$520,000 Sewers Will Be Completed On June First

LONDON WEST SYSTEM TOTALS THIRTY MILES

Expected Estimated Cost Cut to Four-Fifths.

TASK IS DIFFICULT ONE

Low Lying Land Makes Pumping Necessary Through-out Operations.

The largest individual sewer system undertaken in London in some years, the London West system, whereby practically every street in that section will have a sewer, is rapidly nearing completion, and Engineer H. A. Brazier plans to have the complete system working by June 1.

Thus London West, one of the oldest sections annexed to the city, will after years and years of waiting enjoy the convenience of sewers.

The estimated cost of the system was $520,000, and this included a sewage-pumping station capable of handling 5,500 gallons a minute. It is located on Cavendish street, at the intersection of Douglas avenue, and the final move to connect the sewer system with this station will be undertaken next week.

To date the system totals 11 1/2 miles of sanitary sewers and 15 miles of private drain connections. Last year there were several miles of storm sewers also laid in West London, while the sanitary sewers were being put down, but this work halted when the appropriation gave out.

The cost of the system is going to fall much lighter on the property-owners of West London than was first contemplated. The appropriation of $520,000 for the system will not be used up by any means, and it would not be surprising if the actual and final cost is somewhere around three-fifths of the original estimate.

The task of putting down the sewer was a difficult one. Most of the streets of West London are low lying and Superintendent J. A. Moffatt was constantly encountering water. In fact, practically all the work in the southern part of the section was carried on in water. Pumps had to be operated continuously.

The West London sewer was an excellent one for the unemployed, as it has given work to close to 200 men daily for practically one year. There is still a gang busy cleaning up the private drain connections, while others are putting the finishing touch to the large pumping station.

VANCOUVER GIRL KILLED BY AUTO

Vancouver, May 19.—Miss Agnes Miller, 25, was killed here Wednesday night when an automobile driven by Shiro Ishi, a Japanese chauffeur, ran her down on Hastings street. Ishi was arrested on a charge of manslaughter. The woman's body was dragged more than a hundred feet before the car could be stopped.

REFUSES NORRIS NOMINATION.

Portage La Prairie, May 19.—Hon. C. D. McPherson, minister of public works in the North-Western, last night announced he would not stand for re-election when nominated as Liberal candidate for the constituency of Laskide, which he has represented since 1909.

If You Must Wean Baby Do It Carefully

Your Baby in Hot Weather.

SIX MONTHS OLD AND PERFECTLY HAPPY.

SHALL I wean the baby in hot weather?

This question is asked by many London mothers whose babies are approaching the age of one year. The best answer probably is "do not wean the baby suddenly, in the very midst of the hot spell."

But, on the other hand, it is most unwise to keep the baby at the breast after the milk has become scanty and poor in quality. The best plan is to begin the weaning process by the sixth month, or thereabouts, giving a little properly modified fresh milk once a day.

From this age on, each month may see the gradual introduction of certain foods, and the cautious substitution of bottle for breast feedings, until by the tenth month, or a little earlier or later, as the case may be, the baby is well accustomed to the new food and can be fed thus through the hottest weather in safety.

If the baby is still in the first half of the first year, every effort should be made to keep up the supply of breast milk, even if a little supplementary bottle food must occasionally be given.

In such cases, it is best to "strip" both breasts at each nursing, giving the supplementary milk only after the nursing.

LADY ASTOR, M.P. SCORES TRIUMPH

Ottawa Reception Biggest Thing in Generation. Premier King Rises to Oratorical Heights in His Tribute.

Ottawa, May 19.—The reception given Lady Astor last night in the Russell Theatre was one of the biggest things Ottawa has seen for a generation, not only because every seat was occupied, scores were standing and hundreds turned away, not only because there were five great speeches, instead of one, but because the prime minister and the leader of the opposition were present, but chiefly because of the glowing personality, the fine humanity and the broad world vision of the first lady commoner of Great Britain.

The occasion was electric. The audience started to cheer from the beginning and ripples of applause marked every minute of the great meeting. Lady Astor herself was incomparable, and her distinguished husband, in an impromptu speech which the prime minister induced him to deliver, paid a wonderful tribute to his wife that few wives have heard in public, and perhaps that few have deserved in so great a measure.

The prime minister, too, was never heard to greater advantage. His splendid voice rang out in a sincere tribute to Canada's distinguished visitor, and when, in his peroration, he told of how 300 years ago Britain sent parliamentary government and a settled government to Virginia, and how now Virginia had sent back one of her fair daughters to the mother parliament from which her government had sprung, his speech rose to real oratory such as Ottawa rarely hears.

Lloyd George Declares Debt Repudiation Unwise When Money Needed.

Genoa, May 19.—The Genoa economic conference one of the greatest political gatherings in Europe's history, which brought here the representatives of 34 nations, adjourned at 1:15 o'clock this afternoon, after six weeks of monotonous deliberations with the understanding that its labors will be begun anew at The Hague on June 15. The conference adopted the report of the economic commission, which contains constructive recommendations for the economic reorganization of Europe, adopted the arrangements for the conference at The Hague, and proclaimed Premier Lloyd George's famous non-aggression pact, which, though provisional in its nature, it is hoped to follow with a permanent European peace pact.

Premier Facta of Italy, as president of the conference, solemnly closed its sessions by bidding farewell to all the delegations on behalf of the king, the government and the people of Italy, by thanking them for their valuable work and for expressing best wishes for the future prosperity of all the nations.

The Dutch minister, on behalf of Holland, voiced the assurance that everything possible would be done by the Netherlands to facilitate the work of the forthcoming conference. He said, with the Dutch government and people contributing all they could to the success of the meeting at The Hague.

Prime Minister Lloyd George of Great Britain, in his valedictory speech, said the conference had gathered "like a cross" in the meeting place, to be held at The Hague, the non-aggression pact, and the reports of the finance, transport and economic commissions, which, he said, alone justified the holding of the conference. These results must be incorporated into living practice, however, the premier added, in order to aid in restoring European vigor and prosperity.

Mr. Lloyd George received great applause when he arose to deliver his address. He was in fine form and good humor.

"We are now at the end of the most remarkable conference ever held in the history of the world," he said. "The Genoa conference will forever be an inspiring landmark in the pathway of peace."

He proposed resolutions of thanks to Premier Facta and Foreign Minister Schanzer of Italy and paid glowing tributes to the hospitality of the Italian people.

Genoa has given us a reception worthy of Genoa's renown," he declared.

Mr. Lloyd George called attention to the fact that the conference had been held in the city of Genoa, which was the scene of the massacre of Armenians in 1915.

SAVES $30,000 ON CITY BONDS

Treasurer James Bell Sells Issue Over Counter, Cheating Dealers.

Many Londoners Have Total Savings Tied Up in London Debentures.

Bond dealers of the province have been cheated out of $30,000 in commissions, said the representative of a bond house, who was a visitor at the city hall Friday morning seeking to buy city debentures.

His calculation and charge was based on the fact that City Treasurer James Bell, instead of selling bonds to the bond dealers sold them to citizens over the counter.

Bond dealers keep a pretty close tab on city issues, and this bond man stated that the estimate was that London had disposed of $3,000,000 worth of bonds over the counter. At one per cent commission, this would have netted a bond house $30,000. Of course, on the sale they would have got other commissions.

On the other hand, the city got par for all these bonds, and it is doubtful if par would have been received had the bonds been offered in the open market.

Many citizens of London today have their total savings tied up in city debentures as a result of the policy of the city in selling them over the counter.

Col. Addie Arrested In Early Days of Army History

His "Ten Days" Are Still Due.

COL. JACK ADDIE of the Salvation Army, who arrived in the city Thursday, to take part in the celebration of the fortieth anniversary of the Salvation Army in Canada, has much to tell of the persecution and ostracism which the Army were forced to undergo in the early days.

Col. Addie was but a mere boy when he organized the first Army corps in the country and unfurled in London market square, the 24th of May, 40 years ago, the Army flag unfurled on Canadian soil.

The religious enthusiasm displayed by the corps at that time met with most strenuous disapproval on the part of a number of citizens, and the Army drummer was put in jail. A city ordinance was passed prohibiting the Army band to march or to hold open-air meetings.

U. S. Prohibition Flotilla Bothers T. L. Church

OTTAWA, May 19.—By the government aware that the state of Michigan is placing gunboats and armed cruisers on the Detroit River? That is the question which Thomas L. Church, Conservative member for North Toronto, proposes to place before the government in the House of Commons.

Church follows that question by asking: "If so, what action does the government propose to take to protect and insure the safety of the thousands of Canadians and the many Canadian ships lawfully using this river?"

FEW STIRRED BY LONDON ELECTION

London, May 19.—(Canadian Press cable.)—Little outward interest has been shown in the by-election in the city of London to fill the vacancy caused by the transferral of the Earl of Balfour to the House of Lords. The election is taking place today, and the result will be known tonight.

Both candidates, E. C. Grenfell, financier, the official Conservative nominee, and Sir T. Vansittart Bowater, Independent Conservative, proclaim practically the same "conservative" principles, the only difference seemingly being that Grenfell is backed by the official party caucus. The non-official candidate is backed by a section of the mercantile community professing no strict adherence to the party politics.

HUSTON PROBE IS ADJOURNED

Winnipeg, May 19.—The McIntosh commission completed this morning its work in Winnipeg in the investigation of the death at Fort Francis of Captain Orville Huston, and adjourned to sit again at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday next.

No evidence of importance was secured this morning, and Col. G. C. Porter, newspaper correspondent, who had been expected as a witness, did not appear to testify.

BUMPER FRUIT CROP PREDICTED

St. Catharines, May 19.—The fruit crop of the Niagara districts has suffered very little damage from the wind and rain storms which have visited this section of late, and the prospects for a bumper crop are very bright. Some slight damage was done to the cherries a few weeks ago by a sudden change in the temperature, but this damage it is expected, will be overbalanced by a bountiful crop of peaches, pears, grapes and other varieties.

URGES TRADE IN SOUTH AMERICA

Montreal, May 19.—F. P. Jones, president of the Canada Cement Company, Limited, who has recently returned from a South American trip, advocates the establishment of a great Canadian direct export and import trade with South America. For this purpose he advises the calling by the minister of trade and commerce, the increased acreage of fruit over last year will make up a total yield equal to that of last season. H. M. Eddie, president of the British Columbia Berry Growers' Association, stated yesterday.

TAX PAYMENTS COME IN FAST

$125,000 in Cash Alone Now To Credit of City.

Post Dated Checks To June 1 Brings the Total To $200,000.

Though the first instalments of city taxes is not due for nearly two weeks, cash is flooding into the tax collector's office.

To date, over $125,000 in cash has been taken in by the city and stands on deposit to the city's credit at the bank.

"There are some people that have the money," said the city treasurer, when he pointed to the way the cash is coming in. In most cases also, the checks sent in are for the full amount.

Besides the cash received, Tax Collector Charles Turner has about $50,000 in post-dated checks on hand, which are dated for June 1, the date the first tax installment falls due. If added to the total sum already taken in, the amount already on hand would be close to $200,000, or a little under one-tenth of the total tax bills.

On Thursday the collector took in $23,700 over the counter.

LAURIERVILLE FIRE WIPES OUT 22 HOUSES AT BIG LOSS

$150,000 Is Monetary Loss Estimated From Holocaust Ravages.

Laurierville, Que., May 19.—Fire which broke out here at 11 a.m. yesterday destroyed 22 houses. Monetary loss is estimated at $150,000.

The fire broke out in the roof of a blacksmith's shop. Luckily the wind blew in the right direction, otherwise the convent and the church would probably have also been destroyed. The convent is situated at not more than 30 feet from the place where the fire started, and as soon as it was discovered work was sent to Plessisville and the mayor of that municipality sent the fire apparatus with some men to help in the fight that the local citizens were waging against the flames.

An hour after they were on the scene of the disaster, but they were greatly handicapped in their work, as the waterworks were out of order and they had to stretch over two acres of hose to get to the Black River, in which the water was very low.

All telegraph and telephone wires were put out of commission, the wireless exchange being destroyed, as also was the residence of the mayor. Laurierville is a village in Megantic County on the Grand Trunk Railway, about 48 miles out of Quebec. It was formerly known under the name of St. Juli.

FOSTER, LEAGUE DELEGATE, SURE U. S. WILL JOIN

Sir George Addresses London Kiwanis Club at Noon Luncheon.

BLAMES WAR FOR CRIME

Believes Nations Will Right Selves in Time and Avoid Conflict.

"The world is so knit together today, and she is being so strongly educated in community spirit, that never in the future will an important war break out without involving all the nations of the world, and every nation will suffer the same penalties—penalties which will be one thousand times greater than what we are experiencing today."

Such was the prediction of Sir George Foster, Canadian statesman, and delegate to the first assembly of the League of Nations, made to members of the Kiwanis Club at their weekly luncheon in the Teccumseh House Friday noon.

Taking as his subject "The League of Nations," the speaker by explaining the meaning of community spirit showed how it was the foundation on which the League of Nations is built, and how it is the only real preventive of another world war.

"The success of the Kiwanis Club," said Sir George, "is due to the community spirit behind your organization. The United States and Canada displayed community spirit in their 'get together' meetings. The great majority of the one hundred and ten millions across the border were brought up on the same traditions, and have the same ideas of government as we have.

The community idea that exists between the United States and Canada is the foundation on which the League of Nations is built.

"Although the United States is not actually a member of the League of Nations, she is heart and soul in sympathy with all that it stands for. In the last action of the people of that great republic repudiated Wilson and all his works. And one of his works was the League of Nations. The United States is all tangled up, but eventually she will untangle herself, and sooner or later will become a member of this league.

"The wave of crime that is sweeping the world today," he continued, "is a direct result of the war. All the robberies with force and without force are a direct result of the war. Every convention of society was shattered by that great conflict. Men, women and children today don't want to obey; they want to be free. There are many now who look upon labor as a disability, and who don't want to work, but whose only object is pleasure. How many of our young girls have reached womanhood before reaching the age of fourteen? This is a direct result of the war. They stay up at nights, sleep late in the morning, and throw all conventions aside. And whether they realize or not, they are missing the greater period of their life, childhood. That applies to boys also.

"But everything will right itself in due time. We are just passing through the disease stage, which is a necessary aftermath of the struggle.

"When 23 nations met in Paris to draw up the terms of the peace, for three months they did nothing but discuss a better way of settling international disputes, so as to save all the deaths, the approaching deaths, the famines, and the plagues, which result from every war.

"On June 25, fifteen of the wisest judges of the entire world will meet for the first time as the Supreme International Court of Justice. These men have pledged before the world that they will do all in their power to further develop the spirit of amity and brotherhood between the nations so that in the future wars will be provided against to the maximum.

"All the nations in the league have pledged not to go to war until they have exhausted every peaceful method of settling their difficulties. Do we want another war? Do we want to live in again that horrible, slimy cesspool, which comes after every conflict? If we don't, it is up to us as the people of Canada to make their government live up to the covenant of the League of Nations."

ASK ABOLISHMENT OF 12-HOUR DAY

Washington, May 19.—Steel manufacturers, in conference at the White House last night with President Harding, approved in principle the president's suggestion for the abolition of the 12-hour work day. The forty-one representative leaders of the industry who were present unanimously resolved that a committee of five in the steel industry make an investigation of the matter and to report their conclusions to the industry.

LAUDS WORKERS OF GRAND TRUNK AT GATHERING

Sir Joseph Flavell and W. D. Robb Address Thousands At Stratford.

VETS. PRESENT ADDRESS

Bronze Memorial Tablet For Employees Killed Overseas Unveiled.

Stratford, Ont., May 18.—Sir Joseph Flavell, chairman of the board of directors, and W. D. Robb, vice-president, in charge of operation, were principal speakers at a great "get-together" meeting of Grand Trunk employees held here tonight for the Grand Trunk workers and members of their families to the number of two thousand crowded the Armories, while another thousand formed an overflow gathering at the Casino. "This is the most encouraging experience in connection with our industrial life that I have encountered since the war," said Sir Joseph in addressing the railworkers. "Here is a vast gathering of work people gathered together in a common cause, to do their best to help one another and find new ways of doing more efficiently their daily tasks. Any corporation, anywhere, would be proud to call this body of workers its own." Sir Joseph then proceeded to deal with the future status of the Grand Trunk in the Canadian National Railways organization. He outlined the splendid records of the men, particularly those from the Stratford division, who had received their training with the Grand Trunk. According to well-founded rumors the Canadian National Railways systems was to be comprised of three great divisions—the western division, extending from the head of the Great Lakes or from Winnipeg to the Pacific coast; a central division, from Chicago or Windsor to the west of Quebec; and an eastern division from Quebec to the Atlantic seaboard.

Dominating Factor.
"The Grand Trunk," said Sir Joseph, "would logically be the dominating factor in the important central territory. When the National Railway Company was finally constituted by order of council at some period during the coming summer, the various component parts of the Canadian National Railways would be brought together. The Grand Trunk Railway would enter that consolidation, not as something that had been left over, but through the front door. While he had no knowledge of the management of the Canadian National Railways would be, he felt sure that it would be founded upon the wisest possible selection of men.

"The Grand Trunk had a much greater future in the Canadian National Railways organization than it could have under a continuance of its present conditions. At its important divisional points, such as Stratford, there would be more work for more people."

In conclusion, Sir Joseph complimented the Grand Trunk and its men upon the manner in which they had developed the various agencies for mutual welfare, such as the first aid to the injured. The Grand Trunk team from Stratford had recently succeeded in winning the Montizambert Trophy and the Wallace Nesbitt Shield, emblematic of the championship of the Dominion of Canada in first aid work.

Foster Co-operation.
Vice-President Robb said that the "get-together" meetings were doing more than anything he knew of to foster the spirit of co-operation between officers and employees, and that in turn was having a notable effect in not only maintaining but increasing the efficiency of the railway. He emphasized the records that are being made in the handling of cars. The average length of time of foreign cars on Grand Trunk rails had been reduced from 3 1/2 days in 1920 to 7 1/2 in 1921, which meant a saving to the road of more than one million dollars.

