

FIRE INSURANCE

The Fire Insurance Companies we represent and write a large amount of business for, are absolutely in the best class financially. The world's greatest Insurance authorities state that our Companies have "EXCELLENT MANAGEMENT and EXCELLENT LOSS PAYING RECORD," which is the highest financial Insurance compliment obtainable. Insurance placed with our Companies is Safe. The Tokio Marine and Fire Insurance Company, Limited (controlled by New York interests), has paid promptly to date in losses over ONE HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS. Its percentage of Assets over Liabilities is greater than that of any Fire Insurance Company operating in Newfoundland. The Westchester Fire Insurance Company has paid promptly to date in losses over SEVENTYMILLION DOLLARS

CHAPTER XIII.

The door, though thick and strong, was a clumsy, ill-made one. There was a chink between its hinge back and the lintel of an inch wide.

Through the crevice Jacques had a view of Antoine upon the floor and an uplifted arm behind the door. He uttered a loud cry, dropped the bottles, and tried to pull the door to again, but Clarence darted round and confronted him as he leveled a revolver. "Stand back!" he cried, in guttural, provincial French; "or I fire!"

"Fire away," said Clarence, and suddenly bending down he butted the man in the stomach, caught him by the legs and threw him to the ground; then, before he could recover himself farther than to allow of a volley of fearful oaths, up went the poker and down it came upon the heavy skull.

"There!" exclaimed the late prisoner. "Better to break your head, my fellow, than play billet to your bullet!" Then, thinking that he had better have the revolver, he picked it up, thrust it into the breast of his coat, hurried to the bedroom, snatched at a small parcel he had made up, and, casting a farewell look around his late prison, ran lightly down the stairs.

It was dark outside and a wet night. All the better for a chance of his escape. The more miserable the night the fewer the people to notice or arrest him.

Instantly making up his mind to take the road in continuance of that by which he was brought, judging that they would at once conclude he would try and return in the direction whence he had been smuggled, he set off at first very leisurely, then at a rapid pace.

The narrow streets were soon left behind and he entered upon a long row of shops. Then he paused.

He knew that the blows he had so liberally bestowed, though heavy ones, would not keep Jacques and Antoine quiet for very long, and that, well versed in the locality, they stood a very good chance of recovering him

FOR JOY OF GOOD HEALTH

Manitoba Woman Thanks Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Crandall, Manitoba—"When I was a young girl at home and working I had terrible pains, almost more than I could bear, and I was not regular. These troubles kept me so tired all the time that I had no strength and no ambition to join in with my friends and have a good time. I was just tired and miserable always and life just seemed as if it wasn't worth living. I got so much in the papers about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and then I had a friend who had taken it and told me about it, so I got some. I was in bed after taking it a few days and I soon did not suffer every month. It stopped the pains and helped me in other ways. Then when my babies were coming I was tired and worn out the first three months and ached badly. I took the Vegetable Compound right along and that day it made a new woman of me and able to do my work, and it helped me through confinement. I see I am a farmer's wife with a big house to look after, and three babies now. I have told ever so many women about your medicine. Just last week I got a letter from my old chum in the boat. Her baby was born fifteen days before mine, and she told me she was not feeling very well, her back aches so much, and that she is going to take the same medicine I took. You can use my letter if you wish."—Mrs. J. H. King, Box 54, Crandall, Manitoba.

memory, and, with a burst of joy, not unmixed with other emotions, he grasped the man's arm and exclaimed: "What! It is Will Stammers!"

The man uttered an ejaculation and started back. The next moment with a profound stare he jerked out, slowly: "Hang me, if it isn't Master Clifford! Bless my soul! sir, how do you come here?"

Clarence Clifford shook hands with him, and with a laugh that was not altogether a merry one, said: "Come, Will, I may ask you the same question, I think. How comes it that you have exchanged the stable yard at—at Rivershall for the deck of a Calais passage boat?"

"Well, you see, sir," he commenced—then pausing to remove his sweater and scratch his head, true English groom fashion—"I couldn't stop down there at Rivershall awaiting poor Mary die by inches. You remember little Marj, sir?"

"Ay!" said Clarence, stifling a sigh for other memories more his own.

"Well, we were engaged to be married, but the old doctor, Morecroft, said as she couldn't last, and—and I was very fond of her, Master Clifford—too fond of her to stop there watching of her fade away, so I run away."

His head dropped upon his breast, and his weather-beaten face was hidden for a minute or so, but suddenly he looked up, and in a husky voice said: "But, maybe, you can tell me, sir, whether—whether she be dead or not?"

"I?" said Clarence.

"Ay. When might you have been at the Hall last?"

Clarence stepped back and looked at him by the light of the lantern, but made no reply.

Will Stammers waited a moment, then looked surprised.

"Beant' you been at the Hall, sir?" he asked.

"Will, have you forgotten the morning when you and Jake and Ned rode after the tutor, who had been dismissed the house?"

The man nodded and laughed.

"Of course I do, sir," he said; "and a rare good joke, abegging of your pardon, it all was. Think as the squire should go and forget himself as to strike a gentleman like you and the man of his daughter's heart."

Clarence Clifford's face turned livid, and he held up his hand to silence the man, but honest Will either did not see the gesture or did not understand it.

"Ah!" he ran on; "what a tantivy there was up at the Hall when they found as you was gone, sir. Miss Lillian, she fell to a swooning and crying out, the squire he dashes about and starts a dozen of us after you, with 'Fetch him back, by the heels, if need be,' and ready to tear his hair out with vexation when we came back without you. But what am I thinking of, a-running on like this to you, sir, who knows it all better an' I do; but do tell me how they all be—Jack Drutt, confound his cantankerous skin; Mrs. Williams, and—"

"Merciful Heaven!" burst from the listener's lips, and stopped him.

"What—" he commenced.

But Clarence Clifford seized his arm with a grasp of iron and started him into silence.

"Man!" he exclaimed, desperately; "are you playing upon me, mocking me, or what?"

"Heaven forbid as I should presume to play upon my betters, Master Clifford!" replied the man, indignantly. "What ails ye?"

"Tell me, quick, plainly, without any beating about the bush," said Clarence

The wind rose, the rain pelted down and Will, the boatman, raised his voice and shouted:

"What do I mean! Why, bless the man, beant' you, the master of Rivershall and Miss Lillian's husband?"

Clarence Clifford staggered.

"It's your fault if you beant'!" continued the man, in his ear. "Weren't we sent after you because the young mistress was a-dying for you and Sir Ralph ready to marry her to you five minutes after we'd got you? Hadn't we to bring you back by the heels, if need be? What ails the man?"

DAPPER CRAWFORD BELIEVED TO BE SKATING ON THIN ICE.

Two special detectives reached town to-day, following rumors that Dapper Crawford, self-styled king of San Francisco's underworld, was here in hiding. They believe they are on the scent of this dangerous criminal, and that before many days the net will be thrown around him. Dapper Crawford is wanted for the alleged robbery of $200,000 from the Inter-Commerce Trust Bank, of San Francisco.

The robbery was committed under unusual circumstances. As a decoy, a black satchel was thrown over a wall, and was found by a Miss Rose Lore, who, being in the throes of poverty, hid the satchel and several weeks later, dug it up. It revealed only a lot of worthless metal washers and scraps of paper. Miss Lore returned the satchel to Harrison Breen, the bank's vice-president, but her explanation involved her deeply, and was sent to the reformatory. The $200,000 is missing, and is believed to be in the possession of Dapper Crawford.

The detectives hope to reach their quarry very soon, and if they succeed one of the most dangerous crooks in Christendom will be brought to book. Crawford is skating on thin ice, and when the detectives seize him, he will as it were have fallen through this dangerous ice.

"On Thin Ice" is the feature at the Majestic Theatre to-night when the patrons will see a great crook story with a smashing climax screened. Admission, twenty cents.

Rose Most Ancient Cultivate Plant

J. Horace McParland, editor of the American Rose Society's Annual, says that away back in that marvelous country, ancient Greece, in Athens, about 2,600 years ago, before the Christian era, the rose was first called the Queen of Flowers and that it is the oldest cultivated plant.

Rose—the name of this Queen of Flowers, has so impressed itself on the world's languages, this rose expert says that in 13 of them the word as we know it would be recognized by the same sound. The name brings, in 13 different languages, to the people speaking them, what Mr. McParland calls the "rose reaction." The languages in which the rose is always a Danish, Norwegian, Italian, Portuguese, Spanish, Russian, Latin, Swedish, Dutch and Bohemian. Of 497 roses originated in America since the days of George Washington barely one hundred are yet in commerce, and while 140 roses were introduced in all the world last year, but five were of American origin.

Premier Armstrong Tenders His Resignation—Abd-el-Krim Planning For a Supreme Effort Against the French—King George Congratulates Canada on the Agreement With B. W. I.

ARMSTRONG TENDERS HIS RESIGNATION.

HALIFAX, July 15. Hon. E. H. Armstrong, Premier of Nova Scotia, from his bed in the Victoria General Hospital, sent a letter to-day to the Lieutenant Governor of Nova Scotia resigning his premiership and the Liberal leadership of the Province, in accordance with the wishes of the people who returned forty Conservatives and only three Liberals in the provincial elections held June 25. Following receipt of the resignation, which was borne to Government House by Hon. W. J. O'Hearn, Attorney General, and Hon. A. S. MacMillan, Minister of Works and Mines, Lieutenant Governor Douglas visited Premier Armstrong's bedside for a conference, after which he summoned Hon. E. N. Rhodes, leader of the victorious party, to Government House. It is anticipated that Mr. Rhodes will be asked to form a government, and that he will present a slate of cabinet ministers to-morrow morning. The Liberal party had ruled in Nova Scotia for 43 years, and Hon. Mr. Armstrong had been Premier since he succeeded Hon. G. H. Murray in 1923. Only one of Mr. Armstrong's supporters in the last House was returned in the elections just held, Hon. William Chisholm, Minister of Works and Mines.

MINERS WON'T ACCEPT.

SCARBOROUGH, Eng., July 15. The Mine Workers' Federation to-day unanimously adopted resolutions refusing to accept the Government's court of inquiry into the mining dispute and refusing the coal mine owners' proposal for negotiations until the latter withdraw the notice terminating the present working agreement.

SYDNEY, July 15. The Government of New South Wales has refused to join the Australian Commonwealth in the suggested loan issue to be floated in the United States. Premier and Treasurer, J. T. Lang, expressed the view that it would be time to consider New York when he found London definitely closed to him.

KRIM PREPARING TO STRIKE.

FEZ, July 15. Abd-el-Krim, Rifian chief, is straining every resource in preparation to strike a blow against the French before the Franco-Spanish co-operation, arranged for at the Madrid Conference, becomes effective. All information gathered by the French Intelligence Service tends to bear out this assertion. The Rifians' propaganda is especially active and appears to be meeting with success, notably among the Touat and Berber in the Tass region, of which tribes further portions have gone over to Abd-el-Krim. Intermittent fighting continues all along the line. Although of a minor character it is extremely wearying upon the troops, who are suffering from heat and strain of constant vigilance.

GOVERNOR GENERAL IN THE NORTH.

PEACE RIVER, July 15. Heading northward to the fringe of the Arctic circle, Baron Byng of Vimy, Governor General of Canada and his party, reached Peace River by motor yesterday and left for Vermilion Chutes on the steamer Thomas this morning.

RATIFYING THE CANADIAN-U.S.A. TREATIES.

OTTAWA, July 15. Hon. Ernest LaPointe, Minister of Justice, will leave for Washington to-day to exchange ratification with the United States of four treaties approved

UNITED CHURCH PASTORS.

TORONTO, July 15. Despite the fact that many pulpits have been absorbed in the merger of the Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregationalist churches, there will soon be a dearth of pastors in the United Church, according to an announcement from the Church Union Bureau of Information.

THE KING PLEASUED WITH CANADA W.I. TREATY.

OTTAWA, July 15. In reply to a cable sent by the Canadian Government, informing His Majesty of the consummation of the West Indies Trade Agreement, King George V. has cabled the Canadian Prime Minister his pleasure at the signing of the Trade Treaty and expressed gratification at the successful conclusion of the Canadian-West Indies conference.

