The Transvaal Government

Housed in a Railway Car at Machadorp Station.

Literally a "Going Concern"—What Kruger Tells for Publication—His Burghers Will Not Surrender While 500 Armed Men Remain in the Country—At Laing's Nek Both Sides Are Passive—Warning Against a Premature Rush of Workmen to the Transvaal.

London, Friday, June 8—3 a. m.—The executive officers of the Transvaal Government are in a railway car, which is shunted on a switch at Machadorp Station. President Kruger caused the interior of the coach to be reconstructed some time ago, with a view to contingencies that have now arrived. A correspondent of the Daily Express who went from Lorenzo Marquez to see President Kruger, was received yesterday. The president sat smoking a long pipe. He looked worried, but his bearing was quiet and determined. He did not make the least objection to being interviewed. The correspondent was equipped for the interview by telegrams from London.

"Yes," said President Kruger, "it is quite true that the British have occupied Pretoria. This, however, does not end the war. The burghers are fully determined to fight to the last. They will never surrender so long as 500 armed men remain in the country. I feel deeply encouraged by the line work Steyn and Dewet are doing in the Free State."

The correspondent suggested that the war was over, inasmuch as the capital had been taken.

"The capital," exclaimed Mr. Kruger, "does not consist of any particular collection of bricks and mortar. The capital of the republic, the seat of government, is here in this car. There is no inviolable special site. Our country is invaded, it is true, but it is not conquered. The government is still effective."

WHY PAUL GOT OUT.
Referring to the reasons why he left Pretoria, Mr. Kruger said: "I was not foolish enough to be taken prisoner. I provided the means of locomotion precisely for the same reason as our burghers supply themselves with horses when they take the field. It is necessary that I should be able to move where our place to place. That is all. By and bye this car will take me back to Pretoria. For the present, it enables me to keep away from Pretoria, where I could be of no service, and where I could only play into the hands of the enemy."

"They say, Mr. Kruger," remarked the correspondent, "that you have brought gold with you to the value of $2,000,000."

"It is not true," replied the president. "Whatever monetary resources I may have with me are simply those which we require for state purposes. At the same time I am not going to tell you where our treasure will take me back to Pretoria. Let Lord Roberts find it if he can."

"They also say in England, Mr. Kruger," that you contemplate taking refuge on a Dutch man-of-war at Lorenzo Marquez."

"That again is a lie," retorted the president, with vehemence. "I know of no Dutch vessel. I am not contemplating taking refuge anywhere. I shall not leave my country. There will be no need for me to do anything of the kind."

MRS. KRUGER.
The correspondent—Then, sir, there is much surprise at your having left Mrs. Kruger behind.

President Kruger—But, why? Mrs. Kruger is quite safe in Pretoria. She would only be put to personal inconvenience here. All communication between us is stopped, of course, but she will await my return with calmness and courage. She is a brave woman. I am here awaiting further information. We are surrounded by faithful burghers, and are quite safe.

State Secretary Reitz remarked: "You may depend upon it that the war is not yet over. Guerilla warfare will continue over an enormous area. We intend to fight to the bitter end, and shall probably retire upon Lydenburg, where we can hold out for many months."

"Yes," observed Mr. Kruger, "it is only now that the real struggle has begun. I fear that there will still be much bloodshed, but the fault is that of the British Government."

Then, raising his voice to an almost passionate height, Mr. Kruger exclaimed: "The time has passed for us to talk. We have done plenty of that, but it has done us no good. There is nothing left for us to do but to keep on fighting, to keep on fighting."

The correspondent who secured the interview telegraphed it direct from Machadorp Station yesterday, when the wires were working as usual to Lorenzo Marquez.

The Daily Express in commenting upon the interview, refers to the unabated defiance of the chief of the Transvaalers.

Telegrams from the British side are exceedingly scanty. Two brief ones received from Pretoria, say that Mrs. Kruger is still occupying the presidency, and that a number of engines and cars have been secured.

THE BRITISH PRISONERS.
Nine hundred British prisoners arrived on Tuesday at Nootkracht. They are penned in a barbed wire enclosure of four acres on the open veld. According to a dispatch from Lorenzo relieved them from anxiety. South African affairs still demanded intense, watchful interest.

WARNING.
London, June 8.—The following dispatch has been received from the British high commissioner in South Africa, Sir Alfred Milner:
"Cape Town, June 7.—It is reported by telegram that large numbers of miners, and others are about to start for the Transvaal from Southampton on Saturday. Cannot a public notification be issued, warning the people against premature return here? They will be delayed at Cape ports, and (Continued on page 5.)

Warren

Marching With Strong Force Through Griqualand.

Canadian Artillery Forms Part of the Expedition—Rundie Making a Demonstration—About 3,500 British Prisoners Recovered.

Cape Town, June 8.—Gen. Warren, with a strong force, including Canadian artillery, is reaching north through Griqualand West. He encamped at Campbell yesterday, no opposition being offered. Numbers of the rebels are handing in their arms to the British commander.

Mafeking, Tuesday, May 29.—Col. Plumer occupied Zeerust yesterday without opposition. This district is regaining its normal condition. Supplies are arriving daily.

LOCATING THE ENEMY.
Hammondia, Orange River Colony, June 8.—Gen. Rundie made a strong demonstration against the Boer positions, employing 500 of Gen. Braabants' Queenstown Mounted Rifles, two guns and the Cape Mounted Infantry under Col. Dalgetty. The Boer outposts were driven back and their laager was located, but the troops returned without a battle.

TALKED TO KRUGER.
Lorenzo Marquez, June 8.—United States Consul Hollis, who returned here yesterday from the Transvaal by special train, had a two hours' interview in close conference with President Kruger at Machadorp. It is stated that Mr. Hollis was the bearer of friendly dispatches from the United States Government, urging Mr. Kruger to treat for peace.

The Situation.

RECOVERY OF BRITISH PRISONERS.
London, June 8.—The dribbles of news filtering from the Transvaal fail to throw much light on the situation in and around Pretoria. Public interest centers largely in the fate of the British prisoners, but it seems probable that about 3,000 have been recovered, including 123 officers. The federal, however, have removed about a thousand as hostages.

The Lorenzo Marquez dispatch to the effect that United States Consul Hollis has been conferring with President Kruger is creating some comment, but in view of the Associated Press' Washington dispatch, there is little disposition to regard Mr. Hollis' alleged mission as in any wise official.

A special dispatch from Pretoria says that, curiously enough, the only shell which took effect in the town the day prior to the occupation of Pretoria hit the United States consulate.

A dispatch from Cape Town announces that the work of organizing the government of the Transvaal is proceeding. A portion of Sir Alfred Milner's staff has come to Pretoria to start the machinery, so the proclamation of the annexation of the Transvaal may be speedily expected.

