

NEW PROPOSITION FROM G. T. R. TO BE SUBMITTED TO CITY WITHIN TWO WEEKS

Will Be More Favorable, It Is Said, Than Previous Proposal—Agreement May Be Completed in Time for Vote of the People in January.

The Grand Trunk Railway and the city of London will within a short time take up the negotiations for the elevation of the company's lines through the city as far as east as Adelaide street.

City Hall circles know this to be a fact, and are already preparing to present the city's side of the case in the best possible form.

It is understood that the agreement reached by city and company on Wednesday has gone a long way toward improving the feeling between the two corporations, and that the Grand Trunk Railway is now willing and ready to give the city an agreement which will meet with the approval of citizens at large.

The Elevation Scheme.

The elevation scheme will mean that there will be no level crossings save for one or two sidings all the way from the river to Adelaide street. Further than this latter street the Grand Trunk cannot go, owing to the land levels.

It is understood, however, that the Grand Trunk will be found ready to meet the wishes of the council as far as the width of streets is concerned. Clarence street will be full width, it is said, and Wellington, Waterloo and Colborne streets will not be narrowed to any appreciable extent. Other streets will be full width, with the exception of Burwell street.

William street will, of course, have to be closed. Experts procured by the city at great cost declared that there was no way to elevate the tracks without closing the street, or building a subway, which would ruin property for two blocks on either side of the tracks.

Rectory Street.

As to Rectory street, it is said in city hall circles that something will have to be done to obviate the dangers of that crossing.

It has been suggested that the company construct an overhead bridge over Egerton street, and that the street railway line be diverted to the latter thoroughfare.

In this event, there would be no blockades of street cars by the steam railway, and there would be no danger of a car being struck by a train.

The New Depot.

It is said the new depot will be part and parcel of the agreement, but that its location will be left entirely to the Grand Trunk Railway, who will, at all hazards, be sure to build it where it will be most convenient to the company. And those who know say it will go just south of the present depot; that it will face on Bathurst street, and that it will extend across Clarence street.

Thus there will be an archway on Clarence street, but if it is the full width of the thoroughfare there will be no reason for residents on the south side to raise an objection.

Ready for January.

At the city hall today it was stated that the negotiations will be commenced very shortly, and that if the city is ready to go ahead with the Grand Trunk's proposition in a business way, the entire proposition will be ready to be submitted to the people in January.

Of course, the company will look for a fixed assessment, and around the city hall, it is said, that if the G. T. R. would be satisfied to pay taxes on $500,000 for the next twenty years, there would be no very serious objection on the part of the council or the citizens. However, this is a matter which will have to be threshed out.

Plans for the new depot in London have been prepared for some months. They provide for a depot, which will be the exact counterpart of the Grand Trunk depot in Battle Creek, Michigan.

Meeting Last Evening.

It was learned today that last evening Mayor Judd, City Engineer Graydon and City Clerk Barker had an interview with Manager McGuigan regarding the reopening of negotiations. Matters were so far arranged, it is said, as to secure from the Grand Trunk manager, a promise that within two weeks he would submit a proposition to the city for the elevation of the company's lines.

The proposition will be, it is declared, much better for the city than the one which the city was almost willing to accept some months ago. In several particulars the city will get a better deal than was dreamed of in the spring.

Amend the Agreement.

It is also said that the new proposition will mean that the agreement reached the other night will have to be amended, so as to avoid unnecessary expenditures on the elevation of the city will be allowed to stand for a while, so that the city and company may get together on the larger scheme. In the meantime, the Grand Trunk rests easy and goes ahead with its improvements west of the city.

In this regard, it is possible that the agreement which is all ready to be signed by the Grand Trunk and the city will be allowed to stand for a while, so that the city and company may get together on the larger scheme. In the meantime, the Grand Trunk rests easy and goes ahead with its improvements west of the city.

It was hinted at the city hall today that the amendment to the agreement may come before the council on Monday night next.

Five Townships to Take a Vote on Local Option

There is every indication that the ratepayers in five townships in Midsex will vote on the question of local option in January next.

The temperance workers in North Dorchester, West Nissouri, London, Westminster and Adelaide have organized, and they are now engaged in circulating petitions asking for the vote. Twenty-five per cent of the total number of ratepayers has to be secured, and if the petitions are found to contain that proportion the township councils cannot refuse to have the vote taken. The petitions have to be in before the 1st of October.

Mr. D. A. McDermid, secretary of the London Temperance League, stated today that the canvass was meeting with very good success, and that it was altogether likely that in each township the necessary number of names would be obtained.

A prominent resident of Westminster Township, who was seen this afternoon, said the petition there is being largely signed.

"But," he added, "I do not think the temperance people of the township would have been inclined to take up the question of local option had the license commissioners seen fit to refuse a license to one of the five existing hotels. The hotel referred to has been the cause of a great deal of complaint during recent years, and with it out of the way, I am pretty sure that the people would have been satisfied."

CAUGHT ROBBING FELLOW BOARDER

Latter Kept Close Eye on New-comer, and Found Him Rifling Room.

Ald. Gillean was acting magistrate at the police court this morning. Magistrate Love being unable to attend.

Ralph McMullen, charged with stealing a watch and some money from a room-mate, was remanded until Monday.

McMullen went to board at a Dundas street house a few days ago, and was assigned a double bedroom with Leonard Baker, an entire stranger. Baker did not like the appearance of McMullen, so he kept a close watch on him. Last night Baker went to bed before McMullen came in, and decided to lay awake until the arrival of his new room-mate. Then he pretended to be in a sound sleep. McMullen went to bed, but shortly after he arose, with the exception of his shoes, and proceeded to go through everything in the room. He took a watch and some money out of Baker's clothes, whereupon Baker nabbed him and handed him over to the police.

Roy Scott and Albert Nealon, boys who were arrested the other day on a charge of stealing from a local departmental store, and who afterwards pleaded guilty to the charge, appeared for sentence. Scott was allowed to go on suspended sentence, while Nealon was further remanded until Monday.

Benjamin Robinson, charged with robbing the value of a passenger business, $10 per week for the present. The case was adjourned until Dec. 21.

Kenneth Gilmore was fined $2 for being drunk.

One young man who trod on forbidden ground in Victoria Park, had to sever his connection with it, or allow himself to be caged for three days.

CHEAP RATES PAYING

Reduced Railway Rates Increased Company's Profits.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 21. — It is stated semi-officially that estimates made several months ago by officials of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company, on the former value of passenger business, there would be a loss of about $700,000 a year in gross receipts, owing to the reduction then announced of the passenger rate to 2 cents a mile. To this would, on the old volume of coal business, be added a loss of about $150,000 a year by the reduction of the coal rate, or a total of $850,000 loss by the two reductions.

The reduced rate has now been in operation for several months with the 2-cent a mile rate, and passengers, affecting now about nine-tenths of the system. The returns actually indicate that the increased volume of business due to the reduced rate has not only made good the expected loss, but actually increased the gross receipts.

DEATH OF CHRISTOPHER DOBIE. Gloucester, Sept. 20. — The death occurred in New York yesterday of Mr. Christopher Dobie, a councillor for the township of Ekfrid. Mr. Dobie had been in failing health for some time past, and went to New York to be treated by his brother, Dr. Daniel Dobie.

Mr. Dobie was about 45 years of age, and up to the time of his sickness was a splendid specimen of manhood. He was the youngest of twelve sons. His father, Mr. David Dobie, is still living.

BIG WHEAT YIELD.

Blenheim, Sept. 20. — Mr. W. R. McGregor reports a record yield of oats and barley, sown mixed, but principally barley. He had 23 acres of crop, and when threshed it produced 1,856 bushels, an average of about 65 bushels to the acre.

QUEBEC STRIKE ENDED.

Quebec, Sept. 21. — The strike of the employees of the Grand Lumber Company, which has been in progress for some time past, has been settled.

A NEW JUDGE TO BE CHOSEN

To Fill Vacancy on Supreme Court Bench—Cabinet Meets Tomorrow.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, Sept. 21.—The Minister of Justice will be in the city tomorrow to attend a meeting of the cabinet. It will be necessary to appoint at once a judge for the supreme court in the place of the late Justice Sedgewick.

The court meets on Oct. 2, and it is possible that Chief Justice Fitzpatrick may not be able to sit on some of the cases.

It is almost certain that the new judge will come from British Columbia. Justice Duff, of the supreme court of British Columbia, is said to be first choice of the province, and he is therefore likely to get the position. There are some applications from eastern provinces, but it is said that the west will have the first call. There is also a vacancy in Ontario to take the place of the late Judge Street, which will have to be filled.

Painful Rumor Denied. The interior department has received a message from its agent at Prince Albert stating that there is no truth in the report that three of Commissioner McKenna's party were drowned in Buffalo Lake. The report arose through the swamping of a half-breed's canoe.

To Keep Navigation Open. Tenders are being asked by the department for a tug boat to endeavor to keep navigation open from Port Arthur and Fort William this fall. Next spring an experiment will be tried by ice breaking to permit navigation starting as early as possible.

MAY RACE FOR THE CUP Sir Thomas Lipton Leaving—Likely To Issue a Challenge.

London, Sept. 21.—Sir Thomas Lipton and Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Connor sailed from Liverpool today for New York on the Celtic. A number of yachtsmen and others were present at the station to bid Sir Thomas farewell and urged him to arrange a race for the America Cup before he returned. Sir Thomas promised to discuss the matter of another challenge while in New York, and said he hoped it would be possible to make the arrangements.

In talking with an interviewer, Sir Thomas said that while he could not say anything more definite, he thought it "very probable that there will be another race." Friends of Sir Thomas are satisfied that he will issue a challenge during his stay in America.

COAL FOR SARNIA LOST Steamer Tuttle Broke in Two—Those on Board Escaped.

Sandusky, O., Sept. 21.—The steamer H. R. Tuttle, which sprung a leak off Cedar Point Saturday night and was beached near Marblehead, but patched and towed to this port Wednesday, broke in two at the stern early today and went to the bottom of Sandusky Bay. The captain and crew were asleep, but the sound of rushing waters awakened one of the latter, who sounded the alarm. All got ashore in leftboats. The Tuttle is now a total wreck. She loaded at Cleveland with coal for Sarnia.

FALSE RUMOR. Brussels, Sept. 20. — The rumored death of Charlotte, widow of Emperor Maximilian, is without foundation. Although she has made no improvement mentally, her health otherwise is excellent.

10,000 Lives Lost

Hong Kong, Sept. 21.—The entire fleet of six hundred fishing junks was lost in the typhoon. This increases the mortality to 10,000 persons.

ROSSA RESIGNS

AT SEA ON A PLANK

Lone Sailor Rescued by the U. S. Cruiser Minneapolis.

Washington, Sept. 20.—This message, dated today, was received at the United States navy department by wireless, via St. Augustine, from the cruiser Minneapolis, on her way to Cuba:

"The Minneapolis, 50 miles east of Charleston, at midnight picked up a man at sea floating on a plank. Two men heard his voice at one side at 11. Stopped the ship, turned on the search lights and lowered a lifeboat. The man's name was James Olsen, and he belonged to the schooner Twilight, which capsized at 6 o'clock on the morning of Sept. 17. There were seven in the crew. We remained in their vicinity, using searchlights until daylight, but saw no sign of the wreck or any survivors.—(Signed, Fiske, commander.)"

The Twilight, Capt. Peddensen, was of 357 tonnage, and her port was Wilmington, Del. She sailed from Charleston on Sept. 11 for Philadelphia.

UNREST IN SPAIN

Catalanists and Republicans May Unite With Carlists.

Madrid, Sept. 21.—According to prominent members of the Opposition, there is great danger of the extension of the present Carlist agitation, in spite of the Government's declaration attaching no importance to this movement.

It is declared that numerous guerrilla bands are concentrating, and that the inhabitants of Navarre Province are greatly excited. It is feared that the Catalanists and the Republicans will make common cause with the Carlists, and it is reported that the clericals are supplying the movement with funds.

A rigorous censorship prevents accurate knowledge of the situation in the disturbed districts. Orders have been issued countermanding the proposed maneuvers in the vicinity of Barcelona, which were to begin today, and steps have been taken to facilitate the suppression of disorders.

