

BAD WEATHER FAILS TO DAMPEN SPIRITS OF SCHOOL KIDDIES

Catholic Pupils Out En Masse For Picnic. SPRINGBANK RENDEZVOUS About 1,200 At Park Bent On Enjoying a Good Time.

Twelve hundred or more children of the separate schools are enjoying a grand picnic outing at Springbank Park today, thanks to the arrangements of the trustees and other friends of the boys and girls.

Shouting and laughing, they passed through the downtown streets between 10 o'clock and 10:30 on the special cars provided by the street railway company to pick them up at points nearest to the schools.

Never Mind Weather. What did weather matter when it came to a picnic? Such a little thing as the failure of the sun to get up on time wasn't going to interfere with youthful pleasure.

Get Together. Much interest centred in the big "get together" picnic lunch at noon, served in the city's pavilion, with ice cream cones and a final touch of festivity.

HOUSING COMPANY VOTE TO RESCIND FINES LEVIED ON TUCKETT EMPLOYEES

Commission and C. of C. Deputation Meet in Conference at City Hall.

That the dearth of houses at rentals within the means of the average workmen of the city is acute, and that the only apparent means of relieving the situation is through the formation of a housing company, were the conclusions of the members of both the housing commission and a deputation from the chamber of commerce, headed by President George M. Reid, which met in conference in the city hall last evening.

Mr. Reid said the chamber of commerce, believing it was useless to try to bring new industries to London until housing accommodation was available for new workers who would come with the industries, had conceived the idea of forming a housing company. It was waiting, however, for word from the Toronto Housing Company as to the success, or otherwise, of that body's operating before going ahead.

Mr. Reid said the chamber of commerce was anxious to serve the city in any possible way, and would be only too glad if it could render assistance in connection with the present housing problem. He said that Miss Keane, the Soldiers' Aid Commission secretary, who reported to the chamber of commerce that a number of soldiers' families were being housed in houses which were not fit for human habitation, and he wondered if the chamber would be prepared to take the responsibility for such cases.

W. E. Kelly of the Children's Aid Society corroborated the report of the deputation, and stated that he had personal knowledge from his visits to homes in the city that in many cases people were living in and paying rent for places which were not fit for human habitation, and he thought that, if no machinery existed for remedying such a condition, it could very easily be obtained.

YOUNG DOCTORS LEAVE MONDAY FOR COURSE IN BELLEVUE HOSPITAL, N. Y.

Western's Gold Medalist, W. W. Morrison, and L. W. Pritchett Become Internes.

Dr. W. W. Morrison, 9 Bruce street, gold medalist at Western University Medical School this spring, and Dr. L. W. Pritchett, who also graduated from Western this year, both of whom won high honors in competitive examinations held in Bellevue Hospital, New York, for post-graduate courses, last Christmas week, are leaving on Monday for the above hospital, where they will commence an eighteen month post-graduate course as internes. When the results of the competitive examinations were announced, it was learned that of candidates from leading American medical colleges, including Columbia and Yale, Pritchett headed the list, and Morrison was fourth.

It was conceded at Western University last winter that Pritchett would crowd Morrison for the gold medal in the Western finals, but unfortunately this year Morrison fractured his leg while playing basketball at Hamilton, six weeks before school closed, and he was not in the Western Hospital for some time as a result. Notwithstanding this hardship, Pritchett, assisted by fellow students, plodded away at his work, and took a very good standing both in the Western finals and on the Ontario Medical Council examinations.

These two young doctors, both of whom are Londoners, will include surgery, obstetrics and medicine in their post-graduate work at Bellevue Hospital, as internes, and the position, which is the best in the institution, because of his standing in the examinations obtained by Pritchett, is a very responsible and honorable one in the New York hospital.

POPLAR HILL PICNIC AMID POURING RAIN DELIGHTFUL SUCCESS

Activity of Jupiter Pluvius Fails to Dampen Spirits of Those at Annual Event.

[By Staff Reporter.] Despite disagreeable weather conditions yesterday afternoon over 1,500 people attended the Lobo Township school picnic at Poplar Hill, and amid pouring rain a good program of sports was held.

Mr. Richter urged the chamber of commerce to do something toward getting a housing company started in London. Such a move would not only oblige the commission, but would be a real public service. The difficulty with which the commission was faced was that it could not rent houses, and could not even build them until the regulations of the Ontario Housing Commission. It was necessary to incur an expense which put the house beyond the reach of the average working man.

Mr. Reid pointed out that the chamber of commerce could do nothing as a body. He thought, however, that individual members might consent to become members of a housing company, and he was of the opinion that fifteen patriotic citizens could be found who would put up $100 each. The plan then would be to borrow $50,000 from the commission, making altogether a capital of $100,000 for building operations.

Mr. Richter thought that this would be an excellent plan. The company, if being hedged in by the same restrictions, which bound the commission, would make more clear terms with those to whom it rented or sold, and it could almost certainly effect economy in building by letting a block of houses instead of a separate contract for each house. He charged that the chamber of commerce would think over the matter, and if it saw any solution to the problem, report back to the committee. This Mr. Reid on behalf of the chamber of commerce promised.

A member of the chamber of commerce deputation who is connected with one of the larger local factories stated that that particular firm had under consideration the formation of a housing company of its own. It was waiting for the city council to provide water and other services in the district near the factory where it was proposed to build the houses, but the council seemed to be very slow in doing anything.

After the deputation had retired, the commission proceeded to routine business, which did not include any definite step forward in the plan for starting building operations under the housing commission act.

A surplus of $35,000 for the waterworks department during the first six months of the year, and a $37,000 for the electrical department covering a period of five months, are shown in the semi-annual report of the utilities commission. If the waterworks department makes as good a showing during the second half of the year as during the first six months, the total surplus for the year will be $72,000, or $100,000, less of the estimate. In the case of the electrical department, in spite of the fact that the recently-announced reduction in power rates will go into effect during the latter part of the year, the expectation is that the total surplus at the end of the year will be in the neighborhood of $90,000.

NOT ONE TAXI HAS LEFT FOR TORONTO, COMPANIES DECLARE. Only Vehicle Gone Is Lambeth Bus. Owners of taxicabs in the city are greatly amused over a story which appeared in a Toronto paper announcing that the road between London and the Queen City was black with taxis going east to pick up easy money during the street car strike. As a matter of fact, it is denied by one and all called by The Advertiser that a single taxi, with the exception of the Lambeth bus, has left the city.

All Soldiers Who Went Overseas and All Who Served Year in Canada Now Entitled to Some Gratuity Pay

Change in Regulations Brings Joy To Many and Will Mean Expenditure of Millions—Removes Complaints of G. W. V. A. and Individuals.

Information has been received at military headquarters here to the effect that an order-in-council has been passed, authorizing war service gratuity for soldiers who have been overseas, but have not seen service in an actual theatre of the war; also to soldiers who were discharged prior to November 11, 1918. All payments will be made from Ottawa, and a new form of affidavit in connection with preparation, will be available, during the first week in July.

