OTTAWA, Feb. 12 .- (Special.)-We find that the Transcontinental Railway Commission, the Grand Trunk Railway and those having charge of the construction of the railway did not onsider it desirable or necessary to practice or encourage economy in the onstruction of this road.

"We find that without including the noney which was unnecessarily expended in building the railway east of the St. Lawrence River, forty million dollars at least was needlessly expended in the building of the road."

This is the conclusion which F. P. Gutelius and J. Lynch-Staunton, the wo commissioners appointed to investigate the transcontinental railway, have reached. Their report was today. The commission was appointed on Jan. 29, 1912, and a personal inspection of all the work done prior to October, 1911, between Moncton and Winnipeg was made by the two comwere familiar with their particular ground or immediately after the in-

Hon. Mr. Fielding advised the house that the cost of such a railway from Quebec to Winnipeg, 1344 miles, would be $35.000 per mile or $47.040,000, and from Moncton to Quebec, 460 miles, at $31,250 per mile, or $14.375.000, a total of $61,415.000.

Contractors Waxed Rich.

The rules adopted by the commission resulted in only five contractors tendering for only 806 miles of railway. Eleven firms secured all the work and sub-let it to upwards of 100 sub-contractors, who, if ordinary government practice had been followed would in all probability have competed in the bidding. As an indication of the handsome profits derived by these 11 firms, they were paid $8,800,000 in profits for that part of the work which they sub-let.

Capt. Munn of Brandon Sails for Sold Employer's Bicycle for Two London to Organize Expedition for North.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—A tale rivalling that of J. Rider Haggard's "King Solomon Mines" was unfolded by Captain Henry T. Munn of Brandon, Manitoba, who sailed on the Lusitania to complete preparations in London for an expedition in search of gold in Baffin Land.

Captain Munn has organized his searching party. Offices are established at No. 166 Piccadilly, London, W., where he will confer, he says, with Lord Lascelles and Sir Bryan Leighton before starting on the voyage.

"I so in a whaler, taking thirty men with me, and expect to land at Ponds Inlet, Baffin Land, within a few months," said Captain Munn. "I have sailed the Arctic seas and searched for gold in the Klondike and South Arfica, and I feel certain that I will strike it rich this trip.

"The dyins sailor realized, after he made the sale, that he was possessed of information that should make him immensely wealthy. He drew a map of the locality where his discovery was made, but never could go there again. As he died he pressed into the hand of his friend the map of this new gold field.

"Two years ago I learned of this map. I fitted up an expedition, but my vessel was crushed in the ice. I will try again now, as I have ample capital back of me.

"My trip to the Arctic, even if the search for gold proves a failure, will not prove labor lost. After I land I shall send my ship to Newfoundland and will march inland. I may go as far as Melville Island, where I will establish a relief station for the Stefansson expedition, which I understand is drifting eastward in the ice."

Have Slip Covers Made For Your Furniture While the Sale Offers Chintzes at Such Low Prices

Charming Patterns Are Available for All Kinds of Rooms

WILLIAM MORRIS, that gifted man who delivered England from the pest of haircloth furniture and the nightmare of aniline dye, might, in his own inspired way, have designed some of these chintzes that are gathered together for the February Sale. Old hand blocked linen patterns are among them, quaint little all-over flower effects, and delightful Frenchy shadow designs. Ample choice will be found among them for the making of the slip covers, which have become so universal a feature of artistic house furnishing.

Covers Cut and Fitted at Your House

In which connection let attention be drawn to the signal advantage of having such covers made at the present time. The department has achieved notable success in this direction, every facility being available for the producing of loose covers of every description. Moreover, the covers are cut and fitted at your own house, happily obviating the usual necessity of removing the furniture for the purpose.

Selecting the Chintz

For living-rooms mention might be made in particular of some splendid linen taffetas in Post-Impressionist effects in rich deep tones of rose, green and brown, or of blue, green and brown. These are 36 inches wide and priced for the Sale at 75 cents a yard. Some fine tapestry designs in dull blues, greens and browns are the same width and 60 cents a yard.

