FENIANISM!

Important Revelations about their Organizations in Ontario!

Arrest of Two Men under SUSPICION NEAR GUELPH.

FULL DETAILS ABOUT THEIR CAPTURE!

We referred in yesterday's paper to several ominous rumors which were in circulation in Toronto and elsewhere, in regard to some important revelations which had come to the knowledge of the Provincial Government about the movements of Fenians, and their connection with similar organizations in the United States.

Government Detectives Follis and Lambert came up to Guelph by the ten a.m. train, and placed in Chief Constable Kelly's hands a warrant for the arrest of Peter Mahon, of Aberfoyle, son of Patrick Mahon, farmer, there.

On Monday Patrick Boyle and Edward Hynes, publishers of the Irish Canadian newspaper, with Owen Cosgrove and J. Nolan, all for a long time suspected of having strong Fenian proclivities, and one or two at least as being at the head of the organization in this Province, were arrested in Toronto.

When the detective went to the Irish Canadian office, he first addressed himself to Boyle, whom he slightly knew, and no sooner had he done so than the former assumed a cool and collected manner.

When Nolan was arrested he submitted peaceably, but without request protested that he was a member of no organization except the Hibernian Benevolent Society, that its by-laws were open to the public, and that they could do nothing to him.

certained that a correspondence had been regularly kept up between Murphy in London and Mahon here, the upshot of which was, besides the extension of the order, the execution of a number of daring designs, neither creditable to their judgment nor honorable to their positions.

quired is spoken of with confidence as sufficiently strong to warrant the Government in detaining these parties under the Habeas Corpus Suspension Act.

MORE ARRESTS IN PROSPECT. Mr. Gilbert McKicken, Stipendiary Magistrate, who came to Guelph on Tuesday with the detectives, left Town this (Wednesday) morning for the neighbourhood of Hamilton, where it is likely one or more parties implicated in the Fenian movement will also be arrested.

Another Fenian Lodged in Guelph Jail.

John Murphy, No. 2, a Baggage Man on the Great Western Railway arrested at Noon to-day.

At noon to-day [Wednesday] Government Detective Caldwell made another Fenian arrest, that of a man named John Murphy (No. 2), who was carefully distinguished from the John Murphy who was arrested on Tuesday night and who is an employee on the Great Western Railway.

The information in possession of the Government clearly points to a fact not generally known, but now proved. For some time Guelph and vicinity has been the central point for Fenian operations in Ontario.

BY TELEGRAPH

Despatches to the Evening Mercury.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE. Paris, May 5th.—Information from St. Petersburg is to the effect that the Baron de Talleyrand, French Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary, has had a consultation with Prince Gortschakoff, Chancellor of the empire, and Minister for foreign affairs, upon the subject of mediation by France and Russia in the Turco-Cretan question.

London, May 5.—The South German States threaten to leave the Customs Diet if the address of the party of German unity is debated.

London, May 5, midnight.—In the House of Commons this evening, Mr. Gladstone in some remarks referred to the Duke of Richmond's assertion in the House of Lords last night that Her Majesty the Queen had trusted to the Ministry to dissolve Parliament whenever they pleased.

Mr. Disraeli, in reply, said there was no discrepancy between the statements made in the two Houses. He had offered to resign, but the tender was declined by Her Majesty. His advice to the Queen was to dissolve Parliament when the state of the public business permitted. This was without any reference to the new constituencies, but if the work of the house was soon completed, a new house would be elected by them.

Sir Stafford Northcote made some remarks to the effect that Ministry had no intention to menace the House.

Mr. Disraeli, again rising, said the right to dissolve Parliament was only reserved by the Ministry in case the issue upon the Irish Church question was pressed to a division. After speeches by other members, the debate ended.

American Despatches.

New Orleans, May 5th.—Eighteen persons were poisoned by arsenic administered in their food on Sunday. None are dead, however.