Loss and damage claims in connection with freight was steadily declining. The percentage of losses in 1921 was less on the Grand Trunk than on any similar railroad between Chicago and the Atlantic seaboard. Employees in all branches of service were getting together to increase the freight and passenger traffic of the road and he strongly urged that this work be further developed. With regard to Stratford, the relations existing between the company and the citizens were lauded as a repair center for locomotives, and he looked forward to the time when, with increased business, the railway could begin work on extensions to its shops. Plans were ready for such extensions, calling for an initial expenditure of between eight hundred thousand and one million dollars. The Grand Trunk payroll at Stratford had increased from $40,000 per month in 1909 to $225,000 in 1922. Mr. Robb said the atmosphere of courtesy, good-will and quiet efficiency which the employees were able to bring to the railway would help it expand, and this should be backed up by the support of all the citizens.

VANCOUVER BYLAW AIMED AT TEMPORARY BEER CLUBS

Will Eliminate 10 Cents Membership Fee and Charge Substantial License.

Vancouver, B. C., May 19.—Compulsory subscription rates and a more conservative attitude to guests' privilege will be enforced on Vancouver's beer clubs under the new bylaw which is being drafted for the city council as a means of regulating the promiscuous sale of beer. This is the provision of the new bylaw given in the speech delivered by Mayor C. E. Tisdale of Vancouver to a gathering last night under the auspices of the British Columbia Methodist Conference.

"If our bylaw proves effective," said the mayor, "clubs will have to have a substantial entrance fee for members. This practice of admitting members at ten cents apiece will be abolished. And we are going to draft a section to prevent men going into these clubs and getting, as guests, all the beer they want. The fitness of any man to manage a club will be subject of question. No youth under 20 will be allowed to enter a beer club.

"All clubs will be subject to periodic inspection, and a license fee of $500 for the city and $500 for the Dominion government will be assessed."

WAGE DEMANDS LOSE BY ORDERS

Stellarton, N. S., May 19.—Failure of the miners of Nova Scotia to accept a wage rate which would enable the British Empire Steel Corporation to sell coal in competition with its foreign competitors in the St. Lawrence market, led to the placing elsewhere of orders for large quantities of coal which would otherwise have come to the Nova Scotia mines, declared Archibald McCall, general manager of the mainland district of the British Empire Steel Corporation, here yesterday, before the Scott conciliation board, which is investigating the wage dispute between the corporation and the employees of its coal mines.

GRAIN LEAKAGES COST $193,339.48

Ottawa, May 19.—(By the Canadian Press).—The cost of leakages of grain from cars, between points of shipment and the head of the lakes during the past railway year, was $193,339.48, according to information given in the house by Hon. W. C. Kennedy, minister of railways. The amount charged to operating expenses for grain doors during 1921 was $384,467, of which amount $55,843.26 was for repairs to grain doors.

presentation of an address to the company by 361 returned soldiers employed upon the Stratford division. In this address the men outlined their appreciation of the manner in which the company had looked after their dependants while they were overseas and had reinstated the returned men in their positions. Vice-President Robb said that this testimonial from the soldiers would be treasured in the annals of the company.

A bronze memorial tablet commemorating 71 men of the Stratford division killed overseas, was unveiled by Lieut.-Col. John L. Youngs, M.O., and this tablet will be placed at Stratford station.

A large motor ambulance purchased by the workers on the Stratford division was formally presented to the company by H. S. Holmes, Grand Trunk agent at Acton, and was accepted by C. G. Rowker, general superintendent, Ontario lines.

The trophies won in first aid and hockey competitions were formally presented by J. C. Garden, general superintendent of motive power.

W. J. Pigott, superintendent of the Stratford division, presided at the meeting, and was supported by members of the provincial cabinet, the House of Commons and by Mayor Gregory.

INSPECTS CADETS OF TWO SCHOOLS

Lieut.-Col. McCrimmon Visits Woodstock College and Collegiate Institute.

Special to London Advertiser.
WOODSTOCK, May 18.—The annual inspection of the local collegiate institute cadets took place this afternoon before Lieut.-Col. McCrimmon of London. The boys were put through a number of movements at the close of which Lieut.-Col. McCrimmon addressed the boys. He said he was well pleased with their smart appearance and soldierly manner in which they had conducted their drill.

The colonel announced with much regret the fact that he had just received word that there was to be no cadet camp this summer owing to the decreased appropriation of the militia department at Ottawa. The platoon under the command of Lieut. William Gibson won the prize for the best-drilled platoon.

At Woodstock College this morning Lieut.-Col. McCrimmon inspected the cadets of that school. The corps under Capt. Adams performed the most difficult movements with great skill. The medals donated for shooting were awarded as follows: Silver medals, P. Harwood and H. Babb; bronze medals, C. Vickers, W. Fee, J. Blaisdale, C. Pratt, W. J. Riddiford and E. Yarden.

The city council recently advertised for tenders for the construction of sidewalks and cement curbs and gutters.

Only one tender was received, which quoted 73 cents per running foot for curb and gutter; 15 cents per square foot for sidewalks, and $27.50 for catch basins. The board of works considered these prices too high.

They will recommend to the council that the city purchase the necessary equipment for sidewalk and gutter construction, and go into the business of building themselves. The matter will be threshed out at Monday night's meeting of the council, but it is almost certain to be adopted.

CONVOCAATION IS FULLY PLANNED

Rev. Evans of St. Marys Proposes Toast to Graduates.

Banquet, Play and Conferment of Degrees Are Big Events.

Final arrangements of all details for convocation at Western University have been completed by the committee in charge.

Rev. Charles Evans, of St. Marys, of the class of 1911, will propose the toast to the graduates at the convocation week dinner on Tuesday evening next.

It is the intention to have the dining room decorations carried out in the university colors—purple and white—with an abundance of lilacs.

The medical class of 1917 is making this their reunion, and will have a table of their own.

Convocation week has now become one of the recognized fixtures of the college year.

As in former years the convocation procession will form at the Y. M. C. A. and proceed up Wellington street to Wesley Hall.

In proceeding from the Y. M. C. A. to Wesley Hall, the graduating classes lead, and in procession the chorale comes last.

CHECKS HOUSING LOAN PAYMENTS

J. W. Cunliffe, housing commission manager, is carefully checking up all the payments being made to the city on individual loans.

Of the some hundred odd loans granted, ranging from three to four thousand dollars, only about a dozen have caused any trouble.

ABOUT A HALF DOZEN are today materially backward in their payments, and Mr. Cunliffe is now preparing a drive to clean these up.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

The Lord is merciful and gracious, slow to anger and plenteous in mercy.—Psalm 103:8.

FEAR the vengeance of God as much as thou mayest, and this shall keep thee from sin; and when thou thinkest of His mercy, remember also His righteousness.—Pythagoras.

TOMORROW'S DOINGS. SATURDAY—Athletic banquet held at Collegiate Institute, 5:15 o'clock.

GORDON PHILIP, secretary of the chamber of commerce, left for Windsor Friday to attend a meeting of the citizens' research committee.

ELISIE KNIGHT, administratrix of the estate of Benjamin Knight, has issued a writ in the county court against John L. Mote for $42,905, which she claims for rent and damages to property.

SIR GEORGE FOSTER, who spoke Friday at the noon luncheon of the Kiwanis Club in the Tecumseh House on "The League of Nations," will deliver another address on the same topic Friday evening in the collegiate auditorium.

TO REVISE the bylaws of Middlesex County Council, a special committee of the county council will meet in the county building Tuesday. The committee is composed of the warden, J. S. Cousins, and councillors Alton Ryeckman, Ed. Douglas, J. D. Campbell, A. E. Rosser and C. C. Henry.

OPERATIONS FOR testing the subsoil in the streets of Richmond Hill and Fullarton streets, the proposed site of the Lloyd George Hotel, have been completed, though no report of the findings has been announced yet.

EDWARD WINTER and Agnes Winter of Westminster Township, through their solicitor, T. G. Meredith, have issued a writ against the London Street Railway Company for unpaid damages for injuries alleged to have been caused to the plaintiffs by negligence of the defendants, their servants or agents.

UNDER THE HEADING, "Is the Bible the Word of God?" Mr. Ernest Whelpton of Hamilton will make reply to the assertions made on Monday at the meeting of the Ministerial Alliance, as reported in a city paper.

Mr. Whelpton, who is a representative of the International Bible Study Association, is to speak at Hyman Hall next Sunday.

RUSSELL A. CHANDLER of Detroit, who pleaded not guilty last Monday in police court, when charged with the theft of $250 from Bremer-African paid 15 per cent in 1921, as against 19 per cent in 1920.

Both the Hamburg-American and the North German Lloyd companies paid 18 per cent compared to 8 per cent in 1920, and the Hamburg and Bremen-African paid 15 per cent in 1921, as against 19 per cent in 1920.

EXPECT SEDATE COUNCIL SESSION

If the council meeting, presaged as a thrilling one by the salary committee meeting of Wednesday, lasts longer than five or more minutes tonight there will be some people out in their calculations.

For the last couple of days it looked as if the meeting would be a real battle, but the council has evidently led to a change of opinion.

Ald. John Ashton will not present his motion to the special meeting to have the wages of the garbage men and corporation workers put back to the old scale. He will reserve that for another time.

This does away with one contentious problem.

The other one will be Dr. Douglas's proposal in regard to cutting the bonuses of the higher officials, and it is just possible that this will be laid over also. It will take a two-thirds vote to introduce it, Mayor Wilson has contended.

3,000 SHRINERS GATHER AT WINDSOR FOR CEREMONIAL

Many Leave London To Take Part In Annual Gathering.

Shriners, May 19.—More than 3,000 Shriner members from all over Ontario and the State of Michigan are gathered here today for the spring ceremonial, one of the most important sessions of Mocha Temple. This is the first time the ceremonial has been held outside of London.

Candidates numbering 125 from all parts of Windsor Valley are to be initiated at the ceremonial being held in the Armories tonight, after which the visitors will be entertained at a theatre party.

Adverse weather failed to dampen the spirits of the Shrine Arab patrols, who staged a spectacular parade through the downtown sections. Shriners from points as far east as Montreal and as far west as Winnipeg are in attendance, and the familiar red fez is to be seen everywhere today throughout the border cities.

With bands playing and garbed in full dress uniform five hundred London Shriners left the city on the 10 o'clock G. T. R. train this morning en route to Windsor for the spring ceremonial of the Masonic Orders of America.

WELLS MAY QUIT WRITING FICTION

London, May 19.—(Canadian Press Cable).—H. G. VOTE DOWN LADY RHONDDA'S CLAIM

London, May 19.—By a vote of 20 to 4 the committee on privileges of the House of Lords decided today that Lady Rhondda's claim and petition to sit in the House of Lords had "not been made out."

TWO FINED $100 IN ASSAULT ACTION

William Taylor and Frank Attwood Told Penalty Imposed Is Light.

Wm. Taylor and Frank Attwood, who were found guilty last week of assaulting Wm. Walsh on Oxford street west, were each fined $100 and costs or two months in jail when they appeared in court Friday.

Mrs. Taylor, who admitted striking Walsh, an old man, with a buggy whip, when the case was first heard, last week, was fined $25 at that time.

Acting Crown Attorney A. R. Douglas stated that the one who actually committed the assault was Mrs. Taylor.

Mr. Graydon said that he could not quite follow this, as Walsh had suffered two fractured ribs.

"The man who did an illegal thing and persisted about it," declared the court.

"I'm not pressing for a heavy penalty against these men, stated Mr. Douglas.

"They have not been convicted on any charge before," replied Mr. Graydon.

"The old man didn't want to talk to them and was quite sensible, but he might have been killed, if he had not been rescued."

"Having regard for the fact that these men have already spent ten days in jail, I am going to impose a fine of $100 and costs in each case or two months in jail, and I am showing comparative leniency."

"Taylor, how would you have felt today if you had been charged with murder or manslaughter?" Men have been arraigned for just such things who never had any intention of committing crime when they started out.

Violence to foot travelers is a serious offence. There is too much of it in Canada," concluded the court.

The quarrel arose over a division of property, and Taylor and Attwood, on Tuesday, were ordered to appear in court, as the old man refused to talk to them, after which the assault took place.

BIG DIVIDENDS PAID BY GERMAN LINES

BERLIN, May 18.—All German shipping companies paid considerably higher dividends for 1921 than for the previous year, according to figures made public here. The Hamburg-South American Line paid 28 per cent for 1921, as compared with 18 per cent in 1920.

Both the Hamburg-American and the North German Lloyd companies paid 18 per cent compared to 8 per cent in 1920, and the Hamburg and Bremen-African paid 15 per cent in 1921, as against 19 per cent in 1920.

New Radio Station Robs "Graveyard of the Lakes" of Future Victims

Great Lakes Naval Training Station, Great Lakes, Ill., May 19.—Out on the fog-wrapped waste of Lake Superior, giant ore and grain laden freighters are rolling eastward down the lakes, past their up-bound coal carrying sisters, with only a derelict siren toot for the hidden rocks of Whitefish Bay, the "graveyard of the ships."

For the first time navigation on Lake Superior has been robbed of its terrors. On May 14 the first naval radio compass station on the lakes opened at Whitefish Point to direct passing ships by wireless.

At any hour the captain of a ship lost in the fog banks can call the radio station and ask his position. The reply will give the ship's direction from Whitefish Point for the vessel's navigator to plot on his chart.

Within three weeks two more radio compass stations will open, one at Grand Marais, 60 miles west of Whitefish Bay, and the other at Detour, at the mouth of St. Mary's River. When they are in operation the passing ships will receive their bearings from the radio stations and plotting these two lines on the chart the skipper will know his ship is at the point where the lines meet.

The graveyard of the lakes, where the skeletons of untold scores of ships, stretched from Whitefish Bay to Grand Marais, the nearest port of refuge, to the west. The sixty miles of desolate water, rimmed by sand dunes and lonely forests, has claimed an annual toll of ships and lives and cargoes since navigation opened on the upper lakes.

One vessel, a Canadian lighthouse tender, went down off Whitefish Point in a storm a few weeks ago with her crew.

COURT MAY FINE BOTH PARTIES

Contractor and Tenant Told To Settle Argument Over House Being Repaired.

The foundation of a house being raised for Mrs. A. Garside by Frank Baer brought legal representatives to police court Friday morning.

Baer was charged under a bylaw with leaving a brick walling in a dangerous condition and after hearing all arguments put forth by Arthur Brickenden, counsel for Baer and J. P. Moore, representing Mrs. Garside, Magistrate Graydon adjourned the case for a week, stating that if the matter was not settled by that time, both parties would be fined.

Building Inspector Piper stated that Baer had taken out the permit to fix the house.

Mr. Brickenden stated his client was merely hired by the day, and therefore was not liable.

"Mrs. Garside says that Baer took the work on contract, and was to put in a foundation," stated Mr. Moore.

"He's paid by the week," declared Mr. Brickenden.

"You can't leave the building as it is, it will fall down," said Inspector Piper.

"There is $650 owing Mr. Baer," put in Mr. Brickenden.

"Excuse me, it is not," denied Mr. Moore.

"I think both are responsible," observed the court.

"The foundation is not strong enough for the house," declared Mr. Piper.

"Mr. Depper is the owner of the building," said counsel for Baer. "Mr. Depper is glad to go on with the work if he is paid."

"He's been paid for nearly all the work," shot back Mr. Moore. "He stopped because the building fell down."

Baer stated that he had quit work as of last Saturday because his account had not been paid.

The man that skipped the job ought to be heavily fined," declared the court. "I think I will adjourn this case for a week. Somebody will have to make the place safe. The contractor should go on with the work, and if the matter is not settled by them, both parties will be fined."

FIND DEER HEAD STOLEN FROM PT. STANLEY HOME

Police Recover Many Other Articles In New Search.

Although the police fully believed they had recovered all the property stolen by a young Londoner, who confessed his attention to Port Stanley, a deer head and a folding table owned by A. H. Brener and stolen from his cottage at Port Stanley, were found in the East London barn where three packing cases full of articles were found by detectives last Friday.

An electric sweeper, a Frantz Premier, an automobile cushion and tools were also found by the officers at the same place.

Property taken by the young man, covering a period of more than a year, has been recovered from day to day, owners being found for practically everything the police have discovered.

BRITISH MAILS

The next mail for Great Britain and Europe will close at the local postoffice on Friday, May 19, to be forwarded via S. S. Mezantine, sailing from Montreal on May 20.

This mail will consist of all classes of letters and registered matter at 10 a.m., parcel post and newspapers at 2 p.m.

"Nature" Swimmers At Dexter's Dam May Bring Police Interference

There is a danger that the police will be asked to close one of the few remaining good swimming holes in the river in this vicinity. It is that old reliable spot at Dexter's dam.

As one of the residents of the vicinity put it when he called The Advertiser, "if those fellows without a sense of decency don't get some, we will have to ask Chief Birrell to take a hand."

"It would be a shame to close up this swimming hole," the resident went on, "especially as the majority of those who make use of the spot know how to act and do act decently. However, there are always a few who will do things that will in the end spoil a good thing, and apparently swimmers are no exception."

During the last couple of warm days this swimming hole attracted a number of bathers. Some of the swimmers tried to emulate the Instyle. The only difference between the swimmers and Indians was that the Indians, at least, had on war paint.

GETS THREE YEARS IN PENITENTIARY

Alfred Meakins Convicted of Gross Indecency At Jail.

Alfred Meakins, charged with an act of gross indecency at the county jail on Sunday afternoon last, was sentenced to three years in Kingston Penitentiary by Magistrate Graydon on Friday morning.

Meakins pleaded not guilty, but evidence supplied by Turnkeys James Spyer and Lewis Warner was conclusive.

"You appear to be an incorrigible character," stated Mr. Graydon, "and you ought to be flogged. A poor unfortunate prisoner, who is mentally weak, has been played upon by your base instincts."