A "WIRELESS" SUCCESS.

It is alleged that Crown Attorney Smith of Chatham, who prosecuted the case, and the Chatham police, who claim to have located the three men and to have done all the work, are greatly annoyed because Campeau claims even a share in the reward.

The funeral will take place tomorrow under Masonic auspices at North Glencoe, Ont.

INJUNCTION DISSOLVED

But Traction Company Had To Deposit $500 as Security.

In the high court at Toronto yesterday, the case of Johnston vs. the Southwestern Traction Company was heard. The action is brought by an Elgin County resident as a result of the company using a part of his land for the construction of the trolley line between St. Thomas and Port Stanley. Johnston recently secured an injunction against the company from the local judge at St. Thomas, and at Toronto yesterday, a motion was made to have the injunction dissolved, the company agreeing to deposit with the court a sum of money as security for any damages caused by the company to the plaintiff's lands.

Counsel for Johnston consented to this, but demanded a larger sum than was named by the defendants.

The court ordered that on the payment into court by the traction company of $500, on or before Tuesday next, the injunction is to be dissolved.

MR. WHITNEY EXPLAINS

Why Commissioners' Names Were Not on Healey's "Little Lease."

Toronto Globe: "With two members of the hydro-electric power commission members of the Government, and the third member of the commission an engineer, how could there be friction between the commission and the Government?" asked Hon. J. P. Whitney, when questioned about the Healey Falls lease yesterday afternoon. "The commission is a part of the Government," he continued, "and it is all nonsense to talk of friction. Maybe there was nothing else to talk about in the dog days."

"Do you approve of the lease?" the Premier was asked.

"Approve of it? Wasn't it passed by the cabinet?" he inquired by way of reply. "How could I do anything else than approve of it in face of the request of the municipalities that are concerned?"

"That puts a different phase on the question, doesn't it?" the Premier was asked.

"No, not at all," was the reply.

MAY CUT RATES 25 PER CENT; WATER BOARD IN LIMELIGHT

The Meeting Called for Monday Night Gives Rise to Sensational Rumor—Aldermen Talk Protest.

A meeting of the water commissioners has been called for Monday evening next, when the question of reducing the water rates will come up. It was said today that it is the intention of the commissioners to reduce the rates for the current quarter 25 per cent, as it makes up for the reduction promised some months ago, but which so far has resulted in nothing.

It will be remembered that in the spring the commissioners decided to cut off an amount equal to the surplus revenue of the department derived from consumers for 1906, or about $10,000.

Now, it is said, the commissioners intend to deliver the goods.

A Surprise.

Just at this time, with the water problem facing the citizens, the action of the commissioners comes as a great surprise. When the reduction was talked of in the spring, the late Auditor Jewell pointed out that the commission would be cutting the ground away from beneath its feet by such action. It was not providing anything to improve the waterworks department, and was not even providing anything for depreciation of property. If it was necessary to secure more water to place the department on a better footing, the auditor pointed out that the commission would have no money for such purposes, as it was doing away with its profit and was inaugurating a hand-to-mouth system.

City Pays Bill.

It was shown that the commissioners would have to go to the city for money, and now the truth of all these arguments is being demonstrated. The water supply at Springbank is now considered by the majority of citizens to be inadequate, and the commissioners are thinking of going to the lake for water at a cost of not less than $1,000,000.

The city will have to provide this money, if such a scheme be adopted, and on the city's present assessment it would mean an addition to the tax rate. If the payment of the debt were spread over a period of 40 years, of somewhere in the neighborhood of 2 mills.

And yet the commissioners propose to cut the water rates, in the face of such an expenditure as this.

Talk of Protest.

Even if the river water scheme is resorted to for fire-fighting purposes, and the Springbank supply is retained for the homes of London, it will mean that within a year the people of London will be compelled to raise a sum of not less than $300,000, so that the tax rate is bound to be boosted.

Some of the aldermen are talking of protesting in the council against the proposed action of the water commissioners, which is characterized as a mere election dodge, and was left over until the fall so as to make an impression on the water consumers of the city at a time when votes are generally looked for.

WENT TO SLEEP, STRUCK BY ENGINE

A Peculiar Accident to Robert Stewart, a C. P. R. Fireman, in London Yard.

Robert Stewart, of Toronto Junction, a young man of about 28 years, and who is employed on the C. P. R. as a fireman, was struck by a locomotive in the local yards at 5 o'clock this morning, and was seriously injured. He is now in Victoria Hospital, and Dr. English, who attended him, says he will recover.

Stewart met with the mishap in a peculiar way. His own engine left the rails, and was stalled in the east end. While help was being called to put the engine back on the rails, Stewart sat on the outside of the ties at one end of the engine. There he fell asleep, and when another engine arrived to assist the stranded locomotive, Stewart did not hear its approach. He was struck by a beam and rolled for some distance. His injuries consist of several bruises to the left shoulder, thigh and arm, and also a deep dangerous cut in the region of the stomach.

Stewart has been unable to speak since the accident.

A TOWN WRECKED WITH DYNAMITE

Explosion at Jellico, Texas—Six People Killed and Fifty Injured.

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 21.—Fifteen persons are believed to have been killed, probably thirty injured, and almost the entire business section of Jellico, Tenn., wrecked by a terrific explosion of dynamite early today in a car in the yards of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad.

The explosion occurred about 100 yards north of the depot and near the center of the business section of the town. The bodies of the dead are buried in the debris at present and it is impossible to estimate the extent of the fatalities or to give names of those who lost their lives.

One of the known dead is Thomas Atkins, aged 30, lineman employed by the Knoxville Telephone Company.

Every warehouse in Jellico along the Louisville and Nashville Railway is a wreck, and nearly every store in the town is in ruins. The entire third floor of the Carmarthen Inn, a large brick hotel structure, was blown off. It is believed that no prominent white persons are included in the dead.

A special Louisville and Nashville train has been sent to Williamsburg, Ky., for physicians. An early morning train over the Southern Railroad from Knoxville, also carried physicians to attend the wounded.

Williamsburg, Ky., Sept. 21.—According to the best advisers obtainable here six persons were killed and fifty injured in the explosion at Jellico.

—Mr. and Mrs. James R. Dewar returned to Onalaska, Neb., today after attending the funeral of the former's father, the late Mr. J. S. Dewar, of the Wharmcliffe road, South London.

"Sculls" and "skulls" are really one word in origin, and both at various times have been spelled capriciously with a "c" or a "k." Peppys, the diarist, tells how he went on the Thames, at one time "in a scull," at another in a "skuller." The origin of the word is "skulle," or "sculle," a bowl or a goblet. While the cranium was obviously bowl-like in shape, a distant resemblance to a bowl was also detected in the scooped-out blade of a "scull" as opposed to the flat blade of an oar proper.

Defective Board Walks Swamp City With Suits

Engineer Graydon Asks That the Walks Be Torn Up—Some Cases in Point.

The city of London is finding itself in a pretty pickle these days as the result of actions arising through alleged defective sidewalks. Suit after suit is being threatened against the corporation, and in most cases the city is compelled to settle rather than fight the actions in the courts. Where the money is to come from to pay the shot nobody appears to know.

At the meeting of the board of works last night City Engineer Graydon recommended that the city settle the claim of Mrs. McCurdy, of 77 Wellington road, who is said to have been injured through an alleged defective walk.

Mr. Graydon drew attention to the number of suits being brought against the city by people who suffer injuries through the plank walks. He recommended that all such walks in the city be torn up.

"You may look at them today and they will be all right. Tomorrow they will be found absolutely dangerous," Mr. Graydon said.

Claim Settled.

The mayor reported that he had settled the Cochrane case for $200. He had tried to settle with Mrs. Kerr, who was injured on a walk in East London, but she refused the $35 offered, and at the assizes was given $900 and costs. "We are responsible for the condition of the sidewalks," Ald. Saunders said, "and yet we must wait until the people are ready to replace the old walks."

"No," Mayor Judd corrected. "The council by a two-thirds vote may put down a walk anywhere."

"Then we should replace every dangerous walk in the city," Ald. Saunders declared.

The city engineer's recommendation re the McCurdy claim was accepted.

The protest of Wm. G. Parsons against a drain on High street being used for sewage purposes was referred to the board of health.

Closing King Street.

The question of the closing of a portion of the west end of King street for the London Foundry Company was discussed and laid on the table. The city solicitor may be consulted.

The mayor said that he did not think the city has the power to close a portion of the street. As the company has already built on the property his workshop thought the best way out of the matter would be to not attempt to close any portion of the thoroughfare by resolution of the council, but to allow matters to remain as they are.

A deputation waited on the board and asked for a sewer on Tecumseh avenue. A number of houses have been put up on the street on the understanding that the sewer would be constructed this year, but at its last meeting the board recommended that no sewer be put down. This recommendation passed the council.

The hearing the deputation, decided to recommend that the decision of the last meeting be reconsidered, and that the sewer be built.

It seems that a petition against the sewer and which was sufficiently signed was lodged with the city clerk, but it was two days late, and consequently has no weight with the city.

The cost of the sewer, with side drains, will be about $2,500. It is to be built on the local improvement plan.

Is Material All Right?

York street west ratepayers appeared in a body to protest against the class of concrete being used by the Forest City Paving Company. They claimed that the contractors are not using sufficient cement.

Inspector Dando, who was present, said that already 248 barrels of cement had been used. The gravel, which had also been criticised, he considered first-class.

City Engineer Graydon said the cause of the trouble was the driving of teamsters over the concrete before it had properly set.

To Ald. Saunders, Mr. Dando said that some of the teamsters were in the employ of the Forest City Paving Company.

"The contractors do not appear to care how the job is done so long as they get through with it," Ald. Saunders said. "If they allow teams to drive over the concrete before it has set the city should not suffer by their carelessness. It's an outrage that it is necessary for the people to come here with a complaint of this character. We expect that our inspectors will see that the work is done properly. If they don't I suppose it's up to the committee to put down the pavement and trust to no one."

Unsatisfactory Job.

Ald. Garratt declared the pavement to be an unsatisfactory job. Chairman Gerry said he didn't think there was enough cement in the concrete.

Ald. Saunders claimed the machine mixer does not turn out as good concrete as that mixed by hand.

"All we know about the pavement," said a member of the committee, "is that you can kick stones out of the concrete, which appears to be lacking in cement."

"Barring a few soft places, the pavement is all right," said the city engineer. "These soft spots will all be cut out."

On motion of Ald. Saunders the committee decided to inspect the pavement this morning.

The committee agreed to give the Forest City Paving Company $50 in full of all claims, and to have the asphalt filler changed to a cement filler. By so doing the possibility of trouble with the property owners is obviated, and the sum of $333.60 on the cost of the pavement is saved to the people.

BANK-WRECKER NEARS NEW YORK

A Race to Get Possession of Paul O. Stensland When He Lands.

New York, Sept. 20.—Paul O. Stensland, the president of the Milwaukee avenue wrecked state bank of Chicago, who was caught in Tangier, Morocco, two weeks ago, whether he had fled after the collapse of the institution, which he is accused of having caused by wholesale theft, will arrive in port on the Hamburg-American liner Prinz Adelbert today.

His arrival will be the signal for a race to get possession of him. Stensland is in the custody of Assistant States Attorney Olsen, of Chicago, who was commissioned a United States agent to bring him here. Olsen and the state attorney's office of Chicago want to rush the president west before his son, Theodore Stensland, indicted for knowledge before the fact, and others interested can talk with the broken-spirited fugitive. Theodore Stensland arrived here last night to be ready to meet his father.

Detective Kinder, for the Chicago police, placed the necessary papers for extradition in the hands of Governor Higgins at Albany and Governor Stokes at Trenton, yesterday. He has permission to rush Stensland back to Chicago. It is said that Kinder has chartered C. K. G. Billings' yacht, one of the fastest in the harbor, to meet the Prinz Adelbert at quarantine.

The moment the yacht gets alongside the liner, it is the plan to put Stensland aboard of her, race to Jersey City and place him on a train for Chicago before his son can get to him. Before leaving Chicago young Stensland was quoted as having said this to say about the purposes of his trip. "If I have my way about it there will be a legal battle in New York and New Jersey to keep my father from coming to Illinois such as never before has been witnessed there. If father insists upon coming to Chicago he shall have his way. I believe the false accusations against him will make a fair and attainable trial in Cook County impossible."

