Montreal, Nov. 17—In a circular letter read in all Catholic churches in Montreal to the city $1,000 which, with the $1,000 Montreal, Nov. 17-In a circular letter today, Archbishop Bruchesi notifies the received a week previously, completes the come of his mission. He said today:

"I am not proposing any change in the exisiting treaty, but desire to reach an agreement with a friendly nation looking to the adoption of a programme for the future which will be beneficial to both countries concerned."

In future, grant permission for mixed marriages, "Tell your parishioners in our name," says his grace, "that we will no longer grant dispensations for mixed marriages, "It is understood that the work of a grant dispensations for mixed marriages, "It is understood that the work of a saye have done in the past. They cannot, in future, expect to obtain these dispensations of mixed marriages, "It is understood that the work of a in future, expect to obtain these dispensations of the deficiency discovered in the boothed the department. The transfer of his policies and house property was made the department. The transfer of his policies and house property was made the deficiency discovered in the deficiency dis as we have done in the past. They cannot, pleted for another week or more. No in future, expect to obtain these dispensations, even though they bring forward the weighty reasons of temporal advantage or mutual affection, even though they threaten to seek the services of a minister of another religion."

the audit now being made should not stop Attention is then drawn to the fact that any Catholic who is married by a Protestant minister will be liable to be excommunicated.

The letter has come as a surprise, as the accounts of the municipality and school trustees should also be thoroughly overhauled. This suggestion is not put forward with the idea that any irregularity and protests.

The letter has come as a surprise, as marriages between Catholics and Protestants are frequently celebrated here, as, in fact, there are unions of the faith between the best Montreal families.

Archbishop Bruchesi cites, in his letter, many exhortations from the holy see to discourage such marriages, which the mercus applications have been received at that economic conditions render it inadvisable for citizens of Japan to visit foreign countries unless they are able to show that they are amply self-supporting.

Among leading statesmen and business amen, the importance of the near approach is shown by the archbishop that the regulation is shown by the archbishop that the regulations for the chamberian is office, nutries of the chamberian is officed in the lation he issues is not to cause any feeling of antagonism among those of another faith, but is solely in the interests of Roman Catholics.

Ally believed that David Willet, who is now senior in the office, will be given the position of teller. The position of permanent auditor still remains open. The responsibilities of the office will be considerably increased if siderably increased if a proposal that under the new system the auditor should sign all checks, as well as the teller and tend to a crowded audience on Capital Punishment, the subject being suggested by the hanging of Collins. He took for his text Genesis 9: 6, "Whoso sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed;" for in the image of God made He man." After appropriate introductory remarks the speaker said that among the many methods which had been adopted for executing criminals, several of which he named, there were few methods, if any, more objectionable than hanging. Some good people might not agree with his should be abolished in civilized countries, and which would be eventually outgrown ishment was a relic of barbarism, which should be abolished in civilized countries, and which would be eventually outgrown to be compared his contention with the following three leading reasons:

1. Capital punishment in such Christian lands as Canada is unnecessary. Many former methods of punishment had been abandoned as cruel and unnecessary. At the true purpose of punishment which should not only be to protect society and punish the criminal, but as far as possible should be reformatory in character. Imprisonment will not only protect society and punish the criminal, but as far as possible should be reformatory in character. Imprisonment will not only protect society and punish the criminal, but as far as possible should be reformatory in character. Imprisonment will not only protect society and punish the criminal, but as far as possible should be reformatory in character. Imprisonment will not only protect society and punish the murderer, but it will furnish a far better opportunity to reform and finally save the criminal. Turning to the scripture phase of the question, the text, at first glance, seems to favor capital punishment for murder. But does the law apply in this age in Christianized countries? In the law of Moses there were seventeen crimes that were punishment by the children and false prophecy, that led the people into idolatry. If the law respecting murder applies now, so does the law respecting the other sixteen cr

The World's Famous Prohibition -- P. E. Island an Passion Play

The Life of the Lord from Birth to Resurr ection

With the present century has come a great revival of faith in Prohibition. Every plan for regulating the liquor traffic has conspicuously failed. Prince Edward Island holds the great honor of being the all over the world along prohibition lines as there is today. Five states of the American union are now under the prohibition banner. Finland recently adopted the principle and in Scandinavia, Switzerland, Australia and in almost every English speaking-country in the world the people are working earnestly and hope fully towards the total abolition of the liquor traffic.

Montreal, Nov. 17—Hiram Rutenburg, one of the best known pawn-brokers of this city, committed suicide yesterday by taking carbolic acid. He was a member of the people are working earnestly and hope fully towards the total abolition of the liquor traffic.

Sir:—Would you kindly allow me space in your valuable journal to enter a protest against the treatment of the Sixty-Second Regiment in regard to their drill pay.

As every other branch of the service in St. John has received the annual fee, I think it is entirely unfair that the Sixty-Second should be excluded from the same fined $4 or ten days each.

pleaded guilty to drunkenness and were fined $4 or ten days each.

Laura Byron is again in the toils for drunkenness, having been arrested on Saturday. She pleaded guilty, this morning and was remanded.

John Caffery and John McDonald were fined $8.00 or twenty days each, also for drunkenness.

Thomas Connell, a Sunday drunk was remanded.

Arnold Reid, a lad charged with truancy, admitted having been absent from school and was sent below for the present, as Truant Officer McMann was not in court.

