EMPEROR WILLIAM WAS PRESENT AT MEETING OF STAFF WHICH CONFIRMED THE PENALTY

Third Turkish Army is in a Difficult Position and Faced With Disaster

TURKS LOST ENORMOUS BOOTY WHEN ERZINGAN WAS CAPTURED

Russian Forces Pushed Into City From the East and North, and Moslems Were Fortunate to Get Away Without a Worse Disaster.

By Special Wire to the Courier. London, July 29.—(N.Y. World cable)—“The third Turkish army is in a difficult position nearly 400 miles from the railway at Anora.”

which had not been received in regard to the taking of Erzingan. It is known that the Turkish rear guard fought to the last minute.

The Kaiser has appointed his grandson, Prince Wilhelm, the ten-year-old son of the Crown Prince, to a lieutenantcy in the First Regiment of Foot—A message from a correspondent at Amsterdam.

KAISER GAVE APPROVAL TO THE EXECUTION

Was Present at War Council that Confirmed Sentence on Fryatt.

By Special Wire to the Courier. London, July 29.—According to a report from Maastricht, Holland, forwarded by The Hague correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company,

TRADE UNIONS CONGRATULATE GENERAL HAIG

Send Their Appreciation of Work Done by British Since July 1st.

London, July 29.—(Montreal Gazette)—The following telegram has passed between the management of the committee of the General Federation of Trade Unions and Sir Douglas Haig:

ANOTHER USAGE OF WAR VIOLATED BY THE ENEMY

Civilians in Invaded Territory Forced to Labor on Farm Lands.

WOMEN AND GIRLS TAKEN Twenty Minutes Notice Given, and Then Were Forced Off to Work.

By Special Wire to the Courier. Paris, July 29.—The French government today formally appealed to the sentiments of justice and humanity of the neutral countries and public opinion in all nations in behalf of the inhabitants of the invaded cities of Northern France who, the appeal says, have been taken from their homes and transported to other regions, where they are compelled to work in the fields.

Germany Has No Defence. Through Spain, acting as intermediary, France already had made protest to Germany against its action regarding these civilians, but the protest was unheeded.

Civilians Made to Work. “At the end of April, 1916,” says the appeal, “by order of the German military authorities about 25,000 French girls from sixteen to twenty and young women and men to the age of 55, had been taken from their homes at Roubaix, Turcoing and Lille, separated from their families and transported to the departments of Alsace and Ardennes and compelled to work, principally at farming. On Holy Saturday at 3 a.m. the execution of these measures began at Lille, Turcoing and Roubaix.”

Had Only Short Notice. Wherever the measures were to be applied, the appeal continues, a notice was posted on the doors of houses. Streets were barred by soldiers and even, witnesses declare, by machine guns.

Propose Popular League to be in Favor of Peace

Socialist Newspaper in Breslau Holds that Reichstag no Longer is the Voice of the German People and Demands a Peace Referendum.

By Special Wire to the Courier. London, July 29.—The socialist newspaper, Volksmacht, of Breslau, says a dispatch from Zurich to the Central News Agency, declares that the Reichstag no longer reflects the true opinion of the German people and it demands a referendum to discover whether the people really desire peace.

Was Nicknamed “The Pirate’s Terror,” So Skilful Was He in Navigation.

By Special Wire to the Courier. Harwich, England, July 29.—The news of the execution of Captain Fryatt by the Germans was received with much indignation here and in the neighboring town of Dovercourt, where he was very popular. Captain Fryatt had lived all his life at Parkston, a suburb of Dovercourt.

IS THAT ALL?

By Special Wire to the Courier. Winnipeg, July 29.—A heat record for the season was created yesterday when the thermometer touched ninety-five point two degrees.

AUSTRIAN PLANES RAIDED SEAPORTS

Though They Flew High Italian Artillery Made Hits.

By Special Wire to the Courier. Rome, July 29.—Austrian aeroplanes made attacks yesterday on Bari, Mola, Dia Bari, Molfetta and Otranto, seaports on the Adriatic. Two persons were wounded at Bari and five killed and twenty wounded at Molfetta.

“We Want to Fight” is Serbia’s Attitude

Prince Alexander Sends an Answer to the Question Where Serbia Stood Now on the War.

By Special Wire to the Courier. Paris, July 29.—Crown Prince Alexander of Serbia, asked for his sentiments as to the future on the occasion of the second anniversary of the war, has telegraphed the following message to the Matin:

“We want to fight—that is the sentiment which inspires me and all my soldiers. To win back freedom for all our brothers—that is my view of the future.”

Chivalry in This Case Grossly Inconsistent

Revenge of German Government on Captain Fryatt Just What Might Be Expected from Country that Wages Warfare as Do the Huns.

By Special Wire to the Courier. New York, July 29.—With the exception of the Tribune, the New York papers this morning do not comment on Capt. Fryatt’s execution.

“In the year in which Captain Fryatt made the fatal mistake of attempting to save his ship from attack, Germany’s licensed submarine assassins torpedoed and sank forty unarmed British vessels without the slightest warning of any sort. Those adored heroes of the Fatherland succeeded in a single year in slaughtering more than two thousand helpless men, women and children. But their victims were non-combatants, hence what they did was fair play, and in no sense comparable to the criminal attempt of Captain Fryatt to defend himself. The revenge of the German government is what might be expected. The cowardly method of warfare that has made the German navy distinct from all others, has been worthily upheld. Chivalry in this case would have been grossly inconsistent.”

Broken Off

Roumania and Turkey Can Come to No Agreement.

By Special Wire to the Courier. London, July 29.—All the negotiations between Roumania and Turkey, with regard to the exchange of supplies, has been broken off, says a despatch from Bucharest, Roumania to Reuter’s Telegram Company.

NO EXCUSE FOR SHOOTING FRYATT

Captain of British Steamer Clan MacTavish Was Not So Treated.

By Special Wire to the Courier. London, July 29.—A contrast is drawn by British naval officers between the treatment by the Germans of Captain Fryatt and that meted out to the captain of the British steamer Clan MacTavish, when the steamer was sunk in a fight with the German commerce raider Moewe.

Count Von Dohna-Schodden, in describing the capture of the Clan MacTavish, tells how he admonished the captain of the steamer for his foolish conduct in resisting the Moewe, but, says the captain defended himself on the ground that his government had supplied him with a gun to resist capture.

PIONEER MISSIONARY DEAD

Morden, Man., July 29.—Rev. Jameson Borthwick, a pioneer of Southern Manitoba, died here yesterday aged ninety two.

He came to Manitoba fifty years ago as a Presbyterian missionary and until five years ago worked in the Pembina mountain district as a teacher and preacher.

CHANGE IN TIME

The second section of the 125th Battalion will leave for Camp Borden at 5 o’clock, city time, instead of 6 o’clock, the time having been changed. The men travel via G.T.R.

FIRST SECTION OF BRANTS LEFT LAST EVENING

Tremendous Crowd Gathered at the Station to see Boys Away.

A TIME OF SAD PARTING.

But Crowd Not Demonstrative and Farewells Were Quiet.

