The joke about McGinty had a great run; but it is not nearly as great a run as the influenza is having, as everybody nose.

LITERARY SOCIETY.—The first meeting for the term of the Huron Literary Society was held on Friday evening last. Following is the program rendered:—Chorus, Glee Club; reading, Miss Ruth Williams; recitation, Miss F. Robinson; reading, Mr. Currie; reading, Mr. Gram; editors' selections, Miss Doyle's chorus, Glee Club; recitation, Miss Hutton; question drawer, Mr. Strang; chorus, Glee Club.

Our old friend "Tom" Cowan, postmaster of Galt, was in town last week in connection with the Goderich Organ Co's machinery, and called upon THE SIGNAL. In the good old days before Mr. Cowan was placed on the staff by the Government, he was a power on the political stump, and although it has been our portion to disagree with him on the platform, in social life we know no more genial soul than the same "Tom" Cowan.

FOOT BALL.—The High School football association met on Monday evening and re-organized for the present term. Officers were appointed as follows:—President, Mr. Currie; captain, Mr. Price; secretary, Mr. Turner; treasurer, Mr. Sallows; managing committee, Messrs. Gram, Cox and Denomy. The association has received some challenges already and purpose pushing the practice in order to fit the members for action in the shortest possible time.

FALSE ARREST.—A man named Pugsley, who a few months ago rented Mr. Brown's farm on the Huron Road, for a term of years, was arrested on Saturday charged with fraudulent dealings in other parts of the country. On Monday he left for Fort Erie in charge of an officer from that section and constable Yale. He has since returned to town, and it looks as if he was a victim of a false arrest. We understand he intends to take proceedings against the parties concerned in his arrest.

Rev. George Richardson has been down with influenza for the past week or ten days. Sunday last his place in North-st. Methodist pulpit was acceptably filled by Rev. B. L. Hutton, of Victoria-st. church. Mr. Richardson, we learn, is on the mend.

"God Save the Queen," the audience dispersed. The only disagreeable feature of the evening was the coldness of the hall, which was owing to the extreme severity of the weather. The gross proceeds will amount to between $40 and $50.

WILL RISK THE MICROBE.—An exchange says: "Steer clear of bank notes as you would of rattlesnakes." "La Grippe" microbes are lying in wait in the soft texture of the aliening green-back." If any of our delinquent subscribers have a surplus of green-backs we would advise them to forward the same to this office. We will risk the advent of the microbes and will them give credit for every dollar received by us.

RECOVER AND RECOVERING.—During the past week Messrs. Hutchinson, M. C. Cameron, J. T. Garrow, S. Sloane, W. Proudfoot, P. O'Dea, T. Westhead and a host of other well-known town folk were down with influenza, but we are pleased to learn that they are now all either recovered or recovering. Mr. Proudfoot had a particularly virulent attack, and at one time his case was the subject of serious thought to his many friends. We are pleased to learn, however, that the critical stage is past, and we look for his early return to his regular duties. La grippe has proved to be no joking matter in Goderich.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

The Farmers of West Huron held their Third Annual Meeting.

The third annual meeting of the West Huron Farmers' Institute was held in the town hall on Friday last, and was well attended by the agriculturists of the section.

The president, Mr. John Kernighan, opened the proceedings with an appropriate address.

Mr. G. C. Caston, of West Simcoe, followed with a carefully thought out address on "The Profits of Fruit Growing as Compared with Ordinary Farming," which elicited comment from many of those present. He also gave a practical illustration of pruning the grape.

A deputation from the Goderich Board of Trade, consisting of Messrs. James Mitchell, A. Saunders and R. Radcliffe, advocated the establishment of a creamery in the section, after which Mr. Miller, of Parkhill, read an exhaustive paper on the benefit to be derived from the establishment of a creamery. Mr. Miller is a prominent member of the Creamery Association of Ontario, and from practical experience in the running of a creamery was able to give much valuable information.

A discussion on the question took place, in which Messrs. Linklater, J. G. Clutton, Jas. Porter, J. McClusky and others took part.