"This type of man should be kept out of touch with society in general," declared A. R. Douglas, acting crown attorney. "No penalty could be too severe."

"He ought to get ten years' imprisonment and flogging," replied the magistrate.

Meakins said that he had been born in England, and came to Canada in 1902. He enlisted for overseas service in 1916, and in 1919, coming here from the States. The prisoner said he had done ten days at the county jail for being drunk and four days after being liberated had been sentenced to a month in jail for begging on the street. His time was up today.

"I don't think you are safe to be at large," declared Mr. Graydon. "Three years in Kingston Penitentiary."

EDMONTON GIRLS FAIL TO APPEAR AT SUPPER

Coach Of Visiting Basketball Team Cancels Engagement.

The Edmonton girls did not appear at the supper-dance arranged in their honor by the Shamrocks at the De Luxe Cafe on Thursday evening, following the big basketball game in the Armories, which resulted in the Dominion title for the westerners, but, at the same time, an added lustre to the brilliant reputation of the Shamrocks as players. It was only after the close of the game that the hostesses learned that the Edmonton girls, who had been decorated with blue and gold, the Edmonton Commercial School club colors, combined with the green of the Shamrocks.

Notwithstanding the regretted vacant places of the charming provincial players, the Edmonton merry one girls, the Shamrocks, relaxing after the big strain of the week, and also for their guests.

Coach A. T. Taylor and Mrs. Taylor chaperoned, and Mr. Christian provided balloons and other favors. Covers were laid for forty. In compliance to the Edmonton girls, the tables had been decorated with blue and gold, the Edmonton Commercial School club colors, combined with the green of the Shamrocks.

GIVE PURSE OF GOLD TO PASTOR

The "Ever-Ready" Men's Club of the Southern Congregational Church, Horton street, gave a farewell banquet Thursday night to Rev. W. P. Claris, the pastor of the church, who has just resigned.

At the banquet a purse of gold was presented to the minister by the club. The presentation was made by Gordon Angles, and the address accompanying it by Percy Colson.

A splendid musical program was given, consisting of solos, instrumental and readings.

The following took part in the musical program: Miss Helen Walton, who gave several solos; B. Warry, who gave several readings, and Miss Mantle, several readings.

NICOLA FLOODED WHEN IRRIGATION DAM BURSTS

NICOLA, B. C., May 18.—Heavy damage was caused, but no lives were swept through the little town of Nicola this morning, owing to the breaking of an irrigation dam.

All government road bridges in the city were swept away, and at least three small houses have been swept away. It is estimated the water in the Nicola River rose 30 feet in less than twenty minutes.

The flood came when the dam broke which holds the water back for irrigating the Nicola Lake Stock Farm, operated by Major Goldman, who is now in England.

Through the street and lanes of the town, the rushing waters swept with terrific force, and with a roar which terrified the inhabitants.

Undoubtedly one effect of the break will be to damage the crops of many farmers, most of their arable land being already sown. It is feared farmers living along the adjacent creeks may have suffered extensively, but there is no way of reaching them at present.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY DIED.

MEECHAM—At the family residence, Highburg Ave., on Thursday, May 18, 1922, Mary Jane, beloved and only daughter of George and the late Mary Meecham.

The funeral of the late Mary Jane Meecham will be held from the Egerton Street Baptist Church, Saturday at 2:30 p.m. Interment at Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

DELEGATE MAY GO TO SAN FRANCISCO

Local Realtors Will Decide Shortly On Question of Representation.

If the London Real Estate Board decides to send a delegate to the convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, to be held in San Francisco from May 30 to June 3, he will likely be chosen within the next few days, Bert Weir, local real estate man, told The Advertiser this morning.

Notwithstanding the fact that the real estate spring rush is beginning in this city, and the expense of the trip would be great, it is probable that London will be represented in Frisco when the convention opens on May 30.

America's first convention to be held in a grove of California big trees will be that of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Local realtors point out the fitness of this—the trees, the oldest of living things, and the profession, dealing with the world's oldest commodity.

Although the convention is to be actually held in the two million dollar exposition auditorium, San Francisco's civic center, the crowd of woollen-picked specimens of California's best Sequoia or Redwoods, which will be used as the convention hall setting.

These trees will be transported by motor truck from the heart of Santa Cruz Mountains, a distance of several hundred miles, to the convention city.

They will be grouped around the main hall in such a fashion as to reproduce the famous Cathedral Grove growths of the Redwoods in their native haunts.

The balcony will be transformed into a reproduction of a mountain side, showing the smaller growth of trees in the distance.

As the visitors enter the convention hall they will do so through the portals of a reproduction of the Great Wawona. This tree which stands in the Wawona grove on the outskirts of the Yosemite, is a familiar figure to thousands of Americans, as its photograph showing stages and other vehicles passing through it has been used in countless forms of advertising and publicity work.

A. O. F. ORGANIZES FOR ATHLETICS

Court Forest Queen, A. O. F., has organized an athletic committee, and three members are already proposed in Messrs. Jack Day, Summers and Coote.

Football, track events, baseball and boxing is contemplated program, a start on which will be made during the summer.

The aid of the other courts of the A. O. F. is asked in an effort to build up fraternal sport.

HAMILTON POLICE TELL ATTITUDE TOWARD O. T. A.

Claim Provincial Officers Were Seen Under Influence of Liquor.

TORONTO, May 18.—The Hamilton police force is ready to co-operate with the provincial police in the enforcement of the O. T. A., but there had been a coolness recently between the two forces because the O. T. A. operators went to Hamilton and started operations without asking for any such co-operation.

This was the gist of the evidence submitted before the public accounts committee of the legislature today in relation to that matter. Inspector John Cruickshank of the Hamilton police said he believed in the O. T. A. and was anxious to enforce it.

He claimed that the provincial officers had at times acted in a way to discredit the police force as a whole, and he objected to a whole, and he objected to provincial officers being seen in the quarters of Hamilton under the influence of liquor. That hurt the standing of the city police force as well.

The committee again placed itself on record as opposed to any break in the O. T. A. inquiry when Mr. Dewart sought that other matters be heard next Thursday. His resolution was lost.

Italians Play Music and Get Arrested

TWO Italians who were annoying residents of Richmond street north on Friday morning by playing on some alleged musical instruments and then asking householders for contributions, were warned away by police officers who responded to a call sent in by a woman whom the Italians claimed had "no ear for music."

IGNORANCE COSTS DRIVER MONEY

T. Sabine told Magistrate Graydon in court Friday morning that he didn't know it was against the law to drive his car past a street car on the left hand side.

"You shouldn't have a motor car then," declared the court. "The first thing a motorist should do is get a copy of the laws. I am going to fine you $5 and costs."

COMMONS VOTE $90,000,000 FOR NATIONAL LINES

Railway Appropriations Pass After Two Days' Debate.

KENNEDY SHOWS DEFICIT

W. D. Euler Presents Strong Arguments For Public Ownership.

OTTAWA, May 18.—(By Canadian Press).—Following a discussion ranging over the whole of yesterday's sitting and the larger part of today's the House of Commons tonight passed railway appropriations totaling approximately $90,000,000. Of the total thus voted for the government railway system, $42,800,000 is for the Canadian National; $25,750,000 for the Grand Trunk and $21,500,000 for the Grand Trunk Pacific. An item of $7,000,000 on Canadian government railways still remains to be voted, however, and on this there may be more discussion.

During the general debate, Hon. W. C. Kennedy, minister of railways, announced that revised figures gave the actual deficit for last year on all government railways, including the Grand Trunk Railway as $2,652,778. For the year the deficit was $4,378,315. The deficit included fixed charges except on the Intercolonial Railway and the Transcontinental Railway between Winnipeg and Moncton, and on the Hudson's Bay Railway.

Today's debate opened with some sharp interchanges, but later passed into the more routine expression of faith in either public or private ownership. From the Liberal side of the House, W. D. Euler of North Waterloo came out strongly for government ownership, replying to some of the arguments for private ownership set forth by his colleague, Hon. Walter Mitchell, on the previous day.

Baxter Urges Committee.

From the Conservative benches, Hon. J. E. M. Baxter, former minister of customs, favored regional districts for the national lines, but pleaded against the divorce of the C. P. R. from the remaining government roads. He urged that officials of the national lines and of the Canadian Pacific Railway should form some sort of liaison committee to see where duplication could be avoided.

W. F. MacLean (Conservative, York South) resumed the debate when the house went into committee of supply on the estimates of the department of railways. Mr. MacLean declared that he had been an upholder of public ownership since his entry into public life. It was a revelation to have in the house 60 or 65 men who were a solid bloc in favor of public ownership.

Service was the underlying principle of public ownership, while private ownership sought profits also, very often on watered stock. Mr. MacLean explained that he made this statement with no intention of reflecting on the Canadian Pacific Railway, which was a successful privately-owned corporation. There had been much talk of frequent cutting of melons in connection with the C. P. R.

The shareholders not only received their 10 per cent profit, but they also received their share of the melons.

"Under government ownership," said Mr. MacLean, "you have better service, you can finance better, you can avail yourself of any system of transportation and you are free for all time."

It was sometimes said that public ownership was not a success. Had private ownership been a success? What about the Grand Trunk? What about the Canadian Northern?

Asks About C. P. R.

"What about the C. P. R.?" came an interruption from the Liberal benches.

"It has been subsidized by the people of Canada," returned Mr. MacLean, "and it is charging exorbitant rates today. Who knows how many millions the C. P. R. has in its strong-box which belongs to the people of Canada and ought to be given back to them in lower rates?"

Mr. MacLean declared that owing to certain voting trusts the C. P. R. shareholders could not elect their directors. Public ownership of street railways was being successfully worked out in Western cities, and in spite of opposition a great public ownership system was being built up all over the country. The president of the United States and his government were now pledged to a great scheme of public ownership of electrical development.

Mr. MacLean declared that a great wave of public ownership was sweeping over the world. The system had vindicated itself in Europe and in Australia. Those who would not see it were blind and did not want to see the truth. If the Canadian Pacific could secure a competent board of directors, there was no reason why an equally good board could not be procured by the government to manage the National lines.

Mr. MacLean declared that if the National lines were handed back to private ownership, it would be necessary to vote an enormous sum of the people's money to carry them on. This was not going to be done.

"Least of all are we going to give them to the C. P. R.," Mr. MacLean emphasized.

Fernand Rinfret (Liberal, St. James, said the question today was what was to be done with the railways. He had been opposed to their acquisition, as had the Liberal party, under circumstances which prevailed when they were taken over, but the country now owned them and must find the best means of operating them. Previous to his election he had declared that the government should reduce the cost of operation and make the system a success if possible. If it were not possible to make the railways succeed after a fair trial under government ownership, they should be returned to Speeds Across Ocean in Race With Death.

NEW YORK, May 18.—Racing against death in a borrowed steam yacht, driven top speed from Martinique, West Indies, Abbot J. Dorn, New York attorney, arrived here today, was taken ashore and rushed to a hospital and operated on for cancer.

The yacht, Casiana, belongs to Edward J. Doheny, oil magnate, and was loaned to Elisha Walker, broker, Dorn's brother-in-law.

Told by doctors at Martinique an operation by New York surgeons would save his life, Dorn tried to get steamer accommodations, but failed. He called Elisha Walker. Doheny loaned his yacht and the thrilling race began.

Two New York surgeons awaited the arrival of the Casiana here and two hours after Dorn landed he was under the knife at a local hospital.

Predicts Deficit.

Mr. Rinfret said that the capital outlay on railways was well over $1,000,000,000 or one-half the national debt of Canada. He predicted that the aggregate deficits would be $470,000,000 in 1925. The deficits were increased by the increase in fixed charges on the roads. He stated that the increase in the number of employees of the Canadian Northern was absolutely out of proportion to the increase in mileage of that system. The United States government had found public ownership and control of railroads an expensive business, and had returned them to private ownership following the war.

He declared himself to be "absolutely opposed" to government ownership, but, nevertheless, he would support the government in giving that method a fair trial, though he feared the trial would accomplish little but the loss of hundreds of millions of dollars. Quebec as a province had given fewer guarantees to railways than any other province, yet the people of that province had to bear their share of the loss on the government railways.

"The government," he said, "should not lose the opportunity, if it presents itself, to free the country of these deficits. They should make it clear that the roads are in the market for the first buyer who will give sufficient guarantees as to finance and service."

W. D. Euler (Liberal, North Waterloo) said there were only two alternatives before the country—government operation or a return of the roads to private ownership. The ultimate outcome of the latter policy would be that the C. P. R. would have a monopoly, which would be viewed by the people as a calamity. He agreed almost entirely with what had been said by Hon. T. A. Greer and might have refrained from speaking, but he thought it would be regrettable "that there should not be one member on this side of the house who declared that he approved of government ownership."

Opposes Public Ownership.

Mr. Mitchell, he said, had delivered a speech, the general tenor of which was opposed to public ownership. The railways would make good unless someone deliberately set out to wreck them, a purpose which Mr. Euler was not attributing to any person. The necessity of securing a first-class man for the chairmanship of the board of directors was paramount. This man must believe in public ownership and be filled with the passion for success. Mr. Euler doubted the judgment of those who said that public ownership could not succeed. It became a duty of those who believed in the principle to declare their faith in it and its ultimate success. When a man went into a fight declaring that he was not going to win he was beaten before he commenced.

Many of the municipalities of Ontario had made a success of public ownership, as had the province of Quebec in its larger scheme. Yet there was propaganda against public ownership.

It would take four or five years to determine whether the great experiment would be a success or not. The failure of the Grand Trunk was a blessing in disguise, as it would have been hardly possible to make a success of the National lines unless the Grand Trunk was included. The primary purpose of public ownership was to give service to the people.

Mr. Euler believed in the sincerity of the government, when it stated that public ownership would be given a fair trial. It became the duty of the government and its followers, if

DO YOUR BOWELS

Move Regularly, or Do They BECOME CONSTIPATED

There is no medium through which disease so often attacks the system as by allowing the bowels to become constipated, and there is no other trouble which flesh is heir to that is more liable to be neglected, because material inconvenience may not be felt, at once, from irregular action of the bowels. When there is no regular action the retention of the decayed and effete matter, with its poisonous gases, soon poisons the whole system by being absorbed into it, causing violent sick and bilious headaches, internal bleeding or protruding piles, heartburn, jaundice, etc.

MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS.

will regulate the flow of bile to act properly on the bowels, thus making them active and regular, and removing the constipation and all its allied troubles.

Mr. Samuel Buckler, Tatamagouche, N. S., writes: "For over a year I suffered with constipation. I took several different kinds of medicine, but could only get temporary relief. I was told to try Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. I procured two vials of them, but after I had taken one I found that I was relieved of my trouble. I do not hesitate to recommend Laxa-Liver Pills for any kind of constipation."

public ownership was to be given a fair trial, to do nothing to create distrust in the public mind. If the people had confidence in the management of the road they would take pride in what was their own and patronize it. Even today privately-owned railroads were not very sure that the government railroads were going to be a failure.

Hon. W. C. Kennedy, minister of railways, announced that the actual total deficit last year on the Canadian National system, including the Grand Trunk Pacific, Canadian Northern Railway, Canadian Government Railway and Grand Trunk Railway was $72,652,778.16. This included fixed charges due the public, also fixed charges due the government, but not any interest on capital cost on the Intercolonial Railway from Montreal to Sydney, Halifax and St. John, and all branches, including the Prince Edward Island Railway, nor on the Transcontinental Railway from Winnipeg to Moncton, nor the Hudson's Bay Railway.

Replying to Hon. Mr. Meighen the minister said the amount for the previous year was $74,378,315.

W. C. Wood (Progressive, Brant) at the night session argued that the public ownership would succeed if those concerned did not show a disposition to make it "a happy hunting ground for graft." Public ownership need not fail, and would not fail so long as it was backed by a reasonable amount of honesty and public spirit.

Would Mean Monopoly.

Dealing with the suggestion that the government should get rid of the railways, Mr. Good said that there was only one concern which could take them over, and that was the Canadian Pacific Railway. If that occurred the result would be a monopoly of all transportation in Canada. If the Canadian Pacific Railway absorbed all the railways and the Bank of Montreal continued to absorb all the banks, a huge octopus would control the transportation and finances of the country. With all respect, Mr. Goodman submitted that such an arrangement would be a menace to the country and a condition which ought not to be permitted.

Hon. W. C. Kennedy thought the debate had been most useful and instructive and suggested that the members now allow the items to pass with the understanding that the way was still open for a general discussion on railway matters or any items which they might pass.

Hon. J. A. Stewart, leading the opposition in the absence of Hon. Mr. Meighen, agreed. The items then went through, totalling approximately $90,000,000.

When the item for $40,000 for the Port Nelson terminals on the Hudson Bay Railway was reached, half a dozen members got up to oppose it. Hon. Mr. Baxter said he could not see why they were asked to vote this sum in face of the present financial emergency, an argument which brought forth "hear, hear" from the government benches.

On the minister stating that none of the money was for new construction, but merely for maintenance, the item was agreed to.

FORT ERIE BRIDGE BILL CONSIDERED

OTTAWA, May 18.—(By Canadian Press).—The bill to incorporate the Buffalo and Fort Erie Public Bridge Company with a capital of $1,500,000 was reported by the house committee on private bills this morning.

The bill provides for the construction of a bridge across the Niagara River between the village of Fort Erie, in Ontario, and Buffalo, in the state of New York, and is to be built as a private undertaking with the consent and supervision of the governments of Canada and United States.

It is proposed to charge tolls on the bridge, and when these tolls have met the construction and interest charges to hand the structure over to the two governments.

DENTAL SURGEONS EXCHANGE IDEAS

Dr. F. P. Moore of Hamilton Elected Honorary President At Annual Convention.

TORONTO, May 18.—Clinics, demonstrations, exhibits, and a general exchange of professional ideas continue to hold the interest of the delegates attending the joint convention of the Canadian and Ontario Dental Associations in this city. This afternoon's session was given over entirely to the exhibits.