Sweeping Changes.
This order-in-council makes a sweeping change in war service gratuity regulations, involving the payment of millions of dollars, as prior to this order, soldiers of the Canadian army who served in England only, and were not in khaki on November 11, were not eligible for war service gratuity, neither were soldiers who served in Canada and were discharged prior to November 11, 1918. The previous regulations regarding this point were regarded as unjust at military headquarters here expressed their pleasure with the change, and they were jubilant at the news of the new regulations. Many former soldiers in this district benefit by the change, and they are jubilant at the news of the new regulations. This resolution was passed at a recent meeting of the Great War Veterans held here, the full text of which appeared in The Advertiser Monday. However, the order-in-council eliminates the necessity of this resolution.

All Are Pleased.
While this order-in-council calls for a host of additional work for the paymasters' department at Ottawa, the change is welcomed, as it accords justice to all soldiers involved, and officers at military headquarters here expressed their pleasure with the change, and they were jubilant at the news of the new regulations. Many former soldiers in this district benefit by the change, and they are jubilant at the news of the new regulations. This resolution was passed at a recent meeting of the Great War Veterans held here, the full text of which appeared in The Advertiser Monday. 'Gentlest' Touch Is Enough To Bring Fine For Assault

Arthur Leff Pays $2 For the Application of Hand To Girl's Face.

A family feud of three weeks duration ended today in police court when Mrs. Phoebe Ferguson charged Arthur Leff with assaulting her ten-year-old daughter several days ago.

Leff said the girl had called him a dirty Jew and yelled "Ike" after him on the street, and he had "touched her on the face," in retribution. Mrs. Ferguson threw a brick at Mrs. Leff and hit her on the chest, he said, in the argument which followed.

"Do you go to Sunday School?" the magistrate asked the ten-year-old daughter of Mrs. Ferguson when she ascended the witness stand. "She has not attended in recent years," supplied W. R. Meredith, counsel for Leff.

"He slapped my face," said the little girl, pointing to Leff, who is seventeen and tall for his age.

"Nothing," she testified briefly in a most business-like manner. "Didn't you call Leff a dirty Jew and lots of other names?" she was asked.

"Never a word," the brother took her place and said that he heard Leff slap his sister, but did not hear any name-calling.

"I called him a Jew, and he called me a Catholic, then he went around the corner," he explained.

At this juncture Mrs. Leff from the audience raised her voice in evidence against the outcome of the case, and had to be led into an adjoining room.

The magistrate decided, and from the audience raised her voice in evidence against the outcome of the case, and had to be led into an adjoining room.

The Australian trade representative is expected shortly.

ST. ANDREW'S CHOIR HAD PICNIC AT SPRINGBANK

Enjoyable Time Spent in Games in Spite of Rain.

That it takes more than a shower of rain to dampen the spirit of St. Andrew's choir, was demonstrated yesterday afternoon when it held the annual picnic at Springbank. About 50 got down to supper, after which many interesting and entirely novel games and races were enjoyed.

The great success of the picnic was ascribed largely to the excellent work of the committees in charge of the arrangements. The committee of women consisted of Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Charles E. Wheeler, Mrs. McDonald, Miss Kunz; and the committee of men included James Stuart, E. A. Webster, W. E. Watson and Charles E. Wheeler, choir master.

WOULD HAND OVER SANATORIUM TO THE S. C. R. COMMISSION

Said To Be Reason For Sir Adam Visiting Ottawa.

Sir Adam Beck was in Ottawa on Wednesday and the reason given out for the visit was that he was urging the claims of Byron Sanatorium on the department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, of which Sir James Lougheed is head. It has been stated for some time that Sir Adam was anxious to have the department take over the sanatorium, so far as the military portion of it is concerned, and it is possible he is now taking steps to bring this about in the near future.

Sporting Proposal by Ald. Manness Not Accepted by Ald. Harley.

Alderman S. Manness was in high good humor today when he was present at the special meeting of No. 1 committee. While he was being quizzed by Alderman F. E. FARMERS' CLUBS TO CHOOSE CANDIDATES IN WEST MIDDLESEX Parliamentary Delegates Are Urged To Call Conference.

The members of the Melbourne and district farmers' club have passed a unanimous resolution urging their parliamentary delegates to take steps to call a conference of delegates from all the clubs in the West Riding of Middlesex, in order to select two candidates to represent them in the election of members of the Dominion and Provincial houses of parliament.

They expect co-operation by the other clubs in the riding in urging delegates to get busy, so that the men who are selected to contest the riding in their behalf may have ample time to look their field over and get in touch with the electors.

LIBERALS URGE

diseases from marrying and propagating children is one clause of the resolution.

The temperance resolution introduced by William Proudfoot, M. P. P., designed to take all necessary steps to enforce legislation to the fullest extent of the provincial jurisdiction, and pledges himself to vigorously carry into effect the will of the majority of the people as expressed by the referendum vote.

Mr. Ducharme of Essex moved a resolution on the franchise, which condemned the provisions of the Ontario election act amendments, where provincial enumerators are appointed to prepare the voters' lists at large and unnecessary expense. The convention proposed the enactment of such provisions as will provide for the preparation of both by the municipal authorities.

The high cost of living was dealt with in a resolution introduced by Mrs. Kelly, which condemned the Ontario Legislature for its failure to deal with the matter, and its abandonment of the investigation and prosecution of illegal combines formed to limit competition and to enhance prices.

Mr. Elliott introduced a resolution favoring provincial grants towards the construction and maintenance of township roads, and further, that the provincial highway construction should not be gone on with until the route, quality and cost of road to be built are submitted to and passed by the Legislature.

Mr. Hartley Dewar introduced a resolution on patronage, which demanded the creation of a non-partisan civil service board and the purchase of all supplies for the public service should be made on a business basis and by tender in open competition.

Mr. Proudfoot introduced a resolution favoring the placing of a law upon the statute book providing that the election of members to the Legislature and municipal councils by a form of preferential voting, which will result in proportional representation.

On the premise that labor questions are of paramount importance in these times of industrial unrest and world upheaval, particularly matters relating to the maximum hours of the labor day, insurance, sickness and unemployment, old age pensions and harmonizing of the interests of employer and employed, the convention passed a resolution that the Government create a provincial industrial council, consisting of an equal number of employees and employers, men and women, together with a chairman appointed by the Government, to consider and report on the causes of the present unrest, and the steps necessary to safeguard and promote the best interests of employers and state.

CONVENTION ADOPTS WOMEN'S RESOLUTION TO ABOLISH SENATE

[Special to The Advertiser.] Toronto, June 25.—Amid a scene of wild enthusiasm today the Ontario Liberal convention adopted a resolution which calls for the abolition of the Senate because of its attitude towards prohibition legislation. The resolution was as follows:

"That the Liberals of Ontario, in convention assembled hereby affirm their conviction that the British North American act should be amended so as to provide for the abolition of the Senate. The resolution was not entirely unanimous, but another resolution condemning the action of the Senate in regard to the temperance act legislation was unanimously agreed to.

