelity where there never was fidelity," Yolande rejoins, in the same, calm, dreary fashion. "You never care for me, even for one hour; your love was all given to some one else before I ever saw your face. How could you be faithful to me in heart, or mind, or feelings?—I can't expect it."

"Don't say that!" Dallas exclaims, hastily, his eyes softening. "You can expect it! My own little wife, why shouldn't your husband love you?"

"Love two women at the same time?" Yolande asks, scornfully, staring at him through her tears. "No, thank you; I don't want a share in your affections."

"Yolande, I wish you wouldn't talk such horrible nonsense!" cries Dallas, incensed. "I wonder how you can stand there saying such cruel, insulting things to me," he adds, reproachfully. "If I loved another woman before I married you, that is no reason why I should not learn to love you now, and why we should not live happily and comfortably together."

"Learn to love me!" Yolande repeats, bitterly. "You need not give yourself the trouble! I have not the slightest intention of trying to learn to live happily and comfortably with you!"

"Do you intend, then, that we shall go on leading this cat-and-dog existence?" Dallas asks, his lips trembling with rage, but with a dull, intangible pain at his heart. For, in some strange way, the love of this faithful, passionate girl, whose heart he knows is truly his, even while she repulses his caresses and defies his authority, seems to have suddenly become a dearer and more desirable possession than Joyce Murray's fickle fondness.

"No," Yolande answers, quietly. "I was coming to speak to you on that subject just now—to propose that we should part."

"Part!" he repeats, his face paling. "Certainly, if you desire it. No open scandal, you know! I won't permit that."

"You couldn't help permitting it if I were base and faithless to you, regardless of your feelings and of appearances!" retorts Yolande, sharply and passionately.

"As I am to you, that means," Dallas says. "Very well. Since you think so badly of me, we had certainly better part. What do you intend doing—if I may inquire?"

"I wish to go back to Rutland Gardens, to aunt Keren, of course," Yolande answers, in a sad, half-inaudible tone, her mind misgiving her, her conscience reproving her, her heart bewailing the last vanishing hope of her lost love. "I thought of going up to London to-morrow morning. I do not care to stay here. It is—rather miserable for me, and—lonely."

There is a piteous quivering of the soft lips, and a tremor in the sorrowful voice, as Yolande turns her head away quickly.

Captain Glynn's eyes brighten with a smile.

"Poor, little soul!" he tells himself. "She is trying dreadfully hard to steel herself against me."

"I must ask you to remain over to-morrow," he says, speaking in an indifferent tone. "I cannot leave Pen-treath as long as the earl survives, for I have not seen him yet, though I believe he wishes to see me. So, as I must escort you, you see you must kindly defer your journey for two or three days longer."

WEALTHY MAN'S DOWNFALL.
The story of a man who spent a fortune of between £3000 and £5000 in two years was told at London Sessions, recently.

Thomas Colmer (36), described as a manager, pleaded guilty to incurring a debt of £28 with Hows Hotels, Limited, and obtaining credit under false pretences.

Detective Spanish said that, representing himself to be a travelling inspector of a well-known firm of caterers, Colmer stayed at an hotel in Bloomsbury Street for three weeks, and ran up a bill amounting to £28. When the bill was presented he could not meet it.

The prisoner attributes his present position to domestic troubles and gambling. Sentence of nine months in the second division was passed.

A STYLISH MODEL.
4266. This design is suitable for slender and for mature figures. The pleat lines, the side closing and becoming sleeve are very attractive, and new. Figured crepe is here portrayed finished with a stitching in floss. The style is also good for satin, broad cloth and serge.
The Pattern is cut in 6 Sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measure. A 38 inch size requires 5 1/2 yards of 36 inch material. The width at the foot is 2 1/4 yards.
Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

A GOOD STYLE FOR MATURE FIGURES.
4480. Figured and plain foulard are here combined. One could wear this with crepe, and embroidered georgette are also a good combination. The Pattern is cut in 8 Sizes: 36, 38, 40, 44, 46, 48 and 50 inches bust measure. A 38 inch size requires 5 1/2 yards of 40 inch material. For panel of collar of contrasting material 1 1/2 yards 27 inches wide will be required. The width of the skirt at the foot is 2 1/4 yards.
Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

A ONE PIECE FROCK WITH DRAPED PANELS.
4264. Figured silk combined with crepe is here portrayed. This is a good style for velvet and satin, and chiffon.
The Pattern is cut in 3 Sizes: 18, and 20 years. An 18 year size requires 7 yards of one material 44 inches wide. To make as illustrated for the dress of plain material will require 4 yards of 40 inch material and 3 1/2 yards for the panels of figured material.
Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

A POPULAR "OVER" BLOUSE MODEL.
4041. Silk or tissue singham with organdy for collar and cuffs would be nice for this style. The poplin may be omitted. The blouse is in "slip on" style, and may be finished with the sleeves in wrist or elbow length.
The pattern is cut in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. A 38 inch size requires 2 1/2 yards of 36 inch material. Collar and cuffs of contrasting material require 3/4 yards of 40 inches wide.
Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

A SLENDRE SKIRT FOR MATURE FIGURES.
3962. Up-to-date with its uneven hem lines, and pleasing in its long soft lines, is the model here shown. Crepe weaves, pongee or linen could be used to develop it.
The Pattern is cut in 7 sizes: 27, 29, 31, 33, 35 and 39 inches waist measure. The width of the skirt at the foot is about 2 yards. This style

SIDE TALK.

By Ruth Cameron.

THE THINGS THAT HOLD US BACK.

How easily we do fool ourselves about ourselves! We are always saying a word that keeps us from doing or being what we ought, is something in our outside ourselves. Never realized recently that I was not being in touch with current events...

"After Christmas," is the very favorite time of all when whatever we feel to being left undone in our lives is going to be gotten at. We are all going to become paragons of stolidness, and epistolary promptness, and housewifery, and goodness knows what "After Christmas." I don't know what we should do if we didn't have our sense of all we are going to do after Christmas to console us for all we are leaving undone.

How easily we fool ourselves about ourselves! Would it be better if we learned to see the truth and to know that the reason we don't do big things is mainly because we aren't big people, and that the reason we don't find time to do serious reading is because we are intellectually lazy?

When We Are Going to Read. I wonder if there ever was anyone who wasn't going to do some serious reading when some special time came around. Maybe it's "when I'm on my summer vacation," or maybe it's "in the long evenings next winter." And

The Limitation on the Power of the Legislative Council.

By "An Act to make provision with respect to the power of the Legislative Council in relation to those of the House of Assembly," which was placed on the Statute Book in 1917, the authority of that body was considerably curtailed.

