65 PETITIONERS FORM IMPORTANT SECTION OF BUSINESS COMMUNITY

Property Owned by Those Who Want Investigation Before Electrification Runs Into Millions—Employ Nearly 5,000 Persons.

The petition presented by sixty-five manufacturers, wholesale and retail merchants and jobbers, was one of the most important documents of the kind that ever found their way into the city archives. It represents a very large proportion of the business community, and a large proportion of the taxes annually paid into the treasury.

About 5,000 men and women are employed by those who signed the petition asking for further investigation into the electrification scheme.

A Right to Consideration.
A large proportion of the $500,000 required would be paid by them and their employees, and they think they have the right to appeal for and to secure a reasonable consideration of their claims. They ask that investigation be made into the situation as it concerns the Michigan Central and Pere Marquette, and also the cost of operating the London and Port Stanley Railway as a steam proposition. They seek to impress upon the council the necessity for definite information, and wish to have the facts into which they have been thrust cleared away.

Some of the petitioners may favor electrification if it can be proved feasible, but they first want facts. While the M. C. R. maintains that it will not operate over an electrified line, they claim the proposal is against their vital interests. They want the L. and P. S. R. to be kept in such a condition that not only the M. C. R. and Pere Marquette, but other steam roads seeking admittance to the city, may use the L. and P. S. R. tracks if desirable.

The city council will no doubt give the petitioners the consideration their importance in the community deserves.

Millions Interested.
An assessment of nearly two millions was represented in the petition. The figures as secured from the office of Assessment Commissioner Grant are $1,730,160.

This sum indicates, of course, only a proportion of the value of the business represented. In the first place the total assessment for lands and buildings owned by the citizens on the petition was $1,168,350. This would not be more than about 60 per cent. of the actual value of the land and buildings.

ALLEGED SAFE "BLOWER" BACK FOR A NEW TRIAL

Peter Fairburn Will Appear Before Judge Macbeth To Elect on Thursday—Man Claims He Is Innocent of the Crime For Which He Was Convicted.

Peter Fairburn, who was sentenced to a term of three years in the Kingston penitentiary by County Judge Elliott on a charge of assisting in the blowing of the safe in Hawkins' Flour Mills at Arva, was brought back to London last night, and will appear before Judge Macbeth tomorrow morning to make his election for the new trial that was ordered by the court of appeal.

The safe was blown on the night of March 27, and the work showed that it had been done by experts. A hole was drilled in the door of the safe and nitroglycerine was poured in and the explosion muffled by means of a number of flour bags. The next day Fairburn and John Murray, a well-known crackman, were arrested in a local hotel while both were under the influence of liquor. Attention was drawn to the men on account of Fairburn attempting to extract $130 from Murray's pocket. The men were first arrested on a charge of vagrancy, but when discovered by High Constable Hughes on a charge of safe-blowing and theft.

A number of witnesses were produced by the crown at the trial, who stated that they had seen both men in the vicinity of the crime the next morning. When the men were sentenced, both declared that they were innocent, and Fairburn in particular claimed that he knew nothing of the crime. The trial was continued until the court of appeal, on Nov. 19, the court of appeal, composed of Judges Meredith, Lennox, MacLaren, Garrow and Macgillivray, made an order that Fairburn be set aside, and that a new trial be held. The court also dismissed the appeal of Murray, who has served other terms of confinement for similar crimes.

Brought From Kingston.
Fairburn, who is about 50 years of age, and a native of Scotland, was brought back from Kingston Tuesday night by the Kingston and Arva train. He stoutly maintains that he is innocent. He claims that he was unable to secure certain evidence as to his whereabouts at the time of the crime, and that the new trial will result in his acquittal. As the time of the trial is much better a result of his incarceration of almost physical condition than at the time of his trial. When asked by the court whether he would be produced, Mr. Fairburn stated that he wasn't aware that Fairburn had reached the city. Crown Attorney McKillop intends to commence the new trial as soon as possible.

DETECTIVES EMPLOYED TO STOP ABUSES OF TRANSFERS

London Street Railway Are of the Opinion That People Are Abusing Privilege.

It has been learned that the London Street Railway Company has employed private detectives to ferret out the misuse of transfers by their patrons, a suspicion of transfers they have evidently had for some time, and it is learned that some fairly prominent citizens have been detected at this game, and if good cases can be made out against them there will likely be some actions in the police court.

Mr. King Speaks
Manager C. B. King, when questioned on the subject, admitted that such was the case, but he hoped such action would be unnecessary to stop the practice, which is certainly wrong.

The provision in the bylaw relative to transfers is quite plain, to the effect that a transfer is provided for the purpose of enabling as near as possible a continuous ride for one fare from one part of the city to another where a transfer is not to be considered as either a return-trip ticket nor a stop-off ticket. Likewise, any people giving away transfers so that one person gets a ride to the centre of the city, and another one gets a ride in some other direction, are doing wrong by the company.

Two Rides for One Fare.
"In this case would be the effect of getting two rides for one fare, which is certainly objectionable on our part, and which our patrons surely could not expect to continue if they would bear in mind that our car fares here are cheaper than those of any other city of its size in the country."

ALTERATIONS TO S. A. CITADEL TO COST FIFTEEN THOUSAND

Army Workers Will Ask the Citizens of London to Help the Work.

The Salvation Army in this city contemplates some extensive alterations to their building on Clarence street to cost between ten and fifteen thousand dollars. The amount will be regulated by the generosity of the friends of the army. The work has developed to the extent that the building needs remodeling to meet the requirements of various branches. Captain Martin has been asked to take

MR. WALTER WHITE, Chief dispatcher of the Grand Trunk at London, who has been promoted to the position of trainmaster at Palmerston.

WILL DOUBLE TRACK C.P.R. NEXT YEAR

Big Railway Contemplates Making Some Important Changes.

MANY DISTRICT WORKS

New Stations Are To Be Put Up at Milton, St. Marys and Tillsonburg—Freight Shed at Windsor.

The Canadian Pacific is planning for another big expenditure in this district this summer, and among the work which will be started at as early a date as possible is the double-tracking of the line from Islington to Woodstock. It was officially stated to The Advertiser this afternoon that as soon as this is completed the work of double-tracking between London and Woodstock will be commenced. This will probably be in the spring of 1914.

The company contemplates making all its station platforms and the approaches of cement. This will be started early in the spring.

New stations are to be erected at Milton, St. Marys and Tillsonburg. The company contemplates building a big new freight shed at Windsor, but it was stated that owing to the attitude of the city the work may not be proceeded with.

DR. F. L. BURDON WAS ELECTED CHAIRMAN

Inaugural Meeting of the Board of Health Held on Tuesday Afternoon.

MILK BYLAW AMENDED

Ontario Minister of Agriculture Was of Opinion That London's Standard Was Too High.

At the inaugural meeting of the board of health, held yesterday afternoon, Dr. F. L. Burdon was elected chairman for the year. The board was composed of Dr. Burdon, Mayor Graham, and Aldermen Murray, MacLaren, Garrow and Macgillivray. Dr. Burdon thanked the members for the honor, and hoped that the year would be productive of good results for the health of the city.

It was decided to have Dr. Hutchinson and City Engineer Brazier report on the advisability of placing a sewer on Lytle street, from King to a point 175 feet north. The petition for it was insufficiently signed, but the members of the board were of the opinion that one should be initiated, and a report will be obtained at once.

The Milk Bylaw.
Hon. Jas. Duff, provincial minister of agriculture, wrote suggesting some amendments to the milk bylaw of the city. He pointed out that London's bylaw demanded 14 per cent of solids in milk. This was too high a standard, in his judgment, as very few samples reached that mark. He suggested that the standard be lowered to 12 per cent. As for butter fat, he thought this was also too high. However, many tests were submitted showing that the average was above 3.25 per cent, and this was adopted as the minimum.

Hamilton, Jan. 22.—The action of Lumsden Brothers against the Spectator for $75,000 damages for alleged libel was dismissed with costs. The plaintiffs asked for the usual 30 days' stay.

GRAND TRUNK AND CITY DISCUSS THE L. AND P.S.R.

Vice-President Wainwright and Party Met Mayor Graham and the L. & P. S. R. Board To Consider Important Matters Affecting the City's Line to the Lake.

The conference between Mayor Graham and the London and Port Stanley Board with the representatives of the Grand Trunk Railway regarding the future of the London and Port Stanley Railway and other matters affecting track elevation, is still in progress, the press being excluded from the meeting.

Mr. Wainwright, Mr. H. H. Kelly and Mr. Dalrymple, of the company, arrived shortly after noon today from the east, and were met by Mayor Graham, Ald. Saunders, Ald. Spittal, Ald. Moore and City Clerk Baker.

They were directed at once to the private car of Mr. Wainwright, where they talked matters over until nearly 2 o'clock, when they adjourned to the London Club. Later they will meet at Mayor Graham's office, and will continue the conference.

The press representatives were rigidly excluded. Mr. Wainwright informed them that under no consideration would they be admitted to the gathering.

A Pleasant Chat.
"We simply came to have a pleasant chat with the mayor and aldermen," he declared. "We have absolutely nothing to say at the present time. If, after the conference, Mayor Graham wishes to give anything out, all well and good, but we will say nothing at this time."

After being closeted some hours with the Grand Trunk officials, Mayor Graham was called from the meeting by The Advertiser and was asked what was being discussed. His worship was non-committal as Mr. Wainwright.

"We are having a pleasant chat," he announced. "What about the lease of the London and Port Stanley?" was asked. "We have not come to that as yet," he replied.

"Have they made no offer for it?" continued the reporter. "None whatever," said the mayor. "We may come to that later, but up to the present time, they have made no suggestion as to what they would do, or whether or not they will make an offer."

"What about allowing the city to use their terminals in case of electrification was decided upon?" was the next question. "As I said before, we have not come to that point," the mayor declared. "We are simply chatting informally now. Later we will arrive at the real cause of the interview."

A Question.
The Grand Trunk officials took up most of the time of the interview. It is understood, in discovering in what position they were at the present time. There had been a great deal in the newspapers about the London and Port Stanley Railway, and they wanted to know whether the city council were tied up to any one company, or were absolutely committed to electrification. In short, they desired to know whether or not the city was in a position to consider any offer from them for the lease or purchase of the line.

No definite proposition was made to the city representatives, that being reserved until after the afternoon. CITY NOT COMMITTED.
It is understood that the company was informed that the city had been committed to no proposition whatever, but were free to hear any proposition the Grand Trunk had to make regarding it. No definite information could be obtained as to what offer the G. T. R. officials would make.

$6,750 A YEAR SALARIES FOR NEW SCHOOL DISTRICTS

Annexation Adds This Sum to the City's Already Large List.

The annexation of the suburbs has added somewhat to the expense account of the board of education, and produced other problems of importance. The salaries of the teachers alone, the schools will add $6,750 to the annual expenditure of the city, or about one-fourth of a mill on the tax rate. The salaries were raised from the standard to that of the city, the increases amounting to about $800 annually. This will eat up a considerable portion of the taxes raised in the new district. In some places it is thought that this will mean fully one-half.

