THE REFORM BILLS ON LAST TODAY

Lansdowne's Measure for Make up of New House of Lords

SUFFRAGETTES AGAIN

New Bill in British House of Commons Which Aims to Give Vote to Nearly One Half of the Women of The United Kingdom

(Canadian Press) London, May 8.—Lord Lansdowne will today in that house present his long deferred scheme for the reform of the upper chamber. He will propose that the membership of the House of Lords shall be reduced to 300 and constituted as follows: One hundred chosen for a term of years from the existing house, with the safeguard of a minority representation introduced by a proportional vote; fifty of the most eminent standing, such as cabinet ministers, government lords and others of renown in the service of the state; fifty peers nominated by the majority of the day for a term of years and 50 elected for a short time by county councils and borough councils.

Another "Votes for Women" Bill London, May 8.—The suffragettes and their supporters in parliament, nothing if not persistent, have introduced in the House of Commons another bill "to enable women to vote at parliamentary elections." This latest bill adds to the existing franchise system of female enfranchisement which would give the vote to a larger proportion of women than did the bill of last year, which merely removed the disqualification of sex and marriage and was opposed by Chancellor Lloyd George and other cabinet ministers on the ground that it would enfranchise only the wealthier classes.

Last year's bill, if passed, would have enfranchised about one-seventh of the adult female population. The bill now introduced would enfranchise nearly one-half.

Under the present franchise a male owner of an estate or premises can exercise the franchise. Only a few married women could qualify as "owner or tenant" of the premises they join their husbands and inhabit. The present bill meets this point by definitely enacting that when a husband and wife reside together in premises, the wife should be entitled to register as joint owner.

Plural voting, allowed to men, is prohibited by women under the bill.

NEW PAPAL DELEGATE ON VISIT TO QUEBEC Quebec, May 8.—(Canadian Press)—Mgr. Stagni, the new Papal delegate, arrived on Saturday afternoon and was met at the railway station by Mgrs. Addresses were afterwards presented to his excellency by Archbishop Beign on behalf of the citizens, to both of which he replied in French.

Yesterday Mgr. Stagni paid visits to Spencer Wood and to Mayor Drouin, and held a reception at the archbishop's palace, which was attended by thousands of people. Mgr. Stagni will visit St. Anne de Beaupre on Wednesday.

Messrs. Guthrie, Neely and Clark Much Impressed by What They See

Great Future of Courtenay Bay, their Opinion on Seeing Place and Hearing of Plans—Tonight's Great Meeting in St. Andrew's Rink, on Reciprocity

That St. John already has a fine harbor and good shipping facilities and that it is destined to have a great future in the commercial life of Canada, was the verdict of the visiting members of parliament from the west, after a trip around the water front this morning.

The boat then went out to the Courtenay Bay, and the visitors expressed keen interest in all that they saw. Looking into Courtenay Bay, it was explained how the plans prepared would connect that great stretch of water inland, with a protecting breakwater at the outer end. Mr. Guthrie, after hearing the plan outlined and looking keenly over the situation, remarked, "Yes, this will be the winterport of the Grand Trunk Pacific. You have great opportunities here."

Comfort for skin-tortured babies and rest for tired, fretted mothers.

Is your little one a sufferer from itching, burning eczema, or other torturing, disfiguring skin eruption? Or, yourself, worn out by long, sleepless nights and constant anxiety? And have you tried treatment after treatment without avail? Then read in these remarkable cases of proof of what Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment have done, throughout the world, for just such cases as yours.

Canada
When my boy was about three months old, he had broke out with a rash which was very itchy and ran a watery fluid. We tried everything but he got worse. I got all the time, till it spread to his arms, legs and then to his entire body. He got so bad that he came near dying. He got so bad that he would scratch till the blood ran. I had to put Cuticura on his hands to prevent him scratching the skin. He was so weak and ran down that he had to be fed with a spoon. He was almost a skeleton and his little hands were thin like sticks.

England
It had not been long since the Cuticura Soap never gave me any relief. I had been using it for five months and was covered with it. I began with the Ointment and put it down to her feet. It started with white patches, then the Ointment was used. When we washed her, she used to bleed. We had her under the doctor's care for several weeks, but he did her only temporary good. She would be as bad as ever, suffering terribly with itching and burning.