This action arose out of a war measure known as the Business Profits Tax, to which the Upper House would not agree, but which the Lower Chamber was determined to enforce.

The measure is intended to apply only to Money Bills, but the wording of the Act is so general a character that a considerable number of the bills sent up from the House of Assembly come within its scope.

At the House.

ASSEMBLY PROCEEDS UNTIL OCTOBER 17TH.

Saturday's proceedings were very quiet. The Speaker took the chair at 10 p.m. There were no petitions, reports or motions to be presented. The following questions on the order were unanswered:—

Mr. P. F. Moore—To ask the Minister of Public Works what amounts outstanding in connection with the Public Works Department of the Penitentiary and by whom are the amounts owed.

Mr. P. J. Cashin—To ask Hon. the Minister to lay the following document on the Table of the House:—

(a) tenders called for the construction of Normal School; (b) tenders stipulated in the calling for tenders that duty was to be paid on the cement used in the construction of the building; (c) if, after tenders received from cement imported by the Horwood Lumber Co. were in this building and that with the knowledge of the other competitors; (d) to lay copies of tenders on the Table of the House.

Mr. P. Cashin asked if the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, also the Minister of Public Works were making enquiries into the spending of the money in the District of Ferryland during the past six months. The Ministers were not present when Cashin sought the information, but he addressed the House in the hope that an investigation would be conducted.

Mr. P. F. Moore approved of the action taken by Mr. Cashin as he personally knew people who received big sums of money to be used in public improvements, but so far had not expended one cent.

The Excellency the Governor, accompanied by Major Wilberforce-Bell and Capt. Goodfellow, arrived for the official clinch. In the grounds of the house including the mounted force and Supt. O'Neil, were present as a band, while the C.L.B. Band was also present and played the National Anthem as His Excellency entered the grounds. After inspecting the police, His Excellency repaired to the Council Chamber after the members of the House of Assembly had been sworn in by the Mayor of the Black Bay. His Excellency gave his assent to the following Bills:

The Act for granting to His Majesty certain sums of money for the defrayment of certain expenses of the Public Service for the Financial Year, 1922-23, respectively the 30th day of June, one thousand, nine hundred and three and the 3rd day of June, one thousand nine hundred and four, and for other purposes relating to the Public Service; and the Act for Confirmation of an Agreement between the Government and Malcolm Joseph Mooney, member.

The Act for the ratifying of a sum of money on the credit of the Colony for the purposes.

The Act respecting certain retiring allowances.

The Act to amend 12 & 13 George V, entitled "An Act for the improvement of Shipbuilding."

The Act concerning certain rights, franchises and franchises, connected with the supply of electric light and power to St. John's, for Street Railway and other purposes.

The Act to amend Chapter 23 of the Consolidated Statutes of Newfoundland (Third Series) entitled "Of the Public Accounts."

The Act to amend Chapter 23 of the Consolidated Statutes (Third Series) entitled "Of the Customs."

The Act to amend the Business Profits Tax Act (1917-1922).

The Act respecting a Preferential Right on Products of Jamaica.

The Act respecting a Preferential Right on Products of Spain.

Colony, and it is hoped that it is at the beginning of an era in which our water powers may contribute to the wealth of the Island.

The Railway Settlement Act brings to an end the conditions that pertained in relation to the running of the railway and steamship services.

In the meantime a temporary operating Commission has been appointed and every effort will be made towards the running of the Railway and Allied services in an efficient and economical manner.

The prospects for employment in lumbering and logging during the coming winter seem better than last year.

His Majesty's Government has invited my Prime Minister to attend the Imperial and Economic Conference to be held in London this Autumn, and I am glad to announce that he has accepted the invitation.

These Conferences, at this stage of the development of the Empire, will be of the utmost importance and it is hoped that this Colony will be a sharer in the beneficent results that we trust will come from these deliberations.

MR. SPEAKER AND GENTLEMEN OF THE HONOURABLE HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY.

I thank you for the supplies which you have voted for the various Departments of the public service and I can assure you that my Ministers will expend the same with due regard for economy and efficiency.

FRAS NORTH O' TWEED.

P. C. WARS
(The Author.)

Fras North o' Tweed there comes two things that hearten up a man. They make him feel that he's a king o'er life's short-measured span; Relieve his troubles great and small, and fill his days w' joy, and scatter gleams o' pleasure sweet, three hours without alloy.

They lift frae life the weary load, and make it light to bear. They free the heart and mind o' man frae carping thoughts o' care; Delving neath life's surface, they uplift the souls o' men, and kindle up the spark o' youth that makes them young again.

Some folks wad tak' away frae life the pleasures that are kind, placing no value on surcease frae troubles o' the mind; But the eye will always sparkle and the tongue o' man acclaim As he takes his stand upon the tee to start the old Scotch game.

And our thoughts will never wander though we' fuddle in the 'rough,' For a solace sweet still lingers in "The wee sma' drap o' stuf." And our hearts are filled w' gladness and there's rapture in the soul, Lord bless the Scotch who had the sense to make a nineteenth hole.

TO-NIGHT'S FOOTBALL.

The Juniors will go into action again to-night with hostilities, between the Cadets and St. Mary's. The youngsters are producing a good brand of football and doubtless the fans will be there in large numbers.

ARTHUR GOSLING AGAIN GOLF CHAMPION.

Successfully defending his title at Bally Haly on Saturday afternoon A. C. N. Gosling beat H. W. Dickinson by 8 up and 7 to play. Gosling's play was very steady while Dickinson appeared to be slightly nervous and decidedly off his game.

CITY FOOTBALLERS AT GRAND FALLS.

The football team to play with the Grand Falls team left by special train Saturday night at 10.30. The footballers were accompanied by several of the members of the Star Jazola Orchestra who will play at a dance to be held in Grand Falls. A large number of football fans were at the station to bid the team good luck.

Special to Telegram—Football excretion arrived yesterday, all in good form. Glad to see some old familiar forms among them. Opening game of series to-night—COR.

JUNIOR FOOTBALL LEAGUE.

A meeting of the Junior League was held on Saturday night, when various matters were discussed. As several of the League players are now at Grand Falls, the League has given St. George's Field to the Juniors and they have arranged to run off as many of the remaining games as possible. The following games will therefore be played this week: Monday—Cadets vs. St. Mary's. Tuesday—Gaelic vs. Wesley. Wednesday—Forenoon—T. A. vs. Scouts; B.I.S. vs. Holy Cross. Wednesday Afternoon—Gaelic vs. Cadets; St. Mary's vs. Wesley. Wednesday Evening—T. A. vs. Holy Cross. Thursday—Scouts vs. B.I.S. Friday—Holy Cross vs. Gaelic.