A Sharp Move.
The board of education will probably enter a protest against the school board at the meeting of the board of city council, for an accounting of the money in the hands of the latter on Dec. 31, 1912.

When annexation was consummated, about $2,300 was in the hands of the treasurer of the school board. On Dec. 31, the board expended $1,400 for a piece of land adjoining the school. The board of education are of the opinion that this money should have been handed over to the city, and not expended for any purpose whatever.

The question will come up at the next meeting of the board.

ANOTHER TUMULT IN BRITISH HOUSE

Asquith Called "Traitor" Because He Puts a Time Limit on Woman's Suffrage Debate—Precincts of Commons Seething With Intrigue.

[Canadian Press.]
London, Jan. 22.—A small sample of the passions which will be kindled when the House of Commons begins on the franchise reform bill, was given this afternoon during question time, immediately after the session opened at 4 o'clock.

Shouts of "Traitor! Traitor!" were hurled across the floor of the House because Premier Asquith refused to lock up the Government "guillotine," and to allow the suffrage amendment to be debated without any restrictions as to time. Many of the legislators exchanged angry gibes, and the noisy scene was brought to an end only by the Speaker rising and publicly reprimanding the member who had started the storm.

Seething With Intrigue.
The lobbies and precincts of the House of Parliament, as well as the political clubs and drawing-rooms, are seething with intrigue. Forecasts vary from hour to hour as to the probable fate of the amendment brought forward by Sir Edward Grey, the foreign secretary, which eliminates the word "male" from the first clause of the bill, and which, if carried, opens the way to the enactment of amendments which will enfranchise a numerically varying army of women. All the members of the House are left to vote as they please on this amendment, and the "division" is calculated to leave the issue to be decided by a bare majority of votes.

There is a strong suspicion that when the votes have been counted the suffragettes will find themselves disappointed largely because the militants of the party have alienated so many of their former supporters. Should the women carry the day, however, the fate of the franchise bill itself might be endangered, as a considerable number of votes against it have been devoted to maintaining St. James as an institutional church.

If the building is successfully moved it will constitute the biggest feat of this kind ever attempted.

GOES TO WINNIPEG

Rev. John Morris Was Formerly in Memorial Church Here.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Leamington, Jan. 22.—Rev. John Morris, pastor of St. John's Church, has tendered his resignation, as he has received and accepted an offer of the rectorship of a church in Winnipeg. Mr. Morris came here from London three years ago. He was formerly curate at the Grange Memorial Church.

SUFFRAGE BILL FIGHT MAY WRECK ASQUITH CABINET

Grave Crisis Believed To Be at Hand in the British Commons—Fierce and Furious Campaign Being Waged by Suffragettes and Agents.

[Canadian Press.]
New York, Jan. 22.—A cable to the Tribune from London says: The woman suffrage agitation has developed a seriously grave aspect. The following statement was made on high authority last night:

"If the suffrage amendment is defeated and Sir Edward Grey feels that the decision has not been arrived at on the pure merits of the case and without consideration of any possible danger to the Government he will feel compelled to vote against the franchise bill on third reading and resign."

"It is on the understanding that no consideration except that of suffrage should be allowed to enter into the division that Sir Edward Grey agreed to the course adopted by the Cabinet on this question, and Mr. Asquith will probably make it plain this week that that is the attitude adopted by the cabinet."

How House May Divide.
With regard to the general question of suffrage the House of Commons may be divided roughly into four great parties, namely:

First—Those opposing woman suffrage.
Second—Those supporting woman suffrage in a limited degree.
Third—Those supporting woman suffrage before anything else.

There are three possible main developments. In the first place, Sir Edward Grey's amendment, to omit the word "male," may be defeated. In the second place, it may be passed, and then all the definite woman suffrage amendments may be defeated. In the third place, one or other of the woman suffrage amendments may be passed in committee.

Three Alternatives.
Of the three alternatives, the defeat of Sir Edward Grey's amendment would meanwhile the campaign is growing daily more fast and more furious. Paid canvassers in the outer lobby of the House of Commons are now supplementing the efforts of members within the House to secure a victory in next Friday's division. In the meantime, the rival sandwich women adds to the rigor of the game.

Within the recollection of the oldest parliamentarian there has never been such activity as now prevails in Westminster. Even the House of Commons' postoffice is feeling the burden of the crusade, and great quantities of literature for and against the enfranchisement of women than has ever been the case in connection with any parliamentary proposal.

HELEN GOULD WEDS FINLEY SHEPARD

Jay Gould's Daughter, Noted for Good Works, Bride of Railway Man.

IS WORTH $10,000,000

Pair United at Lyndhurst, the Beautiful Country Residence of the Bride.

[Canadian Press.]
Tarrytown, N. Y., Jan. 22.—Miss Helen Miller Gould was married at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon at Lyndhurst, her country estate, to Finley Johnson Shepard, a railroadman, who has risen from the ranks.

The bride went to an altar half-hidden by roses, trailing asparagus ferns and great bunches of palms. George G. Gould gave her in marriage. The Rev. Daniel D. Russell, pastor of the Irvington Presbyterian Church, performed the ceremony.

Dorothy Gould, niece of Miss Gould, stood with her. Garbed in pale pink satin, they acted as flower girls, and were her only attendants.

The couple stood during the ceremony beneath a bowery of American Beauty roses, with trestons of gray-white asparagus reaching almost to the ground. The bride carried a modest bouquet of lilies of the valley, her favorite flower.

Pearls for Bride.
A group of exquisite pearls, said to have once adorned the Empress Josephine, Napoleon's wife, and a pearl-shaped diamond pendant, the latter the bridegroom's gift, were worn by the bride. The pearls were a bequest from Miss Gould's mother. The wedding gown was of duchess ivory satin, with a sweeping train three and a half yards long, trimmed with duchess and rose point lace, and with seed pearl embroidery. The lace and veil were the gifts of the Duchess de Talleyrand, formerly Miss Anna Gould, the bride's sister.

The veil was held in the upper of orange blossoms and fell in flowing lines to the end of the long train. Orange blossoms also caught up the lace at the sides of the skirt. The bride's slippers corresponded with the gown, and were inlaid with small rosettes of orange blossoms.

Each of the little flower girls carried a basket of pink roses, which matched their gowns. Their stockings were of "white silk," their slippers white, and mounted with golden butterfly buckles. The bride handed to Dorothy her bouquet of lilies of the valley while the bridegroom placed the ring upon her finger.

Less than 100 persons were bidden to the ceremony. They included close relatives of the bride and the bridegroom and friends of long standing.

CRASH AT BLACK ROCK TEN ARE INJURED

[Canadian Press.]
Buffalo, Jan. 22.—Ten persons were injured today when a passenger train No. 3, for the west, collided with a Michigan Central freight train at Black Rock this morning. No one was seriously injured, and the passengers continued on their way after being attended by physicians.

The case taken up was that of the Canadian Dredging Company, of Midland, which had been paid $105,000 for work in 1908. Mr. Pringle, representing the company, said that the committee's authority did not go back that far.

Mr. Gorman, of Welland, said that, in his opinion, the Rogers' organization should have full liberty to look over the whole Liberal record for scandal. They would find nothing. The investigation proceeded without disclosing anything of interest.

The Liberals protested that this was a departure which had never been allowed. It would interfere with the work of the committee, which was composed almost entirely of lawyers. Mr. Pugsley said that the proceeding was without precedent.

Chairman Middleboro—"Mr. Stewart is here simply to assist with the case." Mr. Bennett remarked that Dr. Pugsley was beginning to squirm over having his record looked into.

MEMBERS OF BOTH SIDES ATTACK GOVT. BANK BILL

Duncan C. Ross (West Middlesex) and Major Sharpe (Con.)
Lead in Warm Onslaught—Finance Minister Opposed to Public Inspection of Banks.

Ottawa, Jan. 21.—Finance Minister White's bill, providing for the decennial revision of the bank act, was under heavy fire today, and Mr. Duncan Ross, the Liberal member for Middlesex and Major Sam Sharpe, the Conservative member for York North, Ontario, earnestly supported the view that the entire subject of banking and currency should be investigated by a monetary commission to be created by Parliament. Mr. W. F. Maclean suggested that the present charters of the banks be extended for two years, with a view to the re-creating of our banking and currency laws upon the coming in of a report from the monetary commission.

Mr. Carvell (Carleton, N. B.) and Mr. Demers (St. John and Irberville) supported Mr. Maclean's proposal that the bank charters be extended only for two years and until a monetary commission could investigate and report on the situation.

OPPOSES PUBLIC INSPECTION.
Mr. White, in moving the second reading of his bill, eulogized the bank act as it now stands, and declared that it stood in little need of any amendment. He was unalterably opposed to the public inspection of banks, or to any increase in the money of the country by the issue of Dominion notes against a gold reserve of less than 100 per cent.

DEFECTS NOT REMEDIED.
W. F. Maclean readily opened the debate by declaring that there were many grave defects in the present bank act, none of which were remedied by the bill before Parliament. He pointed out that depositors were not sufficiently protected, that no public inspection is provided for, and that no attempt was made to prevent bank mergers or the formation of a money trust. On the contrary, impediments were thrown in the way of any attempt hereafter to organize a new bank by popular subscription.

A STRIKING SCENE.
There was a striking scene when Major Sharpe (Conservative) was concluding his speech of revolt on the bank act at half-past eleven tonight. The North Ontario man was following the lead of Duncan Ross, the West Middlesex Liberal, and his declarations were greeted with approval by the co-tories of Ontario Conservatives who surrounded him in the front benches alone and in silence. The ministers present conferred anxiously with Hon. Mr. White, while Chief Conservative Whip Stanfield flitted uneasily between ministers and members. When Major Sharpe concluded no less than seventeen fellow-Conservatives accompanied him from the House.

Messrs. Demers and Carvell, both Liberals, followed Major Sharpe in an arraignment of the Finance Minister's proposals. Mr. Carvell asked that a royal commission be appointed to investigate the whole question before the bill passed.

Osler Defends Act.
Sir Edmund Osler spoke briefly at the conclusion of the delivery of the South York man. He pointed out that the banks had to look to Canada for their support. British investors did not like the double liability which developed upon shareholders, and the English banks paid larger dividends. Sir Edmund stated that no Canadian bank was making 4 per cent. on its free money, but in response to questions by Mr. F. F. Pardue (West Lambton) and Mr. Maclean, added that the bank in which he was interested had paid 18 per cent. last year upon its capital. He challenged Mr. Maclean's statement that there is not enough money to go round in the sense in which it was used. "I do not believe," said Sir Edmund, "that during the last five years in Canada any legitimate business in Canada has been refused accommodation. There is no shortage of money, and there are millions both here and in British Columbia and Holland waiting investment in Canadian farms and city lands. Canada stands very high in respect of debt-ventures on farm and city lands."

HALE AND HEARTY AT 76

For twenty years I have taken Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, and for the last four years I have never been without it. I have used it for malaria and dysentery, and found it the best medicine I ever took, and I have been living 76 years. It puts new life in me, and I thank the company for so grand a tonic."—James S. ada stands very high in respect of debt-ventures on farm and city lands."