Mr. Miller answered the questions put to him in a satisfactory manner, and the following resolution was put and carried unanimously:—

Moved by D. McHillicuddy, seconded by Mr. J. Mitchell, that a committee consisting of Messrs. McClusky, J. Varcoe, H. Morris, Clutton, Jas. Porter, A. Buchanan, W. Young and J. Jenkins be appointed by this meeting to canvass the district to see if 500 cows can be guaranteed in the event of a creamery being established.

After a few remarks from Prof. James, of the Agricultural College, Guelph (who was unfortunately afflicted with la grippe, and thereby debarred from taking up his regular subject), the meeting adjourned, to meet at Victoria Hall in the evening.

TOWN COUNCIL.

The Minutes of Last Council-Monthly Meeting.

The statutory meeting of the town council was held in the town hall at 11 a. m. on Monday.

Owing to the resignation of Mr. Sicans, Mr. R. W. McKenzie was declared elected as a councillor for St. Patrick's ward.

After the members elected had made the usual declaration of qualification and office, Mayor Butler took the chair.

Messrs. W. E. Robertson and H. W. Ball were re-appointed auditors, and Mr. William Kay was re-appointed on the High School Board.

The mayor informed the council that the usual declaration of qualification and office, made a contract with Jas. Robertson & Co., of Toronto, for 10 tons of half inch pipe at $4.75 per cwt. l. o. b. at Toronto. The contract was approved by the council.

The first and third Friday in each month were named as the regular meeting nights.

COMMUNICATIONS.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions of our Correspondents. Contributors to this department must confine themselves to publications, and be brief.

To the Editor of The Signal.

DEAR SIR,—As a representative of a bovine race, I think it our bounden duty to acknowledge our appreciation of the kindness shown us by the citizens of Goderich, in giving us equal privileges to the public walks and parks as bipeds. And I am sure that we shall greatly enjoy the shade trees, the drinking fountains, the sweet green grass of the walks and parks, and the genteel society of the genus homo.

I really do not understand how any one could object to our general company. Do we not make the very cream of society? And we feel doubly grateful that the people of Goderich appreciate our society, and have been so willing to accord us the same rights to the public thoroughfares as other citizens. We need not now be afraid of the bull-dog, the bad boy, or the pound keeper.

In the summer time, when our beautiful town looks its best, we shall be glad to welcome excursionists, treat them to ice cream (or I scream) and enjoy the music of the bands while we recline under the shade trees, chewing the cud of sweet content. By the way, I heard a cow gentleman say that if his neighbor's cow had a right to take the grass before his door, he preferred cutting it himself and giving it to the cow to eat at her own stable, that he did not wish his front door to look like a barn-yard. What an old curmudgeon! I thought he must be a lazy bunter, and told him we ought to be glad to get material to enrich his garden so cheap. He said he did not propose to become stable-boy for his neighbor's cow, or enrich his garden to grow cabbage for a me, the heathen! Another cow gentleman said that the privilege of welcome excursionists, treat them to ice cream (or I scream) and enjoy the music of the bands while we recline under the shade trees, chewing the cud of sweet content. By the way, I heard a cow gentleman say that if his neighbor's cow had a right to take the grass before his door, he preferred cutting it himself and giving it to the cow to eat at her own stable, that he did not wish his front door to look like a barn-yard. What an old curmudgeon! I thought he must be a lazy bunter, and told him we ought to be glad to get material to enrich his garden so cheap. He said he did not propose to become stable-boy for his neighbor's cow, or enrich his garden to grow cabbage for a me, the heathen! HURON SIGNAL

FRIDAY, JAN. 24, 1890.

The House of Commons is in session, but up to date nothing of importance has been done except electing Mr Wood, M.P. for Brockville, deputy speaker.

The Atwood Bee is the latest aspirant for journalistic honors in the Huron tract. Its constituency will be somewhat circumscribed, owing to the proximity of a number of old-established journals.

