All Satisfactory But No Word Of Victory At The Aisne Yet Received

Expectations of London and Paris For Decisive Announcement Not Yet Realized

Now Regarded There is no Danger Over Piercing of Allies' Lines as Reported Some Days Ago—Heavy Bombardment by Germans Near Antwerp—No Great Result

London, Oct. 1.—Although expectations of decisive news from the French battle front, rife in both Paris and London yesterday, are not yet fulfilled, the official bulletins are still regarded in competent quarters here as satisfactory. The German army which crossed the Meuse between Verdun and Toul, seems to have made no progress, and the uneasiness which was at one time felt over this apparent piercing of the allied lines has now disappeared in the belief that the allies have strongly corked up the hole made at St. Mihiel.

In the west progress is reported in the extension of the flanking movement, though sensational reports from Paris that the German right had been broken and that Von Kluck was thinking of surrendering, evidently outran the facts.

WHAT BERLIN SAYS

London, Oct. 1.—An official statement issued from German general headquarters, under date of the evening of September 29, is given in a despatch to Reuters from Berlin via Amsterdam. It says: "The hostile forces advancing to the north and south of Albert (a town in France, 35 miles northeast of Amiens), have been repulsed. The front battle line is without news.

FORTHY GERMAN SHIPS OFF WINDAU

Paris, Oct. 1.—A Petrograd special to the Havas Agency, dated Sept. 30, says: "The details of the naval engagement which occurred on September 24, off the coast at Windau, a Russian seaport in Courland on the Baltic, have been made public. It appears that a German squadron, comprising forty ships of all classes, appeared off the harbor and were prevented from landing by a Russian force of five from the forts. One officer and two sailors were killed, and three were wounded.

ALLIES CRUISERS AT THE DARDANELLES

London, Oct. 1.—A despatch from Constantinople to Havas Agency states that the newspapers explain that the fleet of the Dardanelles is due to the fact that English and French cruisers are steaming about the mouth of the Dardanelles and examining merchant steamers. It is asserted that these vessels will remain closed until the allied fleet departs.

IN BELGIUM

London, Oct. 1.—An official communication issued at Antwerp according to a despatch to Reuters says: "The German artillery during the day continued the bombardment of the first line of forts on the south. Our works suffered little and we are still in condition to make effective resistance.

WAR BILLS ARE LARGE

London, Oct. 1.—For the first half of the financial year, ended yesterday, the British nation has accumulated a surplus of £18,500,000 as compared with last year, while the expenditures aggregated £670,000,000 showing an increase of nearly £200,000,000 due to the war.

AUSTRIAN FOOD SHORTAGE

London, Oct. 1.—The food question is a grave one in Austria, according to a despatch to the Daily Mail. The Austrian emperor has issued an edict empowering the government to take all measures necessary to alleviate the situation. The price of corn is double that of normal times and is increasing at the rate of three per cent daily.

Barbarity, Not Warfare

Bordeaux, Oct. 1.—Abdul Aziz, the deposed Sultan of Morocco, has added his name to the list of those protesting against the reported atrocities committed by the Germans in the invasion of France and Belgium.

WEATHER BULLETIN

Phelix and Pherdinand WEATHER BULLETIN Issued by authority of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, R. F. Stupart, director of meteorological service.

Slight advances by both wings of the allies' armies are indicated in an official statement issued by the French war office at 2.45 o'clock this afternoon. At the same time, the general situation is described as unchanged.

THE LAST WORD

"I am horrified," said the exiled ruler at the accounts of German practices. If, as has been stated, they murder, rob and pillage merely for the sake of striking terror and satisfying brutal lust, this is not warfare but barbarity.

Synopsis—A pronounced area of high pressure now over the Great Lakes is likely to remain almost stationary. The weather is fine throughout the dominion with decidedly higher temperature in the western provinces, and somewhat lower temperature from Ontario eastward.

ST. JOHN MAY BE REMOUNT PORT

Signs Point to Choice as Principal Place of Shipment

COMMISSION MEMBER HERE

Captain Parker in City to Prepare Report—General Benson to Be Here Tomorrow—Some Incidents in Voyage of Commission From England

Although no decision has been reached it is regarded as more than possible that St. John will be made the chief if not the only shipping depot for the British remount department in Canada during the winter months.

General Sir Frederick Benson, K. C. B. who is in charge of this work will be in St. John tomorrow and will confer with the officers of the department before reaching his decision. It is said, however, that the signs point to the choice of St. John as the principal port of shipment.

Captain T. M. Parker, A. V. C. of the British Remount Commission arrived in the city today to prepare a report on the local facilities while Mr. Bakewell, also of the commission, is expected to arrive tomorrow. The same mission. When seen this afternoon Captain Parker said that he had not yet had an opportunity to look around and could say nothing definite regarding the possibility of the choice of St. John.

The members of the commission, seven in all, arrived in Montreal last Friday on the Scotian. Veterinary surgeons Brown and Little are still in Montreal looking after the horses assembled. Sir Merrick Burrell, president of the Hunters Improvement Society of England, Mr. MacNeill, a master of fox hounds, and Mr. Shingler, who are the buyers for the commission have left for Calgary to make arrangements for the purchase of animals in that district and were accompanied by veterinary surgeon Thompson.

They will remain in the city until October 15 and will then return to the maritime provinces to scour this district for available horses. The work of the commission was interrupted by orders from the War Office.

If the horses are shipped from St. John, Captain Parker and other members of the commission will be stationed here for the winter. The British war office hoped that this would be the case as he had been very favorably impressed with St. John since his arrival. It would also give his wife an opportunity to join him and he would naturally look forward to this as his marriage took place only six weeks ago, just before the outbreak of the war, and his honeymoon was notably interrupted by orders from the War Office.