Yesterday an Erie Railway train, while backing on the long docks at Jersey City, for the purpose of unloading grain, was suddenly submerged in the river, the beams of the dock having given way. Three men drowned.

Puslinch Council.

The Court of Revision met in the Town-hall on Monday the 4th of May. There being no appeals it was moved by Mr. Spreuhar, seconded by Mr. McFarlane, that the assessment rolls as now revised be confirmed.

The Arrest of Fenians.

We give in another column a full account of the arrest of parties in this neighborhood and in Toronto on suspicion of being Fenians, and connected with Fenian organizations in this Province or elsewhere. They have been arrested under the habeas corpus act, and will be held until a full investigation is made by the Government, and the degree of their complicity fully proved. We must all give the Government the fullest credit for its promptitude in making these arrests, and for the manner in which it has been conducting enquiries in regard to the Fenian movements throughout the Province. It is believed that the parties arrested in Guelph and Toronto will be removed to Ottawa for safe-keeping. The military guard which has now to be kept at the jail there will be sufficient for all. The authorities have their eyes on other parties, who, if they remain in the country will probably be apprehended under this act. Numbers are more or less implicated by private information in the hands of the Crown prosecutor, which, if it was divulged, would probably cause a good many to discover business elsewhere.

With regard to the guilt of the parties arrested here, we have no desire to prejudice or condemn any man, but from the information in the possession of the Government, which we publish, it would have been failing in its duty if it had not secured Mahon and the Murphys. It is quite evident that they are Fenian sympathisers, and were actively engaged in aiding the movement and in establishing organizations. This was done with no other than treasonable designs, and they must now abide the full consequences of their acts. We hope that the Government will not stop till every Fenian sympathiser, and every man who gives aid and comfort to the organization—whether here or elsewhere—be in a similar position with Mahon and the Murphys.

NAPOLEON'S POLICY.—The Emperor Napoleon is certainly brewing some new stroke of European policy. This is surmised by observers from the pains he is taking to secure the goodwill of all parties. After having had an interview with the chiefs of the conservatives, he called around him lately several of the deputies of the opposition, to whom he not only expressed a wish to know their views on the present general state of affairs, but testified his sincere desire to effect a reconciliation if possible. It is stated that he has given instructions to the heads of tribunals not to take any further action against the press, except in cases involving crime. As to the question of peace or war, person, most in the confidence of the Emperor do not agree. M. Rouher desires peace, in order to secure good elections, and M. Niel is reported to have said that it would be safer to risk the elections after victory.

DISTRESS IN P. E. ISLAND.—In consequence of the long and severe winter on the Island, there is great distress among the farmers to the eastward and westward. A private letter informs us that hundreds of farmers are without seed grain or potatoes, having given it all to their cattle. This being all expended the cattle are dying in large numbers every day, and starvation is staring the poor farmers and their families in the face. In some sections of the Island crowds of men have broken into the mills and stores and forcibly taken the grain therefrom. The Legislature has sent £3,000 in relief.

THE ENGLISH GENERAL.—Sir Robert Napier, who has so successfully conducted the Abyssinian campaign, is no relation to any of the celebrated Napiers. He was born in the Island of Ceylon in the year 1810, entered the Indian army in 1826, and has participated in most of the military enterprises in India during the last forty years. Without family connection or patronage he has worked his way upwards to the foremost rank of the Indian army, is a Knight of the Bath and of the Star of India, and will now probably obtain a peerage and a large pension for life.

SNUG BERTHS.—The New York city functionaries don't work for nothing and find themselves. Among the privileges of the tax-payers there for the coming civic year is an addition to the salary of each alderman of enough to make his pay $3,500 a year, exclusive of perquisites; also the increase of the clerk's salary to $7,500; also the deputy to $5,000; and so on, making the total salaries in the Legislative Department $2,145,000. Ten years ago it was about $7,000 in all. Time was when men served as aldermen for the honor of it. The honor has long since gone, and now it is grab while you can.