Australia
The trouble that affected my little girl started in her head like a ringworm. This was all over her head. The head itched and it was in the form of a ring and all the hair came off. It was very itchy. She could not sleep, and I began to think she would never get better. I tried all kinds of remedies but all to no avail. We used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I had not used it long before she was completely cured. The hair grew again, and you would never know that there had been anything wrong with her head. (Signed) Mrs. F. J. Collins, Melbourne, Victoria.

Scotland
When our little boy Andrew was four months old, little red spots came on his head and face. Then they spread all over his head, so I took him to my doctor and he gave me an ointment to use. The spots became brown, sore, and the ointment did me any good. Then I took him to the hospital. They gave me ointment which did no good. He was then a mass of sores on the head and face, and the child was suffering dreadfully. He would scratch the sores till they bled, so we had to tie his hands. The child was crying all the time with the terrible sore.

United States
I have a little baby almost a year old. When it was two months old it got eczema on top of both her hands, on her face and inside her nose and mouth. The rash would break out and one of her eyes almost closed up. A hard crust formed and would crack open and the blood ran out. It itched so terribly that the poor little girl could not rest. We had to keep milk on her hands to keep her from scratching at her face and her mother was forced to sit in a rocking chair with the baby day and night. We had a very good doctor and he did all that he possibly could to relieve the baby's torture, but the results were not what we had looked for.

Trial Treatment Free
That all may try without expense this treatment which, for more than a generation, has maintained its position as the standard remedy for most economical skin and scalp humors of young and old, a liberal sample of Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment with 32-p. book on skin troubles, will be sent, post-free, on application to Fetter Bros. & Chem. Corp., 80 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

IT WAS as an afternoon tea. "Who is that distinguished looking woman over there?" I heard a stranger say.

"Why that's Mrs. R." was the answer.

Now Mrs. R. is one of my closest neighbors, and I turned with interest to look at her through the eyes of a stranger who saw her as distinguished looking.

And although I had lived too closely to her to quite realize that before, I admitted it now. Yes, she was rather distinguished looking. In the group of women who chatted over their afternoon tea cups one would have undoubtedly noticed her among the first.

But why?
I studied her for some moments before I answered my own question and then made this decision: Chiefly because in that gathering of marcel waves and puffs and ruffs and coronet heads, Mrs. R.'s soft hair was parted and done very simply. She has an excellently shaped head and this simplicity showed off its fine contour admirably.

If you looked at the group of five of which she was one, I'm sure you would have seen her first, just because she had distinguished herself in this way.

She made me think, somehow, of one of those beautiful old houses set far back from the street in stately simplicity, that occasionally delight the eye that is averted of the flouting showiness of its much more expensive neighbors.

No, the greatest desire of womanhood is to be noticed—there's no blinking it, no glossing it. Acknowledged, unacknowledged, conscious or deeply unconscious, that is the purpose of all the silks and laces and masses of training and high heeled pumps and gossamer stockings and knowledge of French and German, and pearls and jewels and artistic etchings which we bedeck our minds and bodies—to win other men and women's attention.

And here this woman winning attention in the simplest manner possible—by being natural when all the rest of the world elects to be artificial. Isn't she clever?
And isn't she worth imitating?

Quickly, of course, before the rank and file grow tired of artificiality and decide to affect simplicity again, and simplicity consequently ceases to be a distinction.

Indeed, fashion notes inform us that such a move is likely to be made soon, so if you like my suggestion and decide you would like to find some simple, graceful, becoming method of wearing your hair, and thus easily winning the title of distinguished looking, now is your time. You'd better not wait a day, but pull off those puffs and ruffs this very day and try it.

SUSSEX AND FREDERICTON HEAR GREAT SPEECHES ON RECIPROcity COMPACT

Great Success Attends Opening of Series of Meetings Addressed by Messrs. Guthrie, Clark and Neely, M. P.'s—Reception Shows New Brunswick Strongly Favors the Agreement

Sussex, May 6—Townpeople of Sussex and sturdy yeomen of Kings to the number of nearly 1,000 filled the new Opera House this evening at the first of the series of the Liberal reciprocity meetings to be held in New Brunswick, and plainly demonstrated that the sentiment of New Brunswick farmers, in this section at least, is overwhelmingly in favor of closer trade relations with the United States. Not only

"We have in Canada today," he went on, "in power the real imperial party and the only imperialist government Canada had ever had. Down through the long record of Conservative rule I challenge anyone to put a finger on a single act of benefit to the empire.