HONORS FOR ROBERTS.
London, June 7.—There is a strong feeling throughout the country that the honors should be conferred immediately upon Lord Roberts, without waiting until he returns to England.

After the War.

THE "BOXER" MOVEMENT

Divides Interest With the War in South Africa.

The Situation Steadily Growing Worse—Action of Germany—A Christian Success.

London, June 8.—Affairs in China are working up to a crisis of the first magnitude. The morning papers think that the British squadron, as reorganized, is inferior in strength to the Russian, as well as to the Japanese.

The Daily Telegraph says: "We regret that Great Britain is too much occupied in South Africa to settle the Chinese business with a strong hand." The Daily Chronicle says the foreign office ought to publish the dispatches of Sir Claude MacDonald (British minister at Peking), following the course of the United States in publishing Mr. Conger's. It is generally considered that intervention in some form is necessary.

The Morning Post has the following dispatch from Peking, dated yesterday: "Reports say that the court party is collecting inside the city, consequently there is increased uneasiness."

CATHOLIC CHRISTIAN SUCCESS. London, June 8.—Late details from Tien-Tsin say that during the engagement at Tung-Tu between the "Boxers" and Catholic Christians, Tuesday, the Christians captured nine cannon.

GERMAN ACTION. Berlin, June 8.—The officer commanding the German squadron at Chee Foo has been directed by cable to send a detachment of sailors and marines to Tien-Tsin, and, after conferring with the German minister at Peking, to arrange with the commanders of the other squadrons regarding further measures to be taken for the protection of Europeans.

The small number of German marines thus far landed is due to the fact that it was French interests and not German that were first affected by the "Boxer" movement. Germany, however, will do as much towards suppressing the "Boxers" as any other power. She will land further troops, if necessary.

BLACK KNIFE SOCIETY. Berlin, June 8.—German official circles continue to regard the Chinese situation as grave. This is shown by the additional number of marines landed from the Huls and from the fact that the large protected cruiser Hertha, bearing the commander of the far Asiatic squadron, Rear Admiral Bendemann, has been ordered to proceed to Taku. Reports have been received in official quarters that railway communication in Shang Tung has been forcibly stopped by the systematic attacks of large numbers of the Black Knife, a secret society in Shan Tung, similar to the Boxers.

A high official of the foreign office said to the correspondent of the Associated Press: "Baron von Kettler (German minister at Peking) has instructions similar to those received by the United States minister, Mr. Conger, namely, to co-operate for the protection of life and property."

AT TIEN TSIN. Tien Tsin, June 8.—The Chinese servant of the Belgian engineer who left Pao Tung two days after the Belgian saw five foreign and two Chinese bodies on the Grand Canal, one being the body of a foreign woman. A Boxer placard threatens the extermination of the foreigners on June 10. It is rumored that the Boxers and Catholic Christians fought at Hung Tu Tuesday, three Christians being killed.

H. M. S. Barfleur has arrived, and the Terrible is expected. One hundred and thirty-one British, 31 German, 60 French and 45 Italian marines have arrived here. These reinforcements rendered Tien Tsin secure.

EVENTS MOVE RAPIDLY. London, June 8.—A Peking dispatch, dated the 6th, says: "The situation is growing steadily worse. Events move with such rapidity and with such excitement of the natives, are so critical that the foreign ministers hold frequent meetings. They feel the need of a free hand for energetic action without a perpetual reference to the home governments. Sir Claude MacDonald, the British minister, is wiring for 75 more marines. Native emissaries, who have returned from Peking say they left the Boxers openly drilling in the adjacent villages."

BOXER MOVEMENT SPREADS. The Peking correspondent of the London Times says: "No train either left or arrived at Peking Tuesday. Further damage to railways is reported. The Boxer movement is spreading unchecked throughout the province."

BRITISH TRADE BOOMING. London, June 8.—The statement of the board of trade for the month of May shows increases of $14,995,000 in imports and $8,428,000 in exports.

DUKE OF WELLINGTON DEAD. London, June 8.—Henry Wellesley, third Duke of Wellington, died at Stratfieldsaye House, Mortimore, Berkshire, this morning, in the 95th year of his age.

POPE'S RECEPTION POSTPONED. Rome, June 8.—The pope has postponed until Saturday the reception fixed for today at St. Peter's. His physician, Dr. Lagoni, says the pope is not indisposed, but only a little fatigued in consequence of the reception of the Spanish pilgrims yesterday, which lasted two hours and a half.

BOXERS ATTACK CHINESE TROOPS. Tien Tsin, June 8.—It is reported from Chinese official sources that 4,000 Boxers surrounded 1,500 Chinese troops between Iofa and Yong Tsun yesterday, and, according to the latest news, fighting is still going on this morning. Officially that 500 Boxers were killed, but give no account of the Chinese casualties.

Thirty of Gen. Nieh's troops encountered a body of Boxers three miles from here on the Taku road and killed 21 of them.

No news has been received from Pao Tung for three days, and the situation there is believed to be critical. It is reported that the Chinese troops have been defeated near there.

The French cruisers D'Entrecasteaux and Jean Bart and the Russian cruiser Russia have arrived at Taku.

THE SCUM. The Rev. Mr. Sowerby, who has worked for twenty years in China, and who has just reached London from Pao Tung, says: "The Boxers are the scum of the population. They have no uniform organization, nor any official leaders. Formerly they carried board swords, but now they have weapons managed modern weapons, undoubtedly supplied by the imperial family. Before drilling they throw themselves on the ground and work themselves into a frenzy, and then believe themselves invulnerable. The emperor's dowager has fostered an otherwise unimportant movement because of the wholesale desertions among the army under Gen. Tung, the imperial troops believing that war with some foreign power is imminent. The emperor's dowager, who becomes more anti-foreign as the time passes, has been greatly annoyed by the work of the Germans at Kiao Chau. She desires to use force to stop the reform movement, and is ready to defy the European powers. If the Boxers are permitted to invade Peking, the result will probably be disastrous to the missions, which are isolated, and spread over a large area."

WHOLESALE ADVICE. Dr. Hanlanston, whose opinion in diseases is worthy of attention, says when a man or woman comes to me complaining of indigestion, loss of appetite, sour stomach, belching, sour, watery rising, headache, dizziness, loss of ambition and general run-down nervous condition I advise them to take after each meal one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, allowing the tablet to dissolve in the mouth and thus mingle with the food eaten. The result is that the food is speedily digested before it has time to sour and ferment. These tablets will digest the food anyway, whether the stomach was too full or not, because they contain harmless digestive principles, vegetable essences, pepsin and Golden Seal which supply just what the weak stomach lacks.

