BISHOP'S FUNERAL ORATION IMPRESSIVE

The greatest outpouring of affectionate respect ever given a citizen of London was accorded the late Sir Adam Beck by the thousands of citizens of every rank and station who attended the funeral service at St. Paul's cathedral this afternoon, and afterward lined Richmond street in dense and hushed throngs as the funeral cortege of the distinguished Canadian wended its way to the C. N. R. station en route to Hamilton.

Never before has the stately old cathedral witnessed such scenes of loving devotion as characterized the lying in state and subsequent funeral services of London's foremost citizen.

The casket was borne into the church shortly after 10 o'clock this morning, following the private service for members of the family at by the provincial cabinet in choosing

Trains, Crowded With Hands, Puff Out of Toronto

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, Aug. 17.-The big harvester movement from Ontario, particularly from points east of Toronto, commenced at midnight, when more than 7,000 harvest hands left for Winnipeg. Over the Canadian Pacific Railway four special trains left extrains steamed out of the union station. The seven special trains, however, carry only about half the number of harvesters who crowded the city, as both railways are each 2½ years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. InvestigatingCop Fools His Mates

Shortly after 1 o'clock this morning the police received a call that burglars were busy in a store on Dundas street east. The flier, with a load of police officers, was rushed to the scene, and the building was surrounded while some officers entered to make an investigation. They found one of their own force conducting a minute search of the building. He had found a door unlocked and was investigating before he made some arrangement to further prosome arrangement to further protect the property. So the police blotter records another good story gone wet.

HARVESTERS' RAMPAGE BRINGS ABOUT ARRESTS

Canadian Press Despatch. Regina, Sask., Aug. 18.—Nineteen eastern harvesters were arrested by Saskatchewan provincial police when 500 men aboard a harvester special stopped in the North Regina yards of the Canadian National Railways, went on a rampage last evening. Windows in the yard house were smashed, ties and beams piled along rails were scattered about, and a shanty was loaded onto a handca and hauled over to the main line and dumped by the men.

Breaking the Law.

The Ottawa Journal believes that the way to cure reckless driving is to make sure that those convicted of it shall be kept from doing any more driving. It would have the license cancelled for a long period.

As one listens to some of the cases that come up in the courts, it is plain that one thing lacking is a certain way of securing definite evidence German investigations, although it was found on which to convict. This was demonstrated that the Russo-Japanese war was followed by in a case heard a few days ago in a town near increased female births. In all these statements, London. Two cars had collided at a cross road. however, no explanation is offered beyond the The drivers of both cars swore they were not novel theory that scarcity of food in war and going over twelve miles an hour, yet both cars post-war years favors the birth of boys and Wallace, of the board of trade, having charge were more or less battered around. The case plenty of food encourages the birth of girls. The was apparently decided on the evidence produced French scientists do not explain whether this by the plaintiff. One witness estimated that the theory involves any reflection upon the weaker car of the defendant, on approaching the inter- sex. section, was going at forty miles an hour: another placed the speed at at least twenty-five miles. As a matter of fact both of these statements were merely estimates or guesses, and it much pleasure out of your holidays as you do is very difficult for a magistrate to accept such as reliable evidence.

His one chance of securing convictions is to hide at some spot and wait get his evidence that way. If he works that way difficult. he is held in disrepute, classed as a "spotter." and his position is not enviable. If he works around, and they keep to a moderate pace until grousing may finish it.

What is needed is a new conscience on the brushed up and brought to light. The man October as there are in Victory who observes the traffic law as long as an officer is looking at him is not such a highly finished citizen as he may try to make himself officers on the road to watch all the drivers. The most of the time they are on their honor and are supposed to observe traffic laws the same as they would any other law of the land.

The idea was to interest capital in the venture in order that St. Joseph might come a few steps further from the state of embryo toward reality. Even cabinet ministers came, saw, and were impressed to the extent that a dock sprang into existence at the bottom of the clay bluffs. What happened to the dock was significant of what later happened to St. Joseph. By the time it faced the rigors of the winter on the exposed shore of Huron there was no dock.

Even today, residents who were there at the time recall the odd experiences of those hectic days. One week workmen would be paid in full from money held in a dishpan; next pay day they would be willing to sell their pay

Pleasing Habits and Good Manners Mean Additional Working Capital Placed in the Hands of a Man.

I visit in a home in which there are both small sons and daughters.

