Lady Sykes admitted the liability, but Sir Tatton denied the signatures were his, and alleged they were forged by Lady Sykes. The lat-ter would testify that her husband signed the notes. Counsel then proceeded to describe the relations between husband and wife, the former encouraging his wife's extravagance, yet loth to pay the bills. The wife, consequently, became involved in debt and borrowed money at 60 per cent interest. At the same time, with her husband's knowledge, she speculated heavily on the stock exchange. ## For the Yukon.

A Visitor From Vancouver, B. C., Talks Interestingly.

The Best Place to Buy Outfits for the Mining Region.

Mr. William McCraney, well and favorably known in this province as the former M. P. for Halton, was in the city this forenoon. Mr. McCraney has for years been a prominent citizen of Vancouver, B. C., and he has come east as representative of the corporation and board of trade to advocate the selection of that city as the best place in which to procure outfits for the Yukon. The route which Mr. McCraney advocates is the all-Canadian one established by the C. P. R., via Vancouver and the Stikeen River. Mr. McCraney states the following as the advantages for Yukon travelers subjection to an average import duty 2. Vancouver is much the nearest port to the Wukon country. 3. Vancouver is the only Canadian port having close connections with the transcontinental railways and the di-passengers embarking at Vancouver can step from the train directly on to the Yukon steamer. 4. Vancouver possesses large outfitting companies and firms, which, during many years, have been engaged extensively in fitting out and otherwise supplying the needs of northern miners education for wives and children respectively, whom it will often thought advisable for a time at least to refrain from taking into the difficult country and trying climate of the Yukon. As a result, those going to the Yukon will save time and money and avoid no little inconvenience and even difficulty, which would otherwise be encountered, if they went by any other route. They cannot, therefore, be too strongly urged in their own interest to book for the Yukon and Dawson City via Vancouver, being careful to mention Vancouver in their application.

Mr. McCraney speaks highly of the prospects of British Columbia, and says there is a bright future before Vancouver city. Pamphlets giving full and reliable details as to the best means for getting to the Yukon and of purchasing needed supplies have been issued, and can be had from the London city office of the C. P. R. It was highly necessary that action should be taken on this line, as all through East-ern Canada Mr. McCraney has found agents for Seattle and other United States western cities, booming those foreign ports as the best at which to buy outfits, which certainly is not the case, as many persons have already found

THE DETROIT BONSPIEL, Detroit. Jan. 12.-The second international curling bonspiel opened at Belle Isle yesterday afternoon. The ice was in fairly good shape, although not as keen as the curler would wish for. The following rinks have arrived and registered: St. Marys, Toronto, Strat-ford, Grand Rapids, Sarnia, Forest, Chatham, Petrolia, Thamesville, Ridgetown, Embro, Glencoe and Windsor. Toledo is the only other city that is still expected, and it is possible that their rinks may not come on account of the soft weather. The two London clubs and other cities that were expected have withdrawn. Still there are fifteen cities represented. The first drawing took place at noon and play started. The three trophies to be com peted for are the Cadillac, Russell and Walker cups. Last year Ridgetown won the Russell House cup. This was for a single rink. This club also holds the record for not having lost one game during the last bonspiel. Sarnia was a close second, and carried off the Cadillac. Detroit took the Walker cup. might and meet the ball full on the nose. I know better than that now, and during the last season I know that I did not swing with all my strength at any ball. "When Louisville first bought me from Nashville I was only a fair hitter for the reason explained. I thought that by watching some of the crackajacks in the league I might be able to improve myself, and so I watched. One day we were playing Cleveland, and Jesse Burkett was hitting them into every inch of safe territory. I think he had six hits in the game, and yet I noticed that he was only meeting the ball with his stick and nothing more.

"That set me to thinking, and from that time on I have gradually practiced that style of batting, and I find that it is most satisfactory. It used to be that when I hit a ball it went right down around first and second base. The result was that many a hard-hit grounder was nipped which might have been a base-hit. Now, I don't hit five balls down to first base in a season.

