Balloons and Autos Race Former Mile in Clouds Keep Out of Sight

Leo Stevens, in L'Orient, Comes Down After Run of 57 Miles,
His Rival, in the Centaur,
Giving Up Chase Thirty Miles
in the Rear.

Pittsfield, Mass., Oct. 22.—Two balloons, Centaur and L'Orient, which remained here after the aero-automobile race between the balloons and automobiles for the Hawley Cup had been declared off last Saturday, participated in an endurance contest today, which carried them many miles over Northwestern Massachusetts and Southern Vermont.

The balloon L'Orient outlasted the Centaur by three hours and a half, finally landing in the little mountain town of Jamaica in Windham County, Vermont, 57 miles from the start. The Centaur came down in Bennington, Vermont, 30 miles from here.

The two airships rose from here at 10:20 a.m. without accident. The Centaur carried Chas. F. Walsh, pilot, and Major Samuel Reber, and Captain Chas. F. Chandler of the Signal Corps, U.S.A. L'Orient was piloted by Leo Stevens, who has as his companion Captain Homer W. Hedge, president of the Aero Club of America.

The balloons were in sight of each other for three hours, and after they had spent three automobiles, which had entered in the Hawley Cup contest last Saturday, the Centaur was slightly behind L'Orient in crossing the Vermont border line, and at getting over Bennington, Pilot Walsh decided to land. The descent was accomplished successfully on the slope of Woodford Mountain, three miles outside of Bennington at 1 p.m. The occupants of the Centaur stated on landing that they considered their object accomplished and their trip had been successful from a scientific standpoint. The Centaur reached a height of 6200 feet.

At 4:30 L'Orient came down in Jamaica. Mr. Stevens stated that L'Orient went 9000 feet into the air. Above the clouds the Centaur was so intense that all outside clothing was to be discarded. At one time the thermometer registered 106 degrees.

Twenty-five minutes after the Centaur landed an automobile driven by Floyd Knight of this city, stopped by the side of the car. A half hour later an automobile owned by C. F. Bishop of Lennox arrived on the scene. These machines had followed the balloons as an experiment, the two airships were out of sight most of the time.

WIND IN FROM TRACK

Railway Service Utterly Demoralized by Storm, Lines Being Blocked by Debris—In Salt Lake City 2000
Trees Were Uprooted.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Oct. 22.—Railway service between here and Ogden is utterly disorganized. The terrific wind Saturday night and Sunday morning carried down all the telegraph wires, making the dispatching of trains in regular order impossible.

The Denver and Rio Grande system is moving few trains. The Oregon Short Line is blocked by a wreck near Woods Cross, where 30 freight cars were blown from the tracks. Two passenger coaches on the Salt Lake and Ogden Railroad were blown from the track near Centreville and the conductor and two passengers were bruised.

The Salt Lake and Ogden Line is blocked by many trees blown across the track. In Salt Lake City 2000 trees were uprooted and several tall buildings in course of construction were wrecked.

20 INCHES OF SNOW.

Denver, Colorado, Oct. 22.—Snow, wind and cold extended over nearly the entire country between the Rocky Mountains and the Missouri River to-day, causing heavy losses of live stock and of livestock. Telegraph wires were prostrated and railroad schedules disarranged.

The storm is almost unprecedented for severity at this season of the year and takes rank, according to the weather bureau, with the snowfall on April 23 and 24, 1885.

Up to six o'clock this evening about 20 inches of snow had fallen in Denver. Much of this snow melted soon. While the temperature on the plains has fluctuated from 20 to 30 above zero, it has been much colder at higher altitudes. At Corona, the highest point on the new Moffat Railroad, two degrees below zero early to-day was reported.

At Emery Gap, on the Colorado Southern Railroad, snow drifted nine feet deep and traffic was tied up to-day. Two rotary snow plows were sent out to open the road.

A Santa Fe train was derailed between Wagon Mound and Spring, N. M., last night and the road was blocked for several hours. Snow caused the mail coach and two baggage cars to jump the track, and they rolled down an embankment. Only one man, the mail clerk, was hurt, and his injuries are not severe.

BLIZZARD IN KANSAS

Kansas City, Kansas, Oct. 22.—A blizzard prevailed to-day in Western Kansas, the most severe for this time of season in many years. In some places snow, driven by a heavy wind, is piling up in the cuts, stopping railway traffic and playing havoc with telephone and telegraph wires.

SNOW IN PORT ARTHUR

Port Arthur, Oct. 22.—(Special.)—Snow has fallen here all day, at times quite heavily. Much of it has melted and not more than an inch or so now covers the ground.

The falling snow caused inconvenience to the vessels in the bay and a constant tooting of whistles was kept up to indicate the position of ships.

TOM LEWIS MAY ONCE MORE BE WITNESS FOR THE CROWN

Wary of Self-Sacrifice, 'Tis Said—Contractor Corry Tells of His Gift of $300 to London
Fund—Contractors' Custom,
he Says, and Denies Pressure

Why should Tom Lewis be languishing in jail? Just to benefit others? He didn't commit perjury to benefit himself.