The above should prove a very interesting series of games. Play will start each evening at 7 o'clock sharp owing to darkness setting in early. The Higgins-Hunt Trophy has now arrived, and is a prize well worth winning.

AMERICA NEEDS ATHLETIC PREPAREDNESS.

(By Hon. Murray Hulbert.) If the United States is to go into the Olympiad next year in Paris with assurance of retaining athletic supremacy, it is not too early for all interested in athletics to intensify that interest in the discovery and encouragement of available material to represent this country.

The American Olympic Association, at the suggestion of President William C. Front of the A.A.U., has already appointed committees, is already represented in all parts of the country by observation committees, which attend the various meets to discover athletic talent in every branch. I believe the one great distinction which marks the difference in interest on the part of the American public in American professional and amateur sport, is the very genuine and sincere pride which the Nation takes in the achievement of its Olympic champions and the more formal elation evidenced when an American prize-fighter happens to annex some world's championship crown. As a matter of fact, notwithstanding the vast attendance at professional games, such as baseball and boxing, the United States is primarily a nation of lovers of amateur sport. The vast interest in football, tennis, rowing, swimming, basketball and, above all, track athletics, conclusively proves this. If the mere numbers of participants in professional and amateur games could be gathered for comparison, it would be found that the amateurs outnumbered the pros by a stupendous majority. And by amateurs, in this connection, I do not mean every runner or cornered ball player, but recognized amateurs who perform in public meets. Certainly the attendance at amateur exhibitions, when all such exhibitions are considered, vastly exceeds attendance at professional games.

It is only in the United States that professional sport is magnified in the public interest by tremendous passive support. And, frankly, it does not deserve this, because it is a cold, demonstrable fact, that public interest is greater in amateur sport; more people participate in amateur sport either as athletes or as interested spectators. Certain newspapers have recognized this fact by organizing and providing prizes for amateur athletic contests, especially among high and preparatory school youngsters.

All of this is apropos of the topic of America's athletic career, especially the crucial part in that career which will be reached when, next year, the massed athletes of the world meet in the historic quadrennial games. Then, in Paris, the American love for Amateur athletics must be crystallized into terms of victory. The reputation we have made for this nation ever since we participated in Olympic games must be sustained. The other countries of the world are taking the games seriously; even the wretched Ruhr situation is not preventing both France and Germany from turning the eyes of their youth towards the 1924 Olympiad where they hope to wrest athletic honors from the rest of the world. The games next year will be greater than the games of 1920, for several reasons, chief of which is that the year 1920 was too close upon the year 1918, when the war ended; the nations of the old world had no chance to shake down properly into peace-time pursuits. While even now it does not appear that they are shaking down any too eagerly they have, none the less, the better resources to draw from than in 1920, especially those nations who lost so heavily in man power during the great struggle. The nations that remained neutral during the war, and even the United States, whose loss was neither proportionately nor absolutely as large as the losses of Great Britain, France, Italy, Germany, Austria, etc., had something of an advantage in 1920, which cannot be expected to exist now. These older countries have had an opportunity to train the next ranks of athletes. The class of 1924 were mere youngsters in 1920—for four years is a long period in the life of an athlete—and we may expect to find a much tougher argument given our champions and near-champions in every division and stage of the contests.

What professionals can do with simply a financial object in view, amateurs can do with the national glory and reputation at stake. On every track in the country this year the cream of American athletes everywhere should be competing for places in the sun. Unless every recognized athlete, and every athlete striving for recognition, gets into the game this year, energetically and persistently, determined to do his utmost to make the winning extremely difficult for the winners, the United States will not be able to put her best foot forward in the great games next year, and unless we can give of our very best next year, our achievements will undoubtedly fall behind our records in previous Olympiads. Prophecy is always a hazardous occupation; but I "Would you be so kind as to return my photograph," wrote the flapper. "I gave it to you in a moment of childish folly, and I have since had occasion to regret that I was so thoughtless in such matters."

Of course, she pictured that photograph framed and hung up in his room, and was inclined to think that he would part with it with deep regret. He had offended her in some way but it is unnecessary to inquire how.
The reply to her note came the following day: "I regret," it read, "that I am unable at this date to pick out your photograph. However, I send you my entire collection, numbering 231, and would request that you return all except your own. I enclose stamps to repay postage."

NEW CHURCH AT KILBRIDE DEDICATED.

The solemn dedication and opening of the new church at Kilbride, St. John's, took place yesterday at 11 o'clock. Long before the hour appointed the spacious Church was filled to capacity. A squad and on the arrival of the Archbishop a general salute was given, while the C. Band played the Pope's March. The stone being laid, the blessing of the Church took place at which the Archbishop read "Mozart's Gloria." High Mass was celebrated by the Pastor, Rev. J. J. Rawlins, with Messrs. P. Sheehan and E. J. Rawlins as sub-deacons respectively. Within the Sanctuary were Revs. J. McGrath and Dr. Kitchin, assistants at the Throne, Revs. Pippin, John, P. J. Kennedy, Flynn, and Kennedy, with Dr. Carter as Master of Ceremonies. The singing of the Choral Choir under Mr. Charles Moran was of a very high order.

THE ARCHBISHOP'S ADDRESS.

Towards the conclusion of the ceremony, His Grace the Archbishop, speaking from the Throne, said that he would like to say a brief word to express the pleasure it gave him to witness the opening of the new church, and also to congratulate the pastor of the church and his assistants on their work which was completed under such happy auspices that morning. He regarded the occasion as being an historic one inasmuch as it brought back their feet to the old church of Kilbride, which was destroyed by fire so many years ago, and which the present church was intended to replace. The old church, which was one of the noble monuments of the Archdiocese, having been built by Bishop Lock in the early sixties, was destroyed in that fateful year 1892, and nearly half of St. John's was left in ruins by fire.

Speaking of the site selected for the new church, His Grace said that circumstances had greatly changed during the days when the first church was built, and that many factors combined to favor the new site as being the most suitable for all the interests concerned. It was not without a great deal of regret on account of its abandonment; but practical considerations prevailed and hence the decision to build the new church in the picturesque Waterford Valley. The dedication of a new church, his Grace continued, was a solemn event of importance and significance. A new church was another centre of spiritual influence for the diffusion of the principles of virtue and morality, and for the inculcation of the teachings of Christ. Most worthy of noble objects was the beautiful church which they were dedicating that day—beautiful in its graceful exterior architectural lines, and which also in its chaste and artistic interior details. The Pastor of Kilbride, who had labored so zealously for this work to completion, his Grace continued, was so joyfully seconded by the efforts, and the many generous contributions which their united efforts combined to erect. As they looked around at this new Temple of God, the fruit of zeal, sacrifice and generosity—they might with all humility quote the words of the psalmist: "I have loved, O Lord, the beauty of Thy House and the place where Thy glory dwelleth."