In the presence of one of the largest gatherings, ever assembled in Brantford for any such purpose since the outbreak of the war, the members of the 125th Battalion returning last evening to Camp Borden, entrained at the G.T.R. station at 6 o’clock.

“Fifteen German deserters, including a non-commissioned officer, arrived here (Maastricht) yesterday. They all came from the Somme region. They said it was impossible to live through the Anglo-French artillery fire without going mad, and they preferred desertion to insanity.”

GERMAN SOLDIERS ARE DESERTING; TOO MUCH NOISE

Anglo-French Bombardment Will Drive Them Mad, They Say.

By Special Wire to the Courier. London, July 29.—Telegraphing from The Hague, the correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph says he has received the following message from Maastricht, a Dutch town 56 miles east of Brussels:

“Fifteen German deserters, including a non-commissioned officer, arrived here (Maastricht) yesterday. They all came from the Somme region. They said it was impossible to live through the Anglo-French artillery fire without going mad, and they preferred desertion to insanity.”

FRENCH ADVANCE NEAR VERDUN

By Special Wire to the Courier. Bulletin, Paris, July 29.—12.30 p.m.—Two strong German detachments which attempted to reach the French lines at a point west of Vermandovillers on the Somme front yesterday were repulsed, it was officially announced by the French war department today.

BOAT’S CAPTAIN IS CENSURED

By Special Wire to the Courier. St. John, N.B., July 29.—Capt. H. W. Robson is severely censured by the Dominion wreck commission writing to the Secretary for the Murr Ledges in the Bay of Fundy. The Commissioner, however, referred to the fact that the captain had been in the bay before, and the refloating of the ship was mitigating circumstances. The refloating of a vessel ashore where the Tynes struck is almost unprecedented.

Miss M. Bothman leaves this morning for her home in Flint, after a three weeks' visit with her brother, Will, 133 Eagle Avenue.

The engagement is announced of Miss Amy Weston to Pte. Percy Lacey of the 125th Batt., now stationed at Borden camp.

The engagement has just been made public of Miss Olwen Elizabeth Lloyd George, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Lloyd George, to Captain T. G. Carey Evans, of the Indian Medical service, eldest son of Dr. Evans, of Festiniog, North Wales.

Lieut.-Col. C. S. Jones, of the Parliament Buildings, formerly a well-known resident of Brantford, and for many years Colonel of the 38th Dufferin Rifles, has just received a cable from his son, Lieut. H. D. Jones, who is also well known in this city. The cable states that though he is suffering from shell-shock and shrapnel wounds, he is doing well.

Princess Arthur of Connaught has only to show herself to score a success, and, daintily gowned in a light summer suit, she appeared at the popular of waitresses on a recent occasion. The place was the Victoria Station Buffet for Soldiers and Sailors, the day was Dominion Day, and certainly her most eager customers were a party of Canadian soldiers.

Captain A. W. Agnew, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Agnew and nephew of Mr. C. H. Waterous of Brantford, was seriously hurt in a recent engagement, but is practically in normal health again. One of the misfortunes which he has sustained is the loss of his left eye, which had to be removed, and a glass eye substituted. Captain Agnew was an exceptionally clever engineer and has been offered an appointment as staff major in the general staff over all the British Engineers—(Daily Colonist, Victoria, B.C.)

There is something more than usually appealing about the engagement of Miss Lloyd George. In the first place she has met many men of various nationalities since her "coming out" a few years ago, yet she has chosen a countryman of her own and a neighbor. In the second place, the nice-looking daughter of the most remarkable man in English political life, the new Minister of War, might have made a particularly brilliant marriage, yet she prefers to marry a man whom she might have known and married had Mr. Lloyd George remained content with the practice of law at Criccieth.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Harris and Mrs. Coombs motored down Niagara for the week-end.

Mrs. Harry Cockshutt and Misses Cockshutt are expected from "The Wa Wa," Lake of Bays, the first of the week.

Mrs. Harvey Watt is spending the week or so with her mother, Woodson at Port Dover, Mr. Watt spending the week-end there.

Major and Mrs. McLean were in the city this week, the guests of Mrs. Spence, Wellington St. Major McLean leaves to-day for Borden.

Major and Mrs. Jordan came to Camp Borden this week, the guests of Mrs. Robert Palmerston Ave.

Miss Hilda Hurley, Lorne Crescent, returned to the city yesterday, spending a few days at the beach.

Lieut. E. Lorne Miller of the 125th battalion spent Friday with Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hurley, Lorne Crescent, before leaving for Borden Camp and overseas.

Miss Coralie Jones of Galt, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hurley, Lorne Crescent, returned to Galt last Monday.

Mr. Thomas Darwin, organist and choristmaster of Wellington St. Methodist Church, commences his vacation on Monday. During his absence Miss Annie Crooker and Mr. Kingsley Ireland will preside at the organ.

Li.-Col. and Mrs. Howell Mr. and Mrs. John Ferguson, of Hamilton, and Mr. Clarkson Howell of Virginia, motored up from Hamilton and spent the week-end with Mrs. Charles Ramsay, Mr. Clarkson Howell remaining for a few weeks with his niece, Mrs. Ramsay.

Lady Maud Cavendish, the eldest daughter of our next Governor-General, made her debut in the memorable gay London season that preceded the war, and the next daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire, Lady Blanche, would have made her appearance about now, had there been a normal season. She will be privately presented to their Majesties before her departure for Canada. The daughters of the Governor-General, Miss Anne Crooker and Mr. Kingsley Ireland will preside at the organ.

At the same time on the opposite tip of the day's battle front, the British engaged the Germans in hand-to-hand fighting in the neighborhood of Pozieres. Berlin reports that repulses were inflicted on the British troops in this sector during the night, but the home and Australian corps returned to the assault yesterday.

"Our success yesterday continues," was the word last night from General Sir Douglas Haig, commanding the British army.

On the whole front both British, French and Germans are bringing the full weight of their artillery to bear, and one of the most colossal big-gun duels of the war is being fought along the greater part of the forty-mile Belderly front.

With the Germans already driven in from most of their outlying positions, the British troops yesterday attacked the main defence works of the village, carrying several of the strongest.

BRITISH FORCES PUSHING GERMANS BACK

Local Village Taken Yesterday by Advancing Hosts.

July 29.—One of the most terrific of the war is being waged on the five mile Pozieres front, where the British and German troops are engaged in a bloody struggle for more territory. The British troops are continuing to advance and are now in possession of the village of Pozieres, which was taken yesterday by the advancing hosts. Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA a king's cup, they turned into soldiers in silver armor. So bearing the king's cup of gold, the prince and his beautiful bride and the guard in silver armour went to the home of the stepmother and the three ugly daughters, who turned green with envy—and green and hideous they stayed to the end. But the prince and Marta lived happily ever after.