Yesterday afternoon he appeared before Magistrate Kingsford and was committed to stand trial. Bail was then refused, but before the bribery-enquiry proceedings opened yesterday afternoon Mr. DuVernet told Magistrate Denison that, by an arrangement with the attorney-general, the prisoner would stand on his own bond of $5000 and two additional bonds of $2500 each. One of the bondsmen was to be R. M. Toth, the London barrister, and John Lewis, a brother of the prisoner, who will arrive this morning to furnish the other $2500 bail.

But the World heard last night that it was afterwards decided that the bonds were not altogether satisfactory. And it was also intimated from professedly "inspired" sources that bail may not be asked for Lewis to-day, but that, having given due thought and deliberation to the query above propounded, he is willing to take the witness stand again, perhaps to-day, and this time, tell the truth.

Got the Wrong Man.
Two "material witnesses" whose presence had been so much desired in connection with the London bribery cases that they had been arrested, the one in London and the other in Ottawa, were in court yesterday. Neither proved very satisfactory to the crown. As regards John O'Meara, it transpired that he wasn't the man who was wanted, and an apology was tendered for the inconvenience and indignity of having been in custody for two days. Also $50 was given him to pay his expenses home.

Contractor Corry admitted having left $500 with George Reber as expenses toward London election, but stoutly denied that it had been given under pressure. "I was just a custom contractor with government jobs had during elections, he said.

Three other Ottawa "workers" in the election testified, but without much result.

The unfortunate case of O'Meara was revealed when he was called as a witness in the morning. He said he wanted to make a statement. He protested bitterly as to his arrest, when a subpoena would have answered the purpose.

Then Mr. Du Vernet began to cross-examine him in the morning. It was learned that he was the O'Meara who had operated in a Brantford election, had been charged with impersonation and had jumped his bail.

"No," objected O'Meara in London. "Did you tell the detectives that I was wrong when they came to arrest you and that there were other John O'Mearas?" asked Mr. Du Vernet.

"No," objected O'Meara and Nicholas collected themselves. I did not need to tell them.

"Did you tell the detectives that I was wrong man?"

"Well, wouldn't that have been the witness plan?"

"I don't know."

"You can go," said Mr. Du Vernet. "I am satisfied that we have made a mistake and got the wrong man. I am extremely sorry."

A letter of apology and a certificate

THREE JUDGES AGAINST TWO HOLD LAMONT IN HIS SEAT OLD LAW IS NOT APPLICABLE

Regina, Sask., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—The controverted election law is not in force.

That is the decision reached in the supreme court sitting this afternoon and the ruling of Judge Prndergast is therefore sustained.

The appeal was on the decision in the petition against Hon. J. H. Lamont in Prince Albert.

The court divided before coming to a conclusion and when all decisions were read it was found that Judges Wetmore and Scott were for quashing the decision of Judge Prndergast and allowing the hearing of election protests, while Judges Sifton, Newlands and Harvey were of opinion that the appeal should be quashed.

The last three judges are appointees of the Liberal government, while the two who were for quashing the decision of Judge Prndergast and allowing the hearing of election protests, were appointed by the old Conservative government.

The result of the decision is that 16 protests against the return of members of legislative assembly charged with bribery and corruption are held in abeyance and cannot be brought to court for a fair hearing.

Feeling is running high in Regina tonight and on the street there is almost as much excitement as when the election was held.

It is said that an appeal will be made to the supreme court of Canada.

BORDEN ON TRANSPORTATION SAYS GOVT. OPERATION IS WORTH EXPERIMENT

Conservative Leader Addresses
Large Gathering at the Soo—Advocates Extension of Intercolonial to Georgian Bay and Attacks Administration's Record.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—Before the largest gathering ever assembled under one roof in the Soo, R. L. Borden, leader of the Conservative opposition at Ottawa, delivered an address this evening.

The feature of his speech was his declaration of the belief that the government operation of railways is worth the experiment.

He assailed the government on its policy with regard to the construction of the new Grand Trunk Pacific, and held that in view of the country guaranteeing nine-tenths of the cost, as well as have taken over the remainder and secured the railroad for the people.

Transportation was the principal theme of the address, and severe criticisms were offered with regard to the management of the Intercolonial. He advocated the extension of that line to the Georgian Bay, so that it could compete with other lines for the western trade, under which conditions he believed deficits would no longer follow.

He also referred to the question of political purity, and gave the details of a number of the scandals of the Liberal administration.

Mr. Borden arrived in the Soo last evening, and all day to-day was entertained by a committee of the Conservative Association. In the forenoon he was taken about the city on a trip on the steamer Algoma. He viewed the steel works and lunched with a number of political friends at the International.

In the afternoon he took part in the function of opening the new Campbell public school. Previous to the opening of the school, a parade was held of 500 Cadets, who formed a guard of honor for the visitor, and the Algonquin Rifles Band.