SCOTT MUST HANG.

SPRINGFIELD, July 15. Governor Small to-day refused to commute the death sentence of Russell T. Scott, formerly a prominent Canadian financier, who will be hanged next Friday for the murder of Joseph Maurer, a Chicago drug clerk.

SERIOUS FLOODS IN KOREA.

TOKIO, July 15. Despatches to the Japanese newspapers agree that the floods reported in South and Central Korea are more serious than usual. A number of persons have been drowned.

RECORD HIGH TEMPERATURES UNPRECEDENTED.

CHICAGO, July 15. Heat records continue to be broken in the Middle West and Rocky Mountain areas and weather bureau guardians are having to dig back into dusty files to find marks approaching the present wave. At Wichita Falls, Texas, the official temperature yesterday was 109, while marks of 100 to 106 were common in Texas. Phoenix, Arizona, touched 108, but even this figure was a 6 degrees drop from Sunday. No immediate relief was predicted.

ORGANIZING FOR A GENERAL ELECTION.

WINNIPEG, July 15. In the belief that a Dominion election will be held in the near future, representative Liberals in Manitoba met in conference in Winnipeg to-day and organized for the fray. It was decided to call a convention on July 29th.

PLUCKY ACT BY BANK MANAGER'S WIFE.

ST. CATHARINE'S, Ont., July 15. Matt Koldise, an employee of the Queenstown Quarry Company, St. David's, died in hospital here to-day, as the result of a shot received when he was attempting to rob the Bank of St. David's, during the night. Koldise is said to have first entered the home of Dr. Dugan, and later, after succeeding in entering the Bank, was accosted by Manager Rogers, whom he shot but only slightly injured. Mrs. Rogers, wife of the manager, came upon the scene at this stage and shot the man, inflicting the fatal wound.

TENNESSEE'S CASE.

COURT ROOM, Dayton, Tenn., July 15. Judge John T. Raulston, to-day denied a defence motion to quash the indictment against John T. Scoopes. The judge's decision upheld the constitutionality of the Tennessee anti-evolution law. The motion to quash was made on Monday and the day was spent in argument. Judge Raulston was occupied all yesterday in writing the decision which was voluminous. It took up each contention of the defence and ruled the defendant would be required to plead further.

INJURED IN GAS EXPLOSION.

MONCTON, N.B., July 15. Mrs. Greta Phillips and John Phillips, Provincial Constable, were seriously injured at 1:15 o'clock to-day, in a gas explosion which wrecked the front room of Mrs. Phillips' home, buckling out the side walls and driving them over six inches from the sills. A hole, almost a foot in diameter was blown in the interior wall of the room by the force of the blast, which was followed by fire. Both victims were taken to hospital where it was said Mrs. Phillips is not expected to live.

BIG BAND OF COUNTERFEITERS ARRESTED.

NEW YORK, July 15. The arrest of eight alleged counterfeiters in Brooklyn during the past 18 hours made a total of 80 arrested by local secret service agents in what was described as one of the most extensive counterfeiting plots ever uncovered in this country. Eleven girls were among the 80 arrested.

THE PARLIAMENTARIANS VISIT.

LONDON, July 15. A number of members of the British House of Commons will shortly proceed to Canada, thus adopting the advice given them as members of the United Kingdom Branch of Empire Parliamentary Association by Premier Baldwin, to extend their knowledge of other parts of the world when the House of Commons is not in session. They will leave England on September 19th. Right Hon. Ramsay MacDonald, former Premier, expects to leave for Canada on October 2nd.

ATTACK ON MOIST TREATY FAILS.

NEW YORK, July 15. A test attack upon the so-called Moist Treaty with Great Britain, which permits vessels of foreign registry to bring liquor under seal into United States ports, failed yesterday when Federal Judge Mack ruled that the Federal Courts are without power to compel prosecution officers to enforce penal laws.

Don't Buy Inferior Soap

Free Carbonate is the analytical chemist's term for soda ash. It is added to soap to give it strength and to lower its value, but as it is worth no more than two cents per pound; you waste your money when you buy it at soap prices. Always buy Sunlight Soap which is REAL SOAP, sold under a Five thousand dollar guarantee of purity.—July 16, 23, 30

Belvedere Garden Party

The annual garden party in aid of Belvedere Orphanage, which took place yesterday, proved successful from every standpoint. The grounds were gaily bedecked with hunting, and the stalls containing refreshments, flowers and articles of every description presented an inviting appearance. The side shows, such as the fish pond, grabbing, etc., were an added attraction, and proved to be a good source of revenue. Amongst the many visitors who were present were his Grace Archbishop Roche, Rt. Rev. Mons. McDermott, the priest of the city and nearby outposts, and the Christian Brothers. The Mount Cashel Band rendered a select programme of music during the afternoon, which did much to add to the enjoyment of those present. A series of football fives were run off during the afternoon, and in the finals the Holy Cross team came out victorious, winning a set of handsome gold medals. The games played and the results were:

T.A., 2—Gaelic, 0.

Wesley, 2—Mt. Cashel, 0.

B.I.S., 2 1 corner—C.Y.M.C., 0.

Holy Cross, 1 corner—Wesley, 0.

B.I.S., 2 corners—T.A., 0.

Holy Cross, 1 goal, 1 corner—B.I.S., 0.

The grand finale to the day's proceedings was the dance that was held in the recreation hall at night. The Prince's Orchestra rendered the music for a programme that gave genuine satisfaction to all. The whole affair was very successful, and the promoters are to be congratulated on their commendable efforts on behalf of the Orphans.

Pears' for Health and Beauty

Pears' Golden Series of toilet articles, as supplied to their Majesties King George and Queen Mary and to His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, must necessarily be the choice of Ladies and Gentlemen everywhere. The toilet articles which comprise Pears' Golden Series and which have so justly merited the approval of royalty, are unquestionably of first class quality; the containers indeed are not as ornate and expensive as certain continental productions; but they are at least in good taste, and Messrs. Pears are satisfied to cater to Ladies and Gentlemen who prefer to have value inside, rather than outside the container. The Toilet articles selected for Pears' Golden Series are: Pears' Talcum Powder in Pink and White.

Pears' Nail Crayon and Cream.

Pears' Brilliantine.

Pears' Baby Powder.

Pears' Shaving Sticks.

Pears' Dental Cream.

Pears' Shaving Powder.

Pears' Compact Complexion Powder.

Pears' Vanishing Cream.

All the above articles are exquisitely perfumed and are the result of 133 years' experience in manufacturing high class products. You will find each the best of its kind and well worthy of your approval. In addition to the above articles, you may obtain Pears' Shaving Brushes, guaranteed free from anthrax. Each brush is packed in an individual cellophane and sells for $2.25. A Pears' Shaving Brush will last a lifetime. Do you use Pears' Soap? For 133 years Pears' Soap has been the favourite of Ladies and Gentlemen.—July 16, 31th

Little Jack Rabbit

by David Cory

"Now, I'll tell the secret," promised little chap and at noon takes a nap. He'll be husky and strong before very long."

Goodness me, Little Readers. The old elephant is spouting poetry, isn't he? Although "Remmy," my typewriter, neglected to put it in verse. Very careless of him. Yes, indeed.

The next minute Uncle John Hare hopped into the log cabin, and while the Ragged Rabbit Giant looked in through the open door, the bunny boy opened his knapsack and took out a lollypop.

"That is, if it doesn't interfere with my performance in Uncle Lucky's circus. I couldn't do anything to which he wouldn't agree. No, siree. For Uncle Lucky's too good to me."

"I wouldn't expect you to," I answered. "Mr. Lucky Lefthandfoot is a good friend of mine. Why, I have a lot of money in his bank in Ragbitville."

"Don't explain further," quickly replied the Circus Elephant. "Tell me what you want me to do."

"Then I told him I had found a baby elephant. Maybe it had strayed from a travelling circus, or perhaps it had fallen out of a circus car. At any rate, I asked him to take care of it. And as soon as I had finished the log cabin, I brought the baby elephant over here. Yes, I carried it all the way from my castle on the Tiptop, Skyhigh Mountain."

As the Ragged Rabbit Giant finished, the little rabbit, with a shout, hopped over to the log cabin to knock on the door with his red-striped candy cane. The next minute, the Circus Elephant, a broad smile beaming all over his face, turned the knob. With a hop-tidy the bunny boy jumped right in the middle of the room. There at a table sat the baby elephant, a bit tucked under his chin and a big bowl of cereal in front of him.

"Ha, ha!" laughed the big Circus Elephant, turning to the little rabbit, whose eyes were nearly popping out of his head. "There's our little secret. Watch him eat cereal. A bushel a day makes him frisky and gay. He's a good granted some years ago for use as a rifle range. It is questionable if all the original grant is still public property. Canada-West Indies Agreement

MUTUAL TARIFF PREFERENCES ARE FEATURE OF PACT.

OTTAWA, July 9.—Improved steamship services and mutual tariff preferences are the features of the "Canada-British West Indies-Bermuda-British Guiana-British Honduras trade agreement," the full text of which was made public here and abroad last night. The agreement, which is subject to the ratification of the Parliament of Canada, the Colonial Office and the governments of the other contracting parties, is for a period of twelve years, and will come into effect upon proclamation.

Canada under the agreement extends tariff preferences on bananas, coconuts, pineapples, limes, arrowroot, cocoa butter, grapefruit, rum, onions, cocoa butter, green coffee, ginger and spices, nutmeg, pineapple, sugar, marine sponges, angostura bitters. All goods other than tobacco, cigars, cigarettes and spirituous or alcoholic liquors, being produced or manufactured in any of the colonies mentioned, when imported to Canada shall not at any time be subject to a tariff more than 50 per cent of the duties imposed on similar goods under the general tariff of Canada.

Jamaica, the Bahamas, British Honduras, Barbados, Trinidad and British Guiana give Canada preferences on flour, butter, cheese, lard, condensed milk, meats of all kinds, fish, apples, and potatoes, boots, cement, prepared cocoa, confectionery cordage.

The agreement as signed provides for two steamship services. First a fortnightly freight, passenger and mail service from Canadian ocean ports all the year round, calling each way at Bermuda, St. Kitts, Nevis, Antigua, Montserrat, Dominica, St. Lucia, Barbados, St. Vincent, Granada, Tobago, Trinidad, and Demerara.

The vessels in this service are to be from 5,000 to 6,000 tons, capable of a speed of not less than 12 knots, and providing accommodation for 100 first class, 30 second class, and 100 steerage passengers, and with a cold storage accommodation of not less than 10,000 cubic feet. In addition to the foregoing Canada will provide a fortnightly freight service with vessels of about 4,300 tons, and a speed of 10 knots from Canada river ports in summer and ocean ports in winter, calling at St. Kitts, Antigua, Barbados, Trinidad and Demerara. All freight rates are to be subject to the control of the Canadian Government.

Towards this service the Barbados, Bermuda, British Guiana, Leeward Islands, Trinidad and Windward Islands will contribute £29,000 annually.

Provide Mail Service.

Second, the Government of Canada also undertakes to provide fortnightly mail, passenger and freight service between St. Lawrence ports in summer and other Canadian ports in winter, calling both ways at Bermuda, the Bahamas, and Kingston, Jamaica, alternating with fortnightly freight services between the Canadian ports and Kingston direct. The passenger steamers for this service will be similar to those mentioned in the former service, with accommodation for 100 first

Wild Scenes at a Fight

CROWD HUSH TO RINGSIDE—IZZARD LOSES HIS CHAMPIONSHIP.

By TREVOR C. WIGNALL.
After one of the most remarkable scenes ever seen in a British boxing hall Harry Mason, of Leeds, was last night, at Holland Park, London, given the decision over Ernie Izzard, of London, in the 9th round of a contest for the Lonsdale belt and the British and European light-weight championships. Izzard was the British champion.

The confusion was so great that the official ruling of Colonel Middleton, the referee, will not be known until an announcement is made by the National Sporting Club, under whose auspices the fight was staged. It is understood that he decided in favour of Mason on the grounds that Izzard's seconds remained in the ring after the bell had rung for the 9th round.