I have advised the tablets with great success, both in curing indigestion and to build up the tissues, increasing flesh in thin, nervous patients, whose real trouble was dyspepsia and as soon as the stomach was put to rights, they did not know what sickness was.

A fifty-cent package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can be bought at any drug store, and as they are not a secret patent medicine, they can be used as often as desired, with full assurance that they contain nothing harmful in the slightest degree; on the contrary, anyone whose stomach is at all deranged will find great benefit from the use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They will cure any form of weakness or disease except cancer of the stomach.

From Near-By Places. The spring crops in the neighborhood of Biddulph are all that the farmers could wish; the fall crops are rather light.

Mr. James Carroll, of Hay, formerly of Biddulph, has purchased a farm near Wansford, and intends moving there in the near future.

Mr. Johnston Aitkin is erecting a splendid farm residence at Moorsville. Mr. Thomas Thompson is also building near Moorsville.

There is to be a great demonstration in Lucan today (Friday) in commemoration of the fall of Pretoria.

Mrs. James Donnelly, of Biddulph, and Mrs. James Anderson, Lucan, are in a critical condition.

Miss Craig had a holiday on Wednesday. Professions, addresses, concert, and baseball match were the features of the celebration. Score: Stars, 7 runs, 9 hits, and 3 errors; Sarnias (Sarnia), 6 runs, 10 hits and 9 errors.

The surrender of Pretoria was celebrated in a loyal and enthusiastic manner in Melbourne Tuesday night. The boys gathered old barrels, and all the other available combustibles, and piled them in the center of the public square, where they were soon ignited. The Melbourne brass band played several patriotic pieces, and the school girls sang "Soldiers of the Queen," "Onward, Anglo-Saxons," "The Maple Leaf," Kipling's new version of "Auld Lang Syne," while the youthful element paraded the town with tin pans. All the firecrackers and powder in town were used up, but not before the Boer's guns were silenced and Kruger's remains left in the ashes. After the band played "God Save the Queen," three cheers were given for the Queen, Lord Roberts, Generals Buller and French and our own Canadian boys.

WIPED OUT BY FIRE. Duluth, Minn., June 8.—Fire started in the Moon & Kerr Lumber Company's mill at Virginia, Minn., at noon yesterday, spread rapidly, and at 2:15 the town had been nearly wiped out. Virginia was the largest settlement on the Mesaba Iron Range. The business portion, which was entirely destroyed, before the wind failed, consisted of eight blocks of substantial brick buildings.

NURSES GRADUATE

Presentation Exercises of the Class of 1899-1900.

Diplomas and Medals Presented—An Enjoyable Evening—Addresses and Music.

The size of the audience which gathered in the Auditorium last night, despite the unpleasant weather, was a testimony to the interest and sympathy felt by Londoners in the work being done by the London Training School for Nurses at Victoria Hospital, in training devoted young women for the arduous and noble profession of nursing the sick, alleviating suffering, and assisting the exponents of medical science to war against disease and death.

The chair was taken by Col. Lewis, the chairman of the hospital trust, and on the platform were seated the six graduating nurses of the class of 1899-00, they being Misses Jacobs, McNab, Beattie, McKenzie, Bell and Shipley, Miss Dejean, the seventh member of the class, obtained her diploma in January last, and was not present. There were also seated on the platform Mayor Rumball, members of the hospital trust, medical school faculty and of the profession and several clergymen. Letters of regret for absence were received from the Bishop of Huron, Dr. Wishart and Rev. Dr. Johnston.

The proceedings opened with prayer by Rev. W. J. Clark. The chairman, in calling upon Dr. Balfour, referred incidentally to the devotion to duty which had brought the graduates through their two years' training. Dr. Balfour referred to the good work being done by the training school and to the pride which every Londoner should feel in the magnificent hospital the city possesses. He informed the graduates that they could expect the new hospital run at as low rate per patient as the old one, at least till the capacity of the hospital is taxed more than at present, which, however, would only be a matter of a couple of years.

Miss Tye presented the annual report of the training school, in which she gave the following interesting statistics: There are now at the hospital 2 graduates, 20 pupil nurses and 5 probationers. During the year 171 applications had been received, 36 being taken on probation and 15 retained. The past year had been a most successful one. Miss Tye referred to the need of better quarters for the nurses.

T. H. Pardoll, Q.C., speaking as a member of the trust, complimented Miss Tye upon the work she had been doing. He referred to the intimate connection between the hospital and the medical school, and said that it was partly due to the excellence of London's hospital that London physicians are winning for themselves a provincial, and in some cases, a national reputation. He thanked the citizens who had contributed to the building or furnishing of the new hospital.

The valedictory of the graduating class was read by Miss Jacobs. In it she referred to the responsibilities and hardships which attend the profession of nursing, but also to the more pleasant aspect of their life. On behalf of the graduates she heartily thanked the lady principal, the members of the hospital staff and the chairman and members of the trust.

Dr. Eccles, replying to the valedictory, complimented Miss Jacobs on its excellence. The three great essentials in the equipment of an aspirant to the profession of nursing were good health, personal character and education. The nurse of today is no longer the nurse of old, but the devoted and sympathetic friend.

Dr. Meek, in presenting their diplomas to the class, said these diplomas were to be regarded as passports from the smaller world of the hospital to the larger world of activity without.

The handsome gold medals awarded to each graduate were presented by Rev. Dr. Smith. The nursing profession was a noble and Christlike one. He had often thought, when leaving the hospital, "I am thankful that God's angels are not all in heaven."

Rev. Canon Dann's opening reference to the South African war, and the Irish pluck of Lord Roberts, was loudly applauded. He went on to draw a parallel between the war of nations and the war against disease and death, waged so skillfully by the medical profession and their assistants, the trained nurses. The hospital, he said, deserved the hearty support of the citizens.

Dr. Hodge spoke of the duties of the examining board for nurses, and the necessity of training schools. Continuing, he said that the marvelous operations of surgery today would be impossible were it not for the trained nurses.

Mr. Thomas McCormick, on behalf of the trust, said the motto of that body was the largest measure of economy consistent with efficiency.

Mayor Rumball spoke of the need of a gentle woman's presence in the sick room, and when to woman's gentleness was added the advantage of scientific instruction, it was a blessed thing for the sufferer.