To-night's meeting was held in the skating rink. Other speakers were W. H. Hearst, A. C. Boyce, M.P., W. R. Strayhorn, M.L.A., W. J. Thompson was the chairman, and an address from the Young Liberal-Conservative Club was read by C. V. Plummer.

Toronto Football Association Order Thistles to Play Abnon

Referees Appointed For Saturday's League Games—Letters on Soccer Controversy—Some Football Notes.

A meeting of the committee of the Toronto Football Association was held last night at the West End Y.M.C.A., when referees were appointed for Saturday's games. The meeting decided that the Thistles must play off their fixture with the Albions as scheduled, a motion to permit them to play Dundas being almost unanimously voted down. Following are the referees:

Senior—Scots at All Saints, W. B. Hanna. Albions at Thistles, L. Smith. Intermediate—St. James at St. James, J. Woodward. Stanley Barracks at St. James, I. R. Lawrence.

Junior—Broadview at British United, H. Evans. St. James at Toronto, J. Woodward. Thistles at Junction, H. Goldman.

Little York at Broadview, R. G. Elliott. Sporting Editor wrote to C. E. Fletcher in his letter to the Toronto Sunday World, says Englishmen are taught to play as gentlemen. Probably so. Does Mr. Fletcher's gentlemanly methods expect to receive the support of old country players? I myself, and scores of others I am familiar with, are indignant at his high-handed action. Mr. Brownlee does not have to study the English rules. Does Mr. Fletcher forget he is in Canada? And the football leagues (Association) of this province are run under Ontario rules, and not under English rules. Mr. Brownlee has only to act up to his position as president of the Ontario League to show Mr. Fletcher how he can prevent these games being played under English rules. Fanny Mr. Fletcher being allowed to inform the president of the Ontario Association Football League that the teams were aware they were playing under English rules? What would be the fate of English football if the president of the Ontario Association Football League were to order and probably expel, without the option of a fine, as Mr. Fletcher, by his attitude, appears to know all about the "People's Shield," would he kindly inform the soccer enthusiasts under what conditions this shield is to be played for, if any trustees are appointed to receive it, what are the interested in Ontario Association Football League Rules VII, IX, XI, of the constitution, English Canadian.

G. A. Parker writes in answer to "West End" that the shield, which was designed and executed by one of the leading manufacturers in Sheffield, has been detained in England in order to have engraved on it the proper inscription.

Parkdale Albions played Toronto Scots to a draw on the Scots' grounds on Saturday, when, when considered, is a fairly good performance on the part of Parkdale, who had a very weakened team, at Parkdale, Cummings, Hall and Woodward were all away. As it was Albions, with a little luck, would have won, one the shot from Banks nearly doing the needful. With the team at full strength, Parkdale's condition of winning the return game for Parkdale. All the defence men were excellent. Bonnard, Snyder and Ledger in particular, while on the forward line, Robinson and Banks were the pick. On the Scots' team, Patroll and Humphrey seemed to be doing well, but Gibbons played a hard game, but was altogether too rough and ungentlemanly. Steps should be taken to have a rough work out right out, and the game will benefit a great deal if referees will play rough play with the strictest hands.

All Saints were no match for the strong Thistle team in the league game at the Pines. The score was 4 to 0.

In a hotly contested and exciting game of Association football on Garrison Community College and St. Johns played to a draw on Saturday. Parkdale, Cummings, Hall and Woodward were all away. The following players of the All Saints Intermediate football team to the Ontario League are requested to turn out to practice Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday at Moss Park rink. P. Alward, H. Laurie, J. Cheer, W. Burns, T. Hursey, C. Patterson, C. Schmidt, P. Forsyth, S. Cochrane, A. Marshall, G. Irwin, W. Leiper, S. Macklen.

The Toronto Presbyterian Football League revised standing up to date is as follows:

| Goals | Pl. | W. | L. | For. | Ag. | Pts. |
|------------|-----|----|----|------|-----|------|
| Dovercourt | 3 | 2 | 1 | 7 | 7 | 4 |
| Bonar | 3 | 2 | 1 | 7 | 7 | 4 |
| Ferris | 4 | 1 | 3 | 1 | 7 | 2 |
| Chalmers | 4 | 0 | 4 | 2 | 10 | 0 |

The Dovercourt had a league game with Bonar at High Park on Saturday. The game was very fast, and resulted in Dovercourt's favor. Dovercourt's line-up was: Goal, Smith; Defenders, H. Laurie, Wilson; Halves, Parker, Kent, and Conley; Forwards, McPhee and Ingram, McManis, Knight and Hanna.

Association lovers who should know state that in Great Britain 600,000 persons are engaged in age from 10 to 40, turn out every Saturday afternoon to take part in soccer matches from Sept. 1 to April 31.

The total number of fatal injuries received during the last 20 years, say an English writer in "The Independent," can be put down as follows: 22 fingers of one interlocking style of football in America last season, with the short period of only seven weeks, and the small number of players.

