How to Can Carrots

Thinning carrot beds be careful to row away vegetables as large as for this size is the best for canning. Carrots thoroughly with a stiff brush, blanch for four to six minutes then plunge into cold water for one minute and remove outer skin with brush. The carrots may be cut in halves or cross sections or used after packing into jars add a spoonful of salt per quart of water, and fill jars with hot water, caps and partially tighten them for one hour and a half. If jars cannot seal completely before boiling. Remove jars from boiling water, invert tops and invert out of a cool. Spring, wrap jars in dark paper to prevent bleaching.

HAVING had a good deal of trouble with autoists and other drivers of vehicles a rural mail carrier in Elgin county waited on County Magistrate Hunt to make inquiry as to his rights on the road. It appears that the carrier had been receiving much abuse from drivers because it is necessary in his delivery of mail to drive on both sides of the road. # HUSBAND OBJECTS TO OPERATION

Wife Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Des Moines, Iowa.—"Four years ago I was very sick and my life was nearly spent. The doctors stated that I would never get well without an operation and that without it I would not live one year. My husband objected to any operation and got me some of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it and commenced to get better and am now well, am stout and able to do my own housework. I can recommend the Vegetable Compound to any woman who is sick and run down as a wonderful strength and health restorer. My husband says I would have been in my grave ere this if it had not been for your Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. BLANCHE JEFFERSON, 703 Lyon St., Des Moines, Iowa.

Before submitting to a surgical operation it is wise to try to build up the female system and cure its derangements with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it has saved many women from surgical operations.

Write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice—it will be confidential.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The Military Service Act provisions against inciting to disobedience of its provisions are to be put into effect in Montreal. The irresponsible agitators may not now go beyond certain limits without incurring heavy penalties. Fortunately the great majority of Canadians can continue to express their opinion on the Military Service Law without being liable to arrest.

The most remarkable effect of the cold which a member of one of the Antarctic expeditions noticed was the loss of sense of touch in the fingers. It was almost complete. "Suppose you wanted to look for a knife in your kit-bag," he said, "you would get it in your hand and not know it. It was the same with everything we handled. We saw that we had picked it up, and saw that we held the article; we could not feel that we had it." He added that it was not possible to shave because the skin became irritated and sore, while if the beard grew too long it attracted moisture and then froze into a block. The only thing to do was to keep beard and moustache clipped close.—Family Herald.

For the woman whose chief business is housekeeping, the uncooked cereals will make the greatest return for the money spent. A cent's worth of oatmeal when cooked is as much as the very heartiest laboring man can eat. Two cents' worth of cornmeal makes a breakfast for him and there will be some left to warm over for supper. Two cents' worth of ready-to-eat cereals contains less nourishment. For uncooked cereals the housekeeper expends time in preparation, and for the ready-to-eat cereals she expends money. If one wants to be economical, use more bulk cereals.

Man Who Stole Blanket

An officer, writing on the British Tommy at the front, stirs some thought.

The modern soldier, who is just the ordinary Englishman in uniform, under discipline and living in the presence of death, is, of course, no plaster saint. One man stole a blanket without the slightest concern, but risked his life to save the owner of the blanket. Not in any spirit of remorse, but for the simple fact that whereas it would be unreasonable to suffer cold and discomfort instead of another man, it is necessary to risk wounds and death itself in order to save the same man's life. The willingness to give life itself appears greater than the willingness to live without those things commonly accounted to make life worth living.

What will be the lasting effect on those who pass through the furnace of war and survive? The sense of comradeship and fellowship that has grown up in the field will not vanish. But there may be trouble for profiteers at home.

There is no fear of any persistence of militarism. The soldier believes in discipline and recognizes its value, but he does not like it. He would hardly be human if he did.

When peace comes the man of the upper class and the working man, who have made equal sacrifices and have given alike so gloriously will unite in an effort for peace, and for a new and more blessed England. But there is a note of uncertainty and anxiety in their prognosis.

Heroic Deed of an Alberta Man

The Canadian Press correspondent, writing from the Canadian Headquarters in France, says: One of the most heroic deeds put on record in the Canadian corps since the war began is that of a runner of Colonel Ormonde's Alberta battalion. The company to which he was attached was hotly engaged near the chalkpits, and he was given a message to take back to the battalion headquarters, over ground on which shells were falling continuously. He had not gone far when he was seen to fall, and another runner was at once sent out with a duplicate of the message. The second messenger was killed midway on his journey, but two hours afterwards the first one arrived at the battalion headquarters with his left arm blown off near the shoulder. His terrible wound had been roughly dressed in the field, and the messenger, far spent from loss of blood, had then staggered on to his duty. He was removed in a dying condition, but carried his message to its destination.

Heat is one of the greatest food wasters. Fruits are good stimulants to the digestion.

Dry cold will keep foods better than damp cold.

When you are out of tooth paste use salt instead.

Nutmegs grate best if started from the blossom end.

Allow the children to climb. It gives them nerve and courage.

Every well fed child should have one egg a day as part of its diet.

Apply salt and soda to a bee sting. Household ammonia will also do the trick.

To remove stains from a coat collar rub it gently with a cloth dipped in ammonia.

A fellow crazy with the heat pronounced this: Two Americans fell out of an airship; what nationality were they when they came down? We let the poor nut rave, and presently he gave us the answer. One came down a Russian, he said; the other landed on the telegraph wires and came down a Pole.