For bedrooms or simply-furnished drawing-rooms are charming shadow cretonnes in dainty floral and ribbon patterns-36 inches wide, and 50c a yard.

And for bedrooms, sitting-rooms, morning-rooms, etc., are a host of delight-fully quaint chintzes in large and small designs in cheerful tones of rose, blue, green, yellow and brown. These, too, are 36 inches wide and 40 cents a yard -all exceptional Sale values. -Fourth Floor, Yonge Street.

The Nemo Gives Not Only Modish Line But Healthful Support to the Stout Figure

A Perfect Boon to the Woman Inclined to Embonpoint

H THE DISCOMFORT, dissatisfaction and discontent that beset the woman of stout figure who has not found the right corset. She looks ungainly, feels abominable, and is in a state of continual perplexity over getting clothes to fit and suit her particular form.

To such a woman the Nemo comes as an absolute boon. Hundreds of women there are who regard it as a positive blessing. From the standpoint of health, comfort and appearance it reigns supreme among stout-figure corsets. It is recognized the world over as a triumph in scientific construction.

Its benefits are manifold. It controls all superfluous flesh, affords a healthful support to the abdomen, and contributes to the figure a shapeliness and modish line in keeping with current styles.

Miss Newport, the expert corsetiere from New York, who devotes her time to the interests of the "Nemo," is now in attendance in the Corset Section fitting the new models of the Nemo-an advantage of particular value to the woman inclined to embonpoint who so especially requires skilled assistance in the choice of a corset.

Model 523-for figures of abnormally full abdomen-is equipped with the celebrated Lastikops, self-reducing bandlet, has a low bust, long skirt, and is low cut under the arm, is in white coutil and priced at $5.50.

Model 322-for medium stout figures-has the self-reducing fronts and the season's new feature, the Lastikops extension bands in the back. This is in white coutil and priced at $3.50.

BRITAIN'S SHIPBUILDING SU-

Britain's continued supremacy hipbuilding is again strikingly shown in the figures of the tonnage built during last year. Out of the total of over 4,000,000 tons, no less than fifty-eight per cent. was built in the United Kingdon and 45.7 per cent acquired by it For years British ship owners have been selling their older vessels and replacing them by new vessels, and in 1913 the tonnage sold was 780.000, as against only 90,000 tons bought from foreign countries.

Notwithstanding the temporary recession in trade, the shipbuilding yards of the United Kingdom started the year with a full volume of work. To this the prospective opening of the Panama Canal has no doubt contributed, since firms engaged in the South American trade have been preparing to take advantage of the expected increase of trade with Pacific ports. The thrifty and conservative Scottish investors have entristed it with many millions of pounds sterling. A Winter Night.

Extract from "Canadian Seasons," by William H. Taylor.

No one has thrilled with unalloyed delight,
Who has not viewed some star-lit winter night,
The glory of the Universal Soul,
On infinite expanse, pervade the Whole.
No other season of the year can we
As Atoms feel the radiate majesty
Of that great Cause, which crystallized the snow,
And made those countless billion suns to glow.
Young Luna's golden crescent sinks to rest,
All edged with liquid silver in the west;
Those constellations vast, inspire with awe.
The finite Student, reading Higher Law,
And his bewildered mind in sheer despair
Kens not, but feels the Soul of Deus there,

No sound of life disturbs, from near or far, A falling feather would the stillness jar; The calm is perfect, and the thought—"Alone"—Prostrates the Ego, as he views the Throne. Who knows but some inhabitant of yonder star, With keener sight, can fathom what we are; With more intelligence from his high tower, Can view the Motor of Eternal Power? Those glittering orbs were never made in vain, And may be schools where we may go again, With those who went before, We may be part Of deathless Soul, in that vast starry chart. Who can deny that Trees of Knowledge grow On those bright worlds, where flesh may never go? But where our loved ones are, up higher, higher, Who eat the fruit and touch the seraph's lyre.