Free Fights.

All that need be said on this point is that other people, besides Izzard's attendants, were inside the ropes when the signal was given for the round to be started.

Not since the late Jim Driscoll fought Freddy Welsh at Cardiff over 12 years ago have I witnessed so threatening a scene.

Passions were roused to such an extent that the ringside was quickly invaded and free fights were general all over the building. It was a case of heads being lost everywhere, but fortunately reason prevailed after about ten minutes, and the hall was cleared of its more dangerous elements before the final contest was put on.

Izzard Punished.

It was midway in the 8th round that frenzy was given its opportunity. Izzard was suddenly dropped by Mason with a left hook to the chin. Immediately there was pandemonium, which was only increased when at the call of 8 sec. Izzard shakily rose to his feet.

To everyone's surprise Izzard came back after his fourth count, seemingly fresh. He danced about and avoided the blows that were shot at him with such apparent ease that for a moment it appeared as though his shakiness had been a ruse. When the bell rang to end the round he was still on his feet.

As soon as the bell sounded again Mason darted out of his corner, pushed over one of Izzard's seconds who sought to intercept him, and made as though to strike Izzard, who was still sitting on his stool. Colonel Middleton thereupon waved Mason away and declared him the victor.

The only non-excited person in the place at that moment was Izzard. His conqueror was chiefly engaged in kissing his friends or the praying-shawl which he had draped over the post in his corner.

Baldwin Ministry Struggling With Troubles Galore

CABINET SITTING DAILY DEALING WITH MENACING PROBLEMS.

CHAMBERLAIN'S RETIREMENT TALKED AS TORIES SEEK RECONSTRUCTION.

LONDON, July 9.—(R.U.P. Cable).—Not for many years has a British Government been beset with so many difficulties and troubles as the present Baldwin Ministry. Throughout the week, the Cabinet has been sitting daily discussing the most urgent and menacing problems, such as the coal crisis, the situation in India, the problem of China, the question of relations with Russia, the Security Pact, and Allied Debts, as well as the possibility of transport trouble.

The least of these troubles is enough to break a Ministry of ordinary strength, but Premier Baldwin is in the comfortable position of enjoying a large majority. The chief of his troubles is coming from his own Tory back-benchers who are asking whether they are going, and are demanding some kind of Cabinet reconstruction. This might result in the oft-touted retirement of Austen Chamberlain being realized. At present there is nothing more definite than talk of his withdrawal.

Americans Desert French Wives Wholesale

IN CHARGE IN PARIS

PARIS, July 10.—Twenty-seven wives of Americans were abandoned in France last month, according to Paris newspapers. It is asserted American husbands send their French wives to Europe for a vacation, promising to keep them well supplied with money, but this is only a pretext for getting rid of them.

No money comes to women who have been thus deserted and stranded, and often they are not even informed that meanwhile they have been divorced by their husbands on grounds of desertion of their homes.

Figures are quoted to show 1,000 out of 5,000 Franco-American marriages since the armistice have ended this way. French authorities have been asked to take up the matter with Washington.

MINARD'S LINIMENT USED BY PHYSICIANS.

Medical Association Convention

(Concluded.)

The pathology of preventive medicine opens a far larger field than of curative medicine. Consider one point alone. While the Great War was on we had an opportunity to take a physical census of our population, and we found only one man in three fit for general service. Of the enormous number of rejections, over 200,000 in Canada alone, 90 per cent were unfit because of disabilities which should have been remedied in childhood.

The relation of the doctor to the public is much more complex to-day than ever before. The public are demanding more from the profession. They are supporting hospitals, sanatoria, clinics, district, school and health nursing services, and kindred operations to an extent difficult to realize. So much is the public contributing to the cost of all this health work, it is rather surprising we have not heard more of State Medicine.

Several years ago Sir Arthur Newholfe published an article entitled, "The Increasing Socialization of Medicine," which in its concluding paragraphs undertakes to summarize the obligations of the profession in this ever enlarging field of preventive medicine. I cannot do better than to quote him freely. He says: "It is, I think, clear that the State will year by year take an increasing hand in medical matters. It is useless, even if it were desired, to attempt to oppose the inevitable and the eminently desirable trend towards vastly increased utilization by the state of medical science in the interests of humanity. It is for physicians to guide the course of events and to insure that no plant is sown which will afterwards need to be uprooted; that no development is permitted which will hinder the fulfilment of our ideal. Personal hygiene forms a rapidly increasing part of public health work; hence it is indispensable that all forms of public medical service shall be linked up with the public health service and controlled locally and centrally in accordance with this. This may imply, and in England it does imply—the urgent need of reform and reconstruction of local as well as of central public health administration; but to attempt to separate medical from public health provision is to repeat the blunders which, despite skilled advice to the contrary, have been made on two great historic occasions.

A complete service, adequate to the needs of the community, cannot be secured by a session's legislation. It must grow as the result of steady advance. The motto in growth might well be, "First things first." What are the medical services which are provided too sparsely at the present time and for which the masses of the population cannot afford individually to pay, except possibly to a fractional extent? There can be no doubt as to the answer. What is the most urgently needed is the provision of hospital beds, for every patient who can be more satisfactorily treated in hospital than at home. Next to this comes the provision of gratuitous medical services, (e.g., maternity and infant consultations, eye, throat, ear, skin or venereal disease, tuberculosis, X-Ray Departments) preferably linked around a hospital, where patients can be sent by private practitioners for an expert opinion, or in certain cases may present themselves independently. And as important as either of the preceding desiderata, is the provision of a complete nursing service, on which each private practitioner can call for assistance as required, payment, if any is exacted, being on the easiest possible conditions, and not made compulsory.

Then he concludes.—There is needed a reconstruction of the training of each medical student, which will make preventive medicine in its widest sense an integral part of his training, and will ensure that before he begins practice he has definite instruction in the application of the whole of his knowledge to preventive purposes. The past conception by the public in the relation of medical men to the community—apart from the special case of medical officers—has been mistaken. The doctor has been regarded as a help when serious or acute incapacitating illness occurs, but he has but seldom had the opportunity of giving advice in the earliest and more controllable stages of illness. His training has been conducted on the assumption that his chief role should be on present lines, with the result that most medical practitioners enter into practice with a too scanty knowledge of hygiene and preventative medicine, and have to learn slowly and in belated experience the influence of environment on the health of their patients. The teaching of medicine should be much more largely physiological and hygienic than at present, and such subjects as food values, the hygiene of infancy and childbirth, the physiology of breast feeding, and the influence of environment on the health of their future patients should be the subject of careful training—especially in regard to housing, feeding, clothing, and conditions of work. Were this done, the ideal condition, in which each medical practitioner becomes a medical officer of health in the range of his own practice, would approach realization.

Many medical practitioners already fulfil this ideal. It would often be realized were it not for the excessive work which many are obliged to undertake. In the early history of public health in England, poor law medical officers, attending the impoverished in their dwellings and familiar with their home conditions, became part time medical officers of health. But this attempt to combine prevention and treatment proved unsuccessful, because these officers visited only a small proportion of the dwellings of the poor, because they were not trained in preventive work, and because the good seed of preventive work was choked by the increasing demands of lucrative private practice. In connection with the future of general medical service, curative as well as preventive, it is not beyond the range of human ingenuity to provide schemes for district medical officers (health and clinical) adequately trained in public health work, and linked up closely with the hospital and dispensary unit for their area.

This will cost money, but sound health is our greatest personal and national asset, and disease is always more expensive than health. "Who winds up days with toil, and nights with sleep" had "the forehead and vantage of the King," if the latter suffers in body and mind. The real wealth of a nation does not consist in its money, in the volume of its trade, or in the extent of its dominion. These are only valuable in so far as the help to maintain a population—and not only a portion of it—of the right quality; men, women and children possessing bodily vigor, alert mind, firm character, courage and self control. This idea can never be realized unless and until the medical men of the future train themselves for and devote themselves to their essential share in its fulfilment, and while keeping this ideal in view see to it that every step taken is one which will be consistent with the complete scheme of the future.

To accomplish these ideals to the greatest possible extent, constitutes, in my mind,—"The Ethics of Medical Organization."

Forty Bodies Taken From Ruins of Once Gay Dancing Resort

DEBRIS REVEALS STRANGE STORIES, AS SEARCHERS FIND VICTIMS OF DISASTER—MARRIED MAN FOUND IN DEAD ARMS OF ANOTHER WOMAN—GIRL'S PASTHETIC FATE—POLICE SHOOT LOOTER—THE INVESTIGATION OF THE DISASTER BEGINS.

Boston, July 6.—The forty-fourth body was taken from the wreck of the Pickwith Club, once gay night resort, at five-twenty this morning, just fifty hours after the throng of "Night before the Fourth" revelers were flung down and buried with the collapse of the building.

All night long the search had gone forward. Under the concentrated glare of dozens of arc lamps an army of men had patiently brick by brick, stick after stick, worked their way down through the mass of debris, pausing now and again to lift another unfortunate.

By this morning, they had found the bodies of nearly all who had been reported missing.

The body of Miss Edith Cauley was brought out pitifully bruised. In her dress they found the money for which she smiled away the broad handings of the guests that she might realize her hope of marriage and a home.

Frank Tillo and Neddó Flanagan, who had won many local ring battles, were found. Inspector Benjamin Alexander, of the Boston police, who had thought to add another arrest to the several made at the club, died in the wreckage. Some of the bodies found were of persons paying their first visit to the club, others were those of habitués. Johnnie Scates and John Duffey, for the last time had wandered singing between the tables while drinks were pressed upon them and silver showered on the dance floor.

The debris whispered a strange story. One man, his wife's picture in the pocket over his heart, was found in the dead arms of another woman. Once and again a work-er picked up a bottle of spirits or whiskey unbroken by a force that wrecked so many lives.

There remained much work to be done. There were several untouched pockets that might hold bodies. Early last night the discoveries came in quick succession, so that the total of known dead rose rapidly from 19 to 27. Then the work was more difficult. It took sometimes an hour to extricate a body after it was located. Great masses of foundation stone pressed down upon them and had to be lifted by derrick.

Practically all of the bodies have been identified by the throng which has gathered at the mortuary ever since the catastrophe. At no time have the streets about the scene been clear of watchers. Yesterday the police shot one man and arrested three others whom they said they found looting the cloakroom of the

THE NEW CHRYSLER FOUR

WALTER P. CHRYSLER TELLS ABOUT IT.

Far ahead in power, speed, fuel mileage, beauty; in safety, ease, and complete and perfect roadability. First car of its price with the option of hydraulic four-wheel brakes.

88 P.C. MORE POWER THAN OFFICIAL RATING.

"When I say that for the second time—now in the Chrysler Four as notably as in the Chrysler Six—Chrysler engineering has gone far ahead of prevailing practice, this is what I mean in practical results:

"The new Chrysler Four engine has an official S.A.E. rating of 81.08 horse-power.

"Yet it actually delivers 88.5 horse-power—88 per cent more power—certainty and performance than its official rating."

"Mr. Chrysler how do you get such extraordinary performance in a four-cylinder car?"

"How is it done? By uniform distribution of the fuel to the cylinders, by complete combustion, by perfect valve action, by providing for the most efficient operating temperature.

"You can drive this car all day long under heavy load, or at top speed, and the engine will not over-heat. The ample capacity of the cooling system, the generous water-jacketing of the cylinder walls and valve ports, are a sure safeguard.

"And for engine lubrication we use the positive, full-force feed which sends a continuous flow of oil under pressure to all main bearings, and through drilled passages in the crankshaft, to the connecting rod bearings.

"We believe it is well worth the cost to have a cushion of oil at these points, rather than the metal to metal contact and the rapid wear which are the common results of splash oiling.

BETTER LUBRICATION WITH NO MORE OIL.

"Nowhere in the Chrysler Four engine is lubrication left to the uncertainty of the older splash method. For example, from the connecting rods, oil is sprayed directly to the piston skirts and cylinder walls—a point which ordinarily is poorly lubricated by oil mist or splash from the crank-case. A special oil-proof ring on each piston serves to keep oil out of the combustion chamber. The engine gears are constantly bathed in a positive and direct flow of oil.