THINKING OF AIRSHIP LINE Route of Flying Ships, Berlin to Constantinople is Projected. By Special Wire to the Courier. Vienna, July 28.—Plans are on foot for establishing an airship line between Berlin, Vienna, Budapest and Constantinople. Banks and private financiers are behind the movement, which has in contemplation first, the studying of all business features of the undertaking, after which the shareholders will decide whether to carry out their plan. It is understood that the assistance of the countries interested in the service will be sought, probably in the form of a subvention for carrying mails. A Stettin despatch to Reuters says that the German steamer Nordreny, 5,497 tons, bound from Sweden for Germany, and laden with iron ore has been sunk north of Arcona, Rugen Island. Now it was that ever diamond on Marta's gown turned to satin and the marsh violets turned to amethysts. THE FAIRY FESTIVAL The flower fairies in the bog were rejoicing. The Wickedest Witch had found the king's cup that the witch had stolen and turned into a marsh marigold and here was Marta, the promised bride of the king's son. The flower fairies cried: "Before they leave the bog, together forever to travel to the royal city we must have a fairy festival to celebrate the betrothal." So the fairies wore Marta a gown from the fairy cotton grass that grew in the bog, scented it with myrtle, trimmed it with the royal purple fringe of the fringed gentian and the rose-pink tassels of the milk-thistle. Then they twined her golden hair with meadow-sweet and meadow-rue and marsh violets. My! My! the king's son was delighted. At each fairy feast Fairy milk from the swamp milkweed and each fairy held aloft a king's cup marigold in which to drink it. Fairy salad made of the stalks of the angelica plant and some of the stalks were even candied! Cakes of the

THE SITUATION

The Kaiser has at last been forced to admit that the position of affairs is "serious." Looked at from every angle there can be no doubt from the Hun standpoint that it is not only this, but supremely critical. The British, whom the Huns are now most intent on smashing, are not only holding the positions they recently took by their splendid advance, but in addition they have occupied Longueval, and in a furious battle now proceeding along a five mile front, they are gaining more ground of importance.

The Russians continue their smashing work and have captured Brody, the key position to Lemberg. The round-up included 9,000 prisoners, 2 Generals and 46 guns. In the Caucasus the Grand Duke still continues to decimate the Turks.

Equally in brutality the assassination of Miss Cavell has come the execution in Germany of Captain Fryatt, whose vessel was recently captured by the enemy. The charge against him was that he once attempted to ram an undersea raider, and his trial was hurried after Great Britain had asked the U. S. Ambassador to act in his behalf. The whole thing was clearly a case of cold blooded butchery, and it went against other British captives in the smallest particular.

In a notable speech which he made in London, Sir George Foster pointed out that there were actually prominent men "in our midst" today who were pleading that Germany should be given time to recuperate after the war. For himself, he felt that the Teuton people should be made to repent, and that for a generation at least "Germany business men should be excluded from the pale of the British Empire." That's the kind of talk and there is small wonder that it was received with vociferous applause.

TWO YEARS OF WAR.

Two years ago at this time Germany was in prime readiness to "cry havoc, and let loose the dogs of war." Three or four days later she did so. The time was her own choosing. Her huge military machine was in perfect readiness to the very last cog. Her piled up stores of munitions were enormous. Her preparations with reference to every detail of equipment were most complete to the smallest item. Her big guns were the very last word in the production of that class of weapon. Her food reserves had been piled up to what was then deemed the last probable need in connection with the campaign to be launched. Her auto service was the most complete ever devised and on top of that she had plans in complete readiness for rapid railway construction, the better to transfer her troops and munitions from one point to another on the various fronts. Trench construction she had reduced to a science, and she had still further supplemented her unrivalled equipment with such devilish devices as poisoned gas and tear producing shells. On top of this her men were all trained to arms and well versed in the arts of war. Thus, after years of preparation, stood the leering giant with heavy jaw and bursting muscles, ready to acquire world domination and to thrust that blamable thing called "Kultur" down the throats of the rest of mankind. There was only one weak spot—that is weak if Great Britain failed to keep out—the navy, but then there was the refuge of the Kiel Canal and the fleet of submarines to cut off, if needs be, the food supply of old Albion.

If Great Britain kept out? There was the rub. Well she didn't. Not for an instant was there any hesitancy or wavering on the part of the old lion, and the Hohenzollern outfit at once realized with a chill at their hearts, that the power which had made the humiliation of the great Napoleon possible, would never rest until the German hordes were finally humbled. It was this feeling which led to the current phrase in the Fatherland, "God punish England," and to the writing of that infamous production, Lissauer's hymn of hate. Leagued with themselves, the Huns had Austria and Turkey, both of whom she had seen were well armed and as for the Old Land, (great though her menace) was there not threatened trouble in Ireland and India, and the possibility of rousing the Moslem world against her, not to mention perchance disaffection in the Overseas Dominions and particularly South Africa?

The progress of hostilities is too fresh in the minds of all to be outlined. Commencing with the unexampled ravishment of Belgium, the German offensive has from the first been pursued with unparalleled brutality. Conceived in lust the offensive has been hideous alike in purpose and feature.

In the earlier months of the struggle, had the fighting been stopped, the verdict would have been that the Teutons had the best of it. But with all their calculations they had overlooked one thing, the God given tenacity of freedom, which animated the hearts and the souls of those whom they sought to dominate and crush. It was this which led to the heroic resistance, which will live in all history, of King Albert and his people, to the work of the handful of British who stopped the march to Paris, to the unanimous response of the sons of the British Empire to the world around, to the grim and magnificent determination of the French and to the come back of the Russians.

At the end of two years the Allies are at last commencing to assume the upper hand and in this regard it is not too much, and no disparagement to the others, to say that without John Bull this could not have been accomplished. First the British navy, next British financial assistance and now the pouring in of soldiers to help in the final round-up.

Those Austrians are going to wait for an umpire of a long time.

Despite all his blasphemous bluster, Holy Willie is commencing to knock at the knees.

The Kaiser in response to an appeal from Austria for more men, made answer:

"When we have beaten the English I shall consider the matter."

July, in Ontario, is said to have beaten all other previous months of that name of high temperature, seemed to most of us more like a dead heat.

The Fall fair list has commenced to appear when divers opportunities will be afforded to gaze at the festive pumpkin and the frolicsome squasn. Of a truth this old world possesses many compensations.

It is announced that Sir George Foster has been arranging for "cheaper lobsters." In most communities they cheapen themselves.

An exchange has the following: "Brothers, dear, oh, how we miss you!

And your names we often call. But there's nothing left to answer. But your picture on the wall."

These must be what are known as "speaking likenesses."

Camp Borden has cost the soldiers hundreds of thousands of dollars which they could have saved under other conditions. The railroads reap the benefit.—London Advertiser.

This is a sample of high-minded Squibs in which Grit papers are indulging these days. The facts are that a large camp was required in Ontario because the Old Country training grounds are fully occupied, and Niagara camp was found to be too small. Perhaps the Advertiser would rather see them pay fares to and from Camp Valcartier, Quebec.

PARIS REVERTS TO OLD TIME

Special Meeting of Council Heeded Petitions and Clock Will be Altered.

(From our own correspondent.)

Paris, July 29.—In response to largely signed petitions from business men and employees of nearly all the industries asking that the daylight saving scheme be rescinded, Mayor Patterson called a special meeting of the council last night. After introducing the petitions it was unanimously resolved to put back the town clock one hour at 10 p.m. on Sunday, July 30th to standard time. The whole proceedings took about 15 minutes, the council taking the view that the people having tried the new measure, knew what they wanted in petitioning to go back to standard time.