If St. John is given the preference in the horse shipments it will be an extremely important matter for the city as well as realized when the number of horses required and the amount of work in connection with them is considered. Lord Kitchener's orders call for shipments of 10,000 horses a month and even a small proportion of this number passing through St. John would cause the circulation of a substantial amount of cash. In the purchase of the animals the commission has given instructions to give Canada the benefit of the business as much as possible.

While crossing the ocean the members of the commission had some rather interesting experiences. On board the steamer was a party of 110 Moros returning to Sulu in Cebu. Nearly all were of German birth or descent, and they had been studying in Germany before the outbreak of the war. The views of the situation had been formed entirely by what they had read in the German papers, which placed the responsibility of the war upon Great Britain, accused the British troops of great atrocities, and placed the Germans in the most favorable light. As the passenger list was small, they happened to be in the majority and made things decidedly unpleasant for some of the British passengers.

The Scott's Challenge This went on until one of the members of the remount commission, an athlete, (Continued on page two, third column)

German Warships Begin An Attack on Japanese Position

Severe Engagement Being Fought Near Tsing Tau—Japanese Mine Sweeper Blown Up

Tokio, Oct. 1.—A severe engagement has been opened by the German warships which cannonaded the Japanese positions near Tsing Tau, the seat of government of Kia Chau, the German leased territory in China. Two officers were killed. German aeroplanes attacked the warships.

The German War Office announces that an artillery duel at Tsing Tau continues. A German torpedo boat destroyer sank in the harbor yesterday (Wednesday). Apparently this ship was not in action.

Tokio, Oct. 1.—It was officially announced late this afternoon that a Japanese mine sweeper off Kia Chau was blown up and sunk. Three men were killed and thirteen others were wounded. Another Japanese mine sweeper was damaged, one man killed and six injured.

BLOODY REVENGE FOR SEDAN DEFEAT

Slaughter of Germans in Second Battle on Historic Field

FRENCH TRAP THE ENEMY

Mine River Bridges But Leave Them Standing Until Several Regiments Cross; Then Cut Off Retreat and Cut Germans To Pieces

London, Oct. 1.—During the strategic retreat of the allies southward from the Belgian frontier, the French troops expected from the Germans bloody revenge for the French defeat at Sedan, forty-four years before.

On this same battlefield, according to the Paris correspondent of the Daily Mail, the Germans suffered one of the worst defeats of the present invasion. He says they were led into a trap which cost them thousands of men. The French could have held their position indefinitely but strategy required them to continue falling back with the remainder of the allies along the line. Here the story of the second battle of Sedan, as told by the correspondents.

"The French general ordered his troops to cross the river and to take up positions on the opposite heights. The bridges were mined, but were left standing until several regiments of the German army had crossed. The French then retreated hastily. The mine River Bridges But Leave Them Standing Until Several Regiments Cross; Then Cut Off Retreat and Cut Germans To Pieces

The French regiments then advanced with quick steps and the merciless slaying continued until dusk. Many Germans threw down their arms and attempted to swim the river, and large numbers were drowned. When nightfall came, the French brought up searchlights and continued the work of carnage.

The artillery threw shells at the rate of a dozen round a minute into the German ranks, and varied the tactics by throwing incendiary shells into a forest where part of the German forces had taken refuge. The burning woods lit up the night and the German soldiers were seen to be running in all directions. "In the morning the German forces were found to have suffered the loss of only a handful."

London, Oct. 1.—The correspondent of the Daily Mail at Amiens under date of Sunday, in describing the heavy fighting around Peronne, which has been taken and retaken at various times, says: "It is impossible to hear of the dogged courage of the French troops without a thrill of warm admiration."

"At eleven o'clock one morning," he says, "the French advance was subjected to a terrible concentrated fire, and it seemed impossible for the troops to hold their ground. The French artillery had been working hard all day. The general staff was located and the general in command was urged to quit.

"No," he said, "so long as I stay here I will hold on."

"He said the same thing when three tanks close by were in flames. He said and meant it, and he saved the day. At three o'clock he was there still and his men held their own. At four o'clock the German fire slackened a little, and an infantry attack was pushed forward.

"That evening the French guns were occupying the position which the German guns had held all day. The general staff had held on."

NEARLY NINE MILLION MEN NOW UNDER ARMS

Some of the Nations in the War

New York, Oct. 1.—The cost of $5,000,000 a day for maintaining the German fighting machine is about double the maximum reached by the United States during the last year of the Civil War. The figures are exclusive of the loss to individuals deprived of pacific employment.

French economists have recently been estimating the expense of the war machine of the nations now in conflict, with the result that their estimates ran from $200,000,000 to $250,000,000 a day, or about $4,000,000,000 for the first six months' campaign, including the initial cost of mobilization.

It is estimated that there are now more than $500,000,000 under arms for land warfare and $400,000,000 for sea warfare. The cost of each man mobilized amounts to $250 a day. This gives about $225,000,000 daily, or $60,000,000 a month, or for six months $3,600,000,000. But this figure, says General Guyot, does not include the cost of maintaining the armies and fleets.

On August 4, the day the ultimatum was sent by Great Britain to Germany demanding an assurance that the neutrality of Belgium be respected, which was followed by a German rejection, and declaration of war against her by Great Britain, the German Reichstag authorized extraordinary credits to the extent of $2,250,000,000 to be obtained by a loan, and a further sum of $70,000,000 to be drawn on the gold and silver supply of the empire. A tax of five per cent on the stocks and notes issued by the Reichsbank over and above its reserve and metal was subsequently suppressed, and the loan was secured by an issue of bank notes uncovered by a reserve of gold and silver.

It has been stated in Vienna that the Austrian army costs $4,000,000 a day, but the Austrian treasury was emptied by the mobilization during the Balkan wars, which drained the financial resources of the empire. It is hard to see where the Austrian monarchy can find the $120,000,000 required to keep up her armies, and fleet, as no news of fresh financial legislation has been received.