When the girls come into the drawing-room they make their little curtsies, greet me charmingly and wait deferentially for a pause in the conversation before they address their mother. The boys come into the room with their caps on their heads. They merely grunt in reply to my greeting. They ignore my presence as if I were a part of the furniture of the room and blurt out: "Say, mama, whatcher do with my ball?"

The girls in this family are being boors. And as I look at them I wonan immeasurable advantage over her ons, and why she does not perceive for girls to have them.

Indeed, as between the two, it is even more important for the boy to have drilled into him a working knowledge of the usages of good society than it is for the girl, because he is thrown into contact with more people than she is and his success depends more upon his address than hers

Yet the country is overrun with finishing schools where girls have the last gloss of polish put upon their manners, but in all the length and breadth of the land, I know of but one institution of learning where they consider it as important teach a boy how to hold his fork as they do how to work out a problem in trigonometry.

Curious how we happen to have this idea that it doesn't matter how crude and boorish a man is, when we reason to novelists and dramatists endow their villains with polished manners and the outward appear most certain way to attract us.

We do not ask for the credentials of the man who always knows just what to do and how do it, and who possesses all the little arts and graces of life. He looks so good to us that we take him at his face value, for good manners are a letter of credit that is honored at sight the world over.

Of course, many men think that as

Mrs. Whitefoot Has a Narrow Escape As She House Hunts

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Little Mrs. Whitefoot the Wood Mouse was very much upset by the news that Spooky the Screech Owl actually was living in the same tree that contained her own home and the home of little Mrs. Timmy the Flying Squirrel. It was the latter who had told Mrs. Whitefoot about

In ad told Mrs. Whitefoot about Spooky. Mrs. Whitefoot had declared that she would move at once Little Mrs. Timmy had gone on up to her own home high up in the tree, wondering if perhaps it wouldn't be wise for her to move also. But somehow she couldn't bear to think of moving again right away, so decided she would wait a bit.

Little Mrs. Whitefoot saw to it that her babies were fed and then she started out to look for a new home. Hargly had she left that tree when Redtall the Hawk spied her, where Mrs. Whitefoot had been. But she wasn't there. She had been quite she wasn't there was a little hole in the ground that she knew of there. Reddy had thought that if she ran at all she would run away from him, and that if he missed her on that second jump he would get her on the third. So he made that was only instant his feet touched the ground he whirted about. He was just in time to see Mrs. Whitefoot's long, slim tail disappear in that hole. Then you should have seen Reddy dig. My, how he made the dirt fly!

But he didn't get little Mrs. White-

Some time ago several questions pertaining to Canadian industries were drawn up and handed to a number of women in Duncan. B. C. They were arranged by N. M. Henderson, provincial convener of Canadian industries in Brtiish Columbia, that he might learn from Canadians themselves just what they thought on the matter.

When Mrs. George Edwards of Komoka, prominent women's institute worker, returned from British Columbia a short time ago, she brought a copy of the questions with her. Following is a sample of the paper in full, with the answers given: "Every year enormous quantities of clothing, household necessities, toilet goods, fruits, etc., are purchased from the United States by the Canadian public. In the vast majority of cases the goods forming these purchases could be manufactured by Canadian workmen or grown by Canadian farmers. As it is however, thousands of Canadian workmen are out

"Thus it is to your personal interest to assist in finding out why your home productions are neglected while imported productions are favored. May we beg of you as a patriotic Canadian to give your W. I. convener of industries your candid replies to the following questions:
(1) In your daily buying do you ask for Canadian products?

(2) Do you buy the foreign article (1) because it is cheaper or (2) because the quality is better, or (3) because there is no similar article made in Canada?

All things being equal, we buy the cheapest.

COMMISSION'S PROPOSAL ON SPRINGS IS LAID OVER

Hot Weather Makes Meeting of Council Short and Snappy.

ARGUMENTS FEW

Prevailing hot weather had its effect upon members of the city council, and last night's session as a result was a short and snappy affair. It was too hot for argument, and as there were few if any items on the agenda of a contentious nature, business flowed along smoothly.

