Choosing Carnival Queens In Other Places In Canada

Entries From Organizations Here Expected

Keen Competition in Winnipeg Where the Entries Number Sixty-seven—Success, Too, Attends the Moncton Project.

From one end of Canada to the other today, the forces of beauty are being marshalled to select therefrom the lady who will most fittingly bear the title of Miss Canada in the great Winter Carnival competition which will take place in Montreal next month.

Montreal will have its own entrant in the contest and while Miss Gauthier has been selected as Miss Montreal, pro tem, the whole city is now being searched for the young lady who will measure her charms with the girls from all over Canada for the title of Miss Canada.

Halifax has already chosen her queen in the person of Mrs. Ora Doherty, while in Winnipeg the contest is at fever heat with sixty-seven ladies already in the competition.

The Times' suggestion that one or more candidates be selected from each of the large business houses, ladies' societies and high schools and entered in the Carnival Queen Competition, is meeting with favor and while no entries of this kind have as yet been received, it is understood that several will be forthcoming in a day or two.

The contest in Montreal closed on Wednesday evening with twenty-six young ladies competing for the title of Miss Montreal. Selection of the winner will take place on Friday, Jan. 21. Judges who have not yet been named. Besides the organizations mentioned, the following have candidates in the Montreal competition: Montreal Ladies' Club, P. B. O. Elks, Montreal Baseball Club, Ancient and Honorable Order of the Blue Gays, British Canadian Bowling Club, Club de Hockey Dimanche, Canadian Brotherhood Railway Employees and Trinity Memorial Tennis Club, as well as from several business establishments including Almy's, Bramson's, and the Hotel D'Alsace.

HALF MILE ONLY BIG RACE TODAY AT PLATTSBURG

The Skaters to be at Saratoga Tomorrow

Gorman and Garnett Among Them—Joe Moore to Go After Jewtraw's Record in Three-quarter Mile—Hockey Tonight in Fredericton.

(Canadian Press)

Plattsburg, N. Y., Jan. 19.—The half mile race was the only event scheduled today the final day of the Adirondack Gold Cup skating championships here. Indications were that the same clear and cold weather which accompanied the first two days of racing would prevail.

Charles Jewtraw of Lake Placid, won his third and fourth consecutive victories in the half mile yesterday, when he captured both the 400 yard and one mile events. Charles Gorman of St. John, N. B., shadowed Jewtraw over the tape at the finish of the 400, but was forced into second place, falling to equal the world's record for the event which he established at Saratoga Lake in 1921. Frank Garnett, Gorman's fellow townsmen, set a fast pace for the first lap, but was overhauled in the second. Richard Donovan and Edward Corcoran, both of Johnson City, trailed Jewtraw throughout the race when the Lake Placid star started from his long maintained position in the pack, and flashed across the finish line seven yards to the good. Jewtraw leads in point scores for the two days with 120, Gorman has forty and the rest of the pack is trailing afar.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Jan. 19.—Practically all the crack skaters of Canada and the U. S. who are now in Plattsburg will be in Saratoga on Saturday to compete in the Saratoga Cup races. Fifteen entries have been received, including Edward Gierler, Albert Emery Stephenson, Toronto; Charles Gorman and Frank Garnett, St. John; Valentine Bilal, Lake Placid; Dick Donovan, Al Neuffer and Pat Corcoran, Johnson City; Bobby Reed and John Murphy, Brooklyn; Fred Bussanese, Elmira; Herman Perleberg, Cleveland; Paul Forsman, New York; Orville Green, Saratoga Lake; and George Pickering, Paterson, N. J.

Dick Bowler, national amateur ice jumping champion, today will give an exhibition. The programme for the afternoon will include a series of exhibition of speed and fancy skating by Bobby McLean, who will leave for Europe soon to compete with Mathieson in Norway for the world's championship, and a race against time. Joe Moore will attempt to lower the record made by Charles Jewtraw for three-quarters of a mile at Johnson City last week. Other features of the entertainment on Friday and Saturday will be exhibitions by Miss Hilda Ruckert, figure skater, and Karl Milne, expert barrel jumper.

Fredericton, N. B., Jan. 19.—With the temperature having risen more than thirty points in the last twenty-four hours and with the ice on the river in face for tonight's game here between Sussex and Maryville in the western section of the N. B. and P. E. League would not be so fast that on which Fredericton and Sussex fought last night. A slower surface will be to Maryville's liking tonight and the Sussex team is likely to have another hard game. It will be the third game in as many nights for the Sussex team. Maryville will be at full strength tonight with Edgar Wade, their star defence player, back in the game after his illness. He and "Pewee" Harrison will be in front of Peeney in the Maryville net, which will make Mark Wade available for use on the forward line, where Captain Irvine Wade has a lot of material to keep rushing into the game.

Mount Clemens, Mich., Jan. 19.—The biggest crowd of the week was out for the get-away day programme at the ice track meet yesterday. Good times were had despite a soft, wet, covered track. The 2:09 pace was the feature, Don McGregor beating out Kate Hal, the popular choice. The winner stepped the last half of the first heat in 1:05, remarkable time for such footing. Best time was 2:15 1/2. The Ballyhoo of Bordertown, N. J. Alvin Pointer took the 2:30 pace in straight heats, best time being 2:17 1/2. Fleety Silk, the only favorite to connect through in all heats of the classified race.

At the Y. M. C. A. In the Y. M. C. A. house basketball league between sixty and seventy players are registered. Tomorrow at 8:30 the "Bohons" will meet the "Chippewas." The line-up is: "Bohons," Milidge, Robertson, Grant, Brander, Alwood, Kee; "Chippewas," Williams, Josephlyn, Pattison, Rockwell, Ellison, Welford, Frost, Nelson. A sample of individual shield trophies has been received. They will be awarded to the players on the winning teams in the intermediate and senior sections. It is hoped that this League will be the means of developing players for a strong city basketball league next year.

Ned Ketchum, the president, is giving his time unstintingly to official duties. Already he has referred the bulk of the games, and has assisted greatly in the smooth running of the schedule.

DIVORCE IN ROYAL CIRCLES

Rumored That Charles of Roumania Will Seek Separation from Greek Wife. Paris, Jan. 19.—A despatch to the Matin from Belgrade says the Serbian newspaper Politika asserts that it has received from Bucharest confirmation of a report that Crown Prince Charles of Roumania is about to apply for a divorce from Princess Helen, who is now with her mother, the former Queen of Greece, at Palermo, Sicily. Crown Prince Charles married Princess Helen in Athens in March, 1921. A report was in circulation last month that there was an estrangement between the Prince and Princess, but the Roumanian legation in Washington denied it. The report was to the effect that Charles had renounced his claim to the throne, left his wife and returned to his morganatic wife.

ANSWERS ALLEN IN JOSEPH C. PELLETIER CASE

Foreman of Special Grand Jury Replies to Boston Official's Criticism. Boston, Jan. 19.—The criticism of the special grand jury that refused to indict Joseph C. Pelletier, ousted district attorney, when J. Weston Allen, retiring attorney-general incorporated in his annual report revelations of the alleged plot to indict three Supreme Court justices and himself, drew fire yesterday from Martin J. McGuire, foreman of the special grand jury. Speaking before the news, he said the jurors voted fifteen to six not to indict Pelletier or Daniel H. Coakley on the charge of blackmail and extortion. "After careful consideration we determined that spite and persecution were his objects and not justice," he said. "The reasons for our verdict are irrefragable and prejudiced sources which we did not believe. Then we sent the stenographer out of the room and told P. E. L. as a result of that I have to discharge you," said the judge. "I sincerely wish that I could add that you were honorably discharged, but the evidence we have heard has shown you are a menace to the safety of young girls and a disgrace to your wife and family. Now you can go." Scott left the court room in company with his wife and mother. The girl in the case and her parents were not present when the verdict was returned.

TORONTO BROKER FREED; BUT IS SCORED BY COURT

Toronto, Jan. 19.—Russell T. Scott, a Toronto financial broker, was acquitted by a jury last night of a charge of seducing Winnifred Burch, a nineteen year old girl under promise of marriage. Scott was discharged, but before Judge Denton had severely condemned his conduct. "You had heard the verdict of the jury and as a result of that I have to discharge you," said the judge. "I sincerely wish that I could add that you were honorably discharged, but the evidence we have heard has shown you are a menace to the safety of young girls and a disgrace to your wife and family. Now you can go." Scott left the court room in company with his wife and mother. The girl in the case and her parents were not present when the verdict was returned.

N. S. DAIRYMEN ARE IN SESSION IN TRURO

Truro, N. S., Jan. 19.—The tenth annual convention of the Dairymen's Association of Nova Scotia opened yesterday with fifty members attending. W. A. McKay, superintendent of the province, reported that in volume and quality the dairy products of 1922 were far superior to the preceding year. He declared that New Brunswick and P. E. I. as well as Nova Scotia, suffered from the lack of such maritime school of dairymen.

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram," said the Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornbourn, "I have been commissioned to ask you to come to town with your horse and a pair of bob-sleds and logging chain for the carnival parade. The committee feel that your presence would add materially to the success of the parade, and your ordinary logging clothes would be a most appropriate costume." "Well, sir," said Hiram, "I wouldn't mind it a bit—if I might have a carnival queen's lettin' alongside me." "Bring one with you," said the reporter. "You could do that, too," said Hiram—"an' she'd be the prettiest gal in the hull show. If you hadn't shot out the Settlement we'd a-won the first prize—she. We got the finest lookin' gals out there they is in Noo Brunswick." "Hiram," said the reporter, "your loyalty is admirable. You have the right spirit. By the way—could you make room for me on the bob-sleds?" "No, sir," said Hiram—"we won't need no sherpheer—By Hen!"