A young man, newly married, jumped from the boat at Fall River, Mass., after it had started for Providence, the other day, as he had forgotten to tell his wife of his intention, and was fearful of the consequences if he should depart without doing so. He managed to swim to shore and afterwards landed on his hat and valise.

The London correspondent of the Glasgow Herald renews the rumor that an addition is to be made to the allowance granted to the Prince of Wales by £10,000 a year, in consequence of the great expense to which the Prince and Princess are put in representation.

History and Geography

Abyssinia is a vast country of Eastern Africa extending between latitude 7 degrees 40 minutes north, and 15 degrees 40 minutes south, and longitude 34 degrees 20 minutes east, and 43 degrees 30 minutes west, bounded on the east by Aden, northeast by the Red Sea, northwest by Nubia, and south and southeast by what is known to explorers as the country of the Gallas.

From various sources to hand during the progress of the war in Abyssinia, and the official topographical reports of the English authorities, we compile the following statement of the ancient history and geography of the empire.

More than two thousand years ago the father of Greek history described Ethiopia as the most distant region of the earth whose inhabitants were the tallest, most beautiful, and "most long-lived," of the human race. Before him the father of Greek poetry had already sung of Ethiopians, "remotest of men," most just, "with whom the immortal gods delight to banquet." Beyond the confines of Egypt, the furthest nation of whom the Greeks knew anything, there rose a vision of a mighty empire, glorious, ancient, powerful, rich in gold and jewels and spices. Its inhabitants dwelt around the sources of the mysterious Nile, and, as some thought, had power to restrain or pour down its fertilizing waters. But it was known only by report. No traveller had reached its distant borders. No conqueror had marched an army within its sacred territory. The Persian master of Egypt had made an attempt and failed. But history repeats itself and it is, it seems, the lot of England to be perpetual treading in the steps of ancient heroes. Not many years ago she reproduced the campaigns of Alexander and Porus in the Punjab. She is now about to conclude the baffled enterprises of Cambyses in Africa. Abyssinia is really a most ancient empire, which has preserved through long ages of isolation and degradation some relics of civilization and Christianity. Surrounded by negro tribes it still maintains in form and language the higher type of the Semitic race to which it belongs. Pressed on all sides by Mahometan invaders, it has never relinquished its nominal adherence to the Gospel. The royal dynasty, derived originally so King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba, sank down, like the Merovingians in France to a succession of robis families, who are practically superseded by their vassals. Province after province set up a King and Governor of its own, until at last Abyssinia became little more than a name, like France in feudal times, or Germany and Italy before their latest rehabilitations, for a collection of independent States, a mere geographical expression. Gibbon concludes his brief summary of the latest incident in its history which fell under his review, the rediscovery of Abyssinia by the Portuguese Jesuits and its conversion to Latin Christianity, followed by its sudden and total relapse into its old Monophyite heresy—with the following characteristic ceremony: "The gates of that solitary realm were forever shut against the art, the science and the fanaticism of Europe." It was a premature announcement. During the present generation the gates have been gradually unclosing, and have now been flung wide open by Britain.

CLIMATE.—These highlands are very healthy. They are stated by Parkyns to "enjoy probably as salubrious a climate as any country on the face of the globe. The heat is by no means oppressive, a fine light air counteracting the power of the sun. At certain seasons of the year the low valleys, as of the Mareb and Taccary especially the former, are much to be feared from the malaria which prevails and which brings on, in persons exposed to its influence, most terrible fevers, which in four cases out of five are fatal." Harris thus speaks of the highlands of Shoa: "As if by the touch of the magician's wand, the scene now passes in an instant from parched and arid waste to the green and lovely highlands of Abyssinia, presenting one sheet of thriving cultivation. Each fertile knoll is crowned with its peaceful hamlet, each rural vale traversed by its crystal brook and teeming with herds and flocks. The cool mountain zephyr is redolent of eglantine and jessamine, and the soft green turf, spangled with clover, daisies, and buttercups, yields at every step the aromatic fragrance of the mint and thyme." Krampf, when travelling near Lake Halk, says: "The climate in these plains is beautiful, neither too hot nor too cold, the air being always refreshed by the winds blowing from the mountains. There is plenty of water pouring out from the veins of the neighbouring mountain."