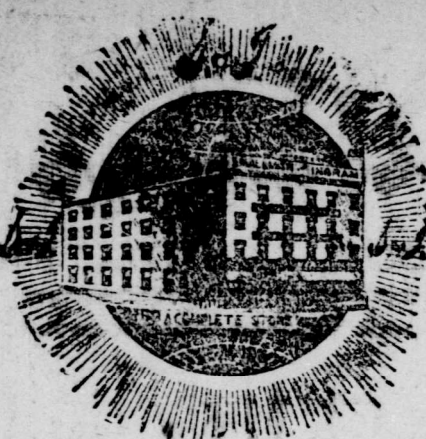

Dr. Moorhouse, dean of the medical faculty, expressed his hearty wishes for the future success of the graduates. He felt proud that the success of the hospital was largely due to the faculty over which he had the honor to preside.

Dr. Niven followed in a few short and happy remarks. One of the previous speakers, he said, had declared that 25 years ago there were no trained nurses in London, but he recalled the fact that there was one trained nurse, the mother of one of this year's graduates (Miss Jacobs).

The musical part of the programme was furnished by Miss Pickard, Mrs. McDonald, and Messrs. Hewlett, Walcott, Large and McDonald, and Y. M. C. Orchestra. The singing of the National Anthem closed the proceedings.

BASEBALL

TOOK THE SECOND.
The ball tossers from Grand Rapids nearly succeeded in snatching a victory from the home team yesterday in the eighth inning. At the end of the seventh they were eleven tallies behind, but in the eighth, Wiggs, London's new star pitcher, who was decidedly wild, started in to issue passes at a rate that promised disaster. He had lots of speed, but failed to get them over. After seven runs had been secured, and only one man retired, Cooper was substituted, and had just pitched one ball, when Umpire Popkay decided to call the game on account of rain, which had been falling all through the eighth inning. Kotal, who started in to do the slab work for the home team, had his finger split in the fifth inning, and had to retire, Wiggs taking his place. Linsley, who was in the box for the visitors, had an off day, giving seven passes and hit two batters in six innings. He was succeeded by Gettinger, who was little, if any, better, the home team landing on him in one inning for three singles, two doubles and a triple. The visitors insisted that the half-hour be given for the rain to cease, so that the game was not finally called until 6:50.

claimed he was in no condition to play ball, when he reported, and refused to have anything to do with him. Pfeffer consulted his attorneys, and he was advised to report every day at the Polo grounds, and put in his claim for salary. He followed instructions, and the case has just reached a hearing. It is said a number of the New York players will appear in court and testify, corroborating the assertion of President Freeman that Pfeffer was incompetent to play baseball.

AT HAMILTON.

Hamilton, Ont., June 7.—Threatening weather affected the attendance somewhat at the third day's races in connection with the H. J. C. spring meeting. The track was fast, but the number of starters was not as large as yesterday. Only five events were carded, of which Gibraltar made a runaway race of the first and fifth, opening a gap of a dozen lengths in the first quarter in each event, and retaining the lead to the finish. Momentum and Poorlands, pretty race for the place in the first race, Momentum getting the decision by a nose. Ode and Sister Alice set the pace in the second race. At the stretch Daily Report came on fast, and won handily. Sir Blaze got a poor position and was knocked about, but finished second. Bin was favorite in the third event, and won with ease. Maritime just beat Althea out for the place. Royal Sterling ran away from the field in the fourth, as did Gibraltar in the fifth, both winning the race by a big margin to spare. Summary:

First race, 3-year-olds and up, 6 furlongs—Gibraltar, 116 (Howell), 8 to 5; 1; Momentum, 117 (Lewis), 4 to 5; 2; Poorlands, 102 (T. Daly), 100 to 1; 3. Time, 1:15. Darryl, Venetian, Royal Principina also ran.
Second race, 3-year-olds and up, 4 miles—Daily Report, 100 (Flinn), 7 to 1; 1; Sir Blaze, 107 (Weber), even; 2; Salvo, 108 (Castro), 12 to 1; 3. Time, 1:16. Sister Alice, Mouseloff, Ida Fordham, Jessie Jarbo, Salust and Ode also ran.
Third race, 3-year-olds and up, 1 mile—Gibraltar, 116 (Howell), 8 to 5; 1; Maritime, 92 (Weber), 13 to 1; 2; Tuvona, 97 (Evans), 7 to 1; 3. Time, 1:43. Euclaire, Highland Prince and Prospero also ran.
Fourth race, 3-year-olds and up, 1 mile—Royal Sterling, 117 (Weber), 33 to 5; 1; Zoraster, 117 (Martini), 7 to 10; 2; Flag of Truce, 109 (McQuade), 4 to 1; 3. Time, 1:44. Howard S and Lizzie Kelly also ran.
Fifth race, all ages, 1 mile—Gibraltar, 116 (Howell), 8 to 1; 1; Maritime, 92 (Weber), 13 to 1; 2; Tuvona, 97 (Evans), 7 to 1; 3. Time, 1:43. Euclaire, Highland Prince and Prospero also ran.

THE MANCHESTER MEETING.
London, June 7.—At the Manchester Whitehouse meeting today the Beaufort handicap of 500 sovereigns was won by Mr. J. S. Curtis' Star of Hanover. The John O'Gaunt plate of 500 sovereigns, for 2-year-olds, was won by Veles.

GOLF.
London, June 7.—The weather at St. Andrews' golf course, the grounds for the open golf championship, were resumed today, was dull, but favorable for good scoring. The field was reduced to 12 amateurs and 33 professionals. Former champion J. H. Taylor was the favorite.

The end of the third round, including the two of yesterday, found J. H. Taylor leading with 234. Harry Vardon had 240, Brad 243, White 243, Park 244, and Robert Maxwell (amateur) 245. Maxwell led the second round, while Hilton is nine strokes behind.

5:58 p.m.—J. H. Taylor won the open golf championship.

In Labor's Field.

Organized labor is taking kindly to a proposition from Chicago contractors for a conference, at which negotiations for a settlement of the long warfare between employers and employees may be opened.

General Manager du Pont told Walking Delegate McLeod on Wednesday that Vice-President Hutchins, of the Detroit Street Railway, would meet the employers' committee in the afternoon to discuss the proposed new system of arbitration.

It is not illegal for workmen on strike to peacefully employ pickets outside a workshop, Justice James Fitzgerald, of the New York supreme court, decided in handing down an order dissolving a temporary injunction restraining Nathan Rosenstein and other officers of cigarmakers' unions from interfering with cigar manufacturers.

The builders' laborers went on strike on Saturday, it has tied up work of building in Ottawa, where bricklayers and stonemasons depended upon the laborers for supplies of stone and brick. The laborers want an increase of 20 cents a day, the contractors offer 15, and the result is a strike. The contractors held a meeting and decided not to offer the laborers any more pay, even if they have to keep closed down all summer.

Another Empty Grave

Chicago, March 3, 1900.

Warner's Safe Cure Co.

Gentlemen,—I will be glad to bear testimony to the value of Warner's Safe Cure for dropsy. I want those afflicted as I have been to take this life giver and get well as I did.