S., Jan. 19.—John Spruce, twenty-five, fireman on the steamer Belverton was charged in the police court this morning with attempting to bring into Canada, Mary Josephine White, sixteen, of St. John's, Nfld., of a class prohibited by the Immigration Act. He was sentenced to three months hard labor, with the alternative of a fine of $100. The girl was found hidden behind a boiler in the stokehold of the Belverton yesterday when the ship was one day out of Halifax from St. John's. She said that she had been promised "a good time" if she came to Halifax with Spruce and he found her a "nice comfortable place" in the stokehold.

FRISK DINERS; FIND COCAINE

Montreal Police Make Search in a Restaurant—Canon Scott Would Flog Peddlers. Montreal, Jan. 19.—All diners in the Fair Cafe, on St. Lawrence Boulevard, this city, were searched by two constables last night, and as a result Benjamin Gauthier, twenty-one, and Armand Gelinac, eighteen, were arrested, charged with having narcotics in their possession. Over forty decks of what is thought to be cocaine, were alleged to have been found on Gauthier. Quebec, Jan. 19.—(Canadian Press)—In an interview given here, Canon Scott expressed the belief that flogging would be the most practical means of putting an end to drug peddling.

Willie Logan to Be Sent Away

Through the efforts of W. C. Allison and Harold Ellis, municipal arrangements have been made to send Willie Logan to the skating races at Saratoga Lake, Lake Placid and Montreal. This speedy youthful skater goes unattached to any club and will represent the City of St. John. Those who have made this possible are to be congratulated on their public spirit, and there is no doubt that Logan will prove a worthy representative of the city as he did last year.

FIRST BIG GUN IN QUEBEC ELECTION

Taschereau and Others Address Liberal Rally. Premier Has a Word About the Farmers' Movement, Lauds the Good Roads Policy, and Goes Into the Liquor Law Question. (Canadian Press.)

Quebec, Jan. 19.—Major operations on the Quebec Liberal front opened here last night at a largely attended rally at which Premier Taschereau, Hon. Ernest Lapointe, federal Minister of Marine and Fisheries, Hon. A. Gaipeault, provincial Minister of Public Works; Hon. P. J. Paradis, M. L. C., chief Liberal organizer, and others spoke. Hon. Mr. Taschereau, in connection with what the Liberals had done for the agricultural elements said: "We need no better proof of the success of our agricultural policy than the utter failure of the farmers' movement in this province. While the same movement is carrying everything before it in the west and also in Ontario, it collapsed miserably before the sound common sense of our farmers."

In reference to public instruction, he said that the Liberal party had more than $2,000,000 yearly for that purpose. Very large grants had been made to universities and institutions of higher education. The Government's greatest undertaking was, however, he said, its good roads policy, since the inauguration of which $40,000,000 had been spent and more than 4,000 miles of improved roads had been built. The province of Quebec was ahead of all the other provinces in this respect.

In regard to the liquor question he declared that the new system had been a success, both materially and morally. In the first year of its operation the liquor law had realized a profit of $4,000,000 which had enabled the government to make vastly increased grants to colonization, agriculture, public health and assistance. The Premier pointed to the large decrease in the number of arrests for drunkenness in more than 4,000 municipalities in Ontario. The number of arrests per month for drunkenness in Montreal had fallen from 634 in 1920 to 393 in 1922, and this despite the great increase in population. Of the Government sales of $15,000,000 worth of liquor, he estimated that forty per cent had been bought by strangers to the province leaving to the population of Quebec a purchase of about $6 in liquor per annum per head.

In regard to the future Premier Taschereau told the gathering that one of the greatest assets of the province was its wonderful supply of hydraulic power which would be developed by capitalists, either Canadians or strangers, so that the provincial budget would not have to bear the cost.

Ontario Board of Parole Has Fine Record for Year

Toronto, Jan. 18.—Dr. Alfred Lavell, chief officer of the Ontario Board of Parole, presenting his annual report, said that during the year ending October 31, 1922, investigations were conducted into the cases of over one thousand inmates of the reformatories and industrial farms of the province at Guelph, Barrow, Mimico and elsewhere. The board personally visited these institutions and interviewed the inmates after full investigation had been made of their records. Four hundred and forty of those to whom indeterminate sentences had been given were granted paroles. Of that number less than twenty failed to behave. There was thus a ninety-five per cent success in the year's operations. This is the highest percentage the board has ever had, though the number paroled this year is twice as high as any previous year.

THIS CONSTABLE DID NOT KNOW HIS DUTY

Allowed Alleged Murderer Liberty to Commit Suicide in Train.

(Halifax Echo.)

In his address before the Liberal Convention Hon. W. J. O'Hearn, K.C., Attorney General, referred to the necessity of strengthening the work of his department by the means within his power. In view of the limited population of the Province it was impossible to have a highly trained and extensive detective service and constabulary, but he suggested that training should be given to the officials of his department throughout the Province in order that they might have as thorough knowledge of the first essentials of handling crime and criminals as was possible to give them. The practicality of Mr. O'Hearn's suggestion was proven this week when through either the carelessness or the ignorance of a country constable, an alleged murderer was allowed to wander at will through a train, and to secret himself in a toilet and cut his throat. The man was neither handcuffed nor attended, but worse than that the constable said that he had not searched him, as his (the murderer's) people told him that they had taken away from him his knife and tobacco. If a constable does not know the first essentials he should be taught them, otherwise he is not fit to be a constable. The only way to overcome this incapacity for his position is to instruct him. The Attorney General's Department should call into Halifax or some other centre regularly several times a year the various officials and officers of the law such as constables, coroners, stipendiary magistrates, chiefs of police of the various towns, and instruct them in the first essentials of their work when crime is discovered, how to deal with their prisoners and other general practical knowledge that will tend toward their efficiency and make them realize that they are part of a great Province wide organization for the protection of property and life, and maintenance of the law of their country. A thorough investigation into this particular incident wherein Constable MacPherson of Tatamagouche did not search his prisoner, allowed him to be unaccompanied, and not handcuffed, and in which finally the man had the opportunity of cutting his throat and committing suicide, should be made by the Attorney General's department.

THE PRINCESS VENTURES ON A DANGEROUS VOYAGE

Small Passenger Ship to Make Trip to Nova Scotia; Transferred to British Flag.

(New York Tribune.)

The Princess, a small passenger steamer of 268 gross tons, starts from New York Sunday on a voyage to Nova Scotia, a journey which mariners say is dangerous for a ship of that size at this time of the year. It was predicted yesterday that when she sails into Sydney harbor she will look more like an iceberg than a boat.

The Princess was sold yesterday by Captain J. F. Dunphy, of Bay Ridge, Brooklyn, to J. T. Burchell and J. A. Young, of Sydney, who will use her in passenger and freight service between that port and the Straits of Canso. The terms of the sale were not made public. Captain Dunphy bought the vessel last spring from the War Department, which had used her in harbor transport duty during the war. She was built in Brooklyn in 1913. He ran her for a time between the Battery and Far Rockaway. She has been transferred from American to Canadian registry.

On the trip from New York the Princess will sail through the Cape Cod Canal, up to Gloucester and then proceed along the coast to Sydney.

India Docks from Hamburg, was charged with illegally importing 4,980 rounds of ball ammunition. Customs officers who searched the ship found the ammunition stowed away. Asked to account for it, the prisoner said that a man in Hamburg had asked him to bring it to London, where a man would come and ask him for it. He admitted that he knew he was doing wrong, but said that he was shortly getting married, and badly wanted the money he would get for the transaction.

He was fined £100 or, in default, ordered to undergo two months' imprisonment.

London, January 1.—(By Mail)—Some novel features in the super-monoplane recently built in Germany for crossing oceans in a single non-stop flight are the subject of much comment in air circles here. Mechanics tending the engines will move in funnels constructed inside the wing. This air aviatikan will weigh not far short of 100 tons when fully loaded and will rise from and alight on the sea, for

More Life in the 1923 Rug Designs

Color strengths and patterns of dominant character shows the new Wilton's and Brussels have borrowed from the centuries old carpet craft of the Near East.

Study them throughout our three enlarged windows. No longer a vague interlacing of effects that subordinated the Square into the background and compelled you to find something else to become an off-setting feature—but a bold bid for prominence by the rug in your room. The deep silken pile of one becomes a widely margined island group of blue lily motives, brought out by other blues in a sea of fawn bordered in floral vining by blacks, fawns and blues.

Take in a few more and you can't escape an impression of regality in rugs.