There is a dry and a rainy season in the highlands. The latter extends from May to September, and, with the exception of a few showers in the beginning of November, little more rain falls during the year.

Returns of British Commerce.—The city article of the London Times of April 14th, has the following account of the commerce of Great Britain: "The export trade of the United Kingdom the year before last, attained an amount fourteen per cent. in excess of all former experience. The returns for last year show a diminution of four per cent. from the unprecedented total thus reached. But, allowing for the recent considerable reaction in the price of many of the principal articles of raw material employed in our manufactures, there is reason to believe that so far as it represents the money return for the labor, capital and skill employed, the total of 1867 is the most favorable ever attained. Of the aggregate of £181,183,971, about 28 per cent. was to our own possessions, but large as this proportion is it is not quite equal to that of preceding years, since, although there was a recovery in the trade with India, that with Australia and Canada experienced a heavy reduction. As regards our shipments to foreign countries the worst feature consists in a heavy falling off in the total with the United States, notwithstanding the very large increase in the quantity of breadstuffs and cotton we have drawn from their markets. On the other hand, Germany, under her new organization, has made a great stride toward compensating us for this loss of business with America. France, Holland and Egypt likewise continue to advance. Brazil figures for a rather heavy falling off, but the Argentine Republic has maintained the large increase of the preceding year, and now takes the lead of Belgium. Chile likewise presents a good increase, while Mexico exhibits the heavy falling off that was to be expected. China has no reaction from the remarkable increase attained in 1866, and Japan presents an increase on the previous satisfactory total."

The town of Hioga in Japan, where the British and other officials were lately fired upon, has been taken possession of by 300 men landed from H. M. iron-clad "Ocean," a detachment of the 9th Infantry, and about 200 men furnished by the French and American squadrons.

The Maiden's Choice

OR THE LAIRD OF BIRKENLEUGH
A Tale of the Covenanters.

The latter was quite conscious, and as they drew him over the side of the boat a deep groan escaped him, and, pressing his hand upon his side he sank down in the bottom of the skiff.

Richard whose energy seemed to be as strong as ever, swung round to the landing place, and clambered up a larger boat which lay there, half filled with men.

No sooner had he got over the gunwale, than a heavy hand was laid upon his shoulder, and a rough voice sounded in his ear, "You are my prisoner."

"Your prisoner!" echoed Richard, looking round in astonishment.

"Ay, if it be so that you are named Richard Wayland."

Richard Wayland is the name I have been always known by, answered the youth, whose astonishment was unabated.

"Then I tell you, you are my prisoner. Here is the warrant for your apprehension."

"Fiddlers and panches, what's the meaning of that," cried Sir Gilbert, who, with others, had now assembled at the landing place, and were looking in amazement upon the scene.

"The youth is arrested upon a charge of murder," replied the officer, as he handed a pair of fetters, and advanced to fasten them on Richard's limbs.

"Stand off," roared the youth, with an attitude of defiance. "This outrage I shall not submit to."

"Sorry to incommode you, young man," but my orders are imperative. I have followed you all the way from Edinburgh to make the capture; so you had better keep quiet. I should be sorry to do a harsh thing to a brave fellow like you, but duty is duty, and I daren't depart from it. The crime you are charged with is a serious one."

But the charge is false and ridiculous. Who is said to have been murdered by me?"

"An old man called Jabez Cringan. The information is lodged by Captain Allen, of Birkenleugh."

"The cursed vagabond!" roared Sir Gilbert. "Has he begun the pit coat his spite already?"

"Do your duty, officer," said Richard, calmly. "Fetter me as you will, I will not resist. I merely say I am innocent—aye as innocent as the child that hangs upon the breast. Jabez Cringan was never murdered by me."