"Around third base is the best place to put them, especially for a left-hander man. You see, they don't expect the ball down there, but they are looking for a bunt. Well, if the third baseman is playing in and you get the ball a foot or so to either side of him it's a sure hit. Billy Keeler is another of the snap hitters. CONGALTON SECURED BY HAMS. It is now pretty definitely understood that Guelph will not be in the International League this year. Whether St. Thomas steps in to fill the gap remains to be seen; if not, it is altogether likely that another American club will have to be secured. Marr Phillips has just returned from a visit to Guelph, where he signed Congaiton for the middle field. The management of the Hams has been showered with applications for places on the team, but is yet acting slowly and carefully. At present the weak spot in the probable make-up is in the pitching department. Manager Collins should not allow his official eye to wander too far away from Messrs. THE WORLD'S RECORDS. Baltimore, Md., Jan. 1 .- Chairman Mott, of the L. A. W. racing board, has received a letter from Henry Sturmey, of Coventry, England, secretary of the International Cyclists' Union, stating that there are no official world's racing records. Mr. Mott began an investigation of the matter at the time Edward McDuffie, of Boston, tried for re-cords on the Willow Grove track at Philadelphia. McDuffie's remuneration depended somewhat on whether he succeeded in breaking or equalizing the world's records. He did some remarkable riding, tieing Stocks, of England, at 1:35 2-5 for a mile. Several of the records were clipped. Then McDuffie claimed pay for the world's records. Mott allowed the records and recorded them as official within the jurisdiction of the L. A. W. He believed them to be world's records, but he had no documents in his office to sustain his belief, and wrote to Secretary Sturmey to inquire whether there was not some way of settling the matter. Mr. Sturmey suggests that each organization send him in its official records on Jan. 1 of each year. He will then compile them and send copies to racing board chairmen or similar officers throughout the world, so that each may decide for himself what are world's records.

The Presbytery of London met in the church at Glencoe at 9 a.m. on Tuesday, Rev. J. G. Stuart, of London,

The first item of business was a communication from the secretary of the W. F. M. It was decided that Mr. Drummond should be | shall be no special allotment of time. appointed with the understanding that if he should find it impossible to fill if he should find it impossible to hit the appointment, the moderator should the appointment, the moderator should the appointment, the moderator should the ladies celebrate the 50th anniversary of the have power to arrange with the ladies

A communication was read from Dr. Robertson in regard to home mission work, which very strongly urged the necessary expansion of work in the West, and stated that it would be calamitous if the church failed at this juncture. He asked that the presbytery should discuss this matter and pass a resolution in regard to it.

Mr. John Currie moved that the communication be received, and the letter from Dr. Robertson referred to the presbytery home missions committee to prepare a resolution anent the matter. Carried. The cost of printing model constitu-

PRINCIPAL GRANT'S VIEWS.

No Need for Illiberal Treatment of Opponents in a Discussion.

A Kingston, Ont., dispatch says: The Principal Grant's opinion of his temperance critics: "It is not our intention to add anything, one way or the other, to the controversy that is now going on, re the subject of prohibition on the basis of the letters of Principal Grant to the Globe, but the kind of criticism employed by those who take exception to the principal's position, as outlined in these letters is worthy of note. It is assumed by almost all these critics that prohibition is the one and only means of dealing with the liquor traf-Their criticisms plainly show that they believe that there are only two positions which any one can take, and supporting the liquor interests. That this is not the only alternative for intoxicants, there would be some good ground for identifying prohibi-tion with temperance. But to assume simply begging the question. It is to assume the very point that is required Having failed to establish anything as to the method of treating a social evil without the advocates system calling in question the sin-cerity of the motives of all who differ may diagnose the same case and each adopt a different line of treatment, unfair for one to charge that the other was seeking to aid the disease, indifferent. In a certain Scotch parish the other day a free soiree was given to the poor children, a number of whom had never before had the option of such a treat. The minister, who was to superintend it, knew that if all the cake, bread and bon-bons were placed on the table at the same time, the children would not touch the bread, so he divided it into two courses—first, plain bread, and, second, cakes and bon-bons. At first the children all seemed to be enjoying themselves, until, when the second course came round, one of the assistants noticed a little fellow at the corner of the table crying. Going round to him he said: "Well, my little man, why are you so distressed?" "Please, sir, I canna eat any more." The assistant then whispered in his ear "Pooch, then, pooch!" only to receive the astounding reply: "Please, sir, I canna pooch. My pooches are a fou!"