Scott, the congregation; for Iderton, Mr. Wm. O. Telfer representing the session, and John R. Calvert representing the congregation.

All the representatives bore high testimony to the ability and zeal with which Mr. Craw had carried on his work for the past four years.

Mr. Craw, however, had insisted on his resignation being accepted and the congregation greatly regretted his removal.

Mr. Craw's resignation was accepted, to take effect after the end of the present month.

Isn't that a lot for a few cents to buy.... isn't it, when you think of the trouble common starch makes?

Less rub-rub the iron gives the starched pieces, longer those pieces keep from going to pieces. For it's the iron.... more than the wear.... that wrecks starched things. IN EAST ELGIN.

Speakers in behalf of the Liberal candidate in East Elgin are taunted with corrupt motives if they refer to the benefits accruing to the riding from the Government's vigorous transportation policy.

The people of East Elgin know that these public works have not been undertaken either as a reward or a bribe. Extensive harbor improvements were projected at Port Burwell and Port Stanley, and much money was expended, long before there was any premonition of a bye-election.

East Elgin elected a Conservative two years ago, but East Elgin has received the same treatment as if its representative had had the ear of the Laurier Government. The Government will continue its scheme of harbor improvement in the riding, whether Mr. Marshall or Mr. Hepburn is elected.

An unscrupulous attempt is made to represent the large expenditures of Port Stanley as bearing a direct relation to the present contest. The contract for the erection of a 1,000-foot breakwater, at a cost of $125,000, was awarded to Haney & Miller months before there was any inkling of Mr. Ingram's resignation. The Minister of Public Works is a broad-minded man, and is conducting the policy of his department in a broad-minded manner. Port Stanley and Port Burwell will be among the finest harbors on the great lakes, as details of a scheme framed on broad, national lines.

The work at Port Burwell and Port Stanley is not sectional or political, but the evidence of a progressive policy, which the electors of East Elgin may fairly be asked to admire and support.

TOO MUCH RED TAPE.

President Roosevelt complains that he has to unravel too much red tape in his dealings with this country. "Canada ought to be represented by an attaché at the British embassy," he told the Canadian members of the international waterways commission. "If I want to communicate with your Prime Minister I have to do so through the British ambassador, and then this communication passes successively through the foreign office and the colonial office in London to the Governor-General of Canada, who lays it before the Canadian ministers. It is a slow and very tedious process. Why cannot you be directly represented here?"

It is unworthy of the dignity of a nation like Canada that it cannot directly address the United States, or receive directly an official communication from Washington. The circumlocution office, which stands between the two countries, is an impediment to business, and to a better mutual understanding.

The absurdity of the present system is illustrated in an Ottawa dispatch. The United States Government desired the appointment of an international commission to consider objections on the St. John River. An unofficial tip to this effect was given to the Canadian Government, and the Canadian commissioners were appointed, and an appropriation made, before the official communication from Washington, suggesting the creation of the commission, reached Ottawa, via the foreign and colonial offices in London. In fact, the formal proposition only reached Ottawa two weeks ago, although acted upon by the Canadian Government in June.

The British diplomatic machinery is freely at Canada's disposal the world over, and is of great service to this country, but our relations with the United States constitute a special case, which calls for special treatment. The United States and Canada are geographically one, and are so interlaced in other ways that disputed questions are constantly arising, which can only be dealt with satisfactorily by men acquainted with local conditions. It is no reflection upon the British ambassador at Washington or the members of the British embassy there to say that they cannot master the details of every such problem, or completely understand the Canadian point of view. Canadian wits must be matched against American wits, or the interests of this country are likely to suffer, as experience has too often proved.

Perhaps the best method, in view of the plan successfully followed in dealing with the boundary waterways, would be the appointment of a standing joint commission to be the official medium between the two countries in matters that exclusively concern them. Such a body would bring personal inquiry and a practical knowledge to bear upon all subjects referred to it, and could inform public opinion aright, and take vexed questions, to a large extent, out of party politics.

Something ought to be done, in this or another way, to facilitate official intercourse and the transaction of business between Ottawa and Washington, and it can be done without wounding the amour propre of the British ambassador at Washington, unless he is more concerned for the prerogatives of his office than its usefulness to this country.

A GREAT WAR SECRETARY.

After a succession of dilettante war secretaries, Great Britain has at last a man equal to the task.

Mr. Haldane is proving a bold and resolute reformer. He has shown a refreshing determination to see and judge things for himself, and a wholesome disregard of backstairs influences. Recently he has been attending the German army maneuvers, as the guest of the Kaiser, with the object of learning at first hand any lessons which could be taught by the greatest military organization in Europe. Mr. Haldane's latest reform, which shakes the British army system from center to circumference, is the creation of a general staff, on the German model. This step was recommended by Lord Escher's commission, but the late Government hesitated to make the move. Custom, tradition, and powerful aristocratic influences were arrayed against it. The British army is so interwoven with the social life of the country, and is so saturated with favoritism, that the transfer of all power of appointment and promotion to an independent body is little short of a revolution. Mr. Haldane is no respecter of persons, and his policy has one aim—efficiency. He has provided the machinery for this purpose, and if it is worked in the spirit which he seeks to infuse into it, Great Britain will not be again humiliated as she was during the Boer war by the breakdown of her army system.

Why build a pipe line to Lake Erie, when the Free Press promises us a $60,000,000 canal from Lake Huron?

The Conservative candidate in East Elgin is a member of the canning combine. This is not a drawing card with the farmers of the riding.

A new department of public health in Ontario would solve the problem of finding a job for Mr. Willoughby, thus making life less a burden for Mr. Whitney.

A homeless man was turned out of the St. Catharines public hospital as a consumptive, and perished on the street of pneumonia. It is a disgrace to the people of Ontario that there is not provision for all such cases.

Our local contemporary thinks the maple leaf would not be a suitable device for the Canadian flag, because maples do not flourish in every portion of the Dominion, and grow in other countries. The American eagle is, of course, a peculiar product of the United States, and the British lion is only at home in the British Isles. Thanks to Alex. Muir's song, every patriotic Canadian identifies the maple leaf with his own country.

BUT WHY "DEPENDENCY"?

[Toronto Star.]

"I welcome," said Premier Whitney, "this gathering to the first city of the first province of the greatest dependency of the greatest empire on the globe." Superlative, as usual, but this time in good taste.

NEWSPAPER INDEPENDENCE.

[Brookville Times.]

The Toronto Star commends the increasing independence on the part of Canadian newspapers of either party, and it infers that this independence is but a reflection of the increasing independence upon the part of the community. There is no doubt about this. Almost any newspaper editor can testify to the fact that in both the Liberal and Conservative parties there is an increasing number of men of independent thought who refuse to be blinded by partisan bigotry. This is a wholesome condition of affairs which is altogether likely to continue to the marked benefit of Canada.

THE VIRTUE OF LAZINESS.

[London Chronicle.]

I think most men who have been educated at any large public school will readily call to mind numerous instances of boys who were always winning prizes yet have not done anything worth mentioning in after life. And I am confident that those who have led a strenuous and remarkably successful career will be found that the majority were rather lazy than not before they entered upon the actual battle of life. Mr. Chamberlain's school days seem to have been wholly uneventful.

Oliver Goldsmith was looked upon by his schoolmaster as a dunce. That may possibly have been the fault of the latter. I fancy there is something specially narrowing to the mind in a scholastic career, just as there is in a doctastic one. That, at least, is my individual experience. Goldsmith never took a prize at school. If I remember aright, though he subsequently gained a double-first at Oxford. Those late high priests of science or philosophy, Darwin, Huxley, Tyndall, Herbert Spencer, did not particularly shine in their younger days.

We find plenty of evidence that people who in the first stages of their career make prolonged and exhaustive demands on their stores of nerve force rarely attain length of days. Whether those demands have been made merely in the pursuit of wealth or for some more noble object does not matter. The result is the same. Thus Napoleon considered about four hours in bed "a good night's rest." He joined the majority at fifty-one. Dickens passed over at fifty-eight, his great rival, Thackeray, at fifty-two. Byron achieved his unique reputation in the short compass of thirty-six years. Mozart in thirty-five. Schiller at forty-five. The late Mr. Alfred Beit died at fifty-three. Cecil Rhodes at forty-eight.

CANADIAN CHEESE.

[Hamilton Times.]

It is said that one of the principal causes of the high price of cheese is the unusually large demand for our product by the British people, who, following the exposure of the methods and conditions in the United States packing centers, have quit meat in favor of cheese.

FAIRY TALES OF SCIENCE.

[Exchange.]

A Columbia scientist was praising the other day the astronomical and literary work of Percival Lowell, says the New York Globe.

"One day just before an eclipse of the sun," said the scientist, "Mr. Lowell told his darky, George, that if he would watch the chickens the following morning about 11 o'clock he would see them all go to roost."

"Hi, hi," laughed George. "Hi, hi; good joke."

"When on the following morning the sun darkened, and the chickens went to their roosts, George was amazed and horrified. He found Mr. Lowell as soon as he could, and said:

"How long, sah, did you know 'bout these chickens?"

"Oh, a long time."

"Did you know it last year this time?"

"Yes; more than a year ago."

"Well, dat beats all," said the astounded darky, eyeing Mr. Lowell with awe, "Dem chickens wuzn't hatched a year ago."

OLD BEFORE WEBSTER'S TIME.

[Buffalo Commercial.]

The British correspondent of the New York Times asserts that he had never seen "Judgment," and similar words spelled without an "e" after the "g" until he came to America and referred to the London Times as a standard of British usage. Says another correspondent, "I have looked up the London Times. In its issue of August 17, a casual inspection reveals that the word 'Judgment' spelled as you and I spell it, occurs four times, once in a letter to the editor, once in a law report, and twice on the editorial page. And now, it seems, the publishers of Webster's Dictionary, whooping up their publication, as the manner of publishers is, and actually taking credit to Noah for dropping out the middle 'e' from judgment." The fact is that Johnson's Dictionary (1755) omitted the middle "e" from "judgment" 73 years before the first edition of Webster appeared.

QUEER USE OF THE WORD "BEGGAR."

[Saskatoon Capital.]

A NEW ZEALAND FUNERAL.

[Chicago News.]

Sir Richard Seddon, who died recently at sea, was the great man of New Zealand, and his funeral was made the occasion for impressive and picturesque ceremonies. Two Maori chiefs led their people in a mourning chant for the dead Premier:

"Place in his ear the precious jewel-stone,

The greenstone Kahurangi.

Hang on his breast the koro-tangwai Of glittering lucid jade.

Oh, thou wert a prop within the house; At the prow of the canoe thou wert.

Ears bent to the splashing sound Of many paddles.

In the waters of Poneke.

In the contentions of the people's council.

Our prized kaka-bird has gone, The plumes alone remain."

Next came the chiefs of the Greenstone land—only two or three of them. The dirge opened thus:

"Keen blows the nor-west wind, Wind from the mountain land,

Bringing sad thoughts of thee, Where, O Hetana, art thou gone?

Perhaps in council hall thou'rt laid, To await thy people's coming.

Yes, there lies thy mortal shell, Resting at last.

From its many, from its innumerable travels.

From its ceaseless goings to and fro."

The final scene was a dramatic climax. The songs, the high-pitched cries of farewell, cries almost of despair, had wrought the Maoris up to a pitch of deepest feeling. The people sprang to their feet, women and men, and with rolling eyes they broke into a grand chorus—an old chant to death.

They stamped and threw their arms this way and that, and women waved aloft their leafy trophies of sorrow.

Eyes, rolling, feathers dancing, black tresses tossing, and weapons brandished in the air, the people ended their great song with a long-drawn "E-e!"

MINISTER'S WIFE
GUILTY OF LIBEL

Lady Cecil, the Daughter of Lord Salisbury, Was the Victim.