The Rough Rider football team seems to be strengthening its forces and yesterday at Ottawa Eddie Phillips turned out again, having resisted all efforts to get him out earlier in the season. St. Patrick's also made a bid, but he turned it down.

Ottawa College plays Varsity Saturday on Athletic Field. The Toronto students are improving at every practice and should win this week earlier than last.

In the Senior High School series, Harbour defaulted to Technical at Jesse Ketchum Park last night. The "Technicals" team are working hard, and are confident of a win on Wednesday when they play Parkdale on the Trinity campus.

An Ottawa despatch last night said: William Hull of the St. Patrick football team, who was injured three weeks ago while at practice, has suffered a relapse and lies unconscious in the Catholic General Hospital with faint chances for recovery. It is feared he has a clot on the brain.

MR. FOSTER WILL DEFEND "SPARKS" FOR PATIENT'S COMMISSION

Personal Honor is Not Bismirched and Will Not Be Referred to.

Hon. George E. Foster adapted himself to his audience last night and simply but incisively outlined the uses and value of the parliamentary system and its reason for being.

The chairman, Dr. Weylerson, said that Mr. Foster had been under the fire. He thought Mr. Foster had come out of it well. His opponents had tried to make political capital out of private business, and perhaps, he would speak of that.

But Mr. Foster declined to take up the question just then. The atmosphere was not quite ripe for it. The insurance committee was a court, and they must remember to speak respectfully of a court. In due course it would send its report to parliament. Then there would be an opportunity to criticize and yet continue to be eminently respectable to all powers that be.

Mr. Foster resumed the point in reply to some remarks dropped by W. J. McWhinney, in moving a vote of thanks to the speaker of the House. He went on to say that in North Toronto or elsewhere to defend his personal honor. If he could not live for 50 years in Canada, if he could not for 22 years of that time have walked beside them in the white light of a public life unsullied by anything that would not be worth living and personal honor counted for naught.

If as a business man he went before a commission and gave his testimony in the presence of the public, he would not be asked to stand in North Toronto or elsewhere to defend his personal honor. If he could not live for 50 years in Canada, if he could not for 22 years of that time have walked beside them in the white light of a public life unsullied by anything that would not be worth living and personal honor counted for naught.

If he were taxed with this question of the Vics in the game at Toronto, he would not be asked to stand in North Toronto or elsewhere to defend his personal honor. If he could not live for 50 years in Canada, if he could not for 22 years of that time have walked beside them in the white light of a public life unsullied by anything that would not be worth living and personal honor counted for naught.

But Mr. Foster did not go to run and defend his personal honor. He did not consider it called for, he concluded, amid applause.

Mr. Foster's address was an instructive review of parliamentary government under the party system. He considered various objections, such as the superiority of talk, and found even in that much merit. It culminated in a good deal of bad action.

He defended the party system. There had been established a party system, which did not conduce to the best interests of the country. The party line had become a distinctive badge, and a man could not be seduced without it. It would be open to the cabinet and the corruption of the times. Any government not having a party system was in great danger. They dare not do anything that would be the war of the liberties of the people.

Mr. Foster's address was an instructive review of parliamentary government under the party system. He considered various objections, such as the superiority of talk, and found even in that much merit. It culminated in a good deal of bad action.

He defended the party system. There had been established a party system, which did not conduce to the best interests of the country. The party line had become a distinctive badge, and a man could not be seduced without it. It would be open to the cabinet and the corruption of the times. Any government not having a party system was in great danger. They dare not do anything that would be the war of the liberties of the people.

MR. FOSTER WILL DEFEND "SPARKS" FOR PATIENT'S COMMISSION

Personal Honor is Not Bismirched and Will Not Be Referred to.

Hon. George E. Foster adapted himself to his audience last night and simply but incisively outlined the uses and value of the parliamentary system and its reason for being.

The chairman, Dr. Weylerson, said that Mr. Foster had been under the fire. He thought Mr. Foster had come out of it well. His opponents had tried to make political capital out of private business, and perhaps, he would speak of that.

But Mr. Foster declined to take up the question just then. The atmosphere was not quite ripe for it. The insurance committee was a court, and they must remember to speak respectfully of a court. In due course it would send its report to parliament. Then there would be an opportunity to criticize and yet continue to be eminently respectable to all powers that be.

Mr. Foster resumed the point in reply to some remarks dropped by W. J. McWhinney, in moving a vote of thanks to the speaker of the House. He went on to say that in North Toronto or elsewhere to defend his personal honor. If he could not live for 50 years in Canada, if he could not for 22 years of that time have walked beside them in the white light of a public life unsullied by anything that would not be worth living and personal honor counted for naught.

If as a business man he went before a commission and gave his testimony in the presence of the public, he would not be asked to stand in North Toronto or elsewhere to defend his personal honor. If he could not live for 50 years in Canada, if he could not for 22 years of that time have walked beside them in the white light of a public life unsullied by anything that would not be worth living and personal honor counted for naught.