BRODY TAKEN, LEMBERG NEXT

Russians Score Another Victory and Roll Back Austrian Army.

London, July 29.—The Russians, under General Sakharoff have occupied the important railroad junction of Brody, fifty-eight miles northeast of Lemberg, in Galicia, and General Kaledines has broken through the entire first line of the Teuton allies west of Lutsk and driven the Austro-German forces from the line of the rivers Slonivka and Boldurovka, southern Volhynia, according to the official communication issued to-night by the War Office. Heavy casualties were inflicted on the Austro-Germans, 9,000 men were made prisoner and a large number of guns were captured.

Lemberg Seriously Menaced

The fall of Brody is a serious threat to Lemberg, and the rapid and successful advance of General Sakharoff's forces menaces the whole Austro-German line of communications from the north to the south. For the present Kovel yields in importance to Lemberg. The position on the portion of the Russian front seems to be that General Kaledines' left wing behind the Stokhod River, has suspended his advance toward Kovel and is holding up the great Teutonic forces there, while General Sakharoff is pressing on toward Lemberg, which

Handsome Amount on New Rectory.

Lieut.-Col. Harry Cockshutt, in addition to his other good works, has generously offered to give to St. James church, Terrace Hill, the proceeds of a mortgage and cash amounting in all to $1,800 on the purchase price of a rectory, provided the congregation raised the balance. This splendid offer has been gladly acted upon, and a sufficient sum is now in hand to purchase the new rectory.

At a recent meeting of the congregation, the rector and churchwardens were asked to convey to Colonel Cockshutt personally their grateful appreciation of what he has done for that parish.

WATER WORKS NOTICE

The Water Commissioners feel that owing to the enormous consumption of water at the present time and the excessive heat that while every precaution has been taken, it would be safer in the interest of public health that the City water should be boiled before being used.

Board of Water Commissioners.

THREE ZEPPELINS RAID ENGLAND

Dropped Bombs in Fields and on Roads, but no Person
Was Hurt.

London, July 29, 2 p.m.—Three Zeppelin dirigible balloons participated in the raid early this morning on the east coast of England, it was officially announced this afternoon. There were no casualties.

Details of the Zeppelin raid on the east coast of England early this morning are still lacking. An official despatch however, says that a German airship proceeded inland for a short distance and dropped two bombs at the side of a railway. The Zeppelin then proceeded to an adjoining village where eight bombs were dropped. The missiles fell in fields and roads where no damage was done.

The Zeppelin cruised about for twenty minutes and then went off in a northerly direction towards the coast.

Reuter's correspondent at Amsterdam reports that a Zeppelin flew over Sluis, on the Dutch-Belgian border going in a northerly direction. It was fired upon by Dutch guards.

This is the first German airship raid on England in twelve weeks. Misty weather favored the Zeppelins.

SOME STORAGE BATTERY ADVICE.

Messrs. Smith and Green, local agents for the Willard Storage Battery Company, suggests the following pointers on care of the electrical system on a motor car.

"Every time you operate your self-starter or use your electric lights while the engine is running, a certain amount of energy is taken from your storage battery. This energy must be restored in some way or other. For this purpose a modern car carries an electric generator which puts back into the battery the current which has been taken out to operate the lights and starter.

"This generator must run at charging speed for several minutes in order to create the same amount of electrical energy that is consumed by the electric starter in a few seconds. Therefore considerable care should be exercised in starting your car, in order not to let the motor turn over and over for a long time before it starts.

"Ordinarily a motor should start on a very few turns and unless it does, something is probably wrong with the gas or ignition. Be careful to see that you have gasoline in the tank, and that the spark plug is properly adjusted and releasing the starter button as soon as the motor begins to turn on its own power, because as long as the starting button is pressed down, the starting motor is taking current from the battery.

"The generator should always be kept properly adjusted and clean, and this should be done by an expert. Otherwise the amount of current delivered from the generator may be too small to keep the battery charged to the proper point. If a battery is constantly used in an undercharged condition, the process of deterioration becomes more and more rapid and may result in the battery being ruined.

"With the free inspection service offered by the Willard service stations, and their willingness to make use of the electrical equipment on a car, there is very little excuse for battery ignorance. The man who makes a habit of visiting Willard Service Station is always well repaid for his trouble by getting better results from his starting and lighting system."

THE BOUGHNER PICNIC IS NOW A COUNTY EVENT

Annual Affair Has Grown to be Almost a Fair in Proportions.

IS POTTS NEAR SIMCOE?

It is Hinted Escaped Prisoner Is Out on Harvest Field.

(From our own correspondent.)
Simcoe, July 28.—The Boughner picnic, which is announced for Saturday, August 29, is grown to be a general county gathering, nor is it confined to the county. It originated to meet a lot of friends and for years was held at Fisher's Glen, a most romantic picnic and holiday resort on the lake front. Later it was held at Dover. It has been in vogue now for more than a quarter of a century. The date is set by a Boughner committee, appointed annually by the Boughners. The town in which it is held (Simcoe recently) is responsible for the sports and music, and for picnic tables and accommodation, but "whosoever will, may come."

It serves as a splendid opportunity to meet a lot of friends and acquaintances, without travelling far or losing much time, and in later years, stockmen, and farmers, avail themselves of the opportunity and combine business with pleasure. The message goes by letter, phone or telegram. "I'll see you at the Boughner picnic."

Home Over Week End.
About one hundred and seventy-five of the 133rd boys are home for the week-end. The 133rd were given their first medical examination yesterday and the first medical examination was completed at noon to-day.

Of the men of the battalion in camp probably forty have been pronounced unfit for the trenches.

Capt. Mason, Paymaster Captain Selby and Lt. W. S. McCall are among those home this week-end. This week's passes were signed by Major Burch.

Some of the Fish
Four and a half tons of carp were lifted from a pond at Port Rowan today, and shipped to Montreal. The average weight would be about ten pounds, some of the larger ones would tip 25 to 30 pounds.

Col. McCullough was in town yesterday to discuss the policy for future recruiting. It is pretty well accepted that Norfolk has no place for recruiting just at present.

Health Matters
Dr. A. McClenahan, of Hamilton, is now M.H.O. at St. Catharines and today, at the request of the Provincial Medical Health Department, looking over the Argyle St. drain opening, and other localities.

Not a single death has been recorded in town during the past ten days.

Potts Not Far Away
Rumor has it that James Potts, who broke jail with McDonald, today, is not far from town, probably pitching hay or harvesting.

Dr. Richardson considers the condition of Fred Peacock still critical. He was thrown violently against the steering wheel when the car picked the auto up.

215TH GOT FIVE MEN YESTERDAY

And Will Continue Energetic Campaign of Recruitment With Unabated Vigor.