I suffered agony for three years and my life was despaired of, when one day my doctor said: "I guess I will give you Warner's." Thank God for such a remedy. It brought me health and new life. I have used it pretty regularly for a year, but I am well today, and had it not been for Warner's Safe Cure I would have been in my grave.

The Progress of South Africa

So much interest has been aroused by the great events now being finally consummated in South Africa, that we are certain our readers will be glad to have placed before them a brief statement of the progress of the remarkable country that is now finally being incorporated into the British Empire:

1492—The Cape discovered by Bartholomew Diaz, Portuguese navigator.
1497—The Cape doubled by Vasco de Gama, with a fleet of four vessels. This navigator discovered the Natal coast, which he so named because he first saw it on Christmas day.

1503—Antonio Saldanha, a Portuguese, ascended Table Mountain, being the first European to do so.

1501—English ships first visited Table Bay.

1595—Dutch ships first visited Table Bay.

1600—English East India Company formed.

1602—Dutch East India Company formed.

1620—Shilling and Fitzherbert, two English East India Company captains, raised the British flag on Signal Hill, but the annexation was repudiated by James I.

1652—An expedition, under the auspices of the Dutch East India Company, took possession of Table Bay, under a charter granted by the Dutch States-General. Glowing accounts of the country had been given by the crew of the Dutch ship Haarlem, who had been wrecked on Table Bay four years previously and remained several months on shore. There was then no intention of forming a colony—simply a half-way house to India, at which ships might be provisioned.

1657—The first actual settlement was made at Rondebosch by nine soldiers and sailors, discharged from the Dutch East India Company's service, who were allowed farms.

1672—Dutch East India Company purchased the Cape district from the Dutch East India Company's service, who were allowed farms.

1672—There were now 300 men and 90 women in the colony, and the Dutch Government sent out girls from orphan asylums to equalize the number of the sexes, and provide wives for those who needed them.

1685—One hundred and eighty Huguenot settlers arrive and ask to be allowed to form a French colony, but are refused permission.

1709—French immigrants forbidden to use their own language either in official correspondence or in the church services.

1713—Jacob Kruger, founder of that family in South Africa, arrived at Cape Town. He was in the Dutch East India Company's service.

1737—The first missionary (a Moravian) arrived.

1745—The Dutch settlers still "trekking" to get away from control of the company and obtain larger farms.

1754—Code of laws issued, providing that a slave who lifts his hand against his master shall be put to death, and that any slave who loiters at the church door shall be "severely flogged by the ministers of justice."

1762—The Orange River is crossed by an expedition, which explored a portion of Namaqualand.

1781—Great Britain at war with the Netherlands. British fleet sent to take possession of the Cape. The French in alliance with the Dutch, send a strong fleet, who arrive before the British, and the attack by the British commander is given up.

1782—Peace restored between Great Britain and the Netherlands.

1789—Colonial delegates were sent to Amsterdam to protest against the alleged tyrannical rule of the Dutch burghers. One complaint was that the burghers "were not allowed to punish their slaves at will."

1790—Dutch East India Company declared bankrupt.

1793—War declared by France against Great Britain and Holland.

1795—Burghers in the frontier district of Graaf Reinet and Swellendam throw off the yoke of the East India Company, expel the officials, and set up independent administrations. Their complaint was heavy taxation and no protection from the natives. In the same year, the British occupied Cape Town, with the consent of the Prince of Orange, then a refugee in England, and to resist a feared invasion by France, which had meanwhile taken possession of the Dutch provinces.

1803—By the Peace of Amiens, Cape Colony came under the direct rule of the Dutch or Batavian Government. Great Britain and Holland went to war in May.

1806—Cape Town surrendered to a British force.

1811—Beginning of the Kaffir wars. The natives attack the settlers near the Fish and Sunday Rivers, but are driven back.

1812—The Zulu power is established by Chaka, known as "the Napoleon of South Africa." Chaka established a trained army of over 40,000 men, who blotted out every tribe between Delagoa Bay and St. John's River, the number of victims being over 1,000,000.

1814—Under a convention Britain pays six millions of pounds for the Dutch possessions at the Cape, the territories now embraced in British Guiana.

1816—Rebellion of Slachter's Nek. First Boer outbreak against British authority. The rebels were overcome. About 60 rose to avenge the death of a Dutch settler, who had been killed by an officer while resisting a court process; 39 surrendered and 5 leaders were hanged.

1817—The Matabele formed by Mosilikatze, who, with his command had been condemned to death by Chaka, the Zulu king, for retaining part of the booty collected on a raiding expedition. The band fled and formed the Matabele tribe, which had headquarters near what is now the city of Pretoria. Two hundred Scottish mechanics arrive in Cape Colony. Many of their posterity are now prosperous farmers in various parts of South Africa. One of them, a civic dignitary, welcomed the British at Bloemfontein recently.

1820—Four thousand British immigrants arrive. Port Elizabeth is founded. It was named after Lady Elizabeth, deceased wife of the acting governor, Sir Rufane Donkin.

1824—Beginning of the formation of the Basuto tribe out of remnants of tribes broken up by Chaka and other warriors. Paul Kruger, the future and the last president of the Transvaal Republic, was born in this year at Bulhoek. Near this place, in 1830, the town of Colesburg was founded. A company of Cape merchants secured a footing for British trade in Natal, all being responsible, in the first instance, to the Zulu king, Chaka.

1827—Decree issued that all legal proceedings in Cape Colony must henceforth be conducted in English.

1828—Chaka murdered by his brother Dingaan, who takes his place. The Hottentots and other free persons of color residing within the colony declared entitled to the rights of British subjects.

1830—The home government issues an order-in-council providing for the heavy punishment of those who unjustly treat slaves. This was deeply resented by the Boers.

1834—The Kaffirs invaded Cape Colony, ravaging Grahamstown and a wide stretch of territory, and causing much loss of life and property to the Europeans. On Dec. 1 the slave emancipation act, prohibiting slavery within the British Empire, came into force. There were 36,000 slaves in Cape Colony. Four years were permitted to elapse before the slaves were emancipated. Then many of those in South Africa declined to work, and as it was in the middle of harvest, many Boers were ruined. Treaty between the Griquas and Cape Colony.

1835—First legislative council for Cape Colony formed. The pioneers of the great trek leave Cape Colony, and passing northeast, proceed to Delagoa Bay. Many were massacred or died of fever. The remainder were carried by sea to Natal. Third Kaffir war. The 35 English settlers in Natal meet and form a town to be called D'Urban, after Governor Sir Benjamin D'Urban. They petitioned the governor at the Cape to have the country, which they had named "Victoria," recognized as a British colony. The petition was not accepted.