If he were taxed with this question of the Vics in the game at Toronto, he would not be asked to stand in North Toronto or elsewhere to defend his personal honor. If he could not live for 50 years in Canada, if he could not for 22 years of that time have walked beside them in the white light of a public life unsullied by anything that would not be worth living and personal honor counted for naught.

But Mr. Foster did not go to run and defend his personal honor. He did not consider it called for, he concluded, amid applause.

Mr. Foster's address was an instructive review of parliamentary government under the party system. He considered various objections, such as the superiority of talk, and found even in that much merit. It culminated in a good deal of bad action.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

To-day the British parliament reassembles after the adjournment with every promise of a lively and possibly momentous session.

Interest will concentrate itself primarily, at least, on the fate of the principal government measure—the education bill—and one only slightly less important—the trades dispute bill.

So far the opposition have kept the nature of the amendments to be proposed to these measures entirely secret, and any forecasts which have been made are more of the nature of surmises than really authoritative deliverances.

But this secrecy cannot be long maintained, and it will soon be known whether another appeal to the people is to be precipitated, or whether an attempt is to be made to adjust the apparently irreconcilable differences which exist between the two parties over the educational issue.

The session promises other sensations, for it can scarcely be denied that the political situation in the United Kingdom is in a highly electric condition.

Since parliament adjourned the friction between the Ministerialists and the independent Labor party has become acute, and if the fierce recrimination which has characterized the recess platform is transferred to the house of commons an open rupture cannot be long delayed.

But in any event the Labor party is itself divided, and the government majority is so large that even the direct hostility of Kehr Hardie's following cannot impair its sufficiency.

Its principal effect might be to stiffen the house of lords on the education issue and modify its attitude towards the bill, more particularly touching the trades unions' liberty of action.

Altogether the situation is a complicated one, with more in it to invigorate than depress the opposition. Difficult problems confront the government in Ireland, in South Africa and elsewhere in the imperial field, but on the other hand neither the Church of England nor the upper house is likely to force a quarrel needlessly which might involve both in a common jeopardy.

THOU ART THE MAN. These were the words of Nathan to David.

So they are the words of the Canadian people to Charles S. Hyman, M. P. for London, and minister of public works in the Laurier cabinet.

Hyman is the man who profited by the election frauds in London, now being exposed. They were organized in his interest and in the interest of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Liberal government of the Dominion.

Of all the hypocrites, going these days, the weakest is the one that the politician and party that profits by bribery and corruption have no knowledge of it.

THINK OF OTHERS. This is an age of speed. In the race after success, we think we have not time to attend to the little amenities that go so far to make life enjoyable for ourselves and others.

We think we have not time, but we are thinking at lightning speed and we touch only the high spots of the argument of life.

We address our fellows by their surnames, forgetting that dignity and consideration is lent our dictation by the prefix Mr. We rush along the street, jostle the weaker ones and neglect to apologize. We are after big success, and we want the whole highway on which to spread ourselves.

We keep our seats in crowded cars, the frail women have to stand. At our offices we usurp desks, carry away chairs and use material without so much as a by-your-leave. And in our wake we leave fellow human beings irritated to the point of keeping the recording angel busy.

What does it profit a man if he wins success and loses the respect of his fellows? Then the race is not always is thus removed, and the effect is undoubtedly to weaken materially the power of an assertive third party, such as the independent Labor men have now become.

But at the best, the second ballot is only a special remedy for a special evil, and in no way meets the real difficulty of securing a representation in parliament proportional to the division of opinion among the electors of the country at large.

The anomalous results of the present electoral system in the United Kingdom, and the extraordinary complexity of the registration requirements, must lead in the near future to a revival of the law and in all probability to the introduction of manhood suffrage, with or without limited and easily enforced restrictions.

In all English-speaking countries enjoying democratic government there is, at present, a movement in the direction of amending the legislative machinery.

It is not as yet pronounced enough to command a hearing, but there is a growing dissatisfaction with methods which permit of laws entering the statute book while really distasteful or even opposed to the sentiments of a majority of the electors.

Here in Canada the government and the parliament is largely dominated by corporation influences hostile to the interests of the people. Members of the house of commons and of the senate are in these chambers to carry out the behests of their masters, and the general body of the people has no security against the invasions of public right which are committed year by year simply because those who ought to be trustees for the people are regardless of their duty to the people.

The only effectual remedy for this is the provision of the right to refer any and every act or ordinance of parliament to the direct vote of the people, before it becomes effectual, and that reference should be imperative where a demand for it is made.

Under proper safeguards, such an amendment of our constitutional system would involve no departure from the general principles of representative government. It would rather secure popular government from the abuses which have become so flagrant under existing conditions.

A constant reference to the direct vote of the electors would do much to purify the political situation. Corporations looking to parliament and the legislatures for favors would be curbed in their methods by the knowledge that the measures they engineered must run the gauntlet of public approval.

Government elected for other considerations would think twice before employing their majorities to carry thru legislation for which no mandate had been obtained, and which, had it been offered for popular decision, would have materially influenced the electoral result.