COURT OF HONOR HELD

Hungarian Prince Was Justified in Joining Allies

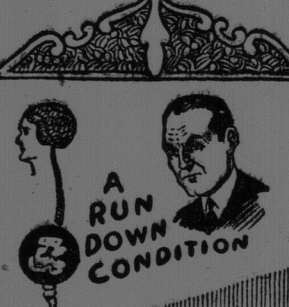

Rome, Dec. 26.—(By Mail)—The Italian papers have lately published the verdict of a Court of Honor constituted to pronounce judgment upon the motives which inspired Prince Gialma Odessacchi (at that time a Hungarian subject, though belonging to a historical Roman family) to offer his services to Italy and to the Allied armies during the war. The court was presided over by Signor Francesco Bonomi, the former Prime Minister of Italy; Signor Vittorio Scialoja, late Minister of Foreign Affairs; and Signor Salvatore Pagliano, president of the Court of Cassation. After full investigation of all the circumstances, the court found unanimously that Prince Odessacchi's motives in desiring to join the Italian and Allied armies were above reproach, inspired solely from his feeling of attachment to Italy, and in no way by any personal or other interest, as had previously been affirmed, and that accordingly he was free to re-enter his Italian family with his honor unquestioned.

"Buck" Gets Itching Feet Again
Spring Coming and Santa's Gone

"MY HERO!" CHORUS SAN DIEGO MAIDS APPLAUDING BUCK'S EXPLOITS—

San Diego, California, Jan. 17.—Spring's in the air and a worried frown between the eyes of "Buck" Murphy's mamma.

Unless you live in San Diego, it may not be apparent to you why Mamma Murphy should be apprehensive. But every San Diegan knows. Spring is the time of wanderlust, and "Buck," three years old and 101 per cent American boy, is also the world's champion wanderer for his size and weight.

"Buck" has participated in no fewer than a dozen escapes from home to look over the world. On one of his recent excursions "Buck" took along a little girl of the neighborhood. But she was essentially a "home woman," and the gypsy life palled on her, so she was never invited to go along again.

"Buck's" record for ground-gaining adventure took him three miles from San Diego, and nearly caused his mother's death from anxiety. But the youngster seems unable to withstand the temptation when his feet cry "Let's

Essen As Seen
By a Canadian

(Toronto Globe.)

If Essen is occupied by the French there will be feelings of satisfaction in not a few breasts in allied countries, in view of the reason of that city to the war, as the chief scene of munitions making for the past generation or more. It is a great steel city, thriving on war itself, and epitomizing the very spirit of war making and militarism. When Essen flourished it was a sign that the war lords in one country or another had a big campaign ahead. The measure of its relation to such conflicts may be seen in the growth of its population, which, after several centuries' existence, was but 10,000 in 1854, had risen to 118,000 in 1900, and to 489,000 in 1920.

Coming down the Rhine in one of the palatial steamers of the Netherlandish Steamship Company the sloping banks of the river remind a Canadian of the shores of the St. Lawrence. Dotted all over the landscape are villages and small hamlets, with their church spires silhouetted against the azure sky. The meadows seen from the boat are rectangular patches of an astounding green color set off with white fences. The villages appear with such regularity that the whole scene looks like a pantomime setting in

SAYS CHURCHES LAX ON PROHIBITION LAW
Not Enthusiastic in Fighting Rum Traffic, Pastor Declares.

Portland, Me., Jan. 18.—People from the larger and more aristocratic churches of this state cause the greatest danger to enforcement of the Volstead act, according to the Rev. Tom A. Bykes, pastor of the Friends' Church of this city, in an address given before the W. C. T. U. He charged that everyone was so taken up with conditions in the lower "guinea wine" sections of the city that they had quite neglected the exclusive West street and Cumberland club sections. He charged that churches, especially the more aristocratic ones, were not enthusiastic in downing the liquor traffic, and he mentioned that boys and girls in colleges could easily get liquor.

The critical moment has come. With trich dropped prices the varieties are vanishing and very soon we must stop announcing completeness of choice at unrivalled reductions. The best word we can add to our Sale news today is a hint to come before you see the "Standing Room Only" sign go up.

So it is a good idea to go carefully over these latest notations—of course they are but a fraction, yet quite important enough at that.

THE WATER POWERS.

Dr. Charles A. Eaton of New York, formerly of Nova Scotia, later of Toronto, still later pastor of the Rockefeller Church in Cleveland, and during the war associated with the work of speeding up the production of munitions in the United States, then editor for a time of Leslie's Weekly and now manager of the Industrial Relations Committee of the American General Electric Company, favors co-operative development by Canada and the United States of from 2,000,000 to 5,000,000 horsepower on eastern international boundary waters.

"FRIENDS OF BOYS."

A social experiment with wayward boys is to be tried out in New York. It has already been tried with splendid results in New Haven, during a period of sixteen years. It is thus described by the New York Tribune:

"John C. Collins, with a volunteer organization of young men called the Friends of Boys, and with the co-operation of the police, is going to try here the methods that were successful in New Haven. Instead of taking the potential lawbreaker to court the policeman to whose attention the offense is brought will turn him over to Collins. And New York's finest have offered to see to this first move in the game. Neither reclamation nor probation, but a friendly understanding between boy and man, is the object of the interview, with the policy of fair play for a background. The parents are not appealed to, and they are not asked to punish or reprove. There is no clubroom, only a headquarters provided, and no alternatives are offered to keep the boys out of mischief. The objective is state of mind only, not a choice between good and evil pleasures with all the emphasis on the good. It is being friends with a grown man outside the family circle."

This is really a variation of the Big Brother movement, with the difference that the boy is not taken to the court and exposed, lectured and then handed over to a Big Brother. No argument is necessary to convince anybody of the value of this method of dealing with wayward boys. It is only necessary to get the Friends of Boys, who are willing to make the personal effort necessary to throw their influence around these youths who are heading the wrong way. There is no community which would not be improved morally by just such a movement as is now to be begun in New York. And there is more than moral gain, for the boy going wrong who is thus induced to go right is an asset of value to the community.

A lady writes to a Boston paper that: "In Cambridge, Mass., under unsatisfactory conditions, our welfare union shows that whereas in 1910 drink was a problem in 23 per cent of our cases, in 1922 the figure was reduced to 2 per cent." The lady says this has come about: "1, because half of our police are honest; 2, because many of our judges still believe it their duty to enforce the law; and 3, because an under cover illegal traffic never sells like an open advertised traffic."

At the annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society of Fredericton, the President, Rev. W. C. Kierstead, pointed out in reply to some criticisms that the Society's work was limited by law to the care of neglected children, and not to the care of poor children in general. Whatever cases would necessarily be on a very small scale. Dr. Kierstead touched upon one very important matter which is a problem elsewhere as well as in Fredericton. The Gleason's report of his remarks says:

"He referred to a case at the Municipal Home at Nashwaakiss where the children of feeble minded parents were being cared for and the councillors from that parish thought the society should take care of the children. The society could not be taken care of in the home. What is needed, he said, is a home or institution where weak minded children can be placed and taken care of."

The need of such an institution is continually forced upon the attention of the Children's Aid Society in St. John. It is impossible to place a feeble-minded child in a foster home. It is not wanted. On the other hand, with a proper institution that child could be given such training, in most cases, as would make it self-supporting, and the community would be relieved of the danger of having such children becoming parents and reproducing their kind. New Brunswick greatly needs a Home for the Feeble Minded.

Boston Herald—"Science has effectively entangled all civilized nations in an alliance of economic interdependence—not only in that, but in a web of social contacts and intimacies in which contagion of ideas, good or bad, spreads with incredible rapidity. If Germany dies—in an economic, political or social sense—the 'civilized' world, ourselves included, is chained to her corpse and she will infect us mortally with the poison of her decomposition. Our people are naturally slow to understand and slower still to realize this fact, but it is becoming clearer to them as time goes on."

Building contractors in Toronto are awaiting the tenders on several large contracts before expressing an opinion on the cost of construction this year, further than that in their opinion it will depend more on the cost of materials than on wages, unless there should develop a shortage of labor, as was the case in Toronto late last season, when wages were higher in other cities and attracted the mechanics.

IN THE STORM.

(Irene S. Woodstock in Our Dumb Animal.) I was hastening one day, through the snow and the sleet, When I saw an old horse standing near on the street. He looked at me sadly, with gentle, brown eyes, And it seemed that he whispered, as I passed him by:

"Kind friend, I am old, in your great overcoat, And your muffler that's fastened so snug 'round your throat, You never could guess, since you are so warm, How cold I am, standing here in the storm."

"The grocer's boy drove me—and how I did dash Down the street, up the hill, at the sting of his lash! While he shouted, and urged me the faster to go, On my poor, weary legs, through the ice and the snow."

"Kind friend, if you watch, I am sure you will see A great many other horses like me, Who, for somebody's pleasure, are urged to a run; Then left, unprotected, in storm or in sun."

"I am just an old horse, and I can't speak my mind, But if I could talk, I would say, 'Please be kind. For though I am only a horse, it is true, In feeling I'm almost as human as you.'"

I found an old blanket I surely could spare, I threw it across him, and fastened it there. And I'm sure I felt better, that day of the storm, Because I had helped an old horse to keep warm."

FIVE YEARS PEACE IN FRANCE

7,290 schools destroyed at the time of the Armistice. 7,078 schools re-established in September, 1922.

The recuperative powers of France have been demonstrated once more in her recovery from the effects of the great war. The chart shows that 7,290 schools were destroyed or damaged at the time of the armistice. At the end of five years France has re-established 7,078 of these schools. Three per cent are permanently reconstructed.

SCIENCE PLANS TO RID LONDON OF FOG SHROUD

Process of Eliminating Dust and Smoke from Fuel is Said to Have Been Found by a Mining Specialist.