DALTON MCCARTHY on Wednesday in the Commons introduced his bill to abolish the dual language system in the Northwest, and spoke at considerable length in support of the measure.

The Hamilton Spectator draws attention to the fact that the Mayor of that city wears a plug hat. Would it kindly inform anxious outsiders what kind of head gear his predecessors in office wore.

"The Daily News has ceased circulation. It has been succeeded by the Daily Gazette, which made its first appearance on the 11th. It is a 28-column paper, Reform in politics, Arthur Horatio Nelson Jenkins, editor."—Toronto World.

Now that it has leaked out that Editor Farrer of the Toronto Mail, has given information to the U. S. Senatorial Committee on the Tariff which may burke Commercial Union, all the Tories are howling mad, and say that the Mail and its editor are traitors.

THE EDITORS TABLE

The numbers of The Living Age for the weeks ending 11th and 18th January contain Literary Criticism in France, and in Characteristic, Fortnightly; The Old Missionary, and Ancient Art; National; Recollections of a Dominican Preacher, Temple Bar; Queen Louise, Sunday Magazine; Dorothy Wordsworth, Leisure Hour; Among the Saints; Art; How a Russian Officer Rode to the Exposition, Litteraire et Figaro; Charles Diddie, Gentlemen's; Caussing the Rustica, Time; Browning and Tennyson, Spectator; with "Joel Quail's Return," The Taking of Osman Oplos, and "A Modern Eastern Story," says poetry.

Whatever the amount of the Ontario Bank losses by these "irregularities" Harry Brown, the absent ledger-keeper, seems to have got away with the lion's share—nearly $40,000 it is said. It is understood that when Mr Barwick visited him in Buffalo he volunteered to send a statement of the bases on which he would settle with the bank to Ald. Lindsey, who is Brown's solicitor. That document is now in Mr Lindsey's possession, but what its contents are is probably known to himself and Brown. Some of the latter's friends are circulating the report that he never left Canada at all; that he is at his former home in Goderich. But that yarn is all moonshine; Brown is over in Buffalo, and he is likely to stay there until he gets a settlement with the bank and immunity from prosecution. Such things have been done before by financial corporations when dealing with dishonest employees.—Toronto World.

Mr Brown has not been around Goderich since the alleged defalcation became known. Some time since a relative of his was in town, and boasted that "Harry Brown had cleared $90,000 in real estate speculation in Toronto during the past year." The thing seemed preposterous at the time, but in the light of recent revelations it is only to be wondered at that Harry left even the vault in the bank.

Rev. John Young, "from the Niagara district," has been up in Huron county speaking in favor of equal rights. Brer Dan McGillicuddy, of the Goderich Signal, opposed Rev Mr Young at one of the meetings, and in the heading of the report in The Signal, Brer McGillicuddy makes this admission:— "Rev. John Young, from the Niagara District, holds His Third Equal Rights Meeting in invitation, Mr D. McGillicuddy presents the Other Side. That is to say, Brer McGillicuddy presented the side of unequal wrongs. That is not what he meant to say he did, but that is precisely what he did.—Hamilton Spectator.

The other side of Equal Rights is unequal rights—not unequal wrongs. But, admitting that unequal wrongs is the other side, what is a greater unequal wrong than a representative of a majority in any country preaching the gospel of suppression of the minority, and endeavoring to light the fires of bigotry and intolerance by public appeals, whether it be on the platform, as was done by the rev gentleman in the case cited, or in the columns of a secular journal of the calibre of the Hamilton Spectator? In Hamilton at the last municipal election the Spectator endeavored to defeat the present Mayor by rabid appeals against the minority in creed of that city—not because the objectionable candidate was a Catholic, for he was not, but because the Spectator thought by raising the cry that the Catholics were supporting him, the entire Protestant electorate would go solidly against him. But the thing worked the other way, and McLellan was elected by a majority of over 300, although one of the editorial appeals made by the Spectator was that "if McLellan were elected every Catholic in Hamilton would be an office-seeker." This is a sample of the Spectator's argument on "Equal Rights," and we don't wonder that it thinks the better designation would be "Unequal Wrongs." THE SIGNAL is a non-sectarian journal, with no bias toward or prejudice against any denomination, and even if at times things occur in connection with numerically small denominations that we do not approve, we are not on that account going to inaugurate a "Holy War" or a war of races. That scheme has been tried many a time and often

Mr Robt. Ellis was in Toronto visiting friends last week. Work was resumed at McEwan's salt works on Tuesday last. Quite a number of our citizens are laid up with an attack of la grippe.