West Middlesex Man.
In the course of his vigorous argument in favor of advanced action for the protection of the depositors of banks, Mr. Ross instanced the case of the Farmers' Bank failure, with its tremendous loss to the Ontario people. There were, he said, some $1,100,000 of deposits with the bank. The liquidators had secured only some $21,000 through the double liability of the shareholders, and, "in my opinion," Mr. Ross went on, "not a depositor will get one cent of the amount which had been placed with the bank." As a matter of fact, no less than six hundred families had been made destitute.

Incidentally, Mr. Ross referred to the effort made in the last election to have Ontario candidates pledge themselves that if elected they would work and vote in Parliament to have legislation passed reimbursing all the Farmers' Bank depositors. "For my part," said he, "I declined to make such a promise. What I did do was to give assurance that if elected I would support any reasonable proposition in connection with the assistance and protection of the depositors, but I would not pledge myself in the manner asked by those who were seeking the promise from candidates. I am told by members of the Farmers' Bank relief committee, however, that 28 men who ran as Conservative candidates pledged the pledge to advocate the reimbursement of depositors; more than this, some of them not only promised to advocate the reimbursement of depositors, but they promised that if Mr. Borden became premier depositors and shareholders would be reimbursed; and, not only this, but that they would guarantee that interest would be paid even to the depositors and shareholders. From these gentlemen, at least, I may surely expect support for my suggestion looking toward the protection of the depositors of Canadian banks."

Sharpe's Criticism.

Mr. Ross did not have to wait for some of his anticipated support. When he sat down, up rose Major Sharpe (North Ontario), on the Conservative side. He proceeded at once to attack the bill without gloves, declaring that it fell far short of what the public wanted, and was practically little improvement on the old bill. The Minister of Finance, he thought, had not had "his ear to the ground." He intimated that said ear had been given solely to the Bankers' Association, and that the bill represented the minimum of the demand. He had even hinted that they had been given opportunity to suggest a revision of the bill before Parliament had seen it, a suggestion which Mr. White denied. He believed changes much more radical than those proposed should be incorporated, and that in respect to the vital point of external inspection the bill was no improvement on the present law. Major Sharpe's suggestion that Parliament should take at least ten days on the second reading was corroborative evidence of a well-defined rumor of a "hold-up" of the bill from the Conservative side, falling the demand from the Ontario section affected by the Farmers' Bank failure for a fulfillment of their pre-election pledges for a reimbursement of depositors and shareholders who suffered by the failure of that institution. This demand has not yet been acknowledged by the Government, and it is understood that both Premier Borden and Hon. Mr. White have absolutely refused it.

Never Satisfy the People.
Major Sharpe wanted to know why the banks should be authorized to loan to western ranchers on their cattle, and not to farmers of the east on their cattle. Representing a breeding constituency, he protested against this. The secret lien clause should be dealt with. Now that banks could make these liens, extending the authority to loan on grain and ranch cattle should be accompanied by a law requiring such loans to be recorded as chattel mortgages. "We are creating an aristocracy of wealth by such measures—a great monetary combine," declared the Conservative revolt for North Ontario. "This bill will never be satisfactory to the people," he concluded.

U. S. SHOULD ARBITRATE SAYS SENATOR ROOT

Declares Action of Washington Govt. Has Created a Painful Situation.

[Canadian Press.]
Washington, Jan. 21.—"The United States should either submit the Panama free toll question to impartial arbitration or retire from the position we have taken," was the declaration of Senator Root in the Senate today in a speech favoring repeal of the free toll provision of the new Panama Canal act. Senator Root took the position that Congress should not have passed a law last summer that discriminated against foreign shipping and granted free tolls to American coastwise shipping. That action, he declared, had been a source of "great regret to multitudes of our fellow-citizens, and had created a painful sensation throughout the world."

HORSEMAN DEAD

Thomas Reidy Had Driven For Many Leading Stables.

Windsor, Jan. 21.—Thomas Reidy, aged 55, a well-known horseman of Essex and Kent Counties, died last night at the home of Albert Fox, Amherstburg. He had been in poor health for two years, but seriously only the past two days. Mr. Reidy had been a resident of Amherstburg for 20 years. HISTORY informs us that there lived at one time a Roman emperor, who never permitted a man with whom he conferred to depart from his presence with discontent. We wish he had been a storekeeper. At any rate if he were, and doing business in this age, it is safe to predict he would have the largest store in the world. Doing our best and our utmost, we have not reached this high altitude.

Yet for over a third of a century (since the commencement of this business), we have never moved from the principle of serving the people so that they should be satisfied, and with our new and capacious store and better-trained service, we believe that the past year's work has been the best we've ever accomplished.

We thank the people for their patience and interest in this great and growing business, and nothing pleases us more than to hear them say, "THIS IS OUR (OR MY) STORE," for it surely is the people's store, and we hope to hear this more and more in future.

If there is one single person with a grievance, please do not nurse it, but bring it at once to any one in the management of the store, who will be glad to receive you and get the opportunity of adjusting any misunderstanding or oversight.

One wrong made right is better than two new customers gained.

LAWSUIT MAY FOLLOW STOPPING OF BOAT

The Town Claims Thousands of Dollars Damage Might Have Been Caused.

[Canadian Press.]

Port Huron, Jan. 22.—An interesting suit is promised in connection with the refusal of the town authorities to allow the tug Hardy yesterday to go up the Black River about 4½ miles and break up an ice jam. The local ice company wished to break the jam, so that ice-cutting operations might be proceeded with. The tug was stopped at the Tenth street bridge, as it was feared that should the ice jam be removed the rush of water would not only sweep away the cofferdam, but undermine various places of business. Mr. Jacobson, of the Ice Company, contemplates suing the town on the ground that the authorities had no business to stop the tug on a Government stream.

Clinton, Jan. 22.—Judge Doyle will conduct a recount into the recent local option vote in the town hall here on Jan. 23.

WANT BUSINESS MANAGER.

Needs Local Navy

Sydney, Jan. 21.—The Morning Herald says the Times correspondent regards the Vancouver conference as most probable, and cites a letter from Admiral King Hall showing the Australian Pacific policy has the full support of the imperial authorities. The article adds: "We have no wish to intervene in the political controversies of sister dominions, but feel Canada's only satisfactory manner of joining in Pacific defence is establishment of a local naval unit in co-operation with other imperial defence Pacific forces. The question of control of contingents is most important, since there is a general disposition to accept the British admiralty's advice about utilizing available ships to best advantage, and with the least delay in times of stress."

MRS. NORTON'S FIRST FOOD TALK—ON SUGAR!

Sweet Stuff Not a Luxury, But the Body Fuel You Need to Keep Going—How to Cook It Economically.

BY ALICE P. NORTON.

Head of the Department of Home Economics of the University of Chicago.

In a little table told by Mrs. Abel, "King Palate," is represented an absolute ruler of a vast kingdom, paying as little heed to law as most kings do.

Alice P. Norton.

After years of undisturbed peace, enemies were discovered lurking in the kingdom, such as "Indigestion" and "Dyspepsia." The wise men of the realm tried in vain to drive them away. Daily they grew more powerful and more bold, until at length a young man named "Knowledge" appeared. He was able to hold them in check. He gave wise counsel, but "King Palate" did not always give heed. Whenever he failed to do so the imp became so troublesome that he was forced to ask advice. At last "Knowledge" was made Prime Minister, and King and Minister, working together, succeeded in subduing the enemies.

"King Palate," rather than "Knowledge," seems so far to have been responsible for our great use of sugar. Everybody today seems to want something sweet. Yet Knowledge is teaching us that sugar in its proper place is not only pleasing, but wholesome.

Sugar, like starch, is a fuel food. Indeed starch is changed to sugar when we eat it. Try holding a little cooked starch a few moments in the mouth, or chew a piece of cracker and notice the sweet taste.

One common way of using sugar is in cake. This is not a good way for children, who had better have sugar on their bread, or use good candy for dessert, not before meals. But for older people cake has its use in giving variety. It has high food value, for it contains not only protein, sugar and starch, but also fat, another fuel food that gives even more heat and power to work.

We often eat cake simply as an adjunct to the meal, after we have already eaten enough; perhaps that is one reason why it is not always digested. Another reason for the indigestibility of cake and pastry may be that both sugar and fat are too concentrated, and that fat is less digestible when heated to a high temperature.

Each housekeeper should study her own resources and needs before giving much time to the making of cakes and pastries. Would not sugar in a simpler form satisfy the needs of her family as well?

So many things are required in making cake that we see the need of careful arrangement of materials in order to save steps. Have the sugar, flour, spices, salt, flavoring and all commonly used utensils so arranged in your kitchen that each may be easily reached. Kitchen arrangement is very important for ease in work. This spoon is used five times a day; put it where it will be handy. That is used twice a year, then, it does not so much

Masquerade Togs.

Dear Miss Grey—As I am an interested reader of your column, I should like to ask you what you think would be suitable to wear to a masquerade. A prize is being given for the ugliest costume, and although I do not want the prize, I would be very grateful if you would give me an idea of two of what to wear. Thanking you in advance, and hoping to see your answer very soon, I remain, truly,

BLOODY.

Answer—You might go disguised as a witch, that would surely be a sufficiently ugly costume. Other garbs that are not ugly, but which would be suitable for a masquerade, are a Japanese maiden, Swiss peasant girl, college girl (with cap, gown and colors), Quaker girl, soldier lass (a dark blue skirt, scarlet jacket and real soldier's cap), suffragette (manish dress and time, with "Votes for Women") and, well, honestly, I can't think of any more.

She is Very Foolish.

Dear Miss Grey—I am in love and in love with two young men in Toronto, where I visited a short time ago. I have been corresponding a great deal since I was there, I being a great lover of letter-writing. They both tell me they are waiting for me, but I have to wait five or six weeks for an answer to my letters. Do you think they care for me? They each have my photo; also a lock of my hair.

Answer—Oh, Edith, I am so disappointed in your giving your photograph about like that! Get the photographs back at once. The men are not very much interested in you. You made a mistake in giving your photograph and your lock of hair. A girl who does this sort of thing only makes herself a target for ridicule.

Who Knows?

Dear Miss Grey—Could you kindly inform me through your column of the address of the company who puts out plays for people who want to go on the stage? Have tried to get the name of company at Toronto, but have been unsuccessful so far. Kindly publish my answer through your column and oblige.

Answer—No, Billie, I do not know the address. Why don't you advertise for the information on another page of this paper?

Thinks Column Helpful.

Dear Miss Grey—Kindly publish as soon as possible in your helpful columns what will take a lemon stain from a white mull dress. Thanking you for your kind help which I have received from your helpful columns.

Answer—To soak the stain in a weak chloride of lime solution, and then to rub it off with a soft cloth. Do not leave it in the solution more than five minutes, and rinse at once. Use no more than a teaspoonful of the lime to a good basinful of water.

Pat's Plight.