I was frequently very dizzy and was much troubled with a mist that came before my eyes, my memory was often defective and I had fluttering of the heart, together with a sharp pain through it at times. In this condition I was easily worried and felt enervated and exhausted. Two months ago I began taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, since that time I have been gaining in health and strength daily. They have restored my nerves to a healthy condition, removed all dizziness and heart trouble, and now I sleep well and derive comfort and rest from it. CANADIAN POULTRY IN ENGLAND W. T. Crandall, who has been acting as agent of the department of agriculture in England for several months, has returned to Canada. He superin tended the marketing of the trial shipments of fruit, and then waited over to watch the sale of poultry. Despite advice and warnings given to shippers, large consignments of poultry for the English market were sent over in an unsaleable condition. English purchasers call for dressed birds, and although this fact was strongly impressed upon farmers by the department, little attention was paid to it. Those who sent over poultry dressed will derive fair returns as a result of their venture, but there will be practically little or no profit for those who sent over poultry n the feather. As demonstrating the difference in price, it may be stated that Canadian birds unplucked only brought 7d per 4b in retail stores, while Irish birds plucked, but not as good as the Canadian, brought 9d.

Against the Street Railway Company in George Fraser's Favor,

For Damages Incurred at Dundas Street Bridge.

The Jury Out Several Hours-Middle sex Winter Assizes.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON. Fraser vs. the London Street Railway Company was continued all the afternoon. The witnesses examined for the defense were Manager Carr, Supt. S. Potter. Thomas Revcraft, Dr. Mc-Callum and Dr. Moore. The evidence submitted was in support of the contention that at the time of the accident the railway tracks were as solidly in position as at the present time, and that | Cigarmakers on Strike in Montrealit was impossible for the car to have swerved sufficiently near the railings of the bridge to have caused the accident.

WEDNESDAY MORNING. was begun on the reassembling of the ellmuth on behalf of the company, argued that the plaintiff incurred the responsibility of any accident, having been a passenger of his own accord, and that he himself was guilty of contributory negligence by getting on the car while it was in motion, and standing on the footboard; that according to the evidence there was ample room inside of the car, and unoccupied seats in which he could have seated himself. Mr. Fraser could have pushed the button on the outside of the car in order to allow of his get-

The company allowed conveyances to run along the streets so equipped that it was a matter of choice whether a passenger rode inside or out. The company, he claimed, had placed the bells and footboards outside the A new charitable scheme, which car in order that their gain might be evidence it had been proven that there were vacant seats inside, and the conductor had used no effort to get the passengers inside the car. It was a

In this way the society will negligence on the part of the company, sengers while riding on their cars, and sufficient if they held out to the public It had been said that the company only invited people to ride on the outside when the inside was full. This fact should be considered by the way they carried on their business and constructed their conveyances. They provided accommodation on the outside of the car, by the placing of footboards rails and bells, and if these were only to be used under certain circumstances it seemed to him to have been the duty of the officials to give notice of this. Regarding the narrowness of the bridge, the judge said that evidence had been given that the bridge was sufficiently wide, even with the footboards full, if ordinary care had been taken. There had been evidence of a strong character that the 121/2 inches space between the railing on the car and the bridge had not been reduced. This, of course, was contradicted to some extent. Mr. Fraser had stated that he had tried to gain admission to the car; after going as far as he could towards the door was brushed off. If the jury considered the company negligent in not building the bridge of sufficient width to avoid accidents of this kind, the company was liable. If they found the company responsible, the question of damages should be calculated from loss of time, the pain and suffering, and consequent expenses THE VERDICT.

The case was given to the jury at 12 o'clock, and they did not return until 2:45 p.m. Their verdict was in the plaintiff's (Fraser's) favor. awarded him $3,300 and costs. E. Meredith, Q.C., vs. Hilliard, an

The judge reserved decision on the application.

Lady Somerson grew unaccountably enxious and ill at ease; and but that she saw Honore had no wish to leave the theater, she would willingly herself have forfeited the opera, that she might take the girl away. No; though so white and still, Honore sat engross-ed, breathing softly, and drinking in, with intense sympathy, the passion and the pathos of the music, and of he scenes before her.