Ald. Frank McKay presented the 14th report of No. 1 committee, which was adopted clause by clause. Tenders for 500 feet of fire hose were awarded to each of the following companies: Dominion Rubber System, Gutta Percha Co., Dunlop Rubber Co., and Goodyear Rubber Co. Authorization was given for the installation of 19 new fire hydrants at various strategic points throughout the city, as recommended by the public utilities commission. Laying of a 6-inch main on Bathurst street east of Adelaide street was referred to the public utilities commission for a recommendation. The invitation of the Trades and Labor council to attend the Labor Day celebration was accepted, and as many of the aldermen as possible will be present. The suggestion of the city engineer was adopted that the lighting on the block on Dundas street between Wellington and Wat-erloo streets be curtailed by decreas-ing the wattage to the same as the rest of Dundas street, and the excess street lighting charge on the block reduced to the same rate as on Dundas street west, the city absorbing the difference in the general street lighting rate. The letter of the pub-lic utilities commission offering to purchase the sulphur springs property was received, but no action was taken as there is at the present time a prospective purchaser whose option does not expire until November 1. A bylaw authorizing the sale of the property was given two readings, but the third reading was laid over until the next council meeting.

Bylaw Referred Back. A bylaw authorizing the city council to enter into an agreement with the Royal Insurance Company for public liability and property with the Royal insurance Company for public liability and property damage insurance, was referred back to No. 1 committee, with instructions to ascertain that it be clearly undertood that the policy covers accidents to bridges and accidents

NERVOUS BREAK-DOWN

Pains in Back and Legs Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ford, Ontario. - "I had a nervous break-down, as it's called, with severe pains in my back and legs, and with fainting spells which left me very weak. I was nervous and could not sleep nor eat as I should and spent much time in bed. I was in this state, more or less, for over two years, before Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Com-pound was recommended to me by my eighbor. Before I had taken five es I was sitting up in bed, and when the first bottle was taken I was out of bed and able to walk around the During my sickness I had been obliged to get some one to look after my home for me, but thanks to the Vegetable Compound I am now able to look after it myself. I have taken Lydia E Pinkham's Blood Medding in turn with the Vegetable Comicine in turn with the Vegetable Compound, and I certainly recommend these medicines to any one who is not enjoying good health. I am quite willing for you to use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. J. SHEPHERD, 130

Jos. Janisse Avenue, Ford, Ontario. Nerveusness, irritability, painful times, run-down feelings and weakness are symptoms to be noted. Women suffering from these troubles, which they so often have, should give Lydia E, Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. All druggists sell the medicine.

Galt, Aug. 17.—The Terriers, like their rivals of the past three years for Western Ontario baseball honors, were cast among the discards this afternoon, when the Preston Riversides defeated them 9 to 5 in the third game for the group "A" play-off, and now the Mellanby boys meet the London Braves for the Intercounty championship. The twice champions, and last year runners-up for the Ontario title, went completely to pieces this afternoon, and spotted their rivals eight runs, and while they rallied desperately, and had not less than three chances to get even, being retired in the seventh and eighth with the sacks loaded, they lacked the comeback, for which they have been noted for in recent years.

But when the time came to bally-hoo this match, the public was not at all interested, because Dave was looked upon as a clever boxer and nothing else.

So in the Slattery meeting, Dave unhooked the right and showed folks what it was like. And recently out in the West coast, Dave sent Frankie Schoell down for the count of nine in the first round and thereafter mauled plenty.

, now the fans know what Dave has got, and Mickey Walker knows, and there should be a big gate and a great battle next month.

CONSISTENCY.

The two old rivals, St. Thomas and Galt Terriers, show as great consistency in defeat as in victory. There was little expectation until recent weeks but that the four-time gladiators for Western Ontario amateur baseball honors would make it a fifth straight, but both fell by the wayside in the short space of a week-end. They have little enough grounds on which to alibi, either one of Preston battled the Terriers right through the season, and proved their prowess in a three-game play-off. London seniors, however, down in the ruck a few short weeks ago, proved the biggest upset by bolstering up with juniors, and taking two hard-fought wins e Terriers and the Saints reached the crest of their form is hard to determine. But results prove that it's some way behind them. It's doubtful if this twin-domination will be resurrected for some seasons to come. A few years ago, both outfits came close to being perfection, as far as amateur baseball machines go, but a cog here and a cog there slipped, almost unnoticed, and the result is that baseball has had an unprecedented early closing in both Galt and St.

Undoubtedly the commercializing of tennis, which has been suspected for some time, is at the back of the disgraceful-for tennisscenes which took place at Forest Hills on Saturday, when Miss Helen Wills, was booed and hissed, and the umpires had to appeal to the crowd for fair play.