The results being accomplished by the recruiting campaign of the 215th Battalion were yesterday evidenced by the attestation of five recruits obtained in the city. For the ensuing week the energies of the battalion will be devoted entirely to the work of recruiting, with the aim of reaching the stipulated 600 mark in as short a time as possible. In order that the 215th may proceed to Niagara Camp, No doubt is felt that the required number will be obtained before the end of next week. All who are contemplating enlistment, or who are desirous of spending a summer under canvas in the pleasant surroundings of Niagara Camp should hesitate no longer, but respond at once to the clarion call of the 215th Battalion. No church parade will be held to-morrow.

Capt. Ferguson, Battalion Quartermaster, returned yesterday from Niagara, after completing there all arrangements for the convenience of the battalion in its camping grounds.

Execution of Captain Fryatt

Berlin, July 28, via London, July 28.—The execution at Bruges on July 27 of Captain Charles Fryatt, of the British steamship Brussels, after trial by a court-martial for attempting to ram a German submarine, denotes a new phase of the controversy over the sea rights of merchantmen.

The German government prize regulations, issued before the beginning of the war, adopted the principle that merchantmen were not entitled to commit acts of war, and it threatened to treat as pirates those attempting to do so.

The execution of Captain Fryatt, German officials contend, is in accordance with that principle which, according to the German view, merely extends to sea warfare the principles already controlling franc-tireur activity on land.

It is hoped in official circles here that this case will lead to a definite clearing up of the question of merchantmen, acting at intermittent times as war vessels.

VERDUN A FATAL MAGNET WHICH DREW GERMANY TO DESTRUCTION

After Two Years of Warfare Ascendancy of Allied Powers is Assured Fact, the Great Advantage of Thorough Preparation by Germany Having Been Overcome

Enemy Hoped to Smash French Line at Verdun—They Failed and Paid a Terrible Toll

Paris, July 29.—"The second year of the war ends with anxiety shifting from the group of the Entente powers to that of our adversaries, who are now obliged to meet a general offensive on every front," said Marquis de Chambrun, a member of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the Chamber of Deputies, in summarizing the military situation for the Associated Press at the close of the war's second year.

Crisis Impending for Enemy

"While French, British and Russian preparations become more complete, a crisis of exhaustion is fast arising for the Austrians and Germans. Our adversaries thought it would be impossible for us to prepare, and certainly during the first year of the war there were difficulties that had to be overcome. We are proud to say that this was accomplished even whilst our valiant soldiers were resisting the German invasion. Thanks to the patriotism of the country and the abnegation shown by all classes in France and England; thanks also to the campaign in both countries for both cannon and more ammunition, industrial action was everywhere multiplied, and the general plan of the French and British at the Dardanelles in April had weakened the Allies elsewhere, reducing the number of reserves on the main front, and if it did not modify their general plan it obviously made the elaboration of new plans difficult and hampered their movements.

The Problem in the East

The Allies heavily engaged in the Dardanelles now had to face either the evacuation of the peninsula or the landing of the French and British at the Dardanelles in April had weakened the Allies elsewhere, reducing the number of reserves on the main front, and if it did not modify their general plan it obviously made the elaboration of new plans difficult and hampered their movements.

The Munition Crisis

The end of the first year of the war was the beginning of the second crisis for the Allies—a munition crisis, aggravated by a diplomatic crisis requiring new enterprises that drew on their main forces. The landing of the French and British at the Dardanelles in April had weakened the Allies elsewhere, reducing the number of reserves on the main front, and if it did not modify their general plan it obviously made the elaboration of new plans difficult and hampered their movements.

Pirates of the Sea

"The Austrians and Germans resorted to submarine warfare, which I will not attempt to qualify. It may continue to work harm in a piratical way, but it will not open ports nor needs of the commercial aims and will not effectively blockaded, nor will it restore to Germany her lost colonies.

"The Russians are continuing their work successfully on the Eastern front. They have again invaded Bukovina and are pushing forward in the region of Lutsk and into the Carpathians, while Grand Duke Nicholas is advancing victoriously in the Caucasus.

"The closer one examines the situation, the more manifest becomes the anticipated ascendancy of the Allies, increasing as time goes on because of their unrestricted resources and unshaken confidence in victory."

Advantage at First with Enemy

From various critics and experts on military affairs, expressions have been obtained from which the military situation, according to the French view, may be summarized as follows:

"The extent of the difficulties of the Central empires does not even appear from the state of the war, as viewed from a geographical standpoint, but has shown itself in the changed tactics in evidence and is becoming obvious in the altered map. The operations of the Franco-British armies, outnumbered in men and guns during the first six months, saved France by sheer heroism, but could not end the war; could only prolong it and gain time. The Russians pushed into East Prussia, conquered Bukovina, invaded Galicia, crossed the Carpathians and even threatened Silesia, but exhausted their armament in April, 1915, and lacked even the essentials for defense. The Germans knew it would be impossible for Great Britain and France to have caught up in nine months with the Germans' 45 years' preparations, and felt themselves free, dealing first with France, to turn upon the Russian armies. Nine divisions transported from the Franco-British front reinforced the Austrians, and the offensive against the Austrians began in May. By the end of July Jozef and Lemberg had been retaken and the Russians were considering the abandonment of Warsaw and the line of the Vistula. Short even of rifles, many of Emperor Nicholas' troops defended themselves with clubs during the road, with part of Adrianople, to Bulgaria, foreshadowing the latter's action against the Allies.

Meanwhile, the Germans and Austrians, after crossing the Vistula and occupying Russian Poland, transported part of the troops from the Russian front to the Danube for another offensive against Serbia, which after her victory over the Austrians had only 250,000 effective men left to oppose them.

The Offensive in September

The French, in the Champagne and in the Artois in September, gained considerable territory and made important captures in prisoners and material, but as in the preceding offensive north of Arras in June this movement failed of decisive results because of the narrowness of the front of the attack and the impossibility to push artillery preparations deeply enough into the German lines. That the offensive was considered to have confirmed the superiority of the French soldier in attack in no wise altered the general situation, just then further complicated by the mobilization of the Bulgarian army menacing the Serbians, which threatened the eventual extension of the war to the Balkans.

The manifesto probably will be along lines similar to the platform recently issued by one of the branch organizations of the Free Trade Union, which says:

"We note with regret that some of those who advocated a protective tariff before the war are taking advantage of the present situation to revive the agitation. To raise revenue now or hereafter by imposing a general tariff on imports is open to the same objections as before. It unjustly fall upon the taxpayers in an inverse ratio to their ability to pay. If direct taxation prove necessary to overcome the difficulties connected with our economic dependence, we believe that subsidies, in some cases state ownership, would be preferable to protective tariffs."

"A system of mutual preference within the British empire founded on the imposition by us of hostile tariffs upon outside countries has become more than ever difficult owing to our close alliance with France, Russia and Italy."

Tragic Joking

Oswald's friends were always on the lookout for some ruse. He once notified them that on New Year's day he should get the best of them all in some joke, and New Year's morning came, but he never returned. They were on their guard, and when they had breakfast Oswald slipped on the steps and fell on his back on the sidewalk. His friends rushed to his assistance, but passed before they reached him.