"All in all, the engine is far more efficiently lubricated and there is no increase in oil consumption. Another important result which has its foundation in the special selection of materials and in fine workmanship, is the very unusual quietness of Chrysler Four engine operation. I believe there has never been a four which delivers its powers so smoothly and sweetly."

"How have you disposed of the vibration which many engineers call the bugbear of the four-cylinder engine?"

"We balance all rotating parts, and all reciprocating parts. The crankshaft is heavy and rigid. The pistons and connecting rods are light.

"The parts which revolve—crankshaft, clutch hub, and flywheel—are all dynamically balanced to limits of a small fraction of an ounce. Then the connecting rod and piston assemblies are matched to the hundredth part of an ounce.

"But Chrysler engineers do not stop there. They go full length to isolate even the slightest trace of vibration.

"They mount the front end of the engine on a floating platform spring. The usual rigid bolting of the engine to the chassis frame at the front end is entirely lacking.

"Then the fastenings of the rear engine arms to the chassis have rubber bushings and pads interposed so that there is no metal-to-metal contact, literally cushioning the engine on rubber at that point.

"These two unusual practices mean complete insulation against vibration of the engine in the chassis frame.

"There is no chance for rattle or tremor to reach the body of the car or its occupants; and we are confident that no four-cylinder engine has ever before been so smooth in its operation.

Suggestions for Improving Our Industry

Our remarks on the fishing industry during the past week have dealt, not so much with the actual methods of catching, cleaning, curing and marketing the product, which is a matter for experts, as with the underlying principles and the extent to which they have been observed or disregarded.

The urgent need for action by which the industry can be placed on a firmer foundation has been stressed, and our arguments, we believe, have been substantiated by the evidence submitted of indifference, lack of initiative, and objectionable practices.

In order to stimulate the interest of the producer, we have constantly been told that the Government should give a far greater measure of assistance to the industry. To the enquiry as to what form the assistance should take, the answer in most cases has been, "Give the fishermen a bounty." Having always been sceptical as to the professed merits of the bounty system, we have given the matter some consideration and admit frankly that our view has not changed. An excellent bait to catch votes, an expedient employed by a Government unwilling to face or incapable of dealing with the real difficulties of the problem, the bounty system mainly results in giving financial aid to the individual with one hand and taking it back with interest with the other. It robs Peter to pay Paul where the person concerned is both Peter and Paul. It lends itself too easily to abuses; it tends to kill initiative; it is really nothing more than a stimulant, and it only relieves the burden of one section by adding to the burden of another. In one case only should it be resorted to, and that is in a case of emergency. It was tried in the fisheries around the English coast and abandoned, and, we understand, within a short time it will cease to be paid by the French Government.

We are under no misapprehension as to the use that will be made sooner or later of our remarks in this connection. Politically it may be unwise to utter them; it may not even be tactful, but, as may already have been observed, in dealing with the problem of our industry, we have not taken into account individual or party considerations, but have attempted solely to consider it as a national one to which the efforts of all must be directed if a solution is to be found.

Feasible suggestions have from time to time appeared in the Press whereby public funds might be expended to advantage in connection with the fisheries. Norway has made the study of the fisheries a part of her educational system. So should we. Canada has her biological station which is engaged in marine research work, and schools have been established to provide instruction on all matters pertaining to the industry. The public funds of the Colony might be expended in this direction with little fear of their being diverted from the main object. Again, the necessity for bait depots has frequently been emphasized, but unfortunately without having the desired effect. Apart from the efforts made by a few individual firms to introduce new methods in the handling of our staple products, little or nothing has been done to improve upon the system which has operated for centuries. Instead of virility there is stagnation. Instead of progress in recent years there has been retrogression. Trace the history of any industry abroad and we find it marked by methods introduced to increase output, to improve quality, to facilitate handling, to practice economy; and in order to effect these improvements the latest scientific knowledge has been applied. In some instances the substitution of machinery for manual labour has been for a time strenuously resisted by the workman, but in due course he has discovered that the change has not only lightened his labour, but has resulted in increasing employment. In order to bring about these desirable changes the sympathy and practical support of the Government are essential.

Since the first of these articles on the fisheries appeared we have been privileged to examine the plans of an interesting salting and drying device for which a patent has been applied by Messrs. Smeaton and Churchill of this city. Those experienced in the fish business, to whom the plans have been submitted, are most favourably impressed with the invention, and if it turns out to be as great a success as they predict, it may prove a decisive factor in overcoming many of our present difficulties. We congratulate these gentlemen on their ingenuity and enterprise and trust that they will receive every encouragement to test its value.

Already certain artificial driers have proven conclusively the feasibility of the method, and no doubt experience will teach how they can be improved upon. If their use became general, the quality of the cure would no longer be dependent upon weather conditions; the fishing season could be considerably extended; the frequent delay between the time of catching and curing, the fish would not occur; the carelessness in curing, in the anxiety to get back to the fishing grounds would cease; the fisherman's work would be on a cash basis, and in consequence the supply system would become to a great extent unnecessary, and by the establishment of these centralized depots, a standardised cure would be assured.

In concluding these articles on our fishing industries by suggesting certain lines along which action both by private individuals and the Government appears possible, we should like to explain that our one idea is to focus public attention on our greatest source of natural wealth, to lead others who know far more about the subject to express their seasoned views, and above all to make it clear that not by a long way has the whole field of development of the industry been explored.

Let us turn such talents as we possess to their full account by showing greater faith in them. Wealth there is in abundance in our waters, but it requires all our energy and all our enterprise if we are to secure it. In this way only can we stabilize the industry and improve the living conditions of our toilers.

Dangerous Motoring

"The lives of the public have to be preserved, and it is high time the Courts took a line which will relieve the public of the danger of such people as you," said Mr. R. E. Dummett, the Marylebone magistrate, when fining Keith Wilson Hardway, a doctor's chauffeur, £12 and 2s costs for dangerous driving at Hampstead. His license was also suspended for three months. It was said that Hardway drove along Primrose Hill Road in the afternoon at 35 or 40 miles an hour. "PERFECT" Baking Powder, though said—July 15/25

Yesterday's Meeting of the Medical Association

At yesterday's meeting of the Newfoundland Medical Association, the subject dealt with was Tuberculosis, which, both from a public and professional standpoint, is a matter of paramount importance in connection with the health of this country.

An address on "early diagnosis Pulmonary Tuberculosis" delivered by Dr. E. E. Miller, Superintendent of the Kentville Sanatorium, who is recognized as an eminent authority on the disease throughout the whole of America. During the course of his address, tables of statistics were submitted to illustrate the prevalence of tuberculosis in the Canadian provinces and in Newfoundland, and a demonstration was given by means of X-Ray plates showing the disease in its various stages.

The lecturer dealt fully with the methods to be followed in making an early diagnosis, and also explained in detail the treatment followed both in the Sanatorium and outside.

After the conclusion of the address a general discussion took place, and the questions addressed to the lecturer were fully indicative of the intense interest with which his remarks had been followed, and of the high opinion in which his views on the matter were held.

Not only the members of the medical profession but the whole country are under a great obligation to Dr. Miller for his visit and for the valuable information that he has given on this subject. We trust that the address will be available for publication in full in to-morrow's issue of the Telegram.

C. of E. Orphanage Garden Party

The gentlemen workers in connection with the C. of E. Orphanage Garden Party, which will be held next Wednesday, meet at the C. L. B. Armoury this evening at 8.15. It is hoped there will be a large attendance as many matters in connection with the success of the event will be discussed. The needs of the institution are greater today than ever, and consequently a greater effort to make the event a huge financial success is being made.

British Teachers to Tour Dominion

A party of 45 English educationalists, teachers and members of education committees will arrive in Montreal on August 2 to tour Canada under the auspices of the League of the Empire, with which is associated the Imperial Union of Teachers. As the holidays of teachers in England during the summer are comparatively short, a month in the case of elementary school teachers—the tour will be a short one, and one day only, August 2, will be spent in this city. Arrangements for the day include a visit to McGill University and to other places of interest, and their headquarters for the day will be the Windsor Hotel.

Montreal will be the first Canadian city to be visited by the teachers, Quebec being visited on the return journey.

Fishery Statistics

The first report of a systemized method of collecting fishery statistics has just been issued by the Fisheries Board, operating under the Marine & Fisheries Department. The report, which covers a period of May up to the end of June, gives a total of 139,243 qts of fish exclusive of Labrador. The statistics are condensed from cable reports confirmed by letter sent in at the end of the month by inspectors appointed for the purpose. Each inspector in addition to collecting statistics, police the lobster grounds and keep a look out for violations of the cod, salmon and herring fishery laws. The report is as follows:—

Table with columns for location and quantity. Includes entries for Burin (39,620), St. Barbe, Englee Section (776), St. Barbe, Bonne Bay Section (4,560), Burgeo LaPoile District (5,270), Trinity Bay, North (1,855), Trinity Bay, South (1,538), Placentia Bay (9,895), St. Mary and Trepassay (3,675), Bay de Verde and Vicinity (5,675), Conception Bay (3,870), Ferryland District (2,600), St. Georges District (3,823), Fogo District (3,150), Twillingate District (3,260), Bonavista District (1,095), St. John's and Vicinity (18,830), Fortune Bay District (33,142), Total (139,234), Labrador, not including floaters (17,140).

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

THE POPE ADDRESSES VISITORS IN ENGLISH. ROME, July 15. The Pope, for the first time, delivered a short address in English, while receiving to-day a party of 90 Pilgrims from Detroit and Chicago, who were conducted by Father Claude Mindorf, of Cincinnati, Ohio. The Pontiff made his speech in an undertone to Father Mindorf who repeated the words to the Pilgrims.

CARDINAL BEGIN DYING.

QUBEC, July 15. Completely paralyzed from his head to his feet on the right side of his body and almost unable to speak, Cardinal Bege, the Roman Catholic Primate of all Canada, is dying in the Archbishop's Palace here to-night. Stricken with uremia on Sunday last, the 85-year-old Prelate is aided only by his sturdy pioneer constitution in his fight for life. The meagre reports of his condition given out at the Palace, stated at noon today that his condition was very serious, and to-night that it was a little worse. It is not expected that he will survive the week, and the prayers of the faithful throughout Canada and the United States have been asked on his behalf. His Eminence was in good health and was active in the duties of his office until Sunday last, when he journeyed to St. Nazaire to bless a corner stone. Returning to his Palace in the afternoon he collapsed.

LABRADOR MOSQUITOES MAKE WAR ON MACMILLAN'S CREW.

HALIFAX, N.S., July 15. The crew of the Bowdoin, one of Commander Donald MacMillan's Arctic exploration vessels now beached at Hopdale, Labrador, to have a new propeller attached, have been kept busy fighting mosquitoes, and spend their spare time swimming in the water of a temperature of 52 degrees and playing baseball with the Eskimos. According to an account of their trip picked up here to-night by local radio fan, the despatch said some of the crew slung themselves high up in the masts to sleep free from the mosquitoes. Work was progressing on the vessel and the crew was reported all well.

RIFFIAN MENACE GROWING.

TETUAN, Morocco, July 15. Despatches from the French zone tell of several attempts by the Rebel Tribesmen to break through the newly established land blockade. The attacks revealed the presence among the rebels of Fichtla Tribesmen who heretofore have been considered neutral. Newspapers published in the Protectorate are of the opinion that the rebellion is growing. They state the fact that the French forces are limited to defensive tactics, and counsel a rapid offensive to stop the Rifian menace and to put an end to the political activities of the Rifians, who are trying to bring about defections among the tribesmen.

CIVIL WAR IN CHINA.

PEKING, July 16. Civil war has broken out in the Province of Szechuan where General Yang Sen's Government is attacking the rival Generals near Ching King.

REVALUATION BILL PASSED.

BERLIN, July 16. The Reichstag yesterday passed the third reading of the Revaluation Bill. The vote was 230 to 197. The Bill provides for the exchange of securities of war loans and pre-war German Government issues held by Germans and foreign subscribers for the new loan. This would mean that the total obligation amounting to seventy billion marks would be converted into a gold debt of 35 hundred million marks.