Would Go to Front in Command of Body of 1,000 New Brunswickers—Colonel McLean's Project For Cavalry Force

While the announcement of Colonel H. H. McLean, M. P., to the effect that he had been making every possible effort to have a cavalry regiment raised in New Brunswick to represent this province at the front, evoked much enthusiasm and interest, it may be said that for some weeks a similar movement had been under way and considerably advanced with the intention of having an infantry contingent go from here to be known by the name of the province as well. In fact this project had been well advanced, having been promoted and fostered by Colonel J. L. McAvity, O. C. of the 62nd regiment St. John Fusiliers, acting in conjunction with the local government.

This matter, while known to some, has been withheld from publication until there had been concrete information on which to proceed, as the scheme has been only in its preliminary stages. It met with a hearty reception from those to whom Colonel McAvity spoke and there is reason to believe that it may yet be successful. These statements explain the several visits made to different parts of the province by the 62nd's commanding officer, as they were in the interests of the project.

Colonel McAvity, when the first news of trouble came, offered his services to the militia department. He was active in attending to the arrangements here and there, and sending away the first detachment from the 62nd, besides attending to local military defence. He just whether both or either of the schemes will be brought to a successful head is difficult to say at present, but both Colonel McLean and Colonel McAvity have been energetic in promoting their plans.

The regiment which he has proposed to muster, and which may yet be assembled, the preliminary plans succeed, would number about 1,000 men, and Colonel McAvity thinks he would have little difficulty in securing that strength. He has had several interviews and negotiations with the provincial government through Acting Premier Clark in regard to it, and has spared neither time nor personal expense in its promotion. The project may yet develop as a very feasible and favorable scheme.

The proposal of Colonel McLean is that a cavalry regiment be raised from the 8th Hussars and 29th Dragoons, both very efficient bodies of mounted men. Its cost of organization he has estimated at about $175,000 for 340 officers and men, and he has urged the provincial government to lend its aid towards the organization. He believes there would be many citizens through the province who would interest themselves in the promotion of such a scheme, and were it successful, the force would be given over, fully equipped with arms and accoutrements, to the dominion government, which would pay its expenses across and see to its transport. He just whether both or either of the schemes will be brought to a successful head is difficult to say at present, but both Colonel McLean and Colonel McAvity have been energetic in promoting their plans.

ITALIAN VENDETTA MURDER IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Oct. 1.—Another Italian vendetta murder was committed here last night and the police met with the same silence to which they have grown accustomed among those who might furnish evidence by which to trace the perpetrators.

Antonio Dandemo, his wife, Rose, and his brother, James, were returning home last night from a theatre when a storned bullet went at its head as commanding officer, and he found many to support him. His idea was that the infantry regiment would interest themselves in the promotion of such a scheme, and were it successful, the force would be given over, fully equipped with arms and accoutrements, to the dominion government, which would pay its expenses across and see to its transport. He just whether both or either of the schemes will be brought to a successful head is difficult to say at present, but both Colonel McLean and Colonel McAvity have been energetic in promoting their plans.

LEARNING BY RESEARCH

It may, in short, be taken as an axiom of medical science that everything of value in medicine and surgery has arisen from the application of experimental research. Nor can future advance be made by any other method than the experimental method. It is true that accident may teach occasionally, as it did, for example, in the dressing of wounds by the early experiments in X-ray treatment of the cancerous growths.

MEMORIES OF THE KAISER'S COURT TOO LATE FOR CLASSIFICATION

(W. T. Allison in Montreal Mail)
In view of the timeliness of the subject and the rich material to be exploited, I want to return to day to the book which I reviewed in this column last week, "Memories of the Kaiser's Court," by Anne Topham (Methuen and Co., London). Last week I tried to show that this English authoress were for over ten years acted as governess to the Kaiser's only daughter, the Princess Victoria, and that she had a very intimate knowledge of his personal life, and while admitting his personal charm and his geniality as a ruler, she was not at all complimentary to his character, but rather concluded that he was an egotist utterly unfit for the task of rulership, and she was quite unable to sympathize with Kaiser-act in this volume to give my readers an additional grasp of Wilhelm's character.

One of the chief reasons why Germany plunged into the present war is to be found in the Kaiser's failure to understand English politics. During his boyhood the Kaiser usually spent his holidays in England and English influences helped to mould his character, but Miss Topham declares that, while he loved and admired English life, he has a perplexed, irritated wonderment and distrust for English politics. His wretched and irritable mind must have increased ten-fold during the last few months. "Not one of our ministers," she said to the governess on one occasion, "can tell how many ships of the line we have in our navy, I can tell him, but he can't tell me, and your minister of war can't even tell, I offered him a splendid marginal accompaniment to the history which has been made this summer.

Recently the German troops destroyed the churches and art treasures of Louvain and Belgium. Miss Topham reports as a dictum of the Kaiser, "Art and war cannot live side by side." He is right, but during the course of a conversation descriptive of his visit to England, where he enjoyed the art treasures in country houses. "Ah," said he, "you have never had a Napoleon to plunder and burn your country houses. Your Byzantines and Gainsboroughs, where would they have been if Napoleon's marshals or his soldiers had seen them? Perhaps burnt or destroyed or sent to the Louvre. All our art treasures were absolutely destroyed, burnt, by Napoleon. Art and war cannot live side by side. We have had too much fighting, and now must re-create, rebuild almost from the beginning." To which the governess made reply: "Yes, it is lucky for us to live on an island, and that the French fleet met its Trafalgar. Nelson saved our art treasures for us, I suppose." "I expect he did," replied the Kaiser, "but I don't do you?" and he turned away laughing and still nodding vigorously, thinking I am sure, a good deal about Nelson and his fleet.