"This is his ruse," some one said. "Clearly the man who was so proud at his talent for mimicry was bent on deceiving them all into thinking him a dying man, for he lay there moaning pitifully, his face drawn and twisted as if with terrible pain."

His friends stood around and made jokes and puns and hummed lines of comic songs, assuring him all the while that they were not deceived by his acting. At last he gave a hoarse, mournful cry, looked at them sadly and then ceased to moan or writhe. In a refer to the forgotten moment of horror and sorrow his friends realized that Oswald was dead.—"Souvenirs d'un Vieux Libraire."

Fair Exchange, Yet a Robbery

While Gustave Dore was at Ischl and wandering about the mountains he became much interested in a country wedding and sketched it on the spot. He put the sketch into a book in the pocket of his paletot and went back to the hotel to dinner. After dinner he referred to the sketch. It was gone. Angry at the theft, the artist called the landlady and made complaint, but no trace of the book was found. From Ischl Dore went to Vienna, and there he found a letter and a parcel awaiting him. The letter, which was anonymous, read thus: "Sir, I stole your book at Ischl. The sketch was so charming that I could not resist the temptation of having it in my possession, and I knew very well you would never consent to sell it to me. But there is neither my trade nor my habit, and I beg you to accept as a souvenir of my crime and my enthusiasm for your talent the walking stick which will reach you at the same time as this letter."

The case was one with a massive gold head, in which was set a gem of value.

Special Ceremony Held for Purpose at British Embassy in Paris.

By Special Wire to the Courier. Paris, July 29.—At a special ceremony in the British embassy here yesterday Emilienne Moreau, "the Heroine of Loos," aged eighteen, was presented by ambassador Bertie with the British medal for bravery on the field of battle, and at the personal request of Gen. Sir Douglas Haig, commander-in-chief of the British forces in France, with the Order of St. John of Jerusalem.

Miss Moreau, already has the French war cross. The decorations are in recognition of the girl's conduct during the fighting at Loos when she refused shelter in a cave and for 24 hours tended the wounded under fire.

Praise for General Cadorna

In the statement officially prepared for the Associated Press, great praise is bestowed on General Cadorna, the Italian chief of staff, as "a powerful organizer and cautious strategist," who is declared to have conducted his campaign against Austria with a view to rendering the greatest possible aid to the Entente Allies. It is asserted that the early reverses of the Russians might have run into complete disaster if Italy had not just at the time of the Russian retreat entered the conflict and forced Austria to employ a vast number of her troops on the southern boundaries. Further, the offensives which the Italians have launched from time to time rendered it impossible for Austria to carry out her purpose of sending troops and artillery either to the aid of the German crown prince for the attack on Verdun or to fight the Russians.

Italy's Part Not Understood

As given out the Italian statement reads as follows: "The war which Italy is fighting with her allies is imperfectly understood abroad in its ideals as well as in its technical development, thus needing explanations even after a

France at Work.

Providence Journal:—Practically all Frenchmen of military age are fighting, and practically all Frenchmen of every age are engaged in some kind of national service. And not the men alone; the women of France have been mobilized also. In fact the routine life of the country is maintained very largely in face of the depletion of its manhood, by the devotion of its female population. The agriculture of France has been carried on by the women, assisted by the old men and the children, and if the intensive cultivation goes on up to the very battle zone itself, it is because of their willing hearts and untiring hands, assisted by schoolboys. When the French roll of honour is complete, there will be room upon it for these humbler millions who, though not on the firing lines, have done their full part.

Vigorous Campaign of General Cadorna Last Winter Kept Needed Verdun Reinforcements Pinned to the Alps

Rome, July 29.—Complying with a request from The Associated Press, the Italian authorities have prepared a statement reviewing the past year of war from the Italian viewpoint. Although the anniversaries that are marked by the early days of August close the second year of the war for Germany, Austro-Hungary, Russia, France and Great Britain, Italy has only a little more than passed the first anniversary of her participation in the conflict, which began May 23, 1915. But in the view of the Italian authorities, Italy's alignment with the Entente powers has been no small factor in checking the successes of the Central powers.

Fought for Our Freedom

"Furthermore, Italy could no longer delay solution of the question of the Italian provinces that were still subject to persecution by Austria. It was imperative that Italy should contest the frontier imposed by Austria after the war of 1866, which gave her northern neighbors possession of all the gates and passes leading into Italy. It was imperative also that Italy should gain supremacy in the Adriatic without which she could never be said to enjoy liberty and peace in full security.

"Although unprepared for war, we fortunately possessed in General Cadorna a powerful organizer and cautious strategist. Making the Italian army on its modest peace footing as a backbone, he transformed it, through miracles of energy and military science, into a powerful, efficient, brilliant, modern army which on May 24, 1915, the day after war was declared on Austria, suddenly threw itself across the whole frontier into the enemy's territory."

To-day's Impressions To-morrow's Sales

Many a September purchase is really decided in July.

Many a woman is gathering information to-day that will influence her selection of a stove two months hence.

Many a man is thinking right now about the store he will patronize for his Fall suit or overcoat.

Many an October piano purchase is really DETERMINED on the porch of a summer hotel or home in August.

How unwise, then, to put off the Advertising of these and similar articles until the actual time of their use arrives.

One advertisement seldom makes a sale. It is the repeated impressions created by Advertising that develops purchases by a discriminating public—and these impressions are seldom built up in a day, a week or a month.

Yet some manufacturers and merchants still procrastinate until the first nip of frost is felt—and then besiege the public with belated announcements of Fall clothes, kitchen ranges, home furnishings, winter underwear, and other articles usually purchased in the Fall.

PURCHASED in the Fall—oh, yes—but DECIDED UPON in the Summer. Decided in favor of the goods that are continuously advertised.

It's the Advertising read in July that bears fruit in September and October. For to-day's impressions inevitably lead to to-morrow's sales.

ITALY'S ENTRANCE INTO THE WAR

 allies the greatest possible services.
 Italy began her operations just at the time when the Russians were obliged to retreat. The strong army which Cadorna threw across the northern border menacing Austria, may have saved that Russian retreat from a complete disaster. Similarly, when the Germans attacked Verdun, Cadorna started a strong offensive along the Isone River, which prevented Austria from sending to the aid of the German crown prince large numbers of troops and artillery which had been prepared for that purpose.
 Drew Austrians From the East
 Equal advantages have been obtained by Austria's temporary invasion of a small section of the Italian Trentino front in the Asiago district. If Austria had not centered all her forces in this enterprise, she would have been much more difficult for Russia to launch the marvellous offensive which she is now conducting. Profiting by the situation, General Cadorna attacked the Austrians so energetically that their removal from the Alps to the Carpathians to fight the Russians has been out of the question.
 In Albania General Cadorna likewise aided our Allies. It being materially impossible to save Serbia and Montenegro, he transferred the Albanian seaport of Avlona into an impenetrable entrenched camp, threatening and checking the Austrians in the same manner that the Allied troops at Saloniki have held back the Bulgarians.