The road to madness leads towards that line Where systems like the dust forever shine. In that blue-black, unfathomed, concave deep, Which has no night, no day, no end, no sleep. Dismiss these thoughts, let Beauty be our theme. Not Oberon, the King, in Shakspere's dream, Nor Queen Titania's fairy neoromancy, Could conjure such a stage in realms of Fancy; No mermaid in her cave had gems so rare As Zero gives to spirits of the air, Or trod prismatic sapphires such as glow On this bespangled field of crystal snow; They lend the boughs of spruce a magic light, And strew their diamonds on the skirts of night.

Is this the very same, this magic place,
That was the theatre of that wild race,
Who bore the name of Genii, Elves, or Sprites
And flitted madly here long summer nights?
Has Death Eternal claimed the lonely shore
Of this cold lake, and shall we nevermore
Behold the firefly's tiny flashing lamp,
Along the marshes, then so warm and damp?
The grosser life has only gone to sleep,
The Spirits now their subtler vigils keep.
Their wireless messages they send afar,
And tell us caterpillars what we are.
See that grand are display its waving arms,
No earthly vision shows such awful charms
As from Aurora Borealis roll
In pyrotechnic glory from the Pole.

Hark! there's the bells upon the trotting mare Of Doctor Good, which shocks the frigid air; His midnight visit to the house of pain Was labor lost—he hurries home again: His patient mounted on the wings of light, And joined the starry hosts this winter night.

Not only in Toronto, but from outside points, the show is already in great favor, and excursions are being run from different points in Ontario. The motorcycle end in the motor industry has greatly awakened, and this year a good deal of space is being given it. A special metorcycle night has been arranged for and one night this week a banquet will be given by two of the local clubs. Music at the show will be rendered by the Boston Ladies' Orchestra, and special arrangements for taking people direct to the Exhibition Park has been made with the street railway company. A large appreciative audience crowded the Simpson Avenue Methodist Church Thursday evening, to enjoy a rare musical event, under the auspices of the adult Bible class.

The distinguished quartet, consisting of Mrs. Donald Stevenson, Miss Ruby Sargent, Mr. Robert Courtney and Mr. Frank Oldfield, is worthy of the highest praise. Their selections thruout the evening exemplified a well blended round tone. Mrs. Donald Stevenson captured the audience by her dramatic rendering of "The Wind and the Lyre," and the singing by Miss Ruby Sargent proclaimed her a gifted artist, with a rich contraito voice that was clear and full in every note. VOU'RE probably tired of reading prices, prices; and we're sort of tired of printing 'em. Let's forget prices for a while and consider the merchandise itself, and the values offered, and the saving of money you can make right now.

A good many of our customers apparently have taken that view of it; they look at the goods-suit, overcoat, trousers; they find what pleases them and buy it. Maybe it's because they're buying here that gives them con'idence that they're getting unusual value; we like to think so. Or perhaps it's because they can see for themselves the 50 and 60 per cent. savings now offered.

In any case, here are suits and Overcoats of splendid quality, the cream of and highest quality fabrics in the newest style garments offered for 1914 selling.

At a conference vesterday between the trustees of the General Hospital and the board of control, the trustees offered the free use of the Burnside building on the old General Hospital property for a temporary detention home. The board of control accepted the free trustees the city in the position of being prepared to give proper accommodation to those who are committed for examination as to santity. Toronto to Own All Tracks.

It all means that Toronto will own every bit of electric railway track in the city, will control every street in the city, and will be in such complete possession of the tracks and streets that its rights must have the maximum of force when the radial companies apply to the Ontario Railway Board for authority to run their cars over the tracks within the city's limits.

The amended agreement should be ready for submission to the city council by the end of this month.

Corporation Counsel Geary explains that the instructions of last year's city council indicated perpetual running rights for radials, and that he amended them to provide for a stated period, that period being made tentative until further consideration by the council.

Will Also Get Rid of Minor Routine Business-Reorganization at City Hall.