Mr Robt. Ellis, jr., left for Toronto last week to attend a business college in that city. A number of fences around here were blown down by the severe storm on Tuesday night.

The notorious "McGinty" has arrived in our village this week. We expect Danlop will be the next point of attack. Mr and Mrs W Arbuckle, of Zetland, have been sorely waked to part with their youngest child, at the early age of eleven years. He was a smart, promising boy. He was taken down with measles in the first place, but they seemed to strike out right, and he died on New Year's day.

From the Joliet Daily Republic and Sun, of January 10th, we clip the following concerning a former Brusselsite:— "The court has appointed Geo. Hingston the official reporter of the circuit court, and it is expected that the business of the court will be greatly expedited. Mr Hingston is an adept at the business and will fill the position admirably."

Bleached hair is brought to such an art now that it is almost impossible for the casual observer to tell the genuine from the artificial blonde, says the N. Y. Sun. But if in a carefully arranged head of hair as yellow as ripe wheat you can detect one dark brown or black hair at the nape of the neck or near the ear, the story is told. Straws show which way the wind blows, and the single dark hair tells where the dye misgled. The dark-haired woman who is determined to be a blonde must live the life of a slave to this desire, as hair grows at the rate of an inch a month. There is a shade of natural auburn hair which is inclined to be streaked and much lighter at the ends than at the roots. This kind of hair, now so fashionable, might be mistaken for the streaked and striped bleached blonde, but the inexperienced in time it is sure to be natural, no matter how varied are its shades, white if it is dry and broken, it is safe to suspect the bleacher's art. A natural pale golden blonde has blonde eyelashes and eyebrows, and in real life the black eyelashes never accompany golden hair, unless it owes its hue to art, however much one may find this combination in heroines of novels.

LOSS OF THE SS. ERIN.

New York, Jan. 22.—The National Line steamer Erin, which is feared has been lost at sea, carried no passengers. She had a crew of sixty or seventy men, and about fifteen cattlemen were on board. The Erin had a deckload of cattle in pens and a general cargo, including cotton, below decks. She was one of the swiftest and staunchest of the older vessels of the National Line. F. W. J. Hunt, the line's agent here, said last night that he believed the Erin was afloat, but had probably broken down.

The weather on the North Atlantic this winter has been very boisterous. The hydrographic office cannot recall anything like it, and the ship carpenters unanimously pronounce it the worst they have ever experienced. A series of awful westerly gales has been howling off the banks of Newfoundland for the last five weeks.

London, Jan. 22.—The steamer Erin has now been out twenty-five days, and there is hardly any doubt in maritime circles that some disaster has befallen her. The fears concerning her safety have been greatly augmented by a report made by the British steamer Creole (Capt. Darling) at Bremen, from New Orleans, which on January 9 saw a steamer's lifeboat adrift bearing the name Erin. The finding of the lifeboat alongside and took from it ten ash oars and a mast and sail. A lifeboat, a steamer's bridge, and an awning were also seen floating near the lifeboat.

New York, Jan. 22.—The agent of the steamer Erin is unable to give the name of the crew. He thinks the Erin put in at the Azores. The finding of a lifeboat of the Erin, he says, is no indication of her loss, as lifeboats are frequently washed overboard.

J. H. RICHARDS.

DUNGANNON.

From our own correspondent. Look at the label on this paper.

Weather in this neighborhood is unusually changeable. At present as we write, Jack Frost is king, there is, however, as yet no appearance of blanching, which is being anxiously looked for.