The German Emperor has a great sense of humor; he enjoys "Punch." In the winter evenings he reads "Punch" and Miss Topham pictures him surrounded by English papers. While the Emperor usually reads "Punch," he is said to read extracts aloud. "He was very fond of 'Punch,'" says the governess, "especially because of the 'Punch' which he so frequently figured under the guise of a sea-serpent, an organ-grinder, or his imperial self, with exaggerated moustaches and portentous frown. I always liked to hide 'Punch' when it was my turn downwards. His Majesty liked to thrust these embarrassing pictures under my nose. 'What do you think of that?' he would say. 'Neh, isn't it? Good likeness, eh?' It was often difficult to find a suitable answer on the spur of the moment."

When the Princess was made honorary Colonel of the Totes-Kopf or Death's Head Hussars, all the officers of the crack regiment travelled from distant Danzig, a twelve hours' journey to be presented to her. She was dressed in their lavishly braided uniform and looked very pretty. "She will ride at the head of the first regiment that invades England," was the Kaiser's gay remark to the colonel's governess. "Yes, I hope so," replied the latter. "Then we shall be delighted to see it." "Oh, yes, you will receive her with open arms, no doubt," laughed the Emperor. But the governess added that he looked as though he were not quite sure of the matter.

The Kaiser is said to be unimpaired by age. W. J. Bryan himself. He has a horror of excessive indulgence in alcohol and looks upon England as the greatest enemy of his life. "I don't drink whisky," "You English people," he said to Miss Topham on one occasion, "you drink those fiery spirits—horrible stuff—whisky, brandy, what not? How can you imbibe such quantities of poisonous liquid—ruining your constitutions. Simply ruining them—whisky and soda everywhere, it's awful. I tasted it once—like liquid fire—ugh! Your drinking habits are fearful!" The English governess tried to prove to him that drunkenness in England is slowly but surely decreasing, but she soon found that she could not tell His Holiness anything that he did not want to believe. He had more faith in his own observations than in any amount of statistics.

The author of this book had abundant opportunities for studying Germany's military caste and military ideal as applied to education. She concludes that the latter breeds up a class of men who are earnest, loyal, and self-sacrificing, but possess extremely narrow views, who see and judge everything from a purely military, autocratic standpoint, and are quite unable to sympathize with or understand the aspirations of the normal human being towards personal initiative and liberty. "The members of this military class still fight ideas with physical force, hold the uniform as sacrosanct, are overbearing, touchy, often with, of course, many exceptions, insufferably vain and spiteful. They realize most emphatically that they are the masters, not the servants of the German people; they are a class aloof, apart, a class wielding tremendous social and political power. Sometimes it seems almost a pity that Carlyle re-discovered the virtues of the Prussian Hohenzollern, Frederick William I. So many latter-day Prussians, without possessing any of his sturdy virtues, seem to model their conduct on his, and to worship the world by the more disreputable means of their own money and the worthy traits of his vivid, forceful personality." Miss Topham's comments are a splendid marginal accompaniment to the history which has been made this summer.

SLEEPING CARS IN WHICH THE PASSENGERS MAY SLEEP

Railroad Superintendent Has an Idea Which, if Carried Out, Would Make Rest Possible While Traveling

That is the unique ideal of the new superintendent of a southwestern railroad, sleeping cars in which the passengers will be allowed to sleep. What he proposes is almost as startling as the outbreak of war in Europe, since the one seemed to be as widely impossible as the other. Yet he approaches the problem with jaunty confidence that will inspire an echo in the hearts of travellers, because the solution he offers really does go to the root of the trouble.

He has issued orders to train crews to cut out the "big noise," the unnecessary racket that makes sleeping cars a nuisance. And he classifies those noises so that if those who specify are out of tune of the present disturbances will be left. The clanging of bells, the rattling of wheels, the sudden popping off of steam by engines close to sleeping cars, the hissing and sputtering of locomotives, the rattling track and forth in the yards that train crews think to be essential, and the selection of the side for nocturnal conversation by the porters all these too familiar foes of sleep are to be eliminated, if he can have his way. Bumping the sleeping cars back and forth is also to be reduced to the minimum.

In the light of experience it does not seem probable that this can be carried out in its entirety in this generation. But this superintendent is to be given credit for a great idea.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

THE BEST REASON

Upton Sinclair tells this story about a school address he once made—"It was a school of little boys" said Mr. Sinclair, "and I opened my address by laying a coin upon the table. I am going to talk to you boys about Socialism," I said, and when I finish the boy who gives me the best reason for turning Socialist will get this money." Then I spoke for some twenty minutes. The boys were all converted at the end. I began to question them. "You are a Socialist?" I said to the boy nearest me. "Yes, sir," he replied. "And why are you a Socialist?" I asked. He pointed to the coin. "Because I need the money," he said.

THE REASON

"Ma wants two pounds of butter exactly like what you sent us last. If it ain't exactly like that she won't take it," said the small boy. The grocer turned to his numerous customers, and remarked blandly, "Some people in my business don't like particular customers, but I do. It is my delight to serve them, and get them what they want. I will attend to you in a moment, little boy."

"Be sure to get the same kind," said the small boy, while the shopful of customers listened to him. "A lot of pa's reasons are visiting our house, and ma doesn't want 'em to come again."

We were fortunate in securing this shipment. They were packed in Malines and shipped from there by rail on July 29 last; re-shipped from Antwerp by C. P. R. steamer Ruthenia, July 31, and were just outside the cordon of warships when Great Britain declared war on August 4.

NOT ALL HOT BLOOD ON THE BATTLEFIELDS

Old age is not altogether for counsel in this war. Most of the leaders have passed that mark set by Dr. Oiler as the limit of usefulness. The trained courage and the French commander-in-chief, is 62. Earl Kitchener is 64, and Gen. Paul Foa is nearly the eighties. General French is 62.