London, Sept. 20.—Mrs. Matilda Stanley, wife of a clergyman, was charged at the Old Bailey yesterday with publishing a false and defamatory libel concerning Lady Gwendoline Cecil, daughter of the late Marquis of Salisbury. The defendant was not represented by counsel and decided to conduct her own case. Charles Gill, K. C., conducted the prosecution. In opening the case he said the libel contained in pamphlets published by the defendant headed:

"The Hatfield business. The Cecil plot. Astonishing revelations. Great is the truth and in the end it will prevail."

One paragraph in the pamphlet reads as follows: "Scandal arose between the lady of the household who is a member of the Cecil family. It appears that in 1890 this woman gave birth to a child, of whom, it is alleged, this chaplain was the father, and in order to shield this lady the pretence of this child has been infamously attributed to me, and tradesmen's bills have been made out in my name."

In another leaflet Mrs. Stanley explicitly names Lady Cecil as the lady for whom she has been made the scapegoat.

Mr. Gill said the libels were a culmination of the series of wild statements and a wild attack against all sorts of persons extending over several years and directed against any one from whom the accused is unable to obtain money. The defendant's father has been employed for years by the late Marquis of Salisbury, and she had acted as organist at the daily services in Hatfield house. Mr. Gill cited several acts of kindness the Cecil family had shown her. They even had helped her in obtaining a church living for her husband. She constantly wrote begging letters, he said, to Hatfield house. The fact that these appeals remained unnoticed possibly gave rise to her resentment against Lady Cecil. The defendant for a long time went from place to place, staying with persons from whom she obtained money on the strength of her statements as to her sufferings and the allegations that she was about to institute proceedings against the Cecils. The sums of money she obtained in this manner were considerable, particularly as what she said was guaranteed by a committee of five women, who wrote:

"We have no doubt as to the truth of the foregoing statement," meaning the charges made in the pamphlet.

Police Inspector Drew testified that 15,000 copies of the pamphlet had been found in the defendant's possession.

Lady Gwendoline Cecil testified that she remembered the defendant as an organist. She said in August last one of her brothers showed her the pamphlet. She denied absolutely there was any truth in the allegations made in it.

The defendant cross-examined Lady Cecil, the latter maintaining she had no child and strenuously denying the allegations in the pamphlet.

After Robert Dunton, secretary to the late Marquis of Salisbury, had given testimony as to offers of monetary assistance which the Marchioness of Salisbury had made, but which had not been given, Mrs. Stanley, first supplying the jury with copies of the pamphlet, addressed the court. She asserted in a rambling manner that she had been the victim of a loathsome libel for fourteen years and that in consequence she had lost her place and had suffered terribly.

The defendant, continuing, talked so fast that only such terms as "ruin" and "persecution" could be heard by the reporters. She admitted that she had no documents to prove her charge, but she said a lady member of the Cecil family had confessed to her the guilt of Lady Gwendoline.

Witnesses for Mrs. Stanley were called, but added nothing to substantiate the allegations made in the pamphlet.

The jury found the libels untrue and that the plea of justification entered by the defendant had not been proven. Mrs. Stanley was sentenced to six months' imprisonment, and the documents in the case were ordered sent to the public prosecutor to ascertain whether the author should not be prosecuted.

A MISSION FULFILLED

CHAPTER XX.

The Honorable George Barty.

Amongst the guests at Byfield was one whom no coldness on Margherita's part appeared to repel, no dullness of hers to weary. This was a man of the name of George Barty—the Honorable George Barty, a member of a household regiment, and well known in town society. He was generally reported rather fast; but with birth, good looks, and plenty of means, he was not likely to have the cold shoulder turned to him by many on this account. He was a great favorite with Lady Elizabeth, perhaps all the more because his admiration for her was strictly within limits, and his attentions, although polite and sufficient, had never been marked by any overwhelming sense of her charms.

Truth to tell, George Barty was a little tired of the Lady Elizabeth type. It was such a very common one in the circle in which he moved. The fast, flashy, witty, pretty young married woman had become, to his mind, something of a drug in the modern market. He was polite enough to them all—they greased the wheels of modern life, and their small chatter filled up the convenient gaps—society, in fact, could not go on without them; but there was nothing arousing or stimulating in their presence, at any rate to him. Something more original and less shallow was necessary for him to feel such results. And women in Barty's sphere—or he fancied so—were usually either commonplace or shallow; but the moment his eyes fell upon Mrs. Keith Ronaldson he admitted to himself that here was one who seemed to be neither the one nor the other. Her beauty, too, accustomed as he was to a critical examination of lovely faces, struck him as something equally new and original. He had never seen such a face before in all his thirty years. It was one to arouse the coldest being from a sleep of indifference, to fire the enthusiasm of the most jaded of mankind. And having made her acquaintance, he found the very peculiarities which turned some of her own sex against her but so many additional attractions in his own eyes, wearied as they were of the sameness and tameness of London society. Her little foreign accent and gestures, her occasional ignorance of social laws, her almost childlike simplicity of heart and speech, gave her a freshness which greatly enhanced her interest. He watched her with an interest of which he was scarcely aware himself. Sufficiently shrewd to read much of her character, although not to suspect its force, he felt a curious fascination in the woman who was so fearless and so innocent, so good and so simple-hearted, saying to himself, with the instinct of such a man, "How long will it last—when will she become like other women?"

Mr. Barty was not among the number of actors. He had been pressed much to take a part, but excused himself on the score of inability as soon as he perceived that Mrs. Keith Ronaldson was not included among the company. It was quite true that he had never done much in the histrionic line; but it is certainly equally true that had Margherita been engaged to assist, he would have found himself capable of doing the same.

Margherita did not take any particular interest in Mr. Barty; she observed that he was very gentle and courteous toward herself, that he missed no opportunity of ministering where possible to her comfort or enjoyment, this also too unobtrusively to attract observation; and in her simplicity she felt grateful to him. She began, after a day or two, to regard him as something of a friend; and felt sorry for his sake, one morning she overheard two ladies seated not far from herself, disposing of his morals in a way that seemed to her both cruel and terrible.

"George Barty?" said one, laughing. "Oh, yes, all the women in town are in love with him, they say. No wonder, he's so good-looking; and that sort of silent way of his has a certain fascination about it. He's an awful flirt, I must say, though he doesn't trouble himself to say much."

"And yet you know," observed her companion, "I always fancy he keeps himself remarkably cool; it never strikes me that he has much heart to give away himself."

"I dare say," said the first, "that he has found discretion the better part of valor. You have heard, I suppose, the rumor that he has a wife somewhere in petto?"

"Yes, I know it is said. What do you suppose she is—an actress, or a bad sort, or what?"

"No, they say she's a decent girl, but of low birth, a pretty milliner, or something of that sort. My husband declares it's a true story. But, of course, one can't wonder that he keeps it quiet."

"Of course. One can hardly expect a man—especially a man like George Barty—to wish all the world to know that he had made a fool of himself."

Margherita turned away abruptly, and betook herself to the garden. A wintery sun was shining on the shrub-bordered walks, and here and there the gold and crimson chrysanthemums lifted brave and rosy faces from some sheltered southern wall. It was a calm, lovely, still day, so mild as almost to remind her of the winter beauty of her own sunny land of Capri; yet was she sad and sore of heart. At the time, she thought little of whether the story of Barty and his low-born wife were true; it was the abstract principle itself which disturbed her. More clearly than ever before, she was beginning to appreciate her own position, Keith's impulsive disposition, the rashness of their own marriage; her eyes were being opened during this visit, as never before, to see painful facts in all the harsh nakedness of their unvarnished reality.

"It was not to be wondered at if a man wished to keep such a matter quiet—not to be expected that he should wish all the world to know that he had made a fool of himself." Ah, was that how her own sex, how women looked at the matter? Were they right? If so, had she not done a little wrong? Had he not been generous beyond common in acknowledging her, in keeping her publicly beside him—had she any right to feel wounded, hurt, and sore if he neglected her at times, if he did not always treat her with the love and consideration of the first few months of their married life?

She picked a golden chrysanthemum, and stood twisting it absently between her fingers, the sunlight falling on the dark coils of the bowed head, and on the sad, thoughtful young face.

Suddenly she started as a step approached, and straightened herself. It was George Barty himself, and in his hand he held a light wrap.

"Mrs. Ronaldson," he said, "I took the liberty of bringing you this. I saw you pass the library window with nothing over your shoulders. It is not prudent at this time of the year; you will take cold. And we could none of us afford to lose your singing."

She put the shawl obediently round her.

"But I do not need it, you know," she said, smiling a little sadly; "I was never brought up to luxuries, Mr. Barty."

"You were brought up in Italy," he remarked; "and cannot play tricks with our cold English climate. Do not go in yet, Mrs. Ronaldson; now that you have your shawl, will you not come a little further? Come and see the horses exercising. Do you know which are going to ride tomorrow?"

"I am not sure whether I shall go tomorrow—to the meet."

"Oh, you must come. Stockton, of course, will be proud to give you a mount."

"Yes, he did say he would lend me a horse. But I do not know if I ride well enough," she added wistfully, quite ready to relinquish her own enjoyment if Keith should deem her performance unlikely to redound to his own credit.

"Ride well enough!" he repeated.

"Why, you have a beautiful seat on horseback. I never saw any woman sit better, and you seem to me to have a good hand on the reins."

"I should like to go to the meet," she said.

"Not only to the meet—you must follow the hounds."

"But I cannot leap, Mr. Barty."

"Never mind. I know the country well enough; I will take you round, and you shall leap little or nothing."

"I could not spoil your day for you—oh, no, Mr. Barty!"

"You wouldn't spoil my day!" he exclaimed, earnestly, then suddenly checked himself, with the instinct that had he continued and said all that was on the end of his tongue to say, he might, very probably, have ruined his cause. "I should enjoy teaching you," he remarked; "it isn't often I get the honor of giving a lady lessons in riding. If you would only take my horse now—she's a perfect little fencer, and as gentle as a lamb—and I will ride one of Stockton's. Will you, Mrs. Ronaldson?" he asked, eagerly.

"No, oh, no, Mr. Barty, I will not take your horse. But I will go on a little bit, if my husband does not mind my going. Perhaps," she said, half to herself, with sudden color and a wistful tone, "perhaps he will teach me how to follow the hounds."

The wish in her heart was so plainly emphasized on her face that it would have been impossible for anyone to misread it, and Barty remained silent for a moment, half touched, half angered by her simplicity. What other woman of his acquaintance would have revealed her soul so plainly, without plique or ill-feeling against the man who was treating her at the moment with so marked a neglect? What other woman would have failed to respond, more or less, under the circumstances, to advances so flattering to her own wounded feelings, coming as they did from one so generally admired and admitted irresistible as himself?

He was annoyed, astonished, disgusted. But he was one of those men so accustomed merely to stand with his mouth open in order for the ripe fruit to fall into it, that the very novelty of defeat and uncertainty did but plique his vanity, and redouble his earnestness.

DETROIT TUNNEL PLAN APPROVED

Dominion Railway Commission Dealt With It—Big Blaze at Ottawa.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Sept. 20.—The railway commission has approved of the plans for a tunnel by the Detroit Channel Company. The tunnel under the Detroit River will cost from $7,000,000 to $10,000,000. There will be two tubes laid in cement, 65 feet below the bed of the river. The tunnel will be operated by electricity.

Big Lumber Fire.

Ritchie Bros.' upper piling grounds at Aylmer were destroyed by fire this morning. The loss is estimated at $90,000 to $100,000. About 4,000,000 or 5,000,000 feet of lumber was destroyed. In addition to the lumber the old Presbyterian manse, now occupied by Station Agent Cleary was burned to the ground. If a high wind had been blowing the whole town would have been wiped out.

Canadian-Australian Preference.

A cable dispatch says that Premier Deakin, of Australia, complains that he got no answer to two letters of his in connection with the subject of a preference between Canada and Australia. The exact position of affairs will be shown when the whole correspondence is presented to Parliament next session. It is, however, well known in Ottawa that Australia got the offer of a preference in the first instance ten years ago and did not accept. There was a standing offer to the colonies.

New South Wales came under that offer and got preference. When New South Wales was absorbed in the commonwealth, the general tariff was so much against Canada as not to entitle it to preference. Later on Canada endeavored to arrange a preference with Australia. Trade Commissioner Ross was specially instructed to carry on negotiations and had done so. He was on the spot. It looked at one time as if Canada were to succeed, but instead we got duties raised against us.