No member, however, had any defence of the Senate to offer, and the opposition to its abolition was confined to motion to strike out the clause, which was seconded without discussion, and lost on the division.

RESOLUTION DEFEATED. Saskatoon, Sask. June 26.—At the convention of grain growers of Saskatchewan district held here yesterday a resolution asking that the convention pledge itself to the nomination of only a bona fide farmer candidate as federal representative was defeated.

THE PROFITERS HAVE AVAILABLE THEMSELVES OF HANDY LOOPHOLES

Simple Matter to Turn Profits Into Capital, Then the Larger the Capital the Smaller the Percentage of Profits and the Less Excess There Is For the Public Treasury.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
OTTAWA, June 25.—That companies and firms throughout the Dominion have been able to escape the full incidence of the excess profits tax, by the simple method of accumulating surpluses, and calling them working capital, and of laying by huge reserves, has been startlingly demonstrated during this inquiry being held by the cost-of-living committee of the Commons.

It has been shown that many firms, which had a comparatively small paid-up capital before the war, have increased that capital to a tremendous extent since the excess profits tax came into existence. The Government has recognized surpluses, and unimpaired reserves as working capital, and the percentage of profit has been computed on the accumulated surplus, instead of the original paid-up capital. It is obvious that by this method such firms have "legally" evaded the war tax.

61 Per Cent Looks Like 24.
For instance, the Harris Abattoirs were capitalized in 1914 at $500,000. During the succeeding years, and up to 1917, the firm accumulated a surplus (after paying its dividends) of $1,500,000. In 1917, the Government fixed the maximum profits of the packers, and the Harris Abattoirs capitalized its surplus, making a paid-up capital of two million dollars. Since then, it has accumulated a further surplus of half a million. Last year the company earned something like 24 per cent on the above capitalization, but actually 61 per cent on the original capital. The Maple Leaf Milling Company capitalized a million and a half. It reorganized in 1913 on an appraisal basis. That is, it appraised its plant and business, and had a surplus of assets over liabilities of $2,770,000, to which it added $250,000 for good will and trade marks, thus making a total of four million dollars. This firm capitalized. In other words, it increased the paid-up capital from a million and a half to four millions. This firm has since accumulated about a million and a half dollars which it calls "working capital."

The Dominion Textiles showed a paid-up capital of five million dollars. On actual investigation, however, it was found that only half a million dollars was paid-up capital. Last year, after paying over a million and a half in dividends, the company had a surplus of $1,500,000. After paying a very large dividend to its shareholders, after contributing the sum of over a million dollars in excess profits, it had a net surplus of a million and a half dollars. This figure is out at 31 per cent on the paid-up capital, but is actually 310 per cent on the capital paid up.

The Ogilvie Flour Mills Company last year, after paying a dividend on its preferred stock, and all other expenses, had a profit of 72 per cent left to distribute among its shareholders. It paid them 27 per cent, and put the rest in reserve. That company has two and a half millions in real fund, and six millions in investments, including Victory bonds, which are exempt from taxation.

It is obvious that by this system of financing the firms have been permitted to escape the full incidence of the excess profits tax, which is calculated on the percentage of profit on capital. The larger the capital the smaller the percentage of profit and the less excess there is for the treasury out of its war gains, yet a small percentage of profit on a large capital is most productive.

But, entirely apart from the fact that much money has been lost to the treasury by this system of "legal investment," the continuation of this method will inevitably result in saddling the country with the burden of an enormous capitalization, the interest on which, in the long run, be paid by the taxpayer and the less the company pays to the Government, the more its profits were made on the capital, in the course of time, by a series of reorganizations, the rate of interest will bear an increasing ratio to the profit.

Yes, Maybe—On Paper.
The minister of finance has frequently declared that the Canadian excess profits tax is the heaviest in the world. That may be so—on paper. But in reality, it is the lightest. It is the lightest because it is based on the percentage of profit, and the less the company pays to the Government, the more its profits were made on the capital, in the course of time, by a series of reorganizations, the rate of interest will bear an increasing ratio to the profit.

LIBERAL RESOLUTION OFFERS CHANGES IN EDUCATIONAL POLICY

Dr. Cody Affects Some Reforms; But Does Little.

CONSIDER THE TEACHERS Province Should Pay Thirty Per Cent of Salaries and Pension Generously.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
TORONTO, June 25.—"We have not been able to move the powers that be in the Legislature in the way of reform of education," said Thomas Marshall, M.P.P., of Lincoln, before the resolutions and policy committee of the Liberal convention this afternoon in presenting his resolution upon education.

The former minister of education, said Mr. Marshall, made a specialty of knowing nothing about his department, and his successor, while giving promise of a better thing, had only shown himself so far to be an able platform man for the Conservative party. Dr. Cody has endeavored to put into effect some reforms suggested by the Liberal party in the past, but has not made much progress so far.

Eye-ron Idea Right.
"There are two distinct ideas as far as an educational policy is concerned. One is that the state should be supreme and not the individual, and the other is the opposite. The Liberal party believes that it is the welfare of the individual which must be considered. The other is the German policy, which we got by way of the United States, and which took the place of the good policy of Dr. Ryerson," he said.

Mr. Marshall's resolution demanded proficiency in the three R's from public school pupils. He attached importance to literature, music and art. French, some of foreign languages, should be taught in the high schools of modern languages, with provision for each pupil obtaining a knowledge of the language for reading and conversational purposes. There should be radical changes in instruction of classical languages.

He proposed that in secondary education the attempt to give instruction in the humanities and natural science in the same school should be abandoned. The energies of high school would be devoted exclusively to humanistic studies, while sciences would be given in the universities. Vocational training. Vocational training, Mr. Marshall brands as non-educational and undemocratic, declaring that the state has no right to waste what limited time and money in training a small number of her citizens in the knowledge of some money-making occupation at the expense of the community.

He recommended the abolition of examinations in public and high schools, that the province should pay thirty per cent of the teachers' salaries, that teachers should be pensioned by the Government after twenty years of active service on an allowance of fifty per cent of their average salary of the last five years with larger pensions for longer service, and that no teachers should be exalted from teachers for this purpose.

Mr. Marshall's resolution covers education should be placed in the Legislature. His suggestion that homework be abolished brought an attack from general women delegates who were satisfied when Mr. Marshall explained that it was advanced on the advice of experts.

CAYUGA DOCTOR AND FRIEND HURT BADLY IN AUTO ACCIDENT

CAYUGA, June 25.—Dr. A. G. McElroy of Cayuga, and a friend visiting him, were thrown from their car near De Cewville, and sustained serious injuries. In each case the collision was broken, and the doctor was decidedly shaken up. Both had narrow escapes, as they were under the car until assistance came, fortunately speedily. The car also suffered extensive damage. Five returned Cayuga soldiers, John Ralston, Albert Poiville, Charles Beattie, Lorne Barnes and Charles Walden, were present with good wishes by the citizens of Cayuga at a large garden party held in the courthouse park, Cayuga, on Tuesday evening. Three hands assisted in a first-class program, and a thoroughly enjoyable evening was spent.