NURSE SHOT BY GERMAN SOLDIER SHE HAD ATTENDED

Montreal, Oct. 1.—How Germans cut the wrists of English wounded to prevent them from using their sword arm again is told in a letter from George Frame, a local boxer, who served as a driver in the army service corps in Belgium, to Elmer W. Ferguson, sporting editor of the Montreal Herald-Telegraph. Writing from London, Mr. Frame says: "I am just out of the hospital, having been severely wounded in my left leg at the battle of Mons."

"We have the Germans at our mercy. They cannot shoot with a rifle, but they are terribly accurate with their artillery and shells."

"My 17th and 9th Lanciers are some fine fellows. One battle they were every single German of one regiment. Not one of the enemy was left alive."

"The Germans are very brutal to our wounded soldiers. Hundreds of wounded British lying on the fields have had their wrists terribly slashed so that they will not be able to fight any more."

"I saw a nurse of the Red Cross attending a German soldier on the field at Mons near where I was lying wounded. She attended to his injuries and was just walking away when he rolled over on his side, pulled his rifle from beneath him and taking deliberate aim shot the nurse to death. That is the kind of men which the British are fighting."

"I am glad to say that nearly every boxer in England has gone to the colors to fight for civilization."

It is estimated that the total number of motor vehicles in the world is about 2,226,000.

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRES

A semi-official announcement has been made in Ottawa to the effect that there will be no general election this fall as has been hinted, but that it will be postponed until after the regular session next year.

Hon. Louis Coderre, secretary of state for the Dominion, may be appointed to a vacancy in the King's bench division at Montreal, and may be succeeded by L. T. Marchand, K.C., or T. Chase Casgrain, K. C.

Hon. Dr. Reame, Ontario minister of public works, resigned yesterday.

It is probable that the Southampton railway inquiry will be re-opened to secure the evidence of Ottawa officials. A. E. Wry, Ltd., of Sackville, has taken over the plant, real estate and retail establishment of the Standard Manufacturing Company, Middle Sackville.

In an explosion in the plant of the Paine Fire Works Display Company in Chicago yesterday five persons were killed, including the president, H. B. Thearle.

Jules Lavergne, photographer, was shot dead at his home in Montreal yesterday and his son, Rene, badly wounded in a row caused by their refusal to sell their photographic plant to a former partner, J. N. Lapres. The latter was wounded by a revolver shot and both he and Rene were taken to a hospital. Lapres is said to have started the shooting.

ONLY SIXTEEN, GIRL VERY SICK

Tells How She Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

New Orleans, La.—"I take pleasure in writing these lines to express my gratitude to you. I am only 16 years old and work in a tobacco factory. I have been a very sick girl but I have improved wonderfully since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am now looking fine and feeling a thousand times better."

—Miss ANSELMA JACQUELARD, 6861 Tehouptoulas St., New Orleans, La.

St. Clair, Pa.—"My mother was alarmed because I was troubled with suppression and had pains in my back and side, and severe headaches. I had pimples on my face, my complexion was sallow, my sleep was disturbed, I had nervous spells, was very tired and had no ambition. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has worked like a charm in my case and has regulated me. I worked in a mill among hundreds of girls and have recommended your medicine to many of them."

—Miss ESTELLA MAQUIAN, 110 Thwing St., St. Clair, Pa.

There is nothing that teaches more than experience. Therefore, such letters from girls who have suffered and were restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be a lesson to others. The same remedy is within reach of all.

THE WAR TODAY.

The world at large has about made up its mind that the end of the battle of the Aisne is not only in sight but that the continued retreat of both German wings is to be followed soon by the withdrawal of the German centre and a retreat that may be turned into a rout.

The present battle has been so long in progress that the public forgets, perhaps, how much has really happened in the last month.

The German tide of success began to ebb at the Marne, and the question today is not one of German success but of the possibility of the Germans saving their principal army from disaster.

It is quite true that the Germans might carry on a long defensive warfare on their own border; but the only effect that will have will be to delay rather than to avert the final catastrophe.

The Kaiser did not set out to defend his dominions. He set out to break the French army, under the walls of Paris, to take the French capital, and then to turn, triumphant, against the Czar.

Each day brings evidence of gains by the Allies in the great battle of the Aisne. Unless the signs fail the big news will not be much longer delayed.

Another kind of warfare will occupy attention of readers of the October newspapers—the world series for baseball honors is about to begin. With Boston one of the contending teams, St. John enthusiasts will probably be on hand in large numbers.

Mr. James Masson, whose death Fairville and the community in general mourns today, was a worthy citizen who had done his full share towards the advancement and well-being of the place where he lived. He will be held in kindly memory.

The mining of the Adriatic and the consequent interference with the Italian fishing industry may prove the deciding factor that will bring Italy into the war.

In the earlier days of the war it was predicted that the Kaiser would find trouble at home before he was cured of making it abroad. There is a rumble of dissatisfaction now heard from the direction of Berlin.

By this we mean it's finer in quality and that the values are the best possible.

The Liberal and Conservative newspapers at Ottawa agree today that a general election in Canada is not likely to be called before next year.

DO CIGARETTES KILL? "THEY DO," ASSERTS EDISON; "THEY DO NOT," SWEAR PHYSICIANS AND ALIENISTS

AND THE WORLD KEEPS ON SMOKING MORE OF THEM EVERY DAY

Thomas A. Edison and Dr. Stejneger caught by the camera smoking cigars.

New York, Oct. 1.—Are 15,000,000 young men of America actually signing their own certificates to the madding throng that is leading the country by announcing a determined leaning toward the former theory and have given orders that none of their employes are to use the ubiquitous "coffin-nail," while tobacco company officials, noted doctors and prominent psychologists the country over are rushing to the swift defense of the "pill" and are attempting to prove they are not an ally of death.