Against the action of privileged interests and unscrupulous governments, when aided by machine-appointed representatives, there seems to be no protection except by an appeal to the direct voice of the citizens.

This has been found to be given by the public opinion vote in places where it has been tried. After its introduction into South Dakota, the governor said of its working: "Since this referendum went into effect, we have had no charter-mongers or railway speculators, no wild-cat schemes submitted to our legislature."

Formerly our time was occupied by speculative schemes of one kind or another, but since the referendum has been made a part of the constitution these people do not press their schemes, and hence there is no necessity for having recourse to the referendum.

At this stage in Canada's development, when, fortunately, so much remains of the national and provincial resources and public utilities to render their conservation a matter of supreme moment, no means should be neglected which promise to preserve them from corporate exploitation and to compel the responsible governments to protect popular rights.

THE FIRST OF THE FAMOUS. Without following all the particular ramifications of the family, first member specially noted is Thomas Mulock, the fourth of Kilmagarna (known in the family as "the counselor"), who was born in 1746 at an obscure spot in a career at Trinity College, Dublin, and was afterwards called to the Irish bar. His tastes were decidedly literary, and he was a distinguished scholar, leaving behind him a voluminous library in the ancient classics, as well as in English and French literature.

A letter printed in the "Times" and written by him in November, 1770, while a student at the Middle Temple, London, and addressed to his father, gives an account of his early studies and his experiences at "commons." There was at that time, as he is careful to inform his father, a custom peculiar to the "commons" of the "Times" in which the Irish students there, to bespeak some extraordinary dishes of Powl or Fish, together with wine and sweetmeats, which are served up to them, and for these you pay before you quit the hall, just as in a tavern, only here your charges are higher. There is another custom, he proceeds, "that when a candidate for 'commons' first he must treat his Mess, and upon this occasion he must bespeak a large quantity of wine, and give his Mess as much wine as they can drink. These two days past I have been treated by two fellows—entirely at my expense. It is my turn, for we must all do so, and, as such a Rule is productive of more eating and drinking, I assure you I shall have a very good time of it on this occasion and entertain them as well as they have entertained me." After this careful explanation it is not surprising to find the student's father, in a letter of request for a letter of credit, "as my stock," he says, "will be extremely small after this I must say, unexpected expense." In the same letter Thomas draws a comparison between the "Times" and London theatrical audiences wholly to the advantage of his fellow countrymen: "The Londoners are in general," he declares, "very great judges of dramatic merit." Both "the counselor" and his father dabbled in poetry and possessed some skill in the art, as is shown by the two samples printed by Sir Edmund Bewley.

Well Known Authorities. Passing along, we come to Dinah Masson, the daughter of John Masson, Halifax gentleman, who was, comments Sir Edmund, "without doubt the most distinguished member that the Mulock family has produced. She was born in April, 1828, the daughter of Thomas Samuel Mulock (brother of the counselor), a man of great ability, but even greater capacity. He settled in London, and won a place in the front rank of the novelists of the day. She married on April 30, 1855, George Little Craik, and died without issue in 1887.

Of special interest locally are the Mulocks of Canada, descended from Robert Mulock of Moate, grandson of the original Thomas and uncle of the counselor." His own grandson, William Mulock of Dublin and Banagher, was married in 1806, to Sarah, daughter of Robert Paisley of Dublin. In 1834 he emigrated with the greater portion of his large family of eleven sons and one daughter to Ontario, then called New Town Narrows, on Lake Simcoe. There he settled on a farm of about 200 acres, dying about 1850 at Orillia, and being buried in St. James Churchyard there. His fourth son, Thomas (Homan) Mulock, born in 1811, and educated for the medical profession, went to Canada and married in 1838, Mary, only daughter of John Cawthra of Yorkshire, afterwards of Newmarket, Ontario. Their second son and third child is our own Hon. Sir William Mulock, K.C.M.G., late postmaster-general in the Dominion government, and now chief justice of the court of exchequer of Canada. Next to Mrs. Craik he is unquestionably the most notable member of the Mulock family, and we believe that every generation of his name is doing more for the name, and is further embellished with admirable portraits of Mrs. Craik, Thomas Mulock, the third of Kilmagarna, and Sir William Mulock, and views of two of the ancestral seats, Kilmagarna and Bellair.

to the one who rushes, and bustle is not business. Even in this racing age, the man with gentlemanly instincts is not handicapped. It will do us no harm as Canadians to take thought to inject a little more of the spirit of unselfishness into ourselves. But then if success means beating the other fellow, what's the use of talking about gentlemanly instincts?

about the middle of the seventeenth century and left at his death two sons, Thomas and Nicholas. The latter, who was twice married, left big early daughters, but the line of his descendants is not further traced, so that all the representatives of the family appearing in the "Times" are connected by connection with its founder thru the elder son, Thomas.

SERVANTS OF MUNICIPALITY OUGHT TO AVOID POLITICS

Toronto Conservative Club Disapproves of Interference by Officials and Others.