There is nothing repulsive in Miller's Worm Powders, and they are as pleasant to take as sugar, so that few children will refuse them. In some cases they cause vomiting through their action in an unsound stomach, but this is only a manifestation in their cleaning power no indication that they are hurtful. They can be thoroughly depended upon to clear all worms from the system. m

What "Boche" Means

The term "Boche" as applied to the German soldiers, isn't a complimentary one, nor anything new. It is an old term in France and means "thick-headed." It is about equivalent to our American term of "bone-head." In fact, the word comes from the Italian "boccia" and means a round ball of exceptionally hard wood used in playing ten pins. But just how it came to be applied to the German soldiers we do not know. As a general rule, nicknames given to soldiers are not unkindly. The French soldier is called "poilu," which means hairy, because in the early French wars, the soldiers had no opportunity to shave or have their hair cut, and when they returned from the army, they had a rough, hairy uncouth appearance. But there was nothing unkindly in calling them "poilu." The English are called "Tommys" because of a fictitious popular British soldier made immortal in verse and given the name of "Tommy Atkins." During the Civil War the Union troops were called "Yanks" as an abbreviation of the word "Yankeo," and the Confederates were called "Johnny Rebs," from "rebel." But never was there bitterness of sarcasm in the terms. But now we have the German soldiers generally called "Boches," or "Boneheads," and certainly not as a term of endearment. The appellation "Hun," which one sees in print frequently, also is a term of reproach and means that the Germans' present warfare and tactics savor the barbarity of the Huns, who, under Attila, came near overrunning Europe and destroying civilization. There were many of the Huns left in the region that has since become Germany, but the German people, as a people, are not descendants of the Huns.—Columbus Dispatch.

Household Hints

Mica in stoves can be cleaned if taken out and thoroughly washed with vinegar, slightly diluted.

With a vegetable dinner it is permissible to serve a dessert rich in eggs and cream.

Unslacked lime, sprinkled on the cellar floor, will dispel any stale odors in the cellar.

Sunshine will work wonders with mattresses and pillows which have become musty.

Brush the rollers of your refrigerator with kerosene if you are troubled with ants.

Hard-boiled eggs, cut into five pieces and put in the chicken soup, will make it rich.

There is nothing gained by planting vegetables before the ground is thoroughly ready.

White waxed paper and rubber bands make excellent covers for babies' milk bottles.

Rice and meat cooked together in any one of many ways make an excellent luncheon dish.

Some women are so busy trying to prepare their charms that they haven't time for anything else.

Some writers get a dollar a word—and some word-getters get more than that when they talk saucily to the judge.

"Economy puddings" and "economy meat pies" are the latest forms in which food is served in certain fashionable households. Plain foods are growing into favour again the world over since the war.

Vacant lot, back yard and school gardens have produced $350,000,000 worth of vegetables this summer in the United States. In Canada, by the same proportion, the increased production of vegetables in cities and towns amounts to about $28,000,000.

In part of the ground captured by the Canadians near Lens, there are many dugouts forty feet or more down in the chalk, where nothing short of an earthquake could disturb the occupants.

A 14-year-old youngster was being closely questioned by a United States immigration official when the train reached the International bridge. He said he was on his way to join an aunt in Chicago, but that his mother was in Cleveland. There was no one else who could travel with him. "Where is your father?" the suspicious official asked. "In France," replied the boy, and that put an end to the interrogation.

Speaking of advertising, here is what some publishers charge for space: Ladies' Home Journal, $8 a line or $104 per inch, and $5,000 for a full page each issue; the back cover sells for $10,000.

A full page advertisement in the Saturday Evening Post sells for $5,000, and the back cover sells for $7,000, the centre page in colors is $12,000. As this advertising space is always filled it is evident that advertising pays even at these prices.

No Servant Class in England

Lady Mildred Honeywood, wife of Sir Courtney John Honeywood, now on a visit to this country, has described the part that women are playing in England in this war as "just something which cannot be understood unless one takes part in it herself."

"Perhaps you believe," she adds, it is only the women of the middle or lower classes who have plunged their hands into the dirt and the grime to save England. This is not so. All of the women of the nobility have their arms to the shoulders in the disagreeable work of war. You must remember that there is virtually no servant class in England today. Butlers, cooks and chefs are doing their bit for Old England in the trenches, fighting and dying like true Englishmen. All of the maids are working in the munition factories or on the farms. And who, then, you ask, is attending to the fussy needs of England's noblewomen? Who is buttoning their frocks? Who is doing their washing and ironing? Who is preparing their meals, and who is doing the so-called menial labor so patiently and efficiently done by England's servant class?

"England's noblewomen and the women of the wealthy class are doing these things themselves. It is now a common sight to see a baroness hoeing in the garden or laboring in the kitchen, where three years ago the trained servant reigned supreme. England is demonstrating that when you arouse the womanhood of a nation the world had better watch out."

EVILS OF ADENOIDS.

These Growths Are a Real Menace to the Health of a Child.

Not every child that is backward at school, that breathes through his mouth, has dull eyes, a short upper lip, prominent upper teeth or has a drawn, tired expression about the face has adenoids, says a state board of health bulletin. But this condition should lead a parent to suspect adenoid growth, and it should not be dismissed till a thorough examination has proved that such is not the case.

Adenoids are a small, soft, reddish growth which comes in the back part of the throat where the nose and throat join. A child who has adenoids breathes with his mouth open, has frequent colds and may have earache often or become deaf. It is not infrequent that adenoids dull the expression of the eyes, destroy the resonance of the voice and distort the facial expression so as to produce a blank, idiotic stare. They hinder mental development by interfering with proper physiological development. For that reason "repeaters" at school are frequently said to be afflicted with adenoids.

The best time to remove adenoids is when they are first recognizable to a physician. If they remain longer they do harm. They cause a child to have "colds" often and make him more susceptible to diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles and whooping cough. Furthermore, if he gets any of these diseases they are likely to be severe with him and leave him even worse afflicted.