London, Jan. 17.—The London fog soon will be a thing of the past, according to a newly discovered process of coal carbonization does all that its inventor says that it will. The man who is threatening to destroy one of the English capital's most famous traditions is John Roberts, a mining instructor produced from the smokes of the city. Mr. Roberts got lost in one of the swirling yellow mists as he was hurrying to an important engagement, so that he has since cherished a grudge against it. But that is not why, the fact remains that ever since he got out of the army in 1919 he has been working to find a method of liberating London from the fog which has so often choked the city.

The fruits of his labor is a new process of making semi-coke from coal. Instead of powdered coke, Mr. Roberts asserts that it is easily ignited, will produce little dust and burns with a straw-colored flame producing a chemical by-product. In attacking the fuel problem Mr. Roberts has at least gone about in the right way to eliminate the fog, for it is the fog of the city that is the cause of thousands of London gas fires that make possible the dense fogs that this city has every autumn. This riding London of her fogs is only one of the virtues Mr. Roberts claims for his invention. He maintains that it will stop much of the great waste of fuel that now exists and will result in the cheaper mining of coal. The inventor says that about 50,000,000 tons of small coal annually is wasted in British mines which could be converted into solid fuel and that his process will convert a large part of this waste into a high quality fuel such as tar, oil, motor spirit, rich gas and sulphate of ammonia. But if Mr. Roberts can only rid London of her fog the citizens will hold him in high esteem for ever.

MINNESOTA, GIANT AMONG FREIGHTERS, SOLD FOR SCRAP

38,000-Ton Vessel, Built in 1904 by J. J. Hill, Passes from I. M. M. to Merritt, Chapman & Scott Co.

New York, Jan. 19.—The Minnesota, 38,000 cargo tons capacity, the world's largest freighter, has been sold by the International Mercantile Marine Company to Merritt, Chapman & Scott, a wrecking and towing company, to be dismantled. Negotiations were conducted through the McIntosh Ship Agency. The terms were not made public. The Minnesota was built at New London in 1904 by James J. Hill, who also constructed the Dakota, which was lost some years ago. The vessel is the largest ever built in the United States. She is 622 feet long and 73 feet wide. The steamer is too large for ordinary commercial use, as steamship lines find that vessels from 8,000 to 20,000 tons are more economical, and she has long been a white elephant on the hands of the I. M. M. It has been known for some time that she was for sale, but no purchaser could be found who wanted her for ocean trade, especially during the prevailing depression in shipping.

NEW DOMINION CEREALIST.

Montreal, Jan. 18.—L. H. Newman, secretary of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association, here has been appointed Dominion Cerealist, in succession to Dr. Charles E. Sanders, who resigned some time ago on account of ill health. Dr. Sanders was the discoverer of Marquis wheat, a discovery which not only made it possible to grow wheat 100 miles farther north, but added many thousands of dollars to the national wealth. Mr. Newman is widely known for his work with the Canadian Seed Growers' Association, and in academic circles through his book, "Plant Breeding in Canada." He is a graduate of Toronto University, and the Ontario Agricultural College, and has been identified with experimental and practical agriculture for many years.

WAVE KILLS SEAMAN.

Hurl's Body Against Windlass—Storm Sweeps Southward.

New York, Jan. 19.—The cycle of storms, raging on the Atlantic for the last few weeks, appeared to have spread southward along the Atlantic seaboard, according to the testimony of the officers of two steamships which reached port this week in the snowstorm. Captain Farquhar Grant, master of the United Fruit Liner "Tola," from Port Limon, Costa Rica, and Havana, said that while the ship was off Cape Hatteras on Saturday morning she encountered a heavy gale and five sailors in the morning watch were sent forward to lash down the covers of the ventilators and secure any gear that was on deck. A big sea came over the bow and dashed James Jeannette, a seaman, against the windlass with such force that he was killed instantly. Allan Craig, another seaman, was swept off the forecastle deck into the well-deck, and had his right arm and right leg broken by the fall. He was taken to the ship's hospital for treatment. The body of Sailor Jeannette was buried at sea. He was twenty years old, a native of Costa Rica and a British subject. The ship made fast at Pier 15, East River.

CONVERSATION AT THE ART CLUB

While the storm last night thinned the numbers attending the conversation of the St. John Art Club in the Natural History Society's rooms, the evening was a very pleasant occasion. T. H. Estabrook, the president, was in the chair and in his opening address he announced that the lecture by Mr. McIntosh would be postponed to the next month and spoke of the good work being done at the art school, where thirty pupils are pursuing the studies. William McIntosh gave an address of great interest, pointing out the beauties of the fine Japanese vase which the Art Club owns and which was presented by Mrs. T. J. Dean. One of the vases was exhibited and Mr. McIntosh related the stories and legends which the vase embodied. The technicalities of the construction of the vase and its treatment. Much applause followed this address.

MINISTER O'HIGGINS EXPLAINS IRISH SITUATION

Dublin, Jan. 17.—Writing regarding peace, Kevin O'Higgins, Minister for Home Affairs in the Irish Free State says: "The actual position is that a body of the people of the country, though numerically insignificant, refuse to accept the majority will as a deciding factor in our political affairs, and declare there can be no peace on the basis of the treaty signed by five plenipotentiaries endorsed by the Dail and accepted by the people. This minority is straining every nerve to restore British power in Ireland and to rob Irish people of the fruits of their struggle and sacrifices of the last six years. We members of the Government elected to the Dail Bureau to carry out the treaty would be false to our trust if we acquiesced in any way to such a programme."

FIFTEEN MINUTES OF RADIO EACH DAY

By Edward N. Davis

Formerly Technical Electrical Expert For U. S. Government

Lesson No. 210.

THE STORAGE BATTERY IN RADIO RECEIVING CIRCUITS.

In the operation of a vacuum tube receiver it is necessary to impress upon the filament a low voltage source of electrical energy which will supply an unvarying current of sufficient magnitude to heat the filament and evaporate the required amount of electrons or negative charges of electricity. Alternating current cannot be used to heat the filament directly in receiving circuits as the filament requires a fixed polarity whereas the polarity of an alternating current circuit continuously reverses. A direct current house lighting circuit may be utilized if properly provided with absorption circuits consisting of choke coils and condensers which reduce but do not eliminate the annoying hum which accompanies this type of circuit and seriously interferes with the reception of speech or music. This hum is known as "commutator ripple" and results from the brushes passing over the commutator segments of the generating unit.

The storage battery is in general use as a source of supply of filament current due to the fact that a constant current, easily controlled and unaccompanied by disturbing noises may be drawn from the battery. There are two types of storage battery commonly employed for tube operation, namely the lead-acid battery and the nickel-iron-alkaline battery. The positive plate of the lead cell is formed by pressing lead peroxide into a lead grid while the negative plate is composed of sponge lead, both sets of plates being supported in an electrolyte consisting of a dilute solution of chemically pure sulphuric acid and water. In the nickel-iron-alkaline cell, perforated steel tubes filled with nickel hydroxide are fastened to a nickelized steel grid to form the positive plate while the negative plate is composed of a nickelized steel grid supporting perforated rectangular receptacles containing iron oxide as the active material. The electrolyte, in which the plates are supported, consists of a 21 per cent solution of potassium hydroxide to which is added a small amount of lithium hydroxide. The specific gravity of the electrolyte of the nickel-iron-alkaline cell remains approximately constant from charge to discharge while the specific gravity of the lead-acid cell increases on charge and decreases on discharge and is used as an index of the amount of charge present in the cell.

The lead-acid cell on full charge has a potential of approximately 2.1 volts and a specific gravity of 1.275 and when discharged has a potential of 1.8 volts and a specific gravity of 1.175. The fully charged voltage of the nickel-iron-alkaline cell is 1.2 volts and its specific gravity 1.200 and as previously stated the specific gravity of the electrolyte remains practically constant.

The capacity of a storage battery is rated in ampere hours and is a measure of its ability to furnish a given strength of current in amperes for a prescribed number of hours. For example, a battery having a capacity of 60 ampere hours will discharge one ampere of current continuously for a period of 60 hours.

The current required by the usual type of vacuum tube in receiving sets is approximately one ampere at a potential of 5 volts. If two tubes are to be operated the current drawn from the battery will be 2 amperes and for three tubes three amperes, etc. The storage battery for filament supply consists of three lead cells connected in series giving a total potential of 6 volts which is so controlled by a rheostat that approximately 5 volts are impressed upon the filament. If one tube is operated for a period of three hours each day, approximately 3 ampere hours will be drawn from the battery each day. If the capacity of the battery is 60 ampere hours it is apparent that this amount of discharge will be carried on for 20 days before the battery needs recharging. If two tubes are operated for this same period the amount of discharge will be 6 ampere hours each day so that the charge in the battery will be exhausted at the end of ten days.

By thus estimating the necessary current in amperes and the normal time of operation each day, the proper capacity of battery can be selected with reference to the facilities for charging, that is whether the battery can be charged without removal or must be transported to a charging station. In the latter case a larger capacity battery is desirable to avoid the inconvenience of transportation at frequent intervals.

The lead battery has the advantage of lower initial cost and higher voltage than the nickel-iron-alkaline battery, although the efficiency of the latter increases with use and the solution has more constructive qualities of the acid contained in the electrolyte of the lead battery.