Australia knows that Canada was anxious to get a preference and instead a higher tariff was extended to the Dominion. This, briefly, is how the matter stands.

FATAL EXPLOSION.

Fort William, Sept. 21.—Three men are dead and eight are injured as a result of the inadvertent explosion of a dynamite cap, which occurred Wednesday in the Grand Trunk Pacific tunnel at Pinemark. The dead are Peter Wetliam, 33 years; Henry Parviainen, 22 years; Nestor Rajala, 48 years.

The accident occurred early Wednesday forenoon.

The injured men who survived the shock have been taken to the private hospital of Foley Bros. at Kamistiquia. All will recover.

At the time of the explosion the laborers employed at the tunnel were engaged in removing debris that had been blasted from the cut on the previous day.

Charles J. Johnston, a foreman, had his left arm blown completely from his body.

FIFTY YEARS IN PRISON.

Wilmington, Del., Sept. 20.—Charles Conley, a negro who attacked and seriously injured a woman and her daughter on a public road ten days ago, was sentenced yesterday to 50 years' imprisonment and to receive 30 lashes at the whipping post. Conley was arrested Monday. He confessed and today was indicted, tried and sentenced.

A POINTER FOR BRYAN.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Ex-Senator James K. Jones, chairman of the National Democratic committee and manager of both the campaigns for the presidency of Wm. Jennings Bryan, has written to Mr. Bryan advising him strongly to drop the subject of government ownership of railroads and to take a firm stand in favor of an enforcement of the law that is on the statute books.

Poverty is not a crime; it is the only luxury in which the rich cannot afford to indulge.

BROTHERS FIGHT SANGUINARY DUEL

Virginia's Most Noted Outlaw Mortally Wounded By a College Graduate.

New York, Sept. 20.—A Huntington, Va., dispatch to the World says that "Cap" Hatfield, the state's most noted outlaw, who for years has spread terror among the natives along the West Virginia-Kentucky border, especially the McCoy family, is dying at Wharncliffe, Mingo County, the result of two bullet wounds, inflicted it is charged by Dr. Elias R. Hatfield, his youngest brother.

"Cap" and the young doctor had not been on the most friendly terms for a few weeks, but why no one may never know. They met yesterday on the railroad track just below Wharncliffe. "Cap," as usual, carried a Winchester rifle, while the younger Hatfield had a pistol. The men began shooting when within forty yards of each other, and the young doctor proved the better marksman, and it is alleged, put two bullets directly through the chest of his outlaw brother.

"Cap," it is said, has killed more than a dozen men.

Dr. Hatfield has surrendered to the Mingo authorities. He is 26 years old, and is a graduate of the Louisville Medical College.

BULLETS FLYING OVER STREET CARS

Some 200 Passengers See Two Men Murder a Third in Brooklyn Highway.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 20.—With pistol bullets humming like bumble bees about their ears, 200 passengers on an Ocean Avenue trolley car returning from the Gravesend races and another bound for Sheepshead Bay from Manhattan were thrown into panic. The shots were fired by two men who had killed a third on Marcy avenue, Brooklyn.

Both cars were open. As they arrived at the spot, the passengers, mostly women, saw two men with revolvers shooting at a third. At the first shot the man fell. As he was falling, another shot entered his head.

The men who had shot him ran down Marcy avenue toward Flushing avenue, pursued by 50 factory hands who had just quit work.

Fusillade of Bullets.

The two men turned and began firing at the crowd of pursuers. The shots were high and the bullets went singing through the trolley cars, which had stopped. Passengers screamed and dived to get beneath the seats. Some jumped from the Gravesend car and tried to crawl beneath the car. Hand-somely dressed women sat down on the floor, cowering behind seats. Everyone appeared to be trying to get behind everybody else.

Above the cries of the women and the tramping of those seeking a refuge could be heard the singing of the bullets as they passed through the car above the heads of the passengers.

Some one in the cars shouted to the motorman to "go ahead." About the time the cars started the shooting ceased, and the two men who had been doing the shooting ran into Flushing avenue and, turning into an alley, disappeared in the basement of a house.

The excitement was so great that the reserves of the Clynne and Vernon street station were turned out to restore order.

The man who was killed was Michael Ross, 34 years old, the foreman of a gang of street pavers repairing the pavement in Marcy avenue. Ross had remonstrated two men who shirked their work. The men quit and demanded their pay. They were told to come back for it Saturday. They returned to work and worked until noon, when they quit and again demanded their money. Ross told them to wait until Saturday and threatened them with arrest. They went away and nothing more was heard of them.

How Ross Was Killed.

Shortly after 6 o'clock, after the workmen had gone home and as Ross is very strong in Canada to-day. In no article of diet is purity so important as in flour, for flour is the basis of more than half your food. It is your duty, therefore, to see to it that the flour you use is pure.

The Pure Food Movement

"FIVE ROSES" FLOUR is made by a process which insures absolute purity, in so far as it can be secured by the most scientific milling methods. From the time the wheat enters the mill until the flour reaches the cook it is untouched by human hands. The grain itself is thoroughly cleansed before grinding, whilst the flour is sifted, time after time, through the finest silk cloth, in order to remove the smallest impurities.

These processes render "FIVE ROSES" an easy and satisfactory flour to use, and insure better results on baking day than can be obtained with any ordinary brands.

PREVENT DISORDER.—At the first symptoms of internal disorder, Farnell's Vegetable Pills should be resorted to immediately. Two or three of these salutary pellets, taken before going to bed, followed by doses of one or two pills for two or three nights in succession, will serve as a preventive of attacks of dyspepsia and all the discomforts which follow in the train of that fell disorder. The means are simple when the way is known.

As a blind man sees no more from a pinnacle, just so a fool learns no more from his opulence.

The irony of poverty is its wealth of possibilities; the irony of wealth is its poverty of ideas.

SOMETHING MORE THAN A PURGATIVE.—To purge is the only effect of many pills now on the market. Farnell's Vegetable Pills are more than a purgative. They strengthen the stomach, where other pills weaken it. They cleanse the blood by regulating the liver and kidneys, and they stimulate where other pills compound depression. Nothing of an injurious nature, used for merely purgative powers, enters into their composition.

It is less bitter to starve in an attic than to feast upon plates of gold, with suspicion as your portion.

Designed by Martha Dean.

A FIRST SHORT SET FOR THE LITTLE ONE.—4101.

What lovable little creatures babies are in their first short clothes! and especially when they begin to push themselves about the floor to show their independence. A set of short clothes is sketched here which is very sensible and attractive. The dress has a pointed yoke and deep bertha collar and sleeves which may be long or shorter. A sheer nainsook would serve for this with a simple embroidery as trimming. The undershirt closes in back and has tabs at the lower edge to hold the drawers. The latter are all in one piece and very easily made. The skirt is a straight round one, finished with a hem or narrow embroidery. The material needed for these in the medium size is as follows: For the dress, 2-8 yards of 36-inch goods, 7-8 for the petticoat, 3-4 for the drawers, and 3-8 for the undershirt. 4101—Sizes, 1-2, 1, 2, and 3 years.

DOCTORS PLEAD FOR A. T. PATRICK

Nearly 3,500 Sign Petition to Governor in Condemned Man's Behalf.

Albany, Sept. 20.—Nearly 3,500 physicians of the state, representing 551 cities and towns, and including some of the best known in the profession, are signers of a petition presented to Governor Higgins today, in behalf of Albert T. Patrick, the New York lawyer convicted and under sentence of death since 1901 for the alleged murder of the aged millionaire, William Marsh Rice, in September, 1900.

The petition is as follows: "We, the undersigned physicians of New York State, have read the medical testimony presented on a motion for a new trial, to Recorder Goff, in the case of Albert T. Patrick, charged with the murder of William Marsh Rice."

"The conclusions of the experts who testified are quite at variance, and the questions are novel, as well as grave, and important to the members of society, and especially to the defendant, and therefore should be justly solved."

"To this end, we petition your excellency to appoint a commission composed of disinterested experts, selected from the medical profession, to examine impartially into the questions at issue, and report their findings at as early a date as possible, and thus avoid the possibility of mistake in the case of Patrick, and as well to get a final and just solution of the question."

The main medical question involved, vital in the conviction of Patrick, is whether the congestion of the lungs, alleged to have been found in the autopsy upon Rice's body, could have been caused by embalming fluid, or must be the result of chloroform, with which Jones, Rice's valet, in one of his several contradictory confessions, said he killed the old man by Patrick's direction.

SHOT RIVALS IN SHAM BATTLE

Town Boys Jealous of Militia Make Use of Some Loaded Shells.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 21.—In a sham battle at Grundy Center, Ia., fourteen soldiers from Vinton and Cedar Rapids were shot by young men of Grundy Center who were jealous of the attentions to the soldiers by their sweethearts.

The Grundy Center young men got even with the visitors during the sham battle by firing shot instead of blank cartridges.

The visiting militiamen had been in Grundy Center during the fair and had captured the hearts of the local girls to the exclusion of the home boys. The morning of the battle it was found there were not enough militiamen, and a number of the home boys offered to enter the fight, furnishing their own guns and ammunition.

After the fight had proceeded for a few minutes Capt. Whipple, of Company G, fell. Blood on his face showed he had been wounded.

Before the hospital corps could carry him from the field Lieut. Saunders went down. Corporal Clark quickly followed, and then privates on all portions of the field began dropping.

The commandant ordered firing to cease, but the Grundy Center contingent kept popping away until forced to desist. When the firing ceased, it was found that fourteen of the militiamen had been wounded, although only three were badly hurt.

Although thousands witnessed the fight, it was believed the wounded were only shamming, and all voted it a realistic fight. The fair officials made every effort to keep the true condition a secret, but the wounded have made such a complaint that an official investigation is pending.

Poverty is an honorable estate until the point is reached where man complains—not because he is poor, but because another is rich.

GREAT AUDIENCE WAS TURNED AWAY

Theater - Goers Disappointed—Fire Department Forbid Inaugural Performance.

New York, Sept. 20.—The new Astor Theater, at Broadway and Forty-fifth street, which was to have been dedicated with a gala production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream," was refused permission to open by the fire department and its big first audience was dismissed after waiting nearly an hour for the curtain to rise.

Alfred Bradley, general representative for Wagenhols & Kemper, the announcement from the stage. In a long speech he stated that the regulations of the police, building and fire departments had been complied with and that the performance was ready to proceed, but that Battalion Chief William T. Beggin, head of the fire department repair bureau, who had promised to be at the theater at 7 o'clock to inspect an automatic pump, had failed to put in an appearance and could not be found.

Manager Bradley's voice trembled with anger as he spoke. He gesticulated with his folded opera hat and treated by the officers of the fire department. He explained that last Friday the pump connected with the fire tanks holding 15,000 gallons of water and located above the stage had been inspected, found to be too small and ordered to be replaced. This work, he said, was completed in ample time for the performance, but the fire official had failed to keep his word to return.

The audience listened to the speech in silence and approved the arrangement made to refund the price of tickets. The people then left the theater without making objections. Checks were distributed at the door and the money will be refunded.

ROBBED OF $553 CASH AND JEWELS

House Plundered While Inmates on the Porch Watched the Coney Island Parade.

New York, Sept. 20.—One of the richest women of Coney Island, Mrs. Margaret Rice, who lives in a handsome cottage on Surf avenue, near Twentieth street, was robbed of $5,000 worth of jewelry and $553 in cash while watching the Mardi Gras parade Monday night.

Mrs. Rice was the widow of Garrett Katen, one of McKane's lieutenants. He left an estate valued at $300,000. Mrs. Katen married ex-Fire Marshal Robert Rice. They separated some time ago.

Mrs. Rice with friends she entertained at dinner went out on the front porch to see the parade. About 9 o'clock the front door of the house was closed because of a draught. Half an hour later Dr. Garrett Larque, Mrs. Rice's nephew, went in the house and discovered all the light on in his aunt's bedroom and the bureau in which his aunt kept her money and jewels broken open. He called his aunt, who found that the thief had taken a watch studded with diamonds, a diamond studded becket, a pair of diamond earrings, two diamond stick pins, two solitaire diamond rings, a diamond and sapphirine ring, a large cluster diamond pin, a diamond brooch and $553 in cash.