Cold, fresh air breathed through the nose is needed to prevent adenoid growth. It is needed also to prevent adenoids returning after an operation. Fresh air taken in through the nose prevents as well as cures adenoids.

MOST SENSITIVE NERVES.

The Two That Can Cause the Greatest Agony of Pain.

Which part of the human body is the most sensitive to pain?

A sharp definition must be drawn here between irritation and pain. Irritation is not pain, but only a frequent cause of it. Thus a crumb lodged in the larynx near the vocal cords produces violent irritation and prolonged coughing, which often result in actual pain. So, too, an insect or speck of dust in the eye sets up violent irritation and inflammation, followed by acute pain.

Of the surface of the body the finger tips and the end of the tongue are most sensitive. For instance, a burn on the fingers is much more painful than one on the back would be, while one on the tongue would be more painful still.

Deep wounds are not painful, as a rule, save as regards the surface injury.

Of pains not caused by external injuries neuralgia of the fifth nerve, the one which supplies the skin of the head and face, is the most intense. It has frequently driven people mad for the time being, and sufferers have been known to cut and even burn the flesh in desperate attempts to relieve it.

The rupture of the branches of the dental nerve in tooth drawing also causes agony so intense that it has been stated that no human being could endure it for more than two seconds at a time.

Hard and soft corns both yield to Hol- loway's Corn Cure, which is entirely safe to use, and certain and satisfactory in its action.

SPEED OF THE ZEPPELINS.

In War Trim, Fully Loaded, the Average is Forty Miles an Hour.

Not so many years ago a British engineering expert calculated that the Zeppelin could not attain a speed of thirty miles an hour, as he proved by figures that the ship would collapse under the air pressure. At the time this speed had been actually exceeded by a Zeppelin, says R. P. Hearne in "Zeppelins and Super-Zeppelins."

Today the tendency is to attribute too high a speed to the vessels. In still air it is doubtful if a higher speed than sixty-five miles an hour can be reached, and by the most careful calculation Mr. Hearne has come to the conclusion that the average speed of the modern Zeppelin in war trim is about forty miles an hour, full load.

"Of course," he says, "with a favoring wind the ship may often be running at over sixty miles an hour, and the difficulty of gauging wind speed often causes erroneous estimates of Zeppelin speed by observers on land. In the upper region where an airship is moving there may be a strong current, while near the earth there is a calm."

It is well to note that for a short period a Zeppelin can climb faster than an aeroplane. By throwing out ballast, going full speed ahead, jamming the tail down and shoving the nose up, a Zeppelin jumps a thousand feet or so in about half a minute. This rate of climb, however, cannot be maintained.

EXERCISE AND FOOD.

In the Interest of Good Health They Should Just Balance.

"It has not been so very long, comparatively speaking, since our ancestors were almost exclusively animal in their daily pursuits," says the New York Medical Journal. "Since then the blessing of cooking has proved often a curse, in that it adds temptation to our natural tendency to take more food than we need for sedentary purposes, merely for the sake of the savor thereof.

"It is such a joy to dine, and other sources of pleasure seem so scarce or of such less moment to the average man that to a large extent eating has become one of the reasons for existence. We have made much of the evil of treating to alcoholic drinks, but the temptation held out to intemperance in foods is a more widespread evil, with serious consequences in the long run.

"With a reasonable amount of muscular exercise, perhaps, truer physiological balance is reached than if we are purely sedentary. We approximate more nearly our animal ancestry as to muscular activity, and we can exercise our digestive powers a trifle more without harm. Surely if we do not expect to suffer in one way or another the amount of bodily exercise must balance the intake of food or the intake of food must be made to correspond with the degree of bodily activity."

A THOROUGH PILL.—To clear the stomach and bowels of impurities and irritants is necessary when their action is irregular. The pills that will do this work thoroughly are Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, which are mild in action but mighty in results. They purge painlessly and effectively, and work a permanent cure. They can be used without fear by the most delicately constituted, as there are no painful effects preceding their operation.

Mountain Barriers Handicap Italy's Red Cross Workers

Over Italy's far-flung 450-mile battle line where Austria, aided by nature in the ice-bound ramparts of the Alps, has striven to keep free Italy shut out from enslaved Italy, the Italian Red Cross Society is heroically waging its fight for the relief of suffering humanity against odds far greater than those surmounted by the Red Cross banner-bearers on other Allied battle fronts.

On the western front the automobile ambulances quickly speed back the wounded from the front lines. Likewise medical attention and hospitals are near at hand for the Russians on the Eastern battle line, though supplies are scarce.

But the task of caring for the Italian wounded among the unstable snows and mountains of the Alps is almost inconceivable. Often the sufferers must be transported in box-like cars sliding on overhead cables or even lowered by ropes down the mountain sides. On snow sledges or by burrow back are the most common methods of carrying the Italian wounded down the mountain trails. Intense suffering; and often death is caused before the hospitals, miles away, are reached. Treacherous snow, ice and rocks, and the extreme cold, cause many casualties among the Italian soldiers. Thousands of amputations have resulted in the two years of warfare among perpetual snows.

The Italian Red Cross Society and the Royal Italian Government fund for orphans of fallen Italian soldiers ask of their Canadian ally—"Will you help?" In answer to this appeal Southern and Western Ontario have fixed a goal of $100,000 to be raised by popular subscriptions. Campaigns will be conducted during August and September.

Every dollar given to the Italian Red Cross Society will shorten the war against Germany and its horrors. Every fit fighting man in the trenches, be he Canadian, British, Italian, or other ally, makes more efficient fighting forces—thus hastening the war's end.

Help to Save Canada's Fruit Crop

A Practical Thrift Suggestion

This year, as never before, every quart of Canada's fruit crop should be used to the very best advantage. Though it all ripens within four months, it can be made to supply every table, every day in the year, at moderate cost.