Dear Miss Grey—Will you kindly help me out? I am very desirous of making the acquaintance of a lovely young lady. She resides in town, and I in the country. We have both been members of the same church for years, but have never been at any social gatherings together in the church or elsewhere. An opportunity has never presented itself whereby we might

An unpleasant journey is in store for you, and disappointments will occur. You should guide your conduct with the greatest care and try to foresee events. Those born today will have wandering dispositions, and will be disinclined to make sustained efforts to accomplish anything. Only wise care and patient teaching will save these children from aimless frivolity and shallowness.

Deaths Appalling.

Ireland, half a dozen years ago, was virgin soil in the sense that there was no definite philanthropic organization for tackling the problems of tuberculosis, infant mortality and public health. Any remedies were merely palliative. Preventive work had not been started. The infant mortality and tuberculosis death rates were appalling.

So Lady Aberdeen started babies' clubs, and a pasteurized milk depot for supplying pure milk in Dublin. In the poorest quarters of the city places were rented by the association to be used as clubs. Voluntary helpers and trained nurses were obtained and the good offices of the doctors were enlisted.

Aids Infants.

Thus the preventive work for infant mortality was organized on a profes-

WHEN EGGS ARE HIGH!

Try These Cake Rules Used for Years by Mrs. Norton Herself.

FRUIT CAKE.	SOUR MILK GINGERBREAD.
1 cup sugar.	1 cup molasses.
1 cup molasses.	1 cup sour milk.
1 cup sour milk.	2 cups flour.
1-2 cup butter.	11-2 teaspoons soda.
1-2 lb. raisins.	2 teaspoons ginger.
1 teaspoon cinnamon.	1 teaspoon salt.
2 teaspoons cloves.	2 teaspoons baking powder.
2 teaspoons baking powder.	1-4 cup butter.
3 cups flour.

matter. A little study will save much time, much strength, and a great deal of worry.

If you are to make cake at all, learn to make a cheap one as well as a rich and more expensive one.

Make the cake in an easy way. Much time can be saved by melting the butter. Just see that the fat does not get too hot, and that it is thoroughly mixed. But in these days butter often seems too expensive to use for cakes. Try some of the vegetable fats, now on the market, or beef drippings tried out at home, or chicken fat. Only be sure it is fresh and untainted. Be sure to add salt, and use a little less of the fat than you would of butter. Except when the cake is hot, no one will distinguish the difference. Water may be substituted for milk to good advantage.

A good general rule for cake is this: One cup of liquid to three cups of flour, a half cup of butter, two cups of sugar, three eggs, four teaspoons of baking powder, a little salt (one teaspoon if an unsalted fat is used).

If a richer cake is wanted, so that more fat is used, the liquid is lessened; a cup of fat, for example, takes a half a cup of liquid; if more eggs are used, lessening the liquid. We use of course if we reach "pound cake," we have a maximum of fat and egg, and no liquid or baking powder. On the other hand, if a plainer cake is needed, fat and eggs are lessened, liquid and baking powder increased. The plain cake becomes only a very sweet muffin. With this fundamental rule, any variation may be made with flavoring, spices, chocolate, fruit.

Pastries for grownups, not for children. Even in the grownups, simple puddings, gelatine dishes, or fruit cooked or uncooked, should be more commonly used. Do you ever make your pies without an upper crust? The English tart, or the old-fashioned deep apple pie, made in this way, with light and flaky pastry, would seem to reduce the indigestibility to a minimum.

What good is fruit as a food? Mrs. Norton tells us—and many other things, too—in her next article of this important series.

KATHERINE LESLIE'S HOME CHAT

THE VELVET GOWN

"And one in a velvet gown!" It was not a gown though, it was a suit—a skirt and coat with dainty chiffon waist beneath—and how stunning the wearer looked! Black velvet it was, well cut, well made, well put on, and so becoming. The coat was trimmed, but not lavishly, with heavy, silk braid and buttons in of festive combination. With this suit were worn an ermine turban with spray aigrette, an ermine muff of medium size, and a tie neck piece of the same. Shoes and gloves were of the smartest. The wearer was evidently alive to the fact that velvet is a material that must be lived up to in the matter of accessories. A velvet suit or gown attracts attention to any defect in shoes, gloves, hats, etc., that may accompany it. All these things must be in keeping with no regal material or the effect is far from desirable. Two other velvet suits there were that caused one to sigh over one's limited income, for it must be confessed that there is nothing so elegant as velvet, nothing so becoming, nothing so satisfactory, nothing so desirable. One of these suits, worn by a handsome brunette, was of rich maroon velvet and was worn with a big black plumed hat and rich dark furs; the other was in a lovely shade of blue and worn with ermine.

But velvet suits and gowns need a great deal of care. They require much brushing to keep them free from dust. A whisk should not be used because of its harshness which streaks and wears the soft surface. A fine soft hair brush is best to keep velvet clothes and hats clean. Dust is the big enemy of velvet. You get an idea of what dust does for velvet when you look at the velvet bows or bands that some women wear indefinitely on their hair or at their necks, without brushing. The surface of velvet is so made that the pile will not only gather dust but holds it, so that the greatest care is necessary to keep it from dust. Then, it will wear "shiny" in places. When this happens there is only one thing to do—to steam the place, or to heat an iron, turn it up and down the wrong side of the velvet back and forth across the iron till the pile is raised again. Of course if you lay your velvet flat, and iron it on either one side or the other as you would ordinary cotton cloth, your suit will come to grief. And if your velvet is really a fine piece and expensive it is much the better plan to send it to a professional cleaner or presser. It will pay in the end though it may seem extravagant at the moment.

Those who enjoy doing artistic needlework are duplicating the designs created during the reigns of Queen Elizabeth, Queen Anne and Queen Catherine.

Queen Anne embroideries, with their exquisite coloring, are done with the cross-stitch. Beautiful curtains are decorated with a band of flowers embroidered on a canary-yellow background, in pink, yellow and blue. The design is wholly conventional, and has been stored away ever since the days of the thrifty queen.

Elizabethan embroideries, worked on long stitch on fine white linen, have a quaint charm. The designs are mostly of birds and flowers, and scrolls cunningly intermingled. In some cases these bright embroideries are mounted on a background of vivid red.

The old-fashioned patchwork quilting is also numbered among the recent revivals. Every mother who has the skill should "piece" a quilt for her baby. Pretty designs are worked out on squares of a regular size with small pieces of colored silk or cotton material combined with white. The "crazy" quilt is a conglomeration of patches—all colors and sizes and shapes sewn to the block foundation. These small squares are then joined to form the large "quilt" or "bedspread." A colonial bedroom is incomplete without a "pieced quilt."

Point D'Esprit makes the latest breakfast caps that are shaped like the various peasant caps of Europe. The ruffle about the face is more often of the material, hemmed and accented pleated, than the gathered flounce, and the cap itself is often ladd in tiny pleats. Ribbons are very fanciful on these caps, striped, flowered and fashioned in odd knots and loops. For instance, the ruffle about the face will be caught up in the centre of the front by two loops of striped dark blue and white ribbon placed flatly on the top of the head. Again, it will wreath the

GUELPH CLUB FAVORS $14,000 SALARY LIMIT

President Mahoney Writes Fitzgerald to Take a Vote by Mail to Decide Matter.

Guelph, Jan. 21.—President W. A. Mahoney of the Guelph Maple Leafs, had a lengthy talk with President Fitzgerald of the Canadian League, impressing upon the president the fact that the Canadian League could not get along on a salary limit of $12,000 without every manager trying to get around the said limit. President Mahoney wrote Fitzgerald, asking him to take a vote of the managers, asking them if they favored raising the salary limit to $14,000 per month, exclusive of a manager. This President Fitzgerald consented to do.

President Mahoney has heard from Louie Cook, who states that he is after a fast shortstop from Boston, highly recommended by Jack Dunn, of the Baltimore club.

Lachine, Quebec.—"I had itching commencing with my legs and increasing gradually until it reached all parts of my body. There were small pimples on my legs and arms and the skin was red and itched all over the body and flamed and burned so badly that I scratched and made sores. It caused me so much pain that it kept me from sleeping during entire nights. I was troubled with it for about two years.

"After having tried several remedies without success I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and from the first application I felt a great relief. I continued the treatment taking warm baths with Cuticura Soap followed by the application of Cuticura Ointment, and at the end of a few weeks the trouble had disappeared completely and I was cured." WANDERERS ARE hot-foot after Davidson, Cameron, Wilson and McLean, of the Toronto. The good showing of these boys has created quite a stir in the eastern hockey centres, and they now realize that all good hockey players do not reside in Ottawa or Montreal. McLean has not yet played a full game for Toronto, and the fans are anxious to see him work.

THE ELMIRA O. H. A. game Monday night was played at Berlin under protest on two points. Home referees had been agreed upon, and the Elmira referees' appointment had been confirmed, in spite of which Berlin had a Toronto man to officiate. The second count is the ineligibility of one of the Berlin players.

AFTER MONDAY'S game, Collingwood realized that they had no chance in the Senior O. H. A. They consequently dropped out, but will still continue the same team in the Intermediate series for the rest of the season.

This leaves only Toronto Canoe and Midland in Senior group 3, Simcoe (Toronto) and Collingwood having dropped out. These two have arranged the following dates:

Monday, Jan. 27.—Canoe Club at Midland.

Monday, Feb. 3.—Midland at Canoe Club.

THE MARKHAM and Lindsay clubs have arranged their games as follows: Jan. 24.—Markham at Lindsay.

Jan. 25.—Lindsay at Markham.

Jan. 21.—Markham at Lindsay.

ST. THOMAS AFTER ORT AS MANAGER

Sensational Kazoo Shortstop, However, Believes He Will Go to Spokane Instead.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Jan. 21.—George Ort, who did sensational work at short for the local South Michigan League club last season, will probably not be seen in a Kazoo uniform this year. "George" is undecided right now with whom he'll sign up. He has been offered the managership of the St. Thomas club in the Canadian League, while Joe Cohn, manager of the Spokane club in the Northwest League, is also after his services. It looks very much as present as though Ort would sign in his signed contract to the Spokane club, the terms offered being better. In 1911 Ort played with Los Angeles in the Pacific Coast League.

DRAYTON WINS AGAIN IN NORTHERN LEAGUE

Defeated Palmerston By Score of 9 to 5.

Drayton, Jan. 21.—Drayton won their third straight game in Northern League tonight, when they beat Palmerston, 9 to 5. Their former victories were away from home, at Palmerston and Mount Forest. The ice was fast and the game fairly even. The teams: Drayton—Goal, Glikinson; point, Dowling; cover, R. Striker; rover, White; centre, Lantz; right wing, F. Striker; left wing, Johnson.

Palmerston—Goal, W. Johnson; point, William Johnston; cover point, Georgey; rover, Brown; centre, Root; right wing, Everett; left wing, Lawrence.

Referee—Stan. Thompson, of Belwood.

O'ROURKE SUES "BOXING"

New York, Jan. 22.—A London cable says: Sporting circles here are agitated over the forthcoming libel suit by Tom O'Rourke, the boxing contest promoter and manager, of New York, against the proprietors of "Boxing," a London sporting paper. The courts today fixed Feb. 11 for the hearing of the case.