In this village and vicinity, the inhabitants have thus far been highly favored in being free from the epidemic which is so prevalent in other places, and known as la grippe; of course some are complaining of having caught cold, but apparently trifling. The principal question might be inverted thus: "Has la grippe got hold of you?"

The municipal council of the municipality of West W. was in pursuance of the municipal act, held its first meeting for 1890 in the township hall, on Monday, the 20th inst., on which occasion, those gentlemen who were elected to conduct the affairs of the municipality took a declaration of office, after which, in a business like manner, they proceeded with the business on hand. Reeve Jas. Johnston, of course, presided over the meeting in his usual happy manner. There were present Robt. Leckhart, deputy reeve, and councillors Thos. Todd, Jas. Todd, and William Bailey. The following were appointed as officials:—R. Miller, re-appointed clerk; J. G. Miller, treasurer; auditors—Robt. Murray, St. Helens, and John Webster; assessor—T. Wilson.

The annual meeting of the West W. Mutual Fire Insurance Co. was held here on Tuesday, the 21st inst. There was quite a large attendance of those concerned from the surrounding townships. The directors' and auditors' reports were unanimously adopted. The three retiring directors, viz.: Messrs John Gordon, Isaac Fisher and Finlay Anderson, were re-appointed. Mr. John Wilson was appointed auditor of accounts by the policy holders. The manner of conducting the business of the Coy. during the past year, being very efficient, gave entire satisfaction. The standing of the Coy. at present seems to rank very high, as there are fifty-nine Mutual Fire Insurance Companies in the Province of Ontario and it is ninth on the list, there being eight larger and fifty smaller. On the whole, in spite of vigorous efforts to underrate it, these efforts only make it more prominent and prosperous. Charles Garvin Esq., president, occupied the chair in an able manner.

A FATAL RUNAWAY.—Mr. Stephen Irwin, an old and respected resident of this vicinity, on Wednesday last met with a sad accident, which resulted fatally. While driving home from the village his horses became unmanageable, and, on turning a sharp curve to enter the gate to his residence, threw him out against the gate post. The shock rendered him insensible, and shortly after he expired without having regained consciousness. The remains will be interred in Dunganon cemetery on Saturday, at 2 p. m.

Hark! to the sound of humanity's wails! Millions of people with aches and with all. Headaches and humors, a merciless flood. Weakness of lungs and disorders of blood. Yet there's a helper that certainly saves Thousands of people from premature graves.

The remedy is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures coughs, relieves asthma, checks bronchitis, purifies the blood, heals sores, eruptions and unsightly pimples and is without a rival for all the ills that spring from a disordered liver. All druggists.

Don't hawk and blow, and spit, but use Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Of druggists.

LEEBURN. From our own correspondent. Look at the label on this paper. The beautiful snow seems to have come to stay awhile this time.

Mrs. H. Reiton has returned from a pleasant week's visit to relatives of the 4th con., Goderich township.

An effort is on foot towards holding an Equal Rights meeting at this point, and Rev. John Young has been written to, asking him to present the views of the Equal Rights people on the question.

A branch meeting of the Farmers' Institute of West Huron will be held in the temperance hall, on Tuesday next, 28th inst., at 1.15 p. m. All are invited to attend. Mr. Kernighan, president of the West Huron Farmers' Institute, will be present. One of the principal topics to be discussed is the creamery question.

The recent Farmers' Institute held in Goderich last week was attended by John Linklater, J. Horton, A. H. and J. G. Clifton. The latter, we understand will canvass in our section among the farmers here to see how many boxes of milk will be given for the support of the creamery talked of at the late gathering.

As a general thing the farmers' wives have the butter money for their own use. If they give up their cows for the creamery, which will lessen their labor in butter making, it will also lessen the cash returns for their own use. Will the women collect the dues from the creamery themselves or their husbands? If they collect it they must refund it to the wife.