The curtain fell at last, and the hearts that had ached, and the eyes that had wept, met each other with smiles and jests. But Honore's face had not regained its color, nor had the dreamy sadness left her eyes, though she received with pleasant thanks the eagerly offered attentions of the gentlemen who clustered into Sir Philip's Millions of sealed lead packets are box, hating each other piously during the doubtful moments before Sir Philip came to the fore, and frankly chose

She knew, too, what Honore would like; so, when the time comes for them to adjourn to Lord Selie's assembly (in which she knew only too well that the old programme would be repeated, and that Honore must receive the everrecurring routine of flattery and pursuit), Lady Somerson coolly announced a clever thing, when she placidly re-

So "What?" asked Honore, absently, Hervey, still a salient worshiper of good form, knew that such a communication would be in bad taste. New York, Jan. 12.-"I could die dancing" is what Mrs. Mamie Shelly, of 227 West Sixty-second street, often told her friends. No woman is fit to marry who has any unhealthy condition of the special structure most intimately concerned in wifehood and motherhood. No modest reluctance should prevent her seeking immediate relief from such troubles. There is no need of the mortifying examinations so detestable to sensitive-minded women. Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription is daily curing thousands of women of these troubles in the privacy of their homes.

The "Favorite Prescription" is the only proprietary remedy of its kind prepared by an educated, authorized physician. There is hardly a case so obstinate that it will not completely and permanently cure.

Mrs. Emma G. Clover, of Redkey, Jay Co., Indiana, in a letter to Dr. Pierce, says: "I can recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to anyone who suffers with any female disease. When I was in my teens I was always sick. I took your medicines before I was married, and now I am a well person. I am now twenty-three. I have also taken Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets,' and can recommend them all."

Education in Canada, and Especially the Manitoba School Question, Discussed.

A Full Translation of Pope Leo XIII's Declarations.

Catholic Teachers and Text Books' Approved by the Bishops, Insisted On-A Document That Will Interest Protestants as Well as Catholics.

The Advertiser has already given an extended summary of the pope's encylical on the Manitoba school question Today it gives a full translation of the document addressed to the "archbishops, bishops and other ordinaries of the Confederation of Canada, in peace and in communion with the apostolical It is as follows:

In addressing you today, and we do so with a loving heart, our mind naturally reverts to those relations of mutual kindness, to that interchange of good services, which have always existed between the apostolical see and the Canadian people. Beside your very cradle we behold the church with her charity, and ever since she was received you into her bosom she has not ceased to keep you in close embrace and to lavish upon you her bounties. If that man of imperishable memory, who was François de Laval Montmorency, was enabled to accomplish deeds of such exalted virtue and so fruitful for your country of which your ancestors were witnesses, it was assuredly with the support of authority and favor of the Roman pontiffs. Nor was it from any other source that the works performed by succeeding bishops -men of most striking merits-drew their origin and the assurances of their success. Likewise, to ascend to the remotest period, it is truly under

PLEASANT MEMORIES

All these facts are the most agreeable to our memory. All the more so, that the fruits thereof, fruits of no little importance, remain under our eyes. The most considerable of all assuredly is among those Catholic multitudes an ardent love and zeal for our holy religion, for that religion which your fore-fathers, coming providentially firstly and especially from France, then from Ireland, and again from elsewhere in later years, scrupulously professed and handed down to their posterity as an inviolable trust. But if their sons faithfully kept that precious inheritance we can easily understand what great share of praise is due to your vigilance and activity, venerable brethren, how great a share also belongs to the zeal of your clergy, for all together, with one soul, you labor assiduously for the preservation and the advancement of the Catholic faith, and such an homage is due to truth, without encountering either disfavor or trammel in the laws of the British Empire. Wherefore, when urged by the consideration of your common merits, we conferred some few years past on the Archbishop of Quebec the honor of the Roman purple, we had in view not only to set forth his personal virtues, but also to render a solemn homage to the piety of all your faithful. THE EDUCATION OF YOUTH. Concerning what regards the education of youth, upon which rest the best hopes of religious and civil society, the apostolical see has never ceased to take an active interest therein, in concert with you and with your predecessors: thus have been founded in great number in your country institutions destined for the moral and scientific training of youth, institutions which are so flourishing under the guardianship and protection of the church. Among them the University of Quebec. adorned with all the titles and endow ed with all the rights that the apostolic authority is wont to confer, occupies a rank of honor, and sufficiently proves that the holy see has no greater preoccupation nor more ardent desire than the forming of a youth equally distinguished by its intellectual culture and commendable by its virtues. EDUCATION IN MANITOBA. It was, therefore, with extreme solici tude, as you may easily understand. that we have observed the regrettable events which have marked in later years the history of Catholic education in Manitoba. It is our will-and this will is for us a duty-to strive to obtain, and in effect to obtain by all the means and all the endeavors in our power, that no injury be done to religion among so many thousands of souls whose salvation has been specially committed unto us, above all, in a region which owes to the church its initiation to Christian doctrine, and to the first rudiments of civilization. And as many expected us to speak on the question, and begged of us to trace out a line of conduct and the decide nothing in this matter before our apostolic delegate had been on the spot, charged with proceeding to a thorough examination of the situation, and with presenting us a report of the state of matters. He has faithfully and zeal-ously fulfilled the mandate we had committed to him. ROBBED OF THEIR RIGHTS. The question agitated is assuredly one of the greatest importance, and of exceptional gravity. We mean the decisions taken several years ago regarding the schools by the parliament of Manitoba. The act of union of the Canadian Confederation had assured to Catholic children the right of being educated in public schools according to the prescriptions of their conscience. Now, that right the parliament of Manitoba abolished by a contrary law. Such a law is injurious. For our children cannot be free to go and ask for the boon of instruction from schools positively oppose it, from schools where its doctrine is despised and its fundamental principles repudiated. If ever anywhere the church granted such permission it was only with reluctance, in self-defense, and after sur-rounding the children with many safe-