Conscience, like death—oh, ominous analogy—loves a shining mark, so we naturally turn to the cabinet ministers to see how they affected them. It made them brave, Mr. Crowe, it enabled them to resign his portfolio and to tell why he was not. It is not only enough it acted in the most direct way, it provided a way. It fortified him in the resolution to keep his job until he had some place else to go.

Mr. Calder gave every credit to Mr. Crowe's conscience, which made him get out and make a hero of himself all through the West, but he pointed with pride to his own conscience which gave him the moral courage to remain where he was and bear the hits that he wotted rather than fly to other parts of the country. Mr. Calder has developed a conscience that would make Jim Cavell a great surprise to the "Black Cavalry" of Saskatchewan. They will wonder where Jim got it.

ONTARIO LIBERALS FRAMING POLICY INTENDED TO CURE PRESENT INDUSTRIAL UNREST

Three Hundred Accredited Delegates Attend Preliminary Session of Convention—To Choose Leader Today— Women Are Strong For Prohibition Plank.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
TORONTO, June 25.—After a day of preliminary discussion, in which the views of the various sections of the party were made known upon the many problems before the convention, the provincial Liberal convention tomorrow will set down its policy and choose its leader. Almost a score of subjects of importance to the province have been brought to the meeting and in the shape of resolutions are being prepared under Mr. J. C. Elliott, M. P. P. Tonight his report will be presented to the delegates from the many ridings.

The choice of the leader will be decided upon at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. While several names will no doubt be placed in nomination, the names which will stand will be those of Messrs. Dewar, Elliott, and Major Tomlin. Mr. Fred Pardee, M. P., chief Liberal Whip in the Federal House, is expected to be nominated.

Of the three most prominent views of the party the most prominent will be that relating to labor. In view of the widespread labor unrest in the country, in every debate today the industrial disturbance was referred to. It is likely that the party will deal with industrial unrest by recommending the Liberal party to establish an industrial committee with equal representation employers and employees, whose findings would be binding upon both parties and accepted by the Government.

Today there were a number of delegates who would have had no mention of prohibition, but the attitude of prohibition to the people, but the attitude of the industrial delegates was unmistakable, and the convention must declare its policy.

Policy Will Be Selected.
Before the discussion upon convention procedure came to an end and the delegates from several ridings for an immediate report from the policy committee of the Liberal members of the Legislature, brought an explanation from Mr. J. C. Elliott, M. P. P., that should declare itself. "I consider the labor movement at the present time is in advance of the party," declared Mr. Noble, who cut another delegate.

The credentials committee pointed out that twenty-five per cent of the delegates had yet to arrive and it would be unfair to prevent them from having a voice in the selection of the leader.

COUGHS, COLDS, BRONCHITIS

If there is an ailment in the throat or chest, it is surely essential that the remedy be conveyed direct to the affected part. It is because the healing vapor of Catarrhazone is breathed into the sore, irritated throat and bronchial tubes that its balsamic fumes kill the germs and destroy the cause of the trouble. There are the reasons why Catarrhazone never yet failed to cure a genuine case of Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis or Throat Trouble.

CATARRHAZONE

Just Breathe It
To permanently cure your winter ills, your coughs, sneezing and Catarrh, by simply using a tried and proven remedy, Catarrhazone, is breathed into the throat, which goes merely to the stomach, and falls into place to help the throat or lungs.

Two things are to be dealt with," said Mr. V. H. Adams, secretary, after he had read the formal convention call. "One is the formulation of a policy which will express the views of the party on the important question of the day, and the other is the choice of a leader of the party who will be able to carry out that policy."

It is a decided innovation, and it will be the first time that the leader of the party has been chosen in open to ask why it had not been considered. "It is dealt with elsewhere as a question which women are particularly interested in. This was done after consultation with representatives of the Ontario Liberal Women's Association. These also include moral and social conditions, minimum wages—especially for women—and the handling of the feeble-minded," replied the chairman.

Mr. Bowman added that the list did not preclude the presentation to the convention of any other question. Among the questions then added to the list was compulsory voting, on the suggestion of Mr. Thomas Shipway of Toronto. Labor, he said, would never be satisfied without it.

"The convention must declare itself for the liberty of the individual, in this day when we are denied free speech. We have a censorship of the press. The news we get is not the whole unvarnished news—checked by E. L. McKinnon, of South Wellington. The resolutions committee under the chairmanship of Mr. J. C. Choice of Leader Today.
Mr. Adams' remarks provoked a lively discussion. There was a difference of opinion as to whether the choice of the party or the leader should be chosen first. The convention committee had arranged to discuss the question of an early discussion upon policy and the selection of a leader tomorrow. The agenda was finally carried on an amendment by Mr. J. A. THE SONG OF MAMMON.

I am Mammon, ancient and mighty, and terrible; Men have worshipped me, since ever the earth was created.

They have grovelled before me, and laid on my brazen altars Honor and love, and faith, and their old hopes and ideals,

That they might gain in return, Such wealth as they ne'er had dreamed of, And so day and night, they come Swift-footed into my temple;

Yea, often they bring to me the bodies and souls Of pale women and little children Who work for a pitiful wage

Day and night in the sweat-shops. Verily I am worshipped more than the gods of all nations,

More than the mild, pale, Christ, In the windows of their churches, I, even I, am mightier.

Red Flag Or Black Flag, Canada Wants Neither

Canada does not want any red-flag anarchy from the people whom certain patrician ladies would no doubt call "the lower classes."

By the same token Canada does not want any black-flag piracy from the people whom the "red" element would call the plutocracy.

The anarchy of the mob is promoted by violence to gain control of power.

The anarchy of the plutocracy is promoted by the violence of financial methods that permit enormous profits to be taken from the people as a whole.

Say that a man is given permission to go into an orchard and to select a fair share of the fruit that grows there. But while the owner of that orchard is engaged elsewhere in some matter of supreme importance, the fighting of a fire or the checking of a flood, the man loads up his pockets with the fruit. He has far more than he can eat or reasonably make use of, but the greed of his nature impels him not only to fill his pockets, but to tie the sleeves of his coat, and to make the load as great as possible.

Profits are the legitimate reward of enterprise and hard work. The extent to which profits may be taken is largely governed by conscience and by the economic system of the country.

The present Government for several years has had positive evidence of the enormous profits taken by combines and protected concerns by means of its excess profits investigations. But until the force of public opinion brought about an investigation, long after the time loads of "the swag" had been carried away, no move was made to regulate these profits.

The people as a whole were conscious of the fact that something was wrong, but they could not believe that such enormous fortunes were being piled up at their expense. They have given a few helpless gasps since the facts have come to light—facts we believe the Government reluctantly brought to the surface.

The country will not be plunged into revolution as a result of these things. The people fortunately are too sane. They will not cut off their noses to spite their faces, but they will demand a breaking up of the profiteering ring and a legislation that will control necessities.

Not one day should the present Parliament hesitate to bring down relief from the present conditions. The people will clean out the profiteers and the protectors of profiteers at the first opportunity.