MARITIME ECONOMIC CONFERENCE CONCLUDES.

MONCTON, N.B., July 16. The Maritime Economic Conference held its concluding session this morning. A discussion of transportation, industrial problems, immigration, and the economic status of the Maritime Provinces under Confederation continued. A freight rate expert for the Maritime Provinces at any price was advocated last night by President D. R. Turnbull, of the Halifax Board of Trade, and he was applauded by the meeting. A number of speakers concurred in the suggestion.

NOVA SCOTIA'S NEW CABINET SWORN IN.

HALIFAX, N.S., July 16. The following is the new Conservative Cabinet of the N.S. Government sworn in this morning: Hon. Edgar Nelson, Rhodes, P.C., Premier and Prov. Secretary and Treasurer; Col. Gordon Sydney Harrington, K.C., Minister of Public Works and Mines; John Carey Douglas, Attorney General; John Archibald Walker, Minister of Natural Resources and Provincial Development; Percie Chapman Black, Minister of Highways; member of the Executive Council without portfolio; Josiah Fred. Fraser, Capt. John Flint Cahau, Dr. Ben. Ametee Lebano, and Dr. Wallace Norman Rhefus.

CLASH BETWEEN BRITISH MINERS AND POLICE.

CARDIFF, WALES, July 16. Sixteen men were injured to-day in collision between the striking miners and the police at rock colliery at Glynneath, five thousand strikers who surrounded the pits were called to disperse and the clash ensued. After the trouble the remaining miners decided to quit and the colliery closed.

THE PRINCE IN NORTHERN RHODESIA.

Broken Hill, Northern Rhodesia, July 16.—The Prince of Wales completed his program in Northern Rhodesia with a round of visits yesterday, apart from official receptions the main feature of the day was a meeting of the Prince and the native chiefs from all parts of the territory except Barotsel. The Prince in addressing the Chiefs urged them to keep their villages clean and acquire the knowledge the white men had to offer them.

DEATH OF ENGLISH NOVELIST.

LONDON, July 16. Mary Cholmondeley, the English Novelist, died yesterday in Kensington.

PEPYS BEHIND THE SCENES

July 15th.—The weather turned cold again and much fog, and is the most damnable thing that high every holiday is a poor day and all the things that are planned for it are upset! Talking with Mr. Hepburn this morning, and our discourse of the fish industry, and among other things did ask him his opinion of the talqal system of buying which he do condemn most heartily. Being on Water Street did see in Ayre & Sons window some paintings that are done by Mr. Foley, and methinks are very creditable works. My wife still on the subject of the country and having given much thought to the matter I have decided that I shall permit her to go if she will not go beyond Mansels, being that I may travel in and out with comfort in the steam coach, albeit a great hardship that I must rise each morning at half after 5 of the clock. This night the drawing in the St. Andrew's Sweep taking place, I there and to my great discontent do fall to win the motor coach, since I was in high hopes that this would see the turning point of my ill fortune that has ever dogged me through games of chance.

WORKS COMMITTEE'S REPORTS AT ST. CARMEL.

connection with the vast undertaking of the Mount Carmel Cemetery of St. John's, retaining wall bordering the road, and the draining of the unused portion of the cemetery, his Grace the Archbishop has directed the Committee to submit a report concerning it.

Referring to our connection with the same days ago concerning the proposed improvements to Mount Carmel Cemetery, I am very pleased to state that the work has already been completed and the improvements undertaken by the Committee—namely, the excavation of the wall and the draining of the unused portion of the cemetery. It is an interesting fact to know that the work was completed in a matter of days. The Committee in completing the work were able to co-operate with the assistance of the people, especially to those who are near ones of the Mount Carmel Cemetery. The Archbishop's direction of "God's work" and a sacred duty and a privilege, and I pray God's blessing on the efforts of the Committee, as well as all those who will assist in the most meritorious work.

I wish to say that I appreciate the active interest manifested by your Committee at all times in the management of Mount Carmel Cemetery, and I commend your future endeavours to the generous assistance of the people.

Sincerely yours,
(Sgd.) E.P. ROCHE,
Archbishop of St. John's.

The Committee estimate that it will cost approximately $300,000 for the retaining wall, but both works are not only necessary but urgent. In addition, the Cemetery has been thoroughly gone over during the past fortnight, the debris graded, and all debris removed in preparation for the August Mass which will take place on this Sunday at 10.30 a.m. Fr. Pippy, P.P., of St. Joseph's, is the celebrant, and will also deliver the sermon of the day.

ground Pet Show

is the week of all weeks in the when the cat receives an extra dose of milk and the dog receives the bone that can be selected. The cat's fur is patiently stroked to gloss and the dog's hair is brushed into smoothness. Both receive a most cleansing wash to make the white parts whiter and the black parts blacker. Even the Rhode Island Rooster is treated a bit, for on Friday they look fat and sleek and well kept for to expect to win one of the prizes in the Pet Animal Exhibition at the Esplanade Park.

the Pet Animal Show the first big event of the Playhouse season, and was a decided success. The dogs exhibited would have any bench show in variety. There were Pugs, Poodles, Setters, Terriers, etc. The cats varied in size and color, from a beautiful Maltese Kitten, carried in a bird cage, and luxurious looking cats with long thick hair, to two boys loved pride of its kind. Year we hope for even greater and closer co-operation with the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. We feel that an increase of this kind increases the happiness of our part of the children towards our dumb animals. A boy who loves his own dog more if he thinks that other people are adding to it. We believe that a child who has a pet to love and care for has missed one of the greatest pleasures.

weather is good on Friday afternoon at 2 p.m. the children will be at Esplanade Park with their pets to see you to their exhibit.

Drawing of St. Andrew's Lottery

The Grand Drawing of St. Andrew's Society Lottery, for the six-cylinder Jewett car and three cash prizes, took place last night in the Society's rooms. Every arrangement had been perfected for the drawing and the manner in which it was carried out evoked the highest praise of the large numbers present. The drawing was conducted by J. Gould (C.E.L.), J. Carberry (Star), W. Curnew (S.U.F.), M. P. Hynes (T.A.), Bugden (N.B.S.), with Messrs. H. M. Maddick (M.G.C.A.) and F. James (C.E.L.), as scrutineers. The drawing began at 8.30 and ended at 10.30 p.m. The ticket winning the six-cylinder Jewett car being No. 1703 L. As no name was attached to the stub the successful holder is not yet known. Mr. Sawyers, who sold the winning ticket, receives $100. The second prize, $400, was won by Edgar Rendell, accountant at Bowring Bros., ticket No. 1829 W. This ticket was sold by R. G. Ross. Third prize, $200, was won by Henry Cowan, Brookfield, and was sold by Ian Cowan. The fourth prize, $100, went to W. James, Grand Falls, with ticket No. 2844B, and sold by W. Simpson.

The tickets were placed in a large square box, having four doors, and was turned over on an axle every fifteen minutes. This ensured that all the tickets were well shaken up, and every ticket holder was given a square deal. During the drawing refreshments were served by the promoters.

St. Michael's Garden Party

St. Michael's Garden Party which took place at Lester's Field yesterday was largely attended, and proved very successful. Among those who visited the grounds during the afternoon were His Lordship the Bishop and Mrs. White, and Rev. Canon Bolt, who were heartily received by Rev. E. G. Nichols, Pastor of St. Michael's. The committee in charge conducted a sports programme which was thoroughly enjoyed. The various events being well contested. Various side shows and other amusements was the attraction for many, and a good afternoon's fun was spent by all. The C.L.B. Band was present, and the musical airs as rendered helped greatly to enliven the proceedings. The tea tables were largely patronized, and a handsome sum realized.

Obituary

MARY C. WHITE.
The many friends of Miss Mary C. White, formerly of Bonavista, but for some years residing in the city, will learn with regret of her passing, last night, at her residence, 54 LeMarchant Road, after an illness of only a few hours. During the day she had enjoyed her usual good health, and but about 9 o'clock, while obtaining a book in the parlour, was stricken with paralysis and collapsed. Her sister-in-law, Mrs. M. A. White, entering the room on hearing the fall, found her prostrate on the floor. Rev. M. Kennedy and Dr. Grieve were at once summoned and did all in their power, but at 11 p.m. Miss White passed away. Deceased, who was 58 years of age, was highly esteemed because of her amiable and charitable character, and all acquainted with her will sincerely mourn her sudden demise. She leaves two brothers, M. A. White, Superintendent of the Eastern Division of the Railway, with whom she resided, and John J., of the firm of McCormack and Walsh, Catalina. The funeral took place at 12.30 to-day from 54 LeMarchant Road, to the Railway Station, the remains being forwarded by the express to Bonavista, where interment will take place.

"Sanitas"

In pre-war days "Sanitas Disinfectant" was well and favourably known in Newfoundland and enjoyed ready sale amongst well informed people. It is again for sale at our Drugists. "Sanitas" is unique amongst disinfectants, because whilst being good for all the usual purposes of a disinfectant, it is recommended for use as a gargle, as a mouth and tooth wash and for offensive breath. "Sanitas" is positively non-poisonous; for this reason alone, many people prefer it for household use, particularly where there are children or aged persons. "Sanitas" is a safe disinfectant. The odour of "Sanitas" is pleasantly fragrant. "Sanitas" may be used without announcing the fact that there is sickness in your home. "Sanitas" is made by The "Sanitas" Co., of London, Disinfectant Manufacturers to His Majesty the King. A bottle of "Sanitas" costs 35 cents. "Sanitas" is indispensable where personal cleanliness is desired. July 16, 1925.

TOBACCO PRODUCTS.

NEW YORK—Developments in United Cigar Stores point to possibility of some form of extra distribution this year. This may take the shape of an extra cash or stock dividend or a revision of present dividend rate of 25 in cash and 5 p.c. in stock dividends. Any distribution would undoubtedly have the real estate branch of the business as its source. Tobacco Products as holder of 99 p.c. of United Cigars stock would be reaping the largest benefit. If such a thing comes to pass, it is quite probable that United in turn might make a distribution to its holders.

Although so far as known it is the intention to maintain the regular annual rates of $7 on class A common and $6 on common, it is not impossible that some distribution of stocks held in treasury may be made. Pros. Yulle, of Tobacco Products indicated such a possibility over a year ago in his report to stockholders.

Whether this might mean distribution of stock dividends received from United Cigar Stores or other securities such as Happiness Candy or Philip Morris is problematical. At any rate none of United Cigar common has been disposed of, holdings remaining intact.

United Cigar Stores is forging ahead this year in sales and earnings, and may break the record established last year. Consequently it is not at all illogical to look for some sort of benefits to stockholders in the not distant future. And by virtue of 90 p.c. control of common, "stockholders" really mean Tobacco Products Corp. and holders of its shares.

Canadian Marine Insurance

SHIPS USING PORT OF HALIFAX NOT REQUIRED TO PAY ADDITIONAL PREMIUM.

OTTAWA, July 6—The details of the conclusions reached by the Imperial Shipping Committee in its second report on Canadian marine insurance have just been made public in this country. The conclusions are four:

(1) The port of Saint John should have consideration given to it by British Marine Underwriters as it is at present under the disadvantage of the British North American Warranty which requires ships using the port to pay additional insurance premium; (2) Prince Rupert, B.C., had been treated "less favorably than circumstances would appear to require in the matter of the North Pacific Warranty," which requires additional premiums upon ships using certain ports; (3) Systematic records of ship casualties on the St. Lawrence should be kept; (4) In marine insurance warranties the term "British North American" might be omitted to avoid the impression that the warranty was based on political jurisdiction.

The Imperial Shipping Committee has had under investigation a complaint of the Canadian Government in regard to discrimination in marine insurance rates against Canadian Atlantic ports. In the spring of 1924 all Canadian Atlantic ports were under the British North American Warranty requiring additional insurance premiums but in its first report the Imperial Shipping Committee was able to announce that the disadvantage would not apply to Halifax, and that the month of October was included in the summer season.

The question at issue was whether or not the joint Hull Committee of British Marine Underwriters were justified in maintaining the British North American Warranty on the grounds of the physical risks to ships using the St. Lawrence and the dangers involved in rounding the Southern end of Nova Scotia on the way to St. John. The report dealt with all phases of the St. Lawrence and its approaches and with the numerous improved aids to navigation.