There was a dinner at Hart House, University of Toronto, this evening, and this was followed by a public meeting at Convocation Hall on oral hygiene.

The Ontario association elected the following officers today: Honorary president, Dr. F. P. Moore, Hamilton; president, Dr. R. J. Spratt, Barrie; vice-president, Dr. E. J. Conboy, Toronto; archivist, Dr. C. A. Kennedy, Toronto; secretary-treasurer, Dr. J. A. Bothwell, Toronto. Board of governors: Drs. E. L. Gausby, W. L. Chalmers, C. E. Brooks, W. M. Rutherford, W. B. Brooks and Colonel W. G. Thompson. The advisory committee and the oral hygiene committee were re-elected.

THROUGHS HEAR NOTED 'CELLIST

Music Lovers Fill First Methodist Church at Hambourg Concert.

London Artists Contribute To Excellence of Brilliant Program.

In spite of the manifest inclemency of the weather conditions, the crowd which gathered Thursday evening to hear Boris Hambourg, cellist, in joint recital with London artists, practically filled to capacity the First Methodist Church, and the keenest anticipation of all were fulfilled to the utmost by the excellence of the program.

Thursday evening's recital was the last of an eminently popular series which have been held in the First Methodist Church throughout the past season, and it is with the greatest regret that music lovers realized its completion, in evidence of which is the fact that the audience was the largest of the season.

Heightens Reputation. Few instruments are capable of more tenderly-sympathetic cadences than the cello, and in the hands of Boris Hambourg the instrument took on added power to sway the feeling of the audience. Londoners know well the skill of Mr. Hambourg's playing, and his performance served

Brantford Veterans Will Not Join In March Upon Capital of Dominion

Special to London Advertiser. BRANTFORD, May 18. — "There will be no local war veterans included in the march-on-to-Ottawa to register their indignation to the officials there over the scarcity of employment and the condition in the country at the present time.

"Many of the local men are preparing to go West to work on farms for the harvesting season and there is but to further increase their already high opinion of his finished perfection as an artist.

His numbers, Bruch's "Canzone," Scott-Hambourg; "Vesperale," an air from Jean Hure, and David Popper's "Elfin Dance," gave opportunity for the greatest versatility, and repeated encores greeted every effort.

Choral Work Pleases. The work of the choir and of the soprano soloist, Mrs. Edward Wyatt, was remarkable for its manifestation of perfect training, and in every department showed the exercise of the greatest skill. Two unaccompanied numbers stood out particularly as a delightful treat.

Mr. Jordan's organ solos gave opportunity for the finest display of the magnificent music which is peculiarly the product of organ-playing. His control of the immense volume of sound seemed at times miraculous, dying down as it did to the merest wisp of sound. And no more fitting finish to such a superb program could have been chosen than Tschakowsky's overture, "The Year 1812."

The silk industry consumes about 1,500 tons of metallic tin a year in the form of tetrachloride and recovers about 40 per cent.

no evidence of any trouble arising over the unemployment situation at the present time among our members."

So stated one of the officials of the Great War Veterans Association here this afternoon. He thought, however, that the parade to Ottawa might be a success and that it would help to get the returned men a small additional war service gratuity.

ATTEMPT TO HALT CANTON TROOPS

South and North Combine Forces To Stop Sun Yat Sen's Northward Advance.

HONG KONG, May 18.—Negotiations are in progress between the South China government at Canton and both the northern factions in an endeavor to prevent a northward expedition by the army of Sun Yat Sen, head of the Canton government, it was learned here today.

The southern government's army headquarters are now at Shikwan, in the northern part of the province of Kwang Tung and the main army is moving and concentrating on the border between Kwang and Kiangsi provinces, near the town of Nam Tung.

ST. THOMAS GLEE CLUB ENTERTAINS

Scores Triumph At Patricia Under Direction of George C. Carrie.

That a city the size of St. Thomas can furnish such a fine musical organization as the St. Thomas Glee Club, which was heard Thursday night at the Patricia Theatre, is indeed remarkable. A great amount of the honor must go to George C. Carrie, the talented conductor, through whose efforts the choir has reached the high place which it can claim today among male choirs in Canada. The glee club has been heard in London before, but this year shows marked progress. Its work is more finished, and its voices even better than when heard before.

Makes Presentation. A tribute to the excellency of the visiting organization was offered by the London Kiwanis Club, under whose auspices the choir visited the city, in the presentation to Mr. Carrie of a handsome trophy. The house applauded enthusiastically and called for a song, to which Mr. Carrie responded graciously.

It was with delight that his tenor songs were heard towards the close of the program. "One Hour" and "When I Was a Little Lad" were the numbers chosen, and in them the silver quality and dramatic power of his voice were brought home to a London audience once more. The choir itself opened the evening's program with the Coleridge-Taylor "Viking Song," followed by a group which included "The Scissors Grinder" (Lugnet), "Drink To Me Only" and "The Long Day Closes" (Sullivan). The first number of this group displayed to excellent advantage the clearcut quality of the choir's singing, and its perfect mastery of shading effects, as did a later number of the evening, "The Bellman" (Porsyth). The leader had his singers in absolute harmony with his thought, and the result was very fine. The choir was equally good in such numbers as "Drink To Me Only," which was sung unaccompanied.

Enthusiastically Received. "The Lost Chord," which concluded the first half of the program, was perhaps the most popular number of the evening and had to be repeated so enthusiastic was the applause of the audience. Other numbers were: "The Piper of Dundee" (Othen-grover); "Ashes of Roses" (Robinson); "On the Sea" (Dudley Buck); "More and More" (Seiffert), and "The Good Night" (Schubert).

Several very fine vocal numbers gave the program variety. Ferguson Teller, baritone, was first heard, giving an excellent rendition of Oley Speaks' "One Road to Mandalay." Gladys Watson, soprano, was heard in "Pale Moon" (Logan) and "Mid Me Discourse" (Bisnop), two very delightful numbers. Gladys McEvoy, mezzo contralto, gave two other enjoyable numbers, "The Gypsy Train" (Gilbert) and "There Is No Death" (O'Hara). Rose Tuck, contralto, sang "Calm Is the Night" (Bohm) and "Bird Girl's Song" (Foncell), completing an excellent program.

The proceeds of the concert are being devoted to work among underprivileged boys, which has been undertaken by the Kiwanis Club, the Glee Club giving its services gratis.

Mr. Baxter in Toronto.

HON. J. M. BAXTER, formerly a minister in the MEIGHEN government, but now viewing matters from the cold shades of opposition at Ottawa, paid a visit to Toronto a day or so ago and addressed the Conservative Businessmen's Club there.

The bent of his address was that the premier was not in command of the situation at Ottawa, but that it really rested at the say-so of SIR LOMER GOULD.

It is a wonder that Mr. BAXTER would bring up that matter, for the reason that it is an old and discredited story. The speaker must have taken it for granted that the men at Toronto did not know the real conditions, and on that account sought to impose on their credulity.

Or it may have been that once the honorable gentleman got away from Ottawa; away from the place where the Conservatives are the smallest group in the House; away from the scene of some of the most humiliating defeats on division—it may be that he took on a new courage in Tory Toronto, and spoke of things as he would like to see them rather than as they really are.

Mr. BAXTER turned again to the question of the soldier bonus, although he knew full well that it had been thrashed out on the floor of the House, and that the Government had been sustained on a forced vote by a majority that constitutes a record for the House. And in concluding his remarks on this point he stated: "The flag is still flown for vote-catching purposes, as the Germans flew a Red Cross flag over a machine gun battery." Gratuitous slander such as this comes with poor grace from a man to whom facts are a nuisance and responsibility an embarrassment.

"The present government has no fixed policy." Such is another of the taunts that Mr. BAXTER threw out to delight and entertain his Toronto friends.

If he means that the government has not decided in advance what it is going to do on all sides, regardless of whether it is the proper thing when new conditions arise, then he is right. The King ministry has shown to a marked degree a desire to interpret the wishes of the people in all legislation it has enacted. A government that is going to guide Canada through its present state can never be too alert in searching out new conditions, and bringing all possible new information to bear on the questions under discussion. The King government does not need and does not want a policy that will conform to the old idea of a fixed policy. No business institution can run on that basis, neither can any country. Policies must meet conditions as they arise, and these conditions have been arising with startling rapidity in Canada during the past few years. It is to be hoped, notwithstanding all the cheap talk and clap-trap of Hon. J. B. M. BAXTER, that the King government will ever remain sensitive to the needs and desires of the majority of the Canadian people.

The wheat board and railway rates were also instanced to show that the government was not ready to announce what it was going to do. It is hard to understand how a man like Mr. BAXTER, who has been at Ottawa, and who has had the opportunity of attending sessions of the committee on agriculture, where the question of the wheat board was discussed, and where experts were examined day after day, can claim that the question was not approached in the fairest possible way. He also knows exactly what the government is desirous of doing in the way of securing evidence in the matter of railway rates, and he knows that it is a question so big and so complicated that it will involve every district from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Yet, possessing this knowledge, he runs off to Toronto, and here spoon feeds local Tories with a lot of rubbish about how the government should, in the twinkling of an eye, stand up and tell exactly that should be done on these questions.

Mr. BAXTER made a mighty poor show of himself. He has failed entirely to grasp the idea that Canada is passing through a time as serious as any it ever faced—that the duty of men in opposition in such a case is not to ridicule and misrepresent, but to criticize intelligently and constructively. He evidently had only one thing in mind, and that was to deliver himself of as much empty criticism and thin political soap as his Toronto audience could stand at one session.

Consideration Needed. MAYOR WILSON'S declaration to the members of the special jury committee that seven of the twelve members of the council never saw what they are voting on when solutions come before the council depicts a rather sorry state of affairs, if true.

The mayor instanced the ASHLANTY street railway motion as a case in point, and from remarks made and opinions expressed by aldermen the day after the council meeting, the charge of the mayor would seem to have some basis in fact in this regard.

All lovers of good municipal government will regret that a breach has been opened among the members of the council, but when the whole matter is sifted down and the kernel of the matter got at, it will be found that a hastily-prepared, ill-conceived motion of MAYOR WILSON and ALD. CHILDS is absolutely responsible—just what the mayor has condemned.

A resolution to cut all salaries 10 per cent was presented to the council, ALD. CHILDS moving it. This, by the way, is the motion that contained the proposal that all bonuses be discontinued, and which has led to ALDS. JUDG. DOTGLASS and others charging that something was slipped over the "green" aldermen.

However, that is beside the point. The balance of the resolution proposed a gross reduction of 10 per cent. The ADVERTISER contended at the time that the motion meant reduction in salaries, but this was rather vehemently denied.

Now it is admitted that the resolution did mean a reduction in all salaries, but the mayor and ALD. CHILDS have not an iota of information on the salaries paid when they prepared their resolution. Later they learned that it was absolutely impossible to carry out the terms of their own resolution, and then sought a loophole. They found one and it was filled with trouble.

The point is that it was a hastily-prepared resolution, drawn up without a knowledge of the facts, that is today the cause of the split among the members of the council. Mayor WILSON is learning, and his criticism of the aldermen, to say the least, is not slow.

Listowel's Experience.

IT is one thing to get industries, and another to get good ones. Listowel started out on what looked like a good proposition, but it took only a few weeks to show that the town would have been much better off without the firm that was ready and willing to come in and take all the place had to offer.

The worth-while concern is not out with its hat in its hand, looking for favors.

Rather is it out looking for location where the people in its employ will be contented and satisfied. Many papers are taking a fall out of Listowel over the unfortunate experience with the company that was brought to that town to make wheels. Many of the references savor of the "I told you so" type. Listowel is not the first place that has made a mistake, and the chances are that it will not be the last place.

Listowel may be a bit sadder over the experience, but the chances are that it is also a bit wiser, and it is the wisdom that is bought and paid for that can be put down as a real asset for years to come.

A worth-while manufacturer will come along some day to a snug little town like Listowel, and he'll realize at once that the place is of the worth-while variety. Listowel does not need to go around with its hat in its hand, and it should not try to do so.

LITTLE TISERS

The level crossing is dangerous enough, but has nothing on the man who tries to work the double-cross.

Seems hard to convince either the house at Ottawa or the one at Toronto that brevity is the soul of wit.

Once they get the budget speech in the Dominion House members can go ahead and prove they won't budge an inch either way.

If you'll save your laundry tabs for a few weeks you may be able to pronounce the names of some of those Chinese generals in the new east war.

Now that there is not going to be war on the Brantford reserve the citizens of Brantford, as usual, will move along to the Indian fall fair at Oshweken.

Doctors in Hamilton are going to take a half-holiday on Wednesday, which leads the Vancouver Province to remark that patients with a mid-week thirst will have to make their plans accordingly.

The editor of the Glencoe Transcript rubbed the dust out of his eyes and sat down and penned the following:

"We love our country, but we're jiggered if we like to eat it. Hurry up with that street oil."

There was some doubt as to whether Russia would be allowed to go to Genoa at all. Once there the Russ has spread himself all over the stage, and is almost using the wings and dressing-rooms for his laundry and dirty clothes.

The way in which the most of the Progressive members voted on the stopping of the manufacture or sale of oleomargarine in Canada was at least consistent with their general stand against protection. They voted to allow oleo to stay and be made, although it is the chief competitor of butter, the product of dairy farmers. Their claim is that to have stamped oleo out would be protecting the dairy interests by killing off a competitor, and they are opposed to the principle of protection. It was a significant vote with considerable backbone behind it.

NO. 218—SELLING THE RESTLESS MAN.

The restless man or woman is rather puzzling and irritating to a great many salesmen, and, in fact, to anybody who may have occasion for attempting some course of action.

Restlessness may indicate several very different things, and before you know how to handle the restless one it is necessary to form some idea of its cause in each particular case.

Suppose your prospect is seated, but is showing his restlessness by tapping his fingers on his desk with his fingers, shifting his position, moving his arms and legs frequently.

It may be temporary or habitual with him, and it will make some difference to you which it is. If it is temporary, the chances are that it is due to some annoyance or irritation to which he recently has been subjected. He's merely worked up or nervous. Observe whether he is following closely what you say. If not, the chances are that his restlessness is temporary. If you can possibly arrange to do so, do not your visit short without bringing your sales talk to a climax and leave the way open for another visit. If you find on the next visit that he is still nervous and restless the chances swing around the other way. It is probably habitual with him, and your best course lies in furnishing him with some outlet for his energy. Take him somewhere where you talk to him, or get him to take you somewhere. Watch him when he walks. Does he stand erect? Is there anything of the crouching attitude about him, any impression of this sort? If so his restlessness is undoubtedly an evidence also of a suspicious nature, and you'll have to overcome this suspicion before you make much headway with him.

TODAY'S word is USUFRUCT. It's pronounced—u-zu-frukt. It means—the use of the fruits or profits of an estate or other thing belonging to another, without impairment of the substance.

It comes from Latin "usufructus," derived from "usus," or use, and "fructus," fruit.

It's used like this—"Italy, waiving her demand for the return of property which her national formerly owned in Russia, asks that the usufruct, at least so to the original owners.

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

HERE WE HAVE ITEMS OF LOCAL AND DISTRICT INTEREST AS RECORDED IN THE ADVERTISER OF 1897.

FRIDAY, MAY 19.

Weather—Unsettled and showery.

The executive committee of the Canadian Ticket Agents' Association met in the city yesterday. The members in attendance were: John A. McKenzie, Woodstock, the president; W. E. Rispien and W. H. Stewart, Windsor, and E. De La Hooke, of this city, secretary-treasurer. The visitors were taken to Springbank and shown the city by the local ticket agents, and were highly pleased with their reception. The date of the annual meeting at Windsor was changed from October 13 to October 6.

The Ivan Choral Club gave its incentive concert on Monday evening last in the Melville Presbyterian Church. At least 100 conveyances came in from ten miles around. The concert was a great artistic and financial success. The reorganized Imperial Quartet from London, with T. Adams, as first tenor, secured a great success, and will be looked for in the future. Ruthven McDonald, in his songs and recitations, showed his versatility, and held his audience as he always does. W. E. Collins, from the London contingent, also contributed to the program, and his singing of "Mary of Araby" was greatly admired and applauded. Of the local contingent, Capt. T. E. Robson, Miss Patterson and Miss Kate Maclean, all of Ilderton, contributed to the enjoyment of the concert. The whole success of the organization and concert can be attributed to J. T. Dalton of this city, who, as singer and conductor, demonstrated his ability. Mrs. H. McDonald and Miss Colvin presided at the organ. The Ivan Choral Club will give an outdoor concert early in the fall.

F. Daly, city, is among the speakers at the International Epworth League convention at Toronto, starting July 15.

A. J. Ross has received official notification of his appointment as C. P. R. agent, and will begin his duties as soon as the company's auditor has completed his audit of the retiring agent's books, which will probably be some time next week. E. J. Bowman will then enter his new field of labor in the Forest City.

Conductor Weable and family of Port Colborne are visiting the former's mother, Mrs. Weable, and sister, Mrs. John Marshall, Queen's avenue.

Mrs. J. Arnold and Mrs. G. Griffiths left this morning via C. P. R. to attend the Ladies' Baptist Home and Foreign Missionary convention at Galt, May 18 and 19.

The Michigan Central Railway advertises tickets to Detroit good for two days at $1.75.

W. E. Mullin, the genial chief clerk in Assistant Superintendent Jones' office, G. T. R., left today for Toronto to take a similar position there in Superintendent Fitzhugh's office. Last night Mr. Mullin was summoned to the Tecumseh House, where he met by a number of his friends in the Irish Benevolent Society. Dr. George C. Davis filled the office of spokesman in the unavoidable absence of the president, F. Mulken, and voiced the regret of Mr. Mullin's many friends at his intended removal, which will be a great loss to the I. B. S. in particular. As secretary, Mr. Mullin had been indefatigable. Dr. Davis also handed Mr. Mullin a handsome gold-headed silk umbrella. Speeches were also made by M. P. Graydon, John Dromzole and M. F. O'Mara.