The police were summoned. They found that the thief had climbed to the roof of a small outbuilding and had entered the house from there. They have no clue, but Mrs. Rice says she believes she knows who took her jewelry.

A big St. Bernard dog which generally acts as watchman at the rear of the house was at the time on the front porch.

To be content is to be happy, and happiness is one of the Three who cannot be bribed; the other two are Love and Death.

The poor may not know who are their enemies; the rich cannot know who are their friends.

Malta-Vita builds up the body, repairs its waste and yields because it supplies the body with every required food element and is easily digested.

Scientists say the fourteen food elements in wheat are the identical elements of which the tissues and cells, bone and brain, blood and muscle of the human body are composed and with which they must be replenished if life and strength are to be sustained.

Malta-Vita contains every nutritive element of the best white wheat. It is the whole of the wheat, thoroughly steamed and cooked, mixed with pure barley malt extract, then rolled into water-fakes and baked crisp and brown. The coating of the wheat gelatinizes its starch and the malt extract, an active digestive agent, converts the starch into maltose, or malt sugar. Maltose is valuable food and the weakest stomach digests it without effort. Physicians recommend it and Malta-Vita is rich in it.

Malta-Vita is pure, clean, appetizing and wholesome. Eat it with milk, cream or fresh fruit. No cooking, always ready to eat.

DOOM OF DIVORCE MAY BE NEAR

National Congress in United States Hopes to Agree on Uniform Law.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 20.—Gov. Pennypacker has decided to call the second and decisive national congress on uniform divorce laws in Philadelphia next month, instead of in Washington, as originally planned.

If the delegates have their way—and hundreds of influential lawyers say the congress will be supported by the various state legislatures—South Dakota, divorce will become a thing of the past, and they are determined to secure a man or woman wishes to secure a divorce he or she must stay at home to get it, and that every state shall have identical regulations.

Among the delegates appointed by the governors of various states to this congress are many women, and the women who attended the last session as delegates have announced that they will try hard to induce the governors throughout the United States to appoint more women to attend the session here.

Judge William H. Staake, who is secretary of the congress, does not like this a bit. "Divorce is a delicate subject to handle before a large audience," said he, "and when the congress first assembled last February men were afraid that in treating the various phases of the question, they might say something that would offend the women delegates."

"We will not be afraid of that this time," he continued, "for after we had listened to one address made by one of the women delegates seven months ago, we felt the audience room no place for simple men."

The address to which the judge had referred was delivered by Dr. Fanny Leake Cummings, of Washington, who called hearts tears and spades spades, with capital letters and without fear. Dr. Cummings will be a delegate to the Philadelphia meeting. She arraigned the delegates to the first congress upon the ground that they were afraid to go to the bottom of the divorce evil, and made a series of statements based upon medical statistics, which sent the judges flying in search of the open air.

Notices of the change of plan for holding the congress will be sent throughout the country by Judge Staake. He is also a member of the commission on uniform state laws, and said this organization had just reached an agreement upon a uniform sales act, a uniform warehouse act, and were about ready to report upon a uniform bill of lading.

Springfield, Mass., Sept. 21.—Charles F. Bronson, son of the late Deacon Eli Bronson, president of the Benedict and Burnham Manufacturing Company, of Watbury, Conn., was sentenced here to three years in prison for the wholesale theft of brass and copper from Springfield factories. He received his sentence with a laugh, remarking, "Well, my friends won't worry about me for a while now."

A graduate of Yale, lavish with his money and enjoying an excellent social position, Bronson operated for years in this and other cities along the lines of the "Raffles." His first exploit was stealing from a clothes-line at St. Margaret's School for Young Women. Afterward he picked the pockets of his clubmates and took jewels from the women he met at dances and dinners. When cornered he usually restored his plunder with a joke, and his millions of dollars gave thousands in payment for what he called the boy's pranks.

His first serious offense was the robbing of the dressing-rooms of the assembly, Waterbury's leading social function, of jewelry, cigarette cases, fur-lined overcoats and opera wraps. He used an express wagon for this job, and after it was completed went in to lead the German.

A series of similar episodes forced his father to disown him. Then Bronson became desperate, robbed the Yale dormitories, passed bad checks on army officers, and finally degenerated into an unrepentant but business-like crook.

A year ago he reappeared in Waterbury, assured old family friends that he had reformed, and vanished the next morning, after robbing their homes. In several cases he wrote notes, regretting that his pressing necessities had forced him to appropriate family plate. He served one term in a New Jersey penitentiary, where he was known as "the dude."

DIED IN DRUG STORE.
Toronto, Sept. 21.—A man named Andrew E. McLean dropped dead in the drug store of E. A. Legg shortly after noon yesterday. He was waiting to have a prescription filled. McLean was about 64 years of age, and lived at 588 Shaw street, Toronto.

ABOLISH CHILD LABOR.
Washington, Sept. 20.—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor decided yesterday to make every effort to secure the passage of laws more generally to abolish child labor. The applications of several unions to be supported in the presentation of wage scales to their respective employers upon the question of higher wages were received. At the same time it was impressed upon them that every effort should be made to prevent strikes if possible. The appointment of more organizers was authorized.

ST. THOMAS MAN DISAPPEARS.
Port Huron, Sept. 20.—Mr. E. H. Caughell disappeared from his home in St. Thomas on Sept. 19. He was traced to Courtwright, having purchased a ticket in St. Thomas on the Pere Marquette for that point. It was also ascertained that at Courtwright he crossed to St. Clair. Mr. Caughell had been ill with brain fever, and at the time he left home had only a few days covered. His brother, Mr. William C. Caughell, of St. Thomas, and Mr. R. E. Edmonds, of Simcoe, a brother-in-law, are here conducting a search for the missing man. It is stated that a man answering the description has been seen wandering about in a demented condition.

Change of LIFE

This perfectly natural change in a woman's life is too often accompanied by painful, distressing symptoms due to female troubles and slight irregularities in her delicate organism.

The woman who passes this change without the development of tumors, cancers, or chronic invalidism enters a new field of happiness and usefulness in the domestic circle and in social activity. Her physical system should receive the necessary assistance at this critical period.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is exactly suited to woman's needs at this time. It strengthens and cures all derangements of the female organism, it overcomes the hot flashes and dizzy fainting spells, and all other distressing symptoms.

Woman's Friend During Change of Life

Dear Mrs. Pinkham—I owe my splendid health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am the mother of three children, have safely passed the change of life, and feel as young and strong as I did twenty years ago, and this is all due to your friend of women, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it before my children were born, and it greatly assisted nature and saved me much pain, and during change of life I took it off and on for four years, and had but little trouble and sickness such as most women have to endure.

Mrs. JAMES K. MAXX, 506 Bathurst Street, Toronto, Canada.

The whole secret of safety at this time of life is thorough preparation before the change begins. Fortify the system with a course of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. This wonderful medicine has carried thousands of women through this danger period.

No such helpful advice to women who are sick can be had anywhere as will be received free by addressing Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. Mrs. Pinkham is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, and for twenty-five years under her direction, and since her decease, she has been advising sick women free of charge.

SNAP-SHOTS AT VARIOUS SPORTS

Summer sports will soon depart from the center of the stage. To give the place to football games, which in fall are all the rage.

Barney Vining, of the Merrimacs, in the City Tenpin League, bowls a speedy ball.

Cleveland and Boston went twelve innings yesterday in the second game. Cleveland won, 4 to 3.

The Merrimacs got two last evening.

"Doc" Sippi will manage the picked baseball team which bumps up against the Stars at Tecumseh Park on Saturday.

How about a few billiard tournaments this winter? They would go all right with the sport-loving public. There is no game more interesting, none more scientific, than this game. Get together, cue-handlers.

Rugby was not intended for weaklings. If a man can't stand to have a few broken limbs and other minor (?) injuries in a season, he had better not indulge in this strenuous pastime.

Roosevelt says he likes football, but we have never heard of him playing it.

More entries for the City Tenpin League! Good! Let's have plenty of this kind of sport during the coming winter.

Amateur sports should receive every encouragement. The professional receives his stimulus every pay-day.

Weidenshaul, of Toronto, has had a varied experience this season. Starting with Montreal, he was traded to Toronto, sent back to Montreal on another deal, and is now in Toronto.—Sporting Life.

George Bannan, of this year's Toronto club, has signed a contract for next season with Montreal.

Rudy Kip, 2:04 1/2, is the unbeaten pacer of the Grand Circuit. He was strided by McEwen, 2:10 1/4, dam Bessie Brown, by Brown Hal, 2:12 1/4.

Dan Patch is the greatest pacer the turf has ever known. He recently went a mile in 1:55. That's traveling a few.

Soon the baseball players will rest after their hard season on the diamond. This week practically ends it.

Shin-guards are becoming fashionable—for football players.

A life-preserver worn around the neck would afford a football player a great deal of protection against injury.

Stone, of the St. Louis Americans, is a wonder at the bat. His hitting, while very consistent, is mostly on the one-base order.

The Stars of the City League will meet a picked team from the other three teams of that league on Saturday.

The first prize-fight in America was held in 1816 and was between Hyer and Beasley.

Tom Sharkey, who now runs a cafe in New York city, won his first nineteen fights without a break, and they were all knockouts at that.

The best run in straight rail billiards was made by Vignaux in Paris. He ran 1,535 points.

Baseball was played in 1840, and the first club was the Knickerbockers in 1845.

With the winding-up of the big leagues close at hand and the opening of the football season yet some distance away, things in the sporting world will be rather dull.

The Mic-Macs of the City Tenpin League can go some.

"What do the big league baseball magnates give a player by way of a pension when he becomes too old to play?"—Fan Fan.

Answer:—The player generally receives a beautiful typewritten notice of release, and a perpetual pass to the "has-been" class.

Lawn bowling, one of the most popular games played in Canada, is almost unknown on the other side.

Basketball will be with us before long. Some of the local players are already practicing evenings.

There are times in all pugilists' lives when they wish they were not born; and that is, when the other fellow is about to administer a dose of "sleep drops."

That was a pretty good story that Joe Gans' press agent gave out about Gans' father living down in Alabama, and that Joe lived there until he was a young man. Al Herford, the unscrupulous "pug" manager, of Baltimore, picked Gans up along the docks of that city, where he was shining shoes, and put him on in a battle royal with several other little colored boys. Gans put the bag on the rest of the bunch and rapidly climbed the ladder of fame.

GOOD FIELDS AGAIN AT THE WOODBINE

Few Scratches in Yesterday's Races—Book Prices Same All Through Ring.

Toronto, Sept. 20.—One of the largest crowds of the meeting attended the fourth day's racing at the Woodbine. The weather conditions were favorable, with a good breeze blowing off the lake. There were few scratches, and the fields in each event, with the exception of the Mohawk purse, were large. The odds were hardly as liberal as they might have been, and the same unanimity of prices as complained of on the first day of the meeting existed again in the betting ring. Summary: First race, Brant purse, for 3-year-olds, 6 furlongs, selling—Miss Leeds, 109 (J. Daly), 2 to 1; Olive Left, 101 (Fischer), 15 to 1; 2, Oleasa, 93 (Goldstein), 6 to 1. Time, 1:14 3/5. Blytherless, Mary Worth, Peter Knight, Ozeas, Dusky, Prospero, Kameron, Little Red, Henry Ach and Broadway Girl also ran.

BEST SPRINTERS TO RACE. New York, Sept. 20.—Arrangements for a match race between the best sprinting horses in the United States, Roselen and Lady Amelia, are all but completed. The owners will wager $1,000 a side, and the Brooklyn Jockey Club will offer a purse of $2,500. The race will be run at Gravesend next Thursday over the short six-furlong course. The question of weights has not yet been decided.

A BIG UPSET AT COLUMBUS RACES

Caused by Doris B.'s Defeat of Bolivar, After Latter's Good Work Wednesday.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 20.—Two races were decided and two more almost completed this afternoon at the Grand Circuit racing. The cuppy track made the going very tiresome for pacers. Ten thousand persons attended.