WOMAN TAKEN AS BOOTLEGGER

Mrs. Harrison and Son are Arrested—Liquor Labels Lead to Embassies, Say Police.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The police raided an apartment in the northwest residential section and arrested Mrs. Margaret Harrison, auditor of one of Washington's leading retail business establishments, and her son, Thomas Harrison, nineteen years of age, a college student, on a charge of selling and illegal possession of liquor.

On entering the apartment, it was declared, the raiding officers attempted to gain possession of a notebook which was said to contain the names of prominent persons to whom liquor had been supplied. Their efforts were frustrated, however, the officers asserting the list was torn to pieces before they could seize it.

Lieutenant Davis, in charge of the raiding officers, declared labels on the gin and whiskey seized warranted the belief that the liquors had been obtained originally from "some of the embassies or legations here."

Mrs. Harrison and her son were released on $1,000 bonds each to await a hearing.

HALF DOUGHBOYS ON RHINE MARRIED

Salvation Army Officer Says Most of Force Either Wedded or Engaged.

Sees Many Broken Hearts—Major Van Leusen, Home, Reports He Never Saw an American Soldier Intoxicated—Have Bank Accounts.

New York, Jan. 19.—Major Charles Van Leusen of the Salvation Army returned home this week having come direct from Coblenz via Rotterdam. He is the first person in a semi-military capacity to arrive from the occupied region since the American forces were recalled. He was given a farewell, he said by General Henry T. Allen and his men.

According to Major Van Leusen more than 50 per cent of the American soldiers stationed in Germany either have married German girls or are contemplating marriage, and that as the marriage ceremonies were celebrated according to the German custom and without the consent of the American authorities he saw many broken hearts ahead. He said he never saw during his stay there an American soldier under the influence of drink, although the boys drank freely of light wines and beer. Many of the soldiers are coming home with good-sized bank accounts, he added, as about 500 were depositors in the Salvation Army's bank.

The arrival of Major Van Leusen and his family marked the closing of the Salvation Army war work overseas. He was greeted at the pier by a large delegation. He will take up his duties at the organization's headquarters, 122 West Fourteenth Street.

"We heard about the new move of the French, of course, while at sea, and I cannot say that I was greatly surprised," he said. "As early as Thanksgiving Day, French soldiers were as numerous and as busy as bees in Coblenz and we had an inkling that something was up. I talked with some of the French officers and learned that they were looking toward the Ruhr with eager eyes, but I doubted whether they would ever actually go in. By the time I left Coblenz, there were so many French soldiers already there that the small American force looked like a tourist party."

"It is true that every American soldier on the Rhine wanted to remain there indefinitely because of the pleasantly idle life in the occupied region. They looked upon it as a holiday home, it was about 'fifty-fifty,' being determined entirely by home-ties. Those who had married in Germany, or who had acquired sweethearts there, wanted to remain, of course."

"The intimation that our youths were going home, and eager to continue an idyllic life, is a reflection that is as unjust as it is untrue. Those fellows are all fine young Americans. The vast majority of them, as they may be called, are perhaps the cleanest group I have ever seen in the American Army. From a religious and moral standpoint they are more than satisfactory; they are a credit to the flag and to the country, and when they get home I want to see the country take its best of them."

"The German people in Coblenz were hoping when I left that the American force would remain indefinitely. They looked upon his presence as a symbol of friendly co-operation and protection instead of military occupation. German business men with whom I talked, men of character and standing in the city, were almost a unit in feeling that their own Government had been irresponsible for the war."

"The lower classes were extremely sorry to see us go. Forty Germans in the employ of the Salvation Army as waiters in the soldiers' canteen and porters in the huts gathered around with tears in their eyes to bid us farewell."

HOT SPRINGS BOILS FISH
One of the most remarkable districts in the world is to be found in New Zealand. In the hot spring country you may catch a trout in one pool and place him in a second to boil. In the meantime you can enjoy a warm bath in a third, a few yards away while the dinner is cooking. Hot water laid on by nature is found in several other parts of the globe, but nowhere else do the same extraordinary variations of temperature occur in pool and streams that are quite close together.

SWINGS FROM WINDOW AND RESCUES GIRL
Fireman Catches Miss Cardou as She Collapses—Three Others Injured.
New York, Jan. 19.—Poised at a third-story window, ready to leap to the street below, Miss Marie Cardou was rescued by the quick work of firemen John Hamilton and James O'Neill of Engine Company 80 as flames swept through the tenement building, cutting off the stairways and fire escapes. Four persons in all were injured in the fire, which had already spread to the third floor when the firemen arrived.

Hamilton and O'Neill shouted to Miss Cardou to wait a few minutes longer and then ran up to the third floor of an adjoining building. With O'Neill holding him, Hamilton stretched across until he reached the window ledge, where the girl was ready to jump, and then swung himself across, seizing Miss Cardou as she collapsed and holding her head away from the smoke and flames of the room behind. A ladder was quickly run up, and Miss Cardou was carried to the street where she was attended by an ambulance surgeon from the Harlem Hospital.

SAYS HIS WIFE CHOKED HIM WHEN HE KEPT $2 OF SALARY

les W. Boote in Yonkers for protection from his wife, who he alleged, started to choke and thrash him because he tried to keep two dollars of his weekly salary of $44 last Saturday. Evers charged that Mrs. Evers begrudged him the use of even a small portion of his weekly pay for his own personal use.

Judge Boote advised Evers to take his troubles to the Supreme Court and seek a legal separation. Upon Evers's request the judge directed a policeman to go to his residence with him so he could obtain his belongings without interference from his wife.

It is within reason, too, to think of going to sleep even in an airplane. Things almost as strange have already come to pass.

What was never insurmountable obstacles to airplane travel on a large scale, commercially, may some day be smoothed out.

Prohibition. The Ontario Temperance Act will again face the members. Although there was a lot of talk here last session about cutting it up and mending the province again, the only changes were to make it stiffer and enable the authorities to enforce it better.

Writing in Collier's Weekly, about a year ago, shortly after my return from Europe, I said in describing the growth of airplane travel in England, "The point of real interest to me is not that airplanes can carry passengers safely, but that they can be made to haul goods cheaper than railways, but the influence that airplane travel is going to have upon business and social development, and so on."

REFORMATION OF THE "HOT DOG"

New York Food Bureau Also Bars Use of Synthetic Eggs in Pies.

New York, Jan. 18.—The use of synthetic eggs in pies will be prohibited by the Bureau of Foods and Drugs of the New York Health Department, according to a statement by P. Q. Foy, food expert and editor of The Daily Market Report. Mr. Foy says that the quality of the frankfurter, also is to be improved.

"Beginning today," said the statement, "the using of artificial coloring in pies to simulate eggs and of synthetic flavors to create a tasteful illusion that you are getting the natural egg products, when as a matter of fact you have been fed, up on a combination of coal-tar dyes to simulate color and the synthetic flavor for genuine freshness, are prohibited in Greater New York, and the prohibition is extended to pies made outside the city limits but for city consumption."

"The prohibition is in the form of a regulation effective today, and is the result of a conference between Director Ainslie of the Food and Drugs Bureau and ten of the biggest pie-makers in the metropolitan district. The new reform also affects the making of cake and sausages, in the making of cake it has been agreed to discontinue all simulating dyes and flavors. Hereafter only natural and wholesome products not disguised by artificial coloring may be used.

"Whether you know it or not, your 'hot dog,' bought at Coney or elsewhere, has been pretty nearly all this comical reflection made it out to be, so far as genuine wholesomeness in eating is concerned. But after today you can give your 'hot dog' a more appropriate name, a less comical one at least. For the Food and Drugs Bureau has accomplished a real reform in the making of the frankfurter. Hereafter there must be 100 per cent. solid meat food in sausages and frankfurters, to which may be added sugar and spices and flavoring. Heretofore the sausages and frankfurters had a curious commixture of cheap wheat and corn flour in them, also a lot of artificial coloring and synthetic flavoring."

Leonard Callaghan, an employe of T. S. Simms & Co., was taken to the General Public Hospital yesterday evening suffering from a crushed hand, the result of an accident in the Brush factory. It was found necessary at the hospital to amputate the little finger of his right hand.

WIFE GETS ALIMONY; CARE OF CHILDREN

Mr. Justice Lennox Hands Down Decision Favorable to Mrs. Florence Day.

New York, Jan. 18.—Mr. Justice Lennox, in a decision handed down awards to Mrs. Florence M. Day of Ottawa $80 a month alimony from her husband, Charles H. Day, a civil servant, and the custody of her three children. The payments are to continue until the youngest of the children is twenty-one years of age, after which they are to be reduced to $60 a month until further notice.

His Lordship holds, as regards the legal costs of the action, that it is better that the lawyers should wait than that the payments to Mrs. Day and the children should be postponed, and Mrs. Day is to be allowed to pay them at the rate of $20 a month.

The judgment reviews the proceedings in the case, showing that Mrs. Day accepted proposals made to her by her husband in February, 1916. The letter and the acceptance of their terms were alleged by the defence to constitute an agreement. Mrs. Day was offered to take a month.

The letter of proposal, says the judgment, "is manifestly the product of long and anxious cogitation, and is as rigid, inequitable and cruel in its terms as the penal bond exacted by the notorious Venetian Jew long ago."

Regarding the wife's acceptance of the terms of the letter, the judgment says that "his wife, helpless, shattered in health, and misled by an erroneous

Highway Robbery Charges Argued to Liquor Chase.