Germany the Great Boob

Some there are who refer to Germany's scuttling of her fleet as an act of splendid defiance. Nothing of the sort. "Splendid defiance" would have applied had the Hun gone down fighting instead of tamely surrendering to Beatty, but the destruction of their ships is just another incident stamping Germans as the big boob among the nations. There was nothing heroic, no fine self-sacrifice about the deed, while there was something to be gained by honorably carrying out an agreement with the Allies. Germany for six months has been appealing to the sympathies of her enemies and neutrals and this propaganda had met with some success. This in a moment she upsets by a sensational act of dishonor.

The inelegant "fathead" never was so apt as when applied to the Teuton. A score of times during the war Germany has blunderingly brought on herself increased antagonism and fresh hostility through gross tactlessness and inability to consider a situation from any standpoint other than her own. The sinking of the Lusitania and the introduction of unrestricted submarine warfare were so patently monumental blunders they set the world gasping. By such insane, foolish acts Germany aided her enemies tremendously. No doubt she will continue to thus play into the hands of her foes. From the neck up the Hun appears to be material for billiard balls.

Clemenceau's Job Over

Premier Clemenceau of France announces that upon the signing of peace he will retire from public life. With his retirement there will disappear the man who, with Lloyd George, was the most outstanding personality of the war outside military operations. Lloyd George proved to be the Allies' greatest organizer. Clemenceau for the last two years of the struggle was the Allies' greatest political leader, the man who, perhaps, next to Foch, did more than any other to turn the tide against the Hun. He plucked France from the despondency in which she was deeply sunk, restored her confidence and placed her solidly on the road which led to victory. When the "Tiger" took charge France was close to collapse, between war weariness and skillful propaganda of the enemy that was luring the nation to abandon the struggle. He chided, scolded, whipped and cheered his countrymen into fresh effort. He was a terrific driving force whose compulsion never ceased until the Hun threw up his hands.

Of Clemenceau's great services to the Allies' cause in negotiating an armistice and peace we have ample proof. His insistence upon the fullest reparation and the strongest safeguards prevailed at moments when there was an inclination to be dangerously lenient with Germany. Clemenceau never for a moment weakened in his determination to chastise and chain those who had barbarously scarred great stretches of his beloved land. He has been called implacable, even brutal, but the world knows now that only the "treat 'em rough" method can be applied to the Hun with success. Clemenceau, more than any other, has made it certain that his own country shall be avenged and the rest of the world made safe from another Prussian blow. History is capricious, but if it deals fairly with those who led the free peoples against Teutonic tyranny, it will place a splendid fame about the courageous, dynamic Clemenceau.

Illusions That Come and Go

Some of us are "always chasing rainbows," and more of us are having illusions, glorious, fleeting illusions, cast into our eyes. Comes a circular from a summer resort, a Walt Whitman colony up at Bon Echo, where a Gibraltar-like rock forms a shrine for the always-growing flock of the "good grey poet." It seems a restful haven for souls that find some common plane of communion in the doctrine of brotherly love.

And then our friend the poetic Syrian, who fled his country many years ago to escape the clutch of the Turk, he is lulling our unrest with tales of his far-off, eastern, mystic homeland, to which he is called back in the day when the Turk has been rapped over the hand and made to take his grip from the throat of the peaceful folk of the east. A land that flows with soft ease and mysterious dreams, as well as milk and honey, where the means of living is at hand for the plucking, and where the turmoil and smashing materialism of the west are lost in a harmony with nature's simplicity. A land of shepherds with their flocks, burning days but nights that are filled with visions. Our little friend the Syrian is going back. He has just received a letter in quaint Arabic characters. It is the first in many years, and it speaks from 9,000 miles of the new freedom of the world, which makes such a slight change in our lives, but is an actual release from the sentence of death for those people like the Armenians and Syrians, who have bravely and alone suffered enslavement until the hour struck for deliverance.

"We are white people like you," he says. "We are dark because we are burned with the sun. We come out here to sell rugs and to go into business, and we succeed. But our hearts are with our Syria—it is the land of our dreams. There we do not ask for much. There are many peoples and they all seem more happy than out here. And our Damascus is a mighty city of a million, without numbering the children. It is rich in what you call color, but beyond Damascus are the beautiful hills and the country where all is peace. Some of us would like you to come out there and dream with us. Many of us are going back because the Turk has been sent away. Before he seized all the boys when they became 18 and made them serve for seven years, under brutal officers, and forced to do the bidding of the Turk. It is our own free land now."

There are other illusions of quiet, untroubled lands that come from chance contacts, lands of enchantment and lands of adventure, but for most of us these things can never be, because we are of the western world. Our lot has been cast in a rugged northland. Our natures crave action and achievement rather than the languorous and sweet-scented gardens of Omar. We can take these illusory journeys in our minds, but that we remain in our native land does not mean all poetry is gone from life. The dreamer may dream in Canada as in Persia or Syria. He may have thoughts as romantic over the wonders at hand as in the land of a softer philosophy and a less wearing existence. Each man to dream his dream in the land he loves, let him find that and be content.

Local contemporary wrote an editorial about the $32 waste paper basket, which could have been consigned to aforesaid receptacle with poetic justice.

Senator Knox and his band of senators who are fighting the league of nations covenant are beginning to climb down from their first stand that the pact should be excised from the peace treaty. They are now willing that it shall remain subject to amendment later on. Public opinion in the United States, especially as it represents labor, objects to having the whole peace treaty wrecked in order to provide a Republican triumph over Wilson.

Watered Stock and the High Cost of Living

By David S. Kerr, Chartered Accountant, Montreal.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:—Does watered stock affect the high cost of living?

1.—Does watered stock affect the high cost of living?—Watered stock is largely accountable for the present high cost of living. Through the watering of capital stock of companies the capitalists are able to increase the selling prices of their output. Through issuing inflated shares of capitalization, the people have to pay so that dividends are unusually large profits, and the "over-capitalization" is in effect. Dividends are actually paid upon stocks which are admitted to watered stocks and, it is argued, due to this watered stock, larger earnings have been made by the company and mind and dividends paid or surpluses accumulated.

2.—Briefly stated, watered stock represents the difference between a fair value and an excess value placed upon the assets of a company. Thus, if at the time of starting business, a company carries $2,000,000 in other assets is only $1,000,000, and fully paid stock to the amount of $2,000,000, another company carries its good-will, patents, leases, rights or other intangible assets worth only $100,000,000, and issues fully-paid capital stock to the extent of $2,000,000, then the capitalization in these cases is watered to the extent of $1,900,000 in the former instance and to the extent of $1,900,000 in the second case. In both illustrations the capitalization is 100 per cent more than what fairly represents the value of the assets.

3.—While capital stock is supposed to represent bona fide assets, yet it is undeniable that, as is generally the case, watered stock is not issued dollar for dollar of valuable assets required. So that, no matter where there is an intent of the law may be, watered stock is issued, as a rule, by means of contracts and sometimes the company may deal with the claim that it has issued on the cost of living. Now, if watered stock is issued, the cost of living then it must do so by enabling the company to increase the selling price of its products. In other words, the stockholders (or owners of the company) must be able to get bigger profits and the public, therefore, must pay more for the necessities of life because of the inflated capital stock issued.