Bolivar's defeat in the 2:07 Board of Trade stake caused a big upset. In the mud Wednesday Doris B. had one heat, but the gelding paced the first half of today's opening mile in 1:01 1/4, and finished lengths ahead of his tired rivals. Doris B. hung on well in the deciding mile, and won when Bolivar gave out in the home stretch. Bell Bird, favorite in the 2:45 trot, succeeded in prolonging the race by beating out Lillie R. in the third heat by half a length after the latter had easily won the first two. Bell Bird won the fourth mile, and the race had to go over until Friday for decision.

Miss Gay was picked to win the 2:17 pace, and landed the first heat, going into the 2:10 class to keep clear of Moore. Rushville, a well-played entry, won the next three heats and the race. Eleven good-looking 3-year-olds came out for the Kentucky Stock Farm Futurity trot, and Gov. Francis sold a 10 to 7 favorite over the field. A break soon after the start of the first heat ruined his chances in the opening mile. Ed Custer, with J. B. Chandler up, won the first heat with the next five colts close up. The Abbe, a full brother of The Abbott, outgamed the Custer colt at the finish of the second mile and won by half a length. The deciding heat will be raced Friday. Track conditions prevented Sweet Marie from attempting to lower her record. Summaries:

FAVORITE FINISHED BADLY. New York, Sept. 20.—Belle of Pequest, a 20 to 1 shot, was the first prize at Gravesend today, when she won the Oceanview Handicap. Inquirer, the favorite, performed badly, finishing away back. Belle of Pequest took the lead soon after the start, followed by Nealon and Hot Toddy. Belle of Pequest continued to show the way to the stretch. Hot Toddy began to close up in the stretch, but was never able to catch Belle of Pequest, who won handsily by one length. Two favorites won.

SIPPI TO CAPTAIN THE PICKED TEAM

"Doc" Will Head the Nine to Meet Champion Stars on Saturday.

The line-up of the picked team which plays the Stars of the City League on Saturday at Tecumseh Park, has been announced by Manager Sippi, who will handle the former team. This line-up is subject to change after the first game.

The picked team is composed of the cream of the three remaining teams in the league, and while the team work will probably not be on a par with that of the Stars, they should put up some good batting.

The management of both teams are looking forward to seeing great crowds at the games, as the players are undoubtedly among the best that Canada has ever produced in the amateur line. The teams will line up at 3 o'clock as is subject to change after the first game.

Mr. Davis, of Stratthroy, will umpire the series.

THE TURF. RACES AT ARTHUR FAIR.

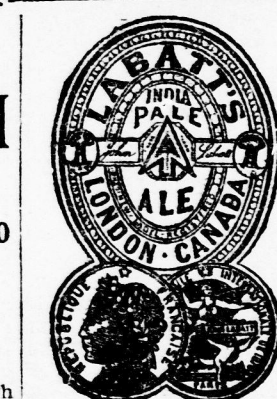

Arthur, Ont., Sept. 20.—The most successful fall fair in the society's history came off here yesterday and today. The weather was very warm and dry, and an immense crowd was present to take part in the sports, of which the principal event was the horse racing. The races:

Three-minute trot or pace. Bessie B., A. C. McDonald, Grand Valley 1 1 1; Togo, Dr. McNaught, New Lis 2 2 2; Reard, John Black, Bellwood 3 3 3; Maude Collins, James McIntyre, Palmerston 4 4 4. Time—2:51, 2:50, 2:51 1/4.

Free-for-all. Dolly Mack, A. C. McDonald, Grand Valley 1 1 1; Tom Forest, S. Boyle, Grand Valley 2 2 2; Harry Moonlight, Alex. Hassard, Listowel 3 3 3; Joe Simms, J. Dickson, Mount Forest 4 4 4. Time—2:38, 2:34 1/2, 2:35, 2:35 1/4.

HOCKEY. FORRESTER OUT OF GAME. Toronto, Sept. 20.—"Grindy" Forrester, point player of the champion Houghton team of the International Professional Hockey League, passed through the city yesterday on his way from his home in Fergus to Thessalon. Forrester has practically decided to quit hockey for one winter at least, owing to an injury to his knee sustained while playing Association football.

which has laid him up at Fergus for over two months. "Grindy" can walk all right now, but the knee will hardly be strong enough to use in strenuous hockey games this winter.

BASEBALL. DOYLE IS A "COMER."

New York, Sept. 20.—Trying to win a pennant for the Wheeling, W. Va., team nearly wore young Joe Doyle's arm in to helplessness, and the young Highlander will not be able to do his very best work until next season. The promising recruit is with the campaigners in the west, and will be called upon to work just as soon as his arm gets rested.

In joining the Highlanders Doyle showed great pluck. Having been overworked in minor league, he was not in condition to do his most effective pitching, but the lad plugged grittily and by his coolness overcame great obstacles. He had great hitting combinations bowing to him. In shutting out Cleveland and striking out the great Lajoie, Doyle entered big league ranks with a flourish which gives him prestige.

Manager Griffiths counts the youngster one of the most valuable of his 1907 assets. Doyle will be much stronger with a winter of rest, and there is a chance for him to add weight. As a nifty chap under fire, Doyle won the admiration of veteran followers of the game by his working the trying games of his early experiences as a major leaguer.

YESTERDAY'S WINNERS.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—George Siler, the referee in the recent fight between Joe Gans and Battling Nelson, today filed suit in the superior court against Wm. Nolan, the manager of Nelson, and Nelson himself. Siler claims damages to the amount of $50,000. Since the fight both Nolan and Nelson have repeatedly been quoted as saying that Siler received money for giving a decision in favor of Gans, and that his conduct as a referee was dishonest. They have also been quoted as saying that Siler never saw the foul blow on the right to Gans. All of these statements Siler declares to be untrue, and claims damages for their utterance by Nelson and Nolan.

HELP IS VERY SCARCE IN LONDON

Said That 2,000 Men, Boys and Girls Can Find Employment Here.

London is short-handed and needs help badly. Scarcely a factory in the city has the amount of help it requires.

Girls from outside places can get work at good wages in a dozen factories of London.

Young men and boys are being eagerly sought.

Biscuit factories and light manufacturing concerns are hit the hardest. Many factories are working overtime, through lack of help.

It is said the chief of police is looking for a few strapping big fellows for the department, but is unable to get them.

These are the growing times. Work has never been so plentiful.

A prominent local businessman says that if 2,000 men, boys and girls were to come to London, they could be accommodated with situations in a week.

REORGANIZE FOR YEAR

Ministerial Alliance to Hold the First Meeting on Monday.

The London Ministerial Alliance will hold its first meeting of the season on Monday next, in the Y. M. C. A., at 10:30 a.m.

The alliance will elect officers for the year. Rev. Arthur Carlisle, B. A., assistant rector of the Memorial Church, will present a paper on "Personal Work," the discussion to be opened by Rev. W. H. Clavis, pastor of the South-ern Congregational Church.

It is rumored that Rev. Dr. McCrae, of Westminster, will be asked to take the presidency of the alliance.

CONDENSED LOCAL NEWS

—Rev. J. B. Shook, of Bond Street Congregational Church, Toronto, will conduct the anniversary services at the First Church on Sunday, Oct. 7.

—Thanksgiving services will be held in St. James' Church, South London, on Sunday. The church will be tastefully decorated and special music will be rendered. Archdeacon Richardson will preach at the evening service.

The only case which comes before the weekly session of the high court for London tomorrow, is that of Stirling & Dyer vs. Warrington. R. M. C. Toth, counsel for the former, has made a motion for judgment. Judge Mabee will preside.

Mrs. A. E. Hayes Crawford (nee Taylor), of Montreal, who has been the guest of Mrs. Hunt, "Riverview," South London, for the past week, will spend the rest of the month with Mrs. J. D. Wilkinson, Beaconsfield avenue, before leaving for Strathroy on an extended visit.

—A meeting of the congregation of St. James' Church, South London, has been called for this evening to consider whether it is most desirable to repair the old organ, rebuild it, or get a new one. Information will be given at the meeting as to the probable cost of each, and it is expected that some decision will be reached.

—A correspondent asks why a policeman is not stationed on the corner of King and Richmond streets on market days. This is a matter for Chief of Police Williams to decide. The chief can generally be relied upon to place his men where they will be of the most use to the citizens who employ them.

—Mr. Malcolm Macdonald, barrister, left today for Cranbrook, B. C., where he joins a prominent law firm. Mr. Macdonald has been connected with the firm of Fraser & Moore, during his short residence in London, and is regarded as a young man of great promise in the legal profession. His friends predict that he will rapidly force to the front in the west. He was one of the most active members of the Baconian Club, and showed brilliant talent as a speaker and debater.

WORRIED ABOUT DELAY

City Fathers Anxious to Get York Street Pavement Completed.

The board of works visited the York street west pavement in company with the contractor, Mr. H. F. C. P. C., today, and inspected the work. The members gave orders to have certain parts of the concrete improved, but it was said that on the whole they found nothing seriously wrong with the job. An example is to be made of some teamsters who drive over the concrete before it is set.

The delay in the completion of the pavement is worrying the city fathers, as the people are always asking when the job will be done.

It is said that the Massillon people have been unable to deliver the car as quickly as the contractor desired, and again it is claimed that a shortage of cars on the part of the Pere Marquette has prevented the brick men shipping in the quantities they desire. City Engineer Graydon says that the Pere Marquette is also held back by the fact that the company dare not bring large carloads of the brick across the bridges from St. Thomas to London. Consequently, when a carload of brick arrives at St. Thomas it has to be split and taken on two cars to this city.

ODDFELLOWSHIP AMALGAMATION

Patriarch - Encampment Union Dropped—St. Paul the Next Meeting Place.

Toronto, Sept. 20.—Nearly the whole session of the Sovereign Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., which met today in the legislative chamber at the Parliament buildings, was taken up by an animated discussion on the proposed amalgamation of the Patriarchs Militant and the Encampment branches. The net result was a postponement of the whole discussion till next year.

St. Paul was the almost unanimous choice for the meeting place of the next annual convention. Applications for the honor were received from Dallas, Texas, the Jamestown, Va., exposition authorities, and the Business Men's Association of Atlantic City, but there was practically nothing to it but St. Paul. Denver at the last moment withdrew, as the brethren there felt that they would hardly be prepared by next year to receive the order properly.

Past Grand Sir Durham, of Kentucky, the oldest P. G. S. in the order, was given an opportunity to relate the experiences of his visit to this city in his official capacity of a grand sire visiting Canada. Among the other records of the visit was an engraved address from the local committee and signed by Secretary J. B. King, among others. Mr. King, who was present, responded, and a formal motion was passed to have a copy of the address made and incorporated in the minutes.

Sire Durham on that occasion was Schuyler Colfax, afterwards vice-president of the United States under Grant, and who was also the author of the Rebekah degree of Oddfellowship.

WARM PRAISE FOR LORD'S DAY ACT

By the Methodist Delegates at Conference—Rev. Dr. Sutherland's Course.

Montreal, Sept. 20.—"There is no country on the face of the earth that has as good a Lord's Day Act as the Dominion of Canada." In these words of praise Rev. Dr. Potts, president of the Lord's Day Alliance for Canada, addressed the Methodist General Conference tonight, referring to the measure passed at the last session of Parliament. For that measure, he said, they were indebted very largely to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who had, when assured the bill was wanted by the people, taken charge of it and put it through as a Government measure. Rev. T. Albert Moore, one of the field secretaries of the alliance, went so far as to say the requirement of a provincial flat for prosecution might be a help and not a hindrance to the act, as already the attorneys-general of three provinces had promised instant compliance with requests for permission to investigate complaints of violation of the act.

The conference had an exciting day, though the discussion on mission administration during the whole of the afternoon was painful, and at times the friction which had existed in the mission board was revealed and the breach between Rev. Dr. Sutherland and some of his critics apparently widened.

Tonight, however, another meeting of the mission committee was held, when a unanimous report was agreed upon, in which Dr. Sutherland accepts the main principles of the committee's recommendation. This will explain his retention in the service in which he has so long and honorably labored, a fact which occasioned much satisfaction when it became known tonight.