A King Like Belgium's
 Above all others in this war stands King Albert, the bravest and bravest of kings. He and King Albert are the only sovereigns in this war who have never abandoned their place at the front.
 Italy Take Four
 The difficulties of the war which Italy is waging may be understood only by visiting out battle fronts. They are stretched along the highest altitudes in which warfare has ever been known. With all the advantageous positions in the prior possession of Austrians, our caissons have to be dug out of their nests, 10,000 feet up amid eternal snows. To her natural defenses Austria has added the most powerful modern system of fortifications.
 What Italians Have Gained
 Still the Italians have gained ground, and all along have conquered territory on the right bank of the Isone except at Gorizia and Tolmino, which are entrenched camps defended by almost impenetrable mountains, part of the Cordona, and part of the Carso plateau, the High Monte Nero Ridge, the Ampezzo territory, including Cortina, and part of the famous Dolomite Road, which is the most communication between Italy and Trent. We had almost reached Trento when the Austrian incursion into Trent obliged us to retreat within our own frontier.
 But with this exception, Austrians have always been on the defensive and have lost about 200 towns and villages, 40,000 prisoners, 400 machine cannon, hundreds of machine guns, several thousand rifles, all of which has more than ordinary value because they were taken in a mountainous country where it is difficult to replace captured artillery and stores.

Austria Will Let in Supplies

Has Assured U. S. Informally Polish Relief is Possible.
 By Special Wire to the Courier.
 Washington, July 29.—(Informal assurance that Austria-Hungary is disposed to respond favorably to President Wilson's personal appeal for permission for shipments of American relief supplies to Poles in territory held by Austrian forces) have been given personally by foreign minister Burian to Ambassador Penfield.
 The State Department also received from Ambassador Page, the British foreign office statement of Great Britain's willingness to permit importations of food stuffs into Poland to be administered by a commission appointed by President Wilson, provided the German and Austrian occupying armies would not seize or remove products of the occupied territory. The condition, it is feared, may block the negotiations.

DEFENCE ENTERS STRONG PROTEST OVER PROCEDURE

Take Exception to Whole Conduct of Trial Against Former Ministers.
GOT AFTER MR. BONNAR

He is Accused of "Smirking for the Benefit of the Jury."

By Special Wire to the Courier.
 Winnipeg, July 29.—Formal objection to the evidence of V. W. Horwood, former provincial architect, being offered by the crown against the ex-ministers was entered yesterday when the trial was resumed, and noted by Mr. Justice Prendergast. A. J. Andrews for the defense said he wished to reserve any right necessary in this matter. Witness, he said, was one of the defendants indicted with the accused and the indictment against him had never been disposed of. Counsel claimed Horwood was competent witness for the defense, but not for the crown, under the Canada Evidence Act. Horwood's examination was continued by R. A. Bonnar for the crown. He said there was no contract for caissons. Nothing was said as to the caissons aside from Horwood's estimate at $534,288. Defense offered many objections to the course of the examination and George R. Cotwell sat with the lawyers and actively advised them.

Defence Take Exception.
 Horwood told again of a meeting with Mr. Caldwell shortly before the caissons were advertised for, which was desired to change from piles to caissons and from reinforced concrete to steel. The defence objected that Bonnar was cross-examining his own witness.
 "I was thinking," replied Bonnar, "that a little later on I would ask permission to cross-examine the witness."
 There was a steady stream of objections from the defense tables, twenty in the first hour. Andrews said he was "exasperated" at the way the crown was conducting the case.
Witness Drew Influences.
 Horwood had recommended employing a firm of engineers to draw plans for the caissons. This was not done, and when the caissons were almost in, Dr. Montague being "desirous of protecting them" employed Engineers Shannon and Brydon. Jack. Defense objected to Horwood drawing inferences and said he might as well deliver the verdict. Half a dozen lawyers talked at once.

 "I think it my duty to tell you what 'Fruit-a-tives' has done for me. Three years ago, I began to feel run-down and tired, and suffered very much from Liver and Kidney Trouble. Having read of 'Fruit-a-tives', I thought I would try them. The result was surprising. During the 2 1/2 years past, I have taken them regularly and would not change for anything. I have not had an hour's sickness since I commenced using 'Fruit-a-tives', and I know now what I haven't known for a good many years—that is, the blessing of a healthy body and clear thinking brain."

Lord and Lady Campbell Mourn Loss of Heir
 London, July 29.—(N. Y. Times cable).—Lord and Lady Stratheden and Campbell have received news of the death of their eldest son, Capt. John B. Campbell, of the Coldstream Guards, and also of the latter's eldest son, Lieut. Donald Campbell.
 Capt. Campbell, who has been missing since January, 1915, is now reported to have been killed then and Lieut. Campbell, who also was in the Coldstream Guards fell in action on July 19.
 Lord Stratheden and Campbell is the third peer to lose two heirs in the war, the others being Lord Desborough and Lord St. David, both of whom had two sons killed.

Underclothing.
 Underclothing made of finely crimped or grained paper is manufactured in Japan. After the paper has been cut to a pattern the different parts are sewn together and hemmed, and the places where the buttons are to be formed are strengthened with calico or linen. The paper is very strong and at the same time very flexible. After a garment has been worn a few hours it will interfere with the perspiration of the body so more than do garments made of cotton fabric. The paper is not staid, nor is it impermeable. After becoming wet the paper is difficult to tear. When an endeavor is made to tear it by hand it presents almost as much resistance as the thin skin for making gloves.

A BUDGET OF NEWS FOR THOSE INTERESTED IN LABOR IN THE WORLD OF LABOR

GLEANED FROM THE EXCHANGES AND OTHER SOURCES

Iron moulders in Lockport, N.Y., have effected an increase in wages of fifty cents per day.

Laundry workers at Okauchosa, Ia., have secured new agreements conceding higher wages and shorter hours.

Only books printed by union printers and bound by union bookbinders will be purchased for use in the public schools of Trenton, N.J., in the future.

Leather workers in Lowell, Mass., after several conferences with the employers, secured wage increases ranging from 15 to 20 per cent.

The Montreal Trades and Labor Council has gone on record in favor of day labor as against the contract system, and condemning the action of the Montreal tramways for utilizing alien labor at 15 cents per hour while the city was paying 25 cents.

A new schedule of wages and conditions has been successfully negotiated by Local 435 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers in Winnipeg, who are employed by the civic light and power department in that city.

The Winnipeg Teamsters' Union, which recently won the big cartage strike in that city, expects to reach before July is out, a total membership of one thousand. Last month 180 new members were initiated and there are now 135 bakery drivers wearing the union button.

Maintenance-of-way employes on the Missouri Pacific railway are demanding higher wages, a ten hour work day, and time and a half for overtime, Sundays and holidays.

The street railway workers of El Paso, Texas, are on strike because the company discharged several of its employes for being active in the union. The system is completely tied up.

Cannery workers in Mayaguez, Porto Rico, are on strike because of starvation wage rates paid. Men have been receiving five cents per hour and women 2-1/2 cents.

A newly organized waitresses' union in Tulsa, Okla., has won a strike, forcing restaurant employers to concede new and higher wage rates.

After a somewhat strenuous strike union cooks and waiters in El Paso, Tex., have established the eight-hour day in all the high class restaurants in the city.