How Cigarette Smoking Is Gaining All Over The World

Since 1900 the cigarette habit has increased by leaps and bounds everywhere. According to government statistics, a little more than two billion were produced then.

In 1910, $200,000,000 were manufactured, while last year's production totalled 15,812,000,000. And these figures do not include hand-rolled cigarettes, so largely used on the Pacific coast and in the south.

In addition to this, American and English women are beginning to smoke great quantities of cigarettes. Smoking by women is allowed in all leading New York restaurants this year, and many women are being noted smoking them in their automobiles as they roll along.

Tobacco officials believe that the total consumption of cigarettes for 1914 will come near to equalling twenty billion!

WAR DAYS IN BELGIUM

exhausted long ago, owe their existence to the humanitarian work which will perhaps avert revolts, popular uprisings and the pillaging of shops. Under the auspices of the ministers of Spain and the United States, and thanks to the gifts of the generous, the municipal councils of the town and suburbs make distributions every day at the public buildings of a pint of excellent soup and a pound of bread per head.

Touching appeals are being made to the public for contributions to help this good work to go on as long as possible, but there are few rich people in Brussels. On the arrival of the Germans many fled from the city, and there were others who were left in a rather awkward position. Coin alone was of no use in these troubled times, and, therefore, it was a question of what one had at home and not of what was in the bank.

Paper money, whatever its nature, is not negotiable, and this causes a great deal of trouble. The people who thought themselves in comfortable circumstances for the rest of their lives have to ask themselves what they could do in order to exist. Still others are looking on helplessly at the ruin of their industry or business.

KING'S CONGRATULATIONS.

Sent to Jewish Subject With Four Sons in Army.

London, Oct. 1.—One befall of the king, his secretary, Lord Stamfordham, sent the following message to J. Benjamin, of Forest Gate, who has four sons serving in the army, three having recently joined it.

My Dear Sir:—I am commanded by the king to congratulate you on having four sons serving His Majesty, of which you should be very proud. His Majesty wishes them to know that he thoroughly appreciates the loyalty which they share with so many thousands of others of the Jewish persuasion in the United Kingdom.

GERMANS USE HEADLESS BARRELS TO TRAP CAVALRY

Fear of Suffering in Approaching Winter—Some Facts That Show The Need of Aid For The Belgians

A Brussels dispatch to the London Daily Chronicle says:—"It is certain at present that the Germans are taking all precautions to defend their ground foot by foot, and if possible to avert the risk either of surprise or an enveloping movement by Belgian troops seeking to surround the garrison in Brussels. The latter is in constant contact with the German army posted before Antwerp. Brussels constitutes for the Germans a sort of entrenched camp.

Important works of defence have been completed all around the town. Numerous roads and bridges have been mined, and there are not a few clever traps between Berchem, St. Athahe and Grand Bikard. After having excavated the highway to a great depth, the Germans have placed there three hundred barrels without tops which are covered with branches and earth. One can well conceive what would be the effect of a cavalry charge in this spot. Luckily the commanders of the Belgian army are quite well aware of these gins on the part of the Germans, who know that they know. That is why the Germans endeavor to prevent anyone leaving Brussels.

The people of Brussels are looking forward, not without dismay, to the approach of winter. The stoppage of commerce and industry is complete and the working classes, whose little savings were mouth the stored-up nicotine which causes that bitter taste on relighting a cigar.

From a cigarette, owing to the quickness with which it is smoked, and its thinness, less nicotine is brought into the body.

At one time, Prof. Harvey W. Wiley, then connected with the U. S. Department of Chemistry, examined fifteen brands of cigarettes bought in open market. His report stated that none contained any foreign substance either in the tobacco or the wrapper.

Edison is not an abstainer from tobacco himself; it is only cigarettes that he abhors. He "chews" and smokes cigars. He has even employed some employes from indulging in cigarettes only, and because, he says, they "dull the brain."

When this challenge to the "coffin-nail" was issued the American Tobacco Company, largest tobacco concern in the world, came back with a broadside affirming cigarettes to be harmless. As a result Edison has decided upon a novel experiment.

He is making a test on several men, half of whom are allowed to puff on cigarettes to their heart's content, while the other half are required rigidly to abstain from use of tobacco in any form during the length of the test, which may cover several months.

"Cigarettes," he says, "work havoc with a man's brain. Not only on account of the deadly nicotine, but also because the combustion of cigarette paper which contains a certain amount of fat, creates poisonous alkaline gas that is inhaled with the smoke."

Theo. Roberts, a famous New York chemist, when informed of Edison's statement, laughed at it. "Of course, he is right scientifically, but as a matter of practice the particles of gas are in minute amounts and are really negligible. Why, any fat will produce this poison. A woman's hair will imbibe more of it in a minute than a smoker does in a week!"

Dr. Carlos F. MacDonald, who has had twenty years of experience as an alienist, says cigarette smoking is never a cause of insanity!

That Dr. J. McDonald, editor of the American Journal of Surgery, said: "It is ridiculous to say that cigarette smoking reduces a man's brain-power. It neither stimulates nor injures an intelligence. The claim that the criminal class is recruited from cigarette fends is easily controverted by facts showing that many illustrious men, ranking in the front of the world's art, commerce or politics, are confirmed cigarette or cigar smokers. What physicians think can be seen by the fact that at every medical convention I observed the majority enjoying cigarettes."

It is true, as Doctor MacDonald says, that great men have always consumed cigarettes immoderately, but it is also true that many great ones have abstained from tobacco in any form.

Among the former may be mentioned King George, King Alfonso, Dr. Stejneger, great electrical engineer; Thos. Edison, Kaiser William, J. M. Barrie, Rudyard Kipling, George Sylvester Viereck, far-famed poet, John Drew and Wm. Travers Jerome.