The paper charges O'Rourke with discreditable practices in connection with various big boxing contests promoted or managed by him in the United States, mentioning what it calls specific instances.

O'Rourke is, of course, claiming heavy damages.

TWO MEETS ANNUALLY ON NEW MILE TRACK

Harness Horse Races Will Be Feature of London's New Track — Work Begins Shortly.

Work will be commenced shortly on a mile race track on land recently purchased by Mr. J. L. Counsell, of Hamilton, about 1 1/2 miles east of the city, on Dundas street.

One hundred and thirty-five acres have been secured, and on it will be erected a most modern racing plant, similar in type to that at the Woodbine, Toronto.

Plans have been prepared, and will be sent to London for architects to look over at a very early date.

Local capital is interested in the scheme, and in addition it will be backed by some of the most prominent horsemen in the province.

The deeds for the property have been signed, and the transfers made. As soon as the spring opens construction work will begin.

The charter for the meet is held by Messrs. Counsell and Bruce, of Hamilton, and was issued by the Dominion Government at the last session of Parliament.

Under the present scheme two race meets will be held annually, one in the spring and the other in the autumn. These meetings will be under the control of the Ontario Jockey Club.

In addition, there will be harness horse races. A circuit for Canadian horses similar to the Grand Circuit in the United States is being organized, over mile tracks in Montreal, Toronto, Windsor, Fort Erie and London. These will be earlier than the meetings held on the Grand Circuit in the United States.

Mr. J. L. Counsell informed The Advertiser today that it is expected that work would be commenced as early in the spring as possible.

"We want to be ready for the fall meeting," declared Mr. Counsell. "I think we will start as soon as the frost is out of the ground, and rush the work to completion. We will be in the same circuit as the Woodbine, Blue Bonnets, Hamilton, Port Erie and Windsor."

It was hinted also that local capital would be sought in large quantities to finance the scheme.

It is estimated that $150,000 will be expended in making the plant one of the finest in the country.

OWEN SOUND OPENS ITS NEW HOCKEY RINK

Home Team Celebrates With a Win Over Warton.

Owen Sound, Jan. 21.—The first game of hockey to be played in the new Riverside Rink took place tonight between Owen Sound and Warton, and proved to be the fastest and most exciting seen here in years. Owen Sound won by a 5 to 2 score, the goals being 4 to 2, at half-time the score was 5 to 2 in favor of Warton. In the second half, largely through the work of Falkingham and Lange, the Owen Sounders tied up the count, and at two minutes to full time notched the decisive tally. For Warton,

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS VISITED ST. THOMAS

Forty Londoners Were Guests
Tuesday Night of Rathburn Lodge.

About forty members of the local lodges of the Knights of Pythias paid a visit last evening to Rathburn lodge, St. Thomas, on the occasion of the installation of the officers of the latter lodge. Bro. James Dean, of this city, had charge of the ceremonies, and was assisted by Bros. Bishop, Burdick, Tinsley, Threlkenton, Hussey and Grismond.

Upon the conclusion of the ceremonial refreshments were served, and the remainder of the evening was spent in a sociable manner. Speeches were made by Bros. Dean, Burdick, Bishop, Hussey, Ely, Bull and Grismond, of London, and Bros. Geddes, McDonald, McCollough and Horton, of St. Thomas. Bro. Horton, in his address, pointed out that the membership of the Knights of Pythias had exceeded the 800,000 mark, and that it was the intention of the officers of the organization to have 1,000,000 members by 1914, when the order will celebrate its 50th birthday.

That the order is progressing was shown by the hosts, and that a class of 2,000 will be initiated in Chicago on Feb. 17. Bros. O. Sinclair and Inwood, of London, rendered a number of musical selections during the evening that were heartily appreciated by the brethren.

WEST INDIES PREPARES FOR CANAL OPENING

Canadian Syndicate Behind a Great Scheme to Supply
Shipping Facilities.

[Canadian Press.]
New York, Jan. 22.—A London cable says: The influence of the opening of the Panama Canal on British West Indian trade was indicated by a statement of the colonial secretary in the House of Commons yesterday. Replying to a question as to what preparations were being made in the British West Indian Islands to cope with the expected development of shipping in the Caribbean Sea consequent upon the opening of the canal, he said that the British Government, better equipped, docking and repairing facilities were available, the secretary said he had been informed that a Canadian syndicate was negotiating with the Jamaican Government with a view to the provision of facilities for harbor improvement schemes with other places, including Trinidad, under consideration, and proposals had been made for the establishment of oil storage stations at Barbadoes and St. Lucia.

TURK ABOUT TO ACCEDE

Expected To Accept the Advice of the Powers.

[Canadian Press.]
Paris, Jan. 22.—Special dispatches from both Constantinople and London agree that Turkey is on the eve of acceding to the advice of the powers as formulated in the note of Jan. 17. A dispatch to the Matin from Constantinople says that Turkish Pasha, the Turkish ambassador at St. Petersburg, has communicated to the Porte declarations made to him by M. Sazonoff, the Russian foreign minister, who strongly urged that Turkey give way at once. If Turkey dragged out the negotiations, he pointed out, she would endanger the political situation in Europe and Russia, above all desirous of consolidating the situation, would find herself obliged to compel Turkey to give in by occupying the vilayets of Van, Bitlis, Erzurum and Trebizond, and entering the straits. The Russian Government, he added, could not resist public opinion and demanded an immediate answer.

The Russian ambassador to Turkey, M. de Giers, has made similar representations to Kiamil Pasha at Constantinople, and M. Bompard, the French ambassador to Turkey, has advised the Premier to comply with Russia's suggestion.

THE GUARDIAN

BY FREDERICK ORIN BARTLETT

"Gene was good to her, very good to her. He came home regularly after work, and on Saturday nights brought his own opened pay envelope without a word of protest. She paid a little each week on the furniture, kept the rent paid up, and lived very well indeed. She did not tint the table, though she did a little in the matter of clothes. Each Sunday they took an excursion to the beach, where they both got into the water and lolled in the sand. She was very proud of 'Gene in his bathing suit. He looked like one of the Life Guards. She saw more than one glance of admiration cast at his powerful arms and legs. She herself did not show to any great advantage in comparison, but she didn't mind that. Her pride in him was big enough to make her willing to sacrifice her own."

Now and then, especially when the heat grew suffocating in the city, she tried to question him a little about his life back home. There was a certain wistfulness in her questions. In the first place, she longed to know about his early days, in order to share with him even those years. She could not get over the feeling that she had longed back among the hills. She herself had seen little of the country, but that little had whetted her appetite for more. Happy as she was here, she had been still happier with him out of the heat and confusion of the city.

"Gene," she said one night, "are your folks still living?"

He looked up quickly.

"Yes," he answered quickly.

"Your mother and brother?"

"Yes; why?"

"Nothing," she answered, seeing that she had displeased him.

But after a little while she dropped her sewing again and asked:

"H'm, queer you don't never hear from them."

"I don't see nothin' queer about it," he answered.

"Don't you never expect to go back and see them?"

"No," he replied curtly. "Cat it out, will you? I want to read the paper."

"All right," Gene.

But when the summer passed and cold weather came, Bella noticed a change. The work became more disagreeable to him as the novelty wore away. Some times she found a dollar missing from his pay envelope. This was invariably accompanied by a trace of drink in his breath. She said nothing to him at first, but two, though it kept her awake the best part of the night. Finally, however, she cocked up her head and said to him:

"Gene," she said, "I'd cut out the booze altogether if I was you."

"What do you mean?" he asked.

"He was always aggressive at such times."

"I'm talkin' to you straight, Gene," she said.

"Can't a fellow have a bit of something hot to keep from freezing?" he challenged.

"Honest, I wouldn't."

She placed her hand upon his arm. He shook himself free, shut up in the house, to talk. You don't know how cold it gets with the waves spashin' over you."

"Yes, I do," Gene, she answered tenderly. "I'd like to see you come down with some hot coffee."

He laughed.

"I'd look fine drinkin' hot coffee with the boys all in moonshine."

"Coffee would be better for you," she insisted.

"Forget it," he replied.

The very next Saturday night he came home in a worse condition than ever. She said nothing, but when he went to bed he was for starting out again, she found her courage once more.

"Don't go."

"You wasn't much older when I found you, Gene," she reminded him.

"Bant! I was a Rube then."

"I liked you when you was a Rube," she said.

He did not answer at once. Even he could not forget the kindness to him at that time.

"Member how you came down to the ferry that night?" she asked.

He nodded uneasily.

"Member how we sat on the bench in the park?"

"I ain't forgot," he answered. "I was only going out to pass the time of day with Sullivan."

She nestled closer to him.

"Ah, Gene, stay here with me to-night," she pleaded.

He threw down his hat and remained, but he was no very pleasant companion.

In spite of these worries it was about this time that she and her husband lighted warmed Bella's eyes. At first she hugged her secret close, for it left her quite breathless. It seemed for a short while to sacred a thing to confide even in her husband. It so occupied her thoughts that for the matter of two weeks she left Gene a free rein. He took advantage of it, and one night turned up penniless and helpless.

With a great gulping choke she put him to bed, and sat up all the rest of the night, slowly rocking to and fro in the dark.

And her thoughts this time were neither of Gene nor of herself.

He must have the next morning in no very good humor. He wished to get out of the house. In his present fit of dejection he sought for a short time in his whole life here. For the first time since he had left home he was homesick. He felt a longing for the clean, sweet air of the hills, for the quiet of the old farmhouse. He wanted a sight of Julie's clear eyes.

"Gene," she said, "are you coming straight home tonight?"

"You bet your life," he answered. "I've had enough of that."

She lifted her lips as she had in the office of the justice of the peace.

"Kiss me, Gene."

He kissed her and went out.

Gene was not himself all that week. With the crisp fall air his fit of homesickness grew on him. It was as though he had awakened from a dream. He went back in his thoughts to the day he had left Julie by the side of the road, and felt again the brush of her lips. He cursed himself for a fool and grew sulkier. The only thing that held him at home was a certain awe he felt for the marriage relation itself. As far as Bella was concerned, he would have left her without hesitation. She was able to care for herself. She could look after the house and the children. He was a justice of the peace. He was a justice of the peace.

SLEEP-DISTURBING BLADDER WEAKNESS BACKACHE-RHEUMATISM, QUICKLY VANISH

Even Most Chronic Sufferers
Find Relief After a Few Doses Are Taken.

Backache, urinary disorders, and rheumatism are caused from weak, inactive kidneys which fail to filter out the impurities and keep the blood pure, and the only way on earth to permanently and positively cure such troubles, is to remove the cause.

The new discovery, Croxon, cures such conditions, because it reaches the very roots of the disease. It soaks right into the stopped-up, inactive kidneys, through the walls and linings, cleans out the little filtering cells and glands; neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous uric acid substances that lodge in the joints, and muscles, to scratch and irritate and cause rheumatism; it neutralizes the urine so it no longer irritates the tender membranes of the bladder, and cleans out and strengthens the stopped-up, lifeless kidneys, so they filter and sift all the poisons from the blood, and drive it out of the system.