Second should be excluded from the same treatment as the rest. I suppose it will be said that we should give our services free for the benefit of our country anyway, but I might say that in this regiment, weretchedly equipped, and poorly officered, there is small inducement to do so.

Also, it is not generally known by the public that if the militiaman is absent from a certain number of drills, that he may be haled before the courts and put to the extremity of the law.

On the other hand the poor paivate has no way of recovering the money due to him, and is often compelled to wait six fined $4 or ten days each.

THE SCHOOL TEACHERS (Montreal Star.)

in JAP, GERMAN and MARMOT

You would be agreeably surprised to see what we can offer in these popular furs at moderate prices.

(Montreal Star.)

The value of the inspiration of a good teacher cannot be overestimated. The damage which may be done by a slack or feeble or uninspiring teacher is equally beyond computation. It may turn a promising boy into an idler without ambition and without ideals; and it may divert the interest of a bright girl from the things which really matter to the frivolities that waste so many lives. This is a subject.

The value of the inspiration of a good teacher cannot be overestimated. The damage which may be done by a slack or feeble or uninspiring teacher is equally beyond computation. It may turn a promising boy into an idler without ambition and without ideals; and it may divert the interest of a bright girl from the things the officers and men of the corps will agree.

Yours respectfully,

THE LATE MR. KELEHER which really matter to the frivolities that waste so many lives. This is a subject which cannot be kept too constantly before the people. We should have school commissioners who feel their great responsibility in this regard—as, indeed, most of them do—and who have the courage to demand of the tax-payers money enough to keep their teaching staff up to a high grade of excellence. Then, if possible, we should have a tax-paying community which has been so well convinced of the vital need of giving us good teach of the vital need of giving us good teach of the support of a family. of the vital need of giving us good teachers—whatever else it may have to stint—that it will willingly open its purse at the first hint from the school commissioners that more money is required.

Timothy Keliher reared a family of thirteen children, ten boys and three girls. All of the children grew to be men and women; all, except one who was deprived of his speech married.

EVERY DAY CLUB

Statement of the Manner in Which It Originated-Not a Denom national Institution.

Because of a letter in Saturday's Times misunderstanding appears to have arisen about the Every Day Club. The present club was not started by any church nor in whom its simple motto, "To help men to be men," may appeal. It is indebted to members of many churches for practical sympathy and assistance in a work which rather what he is doing with that which he does believe about right conduct and good citizenship. To clear up any misunderstanding the president of the club desires to make the lowing statement concerning its incer loes not ask a man what he believes, but

Winter before last a club was formed, called the Every Day Club, with the mot-to already quoted. Its members were not all members of one church—some of them not active members of any church. They assels street church, and met ther good in such a club, but realized tha the very fact that it met in a church pre-vented them from having as large an at tendance as they desired.

Last December, at a meeting of the Temperance Federation, the question of opening up a place in the city where mer could come together and be subjected to better influences than those of the street was discussed, and a committee was ap pointed to see what could be done. The to open Saturday evening in Berryman's Hall, will be opened tonight.

before the club that had been meeting weekly, as already described, and its mem bers at once agreed that the larger oppor-tunity to help men should be taken ad-vantage of. Their name and motto appeal-ed to the members of the federation, and were adopted, and all united to make the opening of the new club a success. Inas-Capt. Harry Mercereau, on behalf of the Sydney Fire Department, presented C. B. Smith this morning with a set of briar pipes as a token of appreciation for services rendered the department by Mr. Smith in drawing up the protest to the M. P. A. A. dealing with the firemen's sports in St. John on Labor Day.—Sydney Post.

Opening of the new club a success. Inasmuch as it was not opened as a strictly temperance organization, but kept an open door for every man, and as the federation was organized for another purpose, its direct connection with the club ceased, and an executive committee composed of W. Frank Hatheway, S. P. McCavour, Rev. P. J. Stackhouse, W. S. Fisher, Charles Ledford, R. T. Hayes, J. N. Harvey and A. M. Belding assumed responsibility for the institution. George Mc. While a farmer named Shellington, of the Hickey road, was delivering milk near the foot of Main street about 11 o'clock Saturday morning, his horse backed on the street car track and the rear wheels were demolished by a street car.

Mr. Shellington had gone into a house, and the horses began to kick and bite each other and backed in the way of the car.

Sibility for the institution. George McLaughlin and R. H. Cother, who were working members of the federation became active working members of the federation became active working members of the club, as did J. W. McCosh, W. P. Colwell and one of two others of the original Every Day Club, and with these soon united others who have ever since labored zealously for the institution, which now has a vigorous membership and a strong working executive, and is anxious only to be of service to men, regardless of class or Dress Goods.

John Gordon, a patient in the Provincial Hospital, escaped from the institution about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, but his freedom was short-lived. He made his way across the bridge and along Douglas avenue into Main street. His actions drew attention, and Policeman Smith took him in charge and soon learned that he had escaped, and at once returned him to the institution.

After all, the genesis of an institution is not so important as the work it aims to do, and if any man of any church wants to know what the Every Day Club is, and what it is doing, there is an open door for him every night in the week. The only regret of its members is that they cannot make it more attractive and helpful, and gain the active sympathy of more of the men who could make it a means of doing good to themselves and their fellows.