The board of control agreed yesterday Controller Simpson's plan to get more business. "It is absolute nonsense," the controller said, "to give so much of our time to locating garages, blacksmith shops, laundries, apartment houses, etc.. when that work could be done by the property committee. The city is getting so big that great problems are increasing in number and must be dealt to the could be dealt to the delegates that the measures now being considered by house and senate committees represented the only groundwork of the administration program, and that in the work of perfecting them along lines suggested by President Wilson aid from the outside would be welwith more promptly. "I will bring down a report showing just what duties can be taken from the board and turned over to committees," Mayor Hocken said.

The board decided to meet this morning to discuss reorganization of departments. Corporation Counsel Gaary recom-mended against urging the proclama-tion of the bill providing for interchange f traffic and running rights between electric railway systems. He stated that if the city applied for the right to run the civic cars over the Toronto Railrun the civic cars over the Toronto Kan-way Company's tracks the Ontario Rail-way Board would be the sole authority in settling terms. He disposed of the matter of terms for radia's operating over tracks in the city by pointing out-that the one company controls both radia's and street car lines.

TODMORDEN AND DON MILLS

A resident of Todmorden said to The World yesterday: "It is all very well to have it given out that the people of Todmorden are against annexation, but I do not think that is the real fact. What is happening is that Mr. Orford and his associates, who got eighty acres of the Danforth Glebe estate into the city the other day. will start in at once to lay out and develop their property and sell it like hot cakes at a big price, and a much slower and cheaper development will come to us of Todmorden in the rear. And more than this, all the business is going to Danforth avenue and along that street, and the development of the Don Mills road north of the city line is very slow. Once Don Mills road was as far ahead of Danforth avenue as daylight is to dark; now it is all the other way. A lot of business that is now on Danforth avenue would have gone to Don Mills road if the people on the road had followed up the taking in of the Helliwell estate. Whether annexation pays the people who own property can easily be settled by reference to the Best Control of the Helliwell estate. ence to the success of the Playter estate, now built up with high-class houses. The same is also true of the Helliwell estate; the enterprising men who opened up that district are reap-ing the benefit. Now the Orford syndicate are going to make money out of the Danforth Glebe, which they have just got put into the city And it may be that once the demand is supplied along the front there may be a slow-up and Todmorden may have to wait for years for what it could have reaped this year. And another thing is. as proved by the last annexation, that thecity will insist on its own terms here-after. The whole of Todmorden and Cedardale could have gone in on a fixed assessment a year ago or less. and now they may have to go in without any terms and to pay for all their own improvements. And our taxes in the township, especially for schools, will be as high as the city next year, without any improvements."

Addresses by Sir John Willison and N. W. Rowell were delivered at the meeting of the International Polity Club of the university last evening, their subjects being respectively "War their subjects being respectively "War and Empire" and "Imperial Relations and Peace." The addresses interesting as they would otherwise have been an were furnished with additional interest to the large gathering of students interested in international problems, in that the views of two imperialists were aired who had views in common on imperial relation but who advocated totally different methods of arriving at the same end.

It was his mission, Sir John declared to advance reasons to show that there was no necessary connection between the two subjects which he had interwoven into one "War" and "Empire." Peace, he declared still came from power rather than thru preaching. What evidence is there that man's nature has radically changed during the last few years, and that he has departed from the warring institute which he has had since the consummately perfect if that author had into tieft one necessary factor, human nature, out of the equation. The child of today is not born with the wisdom of all the previous centuries, but comes into the world with exactly the same amount of inherent wisdom as did the said an example to all governments. Imperial Federation.

There had been a constant changing of relationship between Canada and the Mother Country, as the former country changed from a colony to a free nation within an empire. "What are to be the new relations between the new nation and the empire in the matter of defence and genral policy?" queried Mr. Rowell. The committee of imperial defence was a means of discussing imperial relations in which the interests of all the integral parts were looked after by representatives. The beginning of the Imperial Federation at which the prime ministers of the nations within the empire met in conference with British politicians to discuss imperial affairs was traced as an epoch-marking proceeding.

Trust the Anglo-Saxon.