His Grace the Archbishop prayed that the zealous efforts of Pastor and people would be blessed with an abundant measure of reward, and that this new church would be to all who came to it a source of spiritual help and inspiration in this world and a preparation for sharing in the happiness of God's House in Eternity.

THE SERMON.

The preacher of the day was the Rev. Monsignor McDermott, whose sermon was a masterpiece, and which will long be remembered by the large congregation present. He spoke in part as follows:—

Therefore, and teach all nations to observe that I am with you all days unto the consummation of the world.—Words of Our Divine Lord Jesus Christ. The birth of Christ, my brethren, the whole world was spiritually blind, the blindness of paganism and superstition darkened the minds of men, and there was no place on the face of the earth where the name of the Lord God was loved and revered. It is true indeed that in all ages there have been people who believed in another life, but they believed in many gods, to whom they prayed, and in many ways they offered human sacrifices, and even their little children, to appease the wrath of their imaginary deities. In their blindness men believed that those deities—possessed of human passions, and as a consequence of these passions, ideas of right and wrong were all over the world. The most revolting forms of vice were openly practiced in their temples, as virtue was not only oppressed, but the gods themselves were not only oppressed, but insured to themselves a dwelling-place in Heaven. Amongst Princes and Rulers, amongst the wealthy, and influential and learned, such virtues as humility, meekness and patience were regarded as vain and in all sections of pagan society mercy, pity for the sick or the wounded, sympathy for the afflicted and aged, or respect for parents were practically unknown. Vanity and selfishness, cruelty and lust ruled and influenced the thoughts and actions of men. St. Paul, the most fearless, outspoken man of his time, gives us in one of his Epistles an account of the pagan society of his own day, and in his indictment of pagan culture and pagan customs he speaks not only of the barbarity, but also of the incontinence, of the most civilized cities of his time, and the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against the injustice and irreligion of those men, for they would change the glory of the incorruptible man, and God abandoned them to the desires of their hearts, to the things that are filled with all malice, all iniquity, fornication, covetousness, wickedness, destruction. St. Paul, who spoke thus, had travelled far and wide, and knew whereof he spoke; he dwelt in great cities where art flourished and beautiful poetry was written, where oratory was highly esteemed, where buildings of surpassing grandeur were erected, and statesmen made laws so perfect that many of them are in actual use in all civilized countries today; in great cities where unnatural vices prevailed, where men were crucified, and where high-born women scourged their servants to death for trifling faults. It is true that in those days there were good and learned men who earnestly sought the truth, men who stood and rebuked the wickedness of their day, but they were few and far between, and sometimes, through their own ignorance of God, they ostentatiously led people into error. And out into that world, that old pagan world of brute stability, that world of hatred, murder and fornication, that world of shameless crime of universal blasphemy, went the Apostles to preach the crucified Christ. And what a task they faced; and what a miracle they wrought—we might say their hearts have failed at the ordeal, well might they have quailed at the ordeal, well might they have said, as St. Peter said, that "they knew not the man" if God had not strengthened them from on high, if they had not been endowed with the seven gifts of the Holy Ghost, but in spite of opposition, of persecution, the Apostles and their successors successfully brought the world, and in spite of the hatred of Princes and Rulers, and the contempt of the rich and learned. Persecution after persecution raged for three long centuries, hundreds of thousands of people of all ages and all classes were brutally murdered but in the end the Gospel conquered; in the end Emperor and subject, patrician and slave were drawn to the Cross of Christ. Temples, whose walls had for long centuries echoed back the despairing cries of victims of false gods, were brought to the Christian Church. Monasteries and convents sprang up as if by magic, and into their walls flocked thousands of young people who devoted their lives to prayer and fasting, and "where sin had abounded grace did indeed abound more." In due course the Christian Church had been established in the world; magnificent churches were erected to show the pure love and reverence for Christ in the Eucharist; and the cunning hand of the sculptor, the skill of the artist, the genius of the musician were all utilized to express the pure gratitude to God for the fall of paganism. But though the Cross conquered, victory did not mean a cessation of hostilities, and the church never for a moment underestimated the malignity and power of the forces waged against her; so since the fight for souls began, it still goes on, and must go on to the end of time for though the Gospel as preached by the Apostles has come down to us pure and undiluted, though the Gospel has civilized the world, yet has the Church to-day to fight for her very existence as of yore; enemies, bitter and malignant, assail her; the world has not changed in its wickedness, it has only changed its manners, and the devil hates God and truth and justice as much now as he did then, and individually we all have to work out our own salvation in fear and trembling. We are well aware that the Church will never fail, that the gates of hell cannot prevail against her, but we know at the same time that during the past fifty years untold harm has been inflicted upon Christian people; we know that in some lands supernatural faith has almost entirely disappeared, or become neglected, and we know that contentful living has swept over the world; but what the Church did the Church can do, and what prayer did, prayer again can do; but if she fails to convince people of the sacredness of the marriage tie and the degradation of divorce; if she cannot teach children to respect their parents, then indeed one of two things must soon happen—either the world is rapidly drawing to a close, or God will abandon the Western races to the desires of their hearts and the faith will vanish; and belief in God will die out, and the faith will go back whence it came, back to the East. This may seem farfetched, and we sincerely hope that it is farfetched, but we cannot close our eyes to facts, and we know that no amount of oratory, no amount of talk can hide the fact that belief in God, to a great extent, is dying out, this as everybody knows who reads the times aright. In true, thirty years ago one of the greatest Popes that ever lived, Pope Leo XIII foresaw what would happen, and ordered Catholic people all over the world to say certain prayers after Mass, and in one of the prayers we ask God for the exaltation and liberty of the Church, and we beg Him to thrust Satan down to hell, and with him all the other wicked spirits who wander throughout the world for the ruin of souls. This petition to God is not sentiment, for all around us and about us are evil spirits, spirits wicked and malignant whose object is our destruction, and the humiliation of the Christian Church. To a great extent, fortunately we in this country are merely spectators of the terrible struggle between good and evil that is going on in the great centres of civilization; we view from apart the struggle between the Church and the world; we have a sense of remoteness from the strife a feeling that our Christian faith can never fall, but let us not feel too sure or too safe, we are a part and parcel of the great world and whatever affects the world for good or for evil affects us. Before the war none of us imagined for a moment that we would be engaged in the struggle that staggered humanity; but our young men were called upon, trained, and sent to take their part in it; who then shall say that we are not concerned with what happens in the great world? Who then shall say he is practically safe? Who then shall say the concerns of the Universal Church is no business of his? Our chief business is indeed the sanctification of our own soul, that it our first duty, but we have also a duty to our neighbour, and our neighbour is all mankind, and so for the conversion of sinners we are asked to pray. Are we doing the missionary work that he can do. We may not be able to go out and preach and teach all nations, but we can pray for all nations; we can make the world better by being better ourselves; and in this beautiful little Church, dedicated this morning, in this Church must our best prayers be said; here shall we give honour to God; here shall we find means for the salvation of our immortal souls; this is the House of God and the Gate of Heaven this is the place where all things most important for our salvation happen; here our sins will be remitted; here shall we receive the Body and Blood of our Redeemer, and here most important of all, shall we celebrate the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass.