4.—On putting the situation another way, for every $10 of watered stock issued, the company may issue an amount of profits which would be earned if no watered stock had been issued. And if the company has gone on as before (assuming that then the capital stock was not inflated), the selling price would be relatively less, as there would be no watered stock upon which to pay dividends.

5.—Seeing that there is an abundance of watered capitalization, let us deal with the claim that it has issued on the cost of living. Now, if watered stock is issued, the cost of living then it must do so by enabling the company to increase the selling price of its products. In other words, the stockholders (or owners of the company) must be able to get bigger profits and the public, therefore, must pay more for the necessities of life because of the inflated capital stock issued.

6.—On putting the situation another way, for every $10 of watered stock issued, the company may issue an amount of profits which would be earned if no watered stock had been issued. And if the company has gone on as before (assuming that then the capital stock was not inflated), the selling price would be relatively less, as there would be no watered stock upon which to pay dividends.

7.—There is, in fact, no authority limiting the amount of watered stock that the reasonable man should issue. Watered stock earns additional profits for a company and, as the object of being in business is to make money, why does not every concern issue such stock and why should any company ever fail to make big or any profits? Take the case of partnerships—not

"ATMOSPHERE,"

By Dora Mollan.

As Mrs. Kent closed the front door after a leisurely survey of the village street, she remarked to her sister Annie that Tom was in sight, so they could put the supper on the table; also that the atmosphere felt quite springlike. When Tom had eaten the supper prepared for him by his adoring women folk and had changed into his other suit, he stopped in the sitting-room on his way out. Here his mother and aunt sat sewing.

"You're going to see Mary?" Mrs. Kent laid her work on the table and started to arise—"you can return that cake recipe she lent me."

"Sit down, mother. Why should you jump to the conclusion that I'm going to see Mary Freeman? There are other girls in town."

"But none nicer, Tom," put in precise little Aunt Annie.

"Mary's all right," agreed Tom, "but I stopped to tell you that I'm going to see Devette Sinclair a while."

"I've three times a week rather often to call on a girl you've known such a short while," asked Mrs. Kent.

"Small town etiquette, mother. Devette is a city girl. The Sinclairs make a fellow feel at home. There's something about their house—soft lights and all that sort of thing—certain atmosphere—can't explain it," finished Tom impatiently.

"You don't need to explain to us, Tom, what constitutes the atmosphere of a true home," quietly interposed Aunt Annie. "Well, anyway, the whole family doesn't sit around and entertain you as they do at the Freemans!" snapped Tom, and departed.

As the front door closed behind him Mrs. Kent picked up her sewing. "I hope this is merely a passing fancy, Annie. That girl is a new type in the village and she fascinates Tom. But I of the the time now, and she spoke seldom to Tom. The atmosphere of the Kent home had changed in some subtle manner. Subconsciously Tom felt it, but his infatuation for Devette died his mind these days to the exclusion of everything else except business. He knew he must succeed in that if he were to stand any chance with Devette.

So affairs stood when Tom stopped in the grocery store on his way home from business one night to do an errand for his mother. Mr. Bates, the proprietor, waited on him.

As he tied up the package he leaned across the counter and spoke in a tone too low to be heard by anyone else in the store. "Kent, you seem to be on pretty good terms with the Sinclairs. Do you think they are all right—financially, I mean? They owe me a pretty big bill now, and I can't afford to trust them for much more."

"Why, sure," replied Tom. "They just happen to be short of ready cash just now. Mrs. Sinclair was telling me about it the other evening. She says which she had nearly finished was seriously ill and if he didn't improve soon she would have to go to New York."

Mr. Bates seemed reassured and Tom thought no more about the incident until two nights later when Mrs. Sinclair's car brought up the matter of their circumstances again, concluding, "But I don't see how I can go. Really, I haven't even money enough in hand to pay my fare."

"Why, Mrs. Sinclair," exclaimed Tom in an injured tone, "why didn't you ask me to help you out? I have only about a hundred dollars with me—but would that do you any good?" "It surely would," answered Mrs. Sinclair, in a voice which strove not to make too eager. She thanked him profusely, saying that now she would be able to take the first morning train.

Soon after Devette pleaded a headache, so Tom left, with the remark that he would see her the next evening, as a matter of fact he never saw either of them again.

Returning home the next evening Tom found his supper on the table as usual. When he had nearly finished his mother asked him if he would mind raking up the lawn. Tom answered that he would do it in the morning if she didn't mind. "I thought perhaps, as you are not going to the Sinclairs, you would do it this evening," Mrs. Kent persisted.

"Where did you get the idea that I'm not going there, mother?" Tom asked.

"Why, it can't be possible, Tom," answered his mother, in her usual mild voice, "that you, their best friend, don't know what is common knowledge in the village today. I don't know what you mean, mother."

"Your friends, the Sinclairs, left town this morning, bag and baggage—and just in time. They owe everybody here, and this afternoon an officer appeared to take them back to New York, with a charge against them for some crooked dealings there."

Mrs. Kent delivered this startling information, Tom went straight to his room and was not seen again that night.

Because the atmosphere of the Kent home was pervaded by unselfish love the Sinclairs' name was never mentioned there again in Tom's presence, unless you except Aunt Annie's remark a year later, when Tom told them that Mary Freeman had consented to marry him at last!

Mary doesn't need shaded lights. Her character will bear the light of day."

PROPOS OF JUNE. (Boston Transcript.)

June is the circus month—also the month of some one-ring affairs that lead to circuses later.

NEED NO CUSTOMS PROTECTION. (Ottawa Journal.)

The only good excuses for protection are promotion of new industries and safety for industries when established.

As regards legitimate monopolies, whether they have watered capitalization or not, their position is somewhat different from that of the ordinary concern where there is competition. Monopolies should, however, be subject to strict supervision by proper and competent authorities appointed under the Legislature.

Watered stock, in the opinion of the writer, is unnecessary and useless and it is not in the public interest to permit such stock to be issued. It does not affect the high cost of living. Nevertheless, watered stock should, in all cases, including public utilities and monopolies, be disclosed. All statistics based upon balance sheets and other returns of companies showing so-called "investment" in various lines of business are useless for practical purposes due to the issuing of watered stock. Such statistics are of use only when they can show the investment in the businesses excluding values placed upon intangible assets such as good-will, franchises, leases, rights, patents, formulae, etc., or any intangible values, although, as stated, the amount of value at which these are carried should also be shown, but separately.

The writer appreciates the fact that the views of many do not coincide with his. He feels, however, that there is a lack of unbiased study of the actual facts. This article is submitted merely in the public interest. It is hoped that some discussion by others may be encouraged.

DAVID S. KERR.

don't like his neglecting Mary. She's such a genuine girl."

"Auntie," added the sister, "In the Sinclair home that evening the atmosphere was saturated with the germs of jealousy and malicious triumph but to Tom it only smelled of cigarette smoke."