"Sir Wilfrid will go to the imperial conference and should be successful in realizing his great ideal of free trade within the empire the very first men to oppose him by the close attention given the speakers, the frequent outbursts of applause, and the cheers at the close, but by the loyalist press who stood in groups discussing the meeting afterwards, did those in attendance express approval of the arguments advanced in the earnest address of Dr. D. H. McAlister, M. P., and the eloquent effort of Hugh Guthrie, M. P. for South Wellington. In the audience were a good number of ladies and that they were

would be the protectionists, manufacturers and Tories who are raising the loyalist cry today. Their patriotism consists largely of flag-waving and platform shouting."

Mr. Guthrie's plain reasoning and common sense in discussing the trade pact from a business standpoint appealed strongly to the audience and his exposition of how the cost of living will be reduced and at the same time farmers' prices raised was accepted as very convincing.

Senator King also characterized as utter nonsense a statement made by H. B. Ames, at the recent anti-reciprocity meeting held here, when he said that real estate had increased in value 50 per cent in Maine and about double that in New Brunswick. In his opinion, real estate in New Brunswick, especially in the country districts, had decreased in value rather than increased. He cited as an illustration the case of a farmer on the St. John river, who owned a farm that 40 years ago was purchased for $40,000 and who today would be glad if he could get a buyer at half that figure. He thought if the reciprocity agreement did not go through, it would be worth still less.

Dr. Clark discussed the evils of nations. High prices were being everywhere traced to protection. The moneyed interests were those opposing reciprocity; the middle classes wanted it. Reciprocity would give the Canadian farmer a better market in the United States and yet reduce prices in Canada.

Canada's trade would increase greatly, production would increase, land would become more valuable.

servatives opposed the pact. It was the call to dinner for the Conservatives. If they failed this time it would be twenty more years of Liberal rule. (Cheers).

The speaker read from an article written by Hon. Mr. Foster in December last, in which the ex-minister of finance stated that no sane man believes that reciprocity would result in any overflow of natural products from the United States to Canada.

Charles H. McIntyre was heard in a brief but interesting speech. He said he represented no party interest but was on a visit to his old home in this province, after practicing law in Boston. He scoffed at the argument advanced by Hon. Mr. Foster that reciprocity would tend to annexation of Canada by the United States. That there were thousands of Canadians and Britishers in that country who would rebel against any action threatening the heritage of their kinsmen. There was also a very friendly feeling among Americans towards Canada.

Hon. C. J. Osman was heartily received. As an Englishman, he said he resented the charge that he should forget his loyalty for the sake of a little business advantage. As a manufacturer he felt perfectly satisfied with the working of the agreement and was certain that the poorer classes would benefit.

Hon. Mr. Osman spoke of the high esteem in which Dr. McAlister was held at Ottawa, and the speaker had been told by Sir Wilfrid Laurier himself that the speaker for Kings-Albert was very highly thought of. This brought cheers from the audience, and Mr. Osman concluded.

Mr. Guthrie began an hour's speech at 9.29 o'clock and was given a very attentive hearing.

He referred to Dr. McAlister as the most popular man in the House of Commons. He was very regular in attendance and always was in his place whenever real work was to be done in committee.

The speaker had been charmed with what he had seen of Sussex and the surrounding country and there were evidences of educated up-to-date farming. At Gagetown a farmer was a man who worked the land and an agriculturist a man who worked the farmers. He thought Conservative reciprocity could lay claim to the title of agriculturist.

Since 1878, Mr. Guthrie said, there had been no greater question than reciprocity and he wished to deal with it in a business manner, but the effect on the political parties had persistently sought better trade relations with the United States, and he reviewed the different Conservative efforts.

Mr. Guthrie dealt at length with the scheme for the annexation of the United States and the effect on the trade. He spoke of the effect on the lumber industry, saying that both in this and in fishing trade, it was considerably increased for Canadians. The free salt complained of by Mr. Ames would be of no value to the farmer. The effect on the agricultural trade would be felt in a few months, he declared, and an increase in the value of farm lands would be seen at once. If the duty on hay were removed the New York market, paying $2 a ton, would be open. A big export to the states would result in more cheese being made.

Dr. Neely, M. P., followed and stated that the reciprocity agreement would be worth still less.