the danger. In like manner must be shunned, at any cost, as most perni-cious, those schools where all beliefs are indifferently harbored, and placed on the same footing, as if for what concerns God and things divine it mattered little to have or not sound doctrines, to adopt truth or error. are far from ignoring, venerable breth-ren, that all schools of such a nature have been condemned by the church, because nothing can be more pernicious, more likely to ruin the integrity of the faith, and to turn away youthful minds from the path of truth. There is another point on which we shall easily agree with those very minds which might dissent from us as to all else, to wit, that it is not by means of a purely scientific instruction, nor of vague and superficial notions of virtue, that Catholic children will leave the school such as their country de-sires and expects them to be. They must be nourished with far more grave and important knowledge in order to become good Christians unright and honest citizens. Their training must be the result of principles which, engraved upon their conscience, impose themselves on their life as natural consequences of their faith, and of their religion. GODLESS SCHOOLS CONDEMNED. For without religion there is no moral education worthy of the name nor truly efficacious, whereas the very nature and force of every duty are derived from these special duties that bind man to God-to God who commands, who forbids, and who appends a sanction to good and evil. Wherefore to desire that souls be imbued with good morals and to leave them provision be made therefor, that is to at the same time deprived of religion is as unwise as to invite to virtue after having ruined its very groundwork. Now, for Catholics there is only one true religion, the Catholic religion, and therefore in the matter of doctrines of morality and religion, they may not accept or acknowledge any that is not drawn from the very ources of Catholic teaching. Justice and reason then demand that our pupils find in the schools not only scientific instruction, but also moral knowledge, in harmony, as we have said, with the principles of that religion-knowledge without which, far from being fruitful, no education can be otherwise than absolutely baneful, whence the necessity of having Catholic teachers, read ers and text books approved by the bishops, and of having the liberty to faith, as also with all the duties that spring therefrom. Besides as to deciding in what institutions the children shall be brought up, what masters shall be called to a right inherent in paternal authority. When therefore, Catholics demand-and lar the Catholics of Manitoba, we feel agree with the religion of their chilisfaction. This confidence is based especially on the goodness of their cause, right, and nothing would be more un- and also on the equity of wisdom just than to place them in the alternative, either of letting their children government of the commonwealth, and grow up in ignorance or casting them | finally on the goodwill of all the into a sphere which constitutes mani- upright men of Canada. One of the Largest Funeral Processions Ever Seen in London-Over 400 Citizens Marched and There Was a Large Line of Carriages.