"In time," said Mr. Rowell, "such a system may prove too loose, and the organization in its present form may become incompetent, but when that time comes I think that we will be safe in relying upon the inherent good sense of the Anglo-Saxon, and may be assured that he will rise to the occasion. An institution has been created to prove the germ which will develop into a centre of unity, serving to bind together all the self-governing parts of the British Empire. The Canadian Pacific Railway, the Allanding, the Reyal Line and White Startine doing business with the people of this country, must stop making agreements with corporations, and if this agreement with the Canadian Pacific Railway, the Canadian Pacific Railway can be cancelled in a very short time I say it ought to be cancelled for the simple reason that the Canadian Pacific Railway, the Canadian Pacific Railway is the head of the Inland transportation pool and it controls the freight rates in the west.

Mr. Macdonald: What inland transportation pool?

Mr. Macdenald: What inland transports of securing additional legislation are all in another combine, the distance of securing additional legislation company on the St. Lawrence and on the lakes, clean up to Duiuth or Fort William, or Port Arthur, is being consolidated today, and if you read the financial reports from London today you will see the first flotation of bonds is being put on the market. If you look at the names connected with bonds is being put on the market. If you look at the names connected with it you will see boats called after directors of the Canadian Pacific Railthe river and lake freight and the railway, you will see directors of the Canadian Pacific Rallway or some dominate this whole country from the Pacific, clean across to the market other companies that are being consolidated into the combine; and for our produce, Great Britain. If that is the case, and I challenge any one in this house to deny it, then parliament should have no dealings with the corporation in the way of giving that corporation increased privileges or our national railway without determined from it an explanation and iding from it an explanation and railways in arranging their freight rates in the western United States some years ago, before the establish-ment of the Interstate Commerce Commission, was to take as much out of the farmer for freight rates as would keep him a poor man on the land. That is what we are doing with this vaunted west of ours, we are put-ting the farmer at the mercy of the transportation companies. We would not even let him have access to the United States market because the competition of the American predictions o the upenof the Canadian Pacific lands and the land the Alian Line and the Mark Star Line and these same companies are in a empetition of the American roads and

New York would perhaps compet a reduction in these freight rates, and perhaps the American, before we do it might find a way of breaking up these combines and we might get the benefit in that way. My contention is and I irresont it with all respect to the house, that it is time we quit taking about these things in the direction of going outside of our own country and getting ausside ald to discipline these roads. It is time to guit dealing with any of these companies that have been proved to be an outlaw in any way. any of these companies that have been proved to be an outlaw in any way, and least of all should we give a road that is an outlaw—and I contend that every company in that steamship combine on the Atlantic is an outlaw—any rights over the property owned by the people of Canada. To my mind the Intercolonial is the greatest asset Canada has, and it ought to be kept intact, and if we give the Canadian Pacific Railway running rights over the Intercolonial why should not we get the same terms from the Canadian Pacific and extend the Intercolonial to pronto. Winnipeg and British Colum-

Pacific and extend the Intercolonial to coronto. Winnipeg and British Columit? I would like to see the Canadian Pacific giving the Intercolonial reciprocal terms over their line!

Sir Wilfrid Laurier: Sign a similar contract to the one we have now?