The Western Canada Conference of Typographical Unions held its annual convention in Edmonton last week, and was largely attended, and there

NO CHANGE IN FOREIGN POLICY

Resignation of M. Sazonoff Will Make No Difference in Russia.

By Special Wire to the Courier.
 London, July 29.—(New York Times cable).—The correspondent of the Daily Chronicle at Petrograd telegraphs: The Ministerial changes are still the subject of most animated discussion. Sazonoff continues to receive from all sides telegrams expressing admiration of his character and services. Noteworthy among these are telegrams from the President of the union of Prince Lvoff, and from the city council of Moscow. I understand that positive assurances have been given that there will be no change in the foreign policy.

Considerable sensation was caused by the arrest, on a charge of unpardonable activity of several financiers among whom is the notorious figure named Dmitri Rubinstein, director of several banks. It is reported that a council of physicians who examined former war minister Sukhomlinoff, now under arrest, declared he was on the brink of mental collapse.

At a representative meeting of the citizens of Penetanguishene, held in the town hall, it was unanimously agreed that a fund of $10,000 be raised for patriotic and Red Cross purposes.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

BY JOHN W. S. McCULLOUGH, M.D., D.P.H., CHIEF OFFICER OF THE PROVINCIAL BOARD OF HEALTH.

THERE are five chief ways in which disease spreads. These are: Water, Food, Flies, Milk, and Contact. These sources of infection are intermingled with one another. Let us look into them and see how disease travels from one person to another.

The source of all water supply comes from the rain and snow. Next we find it in rivers, streams, ponds, and lakes, stored in the ground in the form of springs, and in underground stretches of gravel whence it is obtained from deep or shallow wells. When a water supply whence it is being considered it must be judged (like the character of a variety of ways; for example, a stream, river, or lake which would otherwise be pure, may have the sewage of a town dumped into it, or there may be water-closets upon its banks, or the excreta of a typhoid case may be thrown on the ground nearby and washed by melting snow or rain into the water. A supply from such a source, unless purified, is a dangerous one. It might be safe for every day of the year but one; the well may be unprotected, day might start an epidemic of disease. The pollution on that one allowing surface water to enter, or it may be sunk in a creviced limestone rock which serves as a means whereby sewage may reach the water. The commonest diseases carried by water are Typhoid Fever, Cholera, Dysentery, and Diarrhoea (or Summer Complaint). In this country the commonest water-borne disease is Typhoid Fever.

Food frequently carries disease because it becomes contaminated with flies, dirty fingers, and by mouth or nose-spray of carriers or persons affected by disease. Meat containing the germs of tuberculosis or the larvae of certain worms, if insufficiently cooked, may carry disease.

Flies breed in manure, chiefly in fresh horse manure. They will not breed in fermenting manure which is too hot for them. A period of eight to ten days is required to carry the fly from the egg stage through the larval, pupal, and pupal stages to the full grown fly. The fly will not travel great distances if there is plenty of food at hand, but if hungry it may fly for some distance, say half a mile or more. One can easily understand how this insect may carry disease when one considers its well-known habits of fitting from the exposed contents of the siders its well-known habits of fitting from the exposed contents of the water-closet to food in the kitchen. Diseases such as Typhoid, Dysentery, Cholera, Diarrhoea, and Tuberculosis are commonly carried by flies.

MILK By milk from tuberculous cows children may become infected with Tuberculosis; or, if the handler is a consumptive, the disease may be carried to the users. Similarly, if those handling milk are in contact with diseases like Scarlet Fever or Diphtheria, these diseases may be carried. Washing of cans with sewage-polluted water, or dilution of milk with polluted water may serve to infect the milk, and in turn, the consumers with water-borne diseases.

Contact with either the actual victims of diseases like Tuberculosis and communicable affections, or with "carriers" of such diseases is a very common means of infection. Those who come closest in contact with sufferers from communicable diseases are the greatest victims.

CONTACT Thus in cases of Diphtheria the mother, the nurse, and the doctor suffer infection in the order named. It used to be thought that Tuberculosis was inherited because members of the same family often died one after the other. Now it is well understood that Tuberculosis is a "catching" disease and that it is the close contact between the members of the family, living, eating, sleeping together, using the same table utensils and the same towels, which is the cause of the terrible mortality from this disease. The better this is known the better is the chance for prevention of Tuberculosis.

According to Miss Ida Bouslough, a Manitoba factory inspector, many women and girls in Winnipeg work-shops are laboring 54 hours a week for wages as low as two or three dollars per week.

The energetic Joe Weil is still doing good work in the organizing line at Montreal where he has just put the teamsters through their paces and secured them a charter from their international organization.

Granite cutters in Itherville, P.Q., are clearly on the bum at present and business is exceedingly dull, hardly any work is going on, and craftsmen are advised to give the locality a wide berth.

The mortuary benefit of Stuart Quirk, a member of Montreal Typographical Union, No. 176, who was killed in action in France in May, and which amounted to $300, has been paid by the International Union. It may be said that the benefits of every member of the I.T.U. who falls in battle has been immediately settled upon receipt of notification of death. The I.T.U. is a spot cash organization and always makes good.

Bets at Lloyds on Length of War

By Special Wire to the Courier.
 London, July 28.—(New York Times Cable)—The Morning Post, says: From time to time some inkling is gained as to the views of business men with regard to the duration of the war by the scale of war risks effected at Lloyds.

"Yesterday a policy for $5,100 to be paid if the war is not over by the end of June next year was put up for publication, with the result that risking from an offer of $500, a bid of $2,690 was ultimately reached, at which level however the policy was withdrawn."

"In other words, the bidder was willing to pay the amount named in chance of obtaining a profit of $2,500 if peace was not declared within the time mentioned."

Paris News

Paris Take (From Our Own Correspondent.)
Mrs. Richard Sparks, Walnut St., who was at Woodstock last week attending the funeral of her nephew, Willie Sparks, who was drowned while attending their annual Sunday school picnic at Port Stanley, has returned home. Much sympathy is extended to the relatives, as this is the third death amongst the family in three months.
Miss Dixon of Port Huron is visiting with relatives in town.
Mr. and Mrs. Ludden and daughter, Miss Eunice, are holidaying at Port Dover.
Mrs. Thomas Dunn has returned home, after spending a few days at Hamilton.
Mrs. Isaac Stewart and little son are visiting at Port Dover.
Mrs. T. Master and daughter of Montreal, are the guests of her mother, Mrs. T. J. Graham, Dundas St.
Miss Featherstone has returned home after spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. R. E. Pitts of Hamilton.

Justice.

Each citizen wants to live as fully as his surroundings permit. This being the desire of all, it results that all, exercising joint control, are interested in seeing freedom of the relations between acts and ends in his own person, he shall not break those relations in the persons of others. The incorporated mass of citizens has to maintain the condition under which each man suffers the fullest while each does not suffer from the breach of the relations between acts and ends in his own person, he shall not break those relations in the persons of others. The incorporated mass of citizens has to maintain the condition under which each man suffers the fullest while each does not suffer from the breach of the relations between acts and ends in his own person, he shall not break those relations in the persons of others.