The gross tonnage of foreign going vessels lost in the St. Lawrence and its approaches during the past six years was 34,100 tons as compared with 4,981 tons on the coast between Cape Hatteras and the international boundary; states the report. "The presumption therefore is in favor of the present differential but we recognize that the evidence before us is incomplete."

Norway Reports Device THAT HAS HELPED LIQUOR SMUGGLERS.

OSLO, Norway.—An ingenious procedure whereby smugglers operating off the coasts of Norway have been successful in smuggling large quantities of liquor into the country has been discovered by the Norwegian customs officers.

The device, known as the trade as the corkerew, consists of a long torpedo-shaped iron cylinder, capable of holding a hundred cans of liquor, which is towed at some distance astern of the smuggling vessel by a thin cable. The cylinder is so weighted that it remains hidden below the surface of the water. A ship engaged in rum running can thus be searched and nothing illicit found on board. In an emergency the cylinder always can be cast loose.

Mr. J. H. Thomas's Appeal

COOL HEADS NEEDED IN TRADE CRISIS.

Speaking at Derby Mr. J. H. Thomas M.P., political secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, said:

Either a lockout or a strike in our present economic position would be absolutely disastrous to the future of the country, and God knows what the end of it would be. I believe that it is the duty not only of the coal owners and the miners but of the Government as well to realize the gravity of the situation and not talk in a spirit of desperation, as if there has got to be a fight to the bitter end.

The bad position, not only of the coal but also of the steel trade, has found its reflex in the railway returns, and it is no good to run away from facts. Those of us whose duty it is to watch these returns cannot be other than disturbed by the tremendous volume of decrease in railway traffic during the past twelve months.

The railway companies have taken the unprecedented step of inviting all the men's representatives to meet them in conference to have a free and full talk and to put all the cards on the table.

I think it is the best thing that the companies could have done. I intend, as my executive intends, to go into that conference to-morrow with a genuine and single-minded desire to face the facts. If the industry is to be pulled round, and if we are to save the situation, it is not going to be done at the expense of one section at the bottom while forgetting the other section at the top. It will have to be gone into by everyone making their contributions.

This is not the time for panic. It is not the time to pass resolutions and say unless this or that is done we are going to have a strike, or for the employers to say that they are going to have a lock-out. This is the time when cool heads and calm judgment must be brought to bear.

Judge and Motorists

Mr. Justice Roche, in charging the grand jury at Nottingham Assizes, said that public opinion, aided by a vigilant Press, was trying to enforce the view that drunkenness on the part of the driver of a motor-car was criminal and should be punished by imprisonment.

He was far from dissenting from that view, and he would also suggest that even if a sober man drove selfishly and was indifferent to the safety of other people he also deserved imprisonment. The logical method of checking the mischief was punishment by imprisonment.

Supreme Court

(Before Mr. Justice Johnson). In the matter of the petition of John J. St. John, Journalist, praying that he be declared insolvent.

Mr. J. A. Barron for the petitioner is heard.

The petitioner was declared insolvent and the matter of appointing a trustee was deferred. In the matter of the petition of Willis D. Witches, laborer, Corner Brook, praying to be declared insolvent. Mr. R. Cramm appeared for the petitioner. Mr. Leslie Curtis for the creditors, Strong and Mursell. Mr. A. King for another creditor. The matter was adjourned till July 24th at 11 a.m.

Magistrates Court

THIS MORNING'S SESSION.

In the Magistrate's Court this morning the cross-examination was continued at Guy Shears, one of the defendants, by Mr. Fox.

Guy Shears, cross-examined by Mr. Fox—Witness remembered going on board Herbert Green once on Saturday night, but he thought he made three trips to the Orleans. When witness went down on Furness Withy wharf, he met Wilson, but he would not say that he saw Kendrick almost immediately. After witness had returned to the Orleans with the money, he and the captain did not immediately go to talk to Customs Officer Kendrick. One of those on the wharf witness recognized as Wilson. He remembered Kendrick asking whether he had got the money for the captain. Questioned as to whether he had warned the captain against trusting Kendrick, witness replied in the negative.

Q.—Do you remember whether Wilson was in uniform?
A.—Yes, he was.
Q.—Did you ask Kendrick to signal when captain and Super-cargo came on board?
A.—No.
Q.—Did Capt. Bryne ask you to let him know?
A.—I do not know. Kendrick told me that he would signal.
Q.—Who arranged the matter of signalling?
A.—I asked Kendrick to light three matches.
Q.—Did Kendrick use the word "signal" or did Kendrick say "let you know"?
A.—I am almost sure he said "signal".
Q.—Would you swear that he did use the word "signal"?
A.—No.
Q.—Did you tell Kendrick that you would reply when he would signal?
A.—I did not.

Witness did not hear any conversation that Capt. Bryne had on board the Herbert Green. The whiskey was passed from the ship to Capt. Bryne, but witness did not handle all of it. When the liquor was stowed in the boat there was no shouts or commotion raised either on the Herbert Green or from the wharf. The first shouting witness heard was when the boat got beyond the Herbert Green. The first words he heard was "throw the stuff overboard," and the second, "stop that boat, we know you." Witness did not remember hearing any shouts. Witness stated that the Edward Buckingham whom he referred to yesterday in his evidence was at present at sea. He could not say that Buckingham was the man that shouted "throw the stuff overboard."

The Court arose until 3 o'clock. Two young men summoned on a charge of loose and disorderly conduct on the public street were both convicted and fined $2.00 each. A case against a man and a woman summoned for obstructing the police while in the execution of their duties was postponed until Wednesday next.

Auction Sale

At to-day's auction sale of goods saved from the confiscation at Hickman's shipping premises, a lot of about 150 barrels of flour was sold at an average of 5.30 per barrel. A bulk of oats, headed and burned, sold for $130. The bulk originally contained about 500 four bushel sacks. About 3 or 4 hundred sack of potatoes also caught by the blaze, fetched $96.00. The auction was largely attended and bidding was keen, particularly amongst those buying on "spec."

Heligoland Being Carried Away by Sea

The remains of the dismantled island of Heligoland are rapidly being carried away by the sea, according to a telegram to "Frankfurter Zeitung." The erosion is particularly serious where it has been facilitated by the bursting of numerous mines thrown up by the tides.

It is expected that the island will soon be nothing more than a name in history. The former German naval fortress of Heligoland at its largest was only one-fifth of a square mile in area. The great forts have been destroyed by dynamite.

Arabian Horse in His Native Element

It is said that the Arabian horse, about whose beauty and endurance much has been justifiably written, is an economic asset in his home land, in Central Arabia. A horse is a pure luxury. Often in summer they must live on camel's milk just as humans do. They are kept and treated as household pets and are intelligent and affectionate. Their only function is to furnish an aristocratic mount for pleasure, for state occasions and for war. During part of the year there is an abundant pasturage for them, but they are a luxury afforded only by the sheikhs and the very rich, and their number is small.

There are years in Arabia when the spring rains fall partially or completely, and then the animals die by thousands, or are driven to the nearest town to be sold for a song, says Paul W. Harrison, M.D., in "The Arab at Home." In such years starvation stalks abroad through the land. Little children die because there is no food suitable for such tender stomachs, and the adults are even more gaunt and thin than usual. The sheikhs are nearly bankrupted by the number of poor they have to feed, and the whole community waits and prays for more rain and the coming spring.

Unofficial Estimates

SAY GREATER LONDON NOW COUNTS 8,000,000 PEOPLE.

Recent unofficial estimates of the population of Greater London have put the figures at about 8,000,000. The London telephone area covers 735 square miles, and the metropolitan police district 691 square miles and both are said to be growing rapidly. The distances across London, from various sections of the greater city, vary from 20 to 30 miles. Sir Kingsley Wood, M.P., speaking recently on the housing question, announced that the total number of houses authorized at the beginning of 1924 aggregated 188,808, and of these 52,109 had already been completed.

Many Londoners were confirmed town-dwellers, the speaker said, and a certain percentage of them always would be. They preferred the cinema to the country, and they disliked a long journey which cut into their leisure.

Without imitating the worst features of the American skyscraper it should be possible to erect dwellings with generous gardens or ground space and with proper arrangement for decent living, and thus work-out an eventual remedy to help relieve London's housing situation which, for generations, has been one of the city's most difficult problems.

In spite of its growth, London had 18 fewer fires in 1924 than in 1923. The total last year was 3,845, of which 35 were serious.

Set His Own Neck

ASTONISHING STORY ABOUT SIR HERBERT BARKER.

An astonishing story concerning Sir Herbert Barker, the famous honest-eter, comes from the Mediterranean.

Sir Herbert, who is spending a holiday at Allassio, on the Ligurian Riviera, was bathing with Lady Baker in the Mediterranean, and, diving too steeply, struck his head on the bottom of the sea.

Regarding the surface in a half-fainting condition, he found his neck distorted and his head immovable. As no surgeon was within reach, and Lady Barker's efforts were of no avail, Sir Herbert, getting his hands into the correct position for the necessary leverage, he wrenched his head, back with an audible crack.

Though still in pain from muscular stiffness, the self-performed operation was quite successful.

New U. S. Factory Near London

RESULT OF BRITISH HOSIERY TARIFF.

The Journal of Commerce reports that "as the direct result of the recent tariff barrier erected by the British Government against the importation of American-made hosiery," the Richmond Hosiery Mills of Chattanooga, Tennessee, have decided to start the construction in the latter part of July of plant costing £30,000 within a short distance of London.

The production of the new factory will be about 500 dozen of women's seamless hosiery daily. During the last 30 days the Richmond hosiery concern has rushed £250,000 worth of goods to England. American-made machinery of the most approved type will be installed in the English mill.

A SLANDER ON MY SEX.

In these days there are almost as many women writers as men but for hundreds of years most of the writing was done by men, with the exception of a Sappho or a Deborah, or, to come down to more recent times, a George Elliot.

It is any wonder then that there are a great many proverbs and sayings about women that are only half way truths. Truths from a man's point of view, lies from a woman's.

Yes, I have a particular one in mind: "A woman convinced against her will is of the same opinion still."

But a Punk Proverb.

to control her expression as well as her voice and he was clever enough to see that she still thought and felt in her own way which made him very wroth and so he coined that epigram and slandered the women of all ages through it.

Why slandered? Because that proverb or saying or what you will, gives the idea that women are more obstinate and opinionated than men. And they're not.

No, Men Aren't Convinced Against Their Will.

The only reason one cannot say a "man convinced against his will is of the same opinion still," is because men don't get convinced against their will. They don't have to. It isn't part of their job to be tactful and "agreeable," they earn the living, that's their job.

When you come down to it, very few people either male or female, are ever convinced of anything they don't want to be convinced of. That mental trick known as "protective thinking" helps them to squirm out of that. And even when they are convinced, they don't admit it to the convincer, they don't adopt his arguments as their own later, but if he ever finds it out he's lucky.

Which Sex Finds It Harder?

To most of us it is an unendurable thing to admit we are wrong. I don't know why it should be. We know we can't always be right and yet to say that this is the time we are not right is a terrible thing. . . . But if either sex finds it harder to admit it is wrong, it most emphatically isn't the feminine. Not at least among the men and women I've known. Perhaps they were a queer and unusual lot. Or perhaps you think I examine them through lenses distorted by the fact that I'm not a man. I wonder? (And I'll bet that's more than a man would admit.)

Bahamas Whiskey Scheme

(Daily Mail).

"The investment opportunity of a lifetime" and "your capital investment back four times over in two years."

This is the kind of thing that is being dangled before the British public in circulars offering shares in the Bahamas International Trading Company, Limited, incorporated in the Bahamas.

Investors are particularly asked by the circulars to disassociate this company from any kind of liquor or rum-running venture, but its character may be gathered from the statement that it has a warehouse to which "great importance" is attached in view of its strategic position, being but an hour's cruise from the American coast and outside the prohibition area."

It is "a cash trading business" dealing in several well-known brands of whiskey and gin named in the prospectus.