offered up for the salvation of mankind, offered up for all those who have sinned, offered up for all who are friends of God that they might persevere for ever in His Grace. This is a place we should love and cherish here shall we come in the dusk of the evening when the day's work is done, to whisper our thoughts to God, to talk with Him as our best friend, and here we are always sure to be heard; here the Stations of the Cross and the Crucifix should remind us of the sufferings of Christ, and remind us that our sufferings are as nothing compared to His; here, in a word, we have the place that is "the House of God and the Gate of Heaven."

The ceremonies of the day closed with the blessing of the bell. Amongst those present were Mayor Cook, Messrs. J. D. Ryan, F. McNamara, W. J. Ellis, Sir Joseph Outerbridge, and many other prominent citizens, kind donors and generous benefactors.

Direct from a successful New York tour, Miss Louise Delara, will appear soon at the Nickel. aug20,23

That will draw roaches and ants out of every hole, crack, or crevice before killing them and not poison food?

That will kill bugs instantly and not leave an unpleasant odor?

That will knock flies off the wall and not harm paint or paper?

That will keep the bedroom, kitchen, or verandah clear of flies, mosquitoes, etc., for several hours after a few sprays?

That will take fleas off a dog and not harm the dog?

That will destroy chicken lice without any injury to your stock?

That applied in small quantities to the exposed parts of the body will insure you from Mosquito bites?

That as a general disinfectant is stronger than the ordinary carbolic solution.

THAT FLUID IS SAN-O-SPRAY.

No insect can live where San-O-Spray is used. Yet San-O-Spray is non-poisonous to human beings and can be used with perfect safety in pantry, kitchen, dining room, and cellars, moreover San-O-Spray has an agreeable and delightful odor, removing all fetid or unpleasant odors. In addition San-O-Spray is a disinfectant and germicide. Keeps the home sanitary and free from infectious diseases.

WIT AND WISDOM IN SMALL DOSES.

A wise man says that man is divided into two great classes—those who know they are fools, and those who don't.

Don't pick a quarrel before it is ripe.

The most useful memory is the one for past lies.

The hardest thing to find is an honest partner for a swindle.

Sweeping assertions are liable to raise clouds of misunderstanding.

Mistings are what a woman has about her next-door neighbour's character.

A girl may hate a man for kissing her, but she'll often hate him worse if he doesn't.

Some husbands give their wives kisses by the bushel; others are content with a "peck."

Women would be more charming if one could fall into her arms without falling into her hands.

Every man suffers from the delusion that he is necessary to the happiness of some woman.

When one woman asks another her opinion about a man, you may be sure she has already made her up her own mind about him.

THE LITTLE MERCIES.
He who is good to a little child
Will long remember the day she smiled.

He who has given to a stranger, food,
Will long remember his gratitude.

He who has praised and spurred youth on
Will have that day to look back upon.

He who has served in an hour of need
Can cherish the thought of one kindly deed.

He who has lightened another's pain
Never more may think he has lived in vain.

This for our comfort, both yours and mine,
Through the gloom of failure the good will shine.

Though our dreams in ruin about us
fall,
We shall be blessed by our mercies and small.

A Canadian Centenarian

CALUMET ISLD., Que., Aug. 15.— Born four years before the great Napoleon Bonaparte died in exile on the Island of St. Helena, and a witness to the burning of the Parliament Buildings in Montreal, on April 25, 1849, which followed the sanction of the Rebellion Losses Bill by Lord Elgin, then Governor-General of Canada,
are some of the claims to distinction of Mr. Joseph Beland, sturdy French-Canadian centenarian and a pioneer of Calumet Island, Quebec. Should Mr. Beland live to see May 3rd, next year, he will have then attained his one hundred and seventh birthday.
Mr. Beland has lived under six British sovereigns. He is still vigorous, and his general appearance would lead one to believe that he was closer to 80 years of age than considerably beyond the century mark and still going strong. In fact, only the production of the centenarian's birth certificate carries conviction as to his exact age.

One would imagine that Mr. Beland, burdened as he is by the weight of 106 years and with a record of sustained arduous work as a lumber jack, pioneer settler and farmer, during a period of more than 80 years, would be quite content to lead for the balance of his terrestrial existence a life of complete repose. But this is not the case with the venerable and stout-hearted centenarian of Calumet Island. Mr. Beland's one worry is that the relentless hand of time will ultimately press so strongly on him that he will be compelled to white away the closing days of his existence in an armchair.

Standing about five feet five inches and weighing about 140 pounds, Mr.
Beland is anything but a frail man.
He walks with a firm step. One of his feet last winter was cut down a towering red pine, measuring five feet in circumference. Mr. Beland boasts that he is still able to cut one cord of wood a day, either with the axe or bucksaw. It is no idle boast, and on more than one occasion he has performed this truly remarkable feat for a man of his years.

Mr. Beland leads the simple life.
He is as a rule an early riser and until recently was in the habit of getting up before sunrise. His customary hour of retirement is nine o'clock. He is blessed with a hearty appetite. Mr.
Beland has been a smoker all his life and will occasionally take a drink of liquor.

Mr. Beland said he came and settled on Calumet Island when about 16 years of age. He remembers being in Montreal when the Parliament Buildings were burned down on April 25, 1849. He also witnessed the rioting that marked the burning of the Buildings and the attack on Lord Elgin, then Governor-General. As a boy and young man, Mr. Beland witnessed the birth and growth of one of Canada's greatest industries, that of lumbering.
He was in the employ of various companies operating in the Upper and Lower Ottawa valley as a lumber jack and river driver.