Greetings from the Baptist and Congregationalist Churches brought expressions of friendly feelings and some hopes for union.

"The chief feature of the alliance during the past year," said Rev. Dr. Potts, has been what is known as the Lord's Day Act, and I think I may say in general terms that there is no country on the face of the earth that has as good a Lord's Day Act as the Dominion of Canada. (Applause.) For this we are indebted very largely to the Premier of Canada and to the Minister of Justice, Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick, and after him to Mr. Aylesworth. The bill to which I have referred is a very practical illustration of the importance of the Dominion Alliance. No one province could have taken it up, no one province could have carried it through to the wonderful victory achieved by them in the House of Commons and in the Senate. I remember well when Sir Wilfrid Laurier asked me if I would be satisfied with the bill being a private bill, and I said no. The judicial committee of the Privy Council has decided that it is not a provincial, but a Dominion question, and, therefore, the Dominion Government must take it up. I am quite sure if it had been a private bill it would not have succeeded." Dr. Potts praised the work of Mr. Shearer and Mr. Moore, who were most capable secretaries, and of Mr. Macpherson, solicitor of the alliance. They would also be interested in the Premier and the Minister of Justice, and the support of the Roman Catholic archbishops from ocean to ocean—(applause)—of the labor unions from ocean to ocean, as well as all Protestant churches, as declared by their highest courts, so that they be interested in the Premier and the Minister of Justice of the demand for the bill. From that hour they had their judgment and their sympathy. Dr. Potts concluded with reference to the importance of the Sabbath Day's rest.

H. M. S. DOMINION WEATHERED GALE

Big Battleship Was in the Recent Hurricane—Seattle on the Rocks.

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 20.—S. P. Brooks, of the P. and B. liner Oleada, was off Bermuda during the recent hurricane, and says Capt. Kingsmill desired him to report to the people of Canada that the battleship Dominion had arrived safely at Bermuda.

She was off the island on the 9th, but as the storm was approaching the big ship put off again to secure plenty of sea room in which to weather the gale. She returned on the 11th. The storm was very fierce, but the Dominion came through it all right.

British Bark Lost

New York, Sept. 20.—News of the loss at sea of the British bark Austria was brought here today by the Altair Line steamer Altair from West Indian ports. The Altair had on board Capt. Robinson, his wife and the crew of sixteen men of the Austria, having taken them from their waterlogged vessel off Cape Hatteras.

Officers of the Altair sighted the distress signals of the Austria early yesterday morning, and found her decks were awash. Her company was transferred to the Altair, and the bark was set on fire. The Austria sailed from Gulf Port, Miss., for Rio de Janeiro, with lumber, and was disabled in a fierce gale on Sunday last. She was built at St. John, N. B.

Seattle on the Rocks

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 20.—The steamship City of Seattle, en route to Alaska, went on the rocks at Trial Island, ten miles from Victoria, at 5 o'clock this morning, in a heavy fog. The steamer Salva and two tug boats have gone to her assistance from Victoria and Port Townsend. All passengers are reported safe.

JAPANESE THANK THE CANADIANS

Appreciate the Present of Flour Sent to Famine-Stricken Sufferers.

Ottawa, Sept. 21.—The Japanese people evidently appreciated Canada's present of $20,000 worth of flour towards relieving the famine-stricken sufferers in the northwestern part of the empire. The gift was all the more valued because it was spontaneous and unexpected.

The following message received by Sir Claude Macdonald, British ambassador at Tokio, and forwarded by him to Canada, conveys the thanks of the beneficiaries: "Fukushima, Prefecture: Sir.—The large amount of cereal flour which the Canadian Government has in such a generous manner contributed towards the relief of sufferers by famine in the northwestern districts of Japan has been from time to time distributed amongst the wards and villages, and the recipients of relief have at each occasion expressed their feeling of deep gratitude towards the generous donors. Owing to the state of confusion which exists we have been most remiss in our thanks, but we now beg, on behalf of the wards and villages, to express most hearty thanks. We have the honor to request that your excellency will be kind enough to convey this expression of our feelings to the Canadian Government." The communication is signed by the heads of sixteen villages.

A DAINTY STORE INDEED, IS THIS

Opened in Higgins' Block by Well-Known Firm of George Peters.

One of the daintiest confectionery stores in the Dominion was opened to the public yesterday, when the firm of George Peters established themselves at 210 Dundas street. This delightful store is more than dainty. It is artistic. It is to be conducted as a branch of and a supplementary department to their already well established and quickly expanded business which is being conducted on Richmond street.

London has some pretty stores, but this one is decidedly the prettiest yet. It is splendidly equipped with the latest contrivances known to the trade, and its appointments are the very best that money can buy.

The walls are finished in a beautiful shade of poppy red, while the fittings are enameled in dove gray. The arrangement throughout is the latest Art Nouveau style. The furnishings are very attractive, and are especially adapted for a splendid display of goods. The show cases are large and beautiful, and built on a unique plan.

The lighting is one of the most striking features of the whole store, and is accomplished by means of several large electrolites in the form of rich clusters of grapes. There are also several old-fashioned English electrolites, each having white globes.

A large stock of the very daintiest and most delicious confectionery confectionery needs no introduction to Londoners. Its superior quality has won for it a name which is envied by all other confectionery establishments. At their manufacturing plant at 519 Richmond street, they have the most up-to-date machinery known to the trade, and always keep their shop in perfect sanitary condition. It is in this way that they are enabled to excel.

BEGINS HEALING INSTANTLY

Balm Zeln is absorbed so quickly that you'll wonder where it has gone. No trace of grease or stickiness remains to annoy. Just a dainty, elusive odor to tell that it has been applied, and an immediate sense of comfort to show that the healing has begun. It soothes chapped and roughened skin in a magical way, is as harmless as dew, and costs but 25 cents.

NO MORE DUCKS DIED.

The author of "Sketches of Native Life" says that most European residents of India keep large poultry yards. He followed the general custom, but for some time found it very unprofitable. His first brood of ducks died one after another in a most orderly manner, one at a time, at intervals of twenty-four hours.

The sweeper who took care of them assured us that he could cure them if we would give him two annas' worth of garlic, black pepper and chillies. The cure was certainly worth the money, and we gave it to him accordingly; but, alas! it was spent in vain—the ducks continued to die.

We were new to the country, and equally new to the raising of ducks. We had no suspicion of the cause of the excessive mortality; but at last we received a visit from a friend.

We mentioned the extraordinary fatality to which our ducks were subjected, and asked him if he could suggest a cure. Our innocence was greeted with a peal of laughter.

"Yes," he replied. "I can. Call the sweeper and tell him that for every duck that dies from this date he will have to pay four annas."

We did so; not another duck died. The truth was that the sweeper had been killing the ducks for his own use, and relying on our ignorance, had been so audacious as to ask, in the name of medicine, for money to buy condiments for seasoning.

DELLA FOX AT GRAND TONIGHT

Vaudeville Bill Is Personally Guaranteed by the House Managers.

Fitzpatrick & Stewart, lessees and managers of the Grand Opera House, have issued the following signed statement regarding the quality of the vaudeville which will be seen at the Grand today and tomorrow:

"The management of the Grand Opera House desire to call the special attention of theatergoers to the splendid vaudeville bill which will be presented at the Grand, Friday afternoon, Friday night, Saturday afternoon and Saturday night.

"The bill will be headed by Della Fox, one of the highest-salaried stars on the vaudeville stage, and she will be surrounded by a galaxy of acts the equal of which have never been seen in London.

"In order that theatergoers may know exactly the quality of the vaudeville which will be presented, the management announce that they personally guarantee the bill to be the best money can procure, and the equal of the finest entertainments seen in the large vaudeville theaters of New York.

"The acts are refined and artistic, and Londoners owe it to themselves to see the vaudeville stars when they visit London.

"Theatergoers must remember that in recommending the bill to the public, the honor of the management of the Grand is at stake, but the management fear nothing. The bill is the finest ever brought to the city, and it is worthy of the patronage of the theatergoers of London."

This should be sufficient guarantee that the vaudeville will be of an especially high character, and that the management is doing its best to provide the people of London with the best attractions it is possible to secure.

Victorian Sardou is seen in an almost entirely new vein, in "The Love Letter," which is being played this season by Miss Virginia Harwood and an exceptional company. The piece is a farce comedy of the screaming type, and is full of complicated situations. It will be seen at the Grand on Oct. 2.

The contract for the steel superstructure for both the Adelaide street and the Midway bridges was awarded to Jenks & Dresser, for $2,075.

The erection of the bridge on Adelaide street has been rendered necessary by the recent collapse of the structure while a threshing engine owned by Mr. Needham was crossing it. The council has not yet made a settlement with Mr. Needham, who has offered, without prejudice, to accept $1,100 damages.

Steps are also being taken by the London township council for the erection of a bridge on the fifth concession of London Township.

Diocese of Huron Regrets

Canon Farthing's Removal

Executive Committee Puts Itself on Record—The Resolution Re Death of Archdeacon Marsh.

The executive committee of the Diocese of Huron met yesterday in the committee-room of Cronyn Hall and passed a memorial resolution regarding the death of the late Archdeacon Marsh. A resolution regretting the removal of Canon Farthing was also passed.

His Lordship Bishop Williams occupied the chair, and the others present being Very Rev. Dean Davis, Archdeacons Hill, Young, Richardson and Mackenzie; Canons Craig, Davis, Farthing, Browns; Rural Deans Hicks, Farney, Miles, Ridley, Gunne; Revs. J. W. J. Andrews, G. B. Sage, H. A. Thomas, A. G. Dunn, J. W. Hodgins, R. W. Howard, F. A. Chavick, and Messrs. R. Bayly, J. Ransford, Chancellor Cronyn, C. C. Hodgins, E. Paul, H. Martin, J. G. V. Greenhill, F. H. Thompson, R. M. McElheran, A. E. Welch, J. Rispln, C. Jenkins, Judge Holt, Judge Barron, J. P. Bucke, Dr. Bradley, J. Shirley, G. W. Ferguson, G. B. Benson, A. E. Kinder, J. H. A. Beattie, T. F. Puddicombe.

Late Archdeacon Marsh.

The memorial resolution was presented by Venerable Archdeacon Richardson, seconded by Very Rev. Dean Davis, and was as follows:

"Whereas it has pleased Almighty God to remove by death from the church on earth the Venerable John Walker Marsh, M.A., archdeacon of Huron, and formerly rector of St. John's, London Township;

"Therefore resolved that we the members of the executive committee, now assembled, do hereby place on record our sense of appreciation of the long life granted him as a clergyman of this diocese and the many faithful services rendered by him to its advancement;

"For sixteen years Mr. Marsh was the first clerical secretary of the synod and for nearly thirty-five years an honored dignity of the church. At his death in the 91st year of his age, he was, with one notable exception, the oldest clergyman of the Church of England in Canada, the only survivor, who under the leadership of its first bishop, was a prominent figure in the organization of the Diocese of Huron, during the larger part of its history a member of the executive committee and the last of the original committed clergy.

"He was never absent from and always took a lively interest in the proceedings of the synod until the infirmities of advancing years prevented his attendance at its sessions.

"His closing years of life were spent in retired rest until at last he entered into the rest that remaineth for the people of God.

"We extended to his widow and children the assurance of our sympathy."

Canon Farthing's Removal.

A resolution was next presented expressing the regret of the executive committee at the removal of the Rev. Canon Farthing, who is to be dean of the Diocese of Ontario, and rector of St. George's Cathedral, Kingston.

Moved by Mr. Edwin Paul, seconded by Rev. Canon Dunn:

ANOTHER CAR ACCIDENT

Windsor Man Thrown from Trolley, But Not Seriously Hurt.

Mr. J. H. McConnell, of Windsor, organizer for the Workmen of the World, fell from a trolley car near the corner of Park avenue and Dundas street, last evening about 8 o'clock. He was taken into Cairncross & Lawrence's drug store and attended to.

Mr. McConnell's injuries were not of a serious nature, as he walked out to a cab shortly after the accident, and was driven away.

A witness of the accident stated that the conductor started the car before Mr. McConnell had time to get fairly aboard, and he was thrown headlong from the lower step.