Canning and preserving, done at home at the time when each fruit is cheapest, provide in delicious and economical form the daily fruit so necessary in a wholesome diet. Fruit put up at home is much cheaper than that which you buy, and the slight increase in its cost, due to the higher price of sugar, is small compared with the mounting cost of other foods.

Successful preserving and canning are by no means difficult, either, if you are careful to boil every- thing, and use

Slackers' 23rd Psalm

My friend in khaki is my shepherd, I shall not want.

He maketh me to lie down in my cosy cottage. He spareth me the evils of the fight.

He gladdeneth my heart. He maketh possible for me to walk in the paths of cowardice, for my own life's sake.

Yea, though the shadows of destruction, fear and death hang over my covering head, I will fear no evil, for is not my brother fighting for me. His weapons and his courage they comfort me.

He enableth me to prepare a plentiful table, while he keepeth my enemy far from me, luxury and pleasure attend my way; the cup of life never tasted so sweet.

Surely safety and happiness shall follow me as long as my friends are unfeeling; and I will dwell, not in the trenches, but in my own house, undisturbed, as long as my brother does his duty.

United States Potato Crop

This is a record year in the growing of potatoes in the United States. The crop is estimated at 467,000,000 bushels being 47 millions more than the record crop of 1912. The buckwheat is the largest for many years and oats equals that of 1915.

A special vegetable committee is to be appointed by the food controller. Its first business will be to cooperate with the distribution bureau of the food controller's office, to insure proper distribution of this year's apple crop.

KEEP CHILDREN WELL DURING HOT WEATHER

Every mother knows how fatal the hot summer months are to small children. Cholera infantum, diarrhoea, dysentry and stomach troubles are rife at this time and often a precious little life is lost after a few hours illness. The mother who keeps Baby's Own Tablets in the house feels safe. The occasional use of the Tablets prevents stomach and bowel troubles, or if trouble comes suddenly—as it generally does—the Tablets will bring the baby safely through. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

So many farmers in the vicinity of their machines.

Well Known Lambton Man Figures in Pretty Romance

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Iverson, jr., who were recently married in Sarnia will make their home in Sarnia. Mr.
Iverson recently returned from India and was married at the residence of his sister, Mrs. Wm. Wheeler. Prior to her marriage the bride was Mrs. C. VanHulstyn, the young widow of a Dutch officer, who died at Java, Dutch East Indies, four years ago. A romance is connected with the marriage. The bride, who is the mother of two children, was en route to Holland, via San Francisco and sailing on the boat was Mr. Iverson. They renewed acquaintances formed in Batavia some nine years previous. The bride is reputed to be wealthy, owning a rubber plantation in the East Indies. The newly married couple motored to Petrolia, where a wedding dinner was served.

CHOP STUFF

The Wyoming Enterprise will not be published this week.

John Churchill of Petrolia has corn growing in his garden over ten feet in height.

Stink weed, so common in the western provinces, has made its appearance in Huron county.

Wm. Glover, a farmer near Fingal, threshed 3000 bushels of oats from a 44 acre field.

W. C. Browne & Son, undertakers, Alvinston, have sold out to F. Slaght of Wellandport.

Daniel McMillan, Dunwich, sold two heifers and a calf to D. Purcell & Son of Wardsville for $500.

Mr. George Rivers of Strathroy has made arrangements for the rebuilding of his basket factory recently destroyed by fire.

The heart of Rev. L. A. Beaudoin has been deposited in a crypt at Our Lady of the Lake church at Ford, where he labored for many years as pastor.

Queen street, Ailsa Craig, has been made a party of the good roads scheme of Middlesex county and about $1000 will be spent putting it in good condition.

R. J. Campbell of Petrolia is one of the five successful candidates in the published reports of the Manual Training course at Toronto University which he attended in July.

To cultivate the onion crop in Mersea, abandoned autoes are purchased, equipped with 24-inch tired traction wheels, and to these disks are attached, doing the work effectively.

Deputy-reve James Jardine, of Enniskillen township used 115 lbs of binder twine this year. Last year he used 50 lbs.
This is a fair indication of the size of crops throughout the township.

The Doherty Manufacturing company have donated a stove valued at $90 to the directors of the Sarnia fall fair to be awarded to the vegetable growers for the best display of vegetables in bushel lots.

Miss Mary McMurphy, daughter of Dan McMurphy, 2nd line Plympton, underwent an operation last week at the C. E. E. Hospital Petrolia for appendicitis which though successful will necessitate her remaining for some time.

While threshing was going on at the farm of E. Valentine, near West Lorne, a piece of the inside of the machine broke and went through the blower, striking Arch. McColl in the leg and breaking it just above the ankle.

The body of Miss Maud Hotson of Parkhill, who was drowned while boating off Ipperwash Beach on Wednesday, August 28, was recovered on Monday.
The body had drifted across the lake,
and was found five miles below Port Huron.

At Strathroy Westley Hambly, while working in the marble shop, reached up to get something out of a box above his head. His foot slipped and he fell with considerable force, striking his right eye against an iron hook that was hanging from a beam, with the result that he may lose the sight of the eye, and possibly the eye itself.

Wm. Derrick and Angus Wigle two farmers living about one mile east of Kingsville, each lost a valuable horse recently through being poisoned in the following manner: The June bugs, which were very numerous along the lake front this season, settled in the pastures and died. These were eaten with the grass by the animals, causing poison, which killed them.

Lieut. Fred Browne, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Browne, who went overseas last fall and joined the Royal Naval Flying Corps, has returned home. Lieut.
Browne was hurt in a flying accident and suffered internal injuries which have unfitted him from further service.
Although able to be around he will be some time in fully recovering from a stomach puncture which was part of his injuries. Though circumstances have prevented his engaging in actual hostilities, he has "done his bit" well. It is a fortunate thing that he escaped without fatal injury from the accident.