The annual congregational meeting of the Presbyterian church was held on Wednesday evening last week. The financial returns were better than of any previous year, showing the weekly amount promised by each family towards the support of the church expenses was successful. A proposal made by John Linklater on behalf of Captain James Bogue for him to make a canvass for aid to reduce the present debt on the church building was accepted. The Captain will shortly undertake the mission and we hope he will succeed. A committee of J. Linklater, A. Green and John Stewart was appointed to see if new changes in heating the church could be made from the furnace now in use. The voice of the meeting tended to continue the present plan in arrears with the amount promised quarterly, as before. John Horton was re-appointed church treasurer for 1890. Rev. J. A. Anderson arrived at the close of the meeting, having been detained by two pleasant events during the day in which a minister's presence is always required to certify the joys of courtship. In addition the meeting on the amounts collected for mission purposes during the past year by the ladies appointed for this congregation. The Sunday school here gives an amount to the French school of Pointe de Trembles in Quebec in the past. Robt. Quaid was chairman and D. Cumming secretary of the meeting.

THE HOME CIRCLE

EMBEDDED DINNERS

It is a mistake to eat quickly. Mastication performed in haste must be imperfect, even with the best of teeth, and due admixture of salivary secretion with the food cannot take place. When a huge mass of inadequately crushed muscular fibre, or undivided solid material of any description, is thrown into the stomach, it acts as a mechanical irritant, and sets up a condition in which the membrane lining of the organ is slightly impeded, if it does not altogether prevent the process of digestion. When the practice of eating quickly and filling the stomach with unprepared food is habitual, the digestive organ is rendered incapable of performing its proper functions. Either a much larger quantity of food than would be necessary under natural conditions is required, or the system suffers from lack of nourishment. Just as a man may go on for years with defective teeth, imperfectly masticating his food, and wondering why he suffers from indigestion, so a man may habitually live under an affliction of hurried dinners, and endure consequent loss of health, not knowing why he is not well, or how easily the cause of his illness might be remedied.

THE CLOTHING OF CHILDREN

Although I own that children are now more sensibly clothed than was the case thirty years ago, it is still common to see an infant, who can take no exercise, short-sleeved, wearing a low-necked, short-sleeved, above coated dress in the coldest weather. The two parts of the body—viz., the upper portion of the chest and the lower portion of the abdomen—which is most important to keep from variations of temperature, are exposed, and the child is rendered liable to colds and lung diseases on the one hand, and bowel complaint on the other. What little there is of the dress is chiefly composed of open work and embroidery, so that there is about as much warmth in it as in a wire sieve, and the socks accompanying such a dress are of cold white cotton, exposing a cruel length of side and red leg. I cannot see the beauty of a pair of laced blue legs, and would much rather behold them comfortably clad in a pair of stockings. If the beauty lies in the shape of the leg, that shape will be displayed to as much advantage in a pair of stockings; if it lies in the coloring of the flesh, beautiful coloring will not be obtained by leaving the legs bare, and from the artistic point of view, a pair of red stockings is infinitely preferable to a blue and red leg.

KITCHEN CABINET

A most convenient kitchen cabinet or table, said to have been designed by a woman and made by her husband, should have place in every kitchen. The table, which is of hard wood, is oblong in shape and not very high. It contains four drawers, two at one end of about the same size, a long one in the middle, and a fourth small drawer at the other end. These drawers are to be used for silver, glass, soap, scouring material, brushes for silver and glass, for dish towels and cloths, and the countless other small things needed in dish washing and baking. There are also several shelves and open compartments of different sizes for holding the kneading-board, rolling-pin, etc. But the essential feature of the table is a high back like that attached to a plain sideboard or commode, against which are fastened at either end cranes to hold the jolly bag or other substances that must be filtered, the cranes being so arranged that they may be turned back against the table when not in use. Fastened against the back of the table are also two very narrow shelves, containing openings just large enough to hold in place the various knives, forks and spoons used in cooking, which are suspended in them vertically. In the centre of the back is a small oval cabinet in which may be kept the cook books and other kitchen memoranda, the door of the cabinet being provided with a rack where the cook book may be held securely and open at the right place. Such a cabinet is of great value in saving both time and many weary steps, especially for those mistresses who have no maids, or in flats, where every inch of room has to be counted. By its side should be a chair of convenient height, for many things in housekeeping may be done as well sitting as standing, and not until women study conveniences and comforts for the kitchen as carefully as for the other rooms, will household drudgery be what a clever woman called an everlasting chore.