He had been wondering what caller had preceded him. How could he know that Mrs. Sinclair had been smoking furiously and because she was deliberately trying to "out" her mother with the elderly and wealthy Mr. Slater, and at the same time fooling around with an "innocuous fellow" like Tom?

When he arrived the shaded lights shone softly. Devette was charming in a gown that was quite different from the village sort. Tom listened, enthralled to her tales of her gay life in the city and eagerly accepted an invitation to visit them the following winter.

It was the result of that strenuous society life, of course, that had forced him to come to this "charming" little village for a rest. Now wouldn't Tom tell more about his work—and what he hoped to become? Devette was clever, so she listened with much apparent interest while Tom talked, and sent him away with very much pleased.

You could not call Mary Freeman clever. She was just sweet and good natured. Not so when Tom, in describing her home, said that it had a "very comfortable and pervaded by a spirit of unselfish love."

It was this spirit which kept Mrs. Freeman from commenting on Tom's absence in the hearing of her daughter, but it could not keep her from feeling bitterly toward Tom for causing the silent suffering which Mary was striving to conceal.

The Sinclairs had been in town a month, and Tom Kent had formed the habit of dropping in to see Devette every evening after supper. He had abandoned discontinued stopping in the sitting-room to tell his mother where he was bound and to say good-night. Mrs. Kent did not remonstrate with Tom again for neglecting Mary.

She knew that her son could not be managed that way. Aunt Annie's lips were compressed in a straight line most

The revenue excuse is not a good one. And obviously, industries which have come to a scintilla of 70 per cent profit or better do not need customs protection for safety.

WON HIS TITLE. (Ottawa Citizen.)

However strong the sentiment against the perpetuation of titles in Canada, Canadians generally and Ottawans particularly will surely approve and applaud Major General Sir E. W. B. Morrison's new honor which have been conferred upon—rather, which he has won by rendering to his country a uniquely distinguished war service. General Morrison's K.C.M.G. will hardly add lustre to his name and fame as a soldier and a citizen, but the addition of Major-General Sir Edward Morrison to Canada's coteries of knights will certainly add distinction to that class of Canadians.

OUR DIVORCES 100 PER CENT. (Toronto Mail.)

It is probably true that Canadian marriages, on the whole, are more carefully considered, and more firmly based, than marriages in the United States. It is also true that the fact that our divorce rate is only one-hundredth of the American rate does not mean a like ratio of superior marriages. Parliament granting divorce in Canada are passed only on proof of unfaithfulness, in the United States, in 1916, adultery was the cause of only 11 per cent of the decrees granted. Divorces accounted for 32.5 per cent, and cruelty to 25.3 per cent.

SHAKERS ARE DYING OUT. (Pittsfield, Mass., corr. Albany Journal.)

Elder Walter Shepard of the North family of Shakers at Mount Lebanon, recently elected chairman of the Mount Lebanon ministry in control of Shaker communities from Maine to Florida, believes that the sect will last for at least 50 years more. He does not look, as some Shakers do, for rejuvenation and increased numbers. The decline has been gradually going on since the Civil War and, he believes, will continue at about the present rate until the end.

HER SAFETY NOT HIS BUSINESS. (Columbus, Ohio, Dispatch.)

"This safety movement is a great thing, but what good does it do, to try to be a missionary to some of these women?" commented a citizen on a High street car. His pessimistic view was the result of a rebuff he had just received from an elderly woman, who, lighting from the car in the usual feminine way, with her face to the rear of the car, was informed by the "missionary" that he would have to face the other way in order to avoid an accident.

"I'm attending to my business, you attend to your own," retorted the woman.

"Thanks for 'safety first,'" said the man sadly.

A pretty but simple wedding took place on Tuesday last at the home of Mrs. Andrew Lockhart, Sarina, when her only daughter, Mabel Hunter, was married to Harold Guy of Detroit, Mich., the Rev. J. J. Patterson performing the ceremony.

Palms and magnolias formed the decoration in the drawing-room. The bride, who was given away by her cousin, Mr. R. V. The bride wore a crown of white and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of orange blossoms and roses, before a quaint satin kneeling stool. The Tony Cortese Orchestra, softly played the Wedding March. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked winsome in her nuptial robe of white and green crepe, with pearl trimmings. She wore the conventional veil with crown of duchess lace and orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses, sweet peas and orchids.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Helen Ruse, who was charmingly gowned in shell pink georgette with head trimmings, and carried a bouquet of white and pink tulips. Guests from New York, Chicago, Ottawa, Detroit, Sarina and Clinton, were present. Later in the evening the happy couple left for Buffalo and New York, the bride traveling in a French navy style tailored suit with taffeta hat to match. On their return they will reside in the city.

EMPIRE "BOB" EMSLIE HURT IN PECULIAR WAY

"Bob" Emslie of St. Thomas, the oldest umpire in the National League, met with a peculiar accident on Tuesday at Cincinnati, when he was umpiring in the Cubs-Reds double-header. It happened in the first inning of the game. Daubert hit a triple, and Merkle went out to relay Paskert's throw. In pepping to the plate Merkle's throw hit Emslie on the wrist, as he was rushing to the plate to make a decision on the play. Daubert scored, but Emslie was knocked out for a few minutes. After the numbness disappeared it was found his wrist was not broken. "Bob" stuck to his job, though he nursed the wrist all the rest of the afternoon.

Ex-Kaiser Resumes Log-Sawing After Hearing the News

AMERONGEN, June 24.—News of Germany's decision to accept the peace terms, including the clause providing for the delivery of the former German emperor to the Allies, reached the castle late yesterday evening. Exactly how the former emperor was affected by the tidings cannot be ascertained, but the attitude of members of his party give rise to the belief that the news was a considerable shock.

When the Associated Press correspondent talked with attendants they declared the news was already known at the castle. They made a most interesting criticism of the German National Assembly for its action. Evidently they had held to the hope that some would be found for the former emperor to return to Germany. Now, however, it is apparently realized that he is exiled forever from his country.

The former monarch resumed his customary log-sawing at the usual hour.

TENDER GUMS —A WARNING

Beware of gum tenderness that warns of Pyorrhea. Four out of five people over forty have Pyorrhea—many under forty also. Loosening teeth indicate Pyorrhea. Bleeding gums, too. Remember—these inflamed, bleeding gums act as so many doorways for disease germs to enter the system—infected the joints or tonsils—or causing other ailments.

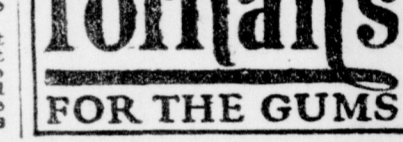

Pyorrhea, if used in time and used consistently. As it hardens the gums the teeth become firmer.

Brush your teeth with Forhan's. It cleans the teeth scientifically—keeps them white and clean.