Bringing the County Together

Warden John B. Woodhall, of Lambton county, inaugurated a new scheme which has much to commend it, when he organized a tour of the county by the county councillors. Those from the southern part of the county were surprised at the development in peach growing in the northern sections. This "getting together" of the county council will have a beneficial effect in creating a better understanding between the different sections, and will make for more intelligent work in the council meetings, as well as a greater sympathy among the councillors.—Weekly Sun.

Canadians Must Eat Less

Baron Rhonda, Food Controller of Great Britain, is considering the fixation of the price of a 3 ½ pound loaf of war bread at 8 cents. This compares with 11 cents for 1 ½ pound loaves in many Canadian cities.
That is, in Britain, bread from Canadian wheat or flour after travelling 3000 miles at high rates, will sell at 5 cents a pound while in Canada the price is 7 and 8 cents and often more, and not a submarine in sight.
This is a situation for which the Canadian Food Controller is seeking the remedy, and if necessary he will fix prices. But first he must be sure of all his facts. In any event, however, Canadians must eat less bread and substitute other foods, for the whole world is short of bread.

Unspeakable Meanness

The Winnipeg Free Press characterizes as "Unspeakable Meanness" the argument that Canada "has done enough," that it should send no more troops to the front but allow the other Entente countries and the United States to do its fighting. The term is not one whit too strong. The
"we have done enough" argument is despicable and cowardly.

If the anti-war crowd in Canada had its way Canadian divisions at the front would shrink to nothing but a memory of the heroic sons and brothers of Canadians at home who have fought and bled on the fields of France for the cause of liberty.
"We have done enough" is the argument of those who have done little or nothing and would rather risk German victory and Canadian dishonor than do their duty either voluntarily or by compulsion.

STRICKEN IN THE STREET

Completely Restored To Health By "Fruit-a-tives"

882 St. Valier St., MONTREAL.
"In 1912, I was taken suddenly ill with Acute Stomach Trouble and dropped in the street. I was treated by several physicians for nearly two years, and my weight dropped from 225 pounds to 160 pounds. Then several of my friends advised me to try "Fruit-a-tives". I began to improve almost with the first dose, and by using them, I recovered from the distressing Stomach Trouble—and all pain and Constipation were cured. Now I weigh 208 pounds. I cannot praise "Fruit-a-tives" enough". H. WHITMAN.

A YOUNG HOSTESS

She Entertained a Great Man Unawares

By F. A. MITCHEL

"Gladys," said John Oldershaw to his daughter before setting out from the family residence in the province of Ontario, Canada, "General Herbert is coming to see me this morning by appointment to talk over military matters pertaining to our Canadian part in the great war. I have been summoned to another conference of equal importance. I must rely upon you to keep the general engaged until my return. We have important matters to talk over, and I don't wish him to leave without our having the conference."

"What kind of matters?"
"Herbert has been fighting in Belgium and has greatly distinguished himself. I need the information he is able to impart. While recovering from a wound he has been sent over here to instruct us in the needs and necessities of the Canadian troops at the front."

"How long will you be gone, papa?"
"It may be an hour; it may be all day."

"Well, papa, I'll do what I can with him, but I don't see how I, a mere girl, can entertain a general."
The last few words were not heard by the father, who was hurrying away to catch a train.

Gladys Oldershaw proceeded to execute certain household duties which devolved upon her as her father's housekeeper. They were not onerous, and did not take up much of her time. When she had finished them she went out on to the porch and looked about her for some out of door occupation or amusement. The croquet ground looked inviting, and, taking out a box of balls and a mallet, she went there and began to play alone. But she found playing croquet without an opponent a very unsatisfactory amusement, and was about to give it up when, looking aside, she saw a small, slender young man whose clothes fitted him badly looking over the fence at her.

"Beg pardon," he said. "Is this Mr. Oldershaw's place?"
"It is."
"Is he at home?"
"No, he has gone to the city."
The young man looked disappointed. He asked how long Mr. Oldershaw would remain away.

"Father expects a man to see him today, a general who has come back from the war. Father told me before going to tell this man that he might be gone an hour and he might be gone all day."

A curious expression passed over the stranger's face at the mention of the great man who was expected.
"I don't know," he said, "that Mr. Oldershaw will have any time to devote to me, having the general with him." Gladys made no reply to this; she evidently thought the man was quite right.

"What is your idea of a general's age?" he asked.
Gladys considered the question irrelevant but concluded to answer it. She said a general must be an old man; forty at least.

"I think I'll wait awhile," said the little man, looking interestedly at the nearby tennis court.
"You might put in some time at tennis," suggested Gladys; "that is, if you play the game."

"One can't very well play tennis without an opponent," was the reply. Gladys told him that she was disappointed and would accommodate him. She procured a racket for him, and, climbing the fence, he took position for the game. He appeared to be an expert player, but was at a disadvantage in getting over the ground, dragging one leg after him with some slight difficulty.

They played several sets, and during the time occupied in doing so Gladys' opinion of her opponent was being improved. He seemed to be rather gentle for a man, but amiable as well, and he was quite original in his way of saying things.

The game was interrupted by the approach of a very large man with gray moustaches, in uniform, who stopped and asked if Mr. Oldershaw was at home.

"Are you General Herbert?" asked Gladys.
"No, I am Colonel Waterman."
"Papa expects General Herbert today. I supposed you were he."