Galt, Ont., Jan. 18.—Harry Lampman, Ben Poole and Harold Morris, of Brantford, have been committed for trial on a charge of highway robbery under arms. A similar charge against James Bullock, also of Brantford, was dismissed. The chief witness was David McLaurie of Toronto, who told of meeting Bullock in Brantford by appointment and of their motoring to Guelph, where they bought seven cases of whiskey from J. Goetz for $380. Returning to Brantford, they were followed a short way out of Galt by another car which gave them a chase and shots were fired at their tires and finally brought to a stop and the three men, Lampman, Poole and Morris, with Lampman posing as a police officer, according to witness, transferred the liquor to their car. Morris' ball of ten thousand was renewed while Lampman and Poole were taken to jail at Kitchener.

Women Clash On Quick Divorces; 21-Year-Old Girl Attorney For 'Em

Attorney Levy at her desk.

New York, Jan. 19.—Quick and easy divorce to relieve intolerable conditions, made inexpensive enough to be in reach of the poor, should be made possible, believes New York City's youngest woman lawyer, Miss Levy.

"In New York State, for instance, a divorce is granted only on the grounds of adultery," says Miss Levy. "For all other grounds, such as abandonment, non-support, cruelty, etc., the only remedy is separation."

"Where a husband and wife simply separate, it often works a great hardship on all concerned. They must live apart, and must not marry. In other words, according to the law, they still are married."

"At times the wife receives a sum for her maintenance, and at other times she does not."

"Of what benefit is this state of affairs to anyone? It does not assist society, it creates dissension, and causes many New Yorkers to go to other states where the rules are not so stringent to obtain divorces. This complicates the legality of the affairs, and often makes children legitimate in one state and illegitimate in another."

Divorce is an insidious evil, according to the Hon. Marian Griffin of Memphis, Tenn., first woman elected to the Tennessee house of representatives. Her views directly oppose those of Miss Levy. Mrs. Griffin will work for an ironclad law against divorce.

Signor Giolitti was again at the head of the Government, and he finds the internal and foreign situation "very grave." England, he notes, material progress is being made in the negotiations with Jugo-Slavia which had been interrupted at the fall of Signor Nitti.

The Foreign Office rather anxious as to the possibility of a conflict, and the informed Rome of the assembly of thirty-six Serbian divisions ready apparently to march against Italy.

August, Signor Giolitti saw Mr. Lloyd George in Lucerne and in September met M. Millerand in Aix-les-Bains. He told them what were the Italian terms, and was particularly on the necessity for securing the Alpine frontier down to the Nevo. Both the British and French Prime Ministers promised him their good offices.

Beer and Wine Bill for Ontario?

INDICTMENTS STAND IN WAY

Coal Men and Miners Await Advice from Federal Coal Commission.

New York, Jan. 19.—Wary of the U. S. anti-trust law and mindful of indictments still pending in the Indiana court of U. S. District Judge A. B. Anderson, unions chiefs and coal operators, on the second day of their conference here, indicated they would wait for advice from the federal coal commission before proceeding to negotiate a new wage scale based on a tri-state competitive field they mapped out yesterday.

These indictments loomed big. Apparently they were the only obstacles to an early signature of basic contracts covering 180,000,000 tons annual production in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois—enough to control wages throughout the other sixty-four per cent. of bituminous mines in the nation, with their annual output of 320,000,000 tons. Wages were not expected to become a source of contention since both sides favored continuation of the existing scales.

All that remained in doubt was whether the U. M. W. of America would be able to win its demand, that the new pact extend over two years, with the operators insisting on a one-year contract.

$6,000,000 MUSEUM WILL HOUSE NOTED BARNES COLLECTION

Modern Home of Art to be Built at Merion, Near Philadelphia

Collection Contains More Than 400 Pictures, Representing Work of Best Men Since 1870.

New York, Jan. 19.—A museum of modern art to house the internationally-known collection of Dr. Albert C. Barnes, and endowed with $6,000,000 by Dr. Barnes, will be built on a twelve-acre tract at Merion, Pa., near Philadelphia, it became known when plans for the museum, drawn by Paul Cret, were published in the January issue of The Arts. The magazine, the current number of which is the first under the editorial direction of Post-Watson, gives the first announcement authorized by Dr. Barnes.

The Albert C. Barnes collection contains more than 400 pictures, about one-third of them American and about two-thirds modern French. There are approximately 180 Renoirs, fifty Cezannes, and representative examples of the art of the best men since 1870.

The Cezannes in this collection illustrate every phase of the artist's development from his earliest work, reminiscent of Courbet to the latest. The two portraits of Mme. Cezanne are considered as fine as any of the artist's canvases which Cezanne painted of the same subject. It is said to be the largest and most complete collection of Cezanne in the country.

Altogether about fifty years of Renoir's painting life are illustrated in Dr. Barnes' collection. Beginning with some canvases painted in the early seventies, this group (still lifes, landscapes and figures) shows the entire course of Renoir's art, from the first to the last. It is said to be the largest and most complete collection of Renoir in the country.

With Cezanne and Renoir as the cornerstones, Manet, Pissarro, Gauguin, Degas, Van Gogh, Matisse, Picasso, Marie Laurencin, and others among the Europeans; and Gluckstein, Prendergast, Editha, Davies, Lawson, Demuth, and other Americans are all well represented.

Dr. Barnes has complemented this large collection of modern paintings with what is considered the most complete private collection of African sculpture in existence.

The foundation has received its charter as an educational institution, and Dr. Barnes said on one occasion that "the collection is to be a living thing, a thing that will be allowed to get his own reaction to that museum, that is, conformity to without conditions, counterfeits in art, living, and thinking, can have no place in the intended scope of the foundation."

"The buildings," continued Dr. Barnes, "will be located on a twelve-acre tract of land, which was planned forty years ago by Joseph Lapsley Wilson, a comissaire in troops, and it has perhaps the best private collection of spreading knowledge to those who obtain in American landscape by the study and utilization of such knowledge as our art collection will afford."

SIR HENRY'S
NEVER IDLE

The New C. N. R. President Works While He Travels Over System.

His Staff are With Him and Conferences are the Order of Every Day—Running Railway from Train.

(Canadian National Railways, Public Department.)

Some Canadian newspapers have been critical of late of what they term "luxurious" manner in which the new President of Canadian National Railways, Sir Henry Thornton, and the leading officials of the lines, are making a rather thorough, if rather hurried, inspection of the physical plant of Canada's publicly-owned and controlled railways. Such criticisms, when honestly offered, originate in the conviction that waste is inexcusable under any condition, and govern themselves accordingly. Were critical newspapers aware of all the facts connected with an inspection trip over railways under circumstances such as those ruling the continent-wide journeys of the new C. N. R. head, it is safe to say that no criticism would be offered at all.

President Thornton is new to the country as well as to the National Lines. He has been entrusted with a really big job of welding three groups of lines and three groups of employees into one system of 22,000 miles, having more than 100,000 workers on the payrolls. He has to pick his officials to run the lines under his direction, choose the centres and define the limits where men with authority are to be located. To him falls the duty of determining what the service ought to be, in all parts of Canada, and his appraisal must be made of the condition of roadbed, bridges, stations, and of all the property and equipment the road has available to furnish such a service.

Reasoning men know that if he journeyed over the lines alone, his work would likely be futile. He would be observing conditions without having an understanding of why they should be so. Any decisions he might make would probably be altered when he secured the governing facts on return to headquarters. Moreover, such a trip would be more in the nature of a "leave-of-absence" than an official inspection. And men with the capacity for work Sir Henry Thornton evidences are not prone to anything but work. Officers on the National Lines are discovering that their new head gets through a tremendous amount of work in a day.

Obviously, then the new C. N. R. president and chairman, as he views the property over which he is to preside, will be accompanied by the heads of the great departments of the road—finance, operating, traffic, and construction, with boys, and a staff of general managers, assistant general managers, general superintendents, superintendents, engineers, traffic men, and all classes of railway supervisory forces are called upon to explain the why and wherefores of everything. The railway is being run from that train as actually as if the president were at headquarters, and could call the selfsame colleagues from adjoining offices. Decisions are made, and work set in motion under a proper understanding of the subjects to be accomplished, instead of waste, a great deal of labor, time, and possibly injudiciously spent money, is saved to the stockholders, who are, in this case, all Canadians, from Atlantic to Pacific.

There is still another fact about which the public should be informed. Work on the administration of a railway cannot be allowed to pile up. Therefore, the head of the road, and the heads of departments who are on the train, have the department mail, that would ordinarily require their attention, delivered to them each day. The mail comes in and goes out almost as usual, and operations do not halt in any part of the system. Each officer is reachable day or night, and his hours, generally, which perhaps the public does not appreciate, are on a twenty-four hour basis. Such a man is available at all times, and important matters always override his personal convenience—least so it is on the Canadian National.

One result of such a system, naturally, was the "official" car. The name was not aptly chosen. It is a work car, and might be more exactly designated "office of the superintendent," "office of the president," or "office of whichever official happens to be working in it at the time." Secretaries of officers with large responsibilities have no easy task on such inspection trips. Facilities are not as elastic, and duties are almost as heavy as around the office at headquarters. With other assistants it is much the same. The work car is a necessity to the officer, and extra labour a certainty for the personal assistants.