"In my duty," Mr. Beland stated,
"we used to work long hours and were paid 50 cents a day and considered it good wages. The concerns were very strict and if a man "jumped" before his time was up he lost all his wages for the winter's work." Mr.
Beland recalled having been associated with Joseph Montferand, the famous French-Canadian strong man and "bully of the shanty," who is credited with having performed herculean feats and on many occasions beating single-handed several men who tried to knock him out.

Although the information was not given by Mr. Beland some of his relatives stated that he was a grand-uncle of Hon. Dr. H. S. Beland, Minister of Health and Soldiers Civil Re-establishment. Mr. Beland, when 25 years of age, was married to Elizabeth La Pointe, a family of four sons and four daughters, all of whom are living with the exception of two daughters blessed the union. There are 137 direct descendants.

Theodora Cost $3,000,000 in Italy
What Would it Cost in America?

As stupendous as was the "Theodora," the great spectacle which Goldwyn presented at the Nickel Theatre to-night—three dollars for production alone, interesting to estimate what it would have been had it been shown in the United States.

In the first place this $2,000,000 based on the present rate of exchange which gives great advantage to the American dollar. But more important than that is the normal difference in wages in this country and where two years time was spent making Sardou's immortal drama a screen marvel.

More than 25,000 people were in some of the scenes. At the prevailing rate for the cheapest extra men in this country—$5 a day—item alone would have cost $125,000 daily and at least twenty days would have been spent in taking things under the most fortunate circumstances. In addition to these were hundreds whose work was required for months at a time.

More than 30,000 costumes were used which would be an immense item. Thousands of shields, chariots, battering rams, various war impediments of the hundreds of thousands. No one has undertaken to figure for such a production in this country, for the very good reason no one would attempt to make a screen spectacle here, but people who know the outlay necessary for such things have declared that "Theodora" could not be duplicated in the United States for $10,000,000.

MOVING PICTURES FOR SCHOOLS.
The idea of using moving pictures for schools is being taken up by the Catholic Commission of Montreal. A committee of the pupils. The innovation has been introduced in Westmount and other cities of the West. In order to test their practicability, the Commission has sent a teacher to France, Switzerland, and other countries to study their workings and on his report will depend the introduction into the school system of this new and interesting method of instruction. The Commission is attached to nearly every school here. It would be a good idea for the pupils to see the world in pictures, say twice a week on Tuesdays and Fridays, with a short funny picture occasionally thrown in. The study of text books would be eliminated, and the pupils greatly benefited in many ways. The Imperial Conference, held lately in Montreal, devoted a special session to the question, and the delegates seem to be convinced that the motion picture should be used widely and systematically for instructional purposes. The difficulty arises about the payment of producing such films. The Commission deal in such a business as to produce the instructional films at a loss. Sir Sidney Low, London Daily Mail says in part: "The film houses could supply good educational photos if they were asked to do so at an effective demand for them. Just as they make admirable films for the order of manufacturers who belong to the Federation of British Industries. But the film houses do not want to do it unless they are paid. It does not seem to the producers to recover the cost of the right-seeing public. The proper conditions were fulfilled. I can imagine three or four of the leading producing companies combining to organize a film library or a collection of suitable pictures, some new, some old, for use in classrooms and on the lecture platform. Managers, headmasters, and proprietors of clubs or associations might pay an annual subscription to the library, as one subscribes to the library of the National Geographic Society, and take out films for use as required. The library would have in stock hundreds of thousands of reels of its own, and managers would know whether the films of suitable character were available. They would supply these to the schools. The experiment has already been tried on a small scale by the Kinema Committee of the Salvation Army and has met with great success to justify its extension. The library might lease projectors to members on moderate terms, or they might be hired for a fixed fee. Many would no doubt prefer to rent one of the cheap portable machines now on sale. The time would come when the school-room program will be as familiar as the play-room alone. Such a scheme to succeed there must be a considerable number of members prepared to contribute to the library. The educational advantages are so large as to justify any expense."

SILENCE IS GOLDEN AT TIMES.

Silence is golden especially when you ride on a street car and the conductor is having his difficulties about fares and transfers with passengers. It behoves one to look and listen, but not to interfere. The practice of minding other people's business is very often a costly one, as Edward Laberge has found out by this time. Poor Edward lost $20 and the costs of the court over it, and he will always remember the conductor who did him such a turn. He was arrested some days ago charged with creating a disturbance on a street car. When he appeared the conductor in charge of the car told the Court that in the midst of an argument with another passenger about the validity of a transfer, Laberge, who had been standing at the back of the car, interrupted and told him that he knew nothing about his business. When the conductor refused to take any notice of him, the accused swore at him. Recorder Geoffroy found the accused guilty, told him in future "to mind his own business," and fined him as stated above.

HE GOT SOMETHING BESIDES BANANAS.

While a fruit dealer with his wagon loaded with fruits and vegetables was peddling his merchandise, all went well until he came to the corner of Demontigny and Sauguet Streets, when a motor truck crashed into the rear of his cart and sent everything flying in all directions. He was also thrown from the wagon. When he was picked up, and while waiting for an ambulance, he persisted in singing most lustily, "Yes, We Have No Bananas. When he was examined at the Hospital it was found he had two fractured ribs, but was perfectly happy, and resigned to take a rest for a few days and let some other parties sing the Banana Song.

TRAFFIC EARNINGS SHOW AN INCREASE.

Traffic earnings of the Canadian Pacific Railway for the period from July 14 to July 21 were $2,254,000 as compared with $2,981,000 for the corresponding period last year. These figures show an increase of $263,000 this year.

FOREST FIRES STILL GOING.

Forest fires are still burning in the Rimouski District. The fires were caused by the carelessness of settlers burning slash. Louis Beaupre, 63 years of age, an old settler, was caught in the woods on Monday and perished in the flames. His charred body was recovered by forest rangers. The imprudence of a settler who set fire to a quantity of slash in Launey Township, on the South Shore, caused a serious outbreak on Friday last and 10 houses were reduced to ashes. A lot of settlers effects, furniture and implements were destroyed. Another fire which broke out in Rimouski County on Monday, destroyed three large camps. Generally speaking the situation is very serious. In the St. Margaree Valley the forest fires are very hard to fight and in spite of all efforts are gaining some headway. In what is known as the "Head of the Gattineau" there is several large forest fires and the damage caused is

Famous Novel Filmed

ELISIE FERGUSON'S LATEST PICTURE IS "LADY ROSE'S DAUGHTER."
Of the novels of famous authors which find their way to the screen nowadays, few have attained wider celebrity than "Lady Rose's Daughter," of which Mrs. Humphry Ward is author. This strange story has been adapted for the screen by Paramount and the picture will be shown at the Star Theatre to-day, with Elsie Ferguson as the star.