The colonel passed on, and Gladys turned again to her opponent in tennis and suggested that he might be tired and would like to go the house and rest. He admitted that it was rather tiresome playing with a game leg, as he called it, and he wouldn't mind a rest. Indeed, he seemed to be quite exhausted with the efforts he had made. Gladys led him to the porch, pointed to a swinging sofa, and when he sat down on it insisted that he lie at full length and covered him with an afghan.

"I think you played too long," she said.
"Tennis is an active game," was his reply.

Gladys went into the house and brought out some refreshment for him, of which he partook and seemed to feel stronger.

"What made you think that man who asked if your father was at home was General Herbert?" he asked.

"Oh, he was so big and fierce looking. Then, too, he was about the right age for a general."

"All generals are not old. There are generals in the armies in Europe not over twenty-five years of age."

"Why, I thought the captains and lieutenants were about that age."

"Usually they are, but sometimes a man gets to be a general earlier."

"How does he do it?"
"Oh, he loses his head and does something he wouldn't dare do in his calmer moments. It is mistaken for an act of bravery, and they promote him. If he does it often enough and doesn't get himself killed he may reach the grade of general."

"I don't think that's a very nice way of putting it."
"It's about true."

"How do you, a civilian, know anything about such matters?" There was a touch of irony in this.

"Oh, I have friends who have been there."
"I suppose they wouldn't take you in the army?"

"Why not?"
"In the first place, you're lame; besides, you don't look very strong. And all the soldiers I've seen are rather large men."

"I don't fancy," said the little man, "that if I were to present myself for enlistment as I am today I would be accepted. I couldn't even be a private in the rear ranks. Funny, isn't it?"

Gladys did not see anything funny about it, but she refrained from saying so.

"I wonder," she said instead, "what is keeping General Herbert? Father said he had a special appointment."

"I wish for your sake," said the little man, "that General Herbert had come instead of my humble servant."

"I don't."
"Why?"
"How do you suppose a girl like me could entertain him?"

The little man laughed.
"What amuses you?" asked Gladys.
"That you should suppose that a man is a great big noble creature covered with glory simply because he is a general. How many generals' reputations have lasted as long as that of Alexander Pope, the poet, who had a miserable body and never a well day?"

"Papa contends," said Gladys thoughtfully, "that persons admire their opposites. That evidently isn't true in your case."

"I don't deny that I would prefer a more imposing stature."
"I don't mean that at all. What I do mean is that you, a delicate, sickly man, don't seem to set any great store by bravery."

"There are different kinds of bravery. Moral bravery is always admirable. Physical bravery is as liable to be found in a savage as in the most civilized man. That it is akin to the courage of a beast is evidenced by the fact that most men when they go into a fight are frightened out of their senses. When they get into it their brutal nature comes to the surface and they fight like brutes."

"How do you know how men feel when they go into battle?"
The little man showed a bit of confusion at the question, but was equal to the occasion. He said that he had read a great deal about soldiers.

"So have I," the girl retorted. "When I read about a battle I always wish I were a man and were in it."

"I once read a description of a battle written by a man who had just come out of it. He was writing at the field hospital where the surgeons were at work. His battle pictures made me glad that I wasn't in it."

"Oh, I suppose if one is not—"
She got no further. Hearing the gate close, she looked around and saw her father hurrying up the walk. On reaching the veranda he said:

"I am sorry, general, to have kept you waiting for me. But I see that my little girl has taken good care of you."
"Your little girl has knocked me out at tennis."

"What! Tennis? With that wound of yours? Gladys, what in the world did you permit General Herbert to play tennis for? You have endangered his life."

Meanwhile Gladys stood mute with astonishment, to say nothing of confusion. It is said that all the scenes of a man's life are rushed before his eyes when he is drowning. Certain it is that everything Gladys had said to General Herbert came up to mock her. He came to her rescue.

"Oh, Miss Gladys didn't know that I was even a soldier. She has an exaggerated view of what a general should be and what many of them are. I am sorry to say—an old fool too old to fight and too stupid to show others how to fight. But we have been getting rid of those fellows on the other side, and nearly all our generals are now good men. As for me, I have never yet had a general command, and I'm not in a hurry to get one. A brigade is all I'll get, anyway."

Gladys retired, leaving her father's guest to instruct him with regard to the necessities of the Canadian troops at the seat of war. By dinner time she had recovered from her embarrassment, and General Herbert had become in her eyes a greater man than if he had appeared as a six footer, booted and spurred, covered with decorations and swinging a big sword.

So long as Mr. Oldershaw was present Gladys was tongue tied. But after dinner the father found it necessary to attend to certain matters that called him to his study. This left the general and Gladys alone, and she came out from her shell.

General Herbert has since rejoined the army and left a bride in Canada, nee Gladys Oldershaw.

Roumanian Superstitions.
It is considered lucky to arrive in Roumania accompanied by rain. It means abundance, fertility, the hope of a fine harvest—wealth. Sometimes the peasant women put large wooden buckets of water before their threshold; a full vessel is a sign of good luck. They will even sprinkle water before one's feet, because water means abundance. "I have seen," says the queen of Roumania in an article about the people of her country, "tall, handsome girls step out to meet me with overflowing water jars on their heads; on my approach they stood quite still, the drops splashing over their faces so as to prove that their pitchers were full. It is lucky to meet a cart full of corn or straw coming toward one, but an empty cart is a sure sign of bad luck."

What Makes Business Success.
"There is always a premium in business on the man who does his work painstakingly," says J. O. Armour in the American Magazine, "with completeness and finality. He is the man who will be trusted with more and more responsibility, up to the limit of his capacity. The man who informs himself adequately about his firm, its methods, its policies and its products, who does his work so well that no one needs follow him up to patch the ragged edges, is on the safest, surest and shortest road to achievement."

The Usual Remedy.
Bobbie had been studying his grandfather's face, which was very much wrinkled.