Mr. Maclean: Yes, if they will sign it. I would be glad to endorse that if the Intercolonial could go over the Canadian Pacific on equal terms. I am not against all the roads in Canada. nacian Pacific on equal terms. I am not against all the roads in Canada having running rights over the intercolonial if they will reciprocate. That would be a good thing for the intercolonial: it would get built up in that way. But I do not like a one-sided bargain, and I do not like trading with a corporation that today is maintainted fruith. ing freight rates away above what they ought to be, and away above the rates that would be imposed upon them if we had some jurisdiction over them. I believe the steamship companies come under our jurisdiction by the powers conferred in the Railway Act, and if that act does not give us power over these companies we can revise it so as to reach this ocean combine. But I am against dealing with these corporations at the present time or giving them any privileges over the national property or at the national ports. What good would the minister of what good would the minister of public works do this country if he spent $50.000,000 in great terminals at Halifax and St. John and if he allowed the Canadian Pacific to use them and that company charged what it liked on the ocean. We are always doing something new, giving some advantage to somebody, but we are not setting the advantage our are not getting the advantage our-selves and if we are to have the same experience with the railways as we have had in connection with ocean freight rates the benefit of our national ports will go to these railways and all they will do is to take advantage. and all they will do is to take advantage of them and put increased rates on the farmers and business men of the west. That is not good policy. It has got to stop and it must be stopped right away. And that contract, if it can be withdrawn—and I believe can-ought to be withdrawn in the interests of this country unless the Canadian Pacific can show the government that they have a clean record in regard to the Atlantic combine in the matter of freight rates. Otherwise, they should not have that contract for a day longer than in reconstruct for a day longer than tract for a day longer than is neces-sary to cancel it. I have said what I have to say and I think I have predo not present it in a partisan way at all. I do not want to place any criticism on either side of the house, for what has taken place in the past, but I do want to show this house and at between these railways and these ocean lines and the ligh freight rates prevailing in this country. The time has come when there must be no dealing with a transportations company that seeks to control the freight of the railways to control the cartage agencies even, the lake and river freight and ocean freight, and the farmer who grows the grain and the miller who grinds the flour; and it is the western miller who is complaining the western milier who is complaining most bitterly about the Atlantic com-bine. I say that once for all we ought to stop having desings with these corporations in the way of giving them running rights and special rates as long as they give the people of Can-

Feb 12.—The registra-tion of the will of the late Maurice Redpath was admitted th's morning at the court house, atho the will had at the court nouse, altho the will had been written on the back of a photo-graph, which had subsequently been destroyed. The document was admit-ted on the strength of affidavits supplied by J. H. Redpath, brother of the deceased, and Mrs. J. H. The wording of the will, as sworn in the affidavit produced, was: "I leave everything to Puss (Marjory Smith) over and above what is left after paying my debts.

NO INSIDE DEAL IN PETERSON LAKE

Director Also Denies Talk That There is a Fight for Control.

"Absolutely no truth in it," said Gordon Morrison of the Peterson Lake Company yesterday in reply to a query as to whether a deal was in progress for the sale or transfer of control of the company. "Neither is there a fight for control among the insiders," he continued, "The first news we heard of the locating of the veins was with the information that the ore only ran about thirty-nine ounces. The next shot brought it into rich silver, and according to the samples it will run about 3500 ounces. There are three veins, with an aggregate width of seven inches. The find was made on the 200-foot level of the old Seneca Superior workings, which they discarded as worthless."

PETERSON LAKE AT FIFTY CENTS

Very Rich Ore Found in Three Veins Aggregating Seven Inches.

Peterson Lake continued in its great activity yesterday and practically the whole of the attention of the mining markets was given up to trading in this issue. Another gain was registered, and for the first time since the breaking of the market, shortly after the stock was listed. Peterson went above 50 cents a share. Quite a few speculators took their profits yesterday, but on the other hand buying orders came from all parts of the country. Cobalt was the source of much buying, which is a good sign, when it is considered that people there have no opportunity of knowing exactly the extent of the find.

The market opened strong yesterday morning at 37, and after several set backs rushed to 50½, but the last few sales were around 48½. Over 150,000 shares were transferred during the day and including Wednesday's trading this is the most active dealing of any stock since, the boom days.

In sympathy with Peterson Lake's advance other Cobalts were inclined to strengthen, but little attention was given to them. Seneca Superior sold at 280 and Gould as high as 4½. There was little activity among the Porcupines.

Inquiries have also been received in Australia from Los Angeles, California, for prices of cattle. As steers 3 to 3½ years old, weighing 1000 pounds to 1100 pounds are particularly specified, the assumption is that it is proposed to carry live stock from Australia to California.

All this increased attention to Australian meat production should assist in the development of the northern territory, for there are large areas of land available there suitable for cattle raising.