All the directors are resident in the Bahamas and three of them are described as members of the Legislative Assembly, but the circulars do not give the names of any bankers or auditors or any British firm of standing that will be responsible for the offer, which is made by a concern called Bahamas Trust Company, Limited.

This "trust company," we find was registered at Somerset House last month with a nominal capital of £1,000. There is no record yet of any capital being paid up. The directors are Kenneth Lee Bernard, 105 Gower-street, W.C. 1, and Laurence T. Grimes (address not stated).

We advise our readers to leave this share offer severely alone.

Household Hints Worth Knowing

When mixing blue in hard water it is a good plan to add a cupful of milk to a tub of blue water. This will prevent the linen from blueing unevenly and becoming streaky.

Delicate China can be cleaned best with warm water to which a little Fuller's earth has been added. No soap will then be needed, and this does not remove gliding as does a strong soap.

A fruit salad should be made some time before it is needed, so that the juices and fruits may blend thoroughly.

silk blouses for such a purpose until you have cut off all buttons, hooks and studs.

If your shoe lace becomes torn or frayed, or wears through without apparent reason, look at the underneath side of the cycle; you will probably find that one of them has become "jagged," and is tearing the lace. Tap it down with a hammer, but be sure to lay the top side of the eyelet on something soft, or you will damage the celluloid covering of the eyelet.

The small hat of bangkok straw is still smart for sports or afternoon wear.

THE GANGSTER.

The gangster's life is busy the little time it runs; he scorches in his Lizzie and shoots men with his guns. But soon, an out-and-downer, he finds eternal rest, and then the helpful crowner comes up and holds his quest. The gangster, for no reason that any one can find, is fond of crime and treason and sin of every kind. When he's not wildly riding on errands rash and vain, in some dark hole he's hiding, like rodent in a drain? Oh, where is the attraction in such a life as this? How much of satisfaction does yonder gangster miss? What anguish he must suffer, what bleak remorse he knows, that men may call him tougher than anything that grows. For that's the only guerdon that comforts his disgrace; he bears his ghastly burden that men may fear his face. The gangster ort is gifted, his brain was clear and bright, before he slid and drifted away from virtue white. He honored as a butler, he paid for teaching school. He might

Summer Sweets

The preparation of sweets suitable for hot weather was discussed in last week's issue. As the subject is peculiarly appropriate for this season, a further selection of receipts should prove of general interest. It is always a good thing to take advantage of the various fruits as they come into season. For this reason full use ought to be made of gooseberries, which are greatly relished in hot weather. Directions are accordingly given for a couple of delightful gooseberry sweets. Being out of the ordinary run these are well worth making.

Strawberries, which are now finding their way into the shops, will soon be quite reasonable in price. The recipe given below deals with a strawberry custard. This sweet will be in the nature of a novelty to many and it is easily prepared. Italian cream also provides a very pleasing change. Ground rice and rhubarb are the constituents of a sweet which, when served with whipped cream, makes a most attractive treat. It has the additional recommendation of being readily cooked.

GOOSEBERRY CREAM

Put a little melted jelly into a mould and leave it to set, put aside some more of the jelly for decoration. Take 1/2 oz. of sheet gelatine and melt it in a small saucepan with two tablespoonsful of water. Have a breakfastcupful of gooseberry puree prepared by first stewing the gooseberries, and then by rubbing them through a sieve. When the puree is still warm add the dissolved gelatine to it, also sufficient sugar to sweeten, and a few drops of lemon juice. Whip half a pint of double cream and mix it carefully with the other ingredients. Add a few drops of carmine or cochineal, just sufficient to make a pretty pink colour. Stir the cream until it is just beginning to set, then pour into mould on top of the prepared jelly. Leave in a cool place to set. Turn out, and form a border of chopped jelly around the sweet.

GOOSEBERRY TRIFLE

Top and tail 1 lb. of gooseberries and stew them with sufficient sugar to sweeten and a very little water. When ready rub the gooseberries through a sieve. Slice two or three sponge cakes and put them into a crystal, put gooseberry pulp over them, and allow to get quite cold. Make half a pint of custard with two eggs, a breakfastcupful of milk, a dessertspoonful of sugar, and a drop or two of flavouring. When the pulp is cold, pour the custard over, and again leave for a time. Whip a jar of cream, sweeten and flavour it, and pile neatly on the sweet. Sprinkle all over with blanched and shredded almonds.

STRAWBERRY CUSTARD.

Husk and cut in halves 1/2 lb. of strawberries. Beat two eggs, pour over them a breakfastcupful of boiling milk, add sufficient sugar to sweeten, and a drop or two of vanilla. Pour on top of strawberries in a fireproof dish. Bake in a slow oven until the custard is firm. Sprinkle with castor sugar. Serve with cream.

ITALIAN CREAM.

Soak 1/2 oz. of gelatine in two table-spoonfuls of milk. Put on breakfastcupful of milk on to boil with the rind of half a lemon. Beat the yolks of two eggs with 3 oz. of sugar and strain the boiling milk over these, stirring all the time. Return to the saucepan with the soaked gelatine and stir until the custard cooks, but it must not boil. Now set aside to cool. Chop 1/2 oz. of preserved ginger and 1 oz. of glace cherries. Whip up half a pint of cream gently and gradually add to the cooled custard, the chopped fruit and the juice of half a lemon. When just beginning to thicken, pour into a wetted mould. Turn out when required.

RED GRAH.

Wash and cut up 1 lb. of good red rhubarb. Put the rhubarb on with a pint of water (two breakfastcupfuls) and allow it to cook until quite soft, then rub it all through a sieve. Return all to the pan with 3 oz. of ground rice previously soaked in a little water. Stir all over the fire until the rice cooks and is thickened. Now add sufficient sugar to sweeten, and the juice of a small half lemon. Put into a wetted shape, turn out when cold. Serve with whipped cream.

Prepare for Solar Eclipse Next Year

U.S. NAVY DETACHMENT TO TAKE OBSERVATIONS IN SUMATRA IN JANUARY.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—The Navy Department is making elaborate preparations for the observation of the solar eclipse of January 14 next, which will be visible in Sumatra. It will send an expedition from the United States naval observatory at Washington, headed by Captain F. B. Littell. The scientific party will include George H. Peters and George M. Raynsford, astronomers from the naval observatory, and Professor J. A. Anderson, of the Mount Wilson obseratory. In addition there will be a corps of enlisted men, including medical attendants and seamen. The expedition will sail from San Francisco on September 1 on the naval transport Chaumont to make preparations for the observatory tests. Three tons of equipment have already been shipped to Norfolk for shipment to the west coast on the S.S. Nitro, and the time before the eclipse will be used in setting up the paraphernalia. In connection with the observations there will be motion pictures made of the eclipse, pictures of the activities of the party and a vessel will be sent to Sumatra to conduct radio experiments during the period of eclipse. ### What Britons Do in China

SUPPLY OF BRAINS AND CAPITAL.
700 BRITISH FIRMS

(By an Englishman who has just returned from China.)

There are about 12,000 Britons, a great number of whom are Scotsmen, in various communities throughout China. Without them the Government, trade, or industry of the country could not endure.

Unofficially, the Central and Provincial Governments are glad to seek advice from British diplomatic and consular officials.

There are large concentrations of British in Hong-kong, Shanghai, Tientsin, and Peking, who are fairly well equipped to look after themselves.

In Canton, Swatow, Foochow, Amoy, Hankow, and at the Yangtze River ports there are smaller groups who are not so fortunately situated.

Britons are also scattered, sometimes singly and sometimes with their women-folk and children, throughout the interior of a vast country.

Banking and Commerce.

The docks and wharves of the great Treaty ports employ 200 Britons as supervisors, harbourmasters, and in other capacities to handle the merchandise of the 700 British firms established in China.

In very considerable towns there are branches of British banking firms. All of these employ British managers and clerks.

There are also several Englishmen employed by the English newspapers published in China.

Revenue from the maritime Customs, the salt tax, and the "likin," or internal Customs, is controlled by an international board, whose Inspector-General and many of whose other officials are British. By the nature of their work these men are compelled to live often in the most inaccessible and lonely stations.

Expert Engineers.

The great coalfields, as yet almost untapped, are largely managed by British mining experts and engineers. The railways that carry their produce to ports and distributing centres have been built with the help of British brains and capital.

The ports were unsuitable for handling modern shipping and the harbours were undredged and neglected until such bodies as the Yangtze Conservancy Board were established at the suggestion of the British Chambers of Commerce.

Under the direction of Mr. F. Palmer the channel was made safe for navigation, and it is now Central China's great highway of commerce.

Life in a British concession is pleasant enough. There are fine buildings and broad metalled roads, roomy bungalows for the married folk and comfortable messes or "chumeries," where half a dozen bachelors club together to keep house. Every settlement, however small, has a club as the hub of its social life, and perhaps a sports club as well.

Consular Corps.

The scattered Consular Corps distributed from Harbin to Yunnan, and the minor officials who help them, are less to be envied. In the various Treaty Port concessions there are municipalities with their services ranking from the chairman of council to the humble but most essential constable.

Hong-kong has the essential elements of a complete British administration. British experts are employed by many Chinese enterprises in Shanghai, which has long been known as the Manchester of the East.

There are venturesome young men with the gift of tongues (for China has many dialects) who venture far into the inhospitable interior to sell machinery, piece goods, oil, cigarettes, sewing-machines, thread, soap, and the like. Life for them is full of hazard.

Then there are the navigators and engineers of the coasting and river boats, who live a hard life and never know when it may be their turn to encounter pirates.

Just Folks.

By EDGAR GUEST.
MANHOOD

This is the thing called manhood, as I see it.
Giving when gifts not easy are to make;

Meeting the test when weaklings turn and flee it,
Standing for truth when craven spirits break.

He is not manly who defrauds another
He is not manly who betrays his friend,
Not all the world's ill-gotten wealth can soothe
The stain of one who cheated for an end.

Honor must shine triumphant o'er his winning,
Women must meet and find him clean and true;
In manhood's fine there is no place for stinging,
No secret hour for deeds which cowards do.

A good man holds the game above its prizes,
His life above the pleasures he may seize;
He will not stoop to traits which he despises
And sell his self-respect for victory.

Honor and truth he blends with gentle kindness,
Censure of others seldom will he speak,
Selfishness has not cursed him with its blindness,
Strong though he is he never harms the weak.

Manhood is not in conquest or in flight,
Though both may come, a good man moves along
And lets his friends and neighbors tell his story,
As one, they found, too big to do a wrong.

Found Dead in House on Barron Street

John Barnable, a disabled veteran of the Great War, was found dead at his home, 25 Barron Street yesterday evening by Mrs. Mary Spry of Casey Street. The deceased was alone in the house and was lying on a mattress on the floor of the front room, his wife and family being at Ferryland, at which place he was engaged in the fishery. A couple of days ago he came to town to undergo an examination by the Medical Board, and during the period had been staying at his residence, Barron Street. At 5 p.m. yesterday Mrs. Spry called there and found him dead. She informed the police and Dr. McDonald was called, after which the body was taken to the Morgue by Undertaker Martin, who prepared the body for burial after a post mortem examination was held by Dr. Anderson. Deceased leaves a wife and several children.

Locust's Natural Enemy Discovered

In the Argentine Republic locusts or grasshoppers, are so persistent a pest that the Government includes a special department for coping with their migrations. The most practicable method of giving battle to the locusts consists of driving them into sunken traps, where they are buried. Recently a natural enemy of the locust was found, a true insect which pursues them on the wing, depositing her eggs within the bodies of the swarming migrants. These eggs hatch into maggots which kill their hosts. When this happens the armies of locusts dwindle into scattered, straggling groups. Unfortunately, however, the attacking fly must dwell with the locusts. Thus the fly is never able to wholly exterminate the locust pests. Perhaps, suggests Leonard Matters, writing in the Illustrated London News, the flies and the locusts will some day disappear together, the last fly killing the last locust and thus depriving its own offspring of its food.

To Cure Consumption
 SUCCESSFUL EXPERIMENTS IN FRANCE.