1836—Under the Cape of Good Hope Punishment Act it was declared that the jurisdiction of her majesty extended "to the point where Portuguese influence begins in Delagoa Bay"—significant, in view of later Boer contentions.

1837—The great Trek begins and continues four years; 10,000 persons participated. The Boers were dissatisfied with British rule and especially with the abolition of slavery. The first Volksraad, or parliament, met in December. It consisted of seven persons. Among the pilgrims for the new land was Paul Kruger, then a boy of 12.

1838—Piet Retief, who had been elected commandant-general of the Boers in their new territory, was invited by Dullagan, the great Zulu chief, to take a party into Natal, through the Drakensberg Mountains, and the Zulus slaughtered 232 white people—men, women and children—and 252 natives were also put to death. This massacre took place at Weenaw (the place of weeping). Another Boer force which marched on the Boer capital, was also defeated. The Zulus also defeated an English expedition sent against them from Natal. The British government issue a request to the Boers to return to their farms in Cape Colony, and promise redress of all grievances. The Dutch in Natal elect Andries Pretorius commandant-general, and the emigrant farmers having set up a "Republic of Natalia," and laid out the town of Pietermaritzburg, the British Government send a military expedition to the place to look after the interests of English-speaking settlers. On Dec. 16 the Boers defeated Dullagan, with great slaughter, and thus broke his power.

1839—British troops in Natal were withdrawn. Sir Geo. Napier, the commander, vainly urged the annexation of the territory.

1840—Dullagan again defeated by the Boers, and rebellious Zulus driven into Swaziland where Dullagan is assassinated. Natalia seeks independence, but Sir George Napier tells them they are British subjects, and after some fighting the Boers are worsted.

1843—Natal formally annexed to Great Britain.

1844—Natal annexed to the Cape.

1845 and 1847—Further extensive migration of Boers from British territory to the Delagoa Bay region. They suffered much from fever. Orange River territory proclaimed British.

1848—Boers trek extensively from Natal to the west of the Drakensberg Mountains.

1849—The "Transvaal constitution" proclaimed. Lord Grey, secretary of state for the Colonies, ordered Sir Harry Smith not to interfere with settlers or natives beyond the boundary of Natal. Sir Harry was rebuked and recalled.

1852—Sand River Convention, recognizing the independence of Transvaal emigrants, signed by Great Britain.

1853—Orange River sovereignty abandoned by Great Britain. Pretorius dies.

1854—The Bloemfontein Convention is signed, and the Orange Free State is formed. Town of Pretoria founded. Two farms were bought for $3,000 for this purpose by the Transvaal Volksraad.

1856—Natal becomes a separate colony.

1857—Town of East London founded. Mr. Kruger joined in a raid on the Free State because it would not join its fortunes with the Transvaal.

1858—Sir George Grey proposed the confederation of the South African states, but the proposal was rejected by the British authorities. The Orange Free State, finding it difficult to exist, sought annexation with Cape Colony, but the British government also declined to countenance it.

1859—Beginning of first railway. Sir George Grey wrote to Colonial Office pointing out that in the five years he had been governor in South Africa there had been seven colonial secretaries in Britain, each of whom held different views upon some important points connected with South Africa.

1861—Pretorius becomes president, and Paul Kruger commandant-general in the Transvaal and eleven years of civil disorder ends. Orange Free State Boers and Basutos go to war.

1867—Diamond mines discovered by the children of a Dutch farmer who "played with the pretty stones."

1868—Pretorius proclaimed that Delagoa Bay belonged to the Transvaal, but it was subsequently decided that it belonged to Portugal. Basutoland declared British territory.

1869—Gold discovered in Lydenburg. Ostrich farming established, as a separate industry.

1871—Kimberley diamond fields handed over to Britain by Chief Waterboer. Transvaal government, formerly hostile to, now favors, gold mining. Cecil Rhodes arrives from England. Basutoland annexed to the Cape.

1873—Cetewayo becomes king of the Zulus.

1874—Guano Islands annexed to Cape Colony.

1875—Efforts of President Burgers to build Delagoa Bay Railway fail. Representative constitution for Natal. Lord Carnarvon formulated a scheme for confederation of South Africa, but the Cape parliament held the movement should be started in South Africa, if at all.

1876—£450,000 granted to the Orange Free State as compensation for the disputed diamond field territory.

1877—Griqualand West (diamond fields) annexed to the Cape. Anarchy in Transvaal leads President Burgers and other Boer leaders to sue Britain for annexation to the motherland, and Sir Thomas Shepstone carries it out. The majority of the people agreed. Act to enable South African states and colonies as might agree to unite to do so passed by Imperial Parliament.

1878—German African Society formed in Berlin. Great Britain takes over Waldfish Bay. Mr. Kruger dismissed from office by Sir T. Shepstone.

1879—War between Zulus and British. Disaster to British at Isandhlwana. Heroic defense of Rorke's Drift. Disaster to British at Intombi River. Zulus routed at Kambula Kop and Ginginhova by British. Prince Napoleon killed in Zululand. Collapse of Zulu power.

1880—Boer conspiracy against confederation, Kruger one of the leaders. Sir Bartle Frere recalled. Boers declare for independence of Transvaal, and Kruger, Joubert and Pretorius are appointed a triumvirate to administer the government, provisionally. British Administration given 48 hours to give up the keys. Massacre of British troops.

1881—Disaster to British at Majuba

COAL

Does not warm except through combustion. Food does not nourish except through digestion. You may as well hug a coal pile to get warm as expect to get nourishment out of food which you cannot digest. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the body to assimilate food and so put on sound flesh and develop strong muscles.

"The praise I would like to give you 'Golden Medical Discovery' I cannot utter in words or describe with pen," writes James B. Ambrose, Esq., of 125 1/2 Milford Street, Huntington, Pa. "I was taken down with what our physicians said was indigestion. I doctored with the best around here and found no relief. I wrote you and you sent me a question blank to fill out and I did so and you then advised me to use Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took three bottles and I felt so good that I stopped—being as I think, cured. I have no symptoms of gastric trouble or indigestion now."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay cost of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for paper or 50 stamps for cloth binding, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Western Ontario.

Alex. Sutherland, of Ingersoll, has been appointed license commissioner for South Oxford.

Fire at Dunnville early Wednesday morning destroyed Mr. Spurling's planing mill. Wm. Shinton loses about $2,000 in stock and machinery; insured for $500. W. G. Scott loses about $400 on buildings; no insurance.

John P. Wood, of Ingersoll, who passed a $5 Confederate bill on a Chinese laundryman, pleaded guilty before Judge Finkle, of Woodstock, and was allowed to go on suspended sentence on entering into bonds for his future good behavior.