On the other side stand ranged such men as President Wilson, Theodore Roosevelt, William Jennings Bryan and Gen. Villa.

There are, in contradiction to men of Edison's theory, authorities I found who actually favor cigarettes to all other forms of tobacco. One of these is Prof. W. E. Lee of Harvard University. He says:

"I made tests with cigars containing half as much nicotine as the cigarettes used." During combustion, a great amount of nicotine is evaporated through the pores in the paper of the tobacco leaves, but twice as much in the cigarette as in the cigar. The smoke of the latter thus contained just double the quantity of nicotine as that remaining in the cigarette of cigarette.

"Much of the nicotine is always gathered directly back of the burning point, and is carefully drawn in through your end. Anyone can verify this by relighting a 'dead' cigar, when in the first few puffs he will draw into his

Deserters

ARTEMUS WARD, the famous American humorist, whose humor some times was a lance-thrust, once said that he was willing to sacrifice all his first wife's relations on the altar of his country. Many a man has been willing to let others do his fighting for him—willing, also, to share the rewards of peace and victory. Men of this type belong to the deserter class.

In Canada are hundreds of business firms striving with all their might to make better times for themselves and their communities. To them all honor.

But there are other firms—manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers—who are "standing pat," "playing safe," doing absolutely nothing to build up business. They are merely lookers on, not participants in the valorous struggle of their brethren to maintain and establish good times.

Look about you and you will find in the advertising columns of this and other newspapers many messages from firms with a sturdy confidence in the future.

Lifter or Leaner—which are you?

SWISS SYSTEM VERY EFFECTIVE

Mobilization of 500,000 Troops Occupied But Three Days

ALL SPLENDID SHOTS

Manner in Which Horses Are Secured and Inspected For The Little Country's Army

(Mail and Empire) Interlaken, Switzerland, Aug. 7.—The mobilization of the Swiss army is complete and half a million soldiers are in their allotted places.

Just a week ago, today, the government, appreciating the seriousness of the outlook, though war had not yet been declared between any of the great powers, issued a proclamation of "Standing Picket" (Picket Stellung) of the Swiss army.

This notice embodies articles 199, 200, 210 and 214 of the Swiss military law, and under them every soldier is to be ready for further orders and cannot leave the country without special permission.

On the evening of the 31st July a large placard was posted up in the commune (the municipal division of a canton) where I happened to be, as follows:—

"Standing Picket in the whole Swiss army. Elite, Landwehr, and Landstrum. Moreover, those who have to look after personal mobilization, territorial, lines of communication and railway. All soldiers must be ready to go at once to their headquarters as soon as an order comes, Interlaken, 31st July, 1914. Federal Military Department and Commune of Interlaken."

This order was also read at different places throughout the commune by an official, preceded with two or three drummers to call attention.

Early next morning, August 1st, the roads leading to the field behind the school-house were alive with led horses and a certain number of vehicles. At 7 o'clock the checking over of a clearly written list began.

Whenever a man buys a horse in Switzerland he must report the same to the authorities in the commune in which it is for service in time of war, and also bring it twice a year for inspection as well as on occasion such as above.

Ready for Duty. Later on in the morning Landstrum, for every soldier on the frontier, was to be seen coming in from their homes in the mountain hamlet.

The happy pair were the recipients of many costly and useful presents from a large number of friends, by whom they are held in high esteem.

How to Stop Stomach Torment

Sound Advice From A Well-Known Physician

Men and women who suffer from what is called Dyspepsia, indigestion or just an "stomach trouble" usually seek the relief in the form of some peppin pills or tablets, or other artificial digestants. This experience teaches me, is a gross error. In nine cases out of ten, the distress is caused by the development of acids in the stomach—formed by the fermenting of the food. Instead of a digestant being required, something should be taken to dissolve or neutralize the acidity, when normal digestion will flow as a matter of course.

"Bismarck" is a physician's prescription. It is inexpensive and can be obtained at any drug store. It is prepared for just such trouble and is a best proof of its efficiency in that it stops the sharpest, biting stomach distress in five minutes, simply by dissolving the acids that have been formed. Its action is absolutely harmless.

LOCAL AID FOR THE BELGIANS

Public Meeting to Take up Matter Tomorrow—Offers From Outside

The first steps towards the formation of a fund for the relief of the Belgian people were made this morning when, after the executive meeting of the Soldiers and Families' Patriotic Fund, the members resolved themselves into a citizens' committee and discussed the proposal.

The matter was brought to the attention of the meeting by A. P. Barnhill, who said that he thought it was only right that either the city or province take action towards the furthering of relief to these stricken people.

The meeting decided to ask the mayor to call a public meeting at which the matter might be taken up and discussed at length. The mayor has named tomorrow at noon and all interested are invited to attend. The meeting will be in the board of trade rooms.

In addition to the local efforts to raise a fund for the alleviation of the distress of the Belgians it is quite possible that steps will be taken to arrange for the forwarding of contributions of produce and other supplies from this province.

Mayor Frink has received a letter from J. D. Irving of Bouchette who says that the people of that district are anxious to help and that many offers of potatoes, oats and other produce have been made. His Worship replied that this would be more a matter for provincial action than for local efforts and suggested that Mr. Irving should communicate with the lieutenant governor. The mayor is of the opinion that if the opportunity could be given there would be sufficient contributions from the people of New Brunswick to make up a steamer load or very near it.

Contributions for the Belgian fund have been received by Mayor Frink as follows: John P. McIntyre, $15; James L. Saguez, $1.

THE YOUNGSTERS WORK FOR FUND

Two Contributions From Little Ones—Further Donations of Cash Acknowledged

The work attached to the collection of a fund for the relief of those dependent on the Canadian Soldiers who have gone to the front has not fallen altogether upon the elder people. The younger generation are doing their share and so far have made an excellent showing.