Dr. Neely was the first speaker and was followed by Dr. Clark. Both were listened to with the utmost attention, and they held the audience until the last. Dr. Neely discussed the question of the benefits of reciprocity, more particularly from the living across the boarder, coming back to take up the farms they deserted years ago, and raising goods to ship to the American market. He believed the majority of those who have gone from here are still loyal to Canada and would be glad to come back, if they could see an opportunity of making good.

Senator King also characterized as utter nonsense a statement made by H. B. Ames, at the recent anti-reciprocity meeting held here, when he said that real estate had increased in value 50 per cent in Maine and about double that in New Brunswick. ## Corn Troubles Ended in 48 Hours

A Blue-jay plaster is applied in a jiffy, and the pain of the corn ends at once. You simply forget it. The bit of B & B was gently loosens the corn in two days you lift it out. No pain, no soreness, no inconvenience.

Compare that with the old-time ways. Can you wonder that Blue-jay Plaster is now on five million corns a year? Can you wonder the Blue-jay now outcalls—by fifty times over—any other treatment known? People who once tried Blue-jay Plaster laugh at corns.

WAR TIME MEMORY

Sir—I was an eye witness to this event fifty years ago and have written these lines on the anniversary of the event: W. W. H.

On the banks of the broad Atlantic, At evening two armies lay, On the north were the blue-coated vet.

When up from the camp of the Union, A voice broke the silence with song, And the notes of the Star-Spangled Banner rang.

Far and wide, over forest and river, The volume of melody roared, As these warm-hearted knights of the Southland Sang the praise of the banner they loved.

WAS IT OVER? No, a voice from the shadow of the wood by the broad river's side, Struck a chord that then thrilled every bosom.

As they sang each one journeyed backward, In mind to that much cherished place, Where anon he had roamed with his loved one.

WALTER W. HOLDER, North End, St. John.

LONGER IN STYLE

Dull gold and mahogany are the newest colors for picture frames, and a feature of these is the marked simplicity of style.

The ornate gilt frames, from two to four inches deep, and covered with carving, which were used to frame family portraits, are a thing of the past, and the wooden frames which have taken their place are flat and plain, except in a few cases, when a little carving is seen as a mull placed in the centre of the top of a square frame.

Sift the dry ingredients together, add slowly the milk, eggs and butter. Bake in hot muffin pans twenty-five minutes.

Cut into a biscuit center, make a deep crease through the centre of each with a knife handle, brush one half with melted butter, fold the other half over on to the buttered half and press the edges together. Place in a buttered pan one inch apart, let rise until light and well puffed and bake in a moderate oven twenty minutes.

"WHY BE SO THIN?"

Thinness is embarrassing, unhealthy and not natural—Formula Now Used Which Adds From One to Three Pounds a Week

Every one ought to have some extra flesh on the bony structure of the body, both for the sake of health and self-esteem.

Most thin people are sensitive to the harsh, unfeeling criticisms which are constantly being hurled at them by the more fortunate well-figured persons.

Every one pines a thin bony frame. Six horses don't know it—while thin people are both pined and ridiculed. It ought not to be so, but it is.

A well rounded figure be it man or woman, excites admiration; not only for the figure but for the bright eyes, pink cheeks, red lips, and vigorous carriage, which accompany a well rounded body.

Strength, health, and vigor are gained through nourishment. Get the ingredients and make it at home, and see how very fast you gain in weight.

In a half pint bottle, obtain three ounces of essence of pepsin, three ounces syrup of rhubarb. Then add one ounce compound essence cardiol, shake and let stand two hours; then add one ounce tincture calomel compound (no arsenic). Shake well and take a teaspoonful before meals and one after meals. Also drink plenty of water between meals and when retiring. Weigh yourself before beginning.

Moderation is one thing that is rare in the extreme.

The Carpet Department

is a busy place just now and of course you will want to secure your floor coverings here where fair prices go hand in hand with perfect quality. However, stocks are being depleted rapidly by the heavy purchasing and we would suggest that you call and choose the new carpets and rug while variety is still to be had.

The Furnished Room Section in the Furniture Department, Market Square is attracting a great many visitors. Moderate priced furniture is arranged in these rooms and it is surprising to see how modest is the cost of furnishing a Parlor, Dining Room, and Bedroom complete.

MCCURDY BEATEN IN AIRSHIP RACE
Washington, May 6—A three mile airplane race between aviators J. A. McCurdy and Lincoln Beachey was the feature which aroused enthusiasm today at Washington aviation meet. Beachey won from his opponent in the fast time of five minutes, ten seconds.