William Tilden's fight for the right to write tennis articles destroyed some of the illusions regarding tennis and its high-minded devotees. There have been other things hinted. As stars blossomed out and box offices began to clutter up the most exclusive of tennis clubs, the tennis crowds expanded rapidly. Formerly crowds at tennis tourneys were lovers of the game, and it was the game they went to see-not a spectacle. Now tennis has become a spectacle, in which the actors are much-advertised stars, and the make-up of the gallery has changed accordingly.

Tennis is progressing fast. Only a few short years ago, Tilden evoked much caustic comment by asking that the gallery not applaud during play. Hot-dog concessions may still play their part in the court

Local Seniors Have Advantage of Day's Rest Over Preston.

AT FULL STRENGTH

Preston Riversides, who crashed into the O.B.A.A. play-off race yesterday by putting out Galt Terriers, thrice Ontario champions and four times runnersup, meet London seniors here Wednesday in the first of the league titular games. This was decided last night following the game at Galt, when Preston won the toss of a coin, and elected to play at Tecumseh park Wednesday, with the final game in Preston Saturday. Ted Braund and Jim Andrews, representing London, and A. Schlegel and W. Heise, Preston, tossed the coin for choice of dates. Babe Sheppard and V. Wright were chosen by President Smith as the officials for this important game Wednesday's game will bring the fans to a full realization that at last Galt and St. Thomas, are out of the picture. They went out arm in arm and the emotive Wednesday's game will bring the lans to a full realization that at last Galt and St. Thomas are out of the picture. They went out arm in arm and the empty dope bucket was thrown out after them. The two teams have shown unusual consistency for amateur teams. as year after year they met in the semi-finals, and provided more thrilling struggles than even the finals themselves. The fact that they both went down in the same year emphasizes the suspicion that baseball teams go in cycles as well as other things.

The London seniors will go into Wednesday's game at full strength, and the same is true of the Preston team. London will have the advantage of an extra day's rest, as they earned the right into the league finals by putting the Tom Cats out in the cold night of oblivion on Saturday.

Bay City, Aug. 17.—George Tomer's smash to center field with two on in the sixth was the deciding factor in today's meeting of the London Tecs and the Wolves. It gave the homesters two runs, and a 2 to 1 victory.

Just how much that blow meant can be realized in the announcement that only three safeties were picked out of Rynearson's performance during the matinee. He was wholly invincible until the fourth, when there was one hit recorded, but he held through wonderfully well, and it was the sixth that caused his downfall. He walked only one man and hit one. Outside these things he was Al, and should have won. Throughout the entire game it was a pitching duel between Rynearson and Joe Marty. The local flinger was touched a little more frequently than was the visiting one, but it was a horse race all the way. For the first four innings, there was not a Londoner boasting a base hit. And it was until the sixth before Bay City did anything to tell the world about.

well-known Canadian cyclist. Base hit. And it was until the sixth before Bay City did anything to tell the world about.

London scored first. Brower, leading off in the fourth, sent a sharp drive down the first base boundary, and was at the keystone before the globule was recovered. The next two men went out, and it looked as though the gardener was going to stay pegged to the cushion. But Vermilyea came through with a crack into center, which Hughes missed, and Lou scored. The run looked big in itself, but Bay. City was not disheartened, for in the fourth they filled the sacks. So after missing out in the fifth, the Pack came through in the sixth. Hughes flied to sart things. Fielder was safe when Sandquist drew Cross off the bag with a wide throw. Prysock singled. Fielder aws forced at second on Cozington's bounder to the mound, leaving Steve on first and Prysock on second, as Tomer came to the line. He whammed one to the central area, and Klein bobbled it just long enough to let both men score. Tomer's drive in that frame was the big thing of the game. From then on onta a Wolf saw the precincts of any of the bases, and Rynearson bore down on the bosys hard. As his mates staged a late inning attempt to come back. But their efforts were unavailing.

In the sixth, a double play, Hughes to Rawlins, nipped a London opportuntor Rawlins, nipped a London opportuntor championship.

the third retributes in the pinch by flying out to Thomas. There was an inning left, and London made sure to impress that upon the Breenmen, before they dragged off for the day. The first two Canadians flied out. Things didn't look so good, especially with the lower end of Mike's roster coming up.

But Kernan singled and so did Vermilyea. Harris went in to run for the catcher, and Alten came to bat for Rynearson. Marty had him three and two, and the next one came in. But Jim Ward decreed otherwise, so the batter went to first. Three on, two out, and one run behind. That was London's predicament just then. Sandquist came up, took a couple preliminary swings and then sailed one well into the air, so that Hughes had ample time to catch the ball.