The publication of "Lady Rose's Daughter" as a serial in Harper's Magazine some years ago, attracted wide-spread attention. It was subsequently printed in book form and its success was so great that it was dramatized and produced on the stage in London and New York. It was a standard stage attraction for several seasons and is still presented in stock. The story deals with the trials of a young woman who is born out of wedlock and it affords Miss Ferguson three roles for the display of her versatile talents. These are respectively the grandmother, teacher and granddaughter. The development of the plot is intensely dramatic and the various situations in which the heroine is involved are filled with great heart appeal. Miss Ferguson is excellently supported, the players including David Powell, Holmes E. Herbert, Ida Waterman and other screen players of reputation.

WHAT MANY TOURISTS SAY.

The large number of tourists who are flocking to Montreal daily seem to be very "dry," judging from the number you'll meet coming from the Quebec License Commission Stores with bottles under their arms or bulging from their hip pockets. They say: "It is not what we have, but what we enjoy that makes us happy—we have prohibition, but it is the stuff that's prohibited which would make some of us 'happy.'"

UNCOMMON SENSE.

By JOHN BLAKE
START TO-MORROW TO-DAY.
To-day's last duty ought to be preparation for to-morrow. This is automatic if to-morrow is a holiday. The fisherman who expects to spend the following day fishing a trout stream needs no prodding to make him select his flies and make ready his rods and reels for the morning. He wants to lose 24 hours in getting ready that might be spent in fishing. The cyclist who is going on a tour to which he has been looking forward to is sure to carefully inspect his machine, make sure that the tyres are filled with air, and that everything is in working order. He wants the tour to be pleasant. And he is willing to spend a part of the night before, insuring its pleasure as far as possible. But the man to whom work is just a necessary duty is not so enthusiastic about starting one day before another is finished. Enough for him that the clock has struck the hour he looks upon as the beginning of freedom. To-morrow's duties may be done when tomorrow comes. And as a consequence he spends the first quarter of a day getting up steam for work that must be done in it, and finishes tired, and with little accomplished. In a great office where many men are employed one can tell the ambitious workers from the drones by their activities just before the end of the working day. Those who are interested in their work, and mean to go ahead in it, do all that can possibly be done to lend to to-morrow a little of to-day's time—to arrange matters so that there will be no delay in attacking the next day's job. The others drop their work as soon as they can and hurry away, feeling that now their time belongs to themselves, and they can begin to enjoy it. To them to-morrow is the beginning of another period of mechanical effort to be got through somehow or other. Allowing that work is monotonous—which it never ought to be—admitting for the sake of argument that it is something to be got through, its monotony will be greatly relieved by getting an early start on it. Even an intelligent cook has her kitchen arranged at night so that

DUSTORMUD?

"FOR HEALTH'S SAKE
USE LIFEBOUY SOAP"

Mud consists of the filth of the drains and streets, and more often than not the mud carried into your house on the children's boots, or yours, brings in disease germs. The dust you see in your house is dried mud and is generally laden with germs which cause sickness.

Take care to keep your floors free from mud and your curtains, window sills, stairways, etc., free from dust and thereby lessen the chances of heavy sickness in your home. Use LIFEBOUY SOAP, and plenty of it, on your floors and woodwork. Use it also for your wash.

LIFEBOUY is a disinfectant soap which cleans and disinfects at same time. LIFEBOUY is recommended by doctors and Health Departments and is made and guaranteed by Lever Bros., soap makers by appointment to His Majesty King George V. Your hands will benefit from LIFEBOUY SOAP.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

BANDITS HOLD UP 170 PEOPLE IN DETROIT.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 20. Seven gunmen, early Sunday, held up Alameda Inn at Warren and Snyder Street. They lined up one hundred and seventy persons at the Inn and obtained money and jewellery valued at several thousand dollars. Four persons, including one woman, were shot and seriously injured. The gunmen escaped in an automobile. A short time later an automobile containing seven men, believed to be the ones who held up the Inn, was seen in Monroe, about forty miles southwest of here. The night policeman in Monroe approached the car and one of the persons in the machine shot and killed him. Two of the gunmen stayed outside of the roadhouse while three entered from the front door and two from the back. They all began firing through the crowded dance hall. Women screamed and fainted. The bandits stripped the jewellery from the women and money from the pockets of the men. In their haste they tore diamonds from rings and stickpins with their teeth.

CHAMBERLAIN DECLARES EXTENT HANGS BY A THREAD.

MANCHESTER, Aug. 20. Addressing the members of the West Birmingham Unionist Association on Saturday night, Austen Chamberlain declared "the extent is hanging by a thread and any clumsy handling of the reparations question at this moment may snap that thread and undermine the work of the last twelve or fifteen years." He characterized the Government's last note to France as inconsistent, illogical and futile, and pleaded for caution in a situation which he said was fraught with peril for Great Britain, the Allies, Europe and the world. He added, "Germany is almost at the brink of disaster and threatened with a revolution. She is in peril of starvation because of the reckless finance in which she indulged."

NOMINATIONS IN IRISH ELECTIONS CAUSE NO SURPRISE.

DUBLIN, Aug. 20. Nominations for Free State Parliamentary elections furnish no surprises. On the average there are less than three candidates for each of the one hundred and fifty-three seats grouped into thirty constituencies. Republican candidates number about eighty.

COMPETITION IN THE SCHOONER RACE LAUNCHED.

GLoucester, Aug. 20. A winner in the builders' race against time, the new racing schooner Shamrock was launched Saturday at the Essex yards of A. B. Story. The vessel has been entered in the race for the Lipton trophy of this port in August and her owners plan to have her trials next Friday. The Shamrock is somewhat smaller than the three other schooners entered in the race—the Mayflower, Henry Ford and Elizabeth Howard. She will be commanded by Capt. Malloch.

EIGHT LIVES LOST IN HOTEL FIRE IN MUSKOKA.

THAMES DOCK STRIKERS RETURNING TO WORK.

LONDON, Aug. 20. Thames dock strikers have agreed to return to work on Tuesday, thus ending the unauthorized strike that for several weeks past has appeared to form the basis of a possible national dock strike. The Strike Committee maintains workers have won their freedom by breaking with the Union, saying that fifteen thousand men have enrolled with new amalgamation of lighter men, stevedores and cokers.