ATHLETE'S HEART

ANY great athlete, idol of college mates, goes to pieces in mature life, becoming morbid and morose, simply because he developed through strain that organic defect called athlete's heart.

Such an infirmity comes when the valve leading from the heart to the largest artery fails to close properly. Thus part of the blood, with each heart beat, fails to get out, and returns to clog up the heart chamber.

Violent muscular efforts, such as lifting, running, bicycling, ski-jumping, boxing, wrestling, weight throwing and tug-of-war, rupture the valve.

In most such cases, however, the valve has been weakened through

THE BOOKSHELF

ONE WOMAN. By Alfred Ollivant. Doubleday, Page & Co., Publishers, New York.

WHENEVER the name of Alfred Ollivant is mentioned someone immediately says: "Oh, yes, the man who wrote the story about the dogs."

This is undeniable but also unfortunate. It would be a much happier thing if Mr. Ollivant were known for his Sussex tales, "Two Men," and the sequel to it under review, "One Woman." But relations between dogs are much simpler and much more understandable than those between humans, and when a dog story is done with the perspicacity of a Mr. Ollivant it is not surprising that it should please the public more than a complicated story of people.

Mr. Ollivant is a sincere and able novelist. He endows all his characters with the breath of life and casts them so deftly that their positions, their natures, and their actions are perfect patterns in themselves and blend perfectly into his story as a whole.

"One Woman" carries the fortunes of the two Casper brothers, Ern and Alf, still farther than "Two Men" and plunges them into a maelstrom of living that all but stuns down the slow, stolid, honest Ern, Alf, crafty and unscrupulous, abasing himself and fawning on his superiors seizes every opportunity for his commercial advancement and soon reaches a position of eminence that fills him full of a rich and untoward contempt for his weaker brother who finds the world a bit too much.

The "One Woman" as Ruth, the wife of Ern, whose stormy career was unfolded in the preceding book, is a magnificent and artistic creation. She is epic in the greatness of her femininity. She is the essence of muliebrity, the great, beautiful and primitive female. Around her revolve three men, her husband, whose life becomes a dull thing with her merely a part of it; Jo Burt, a labor leader, friend of Ern, a great strong man, ruled by iron principles, which melt at the sight of Ruth and Alf, sneaking and boasting and trying to get Ruth into his hands by any means. The superb womanliness of Ruth and the struggle between her and the three men are admirably conceived and written.

The book pictures graphically ante bellum labor conditions, it looks intelligently and unerringly upon the pre-war army, upon conditions of the English poor, upon the right of the laboring man to have a family and it contrasts for us the new and old spirit of the church.

Against this intelligent and interesting background Mr. Ollivant has placed his living and moving story, a most human document, full of poignant joy and sorrow, told with skill, and told by a man whose books prove him to be a true and a sensitive artist.

A Medal for Service to Humanity

Until the poisonous match was legislated from the world, annually there were deaths amongst match workers and children from match poisoning.

The Diamond Match Company ended the suffering with its invention of the non-poisonous match and was awarded the Louis Livingston Seaman Medal for service to humanity.

The combined resources, patents and processes of the world's three greatest match makers—The Diamond Match Company, the biggest—Bryant & May, Ltd., the largest in the British Empire—and Maguire, Paterson & Palmer, Ltd., of Liverpool, England, the second largest in Great Britain, are in the hands of the Canadian Match Company, makers of the new Maple Leaf Match.

Your first glance at the new match will surprise you. It is different and better. The sturdier, stronger, longer sticks—the perfectly finished heads—are something new to Canada.

Sponsored by the match masters of the world; Maple Leaf Matches are a product worthy of their name. They are NOT poisonous, the sticks are longer and stronger, the heads do not fly off, no live sparks when extinguished, a light every time, they withstand more wind and moisture.

Take any match from any Maple Leaf box and examine and test it against any other match that you can buy.

SIDE LIGHTS AT OTTAWA

BY RANDOLPH J. CHURCHILL.
Staff Correspondent The London Advertiser.

HOUSE OF COMMONS, Ottawa.

May 18.—It was with anticipation that the Conservative party in the House of Commons looked forward to the naval debate of Tuesday night. The radical changes in the naval policy announced by the government held out ripe promises of a fattened baiting average to the members of that party, and more especially to their leader, Right Hon. Arthur Meighen. Little they knew that fate held out only bitter fruit. Hon. Arthur Meighen meant to take full advantage of the opportunity offered him, and for days he prepared carefully a speech filled with taunts and accusations and reeking fibes. It was whispered among his closest friends that it was to be a masterpiece. The report spread so far over the week-end that when the evening session opened every gallery of the house was crowded by spectators. Billed with morbid curiosity over the impending doom of the government. Evening brought a debate never equalled in this session for bitterness, ferocity and tenseness. When a truce had been declared by the exhausted parties at 1 o'clock the following morning, the lifting smoke revealed Right Hon. Arthur Meighen humiliated by the utter failure of his own attack, beaten at his own game, and the Conservative ranks broken and in dismay. Instead of losing ground the Liberal party was in a stronger position than ever, and seemingly the Progressives were solidly supporting the government. The leader of the opposition had been taken right into the Liberal camp, where he was soundly spanked by Premier W. L. Mackenzie

TRY SULPHUR ON AN ECZEMA SKIN

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying Mentho-Sulphur declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth. It seldom fails to relieve the torment without delay. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream—Advt.

King. The sarcasm of his speech had stirred up a pack of wolves in the government ranks, which, led by William Duff of Lundenburg, Hon. G. P. Graham of Essex, and T. Vein of Quebec South, attacked him so furiously that Mr. Meighen lost his temper and equilibrium, failed to pick up again his thread of argument, stammered and scattered some, and after a few words sat down. The remarks which brought on his rout were that the Bourassa element in the house had dictated the policy of the government.

In his anxiety to humiliate the government, Mr. Meighen forgot that his own party had no naval record which it would want brought to light. Unfortunately for him, his opponents did not forget that in 1911 the Conservatives enlisted the aid of the Nationalists of Quebec to crucify Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his naval policy. This was hurled at him time and again, and he could not answer. He was forced to side-step and evade the issue.

The premier, on the other hand, made his most effective speech of the session. He outlined the Liberal naval policy since the year 1910. "The Liberal party," he said, "has had one naval policy from the start, and that has been a permanent policy. It has never wavered in that policy; it has fought for it; it will continue to stand for it, and some day that policy will become the pride of this country, as well as the party that inaugurated it."

His reference to Canada's naval history proved that Mr. Meighen had made assertions in ignorance or in disregard of the true facts. Mr. Meighen, though he spoke once again, made no reply to the premier's charges.

Premier Mackenzie King undoubtedly lost ground during the early part of the session because of his great tolerance, but Tuesday night placed him in an envied position as far as his party is concerned.

Mr. Meighen, on the contrary, is no longer the superman who never lost his poise in a debate. Unquestionably he lost much of the confidence of his own party by his showing of temper, and his failure to carry out his arguments.

HON. CHARLES STEWART, minister of the interior and of Indian affairs, is highly satisfied with the result of his visit to the Six Nations Indian Reserve. The minister feels satisfied that a permanent agreement and a lasting peace has been established.

At the present time Hon. Mr. Stewart is preparing a report and recommendation to bring before the house at a very early date. The report will embody all the promises made to the tribe at Monday's party. He does not anticipate much opposition to the adoption of his proposals.

No move has been made up to the present time to appoint the committee of two to audit the account of Indian expenditures. It was pointed out by the department that the Indians must make the first move in this direction if they believe the money was spent unwisely. If they appoint a representative of the government will lose no time in appointing a second auditor. The minister is gratified that considerable publicity was given to the troubles of the Indians, for conditions in some respects were more serious than the department at first thought. He expressed the belief that the newspapers by their stand prevented the most out of the government from going abroad.

J. D. F. DRUMMOND (West Middlesex) will address a meeting of Progressives at Alisa Craig Saturday night. He will speak on the federal government, and on certain pieces of legislation adopted during the present session.

THE city of Galt is moving to secure better postoffice accommodation, and with this end in view it is expected a deputation will wait upon the minister of public works in the near future. The deputation will be headed by W. Elliot (South Waterloo).

It is claimed that the present postoffice is so small that it will not accommodate the floods of catalogues sent out by the various departmental stores from time to time. When they arrive they must either be left in the yard or in the express office.

The city hardly expects that it will secure a new postoffice this year, but the deputation will suggest that a certain piece of property, highly suitable for such a building, be secured while it is available and used as a postoffice site whenever the government finds itself in a position to erect a building.

HON. J. L. PERRON ADVISES EARLY QUEBEC ELECTION

Minister of Roads Takes Stand on Liquor Question as Raised by Conservatives.

MONTREAL, May 18.—Early provincial elections were strongly hinted at by Hon. J. L. Perron, minister of roads, in a speech to the Perron Club here last night.

The minister wants elections as quickly as possible, according to his statements, so that the provincial government may confront Arthur Sauve, leader of the Conservative party, on the issue as regards liquor raised in the Conservative convention platform.

He said he was eager to go to the people of the province and ask them if they wished "20 people in the province, or 25 or 40 or 50 to take hold of the liquor commerce and make millions and sell without control to whom they wished, at prices they wished, wherever they wished, and put the money in their pockets or, 'do you prefer that the law as now administered be maintained?'"

That, said Mr. Perron, was the issue which he wanted to take before the people against Mr. Sauve, and the quicker the better.

SENATE PASSES DEFENCE BILL

Adopts Measure After Defeat of Clause To Create National Council.

Senator Pardee Stresses Dominion's Need For "Sturdy, Individual Canadianism."

OTTAWA, May 18.—(By Canadian Press.)—The national defence bill was finally adopted by the senate today, after the clause creating a national defence council was defeated. The chief criticism on this point was the salary of $4,500 per annum paid the deputy minister of militia as vice-president of the council.

An amendment by Senator Dandurand, which restricted emolument to the vice-president of the proposed council, was previously defeated. Senator Pope called the attention of the government to the deplorable condition which surrounded many of the settlers under the soldiers' land settlement scheme, and asked if the government proposed to take any action for their relief.

Senator Dandurand replied that a big problem had arisen out of land settlement. The House of Commons had appointed a special committee to investigate the question of soldiers' civil re-establishment, and the government's policy would be formulated on the findings of that committee.

Senator Griesbach drew the attention of the government to the census racial classification, and the rumor that it was to be changed. At present there was no recognition of Canadian nationality, and each person must state the race from which he sprang. He believed that this present system should be maintained.

Senator Pardee objected to Senator Griesbach's proposal. What was wanted in Canada was sturdy individual Canadianism.

Senator Fowler believed that Canadians should be broad enough to appreciate the merits of others. Lack of such an outlook was not creditable to the American people.

But It Was a Mistake Over Railway Lines—Travelers' Aid Establishes Connections—Reunites Lovers As Part of Day's Work, Teaches Colored Girl to Read.

She stepped off the C. P. R. train Thursday forenoon at 11:15 o'clock, a woman advanced in years, laden with bags, bundles and wraps.

She looked eagerly around, then an expression of keen disappointment replaced the one of joyous expectation. The woman with the travelers' aid badge, the every-day-in-the-year friend-in-need, noted the stranger's apparent anxiety and nervousness. Could she do anything to help?

It was just another of the cases that occur every day owing to mistakes of various kinds. Mother had almost reached the end of her journey, coming all the way from New Zealand to visit the best-loved son in the world—her own. He was coming in his automobile to meet her at London station, but she didn't see him anywhere. What in the world could have happened to him?

Travelers' aid secretary explained that there were two trains arriving about the same time, one by C. P. R., one by Grand Trunk. Had she told him which line she was arriving on?

Mother hadn't dreamed there would be two railways to London. In any case that didn't comfort her much. All she could do was to pace up and down, looking anxiously at every man on the platform.

A new fear had come to her. It was so long since she had seen him possibly she wouldn't know him, and he might have forgotten what she looked like.

Travelers' aid begged her to put down her bags and rest, to go to the waiting-room and sit down there, the place her son would inevitably expect to find her. But mother couldn't rest, after three weeks' journey and no son at the end of it.

"I'm certain he will be waiting for you when the train comes in at the other station," reassured travelers' aid. "Won't you come with me?"

Mother wouldn't take such a risk of missing her boy for anything in the world, and travelers' aid hurried off to her duty at the Grand Trunk, assuring she would hunt up the missing son and send him along.

Finds "Lost Boy."

She knew in a minute the "lost boy" in the mature man who stood beside the train which had just arrived from the east, asking eager questions of a trainman. The answers left him as disappointed-looking as the mother from New Zealand impatiently waiting at the

C. P. R. "Are you looking for a lady from New Zealand?" asked the travelers' aid.

Like a shot the man turned and fired the question, "My mother, where is she?"

And when he learned she was packing the platform at the C. P. R. he was off in that direction before the travelers' aid could recover her breath.

Averting "near tragedies," uniting parents and children, patching up mistakes for lovers, all these tasks are part of the "day's work" for the busy travelers' aid secretaries.

Long as are their hours and taxing at times the duties that devolve upon them, the occupation, because of its human interest, its close touch with real life, never loses its appeal.

Sometimes, owing to unfortunate circumstances, two hearts that should beat as one are sadly out of time and tune for dreary hours. Frequently it is the cable or telegraph service that is to blame; frequently the failure on the part of the expected one to realize Canada has more than one railway. The travelers' aid, under such circumstances, provides a real first aid to harmony by explaining just how such mistakes as missing connections are occurring all the time, then assisting in locating man or maiden, as the case may be.

"And There Was She."

A few days ago a smartly-dressed young woman with handsome English "juggs" was amongst those waiting in vain for a familiar face when she arrived in London to make connections for the last stage of her journey to a new home. She had telegraphed her fiancé when the boat docked, the hour of her arrival in London, where he was to meet her. She had come on a C. P. R. boat, and he didn't dream for a minute she would arrive on a Grand Trunk train. Failing to get a second message from her, which told of a change in route, he took for granted she had been delayed and a wire would be awaiting him when he got back home.

At the close of the day travelers' aid was just putting the bride-to-be on the train to go on when a young man hurried towards them, joy written on his face. It was just by accident he was taking that train after a desolate afternoon trying to kill time in a local theatre. The train went out while mutual explanations were in progress. Under the circumstances it was decided to make a trip to a clergyman known for his

Shower Their Gifts On Parsonage Baby.

A HAPPY event of Wednesday evening was the miscellaneous shower given by the ladies of Centennial Methodist Church in honor of Baby John Thompson, the first baby which has honored the Centennial parsonage in the past 30 years. Many dainty and handsome gifts were presented to Mrs. Thompson on behalf of her young son.

skill in tying securely nuptial knots. Thursday forenoon was a quiet one in the Grand Trunk station from 9:30 until 11 o'clock. Seated in her corner, the travelers' aid secretary noticed a young colored girl deeply engrossed in a book. What was she reading? The girl looked pleased at the interest, and confided she was earnestly striving to learn to read English, lacking schooling. She had three or four hours between trains, and thought she would make the most of the golden moments. That is how it came about that the travelers' aid secretary devoted her hour in a half of leisure in the forenoon to teaching a chance acquaintance, a young colored girl, all she had time to about reading.

CLUB NEWS

What Women Are Accomplishing In London.

RUMMAGE SALE SATURDAY.
In aid of the organ fund of the church the Inasmuch class of Tolbot Street Baptist Sunday School is holding a rummage sale Saturday afternoon, May 20, beginning at 1 o'clock sharp, at 629 Dundas street. It is stated that a valuable collection has been made of clothing and other useful things, which will be offered at rare bargain prices.

REGRETS OMISSION.
The War Memorial Hospital committee regrets that in the list of endorsements published recently the Mr. R. C. Struthers' endorsement of $500 for a crib was omitted.

DON PARTY PINS.
After only a few minutes of business on Wednesday evening, the London Women's Labor Party adjourned the weekly meeting to join the labor men in hearing Major T. J. Murphy speak on the eight-hour day. Before doing so, however, arrangements were made to hold a rummage sale, and ways and means discussed of bringing to the attention of people who have been unemployed or who have suffered need from other causes in the past winter, the backing which the city is giving to vacant lot gardening. The new London Women's Labor Party pins were on view for the first time, fashioned on maltese cross-lines of silver with the letters "L. W. L. P." in black, showing up in relief against a background of white enamel on each arm. A number of the members invested in these.

APPOINT CONVENERS.
Holding the final meeting until the autumn on Wednesday, the Ladies' Aid of Askin Street Methodist Church appointed committee conveners as follows: Parsonage, Mrs. Rose Smith; refreshments, Mrs. J. E. Jackson; visiting, Mrs. Charles Talbot; program, Mrs. J. Ballantyne; pianist, Mrs. Dulmage; fower, Mrs. John Heaman; relief, Mrs. James Rowntree; house, Mrs. D. Wilson.

COUNTRY HOME COOKING.
The Seventh Line Ladies' Aid has announced a real country home cooking sale to be held in the basement of the London Market House on Saturday, May 20.

SERVED 6,131 MEALS.
During the past winter, the Women's auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. has done its bit in helping along the association work by serving a total of 6,131 meals to the various clubs and classes which meet there. This report was given at the final meeting of the season, held this week, presided over by Mrs. J. P. Finnegan. The auxiliary will resume its service when Y. M. C. A. activities are re-organized in September.

ENTERTAIN SCOTCH CHAPTER.
Mrs. A. Wootton, 714 Maitland street, is entertaining the Loch Lomond Chapter, L. O. D. E., at the next meeting, to be held Monday next.

WAITING SIGNS OF GROWTH.
Dear Miss Grey—How are you and the friends of the Mail-Box enjoying this weather? I saw where Cinnamon Vine kindly offered hcg bulbs again this year. I think it was very nice of her, don't you, Miss Grey? Could I have six bulbs, Miss Grey, if it is not too much trouble?