If gum shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

He, of course, gets the boy's prize even if he is only 26th (or worse) to finish, provided no other boy under fifteen is ahead of him. The first soldier to cross the tape gets a special prize, but should he, like the boy under fifteen, be one of the first twenty-five to come in, he gets the regular place prize as well. To provide for the "classy" boys who line up around scratch, where they have little chance of figuring amongst the early prizewinners, the time prize list has been increased until there are now three prizes given for the best time. Should any time prizewinner finish in the first twenty-five, he gets two prizes. The first three men of any one recognized club to finish carry away medals as the team winners, and their club holds the Dunlop Team Shield for one year.', 'POINTS TO REMEMBER', 'This race has never been run in London since 1896. Edmonton and Calgary General Strikes Are Also Called Off.

WINNIPEG, June 25.—At a special executive session of the strike committee late Tuesday night it was agreed that the general sympathetic strike, which has handicapped Winnipeg industry for six weeks, should be called off at 11 o'clock Thursday morning, but formal announcement of this decision was withheld until the official organ of the central strike press committee, The Enlightener, appeared on the streets this afternoon.

The Enlightener is the successor of the Western Labor News, which was suppressed a few days ago.

Official notice of the termination of the strike was sent to Premier Norris of Manitoba by A. L. Robinson, secretary of the strike committee. Mr. Robinson also made formal application to the Manitoba Government appoint a royal commission to inquire into the cause of the industrial troubles.

It is understood that the government intends to appoint Judge H. A. Robson officially over, with the fullest powers that can be conferred upon him, to probe the causes which led to the strike and to make such recommendations as he will to the Provincial Government. It will be a one-man commission empowered to take evidence and report findings.
No promise about these lines has been made, however, to the strike committee or any of its representatives.

As the ending of the strike was conditional, there was a general distinction on the part of the strikers to wait until 11 o'clock tomorrow to report for duty. There was a "grand walk-in" during the day when hundreds of men appeared at their old places of employment and asked to be reinstated.

Some Are Barred Out.
Federal, provincial municipal and industrial officials have emphatically announced that some men who were reinstated under any circumstances.

Heape, George Armstrong, R. E. Bray and A. L. Quinn, strike leaders, ap-ago, appeared in the city police court today and were remanded for eight

CALGARY STRIKE CALLED OFF.

CALGARY, June 25.—To all intents and purposes the strike in Calgary has been called off, although no official announcement to that effect has so far been made by the strike committee.
The culminating point was reached this morning, when all the organized workmen carried out their resolution to return to work Monday. Much satisfaction was expressed by many of these workers at again being in harness.

It is now over a month since they came out on the sympathetic strike.
The Calgary metal workers also have returned to work, so that the only men amongst the strikers are the postal workers. So far the word has been received from T. M. Tweedie, M. P., who has now been in Ottawa for over a week, since he left after collecting a mass of information regarding the walkout of the postal workers.

EDMONTON STRIKE ENDS.
Edmonton, Alta., June 25.—After being out on strike for a month and a day, the general strike in Edmonton has been called off. The men go back to work this morning.

AN ARMY OF 10,000 FOR CANADA SEEMS AN ASSURED THING Provision to Double Force Again Sustained On Division.
OTTAWA, June 25.—The act to amend the militia act was discussed in the Commons this morning. Mr. Robb moved an amendment that the bill should be referred back to the committee for the purpose of striking out the clause for providing for increasing the permanent force of Canada from 5,000 to 10,000. A division on the amendment resulted in its defeat by a majority of 23. W. F. Nickle voted for the amendment. The bill then received the third reading.

COST OF LIVING PROBE TO BRING OUT LEGISLATION Committee Will Recommend Creation of Court of Commerce.
[Special to The Advertiser.]
OTTAWA, June 25.—As announced by Sir Robert Borden this morning the cost of living committee of the Commons contemplates incorporating in its report that certain recommendations be legislated upon at the present session. The committee has in contemplation two bills.
One provides for the creation of a court of commerce with powers both mandatory and investigatory. The other deals with the question of combined powers and organizations of business and affiliations and organizations of business and affiliations. It will have powers and procedure similar to those of the railway commission. It will hear complaints regarding alleged breaches of the combines act and will issue orders. Failure to obey such orders will subject the offender to prosecution under the criminal code.
New Combines Act.
The suggested new combines act is to supersede that which is now on the statute books and which has never been invoked in the Dominion. It will distinguish between combines good and bad and will specify the offences which may be considered a restraint of trade. The committee will report this morning that the two bills would "probably" be submitted. It has been suggested by certain members of the committee that a clause be inserted in the proposed bill giving the govern-ment-council power, whenever it is established that the customs duties on necessities of life are assisting in the making of undue profits, to abolish or decrease such duties.

CHARLES RAY in 'The Busher'
 A Paramount Picture

SUSPENDED SENTENCE FOR POINT PELEE YOUTH
 WINDSOR, June 25.—Charged with robbing the Point Pelee postoffice of $17, Osborn Livingston, son of a farmer of that district, was released on suspended sentence today, after making restitution. High County Constable Smith, who made the arrest, found part of the money buried under a corncrib on the Livingston farm.

CHARLIE RAY HITS TARGET THREE TIMES AND WINS TURKEYS

Popular Star Appearing at the Majestic in "The Busher."

Charles Ray, whose latest feature, "The Busher," will be shown at the Majestic Theatre today, Friday and Saturday, turned the laugh on the megaphone man of Balahoo Boulevard, at Venice of America, recently. With a crowd of friends he went down to the great Pacific Ocean resort and was immediately spotted by a "try-your-tuck man." The man urged him to win a turkey by throwing three baseballs at a mark.
 Thinking it a good joke, Ray's friends urged him on and so he started throwing. He won three turkeys straight and then the ballroom man begged him to transfer his activities to a competitor. Mr. Ray had for three months been practicing pitching for scenes he was to make as a baseball hurler in "The Busher." Colleen Moore is the leading woman.

 EXETER, June 24.—Before Magistrate Sanders and Beavers, three young men from Shipka, Dan Vincent, Edward Wyham and Oscar Romphr, appeared in the court room on a charge of unlawfully stealing a quantity of cider, the property of Jacob Hartlieb of Dashwood, on the occasion of a dance one night in March last.
 Vincent failed to respond to his name when called in the court, and a warrant was issued for his arrest, and on his return will face two charges.
 The other two lads pleaded guilty and paid their fine and costs, which amounted to $44 each.

June Month-End Sale
 A CLEAN-UP AND MARK-DOWN EVENT OF BIG AND UNUSUAL SCOPE
 Big and unusual! The waning season is the powerful reason why the Month-End Sale of June is big and unusual, why it is richer in economies than any Month-End Sale we've held for months. The summer season is now in full swing, and all our stocks must swing around to the demands of the warm summer days. But—strange to say—we find more reasonable remainders than the stocks have ever revealed.
 Ends of lines and broken assortments, short lengths and odd sizes contribute to the offerings in all departments. And with our usual vigorous policy in force, which demands adjustment of all stocks monthly, prices have been SUBSTANTIALLY REDUCED. So, then, if you are interested in SAVING on things that you can use right through the summer, surely you will not fail to come here TOMORROW, SATURDAY AND MONDAY.