Wednesday evening, at the residence of Mr. Robert Graham, Union, his youngest daughter, Miss Edith, was united in marriage to Mr. Gordon McCandless, Sparta road. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. H. Goring, B.A., of Port Stanley.

Mr. Hugh Amos, while working on a binder knitter in the Noxon Company's works at Ingersoll on Wednesday, nearly lost his arm. In some way his arm got caught in the cog wheels, which pinched pieces of flesh out of his arm up above the elbow.

A son of George Sebbens, of Ingersoll, received serious injuries on Wednesday morning. He was driving a load of milk to the condensing factory, and the horse ran away, throwing the young man out. He received some bad bruises and cuts about the head.

Milburn Misner, the three-year-old son of Mr. Misner, Brantford, Ont., was seriously burned Wednesday evening while playing with some lighted paper. The little fellow's clothes caught and quickly made a blaze. His left side was badly burned before the fire was extinguished.

Judgment was given Wednesday at Osgoode Hall in the suit of Mrs. Potts, of Woodstock, against the Foresters' Lodge. Mrs. Potts gets the $1,000, the amount of the policy on her husband's life, and interest on that amount since the last court. The costs of the suit will be paid by the Foresters.

Sarnia Observer: The Las Vegas (New Mexico) Daily Optic of May 24 says: John Turner, clerk to D. R. Gibbons, at the Las Vegas shops, will leave for La Junta shortly to accept a position in Division Master Mechanic Taylor's office. The gentleman referred to is the youngest son of Chief Engineer Robert Turner, of the Sarnia waterworks. His Sarnia friends will be pleased to hear of his success.

D. R. Ross, of Embro, received a letter from his son Jack, Monday, and another one on Tuesday. The letters were written at Bloemfontein, Monday's letter being dated May 4. Captain Ross writes of his hospital experience. He was at the time of writing considerably better, and the doctors said he would be able to leave in about a month. Tuesday's letter tells of his fighting experiences in the skirmishes at Thabanchu.

In the case of Mrs. Emma Carpenter, of Petrolia, who after deserting her husband and child, took an overdose of oil of tansy, at Port Huron, which resulted in her death, the jury returned a verdict to this effect. The doctors believe that ignorance of the power of the drug caused her death. A sad feature in connection with her death was the arrival of her father and child Tuesday night from Petrolia to induce the mother to go home. She did not know of this. The remains were taken to Wyoming, Ont., for burial.

BUGLE BLASTS.
Gen. Baden-Powell has extended martial law to the Marico and North Libenberg districts.

Shots were exchanged between Boer and British patrols eighteen miles east of Mafeking and May 23.

The Lorenzo Marquez correspondent of the London Times says: United States Consul Holts returned today from the Transvaal by a special train. The object of his unexpected visit arouses curiosity.

One hundred Dutch refugees have found accommodations on board the Netherlands cruiser Friesland.

Lorenzo Marquez correspondents attach significance to the number of British warships in Delagoa Bay, suggesting that they are there possibly in anticipation of adding the Portuguese in the event of disturbances on the Transvaal border.

In the French Senate, during the discussion of the bill providing for the formation of a colonial army, Gen. Billot, the former minister of war, eulogized the attitude of Great Britain, which, he said, at the time her troops were suffering reverses in the Transvaal, supported her generals, and rendered a possible the present victory.

A GENERAL'S DAUGHTER IN A POORHOUSE.

New York, June 8.—Miss Henrietta Hadley, daughter of the late Gen. Wm. Hadley, of the Fifth Battalion Light Infantry, of the English army, and a colonel under Wellington in the Peninsular campaign, at her own request has been sent to the almshouse on Eldridge street, New York. Her mother had given out, and she told Superintendent Blair she was too proud to let her friends in England know of her plight. Her case will be called to the attention of the English consul.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

Congratulations To Be Forwarded to the Queen on the Success of British Arms.

Elloquent and Patriotic Utterances of the Premier—Mr. Bourassa Hissed and Jeered for His Speech Condemning the War—Exciting Scene in the House.

Ottawa, June 7.—A member standing with folded arms while the air echoed with groans and hisses and cries of "Traitor!" and "Shame!" This was the extraordinary scene witnessed in the Canadian House of Commons this afternoon. It is doubtful if there has ever before occurred such a unique and intensely exciting incident in the popular chamber of the Dominion. For a brief minute or two the peace rang with angry, passionate voices. Members leaned over their desks and hissed out epithets. The spectators stood up in the galleries and craned their necks to get a good view of the scene. The speaker for a time was powerless to still the tumult. When the wave of passion spent itself, the excitement died away, and the chamber resumed its normal appearance of calmness. The member who was responsible for this strong outburst of feeling was Mr. Henri Bourassa, the young French-Canadian member for Labelle. It was provoked by the statement that the South African war was an unjust one, and that it had not brought a particle of glory to the British arms. The occasion was a most inopportune one for such a declaration on Mr. Bourassa's part. Earlier in the session he had expressed slow and steady approval of the war, and the necessity for a repetition of his views was not apparent. Certainly it was most ill-timed to raise the question of the justice or injustice of the war with a speaker who was at the time when the house was considering the adoption of an address congratulating her majesty upon the prospects of the early termination of the struggle.

The proposition for the adoption of an address to the Queen was brought forward by Sir Wilfrid Laurier immediately after routine. The premier supported the motion in a speech which challenged admiration for the grace and beauty of his language and the fervid loyalty which pervaded it. His tribute to the Queen was lofty and chivalrous in sentiment. The premier spoke of the abhorrence with which all might conclude her majesty regarded the war, and of the deep sympathy as being peculiarly disasteful to her, coming in the closing years of a long and glorious reign. Sir Wilfrid's reference to the present situation was happily phrased. He said that the war was in sight, and the flag of the Queen, which is the emblem of liberty, was floating over the far-famed capital of the Transvaal. For General Roberts and his army had taken the city, and the British flag was flying from the citadel.

He said that the war was in sight, and the flag of the Queen, which is the emblem of liberty, was floating over the far-famed capital of the Transvaal. For General Roberts and his army had taken the city, and the British flag was flying from the citadel.

Following is the address to be forwarded to her Majesty the Queen: "We, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Senate and House of Commons of the Dominion of Canada, in parliament assembled, do hereby offer to your Majesty our heartfelt congratulations on the approaching termination of the war in South Africa, as foreshadowed by the recent success, culminating in the fall of Pretoria, which have attained the British arms. The feeling of pride and satisfaction with which we hail every fresh addition to the long and glorious roll of deeds wrought by British valor and courage, is enhanced on the present occasion by the proud consciousness that through the active co-operation of her sons on the battlefields of Africa, Canada is entitled to share in a new and special manner in the joy of the present triumph. We rejoice that the conflict, now happily drawing to a close, will result in the removal of those disabilities under which many of our fellow-subjects have labored for so long, and which have retarded the extension of your Majesty's gracious rule over the whole of South Africa will be attended by those blessings which flow from a wise and beneficent administration of justice and equal laws. We pray that for your people's sake the blessings of your Majesty's reign may be long continued." The reading of the address was greeted with loud cheers.