Now, how does the road "feed" and "lodge" its chief officers on this trip Sir Henry Thornton is making over the National Lines, to and from the Pacific coast?

The "National" business car that has been assigned to the president, No. 73, is in the shops undergoing repairs, and he is travelling on a Canadian Government car, No. 101. This car is fairly old, has a steel underframe, and body of wood, and is well, though not richly appointed. It is probably below the average in that respect, or possibly a little down a little in appointments from "101." The provisions for the president's car are paid for by the Federal Government, and the experts of the railways dining car department are available for any advice or assistance that may be required in making purchases. The dining car department of the railways supplies a steward and his assistant, to cook and prepare the meals, and stewards, likewise for the business cars. Mr. Dalrymple, vice-president of traffic for the Grand Trunk, and Mr. Bowler, operating manager of the same line, are next in the "consist" of the train going "for-

THREE NEW ONTARIO MAYORS

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRES

At Fredericton yesterday hearing of evidence was completed in the case of Norman Sears against B. Budovitch, an action for $1,500 for injuries received when a staging on which the plaintiff was working gave way and fell to the ground. Argument of counsel was heard and His Honor Judge Chandler reserved judgment. He will visit and inspect the building from which the plaintiff fell. J. J. F. Winslow appeared for the plaintiff and G. T. Feeney for the defendant.

The Belgian steamer Londoner which went ashore inside the entrance to Sydney harbor yesterday morning from Antwerp was refloated last evening.

The home of Frank Thompson of Upper Perth was destroyed by fire yesterday at noon. Owing to the condition of the help very slow in arriving and the house and furniture were a total loss.

Thomas Ling of Sydney, who went to war and has been mourned as dead for the last six years, is alive and in a London hospital, according to word received by his family recently. A brother, Leo Ling, who was in London, went with a friend to see some friends in hospital and there saw and identified his brother who had lost his memory from gas and shell shock. He is one of a family of eighteen brothers and sisters.

Three names have been mentioned for the cabinet vacancy caused by the death on Wednesday of Hon. W. C. Kennedy, minister of railways and canals, but all by "outsiders." They are Hon. Charles Murphy, postmaster general; Hon. T. A. Low, minister without portfolio, and James Malcolm, M. P. for North Bruce. It is thought that the vacancy will not be filled in haste on account of the vital importance of the portfolio and the need for the selection of the best possible man.

Damage amounting to about $1,800 was caused yesterday in Campbellton by a fire which broke out in a barn belonging to Charles Parker. It was a bitterly cold day and several members of the fire department suffered frozen hands and feet fighting the blaze.

The report of Dr. A. G. Nicholls, Nova Scotia provincial pathologist, who analyzed the stomach contents of twin boys, who died recently from being fed their regular morning meal of milk, water and sugar, stated that the milk was all right and that nothing was found in the intestines which could have caused death. The copers' jury brought in an open verdict.

It has been said on good authority in Ottawa that Premier George H. Murray, of Nova Scotia, who has been head of the provincial government since 1914, will retire from the political field before the coming session of the legislature in March and that he will be succeeded by Hon. James C. Tully, member for Guysboro. Last year he was granted a life pension of $5,000 a year.

MOONSHINE SOLD BY RADIO

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 19.—A complete radio outfit thought to have been used in taking orders for whiskey and for the amusement of the distillers was found along with a still at Little Bethel near Newport News, according to Federal dry agents who returned to Norfolk after a week of raiding in that vicinity. In all, 1,600 gallons of mash, three stills, 200 empty bottles and eight gallons of whiskey were seized.

The radio set was found when agents raided a house, where they also found the still, 800 gallons of mash and empty bottles, and made two arrests. One of the men arrested was listening in when agents burst in the door.

RETURN CHECK TO ALBERT COUNTY

Letter Received by County Hospital Board Considered Offensive—Will Fit Up Operating Room.

At a meeting of the board of commissioners of the St. John County Hospital yesterday a letter, the tone of which was considered offensive, was received from the county secretary of Albert County, accompanied by a check for $200. A bill of $464.05 had been rendered for the treatment of Madeline Clark, from Albert County, and the secretary sent $200 accompanied by the statement that the county declined all liability for the claim or any part of it. The check will be returned to the county secretary of Albert County. It was decided to proceed at once with the fitting up of an operating room, the sum of $2,000 having been voted for this purpose. The per diem rate for 1923 was fixed at $2.70.

WHERE THE MONEY GOES

Trickery & Evasion Stores

Now, how does the road "feed" and "lodge" its chief officers on this trip Sir Henry Thornton is making over the National Lines, to and from the Pacific coast?

The "National" business car that has been assigned to the president, No. 73, is in the shops undergoing repairs, and he is travelling on a Canadian Government car, No. 101. This car is fairly old, has a steel underframe, and body of wood, and is well, though not richly appointed. It is probably below the average in that respect, or possibly a little down a little in appointments from "101." The provisions for the president's car are paid for by the Federal Government, and the experts of the railways dining car department are available for any advice or assistance that may be required in making purchases. The dining car department of the railways supplies a steward and his assistant, to cook and prepare the meals, and stewards, likewise for the business cars. Mr. Dalrymple, vice-president of traffic for the Grand Trunk, and Mr. Bowler, operating manager of the same line, are next in the "consist" of the train going "for-

AN ADDRESS BY PROF. F. H. SEXTON
On the Public and Its Relation to the Labor Problem.

(Halifax Chronicle)

The series of addresses dealing with the present industrial conditions delivered by members of the Halifax Rotary Club closed yesterday, when Principal F. H. Sexton, of the Technical College, delivered the fourth and last address, his subject being "The Public and Its Relations to the Labor Problem." Rotarian F. F. Moriarty, who was chairman for the series, presided.

Principal Sexton claimed that he could represent the neutral public in a fairly adequate manner because of his past experience and his present position. He had worked as an unskilled laborer and as a skilled mechanic. He had also acted as a manager and employer of both classes of labor. For some years he has occupied a position where he was engaged in rendering a service where no motive of profit was involved, and his energies were directed toward the bettering of conditions of the wage earner.

The term "public" was always used in a loose general sense. At a time of industrial crisis of a strike involving the production of a widely used commodity which might be termed a necessity, the public included all these not directly involved. At another time when the trouble occurred in another branch of industry, the public would embrace those very ones who were excluded in the first case. In some struggles between employers and employed frantic efforts were made to win public support; in many others the fight was carried out grimly between the contestants with utter disregard of any rights or interests any one else. Opinions varied widely as to whether or not public opinion was a real factor in determining a strike. Public sympathy toward any such contest could be counted upon unless a large number of people were restricted in their liberties, comforts and enjoyments, and then the public usually pressed for a quick settlement rather than becoming anxious that the conclusion represented entire justice. It is entirely true, however, that the general public is most directly concerned in all disturbances of efficient production, and in the last analysis, pays all the enormous costs of every irregularity of this kind.

The Public Is Paying.

If the public is paying for the warfare between wage-earners and management, shouldn't it concern itself more vitally in the rules under which the struggle should be conducted as well as the outcome. In Canada, under the Lennox Compulsory Investigation Act, the public interests are supposed to be more or less safeguarded thereby. As it is fairly well known, the Act provides that no strike or lockout may take place legally in mines and industries connected with public utilities unless and until the dispute has been reported upon by a board of conciliation and investigation. Heavy fines are provided for the employer and less heavy for the employee who violate the provisions of the Act.

The right to strike or lock out is not denied. It represented a sane effort to bring together the disputants upon a basis of conciliation and to inconceivable action in order to fully discuss the controversial matters while the industry continued to operate. The public was supposed to be represented by the chairman and the proceedings of the board to be the means of supplying people with the merits of both sides of the case.

The Act has been in force for over 15 years but it has not prevented long and dangerous strikes. Successive Ministers and Labor have neglected to enforce the penalties. The chairman instead of representing the public directly has usually been a conciliator between the two clashing interests. There have been more illegal strikes without referring the dispute to a board than the number which were invoked regularly. In the majority of cases, however, which were brought before a board satisfactory settlements were reached, thus creating prestige for the provisions of the Act. There is a tendency that is all too common even now to rush to this law if it seems that it would strengthen the case and to regard it if an advantage seems likely to accrue.

The increasing bitterness between employer and management or as it is often called capital and labor, calls for more general consideration and action. The public has stood for great abuses in the sporadic outbursts of civil war between groups of men representing organized labor and the responsible agents of capital. Government has been flouted and democratic rights often trampled under foot by ruthless employers and bull-headed labor leaders. A good deal of fault lies with the public itself because it does not take the trouble to inform itself and to deepen its understanding.

Economics which is one of the most important branches of knowledge today is receiving most attention from ambitious labor leaders and college students. An eminent banker recently called America a nation of economic illiterates. There exists in the world a sufficient quantity of good will, enough of the Rotary principles of service and square dealing, ample belief in the tenets of Christianity to straighten out our social and industrial tangles. It is passive, however, and lacks understanding. Let us pause long enough in our mad striving after individual reward and selfish protection of property accumulated to enlighten the minds, know our neighbors, and straighten the warped and crooked conditions under which some of us have to work, so that we may make a fresh start.

Prices rose as high after the Napoleonic wars as after the recent world war.

WOMAN ACCUSES POLICEMAN
Says He Let Prisoner Go After She Identified Man as Thief.