Where have just Me, Helene and Heart of the North Wind gone? We haven't heard from any of them for such a long time. Many of the Mail-Box members seem to have so much trouble. I feel so sorry for them, and hope the lining of their dark cloud will soon show. I have my vegetable and flower gardens planted, and am anxiously waiting for signs of growth. Please find inclosed mite for bulbs.

CURL WURL.
The bulbs are already on the way to you, Curl Wurl. It is a long time since you last wrote to us. I wish you the best of luck with your garden.

Mrs. Harris Elliott entertained informally at the tea hour Thursday in honor of Mrs. Charles Flanders of Winnipeg, who is staying with her daughter, Mrs. Fred Brickenden.

Mrs. Isaac Marlatt left Tuesday evening for New York, and will spend the next two months there, a guest in the home of her son, Mr. Lorne Marlatt, 8 Rutland road, Brooklyn.

Miss Porte, accompanied by her guests, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Porte of London, England, and Mrs. E. H. Johnston are motoring to Toronto, where they will spend the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Laing of Exeter, Ont., announce the engagement of their only daughter, Margaret Hazel, to Mr. Uric Snell, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Snell of Exeter, the marriage to take place in June.

Mrs. A. D. Jordan has returned home from Lindsay, where she attended the Sutcliffe-Flavelle wedding, which took place Tuesday, accompanying Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Schell, and Miss Helen Schell of Woodstock, by motor.

Major Hume Cronyn and Mrs. Cronyn, and Misses Honor and Katherine Cronyn are leaving the middle of June for their summer residence at Beauman's, Muskoka, and will be joined later by Master Hume Cronyn, who is attending Ridley College.

Visitors at the Caledon Club include Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lawson, and Mrs. Frank Lawson; Mr. and Mrs. James E. Kerrigan and their son Charles. Mr. and Mrs. Kerrigan, accompanied by their son, are sailing for England and France in July.

A marriage of interest to Londoners took place on Saturday, May 13, at St. John's Church, Port Dalhousie, when Aileen Margaret, eldest daughter of Alexander R. Irwin, Esq., of Port Dalhousie, was married to George Warren Hague, son of Rev. Dyson Hague and Mrs. Hague of Toronto. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dyson Hague, assisted by Rev. A. R. Powell.

At the sewing-ten for the War Memorial Children's Hospital, held by the Wortley Road Mothers' Club this week at the home of Mrs. Floyd, Wortley road, the presentation was made to Mrs. W. Massel, Duchess avenue, of a handsome jardiniere, a farewell gift before she leaves the city to make her home in Kitchener. In connection with the presentation, warm appreciation was expressed of Mrs. Massel's work in the club, and regret at her removal from London. Mrs. William Ward has invited the club to hold the next sewing meeting at her home, Mount Pleasant avenue, on May 26.

Lieut.-Col. C. H. Hill and Mrs. Hill and the officers and wives of the R. C. R.'s entertained at a farewell dinner party Thursday evening in the officers' messroom at Wolseley Barracks in honor of Major-Gen. H. A. Panet and Mrs. Panet, who are leaving in the near future for Toronto. Other guests were Col. and Mrs. Langford, Capt. and Mrs. Hemming, Capt. and Mrs. Bayly, Capt. and Mrs. Holloway, Capt. Fenton, Mr. Prince, Mr. Belson, Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, Col. and Mrs. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Harris and Miss Harris, Mr. Betts, Mrs. S. Smith, Major Lawless, Major Mortimore, Mrs. Bate of Ottawa, and General Shannon.

Thursday afternoon Miss Frances Cullis entertained at bridge at her home, 177 Wortley road, in honor of her cousin, Mrs. Roy Craig, who is leaving the end of May to make her home in Toronto. White lilacs and tulips brightened the rooms to which little Beth Atchison, the fairy-like door attendant, admitted the guests. An interesting feature of the afternoon, and one that was made very picturesque, was the presentation to Mrs. Craig, by her whist club, of an electric chafing dish. The gift was placed in a box, decorated with pink, white and green, on a little express wagon, drawn by two small boys in white. Douglas Russell and Donald Atchison, who were driven by Beth Atchison.

A memorable event for the 1922 graduating class of Victoria Hospital training school and their friends was the reception and dance held Thursday evening in the new medical college gymnasium, following the exercises of the afternoon. With the wealth of bouquets and basket of flowers showered upon the graduates, and streamers in the school colors, purple and gold, the gymnasium was transformed into a place of beauty worthy of the occasion. Very winning and smart the guests of honor looked in their white uniforms, to which the presentation corsage bouquets added a bright color touch. In the receiving line were Miss Elizabeth Ross, lady superintendent of the training school, Misses Jefferson, Green, Cunningham, Wright, Turner, Long, Newcombe and Blair. Irresistible music for dancing was provided by the Versatile Six orchestra. At the close of the evening the guests made their adieux to a committee of the graduating class, Misses Langford, F. Campbell, Boss and Bryan.

WANTS BULBS.
Dear Miss Grey,—I did not intend coming so soon, but as I saw in the paper where Cinnamon Vine was sending you some cinnamon vine bulbs, I am inclosing a quarter for three bulbs, the money to be used for the War Memorial Hospital fund. Isn't this weather lovely?

TRUE BRETON.
The bulbs are already on the way to you, True Breton. Many thanks for the quarter for our hospital fund, which is steadily growing towards the $1,000.

MOTHER'S ONLY GIRL.
Dear Miss Grey,—It is a long time since I last wrote, and I have had a lot of sickness. My girl was in the hospital a month, and then, after coming home, took sick again and was at the point of death. I wonder who Mother's Only Girl is, who sent her such a lot of nice flower slips? Tell her, with all the sickness, they were not cared for, and all died but one geranium. I saw where bulbs were offered. I would like to get some dahlias yellow or slips of plants. I have yellow, but would like pink. I would also like some quilt patches, as I am going to start my girl on a quilt, as she cannot go to school until next September.

STOVE VARNISH.
I am sorry to hear of your little girl's illness, and hope she is all right again. I have placed your name and address on file, in case it is asked for the patches and bulbs.

Ways To Prepare Finnan Haddie

ALT and smoked fish can be used for many a delicious spring dish. As the weather grows warmer fresh fish is difficult to procure in many sections of the country, so let every housewife keep in mind that dried fish is a digestible food. Finnan haddie is delicious. Fillets of haddie are very convenient for serving and are the choicest part of the fish. They can be broiled or baked in milk.

To freshen salted smoked fish pour boiling water over fish. The fish should be placed in the pan skin side up. Let stand until the water is cool. Drain and wipe dry before cooking.

Broiled Finnan Haddie.
One and one-half pounds fish, 1 lemon, 2 tablespoons butter, parsley, paprika.

If possible choose a three-pound haddie and split in half. Pour over boiling water to cover and let stand till cool. Drain and dry. Brush over the flesh side with melted butter and lemon juice. Place in a well oiled broiler and broil fish side first. Turn and broil skin side. Broil each side till an appetizing brown. Remove to a hot platter, dot with bits of butter, sprinkle with paprika and minced parsley and serve at once.

Finnan Haddie a la St. George.
One pound finnan haddie, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 cup milk, 1 teaspoon minced onion, 1 dessertspoon minced parsley, 2 eggs, few gratings nutmeg, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ½ teaspoon paprika, brown bread.

Pour boiling water over fish and let stand 10 minutes. Drain. Remove skin and bones and divide into large flakes. Simmer 15 minutes. Drain from milk and chop fish finely. Save milk.

Melt butter in a stew pan, add minced onion and cook five minutes without browning. Add fish and parsley and one-half cup hot milk in which the fish was cooked. Beat eggs slightly with two tablespoons hot milk and stir into first mixture. Season with pepper and nutmeg and cook over hot water until mixture thickens.

Cut brown bread in slices about one and one-half inches thick. Cut out rounds and cut a little hole in the center of each. Dip in melted butter and crisp in a hot oven. Fill each cavity with the fish mixture and sprinkle with paprika. Garnish with a tiny sprig of parsley.

Finnan haddie is often cooked and flaked as in the preceding recipe and served in white sauce, with slices of hard boiled eggs.

Weeks slipped stealthily away, a spring enned like an eastern summer, while delays on delays accumulated and still the day when "shooting" should begin lingered remotely down tomorrow's dim horizon.

Lontaine had leased studio space in the Zinn plant, which Summerlad recommended, and the set modern and completely equipped on the coast. For this the company was paying a weekly rental of fifteen hundred dollars. An expensive executive and technical staff, lacking only a director, was kicking heels of enforced idleness on full pay. A story had been selected, an old novel by a moderately popular author to which Zinn had in 1914 purchased all motion-picture rights outright for five hundred dollars and which he was now willing to part with for ten thousand as a special courtesy because he had taken such a mad fancy to Lontaine.

A scenario writer, warranted by Zinn "the best in the business," had received five thousand for casting the story into continuity form, the labor of one whole week, and retired rejoicing to his hundred-and-fifty a week job in the Zinn scenario department.

A reading of his brain-child had persuaded Lucinda that continuity writing must be the mystery its adepts alleged; in fact, she couldn't understand the greater part of it, and what she did understand somewhat preyed upon her mind.

But Lontaine seemed satisfied. Summerlad soled her misgivings with the assurance that Potter Monahan simply couldn't write a story better than the one he had written, and both agreed that Barry Nolan would know what to do to make it right when he got down to work on it.

Incidentally, he did; Nolan read it half through, thoughtfully shied the manuscript out of a window, and dictated a continuity all his own, of which nobody but himself could make head or tail, and which at times in the course of its production seemed to puzzle even its perpetrator.

In the meantime Lucinda had moved to the Hollywood Hotel, the Lontaines to a furnished bungalow nearby, where they vainly pressed her to join them. She thought it wiser to decline.

"I'm far too fond of both of you to risk living with you," she explained. "Besides, it's high time I was learning to breathe in a proper motion-picture atmosphere."

This the Hollywood provided to admiration. Summerlad assured Lucinda, and on her own observation she could well believe, that at one stage or another of their careers almost every motion-picture player of consequence in the country must have registered at this hotel.

With most of these Lucinda became acquainted by sight, with many she grew accustomed to exchange smiles and the time of day. They made up some well-chosen shyls, according to the style they believed became them best. But on one point they were all agreed; they wanted work. Lucinda spoke to Lynn Summerlad, and was rewarded with a worried frown, the first sign of care she had ever detected in him, together with some well-chosen thoughts on the dangers of contracting haphazard hotel acquaintanceships.

"First thing you know they'll be trying to borrow money from you," Lucinda was silent for want of a conscience that would sanction an indignant rejoinder.

"But this is, after all, Hollywood," "No excuse for doing as the Hollywooders do."

"Then, I take it, you think it might be more discreet of me to stop going about with you alone?" "Oh, Lord!" Summerlad groaned. "I might've known better than to start an argument with a woman. I don't like to think of my outside influences working on you just now."

"Just now?" "Distracting your attention from really important matters." Lucinda was glad of the darkness of that section of the hotel veranda where they had been sitting for a quarter of an hour after returning from dinner.

This had been bound to come before long. One knew the signs in a man who held his peace about as long as he could. . . . Five weeks past that when, in the Beverly Hills bungalow, she had concluded that Summerlad's interest in her was neither impersonal nor of a transitory nature.

"The worst of it was, she was glad. 'Well, Linda?'" She put away her pensiveness, smiling to see Summerlad bending forward in his chair, anxiously searching her face for a clue to her mind but with the anxiety of impatience more than the anxiety of doubt.

"Well, my friend!" she said in amused indulgence—"so it seems you love me."

"Quite as long as you have loved me." "And you—?" "I don't know yet."

"You couldn't, Lynn. And you won't be able to count on you—unless you want me to think you're merely amusing yourself."

"But you don't think that. So be patient." "I'm not at all sure patience and love are even related."

"Then I'm afraid the only kind of love you know is not the kind that lasts." "If so, I'm glad I've known none that lasted; that leaves me free to be truly in love with you."

"That's rather clever of you, Lynn, almost too clever."

"I've got to be clever, I guess, to make you love me."

"Lynn, I'm afraid you're awful. Yes—and much too experienced! You'd better go now before you talk me into something that isn't real and . . . If you do love me, you aren't wanting anything else."

"I don't, but . . . You'd really like to get rid of me?" "For tonight, yes. I need to be alone to think about you."

Lucinda stood up, a manoeuvre that lifted Summerlad unwillingly out of his chair.

"Don't go before you've answered my question about these unlucky women."

"I'm sure I don't know. You can't turn Linda Lee, Inc., into a refuge for misguided females."

"There's one girl in especial I'm worried about, Lynn. She seems so ill and wretched. And even so, she's pretty."

"What's her name?" "Miss Marquis—Nelly Marquis, I think she said."

Summerlad had just then opened his cigarette case. After a thoughtful pause he shut it with a snap, neglecting to help himself to a cigarette, and replaced it in his pocket. Then, becoming sensible of the query in Lucinda's attitude, he asked in a dull voice: "What name did you say?"

HAS WESTERN ONTARIO ANY GENTLEMEN?

AT ONE TIME in the long ago a gentleman was a member of the nobility, one born to the purple, an aristocrat. But that was centuries ago, when class distinction was sharply drawn. Today in Canada, where there is no distinction of birth, what does the term mean?

A REAL GENTLEMAN.
A real gentleman is a man that can mind his own affairs.
S. M. MCGOUGH,
Maudslayi.

ONE WHO FEARS GOD.
I think a perfect gentleman is one who has the fear of God and the love of his neighbor in his heart, and in all things acts accordingly.
LOUISE,
Clifford, Ont.

LIVES GOOD LIFE.
A gentleman is a man who can live a good life. He must be courteous in all his dealings, be courteous in the presence of ladies as well as gentlemen. He must not be afraid to tell the truth to an audience of ladies and gentlemen, although he may offend some of the most charming people. He must be charitably disposed, graceful in his actions and kind to all, especially the old people and young children.
LAVINA SMITH,
Harrow, Ont.

MAKES ONE HAPPY.
An honorable man, always polite, who would do no mean thing towards anybody he meets, and thinks more of making others happy than of his own comforts. I think such a man would be a perfect gentleman.
S. E. G.,
P.S.—One who loves God.

THE GOLDEN RULE.
A man of no education or wealth may be a perfect gentleman. It is the innate refinement of one who is chivalrous to old and young, and who is courteous to his inferiors as well as to his superiors.
And he who follows the golden rule will never be far astray from being a perfect gentleman.
T. M. H.

HAS COAT OF ARMS.
A gentleman is one who is entitled to bear a coat of arms; or a well-bred and honorable man; or a person of independent income.
MRS. D. D. G.,
Wallacetown.

AN INDUSTRIOUS MAN.
My idea of a gentleman is an industrious, kind-hearted man, no matter what station of life. I think if the heart is really kind he does not needlessly or intentionally hurt or inconvenience anyone.

I think we all have our crosses days, and they may be none the less a gentleman for the kind heart helps to keep the temper.
MRS. LLOYD WILLIAMS,
Frogmore, Ontario.

AT ALL TIMES.
A faithful follower of Jesus Christ is a gentleman at all times.
T. G. L. Simcoe.

HONORS HIS FAMILY.
A perfect gentleman is a man who at all times treats his wife, family and fellow-citizens with kindness, consideration and courtesy, who is honest and straight in business and at all times just, doing always conscientiously what he considers the right thing.
ISOBEL L.,
St. Mary's.

MUST LOVE DECENCY.
To be a gentleman does not depend upon the tailor or the toilet, but a perfect gentleman must possess certain qualities of heart and mind. He must have a relish for what is decent, honest and amiable. He must have consideration for others. Gentlemen is a term which does not apply to any station but to the mind and feelings in every station.

As Emerson says, "Nature puts a premium on reality," what is done for effect is seen to be done for effect? To be a perfect gentleman, a man must have beautiful manners that come from culture of the heart.

We do not believe a man could be a perfect gentleman and be a crook. Neither would we call a man a perfect gentleman because "he stood with his

COURTESY PERSONIFIED.
A gentleman is nothing more or less than courtesy personified in the human male. The nearest approach the world has ever known to this definition was his late majesty, King Edward VII, he being just as courteous to his humblest subject as he was to his noblest courtier.
MRS. OLIVER L. NIV,

FIND A MAN.
When you have found a man you have not far to go to find a gentleman. He may be awkward, angular, homely or poor; his face may be bronzed at the forge or bleached at the mill; his hands may be large and coarse, his clothes patched with many colors, and he may still be a perfect gentleman.

A perfect gentleman is a human being, combining a woman's tenderness with a man's courage.
A gentleman is just a gentleman; no more, no less.

A gentleman is gentle, modest, courteous, slow to take offence, and one who will never give it. Slow to surmise evil, and one who never thinks ill. He subjects his appetites, subdues his feelings, controls his speech and deems everyone better than himself. A perfect gentleman is one whose nature has been fashioned after the highest models.

TRUTH AND HONOR.
A gentleman is one who has consideration for others as his foremost thought.

A man who is truthful and honorable, whose actions are not prompted by a selfish desire for any particular object, but, on the other hand, realizes that his fellowmen and women are also human beings and should be treated in the same way as he would have them treat him were their positions reversed.

The real gentleman is polite and has that manner of treating his associates, that is called "gentlemanly" or another word, considerate, so to define the term gentleman in a few words is to say: He who is considerate of others, immaterial of what station in life he may be, is the real gentleman, and—yes, Western Ontario has many so-called gentlemen, but the perfect gentleman, one as measured by the above standards, is indeed rare.

Magic Powder Keeps Twins Warm On Bleak Moon

(By Olive Roberts Barton.)

Mr. Peerabout chuckled until his long beard shook and the top of his head grew quite red.

MR. PEERABOUT, the Man-in-the-Moon, shook some of his magic powder over the Twins out of his wonderful fly shaker and said some words like this:

"Looney, mooney, shiver and sneeze, 'Up here on the moon you'll surely freeze; 'Now, floury powdery, work your charm, 'Keep Nancy and Nick both nice and warm."

Instantly the cold left their bones and a nice, warm glow seemed to spread all through them.