His late comrades at the Mc-Clary works were thus represented also, and so, too, were the Sixth Ward Liberal Club, of which organization the deceased was one of the most active and highly respected members. The funeral procession was most impressive. Over 400 citizens marched on foot at the head of the cortege, and represented four distinct organizations, in each of which the departure of the one whose memory they honored leaves a great gap. These bodies were the Northwest Veterans of 1885, marshaled by Col. Gartshore; the employes of the McClary molding shop, the Sons of England, and the Ancient Order of Foresters. The men marched in double line, and covered a distance of over two blocks. The Sixth Ward Liberals turned out in large numbers in hacks. There was also a long line of carriages, containing many sorrowing friends, who, though they had not been closely in touch with the deceased, either as comrades in the workshop, or brothers in some fraternal society, yet were warm personal acquaintances, and held him in high regard. The pall-bearers were: Representing deceased's fellow-employes, Messrs. Frank Barned and W. H. Yealland; Sons of England, J. Anderson and F. Newton; Foresters, F.

The Annual Meeting of the King Street Presbyterian Church.

The Reports Very Gratifying—Excellent Financial Condition—The Pastor's Salary Increased $100.

The annual meeting of the King Street Presbyterian Church was held last evening for the reading and discussion of the yearly reports of the various societies and bodies in connection with the church. The past year was shown to have been a most prosperous one. When Rev. Mr. Wilson, took charge, the congregation was in poor shape, and he came here from Dutton at a loss of salary to himself. The congregation last evening showed their appreciation of his efforts by raising his salary from $1,200 to $1,300 a

Last night it was reported that the envelope and loose collections for 1897 had exceeded those of the year by about $800, and that all debts, with the exception of the $3,500 mortgage, had been wiped out. The inrease of $100 in the pastor's salary was The pastor was chairman of the eve-

Two were removed by death, 10 by certificate, while 69 were added by certificate, and 50 by profession of faith, totaling 119, or an actual increase of 107. The number on the roll at present is 264. The session's colections amounted to $17 12; expenses, $13 34, leaving a balance of $3 78. Mr. Thomas McHattle read the report of the board of managers. The board thanked the members and adherents of the church for their liberal contributions to the general funds during the year. The ladies' aid was also specially thanked for its assistance and donations towards the general expense. The managers hoped that the same liberality would characterize the work of the friends of the church for 1898. The only liability now existing was the mortgage of $3,500 on the building and site. The congregation would be pleased to hear that during the year all other debts had been wiped out, and there was still a balance on hand. "We acknowledge the wise counsel and timely assistance of our esteemed pastor, and lope that he will long be spared to laoor among us," concluded the report. Mr. Wm. Gauld, treasurer, presented his report, which was very gratifying. Few churches can show relatively so sound a financial condition. The weekly contributions by envelope and the loose collections were $1,771 78; collected for 609 91. ALLISON'S CONFESSION.

Some Further Details About

Murder. Berlin, Jan. 12 .- In addition to the confession made by Allison, some details not contained in it are now made public about the way in which the boy murdered Mrs. Orr and covered up his tracks in order to allay suspicion against him. It is said that he dug the grave in the swamp two weeks before he committed the murder, and that the abuse which he alleges he received on the Orr farm rankled in his breast continuously; that he would have killed both his master and mistress. When he shot Mrs. Orr she fell from her seat backwards, with her hands thrown above her head, and in that position lay on the ground. Allison thinks Mrs. Orr's last words were "Oh, Jim!" uttered as she was falling. The murderer then, thinking Mrs. Orr was not dead, got an axe and made sure of his work. Then he hastened for a spade, took the first one he could find, and started to dig the grave in the corn patch. It was too dull to make rapid headway, so he flung it aside and got another and completed his excavation. The body was then dragged to the place and interred. Allison put the milk away in the milk-house himself afterwards. Then he began to hurry the cows over to Barrie's as fast as he could drive them. He says he did not meet Roddy, the milkman, on the road, and his story in this respect differs from the evidence given by young Barrie for the defense. Hurrying back, he took the fork and concealed every trace on the ground along which he had dragged the body, and all blood stains, and stood. fork in hand, with a lie on his lips, when the husband returned. The confession has been placed in the hands of the minister of justice for some time. It has caused a great sensation all over the country, and will be the means of allaying distrust in the minds of a great many as to Allison being the murderer, or the only murderer, of the unfortunate Mrs. Anthony Orr. THERE is not a more dangerous class of disorders than those which affect the breathing organs. Nullify this danger with Dr. Thomas' Eclestric Oil a pulmonic of acknowledged. efficacy.