"Well, Bob," said the old gentleman, "do you like my face?"
"Yes, grandpa," said Bobbie. "It's an awfully nice face. But why don't you have it ironed?"

Her Idea.
"What, buying cigars for your husband? I shouldn't think you'd encourage him in the filthy habit."
"I'm not. I'm buying them to discourage him."

Logic.

THE ISLAND OF SERPENTS.

Quaint Legends Cluster Round Historic Spot.
Less than thirty miles east of Sulina, the only important Black Sea port remaining in the possession of Roumania since Field Marshal von Mackensen captured Constanza, is the tiny Island of Serpents, around which cling many fantastic legends of fascinating interest, as well as several historical episodes which at one time threatened to become of international moment.

Unlike the monotonous reaches of reed-covered marshland which stretch for fifty miles along the Roumanian and Russian shores to the north and south of the Sulina mouth of the Danube, and seldom attaining an elevation of more than two feet above the level of the Black Sea, the Island of Serpents, or Fido-nisi, thrusts its precipitous cliffs above the water to heights ranging from fifty to one hundred feet. It is a mere fleck of rock in a sea whose depth a few yards from the shore is twenty fathoms. The islet is scarcely more than a mile in circumference, but it has been a beacon guiding ships to the Danube for many centuries, its elevation being in such striking contrast to the delta-land of the great river.

In ancient times Fido-nisi had a variety of names, but Grecian poets and travellers referred to it most frequently as Louce of the White Island, on account of the numerous seafoams which at certain seasons of the year swarmed over its cliffs. It was to this island that Thetis, the marine goddess, is supposed to have carried the ashes of her son Achilles, hence the temple erected here in honor of the hero of the Trojan war. Another legend relates that Thetis snatched the body of Achilles from the funeral pyre, that he was restored to life and that thereafter he lived on the island of Iphigenia, the daughter of Agamemnon, who had been saved from sacrifice by the goddess Artemis.

One of the most poetic descriptions of the island and its temple is given by Arrian in the account of his voyage around the Black Sea in the second century of the Christian era. He wrote: "It is related that Thetis gave this island to Achilles and that he still inhabits it. His temple and statue, both of very ancient workmanship, are seen there. No human being dwells on it; it has only a few goats which mariners convey to it as votive offerings. Other offerings or sacred gifts are suspended in honor of Achilles, such as vases, rings, and precious gems.

"Seabirds, divers, and fowl innumerable frequent the island and the birds alone have the care of the shrine. Every morning they repair to the sea, and, dipping their wings in the waves, sprinkle the temple and afterwards sweep with their plumage its sacred pavement."
The name Island of Serpents grew out of the fact that numerous black snakes from four to five feet long were discovered here by mariners. Many of the reptiles are said to have fallen in the cisterns of the island and polluted the waters, which are now undrinkable.

The Amazons are supposed to have attempted to seize this island on one occasion, but the ghost of Achilles appeared and so terrified the horses of the female warriors that the riders were thrown and severely trampled upon, whereupon the expedition was abandoned.

The Perfect Girl.
The following are the attributes of the perfect girl as seen through Harvard eyes, some 50 bachelor graduates having recently, and after considerable discussion, agreed on them for the "girl that's worth while":
She is attractive, graceful, and healthy, but not necessarily pretty. She can dress tastefully and entertain anyone and make him feel at ease.
She can make bread as well as fudge, and cake as well as a "rare-bit."
Her dancing is not necessarily latest, her tennis is not necessarily up to the standard, but she is appreciative of the dance and of the sports.
She is broad minded, sympathetic, tactful, unselfish, optimistic, thrifty, of good disposition, and moderate in all things.
She can stand reverses without worry.
She is gentle to children and kind to older people, especially to her parents.
She has a broad education, but not necessarily a college one.
She is modest and true and home loving. She has good social standing, is of a religious nature, and is not "too proud to pray."

Largest Flower in the World.
It is believed that the island of Mindanao produces the largest flower in the world. Its habitat is high up the Parag Mountain, two thousand five hundred feet above the level of the sea. The natives give it the name of Bolo. Its full-blown blossom, five-petalled, is over three feet in diameter and weighs twenty-two pounds. The flower was first found in Sumatra and was called Rafflesia Schadenburgia, in honor of its discoverer.

Some Golf Shot.
A Glasgow golfer vouches for the following: "Playing over the Cathcart castle course one evening last summer with two friends, we were approaching the fourth green, which is of the plateau type. Having played my second, I was preparing to walk toward the green when the air was rent with loud laughter and shouting. On going forward to inquire the cause of the hilarity we learned that my shot had overrun the green, passed between the legs of the player who was at the moment in the act of driving from the fifth tee (the fifth being at right angles to the fourth), knocked his ball from the tee, and his club, descending, had made a perfect shot with my ball to the edge of the fifth green, 175 yards away."—Golfer's Magazine.

Old Time Oratory Unpopular.
The definition of "oratory" is difficult, but in the public mind that form of public speaking called "oratory" is either amusing or offensive. It is suggestive of the mouthing and ranting of some old time tragedian who roared and bellowed on the stage. The public of today will stand for eloquence which bears the mark of sincerity, but the old form of "oration" with gestures of practiced grace, frequent allusion to Greek and Roman history and plentiful quotations from the poets no longer stir men to great depths or heights—Exchange.

Keep to the Ridges.
When tramping through a country that has many streams it is usually better to get upon the nearest ridge and follow that than to try to make your way along the course of some stream. The ridge will give you a better outlook and drier walking, while the stream may have to be crossed a number of times and, if its windings are followed, will add miles to your journey.—Outing.