The 28th annual meeting of the Toronto Liberal-Conservative Club was held last night in the Labor Temple when the following officers were elected.

President, W. D. Baragrey; vice-presidents, Wm. Worrell, C. W. Cavers, J. R. Cameron; treasurer, S. S. Nesbitt; recording secretary, J. T. Loftus; corresponding secretary, J. W. Chesworth; executive committee, James Wallace, J. McCaffrey, Sam. Allen, Wm. Kelly, Sr., E. Magner, Joseph Marchmont, F. Robinson, James A. Macdonald and J. Wilson.

There was a large attendance of members, and speeches were given by the officers and Controller James, Ald. Church, Dr. Henwood, Arthur Van Koughnet.

Mr. Wainwright's power policy was strongly endorsed and the representative workmen present expressed satisfaction with the course of the government.

A resolution was adopted taking strong ground against parliamentary and municipal officials taking an active part in election affairs. The resolution follows:

Moved by Frank Robinson, seconded by Wm. Worrell, "That the Toronto Liberal-Conservative Club expressing its entire condemnation and strongest disapproval of the interference by persons, servants, employees and officials in the municipal government of Toronto, in any manner in affairs and matters of a political or partisan nature or kind, it being the opinion of this club that such interference is inimical to the best interests of the affairs of government, as they are administered by the governing bodies of both the City of Toronto, and of the Province of Ontario; and this club voices its emphatic desire that all such persons, servants, employees and officials who take such measures as shall adequately effectuate the spirit and intention of this resolution."

COBALT---Silver Stocks Are Strongly Despite Weakness Elsewhere---COBALT

TO MAKE RECOMMENDATIONS IN REGARD TO CAR FENDERS CAN GET A CONFERENCE WITH THE MANUFACTURERS TRADING IS NOT ACTIVE BUT PRICES ARE FIRM

Result of Attendance of A. B. Ingram at Big Convention at Columbus, Ohio.

A. B. Ingram, vice-chairman of the municipal and railway board, returned yesterday from Columbus, Ohio, where he attended the American Street and Inter-urban Railway Association. The meetings were held from the 16th till the 19th, inclusive, and were attended by 400 delegates. Mr. Ingram was much impressed by the thoroughness and completeness of the organization, every phase of railway construction and management being illustrated. There were associations for the different sections, such as the accountants, superintendents, engineers, manufacturers, and so forth. Models of cars, brakes, fenders and other equipment were displayed, and a model track, laid by the Carnegie people, was exhibited.

Mr. Ingram stated that he would have some recommendations to make to the board as a result of his visit, one of which would be about fenders. The continuous rail to another point which attracted attention, and demonstrations were given of the welding of steel rails in 15 seconds.

ISSUES IN SHELBURNE.

Conservatives Fight Fielding on Autonomy and Salary Grab.

According to The Montreal N. B. Transcript, edited by John T. Hawke, the Quebec-Sheburne Conservatives are making the contest with Hon. W. S. Fielding on the autonomy legislation and the salary grab. The Transcript has a dispatch from Montreal which says: "A small-sized sensation has been caused in political circles here by the attack made on R. L. Borden and other leading Conservatives in the manifesto in support of Dr. Weldon's candidature in Shelburne County and recently published in the Halifax Herald. It has been understood that the fact of the party here who are promoting the candidature of Dr. Weldon has been after Fielding for some time, but it was not expected that it would assume the violence contained in the manifesto. No one cares to assume responsibility for the manifesto, but there is a strong impression that it is, if not wholly prepared, at least inspired by Dr. Weldon himself. The announcement is made on behalf of Dr. Weldon all over the country that the contest will be fought out on the two issues of the autonomy legislation and seasonal indemnity."

CHIEF GAVE REFUND.

Investigation at Guelph into Transaction With Peddler.

Guelph, Oct. 22.—(Special.)—Judge Chadwick began this morning an investigation asked for by the city council into dealings of Chief of Police Randall with John A. Bohn of Toronto in August last.

WANTED A BIG PRESERVE.

Militia Dept. is Refused a Request as to Petawawa Camp Ground.

The department of militia and defence at Ottawa applied to Game Warden Finlay to be granted the fishing and hunting rights in the Petawawa Military Reserve, recently acquired by the federal government.

SAW 79 DROWN.

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 22.—The Mallory Line steamer Colorado, which arrived to-day, had as passengers Joseph Melson, Charles Olsen, Charles Anderson and Otto Brink who were picked up at sea on Saturday morning 90 miles off Kew West.

Melson says he saw 79 men drowned from a houseboat which was wrecked off Long Key, Ala., in last week's storm. The four men, when found by the Colorado's crew, were standing on a made-up of six logs and were in the water waist deep at the time.

Piano and Organ Workers, on Strike, Not Encouraged in Seeking a Settlement.

The piano and organ workers are still on strike in this city. A deputation representing the striking piano and organ workers called on The World yesterday. The deputation was composed of Wm. McCullough, James Orser and Wm. Adcock.