There were times when she had to support him in her arms that he might breathe with comfort.

His temper was intolerable. He cursed her, Dr. Stewart and the Jap, all of whom he believed in his disordered brain to be leagued against him. Once he caught her by the throat as she leaned over him, and his lean maniacal fingers sank deep into her white flesh before his strength left him and he sank back into his pillows.

Dr. Stewart, noting the purple bruise the following morning, forbade her the sickroom and sent a nurse from the hospital, but Chandler would have none of her. He demanded hadelon with such frenzy that the doctor was forced to accede lest he do himself irreparable damage.

After that occurrence, Madelon went about numbly, her face white and set. She felt herself a slave, and could fairly hear the rattle of her chains when she hastened to co. Chandler's sharp bidding.

The patted her arm gently.

"There, there! Don't distress your-self. I understand."

She felt somehow that he did, and when he had gone back to town she still was comforted by the thought that she wasn't playing the hypocrite altogether. Someone else knew that she wasn't playing to feel wifely solicitude, and not altogether succeeding. The doctor dropped in that evening to note the effect of the new medicine he had sent out from town. He expressed himself as highly gratified with the result. Already improvement was visible in the patient. "If he keeps this up for another day we'll have him out of the woods." he assured Madelon. "Give him the three drops faithfully on the hour, but remember, only three."

Late that night, when Chandler was sleeping. Madelon stole out to the garden for a breath of the sweet fresh wind before she went to take her uneasy rest on a couch at the foot of his bed.

The moon was fully risen above

There were times when his heart fluttered and slowed in its laborious beat that she caught herself watching him with eyes that were strained and almost hopeful. Remorse would overcome her, and she would be more tender, more solicitous of his comfort than ever. above the whisper of the sea on the coral reefs, came the music of guitars and ukeleles in melody hauntingly

An overwhelming wave of loneli-An overwhelming wave of long and across swept over her. She looked out across the moonlit sea to the rim beyond which lay the world, her world, a world that she might never know again.

"Oh," she breathed in a passion of longing and despair, "is this all there is? Is my life finished? Will it always be like this? Must it last ways be like this? answer came in the sharp, petulant voice of Chandler demand

She drew a deep, rebellious breath.

Even this bitter hour was denied her. It was time for his medicine, potent three drops-Before the flendish thought that suddenly assailed her she shrank back aghast.

PROMOTERS WILL BUY LAND AT PORT TALBO Fine Summer Resort Planned, Providing Price Is

Reasonable. Special to The Advertiser. St. Thomas, Aug. 17.-Negotiations are under way for the purchase of the old Talbot farm at Port Talbot and its development as a restricted cation.

Not responsible for errors in adversummer resort. Following the taking tisements following date of first pubof aerial photographs by Kalec and Forster of Detroit from an aeroplane over the week-end, C. A. Pfeffer and Associates Company of Detroit have signified their intention of buying the property, providing a reasonable price is named. The promoters contemplate the expenditure of large sums of money in rendering Port Talbot attractive to well-to-do Detroit and Clevelan people. Cottages and a board walk will be constructed, and motor bus lines will carry visitors from the Cleveland boat at Port Stanley and from trains in St. Thomas. Every ef-fort will be made to render Port Talbot the most attractive resort on

AWARD ATTENDANCE PRIZE TO MISS HELEN MITCHELL

Lake Erie, it is reported.

At the closing of the Wellington street United church vacation school last week, Miss Helen Mitchell won special honors, when she was pre sented with a book for faithful attendance, having missed only one day during the term.

Another feature of this interesting closing session was the decision of the children to send a book to one of their classmates, who is suffering from the effects of an accident.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, Aug. 17.—The raw sugar market was firm and unchanged today at 4.33c for Cuban, duty paid, but no sales were reported.

The steadier tone to the spot market and indications of an increased demand for refined sugar led to active covering and renewed commission-house buying and renewed commission-house buying and renewed commission-house buying and renewed commission-house buying in raw sugar futures, under which prices advanced 3 to 4 points for the active positions. Offerings increased on the upturn, however, and partial reactions followed, with the close 1 to 2 points net higher. September closed at 2.53. December 2.69, March 2.76, May 2.84.

2.84. Refined sugar prices were unchanged at 5.35c to 5.50c for fine granulated Withdrawals on old contracts continued in liberal proportions. It was reported old orders were generally being closed out, and that new business was expected to increase.