Sir Charles Tupper seconded the motion, and heartily concurred in the sentiments which the premier had so eloquently expressed. It was not a source of unqualified regret, the speaker said, that the war had occurred, for it had had the result of uniting and consolidating the whole British Empire. Sir Charles passed into a reminiscent mood and entertained the house with some familiar expressions concerning the confederation of Canada. Reverting again to present-day affairs, Sir Charles hoped ere long to see South Africa consolidated under a same wise and beneficent British institutions which had made Canada and Australia such great and flourishing countries. The might and power of the British Empire was now known and appreciated by the whole world, and it was not known a few months ago, and this demonstration of power would contribute to maintain the peace of the world.

No sooner had Sir Charles Tupper concluded than the young member for Labelle sprang to his feet and dissented from the sentiments expressed by the premier and the leader of the opposition. He could not, he said, agree with the sentiments, and quick as a flash came the retort from a member: "Then you had better get out." Unheeding the interruption, Mr. Bourassa went on to observe that few of the members would concur in what he was going to say, notwithstanding the protest he would make. It was an expression of the views of a large proportion, if not a majority, of the Canadian people. Stentorian cries of "No!" here drowned the speaker's voice, and they were repeated when he finished the sentence: "Not only of the French-Canadians, but also a fair proportion of all the nation."

allies of this Dominion." It was proposed to congratulate the Queen upon the success of the British arms, but the cause which prompted them to the war were unjust, and success did not render those causes just. Sir Charles Tupper had thought there was cause for congratulation over the fact that the nations of the world now acknowledged the might and power of Britain, but future events would prove this war to have been one of the most unfortunate events in British politics during the century. Mr. Bourassa saw no cause for rejoicing, inasmuch as it took an army of 200,000 men eight months to conquer 600,000 poor peasants, and the war brought not an ounce of glory to the British flag. Here the tumult broke forth, and hisses and groans smote the ears and hearts of the members. The speaker's speech aimed at a running fire of comment, and members on both sides of the house rose in a body and sang "God Save the Queen."

THE ONLY HELP

A Victim of Bright's Disease or Many Years—Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Neepawa, June 4.—Mrs. T. H. McKee, formerly of Liswell, came here as a last resort. Had suffered ten years with Bright's Disease. Reported to be past help and dying, her reappearance on the street in apparent good health was a pleasant surprise. The explanation given was that her little boy had been given Dodd's Kidney Pills. She insisted that she should use Dodd's Kidney Pills and prophesied that they would cure her. She says: "From the first few doses I began to feel better, and after taking four and a half boxes, I say it with heartfelt gratitude, I am perfectly cured." Dodd's Kidney Pills is the only medicine in the world that has ever cured a case of Bright's Disease at such a stage.

TAR MACADAM

Will Be Tried—Additional Cement Walks to Be Laid.

At last night's meeting of No. 2 committee, over which Ald. Brenner presided, in the absence of Ald. Winnett, it was decided to recommend a test of the tar macadam pavement. A largely signed petition for this pavement was presented by the property owners on Queen's avenue, between Maitland and Adelaide streets. Cement walks will be laid on West Ontario street, between Queen's and Lorne avenues; North Horton street, between Wellington and Clarence streets; and on a half mile on north Hamilton road, between Adelaide and Hill streets. Charles Stevens was granted permission to place an overhanging lamp on his Clarence street premises. The offer of the Westminster township council to pay one-half the cost of a sidewalk along the southern portion of the Wharncliffe road was declined. According to the recommendation of the engineer the council will be advised to build a sewer and storm-water drain on Maitland street, between York and South streets.

Begin your day with a clean conscience in every way. Cleanliness is honesty.

Worms cause feverishness, moaning and restlessness during sleep. Mother's Graves' Worm Expeller is pleasant, sure and effective. If your druggist has none in stock, get him to procure it for you.

Here's how the people speak of them: "I had an attack of Liver Trouble and indigestion and decided to try Laxa-Liver Pills, and found them to be the best remedy I ever used, and their effects are lasting."

Mrs. C. GRIMES,
Hazelton, Ont.

"Laxa-Liver Pills work while you sleep without a gripe, make you better in the morning."

METEOROLOGICAL

Toronto, June 7, 8 p.m.—The low area is still centered to the northward of the lake region, and is moving slowly eastward. Showers and thunderstorms have occurred almost generally today in Ontario and Western Quebec, and while no continuous rain is probable there are likely to be occasional local showers in both provinces during the next two days. The weather is quite cool again in Manitoba and the territories, and local frosts occurred last night in Alberta. Minimum and maximum temperatures: Victoria, 46-58; Calgary, 39-62; Prince Albert, 38-53; Qu'Appelle, 44-54; Winnipeg, 56-64; Port Arthur, 50-74; Parry Sound, 66-78; Toronto, 58-78; Montreal, 62-74; Quebec, 60-82; Halifax, 48-68.

Local temperature—The highest and lowest readings of the thermometer at the observatory on Thursday, June 7, were 79 and 65 degrees. Today (Friday) the sun rose at 4:36 a.m., and set at 7:57 p.m. The moon rises at 3:40 p.m., and sets at 1:56 a.m.

SEVERELY BURNED.
Mr. George A. Doan, bicycle repairer, 575 Ridout street, near Blackfriars bridge, was severely burned about 5 o'clock last evening, while brazing a bicycle frame. He had just finished the braze, and was going to turn the flame off, when the air nipple attached to the tank broke off in some unknown manner, the pressure causing the fluid to spurt over the flame and saturating the upper part of Mr. Doan's body. The unfortunate man was immediately enveloped in flames, and to make matters worse, he was cut off from escape except by rushing through the flames surrounding the tank. A fire alarm was turned in, the firemen responding promptly, and they at once turned their attention to relieving the pain of the injured man by a plentiful coating of vaseline over his burned body. Mr. Doan's clothes were almost entirely burned off from the waist up, and his hands, arms, breast, back and ears had scarcely a particle of skin left on them in some places the fire having eaten into the flesh. His whiskers and hair were also burned off, the scalp being left bare, though apparently not much burned. It will be many weeks before Mr. Doan can resume his occupation. The loss to the building will not exceed $100, the hand chemicals being used to advantage. Today the injured man is doing nicely.