"What a feel better!" asked the Moon-Man.

"Oh, much better, thank you," nodded Nancy, who was beginning to like the queer, ragged old fellow and his queer ways of getting things turned around.

"And now," said Mr. Peerabout, putting his shaker away and sitting down himself, "won't you tell me about yourselves, and how it happened that the Fairy Queen sent you to help me? Or would you rather hear about me and the moon-people first?"

"Oh, yes, sir! If you please, sir!" begged Nick, who was dying of curiosity. "Things here seem to be so—so different from what they are on the earth. And Nancy and I are all mixed up. Perhaps you'd better tell us all about it so we won't make mistakes while we are here."

Mr. Peerabout chuckled until his long beard shook and the top of his bald head grew quite red. He winked wisely at the Magical Mushroom, who had come with the Twins and go back to his duties on the earth.

Radio Radiations

Amateurs are requested to make their queries as brief as possible to facilitate the publication and answering of the questions. Address your communications to the Radio Editor, The London Advertiser.

BY THE RADIO EDITOR.

WHAT'S the best set of all for the reception of radio broadcasting? It's hard to say. But I think that the radio-audio frequency amplifier is close to the top.

The parts for this set cannot be made easily. But they may be bought in any radio supply shop and rigged up according to the diagram with little trouble.

Hook-Up.
No. 1—Antenna tuning inductance, which may be just a simple tuning coil.
No. 2—Variable condenser of .0005 or .0006 microfarads capacity.
Nos. 3, 10, 21 and 24—Amplifier, or "hard," vacuum tubes.
Nos. 4, 11, 17, 22 and 25—Filament rheostat.

No. 5—Six-volt "A" battery of 90 or more ampere hours capacity.
Nos. 6 and 7—"A" battery potentiometers.
No. 8—Variable "B" battery of 17½ to 60 volts.
No. 9—Radio frequency transformer.
No. 12—Variable condenser of .0001 microfarads capacity.
No. 13—Variocoupler.
Nos. 14 and 15—Variometers.
No. 15—Grid leak and grid condenser.

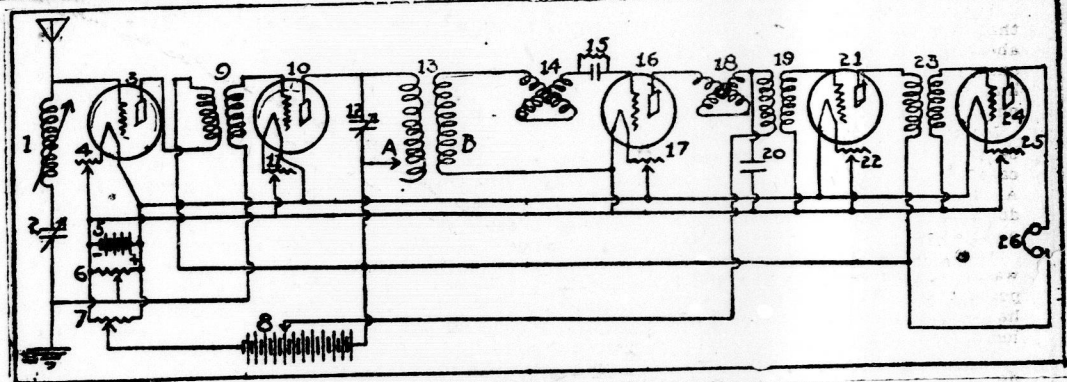

No. 16—Detector or "soft" tube transformer.

Nos. 19 and 23—Audio frequency transformers.
No. 20—Small fixed telephone condenser. Note that this fixed condenser is placed before the audio frequency transformation.
No. 26—Head phones of high resistance.

Suggestions.
In using this circuit, do not ground the negative side of the six-volt "A" battery. The potentiometer, No. 6, may be dispensed with. If not used the filament rheostat must be placed in the positive lead of the filament circuit.
This circuit may be used with an indoor loop.
But for best results use a well strung outdoor aerial.

RADIO PRIMER

Resonance—That function of radio circuit by which the receiving instruments are brought into tune with the transmitting apparatus, before signals can be heard. Comparison can be made with the tuning fork theory of acoustics, which, that one tuning fork will not respond to another that is vibrating, unless both are of the same key or pitch. In the same way, a receiving set must be placed into resonance, "tuned up," with the transmitting set to be heard.

Your Scarf Betrays Your Character—Watch It

EVERY neighborhood has its gossip and so has every wardrobe. The local gossip, who acts as personal press agent and general purveyor for publicity for everyone on her block, often causes us annoyance, but at least we can find out what she is saying.

But the gossip that lives in our own wardrobes is more underhanded. It makes the most startling disclosures about us, and we never know it. All of which leads up to my text today: Watch your scarf.

I know it is lovely and alluring and innocent looking, but be not misled. It isn't. Danger often lies in the handful of chiffon or the length of lace you add to your costume.

This season we are not only taking our scarfs straight, so to speak, but are taking them in modified form on practically everything we wear. They appear hanging from hats, disguised as panels and capes and even as a part of the gown itself.

THE danger of the scarf lies in the fact that it has no character of its own. It is only a chameleon, taking on the qualities of the person wearing it.

On a coquette a scarf will flirt outrageously and unrestrainedly. Yet at the same time a woman of stern moral fiber and it will immediately take on dignity and assume a virtue it has not.

The scarf is old, very old—as old as woman herself. It belongs to women with old souls and a knowledge of the arts of their sex. Though the flapper has adopted it as a part of her uniform she has made nothing of it.

To get an idea of its possibilities, study the Oriental or the Spanish woman.

The Oriental woman will wind a few yards of chiffon about her face in so subtle a manner that she is more alluringly veiled than the most ravishing beauty whose face is exposed.

The Spanish senorita can say with her scarf practically anything she

Use Coconut Oil For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, which is pure and entirely greaseless, is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply put two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water, then moisten your hair with water and rub it in. It will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rises out easily, and removes every particle of dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified coconut oil shampoo at all drug stores. It is very cheap, and the price is enough to last everyone in the family for months. Be sure you get Mulsified. Beware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package.—Adv.

DEWART ENTERS FINAL PROTEST AS BILL PASSES

Southeast Toronto Member Creates Stir in Legislature.

DRURY CONDEMNS ACTION

Premier Scores Questioning As Breach of Parliamentary Decorum.

TORONTO, May 18.—With his honor the lieutenant-governor in the speaker's chair waiting to give royal assent to the provincial corporation tax act amendments, which in embodied the clause to place a per cent tax on race track wagers, H. Hartley Dewart, K.C., tonight in the Legislature embraced an opportunity to register a final protest against the enactment of the measure.

All members were standing, the assistant clerk of the house had read a score of titles, foremost among which was the corporation tax amendments, and the clerk had made a dignified bow and uttered the word of the sentence which entered the bill into law. In his Majesty's name, his honor doth assent to these bills.

The most intense quietness prevailed throughout the chamber. The use and galleries were visibly emptied when the member for South-east Toronto, standing in his place, commenced to speak.

"May I ask the premier," he said, "whether his honor has had the advice of independent counsel with reference to the corporation tax act, except that of the honorable the attorney-general, who has been associated with the social service council in the view he has so often expressed in the house?"

Drury Makes Reply.

After a moment of quietness Premier Drury answered: "I am not sure that he has."

Then Mr. Dewart continued: "May I ask the premier tonight whether it is fair to the lieutenant-governor if he should be asked to approve the bill when he has not had the best of independent advice?"

"Nobody answered," the clerk was called to complete his stereotyped sentence, and the incident was over. Premier Drury later tonight characterized as "deplorable" and "an unprecedented breach of the decorum of Parliament" H. Dewart, K.C.'s oration at the moment his honor the lieutenant-governor was giving assent to the corporation tax act amendments.

The premier said in his statement: "The effort made by Mr. Dewart of the house tonight to interject a seditious and unparliamentary suggestion giving royal assent to measures passed by the Legislature was deplorable, not only as an unprecedented breach of the decorum of Parliament on such an occasion, but also of the reactionary constitutional principle enunciated. The suggestion that his honor should rely in the advice of others than his constitutional advisers is so entirely in variance with the principle of responsible government that it is surprising in these days of parliamentary democracy that any member should venture to make it."

The debate on Premier Drury's bill continued tonight in the Legislature when speeches were delivered by Edgar Watson, U.F.O. member North Victoria, and R. K. Hall, member for Parry Sound.

Scores Commission's Acts.

Mr. Watson said he thought he had the right in saying the authority of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission had been used in a way in which it should have been used in advocating development and voting upon by-laws for hydro radials. In his opinion, a commission appointed by the government should not be the medium for disseminating propaganda.

The Ontario Legislature spent part of this afternoon wading through the consolidated bill containing all the amendments to municipal act which have been favorably reported upon by the municipal committee. The bill was taken up clause by clause by a committee of the whole house.

The clause which would have limited property holders to one vote in municipal elections on money by-laws was thrown out on division, and the law in this respect will remain unchanged, namely that a property holder can vote on these by-laws in any ward in which he has property.

K. Homuth (Waterloo South) introduced fares to mountain resorts and Pacific coast.

Canadian National Railways Announces Reductions.

Travel to British Columbia should be a step forward with the marked reductions in passenger fares just announced by the Canadian National Railways. The return rate from Toronto and Hamilton will be $109.55 to Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle or Portland, Ore. A circuit tour to include two days on the company's splendid British Columbia steamships between Prince Rupert and Vancouver, may be taken at an extra cost of $13 to cover meals and berth.

Jasper Park and return fare is $0.

All tickets carry the usual optional privileges, including passenger travel via the Sudbury-Port Huron route in one direction, and the Transcontinental Line back the height of land, via Cochrane and Cobalt in the reverse. Wide berth seats are also available on Canadian National route west of Winnipeg.

Tickets are good for stopover at points within limit of October 31, apply to any agent of the Canadian National-Grand Trunk Railways for full particulars.

What Date in Canada Is It? That Depends

SECRET OF SPHINX

Calendar reformers say the sphinx was primarily to measure solar movements and compute astronomical data.

The sphinx, facing east, originally wore, at the crest of its forehead, the carved image of an asp. The asp's head, at sunrise, cast a shadow along the sphinx's body. From this shadow grooves were cut, and from these seasonal markings the Egyptians were able to work out their early calendars.

WHEN It's Jan. 1 in London, Ontario, it's—

Dec. 9 in China.
Nov. 16 in Turkey.
Jan. 14 in Russia, Serbia, Greece and Bulgaria, and

Other dates in various other places. This causes confusion. Thomas D. Schall wants this country to lay a basis for worldwide calendar reform, by getting our own year established on so scientific yet simple a plan, that other nations will adopt it on its merits.

The old Romans ran their year on the lunar basis. In 46 B. C. Sosigenes, an Egyptian astronomer, advised Julius Caesar to adopt his country's system, which allowed for twelve equal months of thirty days each, the odd five or six days as the case might be, being set apart at the end of the year for festive purposes.

Liked Odd Numbers.

Julius did this, in principle, but being a believer in the luck of odd numbers, scattered the extra days among the various months, alternately. Needing another day to complete this arrangement, he arbitrarily took the thirtieth day from February and gave it to November.

Later Augustus Caesar, apparently simply for the sake of change, altered Feb. 29 to Aug. 31, Sept. 31 to Oct. 31 and Nov. 31 to Dec. 31.

Until 321 A. D. the days of the month were only numbered, not divided into weekly periods. In that year Constantine the Great established the seven-day week, with the and M. MacBride (South Brant) were the chief supporters of the clause, and maintained that it was not fair to allow persons having a number of properties to vote in each ward in which these holdings were located. Often they did not represent more than a few thousand dollars in value altogether, while another man with property worth a million dollars had only one vote because it was located all in one ward.

The present law, they claimed, was also unfair to the poor man whose interests were often swamped by persons who had votes in several wards.

The members opposing the clause, including Provincial Secretary Nixon, who moved that it be struck out, urged that owners with widespread interests in a municipality should have the bigger say when liabilities were placed on their properties. Premier Drury said with the minority to keep the clause in.

Discuss Highways.

The longest discussion arose over the sections of the bill entitled "deferred widening of highways," which was finally carried. The bill provides that a city of over 50,000 population may by bylaw declare that it intends at some future date to widen a certain street and fixes the line to which it is to be widened. It really becomes owner of that property which will be taken by the widening when the bylaw is passed, but the city does not take possession until the date fixed in the bylaw, which may be any date between three and ten years. The price to be paid is the value of the property when the bylaw is passed, but as the former owner will have the use of the property in the meantime, payment is not made until the city takes possession. The land to be expropriated will be free of municipal taxes until taken over, but a certain tax will continue to be levied on the building.

An owner who builds on property covered by the bylaw does so at his own risk, and cannot recover further than three-quarters of the value of a temporary one-story building.

The act provides that the only way the bylaw can be repealed is by a two-thirds majority of the municipal council and the approval of the railway and municipal board of the province, who will decide what damages shall be paid the property owners. There was no opposition to the principle of the bill when it came before the committee today. It was generally conceded that growing cities had to be protected from prohibitive prices in widening thoroughfares.

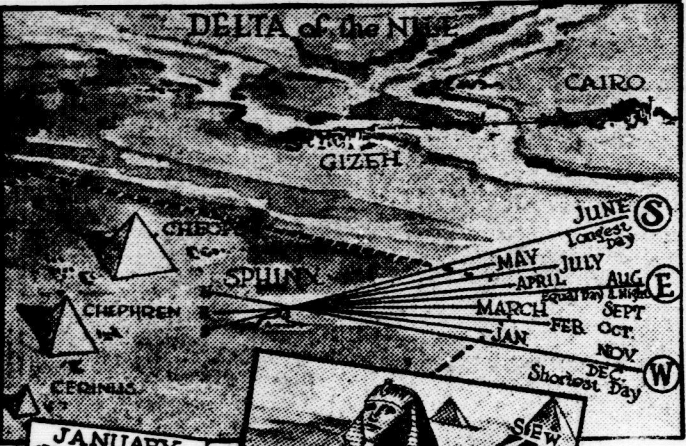

J. W. Curry (Toronto), who sponsored the bill, read resolutions passed by the Ottawa board of control and editorials from Ottawa and Hamilton papers endorsing it, to show that it did not affect Toronto alone.

Dewart Moves Reduction.

H. H. Dewart took the position that ten years was too long a term. He moved that it be reduced to five years. Mr. Curry explained that the committee had already reduced the term from 15 years to 10 years, which he thought should be left at that. The house agreed with him.

The clause of the bill which provides that municipalities may hold their elections on the first Monday in December was passed. The bill provides for keeping the polls open until six o'clock, and requires that the financial statements in such municipalities must be submitted to the electors before nomination day, the last Monday in November.

Hon. D. Carmichael introduced an amendment to the power commission act which provides that trustees of a police village may act as a local hydro commission. It slightly changes the form of creating rural power districts, and provides for commissions in portions of townships which are really urban. The afternoon sitting was enlivened by a clash between M. M. MacBride (South Brant) and Premier Drury over a question Mr. MacBride placed on the order paper asking if Lord Harris is associated with certain large private corporations. The member for South Brant thought it was time it was answered, and when the premier intimated that he had not taken any rest-giving Sunday, but the months, week or month. Thus every week would begin on Monday and end on Sunday and the day of the week of any given month would always be the same.

The additional month, to make thirteen, would be inserted between June and July, and Schall suggests "Sol" as its name, that being the month in which—for us—the sun would reach its zenith.

To provide for leap year Schall proposes to "skip day" between June and Sol, to be a holiday and included in no week or month.

Schall's proposal is to divide the year into thirteen equal months of four weeks each. This would take care of 364 of the average year's 365 days. The extra day, which Schall would put at the end of the year, would be a national holiday, standing by itself and not as part of any definite steps to get it answered, Mr. MacBride said it was an insult to him to have his questions so treated, and insisted that the premier answer. The premier said he would, and called the next order of business.

On objection, the speaker ruled that the prime minister before calling the order had sufficiently answered what Mr. MacBride had asked.

The house went into committee, and here the fight continued until the Speaker was brought back and reiterated that Mr. MacBride was out of order in trying to force a discussion of his question.

WORLD LEAGUE BRANCH FORMS

Stratford Citizens Launch Society After Hearing Sir George Foster.

Appoint D. M. Ferguson Chairman of Committee To Complete Organization.

Special to London Advertiser.

STRATFORD, May 18.—Stratford is to have a branch of the League of Nations' Society. This decision was reached at a public gathering here tonight, following an illuminating address by Sir George E. Foster. A committee with D. M. Ferguson as chairman was appointed to complete the organization.

Sir George Foster gave a comprehensive insight into the workings of the league, the remarkable guiding wisdom and harmony displayed at the sessions and dwelt on what had been accomplished through its agency.

Special reference was made to the establishment of the court of international justice.

"If the league had accomplished nothing more than this," he said, "its existence would have been justified."

Pointing out that the nations were so bound together now that another important war could not help developing into a real world war with many times greater horrors than the late war, Sir George urged the necessity of all the people standing firmly in support of the principles of the league and spreading the gospel of its mission. The meeting was held under the auspices of the teachers' association.

An Extra Pair of Pants FREE Doubles The Wearing Life of Your Suit

Thousands of men have taken advantage of this wonderful bargain in Men's Made-to-Measure Clothes. Why don't you? For value, quality of materials and moderate prices—we defy any concern in the whole of Canada to duplicate our offer of Extra Pants Free with each suit or spring overcoat ordered. Your extra pants will be made from the same material as you select for your suit or overcoat.

English & Scotch Woollen Co.'s Garments make you look different, feel different, talk different, because they are correct-fitting Tailored-to-Measure Clothes, and made in keeping with your personal preferences. Ordinarily such clothes command a premium, notably when they emanate from such high-priced tailor shops where limited output and expensive methods and equipment must of necessity add greatly to the cost of the garment. English & Scotch Woollen Co.'s garments offer maximum style and individuality at prices that are moderate and within the reach of any man, no matter what walk of life he is in.