BLUE BEDROOMS

The present fancy for rooms painted and furnished in some certain tint dates back to before the Revolution. The latter recalls one room in an ancient home mansion made terrible to children by an anti-Revolutionary ghost, which was painted exactly the shade which it is now fashionable to use in guest chambers. Even the brass-trimmed mahogany furniture was not wanting, nor the high chest of drawers too cumbersome and unwieldy to be moved often than semi-annually. The blue rooms of today may be furnished in every Colonial fashion, but more frequently the lighter French furniture of damasked wood in pale blue, ornamented with gold, is chosen. The bedstead usually brass if the purse of the family will allow, and is draped with curtains of pale blue and white India silk. A mahogany table of mahogany with blue bannons, a long chair of glass, a chiffonier in blue and gold are added to the furniture, frilly ash curtains of blue and white silk or of dotted or tattered or ruffled muslin drape the windows. A rattan rock with cushions of blue and white cotton tape, and a lounge upholstered in striped Louis XVI. chins, with suitable chairs, find a place in the furniture. A washstand is in plain Colonial style, blue and gold enamel, with a splasher encased in water blue, with a lake or some appropriate scene conventionalized. Ceramics covers for the bureau and washstand are laid over with heavy cotton and are given their sufficient body and weight by the polished hard wood tops. Efficiently, these covers are hampered with two-inch hems entirely around, and run with five or six rows of the narrow blue ribbon in graduated shades, wide row of heavy lichen lace may be at the ends of these covers, if the assiduous fancy. EDUCATION, TRUTH AND FAITH

The rapid increase of knowledge in this country and the general spread of intelligence in all classes is a just cause for pride in the nation. Yet there is a certain danger which wise men see in this appearing of facts does not educate a boy or girl. So far as the receiver of instruction digests the knowledge given him, only that he makes it his own and is wiser and, consequently, a more useful person, has been educated or led out (e duco) of himself and his selfishness. The person who acquires knowledge in order that he may be socially elevated in the world, because it is popularly believed that "give a lad a good education and he cannot but come to ride in his carriage," has made a radical mistake. The miser who hoards up coin in the recess of his vaults is poorer than a literal beggar, because he has that in his nature which prevents his ever spending his goods save for the most meagre necessities. So the man that hoards up knowledge that he has no power to use is more foolish than a child that has learned well and wisely a few things. The mere acquisition of science and knowledge is of no more value than the miser's hoard of gold. The training of the mind to meet the varied problems of life which must be thrust upon every person is the duty of the parent. The man who builds a house wisely and well is a better educated man in the true sense of education than the man who has learned six languages and has no power to use his knowledge. Only when the knowledge acquired lifts the possessor into the pure, high realm of wisdom and becomes practical does it reach the dignity of education.

Formations of Toothache

I can recommend Hagar's Yellow Oil as a sure cure for toothache. I suffered for several days, then I heated my cheek and rubbed the Yellow Oil on it and was immediately relieved.

Minard's Liment Cures Distemper

A distinguished clergyman, says the New York Tribune, has recently condemned all social and polite fictions. When, for instance, a stupid bore calls upon you, he thinks you ought to tell him that you are not glad to see him, but that, on the contrary, you are sorry to see him and that you are very glad he would go. This sort of brutal frankness would not do in the pulpit, as a critic of the clergyman has pointed out. A clergyman might as well quit preaching who should begin his sermons as follows: "My selfish, most ignorant and despicable hearers, I would like to call your prayerful attention to my text, but I know most of you are thinking about other matters and that you do not come here to learn piety, but rather to show your good clothes and maintain a social position."