Tough.
"What kind of bird do you call this, waiter?"
"A canvasback duck, sir."
"Well, if you'll get me a pair or scissors so I can rip off the canvas I'll try to make a meal of it."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Never ask a woman for her reasons. If you will only keep still and wait awhile she will give them to you.—Boston Transcript.

SORRS FLEE BEFORE IT.—There are many who have been afflicted with sores and have driven them away with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, which acts like magic. All similarly troubled should lose no time in applying this splendid remedy as there is nothing like it to be had. It is cheap, but its power is in no way expressed by its low price.

The Young Farmer and the Fair

It is the duty of every young man if he has reasonably good stock on the place to fit it for the local fair which requires support of all stockmen in the neighborhood to make it a success. Without live stock most exhibitions would fall flat. Give the neighbors an opportunity to see what you can produce on the old farm and by reason of coming in close touch with other exhibitors you will no doubt pick up information that will aid you in further preparing your herd for shows. There is no reason why two or three young men should drive their stock from fair to fair. "Copping off" the greater portion of the prize money in every community there are animals that would compete favorably with the best usually brought out if they were given a little better fitting and training. The writer knows of local fairs that have been greatly improved by the young men helping in the management and bringing out the best stock they had on the place. While they were not very successful the first year in the show ring they profited by their experience and came back the following year, and were able to get to the top in several classes. This had the effect of waking up the old exhibitors, who were used to having things their own way, and encouraged other young men to make entries. Stronger competition is not only good for the fair but it has a tendency to improve the quality of live stock kept in the community. The ambitious boy doesn't like to see the other fellow get ahead of him, consequently he secures good stock, trains and shows it. At many fairs there are classes for amateurs, so that those starting have an opportunity of winning some prizes. However, the prize should not be the whole aim. The educational value ought to be considered. Look over the home stock and see if there is not something that could be shown. It may be a team of horses, a colt or a driver, or possibly some of the cattle, sheep or hogs could be put in condition and trained in readiness for the show season. Be a sport; fit your stock and make it worthy of you and of the farm. If you fail to get near the top you will at least feel that you have done your best. Be a good loser and remember that it is more honor to stand fifth or sixth in a class of ten, than to get the red ticket without competition.

Two Lambton School Fairs

Two school fairs for Lambton county are scheduled to take place in September. One will be held in Jericho, Bosanquet, and the other in Sarnia Township. W. P. McDonald, district agricultural representative, is in charge and a large list of entries is expected. Despite the greater production campaign, entailing the use of all available help, the fairs will be held as usual, and urban pupils are exhibiting a great deal of interest in this work. Farm produce, root crops, potatoes, poultry, livestock and the usual entries of penmanship, essays, drawings and domestic science will be judged and prizes awarded. All exhibits must be the personal work of the exhibitor, and products must be grown from the seeds supplied by the agricultural department. Programs of sport are also arranged for each fair, and are the subject of much interest.

FREQUENT HEADACHES

People with thin blood are much more subject to headaches than full-blooded persons, and the form of anaemia that afflicts growing girls is almost always accompanied by headaches, together with disturbance of the digestive organs. Whenever you have constant or recurring headaches and pallor of the face, they show that the blood is thin and your efforts should be directed toward building up your blood. A fair treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will do this effectively, and the rich red blood made by these pills will remove the headache.

More disturbances to the health are caused by their blood than most people have an idea of. When your blood is impoverished, the nerves suffer from lack of nourishment and you may be troubled with insomnia, neuritis, neuralgia or sciatica. Muscles subject to strain are under-nourished and you may have muscular rheumatism or lumbago. If your blood is thin and you begin to show symptoms of any of these disorders, try building up the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and as the blood is restored to its normal condition every symptom of the trouble will disappear. There are more people who owe their present state of good health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills than to any other medicine, and most of them do not hesitate to say so.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Soldiers' Parcels

The postal authorities find it necessary to again remind the public that in mailing parcels for soldiers overseas, the customs declaration must contain a list of articles contained in the parcel. It is not sufficient to merely state "Soldiers' Comforts," "Foodstuffs," "Bats," etc. Each article must be specified. The sharp corners of tin boxes should also be rounded flat with a hammer before mailing.

Why A Child Needs Glasses

MANY children are born with a defect of vision. Unless it is very great the child does not particularly suffer until the school period. Then the young mind becomes intent upon study and any defect of vision becomes a direct strain upon the brain. To relieve this the child will squint, or turn the head, in many cases using only one eye. This habit grows until we almost have a deformity of the eye.

Parents; do not let this be the experience of your child. We will gladly and thoroughly examine your child's eyes, and tell you truthfully how best to remedy it. See to it now.

Homestead Map

A publication which should prove of considerable interest to the prospective settler to Western Canada has just been issued by the Natural Resources Intelligence Branch of the Department of the Interior. It is known as the "Homestead" Map and shows graphically the exact location of each quarter-section which is still available for entry under the free Government offer of 160 acres.

The Map has been published in four separate sheets, one each for Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Northern and Southern Alberta, respectively, and is available for free distribution in individual sheets or in complete sets.

The Homestead Map is one of a number of maps, reports and bulletins with respect to settlement in Western Canada that are available for free distribution upon application to the Natural Resources Intelligence Branch. In view of the arrangement with respect to farm labour in Western Canada counting as residence on a homestead and thereby reducing the period within which residence and cultivation duties must be performed prior to applying for a title to the land, also on account of the impetus which has been given to Agriculture by the present world shortage of foodstuffs, the demand for information on the subject of homesteading is showing a marked increase.

Economy a Patriotic Duty

Domestic economizing is a patriotic duty, but if not practiced, the time might be approaching when it will become a grim necessity. Patriotic people will agree with every word of the Food Controller's advice to Canadian consumers, urging the necessity of strict economy and a reduction in the use of certain food commodities.