FOREST FIRE DOES DAMAGE IN SOUTH OF FRANCE.

CANNES, France, Aug. 20. A forest fire broke out Saturday in Esterel Mountains and spread rapidly to the seaboard village of Mandelieu. The populace sought refuge in Cannes area. Colonial troops were hurried from Toulon to cope with the fire, which also played havoc in the village of Roquebruno and Vascque, resorts frequented by Americans in winter season. Material damage is reported to be tremendous and three lives were said to be lost.

The Prince as Canadian Farmer.

H.R.H. the Prince of Wales is to come to his Canadian farm this autumn for a greatly needed holiday. And who shall dare suggest he could have made a better choice? What has any country in the whole wide world to offer him on a holiday that Canada cannot give? We have every variety of climate, from tropical to Arctic. We have every type of scenery, from alpine heights to smiling valleys and rolling plains and jewelled lakeland. We have distance, color, silence. On his Alberta ranch he can follow his hobby of farming, which his record at Smithfield and other exhibitions shows he has patronized judiciously, in untrammelled freedom. Travelling officially incognito as the Duke of Cornwall, the popular Prince will find here all he could hope to find anywhere else—and a lot more besides. The Prince, being an observant young man, full of the best of life, loving the open air, a gallant sportsman and the first democrat of the Empire, and having his choice of the whole wide world in which to spend his holidays, elects to come to Canada, ostensibly to inspect his ranch, but we all know it for a fact—in reality because he has realized that of all the countries that spread themselves over this planet, Canada is THE land for him. We ought to be proud, and we are, for we have the same feelings ourselves!

Harmony Arrives From Labrador.

HAS QUANTITY OF FISH AND FURS ON BOARD.

The Mission ship S.S. Harmony, Captain Jackson, arrived from the Labrador at 10 a.m. yesterday. The Harmony left London on June 29 last, on her first trip for the season to the Northern settlements. The ship made a fair trip, having called at all the settlements as far North as Nain. Capt. Jackson reports the fishery only fair, while the trappers were also short after their season's work. The Harmony landed a cargo of supplies at the different posts, and Mr. and Mrs. Waldeman, who were home on furlough, were returned to their post. A staff of photographers for a number of the English papers, who also came out by the ship, were landed at Hebron. The ship is now discharging a quantity of fish and furs, and as soon as her freight is discharged she will load a full cargo of supplies for the various settlements.

Enjoyable Concert.

PORTIA'S PASSENGERS CONTRIBUTE TO MARINE DISASTERS' FUND.

On Tuesday night last a very enjoyable concert was held on board the Portia while at Jackson's Arm, on the trip North. The concert was held in the ship's saloon, and was attended by all the passengers. Mr. Fred Moore occupied the chair. The programme, which was of a very high order, consisted of songs, recitations, step dancing and included some very pleasing musical selections by the ship's orchestra. Amongst those who contributed to numbers are the following:—Miss Nellie, Hennesbury, Doris Willis, Florence Martin, Mary Moakler, Thomas Doherty, Sandy Lawrence, Jack Walsh and Percie Jardine. A collection in aid of the Marine Disasters Fund was taken up, which realized the sum of $22.73.

Personal.

Mrs. A. W. Parsons, of Everett, Mass., who, with her son and daughter has been visiting relatives in St. John's for the past month, came to the city by Saturday night's train and will remain for a few days visiting friends before leaving for her home in U.S.A.

Amongst those who accompanied the footballers to Grand Falls was Mr. L. Furlong, of Smithville. Although past the three score years and ten, he has taken keen interest in athletic events. While at Grand Falls he will pay a surprise visit to his brother, whom he has not seen for the past fifteen years.

The Rev. G. and Miss Lightbourn, who were spending a holiday at Trinity, returned by the Portia. His Lordship Bishop March, who was making his annual visitation North, came South by the Portia and disembarked at Bay de Verde.

Mr. D. and Mrs. Retz left by special train Saturday night to meet Sir Glyn and Lady West at Port aux Basques. After the party makes an inspection of the Humber Development, return to the city will be made on September 1st.

Banker in for Repairs.

The French banker Armoricain, arrived here yesterday from the Banks in a leaky condition. The ship has 6,000 qts. of fish on board, and it is expected she will have to discharge her cargo before going on dock to undergo the necessary repairs.

FISHERY REPORTS VERY ENCOURAGING ALONG FRENCH SHORE.

S.S. Portia, Capt. Field, arrived from the Northward at 1 p.m. yesterday after a fair trip of 11 days. Going North the ship met with very heavy weather, but the large number of round trippers who were on board, made their time as pleasant and enjoyable as possible. Capt. Field reports the fishery has improved on the French Shore and at St. Anthony. Quirpon, Cook's Hr., while the fish is very plentiful at Gray Island and Raleigh. The fishermen operating their traps in the latter sections have all that they can handle. A shortage of salt is reported in several places, but the necessary supplies are being forwarded from other centres. There is a good sign of fish at Nipper's Harbor, but further South there is very little doing. The Portia made a very good run on the return trip, bringing a small freight and the following passengers:—Messrs. W. J. Martin, M. G. Martin, George R. Martin, Albert Wadland, S. Newman, J. Walsh, M. J. Morris, T. Doherty, E. and J. Moakler, M. Hackett, F. H. Jardine, D. Nicholson, A. Lawrence, Rev. Lightbourn, J. Norris, Pigeon, H. Miller, J. Stockless, A. Cannan, W. Taffe, Capt. ### Bridge Demolished.

When one of the Mack motor buses was proceeding over a bridge, near Middle Pond, on the Bay Bulls Road, yesterday morning, the structure collapsed, and was completely demolished. In order to allow the many motors and other traffic to cross over, a number of men made temporary repairs, but even then it was very dangerous, and it is hoped the bridge will be replaced as soon as possible. At the time of the accident the bus was bringing a party of pioneers to Middle Pond.

Wallace Silverware.

Is your Table Silver as good to-day as when you bought it?

Have you noticed that at the parts most exposed to wear, the plate has become worn?

Do you think this condition of your Silver is in keeping with your idea of a well appointed table?

Then why not, when you decide on replacing your old ware, give place to it with the "Wallace" Brand, the Silver that refuses to wear and is guaranteed without time limit.

Start with the Tea Spoons and gradually complete your Set with the one pattern—there are several for you to choose from and the price is very moderate.

Tea Spoons cost $3.00 for a Dozen.