New York, Jan. 19.—Mrs. Marie Gertz, of 106 West 106th street, has lodged a complaint with Police Inspector Sweney against a patrolman attached to the West 188th street station, who, she said, liberated a man she had identified as a thief, and would not carry out her demand to take him to the station, where she could enter a charge against him.

Mrs. Gertz said that early last Wednesday she was attacked and robbed of $8 by two men. She screamed and attracted the attention of a policeman, who captured one of them, but after talking to him a moment let him go. Acting on the description given them by Mrs. Gertz the police captured Michael Barry, of 51 West 188th street, who was identified by Mrs. Gertz as the man who had been released by the patrolman.

The actions of the patrolman, as described by Mrs. Gertz, are being investigated.

KILLS SELF WITH PISTOL; ASKS POLICE NOT TO SEEK IDENTITY

New York, Jan. 19.—A man whose name was signed on the register of the Hotel Pullman, 481 Seventh avenue, was found dead in his room this week, having committed suicide by shooting himself in the temple as he sat in a chair. On the floor near by was an automatic pistol and a note to the police which was unsigned, indicating that the man may have registered under a fictitious name.

The note requested the police to blame no one for his death and asked them not to bother about his identification. He said that he had some relatives, but he preferred to spare them any worry.

BOY'S RESCUER FINDS STILL TENDRED BY FIVE CHILDREN

Policeman Befriended Injured Coaster, Then Arrests His Mother as Moonshiner.

New York, Jan. 19.—Ten-year-old Joseph Babbich ran into a motor truck while coasting near his home in North Turfytown and although he was more frightened than hurt, Patrolman Lynch took him to his home, using the sled for an ambulance.

There he found Joseph's brothers and sisters—Josephine, Martin, Mary, Anthony and Michael—who range from two to twelve years old, tending a still in which corn whiskey was being made. One of the little girls was clad only in a newspaper which had been tied about her waist, and one of the boys wore nothing but an undershirt. Lynch sat down to wait for an adult to appear. He waited for two hours before their mother, Mrs. Mary Babbich, dropped in to see how the liquor was coming along.

She was arrested as a moonshiner and her children were sent to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. Mrs. Babbich was released on bail. Judge Appel, of the Juvenile Court, reserved decision on the request of the children's society that Joseph Babbich, his brothers and sisters be sent to institutions where they would learn other things than the manufacture of corn whiskey.

There were 1,010 names listed on the first installment of the membership roll of the Red Cross for New Brunswick which has gone forward to Dominion headquarters in Toronto. A record is being sent saying whether or not Red Cross magazines are being already received so that the sending of two and three to the same places can be eliminated. A complete list for New Brunswick has not yet been made up but it is thought that the membership for the Province will be more than 18,000, the figure reached last year. The annual meeting of the Canadian Red Cross will be held in Toronto the week of March 25.

Winslow and Carlisle gave a sensational exhibition of fancy and trick skating at the Arena last evening. The large crowd present last evening was very generous with its applause and every part of the performance was watched with keen interest. Many old time rink patrons said that it was the greatest exhibition of its kind ever given here. Miss Carlisle is a wonderful performer and lived up to her title of "the skating whirlwind." The acrobatic feats of the pair were marvelous and kept the crowd gasping. The act will be repeated on Saturday.

Marriage a Failure? Try Again With Same Wife, Singer's Advice

Mrs. and Mr. Jerome Uhl on their third honeymoon.

New York, Jan. 18.—It isn't it isn't! It isn't! What? Why, marriage—is it a failure, or isn't it? Jerome Uhl, opera singer, of New York, now in Paris on his third honeymoon, with the same Mrs. Uhl, says it is not. Marriage, according to Mr. and Mrs. Uhl, is a distinct success if you keep trying. Married to each other twice before, and twice divorced because "Uhl's art" interfered with his devotion to his wife, they did not let this wreck their marital craft. "Perspective is the thing," says Mr. Uhl, who is also a painter. "Separate, get your perspective, adjust your differences and try all over again."

"Marriage is a failure not only when, who admits it, but with every other woman I know, none of whom will admit it," remarks Miss Jane Burr, a double divorcee and writer on marital infelicity. A cheerful note is struck, however, by Judge Sabath of the court of domestic relations in Chicago, who says: "Marriage is a success—every person who seeks a divorce almost invariably has another marriage in mind at the time."

M. Coue Calls Auto-Suggestion Antidote for Broken Hearts

Takes Hour Off to Puff Famous Cigarette, Discuss Skirts, Shrimps, Admit He Had Lumbago and Tell of Things He Likes to Do But Can't.

(Shelby Ross in New York Tribune.) Coue, the healer, stopped working long enough yesterday to reveal something of the Coue man. After a day spent in clinics and in making social calls, including one at the home of Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, he had an informal chat with reporters at the Pennsylvania Hotel in which he aired his views on everything from long skirts to miraculous cures at shrimps. "This was a different Coue from the busy little man who concentrates on the sick. It was a Coue who rolled and puffed his famous cigarette, a Coue, who does not like Charlie Chaplin and has longings for many things he cannot have. Not even saying, 'I can, I can,' will give him time to do the things he wants to do. "What would you really like to do?" he was asked. "Ah! Sometimes I would like to fish—but I have no time. Sometimes I would like to play billiards—but I have no time. Sometimes I would like to play chess—but I have no time. I work all the time. He rolled a cigarette with skilled fingers. A long puff, their rings of smoke obscured his merry features. Does Not Tease Well. "So!" he said, with an expressive wave of the hand that held the cigarette. "Books? Oh! I am not much of a reader, and I am glad of it. If I read much I would not have the time to think much. A reader is not a thinker."

teased. He is keenly sensitive to ridicule. Finally, assured that no one was trying to make fun of him, he said: "Well, I used to have lumbago. I remember in 1914 I was putting wine in bottles—so!" (He rose to demonstrate.) "I was just putting in the corks when I felt the pain in my back and said: 'It is the lumbago.' So I rubbed my back and said: 'Ca passe, ca passe,' and I have no lumbago any more. "Skirts for women? Personally I prefer the long skirts. I do not like to see the ballet on the street. I like long hair, too. The bobbed head—ah no!" Questions about the fair sex were boomed into M. Coue's ears until he threw up his hands and called for quarters. He chuckled and said expressively: "At my age—well! I am not a follower of the mode."

his method in pictures he said he had not considered it yet, but if he did accept the offer it would simply be to get money for the clinic. He said he had found his reception in the United States most gratifying. Questioned about the so-called miracles at Lourdes and other shrines he said he believed them to be nothing but auto-suggestion. "Did Christ use auto-suggestion?" he was asked. "Yes, I think He did to a great extent." Fifty a Morning Clinic. Fifty persons attended Coue's clinic held in the morning at the MacDowell Club, 108 West Fifty-fifth street. A woman of fifty gave one of the most dramatic recitals of a "cure" that Coue has had since arriving here. She appeared to be very much in earnest, and stirred the other patients with her story. For twenty-three years she had suffered from periodic attacks of bronchitis, which were invariably accompanied by a nervous affection that temporarily deprived her of the full use of her limbs and interfered with her speech. Rising to her feet she caught every one's attention when she told of studying Coue's method through his books and "recovering completely." "I want you to know you have made me well," she said. "I didn't do anything. You did it yourself," said Coue. The man with the shuffling legs, who has been improving at every clinic, made a still better attempt yesterday and ended by running around the room five times while Coue spared him on. When he dropped into his chair with heaving chest, he was amazed at his own performance. Similar treatment was given to a woman with sciatica. She was marched around the room at the liveliest clip she has known in years. She seemed to be impressed. Woman, Sixty Drops Can. Something of a sensation was created by a frail looking woman of sixty, who dispensed with her cane and walked round the room first with a little limp, later with none at all, so far as could be seen. A deaf man whispered of his affliction to Coue. "Ah!" said the little French pharmacist. "It is impossible to get results when you are deaf." The man heard him and quick as a flash, he turned the incident to advantage. "Goodness! I believe your ears are getting better," said Coue. "Keep it up." He picked up one and a neighbor caught up the other and carried them out. There was no doctor near, so the children were put in an automobile, which started at full speed for the Southampton Hospital. When they reached there they were both dead. The house was completely destroyed.

OIL POURED ON FIRE; TWO PERISH Boy Tries to Brighten Sluggish Blaze; He and Sister Die in Flames. Southampton, L. I., Jan. 18.—Two children were burned to death in their home at Fort Pond Bay, the Montauk terminal of the Long Island Railroad. They were John Smith, 14, and his sister, Hazel, 9, children of John Smith, an employe of the railroad. Their parents were at a neighbor's house close by. A brisk wind was blowing, and it was chilly in the house. John decided to enliven the fire in the kitchen stove, and got the kerosene can. He poured out only a little of the oil when the flame backed up and caused an explosion. The boy was in flames in a moment. He shrieked and his sister ran to him, and her clothes, too, caught fire. The two children, calling for help and trying to beat out each other's flaming clothes, stumbled into their bedroom, where they fell to the floor. Smith had seen the light flare up in his house and saw the flame spread. Running home, he found the children unconscious on the floor, the bodies so badly burned that they were hardly recognizable. He picked up one and a neighbor caught up the other and carried them out. There was no doctor near, so the children were put in an automobile, which started at full speed for the Southampton Hospital. When they reached there they were both dead. The house was completely destroyed.