Who speaks of the murder of Jabez Cringan?" shrieked a hoarse voice from the other boat, and the trooper whom Richard had saved raised his livid and distorted face, and glared wildly round him. "Where is the youth fettered and in the hands of the officers he covered back into the boat, and a frightful expression passed over his features.

"He it was who saved me—he!" muttered the trooper, and he groaned again with internal agony; but it seemed as if he was also enduring some horrible mental suffering. He crouched down in the boat, covered his face with his hands, and asked them to cover him over with a cloak.

Having secured their prisoner, the larger boat put off at once from the landing-place for the shore, and Richard was not even permitted to bid his friends farewell. The Baronet was frantic; but he shouted to Richard to keep up his heart. The youth responded with a serene smile, and tried to wave an adieu with his manacled arm.

The Governor of the Bass having now made his appearance, the order for Richard's release was delivered to him, and that youth was declared at liberty to leave the island, with certification that if he was found in Scotland after the expiry of three days he should be recaptured, and incarcerated in the same stronghold.

Gladly enough he bade farewell to the gloomy rock, but the joy of liberty was sorely damped by the seizure of Richard Wayland, and the danger by which that youth was environed. He and Marion must leave their friend the Baronet in grief and anxiety—unable to aid, unable to comfort him, unable even to wait the issue of events as regarded Richard, and the charge of murder which had been brought against him.

CHAPTER XXX.—THE TRIAL OF RICHARD WAYLAND FOR THE MURDER OF JABEZ CRINGAN.

Neither Richard Wayland nor his friends sought to delay his trial. He and they alike felt that the sooner the issue was determined the better. Some prisoners over whom the charge of a serious crime hangs seek to gain time, and use all the means which the law allows to postpone the day of assize. It need not be supposed that this is, always a sign of guilt, for even in the case of innocence the means of defence may not be at hand, and time may be required to produce the evidence necessary to their vindication.

But it is only guilt which seeks delay for the sake of delay, or presses despatch in the hope that the adverse evidence may not be collected.

Richard Wayland had no such considerations to influence him. Conscious of his innocence, yet unable to do anything more for its manifestation, his only wish was to know the best or the worst as quickly as possible. When first he had been told that he was suspected of having murdered Jabez Cringan, he treated the suspicion with scornful indifference. His own nature being singularly truthful, he had no fear that the false accusation established itself as the true in the face of enquiry, and never dreamed it possible that any amount of circumstantial evidence against him could make him appear in the eyes of his judges guilty of a crime, and the very commission of which he had been ignorant for many weeks after the deed had been done.

THE STATES GRAIN MARKET.—MORRIS, Edward Bill & Co., as quoted in the New York Times, thus notice the business in breadstuffs in the States during the past fortnight:—"The tone of the market for flour has considerably changed in the interval since our last circular, and there is a more buoyant feeling and a greater confidence in the stability of prices. The demand for England, the West Indies and South America is more active, and the stock, although rather in excess of last year at this period, is still light, and the high price prevalent throughout the west, for both flour and wheat, gives no promise of any great activity among the milling interest during the summer. Southern kinds are in moderate supply and firmly held. For California there has been a limited but not active demand. At yesterday's market, prices were firm on all medium and better grades, but quiet on the lower kinds. As yet we are without receipt of wheat from the canal, but a portion of the supplies which have been detained all winter will probably reach the seaboard during the present week. Sales, for export, to some extent, have been made for that to arrive. The market has been quite irregular, the scarcity on the spot has enabled holders to realize higher rates, and gives a strong tone to the trade. Rye is scarce, and has advanced materially. Indian corn, with a liberal stock in store, and free receipts, has been fluctuating daily in price, and closes dull and inactive."

The Swedenborgians of Portland on Wednesday dedicated one of the finest churches in that city, which takes the place of the one burned in the great fire of 1800.

It is said that about $5,000 are annually expended in Boston for music in the churches. At one church alone costs $5,000. The highest price paid