Four little girls, Hazel Maxwell, Nellie Ellis, Bernice Somerville and Margaret Anderson, recently conducted a bazaar with the result that the sum of $15.02 was this morning handed over to the treasurer of the fund.

Another quartette has also been active, this time little boys and a contribution of $1.85, the proceeds of an entertainment given by the Boys' Patriotic Club, was also made this morning. The club consists of Buster Comens, president; Cyril McLaughlin, treasurer, and George Godwin and Rayburn Jack. Other amounts received this morning were:

From the officers and crew of the dredge "General Diaz," $30, as follows: J. S. Thompson, captain, $5; D. M. Wallace, chief engineer, $5; C. James, chief officer, $5; W. REV. DR. PRINGLE GOES TO FRONT

Prominent Presbyterian Minister of Sydney Chaplain With the Canadian Troops

His many friends in St. John will be interested in the news that Rev. John Pringle, D.D., pastor of St. Andrew's church, Sydney, N.S., has left for the front as chaplain with the Canadian overseas force. Although more than seventy years of age, Doctor Pringle is still hale and hearty and more capable of standing the hardships of a campaign than many men half his age.

He has had a varied and interesting career, and gained considerable prominence in connection with his missionary work in the early days of the Yukon gold rush. A few years ago he decided that he had done his share of work on the frontiers of civilization and accepted a call to St. Andrew's Presbyterian church. His ministry there has been successful as the part he has taken in public affairs of the city show that he has lost none of his vigor or his good sense. Doctor Pringle has addressed meetings in St. John on several occasions and is well known here.

FAIRVILLE MOURNS

James Masson, Prominent Resident, Dead

James Masson, of Fairville, a well known carriage manufacturer, died this morning at 6:30 in the hospital, and the news of his passing has caused general regret not only in Lancaster, where he had made his home for the last fifty years, but also in St. John, where he was well known and respected.

Mr. Masson was seventy-five years of age and a native of Elgin, Morshire, Scotland. Coming to this country in the early sixties, he was for a few years employed with the Harris Car Works in this city. He located in Fairville in 1863 and established himself in the carriage business.

In the fire of 1892 his property was destroyed, but immediately he rebuilt his equipment and premises are now up-to-date and commodious. As a manufacturer Mr. Masson was perhaps more extensively recognized as possessing superior ability than in carriage making and for years his exhibits in the exhibitions were favorably commented upon, winning him the office of police magistrate until 1912, when increasing responsibility obliged him to give up the position. When the fire department was organized in Fairville he took a prominent part when the present system was inaugurated he became one of the first fire wardens.

His life in the future of Lancaster expressed itself in many ways, and he was first president of the board of trade and still an honorary president.

A Scot through and through, Mr. Masson always closely followed the activities of St. Andrew's Society with which he was connected; also he was a Free Mason, enrolled in Union Lodge, Carleton.

Besides his wife he leaves a daughter, Mrs. S. A. Worrell, and four sons, Charles, Frank, Joseph and George.

One by one the old land marks are leaving, but none will be more generally missed than Mr. Masson, whose genial face and kindly word seemed part and parcel of the village daily life.

RECENT WEDDINGS

Burke-Ryan

In the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception on a fine nine o'clock wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. M. P. Howland, with nuptial mass when he united in marriage Miss Christina Ryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ryan, and James E. Burke, son of Mrs. and the late Timothy Burke, late inspector of inland revenue. A large number of friends assembled in the church to witness the marriage.

The bride was gowned in a white crepe de chene costume hand-embroidered, with Princess lace trimming. She wore a veil and carried a white prayer book. Her sister, Miss Helen Ryan, was bridesmaid, dressed in pink taffeta and white lace. She wore a black velvet hat with ermine trimming, and small pink ostrich tips, and carried a pink rose.

The ushers were Frank J. O'Neill and Leonard A. Conlon. Appropriate hymns were played by the church organist, A. S. Godsoe.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents in Sydney street, where a dainty wedding breakfast was served. On the C. P. R. leaving at noon Mr. and Mrs. Burke left on a honeymoon trip to Upper Canadian cities when he will go as far west as Michigan. The bride's traveling suit is of Mexican blue with black hat. On their return they will reside in Rockland Road. Many costly and useful remembrances of the happy event were received, including an electric reading lamp from the groom's associates in the C. P. R. freight agents—Masten.

THE L. C. R. ELEVATOR

A crew of workmen have been engaged during the last few days in clearing away the debris from the ruins of the L. C. R. elevator. The odor has almost entirely disappeared, and when a hose has been played on the pavement after all the debris has been taken away it is expected that there will be no further trouble. Thus far there has been no definite announcement as to the replacing of the elevator, and the expectations among many who have given the matter thought are that it will not be rebuilt this year. The department of public works has announced its policy not to introduce any new work during the early stages of the war, at least. When it is rebuilt the idea prevails that it will not be in the old location.

"TIPPERARY" IN THE SCHOOLS

There is no fear that the men and women of future generations will not be familiar with the now famous British fighting song "It's a Long Way to Tipperary." Even up to most modern times "The Maple Leaf Forever," "God Save the King," "Rule Britannia," and one or two other time-honored numbers formed the repertoire of the average school-child so far as singing within the walls of the class room is concerned. But things have changed.

As Sir Wilfrid Laurier and other statesmen have said "When England is at war Canada is at war," so therefore the young idea must be taught the fact, and this explains why in our schools, the ringing, inspiring air of "Tipperary" is heard almost daily in unison. Not that the youngsters don't know that the war is on, but this is really an addition to their list of patriotic songs, and music was enjoyed until nearly midnight when all sang the national anthem. Mr. and Mrs. Gorham left on a brief visit to Nova Scotia. On their return they will proceed to their home at Brown's Flat.