So sure, so positive, so quick and lasting, are the results obtained from the use of Croxon, that three doses a day for a few days are often all that is required to cure the worst case of backache, regulate the most annoying bladder disorders, and overcome the numerous other similar conditions.

It is the most wonderful preparation ever made for the purpose. It is entirely different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth to compare with it. It is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results.

You can obtain an original package of Croxon at trifling cost from any first-class drug store. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if Croxon fails to give desired results, regardless of how old you are, how long you have suffered, or what else has failed to cure you.

Canada needs no navy. Canada does need coast protection, especially at the mouth of the St. Lawrence. "We do not desire to secede from Great Britain, but we would much rather undergo the natural development of independence under the Nationalist idea than to have constant friction, disagreements and distrusts under imperialism. Independence is the moral outcome of any colony."

LEGAL QUERIES

TAXES.—Can the township legally collect on $200 more than my notice of assessment calls for? If so, what becomes of my right of appeal? I did not appeal against amount stated in notice, but would have done so against any increase, but was not given any opportunity. The tax papers were handed in in December, just a few days before date due for payment, giving the first hint of increased assessment. I tendered the proper amount on my assessment at tax rate. It was refused, with the remark: "You must pay what is on our books." What action, if any, should I take in the matter?

A.—The collector is bound to collect the amount stated in his roll, which is binding, notwithstanding error in notice of assessment. Your remedy is to apply to the council to correct the error of the assessor or clerk. Your notice and the roll, by refusing to pay the difference in the taxes, and if that is refused you might then sue the negligent official for damages.

GUELPH CLUB FAVORS $14,000 SALARY LIMIT

President Mahoney Writes Fitzgerald to Take a Vote by Mail to Decide Mater.

Guelph, Jan. 21.—President W. A. Mahoney of the Guelph Maple Leafs, had a lengthy talk with President Fitzgerald of the Canadian League, impressing upon the president the fact that the Canadian League could not get along on a salary limit of $14,000 without every man trying to get around the said limit. President Mahoney urged that President Fitzgerald take a mail vote of the managers, asking them if they favored raising the salary limit to $14,000 per month, exclusive of a manager. This President Fitzgerald consented to do.

President Mahoney has heard from Louie Cook, who states that he is a fast shortstop, and is highly recommended by Jack Dunn, of the Baltimore club.

Pimples on Legs and Arms. Scratched and Made Sores. Kept from Sleeping. First Application of Cuticura Soap and Ointment Gave Great Relief. Cured in a Few Weeks.

Lachine, Quebec.—"I had itching commencing with my legs and increasing gradually until it reached all parts of my body. There were small pimples on my legs and arms and the skin was red and inflamed all over the body and itched and burned so badly that I scratched and made sores. It caused me so much pain that it kept me from sleeping during entire nights. I was troubled with it for about two years.

"After having tried several remedies without success I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment from the first application I felt a great relief. I continued the treatment taking warm baths with Cuticura Soap followed by the application of Cuticura Ointment, and at the end of a few weeks the trouble had disappeared completely and I was cured." ANGUS DUFORD, the Ottawa amateur, may jump to the pro ranks. He has received offers from several Maritime League teams.

OTTAWA PROS. are now complaining of the system of fines in the N. H. A., and will ask for a return to the old style of penalizing a player.

TRECEMSEHS LEFT last night for a three-game trip. Tonight they play at Ottawa, on Saturday they meet Canadans at Montreal, and next Wednesday play at Quebec.

NEW GLASGOW placed themselves in the lead in the Maritime Hockey League by defeating the Crescents of Halifax by a score of 7 to 4 at Halifax last night. Nearly four thousand people witnessed the game.

BOSTON JOURNAL: It must have been a hard blow to Canadians in this city who remained away from the Boston A. A.-Toronto game, believing that another of their teams was bound to be beaten, only to pick up the paper the next day and learn that the Unicorn seven was soundly whipped.

CITY LEAGUE SCHEDULE WILL SUFFER CHANGES

Different Arrangement of Playing Hours For Last Five Nights—Other Business Discussed.

The City League executive changed one of the rules of the constitution at a meeting held last evening. The new ruling permits the teams to sign men until Feb. 1. The clause stating that clubs were to give a week's notice of the signing up of a player was eliminated. After Feb. 1 all contract books must be in the hands of the secretary of the league with all stubs properly filled out.

The cup donated by The Advertiser to the league was officially accepted on motion of Mr. H. A. Marshall, seconded by Dr. Windsor. The secretary was instructed to arrange for the printing of the schedule.

The last five nights of the schedule will be changed as regards their playing hours. Some mix-up in the hours has occurred, one of the teams having too many late-hour games. This will be remedied, and the new arrangement published shortly.

ENGLISH RUGBY CIRCLES STIRRED BY SENSATION

Oxford University Players May Be Professionalized.

New York, Jan. 22.—A cable from London says:

A sensation in English amateur rugby football circles was caused today, when it became known that, following the wholesale suspensions of certain clubs and players by the Rugby Union, which controls the game, on charges of professionalism, an official of the union is investigating similar charges against Oxford University players.

These players are alleged to have taken part in a French tour at Christmas "without authorization of the governing body, for which they received expenses."

SKATING CHAMPIONSHIPS BEGIN.

Cleveland, Jan. 22.—The international indoor amateur skating championship races begin here tonight, with skaters from a dozen clubs in Canada and the United States entered. Three events are on the program for tonight—the one-sixth mile (two laps), the one-half mile and the one mile. Several minor events will fill in, and President Allan L. Blanchard, of the Western Skating Association, will give an exhibition. Blanchard also will referee tonight's events. Robert MacLean, of Chicago, is expected to retain his title of amateur champion.

WANDERERS ARE HOT-FOOT

DAVIDSON, Cameron, Wilson and McLean, of the Torontos. The good showing of these boys has created quite a stir in the eastern hockey centres, and they now realize that all good hockey players do not reside in Ottawa or Montreal. McLean has not yet played a full game for Torontos, and the fans are anxious to see him work.

THE ELMIRA O. H. A. game Monday night was played at Berlin under protest on two points. Home referees had been agreed upon, and the Elmira referee's appointment had been confirmed, in spite of which Berlin had a Toronto man to officiate. The second count is the ineligibility of one of the Berlin players.

AFTER MONDAY'S game, Collingwood realized that they had no chance in the league. They consequently dropped out, but will continue the same team in the intermediate series for the rest of the season.

This leaves only Toronto Canoe and Midland in Senior group. Simcoe (Toronto) and Collingwood having dropped out. These two have arranged the following dates:

Monday, Jan. 27.—Canoe Club at Midland.

Monday, Feb. 3.—Midland at Canoe Club.

ST. THOMAS AFTER ORT AS MANAGER

Sensational Kazoo Shortstop, However, Believes He Will Go to Spokane Instead.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Jan. 21.—George Ort, who did sensational work at short for the local South Michigan League club last season, will probably not be seen in a Kazoo uniform this year. "George" is undecided right now with whom he'll sign up. He has been offered the managership of the St. Thomas club in the Canadian League, while Joe Cohn, manager of the Spokane club in the Northwest Circuit, is also after him.

It looks very much at present as though Ort would send in his signed contract to the Spokane club, the terms offered being better. In 1911 Ort played with Los Angeles in the Pacific Coast League.

O'ROURKE SUES "BOXING."

New York, Jan. 22.—A London cable says: Sporting circles here are agitated over the forthcoming libel suit by Tom O'Rourke, the boxing contest promoter and manager, of New York, against the proprietors of "Boxing," a London sporting paper. The courts today fixed Feb. 11 for the hearing of the case.

The paper charges O'Rourke with discreditable practices in connection with various big boxing contests promoted or managed by him in the United States, mentioning what it calls specific instances.

O'Rourke is, of course, claiming heavy damages.

TWO MEETS ANNUALLY ON NEW MILE TRACK

Harness Horse Races Will Be Feature of London's New Track — Work Begins Shortly.

Work will be commenced shortly on a mile race track on land recently purchased by Mr. J. L. Counsell, of Hamilton, about 1 1/2 miles east of the city, on Dundas street.

One hundred and thirty-five acres have been secured, and on it will be erected a most modern racing plant, similar in type to that at the Woodbine, Toronto.

Plans have been prepared, and will be sent to London for architects to look over at a very early date.

Local capital is interested in the scheme, and in addition it will be backed by some of the most prominent horse-men in the province.

The deeds for the property have been signed, and the race track made. As soon as the spring opens construction work will begin.

The chair for the meet is held by Messrs. Counsell and Bruce, of Hamilton, and was issued by the Dominion Government at the last session of Parliament.

Under the present scheme two race meets will be held annually, one in the spring and the other in the autumn. These meetings will be under the control of the Ontario Jockey Club.

In addition, there will be harness horse races. A circuit for Canadian horses similar to the Grand Circuit in the United States is being organized, over mile tracks in Montreal, Toronto, Windsor, Port Erie and London. These will be earlier than the meetings held on the Grand Circuit in the United States.

Mr. J. L. Counsell informed The Advertiser that it is expected that work would be commenced as early in the spring as possible.

"We want to be ready for the fall meeting," declared Mr. Counsell, "I think we will start as soon as the frost is out of the ground, and run the work a complete season. We will be in the same circuit as the Woodbine, Blue Bonnets, Hamilton, Port Erie and Windsor."

It was hinted also that local capital would be sought in large quantities to finance the scheme.

It is estimated that $150,000 will be expended in making the plant one of the finest in the country.

OWEN SOUND OPENS ITS NEW HOCKEY RINK

Home Team Celebrates With a Win Over Wiarton.

Owen Sound, Jan. 21.—The first game of hockey to be played in the new Riverside Rink took place tonight between Owen Sound and Wiarton, and proved to be the fastest and most exciting seen here in years. Owen Sound won by a 5 to 3 tally, and a score being 4 to 2, at half-time the score was 5 to 2 in favor of Wiarton. In the second half, largely owing to the work of Falkingham and Lange, the Owen Sounders tied up the count, and at two minutes to full time notched the decisive tally. For Wiarton,

If Your Stomach Is Lacking in Digestive Power, Why Not Help the Stomach Do Its Work?

Not with drugs, but with a reinforcement of active agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach. Scientific analysis shows that digestion requires pepsin, nitrogenous ferments, and the secretion of hydrochloric acid. When food fails to digest, it is proof positive that some of these agents are lacking in your digestive apparatus.

COLIMA IN ERUPTION THOUSANDS IN PERIL

Gale by Blowing Away Poisonous Gases Saves Lives of Villagers.

[Canadian Press.] Guadalajara, Mexico, Jan. 21.—The volcano of Colima broke into violent eruption yesterday afternoon. Thousands of people fled from the villages and ranches in the vicinity. It is not improbable that there has been some loss of life at a distance from the volcano. A gale of refugees arrived in this city this morning on a train composed of box cars, which had been picked up on a siding at a nearby village. The fleeing people had found it necessary to shovel away a quantity of volcanic sand before they were able to move the cars, and for many miles along the way where the train had to be stopped frequently in order that the sand which prevented its progress might be moved from the tracks. Little lava was ejected from the crater, which, however, emitted vast quantities of smoke and sand, while suffocating gases formed an unusual feature of the eruption. A gale was blowing from the northwest and this probably saved many of the inhabitants of the surrounding districts, as it caused the flying sand and deadly gases to pass over their heads. The last violent eruption of Colima occurred in 1903.