The physician, Dr. Kurt Gerson of Berlin, claims to have discovered a cure for tuberculosis, which he called anti-phthasin, and consists of a fluid which is injected into the muscles of the body. The cure does not entail any change in the ordinary mode of living nor any interruption of occupation, and if it proves to be effective will be a cheap and popular method of curing consumption.

The treatment is quite painless and is claimed to result in the restoration of the patient's blood.

There is intense interest in scientific circles in Paris by a series of experiments set up at the Academy of Medicine to the effect that a means of preventing the development of consumption has at last been discovered. The announcement was made by Albert Calmette, the assistant director of the Pasteur Institute, in the name of himself and six of his scientific collaborators, who give the results of over twenty years' research into the mechanism of the inception and the role of infection in the evolution of tuberculosis.

Professor Calmette stated that the experiment had been made with calves, and finally with infants born in homes contaminated with consumption. The results attained making tests to protect newly-born children against tuberculosis by the use of vaccine, which has been called V.C.G., have been constantly favorable. None of the 176 babies who were vaccinated during the first part of 1923 has died from any tuberculosis or presumed tubercular infection. Ninety-four of the infants vaccinated were examined last month and all were found in perfect health.

Girl Sacrificed to Goddess Kali

The sacrifice of a girl to the goddess Kali has been revealed in a case which concluded recently at Jabalpur, in the Central Provinces of India.

The favorite son of a former Government servant was taken ill, and his family, believing him to be possessed of an evil spirit, decided that a human sacrifice was the only means to cure him. The blood of the victim, who on board, was to be taken to a place occupied by a holy man.

A girl was sacrificed to Kali as the boy's malady showed no improvement, he was starved, and eventually bound and deposited naked during bitter weather in the open near a holy man, where he died from exposure.

The father of the boy and two of his sons were sentenced to death and a woman relative to transportation for life.

Kali, who in Hindu mythology is the wife of Shiva, is a bloodthirsty goddess, who is represented with a necklace of human skulls round her neck. She is the tutelary deity of the Thugs. Calcutta derives its name from her.

Wizards of Lapland and Orkney Witches

The art of tying up the wind in three knots, so that the more knots are loosed the stronger will blow, has been attributed to wizards in Lapland and to witches in Orkney. Lewis and the Isle of Man. Ship land seamen still buy winds in the shape of knotted handkerchiefs or threads from old women who claim to ride the storms. Sir Walter Scott visited one of these witches at Stromness in the Orkneys. He says: "We climb, by steep and rocky lanes, an eminence rising above the town, and commanding a fine view. An old hag lives in a wretched cottage on this height, and subsists by selling winds. Each captain of a merchantman, between jest and earnest, gives the old woman sixpence, and she boils her kettle to procure a draught of gale. She was a miserable figure, upwards of 90, she told me, and dried up like a mummy. A pair of clay-colored cloak, folded over her head, corresponded in color to her corpse-colored complexion. Her light-blue eyes, and nose and cheeks that almost met, and a ghastly expression of cunning, gave her the effect of Hecate."

A Norwegian witch has boasted of sinking a ship by opening a bag of which she had shut up the wind.

Magistrates Court

YESTERDAY MORNING'S PROCEEDINGS.

When Court opened yesterday morning, Capt. Thomas Byrne, one of the defendants in the case arising out of the Herbert Green seizure, took his place on the stand, and was further cross-examined by Mr. Fox.

Witness told Super-cargo Ryan he did not want whiskey for nothing. He asked Ryan how much he owed him, but received the reply to get out of the way, or words to that effect.

Guy Shears, sworn and examined—Witness remembered Saturday night July 4th, when he made a friendly visit to Capt. Byrne of the Orleans about nine o'clock.

A World Coming Back

In an impressive article on "What Europe Thinks," quotes an unnamed English "editor" as follows: "We thirsted for governments which asked us no tax or service of citizenship; we wanted a magic international formula which would allow every one to dance all day and prevent all conflict."

So long as man is a moral agent with a soul to be damned or saved he will always come back to the ideals which have stood the test of time.

It is not difficult to see from the English editor's words, some sort of an indictment of mass production, not only of things but of "regulatory" laws.

Birds as Weather Prophets

By OLIVER G. PIKE, F.Z.S., F.R.P.S. We may call it what we like—a sixth or seventh sense, or give it any scientific name—but the fact remains that birds are able to perform feats that to human beings are impossible.

I have known a wood in the summer to be filled with the songs of birds. Suddenly the songs ceased, and I knew from experience that a thunder storm would soon be raging.

Are Creased Trousers Capitalistic?

Trousers occupy a good deal of space in the British press just now. There are many illusions to Oxford "bags"; and at long distance many may imagine that, this season, the wearing of creased trousers is a sign of social obscurity.

The prejudices aroused against him proved so strong that he felt obliged to explain, on May Day, to the miners of Gylmer the sad mischance by which he happened to get inside garments reproached by true hearted sons of the people.

IN THE REALMS OF SPORT

TO-NIGHT'S FOOTBALL

What promises to be a hard fought and gruelling contest for the points takes place at St. George's Field to-night, when the Saints and B.I.S. will try conclusions. Both teams are strong contenders for the championship. The Saints line-up will be as follows:—Goal, Noseworthy; full backs, W. Thistle, G. Squires; half backs, G. Johnson, Foster, Roberts; forwards, S. McNeil, J. Young, McKinley, Hopkins, H. Sawyers.

JUNIOR LEAGUE FOOTBALL

T.A. Defeats Irish Players.
Last night St. George's Field was given over to the Junior League, when the B.I.S. and T.A. teams played for the points before a fairly large number of spectators. The game was well contested throughout and ended in a victory for the T.A. lads by 3 goals to none. In the first half the T.A. scored two goals. The first came after fifteen minutes of play, when J. Williams scored a beauty from outside the penalty area. A few minutes later L. Nikosey was responsible for the second. The B.I.S. made a bold bid to gain the desired results, but their opponents had set up a solid defence which was hard to penetrate.

2nd Half

When the teams changed over the B.I.S. had altered the position of their players slightly and at the beginning made a strong effort to bring down the lead held by their opponents. They pressed the T.A. defence lines, but were unable to break them and the goalkeeper had little to worry about. According as the game progressed play became very fast and many were the narrow escapes on the opposing goals. With only a few minutes to play, Williams scored for the T.A., sending in a hot one which was too much for Hynes to save. The game ended in a victory for T.A. by 3 goals to nil.

SWEDEN TO SEND TRACK TEAM

Sweden seems to feel that she has been caught napping, and that the visit to America of Paavo Nurmi, has so boosted the stock of Finland there, that people have forgotten all about Sweden as a country where for many decades amateur athletics have been fostered.

For that reason she has announced that she will send a team of eight athletes for the American (which includes Canadian in this case (1925-26) indoor season.

Until the Antwerp Olympic Games Sweden had the upper hand over Finland, but lately Finland has turned the tables.

The team that is to be sent will include Elvin Wide, the noted distance runner.

Terre Neuvein was second and Dark Diamond, third.

Run Over by Motor Truck

Yesterday afternoon a boy named Hugh Gillard, attempting to board a motor truck owned by A. E. Hickman Co., and driven by Mr. A. Thistle, was run over on Gear Street. The boy attempted to board the truck whilst it was in motion and, missing his footing, fell under the hind wheel which passed over his leg. Mr. Thistle picked up the lad and conveyed him to his home where, after he was examined by Dr. Macpherson, he was taken to Hospital as it was thought his leg was broken. An X-Ray examination, made later, proved that this was not the case, and young Gillard was then sent back to his home.

Priscilla Dean is Back in Old Form

Now we know why Priscilla Dean has been noticeably absent from the screen for the past half dozen months or so!

She's been holding out on us—Storing up energy and vitality so that she could burst forth on the screen again, with all the old fire and pep she displayed in "The Virgin of Stamboul," "The Wildcat of Paris," "Outside the Law," and other of her earlier triumphs.

At least she has accomplished that result in "The Siren of Seville," the first of her own productions, which opened engagement at the Nickel Theatre yesterday.

Certainly few of the recent screen offerings have held audiences so intensely interested as did this picture yesterday. One breath-taking thrill followed another until the climax smashed its way across the screen. And what a climax!

We are not mean enough to give it away. Consider, however, that it happens in a bull ring—a huge arena in Seville, with thousands of cheering spectators for a background—and that it presents a situation unique in the history of screen melodrama.

If you miss this one you'll be cheating yourself!

Lyons's Wembley Profits

Mr. Alfred Salmou, presiding at the 31st, annual meeting of the shareholders of Joseph Lyons and Company at the Trocadero Restaurant, Shaftesbury-avenue, W., announced the record of profits of £718,000.

A comparatively small portion of that sum, he said, had been contributed by Wembley, but in spite of all difficulties the exhibition had contributed to their earnings. But 17,250,000 visitors were a severe test for the caterer. The contribution of the company by way of commission to the exhibition finances was £160,000.

When invited to undertake the contract this year they decided that they ought not to incur the risk. A second year in succession, they thought, would be tempting Providence.

How to Bottle Your Surplus Peas

Peas should be blanched before being bottled, as they contain a large amount of protein, which causes them to ferment more easily than most vegetables. They lose their colour considerably when bottled, but the flavoured water can be kept by adding a small amount of powdered borax to each bottle. The use of preservatives is not recommended. Useful-grown peas should be bottled, as they are generally become too hard when they are just before bottling, and should be put into a pan of cold water with half a teaspoonful of salt, a pinch of washed mint, and a pinch of bicarbonate of soda, added to each quart of peas, weighed after shelling. Put the pan on the fire, bring to the boil, and continue boiling for two minutes. Strain the peas and put them into a basin of cold water. Measure the amount of moisture remaining in the number of bottles to be used. Boil this, and to each pint add half a teaspoonful of salt, a pinch of sugar, and a sprig of mint. Let this become cold, stirring occa-

Clean, Dry Bottles
When the peas are cold strain them and put them into clean, dry bottles with screw of clip tops. Shake the peas down occasionally while bottling, and cover with the prepared water. Put on the rubber caps loosely, place the bottles in a fish kettle or a large pan, and heat the water to the boiling point. Loosen the caps, and place the bottles in the pan. Pour in cold water to the necks of the bottles, place the pan over low heat, and bring the water slowly to the boil, or 200deg. Fahr. Keep it at this temperature for 1-2 hours, then take each of the bottles out separately and fasten it up tightly before removing the water. Wipe dry, and when cold store in a dry, cool place. It is advisable to turn the bottles upside down a few days after the peas have been sealed to see if any moisture comes from the lid. If this is so, loosen the lid and re-sterilise.

LUX

You cannot buy good woollens, good good satins, good voiles, or in fact any good article unless you pay good price. Just as Diamonds cost more than brass, so does Lux cost more than ordinary soap flakes. If you wish to save money, don't buy inferior soap flakes, they will ruin your garments. Cheap inferior soap flakes will ruin your silks and ruin your clothing. Always use Lux. Lux is made and guaranteed by Lever Brothers, Ltd., soap-makers to Her Majesty King George. Lux is reliable. Lux is as pure as the most expensive toilet soap. Wash your baby's clothing with Lux. Use Lux for washing expensive clothes, your silks, voiles, woollens, muslins, crepes, etc. Lux is sold only in packages.

When you pay many dollars to get the clothing you like, it is foolish to buy inferior soap flakes which will ruin good clothing. Lux is so pure you may use it to shampoo your hair, or in your bath. You can depend on Lux; beware of imitations, take care to get Lux, which costs only 10 cents per package—July 16, 21st.

Governorship in Australia

SYDNEY—It is believed that the Imperial Government's stipulation that individual Australian States must be unanimous in the request that State Governor should be selected from Australian citizens will be an obstacle to the acceptance of a memorandum in preparation from five of the States, Victoria being the exception.

The memorandum, however, will be completed and forwarded. The Socialists are confident that their party's projected success at the next general election in Victoria will simplify the position.

The New South Wales Premier, Mr. Lang, announces that:

The proposed change cannot in any way adversely affect State prestige or the relationship between the States and the United Kingdom. The great underlying link between the two countries is the spirit of the race strengthened by democratic ideals, towards which both have been, and still are, moving.