CLAIMS U. F. O. AIMS "SELFISH"

E. M. Trowern Castigates Farmers For Co-operative Trading Efforts.

Dominion Retail Merchants Want Licenses To Hawkers Restricted.

TORONTO, May 18.—"Selfish and narrow" are the objects of the United Farmers of Ontario Co-operative Company, according to E. M. Trowern, secretary of the Dominion Retail Merchants' Association, in an address here today to the Ontario Retail Grocers' Association at their closing session.

Mr. Trowern said the farmers' trading organizations were trying to discredit the retailer, and if the retailers were abolished there would be a hue and cry for them to come back. No class of men could rise up and run this country, Mr. Trowern declared.

The grocers elected officers as follows: President, D. W. Clark, Toronto (acclamation); first vice-president, John Muir, Niagara Falls; second vice-president, Thomas Collins, Ottawa; third vice-president, W. McCorvie, Chatham; treasurer, P. L. M. Egan; secretary, W. C. Miller, representative to the Dominion convention, B. G. Crabtree, Ottawa. Resolutions adopted urged: That licenses to hawkers and peddlers be restricted; that retail prices should not be fixed by the manufacturers without consultation with the retailers' association; that application of the 8-hour day to the retail business should be made by the Dominion committee; that prosecution of all cases of fraudulent advertising should be made by the Dominion committee; that the holding of lotteries and guessing contests in an effort to sell merchandise should be discouraged by all reputable merchants.

FINES TORONTO DISTILLERS $1,000

TORONTO, May 18.—Goderham & Worts, distillers of this city, were fined $1,000 and costs by Magistrate Jones today for a breach of the Ontario temperance act. The magistrate found that the defendants had knowledge of the sale of a large quantity of liquor which, though presumably made to a resident of New York State, was in reality made to five residents of this city, the manager of Goderham & Worts knowing that this was the case. "At any rate," the magistrate commented, "no evidence was brought to show that they had not full knowledge."

BORN IN TORONTO, NOT A CANADIAN

MONTREAL, May 18.—"Are you a Canadian by birth?" Chief Justice DeCarie asked Thomas Gorman, charged with theft, this afternoon. "No, your lordship," was the reply. "I was born in Toronto." Gorman, who had been caught red-handed by the mayor of St. Lambert and who is over 60 years of age, was freed on suspended sentence.

Chatham Secures Site For Incinerator Plant.

Special to London Advertiser. CHATHAM, May 18.—The city of Chatham, in its quest for a site for the new civic incinerator, believes now that the end is in sight. According to reports current at the city hall this morning there are prospects of land being purchased from the township of Harwich close to the east end of the city. Negotiations for the purchase of the land in question are stated to be under way and that a definite proposition will be made at the city council meeting on Monday evening next.

STREET CAR CUTS TRUCK AT SARNIA

D. Hislop, Motor Driver, Sustains Severe Out On the Head.

Special to London Advertiser. SARNIA, May 18.—Sarnia's first one-man street car met with disaster this afternoon. The remodelled car was making the run to the beach and approached the western gate of the Athletic Park from which issued a motor truck driven by D. Hislop. A collision was inevitable and the front end of the street car struck the truck in the side and practically destroyed it. The street car front end was very badly damaged. The driver of the truck sustained a severe cut on the head.

According to a statement made public here today, the C. H. Willis Company of Marysville, Mich., show an increase of business that warrants the taking over of the Illinois Tool Company premises located immediately behind the Willis plant. The Canadian site of the Willis Company is located south of Sarnia, adjoining the property of the Dominion Alloy Steel Corporation, and while no definite date has been set for development of the Canadian site, it is stated in well informed circles in this city that the development must come before long.

FIND BODY AFTER 9-MONTH SEARCH

Special to London Advertiser. CHATHAM, May 18.—The body of the late Will Stevens, a son of the late N. H. Stevens, and a former resident of this city, has been recovered from Cheshmere Lake, near Calgary, Alberta, according to an advice received in the city today by Harry Stevens, a brother of the deceased. The late Will Stevens was a prominent citizen of Calgary, and was an ardent hunter. He lost his life while out hunting last October. While swimming out in the lake to get some ducks he had shot he was seized with cramps and sank. Previous efforts to locate the body had been of no avail.

THIRTY-ONE CALLED TO BAR

TORONTO, May 18.—Thirty-one graduates of the Ontario Law School were called to the Bar at Osgoode Hall today. Among them was Charles Albert Massey, winner of the Chancellor Van Koughnet Scholarship and Gold Medal.

O. T. A. OPERATOR ADMITS FRAME-UP

Tells Committee Owen Sound Man Fined $500 Was Innocent.

TORONTO, May 18.—Thomas Joynt of Shallow Lake and Owen Sound was convicted some time ago of selling liquor and fined $500 on the testimony of H. H. McCutcheon and another operator.

McCutcheon admitted in his evidence before a committee of the legislature that this was a "frame up," that they had not bought the liquor from Joynt at all.

Mr. Joynt today told the committee that he told the court at the time that "it was robbery," that he had never sold the liquor, but they fined him just the same. His lawyer is now taking steps to get the money

KITCHENER MEN GET JAIL TERMS

JUNIOR ENTRIES OUT- NUMBER SENIORS AT MEET

All Is Set For School Events At Queen's Park On Saturday—Medals Arrive.

All is in readiness for the big school track meet at Queen's Park tomorrow afternoon at 1 p.m. The trophies and medals have arrived, and are of the new design adopted by the executive of the Western Ontario Secondary Schools' Association. These medals are particularly attractive and will be much prized by the winners in the various events.

The senior individual championship shield has been donated by Mr. A. E. Silverwood, the junior shield by Major George M. Little. In anticipation of the breaking of several records five gold medals have been procured. These have been donated by Mayor Cameron Wilson, Mr. J. S. Barnard, Orth Limited, Rollins, Printer, and the London Printing and Lithographing Company.

The association is very much indebted to these people for their kindness in helping to make the meet an excellent success.

A glance at the entries for the junior championship will convince the most casual observer that the competition will be unusually keen. The entries are slightly more numerous for the junior events than for the seniors. This is probably due to the fact that more of the smaller schools have entered the meet this year than formerly. Below is given a list of the competitors in the various events.

SIX NATIONS TEAM SENDS WARNING

Indians Who Open Lacrosse Season Here Saturday Add Novelty To Game.

"Please prepare the grounds in front of the grandstand for Saturday, as we will have a man and scarp him and drag his body away."

This was the shivvy advice contained in a letter received from Chief Longboat, whose team of Iroquois Indians open the lacrosse season at Tecumseh Park Saturday, and which had President T. H. Yull of the local club feel his top thatch for confirmation, as he read it.

The Indians are natural lacrosse players and are always in condition, one of the big factors in the game, so they can be depended to give the locals an argument right from the opening whistle at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Between periods, the victors will give exhibitions of war dances, scalp dances, green corn dances, a less blood-curdling performance than the two former. Full war paint and scalping knives will be the stage scenery.

The Six Nations braves play in St. Thomas on Monday, in Chatham on the 24th, and in Sarnia at a later date.

PICKED TEAM.
 Goal, Adamson, St. Andrews; R. back, Ashton (captain), 1st W. O. R.; L. back, Rowbottom, R. C. R.; half, Russell, St. Andrews; C. half, Broomhead, 1st W. O. R.; L. half, Dave Smith, St. Andrews; outside right, Morgan, St. Andrews; centre forward, Hazelwood, G. T. R.; inside left, Moore, 1st W. O. R.; outside left, J. Holt, St. Andrews; reserves, Whitelaw, Angus, J. Smith.

This is the team which will meet St. Thomas All-Stars at Springbank on May 21. Scotty McKay of Army and Navy Vets is training the team.

Junior Bill.
 Twelfth Battery vs. G. T. R., Carling Heights, 2:15 p.m.
 W. O. R. vs. United Vets, Carling Heights, 6 p.m.

A special meeting of the London City Soccer League will be held in the Monday night at 8 o'clock for the purpose of electing a new secretary-treasurer in place of R. G. Sim, who has suddenly resigned.

The first W. O. R. make their second trip to St. Thomas on Saturday, where they will meet the St. Thomas United Vets in a London Soccer League game. From all reports the football fans of the railroad city will turn out in full array to welcome the local Blue and Whites. The same victory is expected if they snatched from M. C. R. last Saturday by a score of 3-2, and in doing so, gave one of the best exhibitions of soccer witnessed in these parts.

The W. O. R. are in good condition and have a hunch that they will be able to repeat the dose against the Vets. The locals will leave here at 4:20 p.m. by L. and P. S. and the game will commence in St. Thomas at the armory grounds at 6 p.m. The new addition to the team will be E. Howard, who has played good football during the past year near Manchester, England.

The following St. Andrews players are asked to be on the grounds at 5:30: Adamson, Wilson, Knight, D. Smith, Crowl, J. Smith, Owen, Holt, Whitelaw, Morgan, Mackintosh, Peebles, H. Johnston, Vetter, Clerk, Barcombe, C.

THISTLES TO HOLD FINAL EUCHRE

The last Thistle Club euchre party of the season will be held tonight, and a large attendance is expected. The interest has been intense throughout, featured by keen contests. A. W. Slatter at present leads with the highest average, closely followed by E. Dawson, A. Connor and C. B. Hillier. G. English leads the lone-hand specialists with 18, and L. Jones and A. W. Slatter are runners up with 15 each.

It was announced by the bowling games committee that the games between the president and vice-president will be staged on May 24 at 2 p.m. The greens are also open for friendly games at 10 a.m. An earnest effort is being made to have all the new members present, and give the season, which so far promises to be the best in the history of the club, a good send-off.

If the earth turned around in about an hour and a half instead of 24 hours things would have practically no weight the equator.

MONARCH VISITS SOLDIERS' GRAVES

LONDON, May 18.—(By Canadian Press Cable.)—His Majesty King George has written a letter with regard to his recent visit to the war graves, in which he says:

"His majesty trusts that the high commissioners and other representatives of the dominions will convey to their people the great satisfaction he expressed to them personally at the care bestowed on the graves of those who lie so far from their homes."

"In all the cemeteries visited by his majesty the dominion and British graves lie side by side. The king assures the people overseas that these graves will be reverently and lovingly guarded. It is a satisfaction to his majesty that the Imperial War Graves Commission is so constituted that these graves may be honored for all time."

"FRANKTURNER'S Clothes Value Is the Greatest In London!"

That's What Hundreds of Men Are Saying After They Compare My Finely Tailored Clothes With Any Others Offered Anywhere In Town.

Suits and Topcoats

Made to Measure

Here is a clothes value for the men of London that towers above anything the men of this city have seen for many years.

And the kind of clothes I am making at this extraordinary price are not just for today or tomorrow, but safe, conservative clothes that you can wear now and next year, with the assurance of knowing they are correct.

I KNOW THAT MEN WANT VALUE FIRST, THEN PRICE. HERE ARE BOTH AT ONCE

You Will Buy Again and Again From a Firm That Treats You Well

I know that men buy their clothes where they get true value plus service. They want clothes that are right for them, and they're going to find them. If my clothes are good, their prices fair, and my policy one of service and satisfaction to you, you'll be a regular customer. Knowing this, I am running my business on those lines. It pays—both you and me. Clothes of the sort you want can be had here, and they are backed up by a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. Come and see them.

MANY NEW GOLFERS PLAYING SATURDAY

Matches Mark Season's Opening For London Hunt Ladies' Golf Club.

Weather man proving kind, Saturday promises to be a gala occasion for the London Hunt Ladies' Golf Club, and also one of interesting revelations. Saturday is to be the real opening day for the season, though the links have enjoyed an unprecedented popularity among fair players for the past month, while the enthusiasts have been improving their game ever since the bridges were replaced and other ravages of the big storm of the end of March repaired.

Saturday the first matches of the season will be played and the first opportunity afforded to judge of the promise of an exceptionally large number of absolutely new 1922 golfing recruits.

Special prizes, one for each, for approach and putting, have been offered by Mrs. Marshall Graydon. In addition, there will be as many four-some matches as numbers will permit, and the officers are hoping to start the day bright and early, getting as many of these as possible played off in the forenoon. Though the men are playing in Sandwich that day, it is probable several masculine golfers will be at home and desirous of enjoying the links in the afternoon, hence a special effort on the part of the ladies to play off before luncheon. The luncheon is to be the first rally affair of the kind for the club this year, and members are reminded that if they intend to be there they are expected to have their names down before Friday evening.

Special interest attaches to the Saturday matches from the fact they will give an idea of who will be in the running for the Ontario championship matches to be played off at the Rosedale links, Toronto, in June. After the interest aroused by entertaining the tournament at the London Hunt last year, a number are looking forward to qualifying to participate this season, and possibly working up for the Canadian matches later. It is expected that at least eight will represent the London Hunt Ladies' Golf Club, and it is probable this number will be augmented.

Among the experienced players who have established enviable records for playing are Mrs. George Little, Mrs. Marshall Graydon, Mrs. Ernest Williams, Mrs. F. M. Spry, Mrs. E. B. Smith, Mrs. Basil Sterling, Mrs. Ronald Harris, Miss Jo Belton.

GRAIN ACT RULING TO BE APPEALED

OTTAWA, May 18.—(By Canadian Press.)—Sir Lomer Gouin announced in the house this afternoon that an appeal was being taken against the decision of the court of appeal of Manitoba which declared that section 217 of the grain act was ultra vires.

He added that no amendment to the grain act would be made in the meantime.

ADMIT PINCHOT ELECTED.

PHILADELPHIA, May 18.—Returns from 7,545 districts out of 7,931 election districts in Pennsylvania in Tuesday's primary show a majority of 8,027 for Gifford Pinchot for the Republican gubernatorial nomination over Attorney-General George Alter. Pinchot's election this morning was conceded by his opponents. He is representative of the independent progressive wing of the party while Alter had the indorsement of the state Republican organization.

About 50 out of every 100 natives examined in two villages near Lake Maracaibo, Venezuela, showed infection from malaria.

The Toughest Tests that any tire ever stood are the tests that DOMINION TIRES have to stand, right here in Canada.

From the peaks of the Rockies to sea levels on the Atlantic coast—when spring thaws make the roads hub-deep in mud—on blistering asphalt when July days register 100 in the shade—on the icy roads of January with the thermometer on the toboggan—DOMINION TIRES are right up against real Canadian conditions.

They are made for Canada, by Canadians, who know Canadian conditions.

They have been tried out on every size and make of car, from the every-day business car to the big stately limousines.

DOMINION TIRES give such mileage and service that, nowadays, when motorists talk tires, the natural question is, "How do they measure up to DOMINION TIRES—the tires by which all tires are judged."

Your Car will be a Better Car with Dominion Tires

Parnell's Butter-Cream Loaf WILL PLEASE YOU BEST OF ALL

It's a new creation from the Parnell Bakery Laboratory and, of course, is of the usual high standard of excellence of Parnell Breads. Rich Jersey milk, golden creamery butter, with lots of other health-containing ingredients, make this golden-brown, pan-baked loaf the delicious appetizer it is.

BUTTER-CREAM BREAD

has been on the market only a few days; yet its sale has been phenomenal. It has met with instant approval, and if you have not had a trial loaf yet, let us suggest that you ask our delivery man for one. If he does not call at your house ask your grocer or phone us for one of our wagons.

BUY YOUR L. & P. S. TICKETS AT DEPOTS

Ten Cent Surcharge To Be Levied On Tickets Sold On Trains.

Commencing next Monday, May 22, the London and Port Stanley Railway will adopt a system which has been in vogue on the steam railways for many years, under which a 10-cent surcharge will be collected from passengers who board trains at London, St. Thomas, Glanworth or Port Stanley and buy their tickets on the trains.

Depot ticket agencies are maintained by the railway at each of these points for the convenience of the public, and ticket sales can be more satisfactorily handled there than on the trains. Such transactions en route delay the conductor in the performance of his duties, and in view of the speed of trains and the heavy traffic it is desirable that the passengers have their tickets ready when the trip commences.

Therefore, passengers from the points named who purchase their tickets on the trains will be charged 10 cents extra.

The conductor will give a receipt for this amount, and the 10 cents will be refunded by the railway if the original purchaser presents his receipt to the depot ticket agent at his destination.

MURDER VICTIM FOUND IN SWAMP

HAMILTON, May 18.—The body of an unidentified Italian was found lying in Beverly swamp, on the 9th concession of East Flamboro, this afternoon. The man, it appeared, had been murdered by an auto party Wednesday night.

Money and jewelry found on him showed that robbery was not the motive. His head was horribly crushed by some heavy weapon. In his pockets were letters written in Italian. Translated, one mentioned several kinds of liquor, and another pleaded with some unnamed girl to renounce her intention of becoming a nun.

UNDER-PRODUCTION NOT AFTERMATH OF WAR

Whiting & Davis, manufacturing jewelers, Plainsville, Mass., in searching for the cause of under-production found it in the eyesight of their employees. At the firm's expense every person in their employ had their eyes examined. The result was startling, 84 per cent had defective vision, 8 per cent had correct glasses, and 8 per cent had perfect vision.

Think it over. See us today, and let us examine your eyes. Our glasses are the result of sixteen years' experience and scientific, up-to-date methods, combined with the highest quality in material and workmanship. See F. Steele, 210 Dundas street, for "glasses that satisfy."

VESSELS COLLIDE IN HEAVY FOG

PORT ARTHUR, May 18.—During a heavy fog on Lake Superior last night the steamer Midland King of the Canada Steamship Lines, and the Glenfinnan of The Great Lakes Transportation Company, collided somewhere in the vicinity of Caribou Point. The Midland King was unbound, en route light to Fort William for a grain cargo. The Glenfinnan cleared from Port William yesterday about noon, loaded with grain. News of the collision was contained in a brief wireless message from the Midland King and received this morning by Brock Batten, general agent for the Canada Steamship Lines. No information was given as to the damages sustained by the Midland King.