CANADIAN SHIPBUILDERS ASK FOR PROTECTION

Subsidy or Bonus Is Needed If Industry Is Not To Be Wiped Out by Competition With Great Britain and the United States.

Ottawa, Jan. 21.—Unless the Dominion Government takes immediate and effective measures for the protection and encouragement of the shipbuilding industry of the Dominion, by according it greater protection from British, United States and foreign competition, it will quickly go out of existence.

This in brief was the substance of a somewhat lengthy and comprehensive memorial placed before Premier Borden this afternoon by a big deputation representing shipbuilding firms from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Ask Protection. The protection and preserving of the industry by granting a protection of 20 per cent. in the way of tariff legislation, or by subsidy, was strongly urged by the deputation. Under existing conditions of competition with

LAURIER'S POLICY STRONGLY INDORSED

Splendid Meeting of South Oxford Liberals Held at Ingersoll.

PRAISE FOR ROWELL

For His Splendid Services as Leader of the Opposition in Ontario.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ingersoll, Jan. 21.—The following strong resolution in support of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's navy policy was unanimously passed at a rousing rally of the Liberals of South Oxford here this afternoon, moved by Geo. Cook, seconded by Charles Burgess: "That we, the Liberals of the south riding of Oxford, do strongly indorse the Laurier naval policy, believing it to be the only self-respecting policy which Canadians can adopt. In view of the position which Canada occupies as the oldest daughter of the overseas Dominions, we are of the opinion that a Canadian-owned, Canadian-built, and Canadian-manned navy is the only policy commensurate with the dignity and importance of the Dominion of Canada. We further pledge our unanimous and hearty support to any candidate who advocates this policy."

A resolution of deep appreciation of the valuable services that Mr. W. Rowell is rendering the province as the leader of the Opposition in the Legislature was moved by Mr. Schell, seconded by Mr. W. A. Elliott, and unanimously carried.

Upheld Laurier. The speakers today were: Malcolm S. Schell, ex-M. P. P. Mr. J. C. Elliott, of Glenora, M. P. for West Middlesex, and Col. T. R. Mayberry, M. P. for South Oxford. All of whom were listened to with keen interest. Mr. Schell, in a vigorous address, discussed various matters of interest to Canadians, especially the question of reciprocity. The reciprocity question, he said, was not fully understood by thousands of electors at the time of the last federal election. They had been made believe that it would be injurious to the manufacturers of this country, which was not the intention of the pact. Had reciprocity been obtained Canada would have been given larger markets, which would have meant an increase of millions of dollars each year to the producers. The western farmers had experienced the necessity of larger markets, and through the lack of transportation facilities and the duty barrier had lost millions of dollars in marketing their grain. The speaker gave it as his opinion that thousands of electors who voted against reciprocity had since realized that they had made a serious mistake.

Mr. Schell also spoke at some length upon the naval question, vigorously upholding the Laurier policy.

Wipe Out the Bar. Mr. J. C. Elliott gave a stirring address, in which he dealt with many questions which have been engaging attention in both the Local Legislature and the Dominion House. He emphasized the strong qualities of Mr. N. W. Rowell and his stand for the betterment of moral and social conditions. He pointed out the emphasis in both the Local Legislature and the Dominion House. He emphasized the strong qualities of Mr. N. W. Rowell and his stand for the betterment of moral and social conditions. He pointed out the emphasis in both the Local Legislature and the Dominion House. He emphasized the strong qualities of Mr. N. W. Rowell and his stand for the betterment of moral and social conditions.

The tax reform policy advocated by Mr. Rowell was also strongly indorsed and very thoroughly explained by Mr. Elliott, who also presented strong arguments in favor of legislation that would fix the remuneration for workmen injured in the discharge of their duties.

Col. Mayberry. Col. T. R. Mayberry reviewed conditions briefly since the last annual meeting of the association. The party had had a try-out with the new leader, and he was one in whom everyone could have unbounded confidence. The work of the last session, he said, had been very satisfactory to the Opposition. It had been a fighting session. He emphasized the importance of legislation that had been proposed by Mr. Rowell, and stated that the work of the Liberals in the House had compelled the Government to take action along certain lines.

NO DUTY ON MEATS DEMOCRATS' PLAN

Also They Put Free Cattle on List and Other Necessaries of Life.

Washington, Jan. 22.—"Free meat," proposed by the House Democrats at the last session of Congress, but blocked by a Presidential veto, was indicated as part of the extra session of the Congress tariff revision program at the hearing before the House committee on ways and means today.

Members of the committee emphasized the majority sentiment in favor of free meats and a strong trend toward free cattle, in accord with the general policy of the Democrats last year to transfer the necessities of life to the free list, including free sugar and free lumber.

RECOUNT ASKED IN LOCAL OPTION VOTE

Temperance People at Forest Are Confident of Result.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Forest, Jan. 21.—A well-attended for the anti-local option interests, has asked for a recount and scrutiny of the recent vote polled in the municipality. The recount will take place before Judge MacWatt in the county building at Sarnia on Jan. 21. It is not thought, however, by the "drys" that it will make any change from the first returns.

FREE TRADE MAN SUCCEEDS DEAKIN

Elected Leader of Liberal Opposition in Australian Parliament.

Melbourne, Jan. 22.—Joseph Cook, a pronounced free trader, has been elected leader of the Liberal party to succeed Alfred Deakin, resigned. The appointment was made at a special conference of the Opposition, when it was stipulated that the present Commonwealth tariff should be maintained.

It was further urged that a non-political commission be appointed to supervise industrial production and consider a commercial exchange tariff.

The body would be asked to make preliminary recommendations for the adjustment of the tariff.

It is considered in many quarters that Cook's election will give the Labor Government an opportunity to win at the polls at the federal election in May on a protective and preferential policy.

NO MORE FLOATING IN TUBS IN CELLARS

Exeter's New Sewerage System Worked Most Satisfactorily During Recent Rains.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Exeter, Jan. 22.—In the last few days Exeter people have had an ample opportunity of appreciating the benefits of their new sewers, and none of last year's inconveniences were experienced during the thaw and rains.

Last year cellars all through the town were flooded, and citizens in large numbers used to float about their cellars in wash-tubs or boxes, looking for stray provisions, which might have escaped inundation. Naturally large quantities of things were spoiled, and long before the floods were past there were enough irate citizens here to carry a dozen sewer bylaws.

The system which was completed last year and is now getting its trial, is working most satisfactorily.

Mr. Beaver's young men's class of the Main Street Church held their weekly meeting on Sunday afternoon, when

SAID FAREWELL TO REV. J. G. INKSTER

Board of Education Made Presentation to Member Who Is Leaving for the West.

ABERDEEN SCHOOL PLANS

Owing to Chairman Dennis' Illness the Matter of Making a Choice Was Laid Over.

At a special meeting of the board of education, held Tuesday afternoon, the official farewell to Rev. J. Gibson Inkster, who is shortly to leave for Victoria, B.C., was made by the members of the board.

Mr. John M. Gunn made a brief address expressing the sincere regret felt by the board at his decision to go to the west. During his term Mr. Inkster had done a great deal of work and had taken the deepest interest in matters of education. He had gone into the work with the greatest of enthusiasm, and good results would undoubtedly follow. He had endeavored himself to the members, and they deeply regretted his removal.

"I had consulted us before he made the decision, he undoubtedly would have remained in London," declared Mr. Gunn.

A Presentation.

Secretary McElhannon then presented Mr. Inkster with a very handsome pair of steel engravings.

Mr. Inkster replied briefly to the address of Mr. Gunn, expressing his appreciation of the kind words said of him.

"I have found the sessions of the board decidedly profitable," said Mr. Inkster. "I have received a great deal of good from the meetings, and I am a much better man for having been a member of the board of education."

Why Do You Continue to Suffer From Catarrhal Colds

Just Breathe "Catarrhazone"—It Is Sure Protection Against Coughs, Bronchitis, Catarrh and Throat Troubles.

No Drugs to Take—Just Breathe the Soothing, Healing Vapor of "Catarrhazone."

There are today but few parts of the world into which Catarrhazone has not penetrated. From far away Jamaica comes the following letter from Mr. C. S. Burke, of 24 Robert Street, Almont Town:

"I am elated over the results of 'Catarrhazone.' To be brief will say the treatment has cured me; it has done all that this and that I would wish. I was never better pleased with anything than with Catarrhazone; it did its work well. I am satisfied and will never forget this wonderful remedy. I am grateful for what it has done for me, and with greatest gratitude, remain, etc. (S. C. Burke)."

From Secondee, Gold Coast, West Africa, Mrs. Alvin Roberts writes: "I received a sample of Catarrhazone through a local merchant that deals in the preparation, and found it had a marvellous effect on nasal Catarrh. I at once bought a dollar outfit and now have pleasure in saying that for the first time in many years I am able to breathe freely through my nose. Bad breath disappeared, headache over the eyes went away, throat irritation has entirely ceased. Catarrhazone cured me."

You can readily cure bad taste in the mouth in the morning, quickly relieve clogged up nostrils, ease an irritated throat, stop a cough, cure snuffles and running eyes—all this is accomplished by breathing the soothing, healing vapor of Catarrhazone. The dollar outfit contains in addition to two months' medication, an indestructible hard rubber inhaler. Smaller sizes with glass inhalers, 25c, 50c, all druggists and storekeepers or post paid from The Catarrhazone Company, Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Ont.

Those present at the meeting were: Dr. R. W. Shaw, acting chairman; W. T. Strong, A. M. Hunt, W. G. Gamble, J. M. Gunn, Rev. J. G. Inkster, F. H. Greenlee, Dr. P. J. Mukan, Inspector Edwards, Principal McCutcheon and Secretary McElhannon.

BLOCKED THE INTAKE

Tunnel People Were Without Water For Many Hours.

[Special To The Advertiser.] Sarnia, Jan. 22.—Needle ice, which jammed the intake pipe of the local waterworks system in the St. Clair was responsible for many homes being without water today. The trouble was discovered early in the morning, and as soon as possible a tug with a diver on board was sent out to clear away the ice. It was some hours before anything like the normal supply could be obtained.

LONDON AND DISTRICT

An Anglican Concert.
A very successful and largely attended concert was given last evening by the Anglican Young People's Association of the Church of the Redeemer, and a large sum was raised for the purposes of the organization. Those who took part in the programme were: Misses McKenzie, Cook, Carter and Flory, Mr. and Mrs. Lewin, Messrs. Flory, Moulton, James and H. Ashman.

A Former Londoner.
Mrs. Jean Smith, wife of Clarence A. Smith, of Chicago, formerly of London, died at their home in Chicago on Friday night. She was born in Scotland 23 years ago, and was married to Mr. Smith at the Hamilton Road Presbyterian Church by Rev. John Smith 18 months ago. The funeral was held this afternoon from the residence of her brother-in-law, Mr. Robert Rider, of 62 Sackville street, East London, and interment was made at Woodland Cemetery.