This deputation desired The World to state that the strike was still on, and that the strikers thought that the public should be apprised of this fact. The chief grievance they have is that the piano and organ manufacturers will pay no attention to the different sections, such as the accountants, superintendents, engineers, manufacturers, and so forth. Models of cars, brakes, fenders and other equipment were displayed, and a model track, laid by the Carnegie people, was exhibited.

Will Not Stop Property.

D. A. Dunlop of the La-Rose, or Timmins Mining Company, denies the story circulated that the La-Rose interests are being merged with the Hanson property, to be placed on the market as the Cobalt Silver Mining Company. Mr. Dunlop says it never was the intention of the La-Rose owners to stock their property, nor will it ever be stocked under the present ownership.

Toronto Specialties.

The Toronto investors are sticking very close to Nipissing stock, now 700, and dealing in the local mining market. The apathetic feeling regarding mining issues in general is disappearing, but the list of properties in which confidence is felt is as yet limited. Foster and Nipissing stocks have compiled a record in the past few days, the strength shown by them under sharp liquidation, and to this as much as anything else is due the interest now being shown by purchasers of the mining issues.

To Mine the Town Site.

Cobalt, Oct. 22.—The provisional directors of the Cobalt City Mining Company have decided to lease the town site, now owned by Mr. Carr and J. P. Finlay, who were appointed treasurer and secretary. The property is situated on the town site, and is a town plot of Cobalt, and comprises about 40 acres. The northern boundary is somewhat uncertain, but the company has secured the Nevada Consolidated, which is a subsidiary of the Nevada Consolidated, and is now fairly well established that they contain ore similar to that in the Nevada Consolidated. The company has already uncovered a six or seven foot vein of active silver, and from its location and the direction it runs is believed to be the same vein which was discovered in the Nevada Consolidated some time ago, and known as the Bonanza vein.

Canadians Will Not Buy Cheap.

"It's strange," remarked a Toronto broker yesterday, in discussing market for Cobalt stocks, "but Canadians are proverbially slow in buying any stock in its early stages. They seem to wait until the price has advanced, and then they buy, and the price has advanced three or four times or more beyond what it could originally have been. It is a curious habit, but it is not proposed to offer any of the stock to the public, as the shareholders intend to take up the stock as they see fit for development to be sold at par. The company has already uncovered a six or seven foot vein of active silver, and from its location and the direction it runs is believed to be the same vein which was discovered in the Nevada Consolidated some time ago, and known as the Bonanza vein."

"SILVER QUEEN" A SHIPPER

Cobalt, Oct. 22.—(Special.)—A notable item of news from the camp to-day is the fact that Silver Queen is shipping two cars of high grade ore. The cars are nearly loaded and will start for the smelter in a few days.

Hunting Along the C.P.R.

Without doubt the finest shooting in Canada is to be found on and north of the Canadian Pacific Railway's main line, particularly west of North Bay. The vast region so reached is well stocked with game of all descriptions, moose and deer abound, and every visiting sportsman is more than satisfied. It is impossible to make a mistake in selecting this country for one's hunting trip. An important point that should be kept in mind is that in the whole country north of the C.P.R. main line the law allows shooting to start on Oct. 15, 15 days earlier than permitted south of the line, and extends until Nov. 15, thus giving a full month for the open shooting season. Any C.P.R. office will sell a hunter's return ticket at one-way fare, only daily until Nov. 6. Good to return until Dec. 8, with liberal stop-over privileges. These tickets cover every hunter's requirements.

The market for Cobalt stocks continues to be hampered locally by the disturbance in the general stock market, but under circumstances the vitality and buoyancy of several of the issues shows a substantial buying power. Trading, both on the curb and the exchanges, was quieter yesterday, but the transactions in the active shares were an advance from the close of last week. Nipissing was decidedly both at Toronto and New York, the price approaching the parity of the market before the slump in the New York stock market. Foster was well bought, but any further movement in the stock of Nipissing until the analysis of the first shipment of ore is available from the smelter. Buffalo is more freely offered, but the market took the sales with apparent good grace. McKinley is very dormant locally, but is stated to have a free market in New York. The transfer office in connection with Silver Leaf was opened up Monday, and the play that was a free market in New York. Trethewey was not duplicated, University held very dull, but holders are not inclined to make concessions in price.

An Option on Nipissing Stock.

It was rumored from reliable sources yesterday that the big New York firm of Guggenheimer & Co. had secured an option on a shipment of 200,000 shares of Nipissing at $25. This was taken as partially accounting for the strength of the stock during the day's business.

Will Not Stop Property.

D. A. Dunlop of the La-Rose, or Timmins Mining Company, denies the story circulated that the La-Rose interests are being merged with the Hanson property, to be placed on the market as the Cobalt Silver Mining Company. Mr. Dunlop says it never was the intention of the La-Rose owners to stock their property, nor will it ever be stocked under the present ownership.