Death of Mrs. Matthews.
The death of Mrs. Phillip Matthews took place last night after a prolonged illness, at her residence, 130 Horton street. The deceased had been a resident of this city for many years, and was most highly esteemed by all who knew her. Mrs. Matthews was a devoted member of the Talbot Street Baptist Church, and took a keen interest in all the work of the congregation. Besides her husband, Mr. Phillip Matthews, four children survive—Rev. W. E. Matthews, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Brandon, Man.; G. R. Matthews, manager of Ross, Limited, Edmonton, Alta.; Miss Elizabeth Matthews, superintendent of the Wingham General Hospital, and Miss Ida, at home. The funeral, which will be private, will be held on Friday afternoon.

MAY ENGAGE ARCHITECT

Board of Education Have Matter Under Consideration.

An agitation is on foot to engage a permanent architect for the board of education. For some time a number of the trustees have been discussing this question informally, and it would not be surprising to see a man named at a very early date. Ottawa and other cities have architects employed, and it is thought good results would follow here.

"The matter has been discussed informally," declared Mr. W. W. Gamage, "it would be a good thing in my judgment."

How She Discarded Unsightly Complexion

[Mona Morrow, in Town Tattler]
How often I exclaimed as I beheld my ugly complexion in the mirror, "If I only could tear off this old skin!" And do you know, I've learned how to do that very thing? Not to actually remove the entire skin all of a sudden; that would be too heroic a method and painful, too, I imagine. The worn-out cuticle comes off in such tiny particles, and so gradually—requiring about ten days to complete the transformation—it doesn't hurt a bit. Day by day the beautiful complexion underneath comes forth. Marvellous! No matter how muddy, rough, blotchy or aged your complexion, you can surely discard it by this simple process. Just get an ounce of ordinary mercurized wax at your druggist's, apply nightly like cold cream, washing it off mornings.
My wrinkles I got rid of by an equally simple method. By dissolving an ounce of powdered exfolite in a half-pint witch hazel and bathing my face in the solution, every line completely disappeared. First the finer lines, finally even the deep crow's feet, vanished entirely.

PLEASANT SURPRISE FOR BELMONT TEACHER

Leader of Sunday School Was Given a Handsome Bible.

[Special to The Advertiser].
Belmont, Jan. 22.—At the close of the regular prayer meeting, the co-workers in the Sabbath school and members of the board presented their retiring superintendent, Mr. Arch. Smith, with a beautiful teacher's Bible. An address was read by Miss Campbell, and the presentation by Mr. J. McNabb. Mr. Smith replied in a few suitable words. Mrs. Currie, Mrs. McNabb and Mrs. A. G. Taylor are in Glencoe attending the W. F. M. S. meeting.
The Excelsior Bible Class of Knox Church were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Taylor on Monday evening. A splendid program was given, nearly all the members taking part. A great number of new year resolutions were produced, which made a very interesting item of the program. A number of musical selections were given, and at the close a dainty lunch was served.
Reports presented at Knox Church at its annual meeting showed that the past year had been most successful. Rev. J. Currie presided at the meeting, and Wm. Young was secretary. The reports were all very encouraging. Knox Sabbath school is a banner one in givings and attendance.

BURNS PROVED FATAL.
Moose Jaw, Sask., Jan. 22.—Feeling cold in the early hours of Monday morning, Michael Swails got out of bed and threw what he thought was coal oil on the fire. It proved to be gasoline, and Swails was badly burned in the throat and lungs. He died on Tuesday night after much suffering. Swails, who was 22 years of age, leaves a wife and two children in destitute circumstances.

ALLEGED LOOSE BUSINESS METHODS

Board of Works Worried Over Terms of the Incinerator Contract.

CITY GETS A RAW DEAL

According to the Document, Contractors Must Be Paid 75 Per Cent. of Price When Job Is Not Half Completed.

Alleged loose business methods in making contracts with Laurie & Lamb for the construction of the incinerator at the foot of Waterloo street, gave the board of works a lot of worry last evening, and it was decided to ask City Solicitor Meredith to interpret the contract, and inform the committee what is to be done.
The members made a close study of the incinerator scheme at this meeting. The plans, specifications, etc., were presented to them, and explained at some length by Engineer Brazier. The request of Laurie & Lamb for 65 per cent. of the contract price, amounting to $25,837.50 was also laid before them.
Ald. Glass Astonished.
"Do I understand this thing right?" asked Ald. Glass. "Their original contract price was $39,750. With the building but partly erected, and not all the machinery on the ground, they want $25,837.50?"
"That is precisely it," answered City Engineer Brazier. "I have estimated that they have done $13,000 worth of work on the building, and $10,000 worth of material is on the grounds. I would suggest that they be paid 75 per cent. of the amount of work done, $9,000. They have already been paid about $5,500, and I would give them a check for the balance."

"That is a mighty bad contract," declared Ald. Saunders. "Surely it does not mean what it says. If we were to pay 65 per cent. on the progress of the work, I could understand it, but this seems altogether too much one-sided. It is not fair."

"If the city made a contract like that with a firm that was not reputable, we would be skinned for further orders," said Ald. Glass. "It is very bad business, I think."
He then figured out that when completed the building would cost about $15,000, and the machinery less than that, leaving a snug difference between that amount and the contract price, $39,750.
A Fat Contract.
"It looks as if the contractors were receiving a fine sum for their patents, etc.," continued Ald. Glass. "They could put the machinery down, take their 65 per cent., and still make big money. I do not like that sort of a contract."

After some discussion, it was decided to instruct Ald. Bennett to take the contract to City Solicitor Meredith to have it interpreted.
"It looks as if the contractors had us trimmed," declared Ald. Saunders. "However, we will have the pleasure of knowing exactly what the contract does mean."

Heating the Hospital.
Mr. H. B. Elliott, Toronto, the expert on the heating plant, explained the system of taking steam from the incinerator to Victoria Hospital, Steam conduits would have to be laid, and the present heating system in the hospital changed a trifle to meet conditions. He favored the installation of a 150-horsepower boiler in the incinerator rather than a smaller size. He opened the tenders for the conduits, the lowest price being that of the Johns-Manville Company for $12,712. On motion of Ald. Glass, it was decided to accept it. The cost of installing the steam boiler, etc., would amount to about $8,000 more.

Garbage Collection.
The committee spent some time discussing the method of garbage collection. City Engineer Brazier brought in a report based on the money available. After the incinerator had been paid for, the sum of $10,100 would remain of the $20,000 voted by the ratepayers for the system. This would purchase 12 open carts, to be covered with tarpaulin, 12 horses and equipment. The stables would cost $4,500, and the land necessary at $10 a foot, $1,000.
Ald. Saunders pointed out that such an equipment would not do in London, and Ald. Glass agreed with him. Closed tank carts would be demanded, at least. He favored collecting the cans, as was done in other cities. This did away with the necessity of dumping the garbage in the wagons, and would prevent waste and other bad results. Mr. Brazier himself favored tank carts, saying they would carry better loads.

The Car That Has Made History

You know something about cars. You ought to. Manufacturers have flooded the press with 1913 announcements. While we have waited. The Russell-Knight "28" could have been placed upon the market two months ago; and at that it would have far surpassed every other car in Canada. But we waited, repeatedly testing and improving it, until now it seems no further improvement is possible. The Russell-Knight is what you and the automobile world must acclaim the "Master creation among the world's great cars." Let us give you some facts about it.

The Russell-Knight "28"

The Engine
Consider the Knight Engine. Mr. Knight, the Inventor, says that the Engine in the Russell-Knight "28" is, at every conceivable point, the most efficient and most magnificent engine that the automobile industry has ever known. Its performance, under all conditions, is simply wonderful.
The motor is a four-cylinder, 4 1/2 bore by 5 1/2 in. stroke, the exceptionally long stroke giving particularly even pulling power at slow speeds.
There is not a single gear or spring in the motor; silent chains are used exclusively for the operation of moving parts and for the drive to the magneto and pump.
Force-Feed Lubrication
The system of lubrication is positive. It has been perfected and simplified. The oil is strained three times after leaving the bearings before reaching the pump.
Russell Electric Starter
This starter has been tested and improved until we know it to be as perfect as human ingenuity can make a Starter. It will turn the motor over rapidly and quietly, and, if necessary, will actually develop enough power to run the car for more than thirty minutes. All you need to do is to raise the switch. Could anything be more simple or more conducive to the comfort of motoring?
Electric Lighting
Here is another example of Russell super-development. We have, after exhaustive tests, adopted a combined electric lighting and self-starting dynamo and motor. This, in connection with the storage battery in the car, not only supplies power to start the motor, but provides the electricity to keep the batteries charged and to light all the lamps on the car. The dynamo is of the most improved type. The armature takes the place of the fly-wheel of the engine.
In this way it has not been necessary to add a single new bearing or a single new moving part nor any extra weight to the mechanism of the car. All five lamps on the car are electric, and an electric light is provided on the dash for the speedometer. It is so arranged that this light goes out when the tail lamp does, a timely warning to the driver, which may be of frequent value.
Tonneau Wind Shield
The Engine exhaust heating arrangement is an exclusive Russell feature. People can ride in the tonneau of an open Russell car in winter in comfort. The tonneau wind-shield and the engine exhaust heating arrangement keep the car comfortably warm.
The Body
The body is of the semi-Torpedo type, giving full protection to the occupants. It is of full aluminum with all-rolled mouldings. Doors are made from one piece aluminum with no joints to crack. Clever designing has brought the body lower to the ground. The long, low line is particularly attractive. Canadian requirements have been carefully considered. The front clearance from the ground is 11 1/2 in., while that of the rear axle is 11 in.
Left Drive and Centre Control.
The left hand drive, with centre control is another specially developed feature of this model, permitting the free use of both front doors. By carrying the spare rim at the back of the car, all obstructions from the running board are removed. The mud-guards are not only of attractive design, but are so fitted that they protect the whole of the body from the splash of the wheels, or from dust.
Upholstery.
You will appreciate the luxurious upholstery of this car. Turkish type cushions with new type springs and box frames are provided, while the rear seat upholstery is exceptionally deep. At every point of construction we have incorporated any feature that could improve the comfort or efficiency of the car. There isn't a car today that is being assembled or being imported into Canada that can compare with it in value for the money. The same type of car in the United States is sold at from $3,500 up.
The Axles.
The front axle is a single drop forging, "I" beam section with Timken roller bearings. The rear axle is of the full floating Timken type with roller bearing. It is not only ample in strength for the car—but it is silent in operation.
Power Tire Pump
The driver can take this car out with the assurance that if a tire runs down all one has to do is to attach the hose connection, wait while the engine pumps the tire, disconnect, and go ahead.
The Tires
For the car are ample, Dunlop Traction Tread, 36x4 1/2 in. We furnish non-skid tires, because they are a feature of safety and convenience. The tires are mounted on demountable rims and a spare rim is supplied. This makes tire changing easy and helps to avoid road-side repairs.
