Sumers That Chapleau's Resignation Has Been Asked For.

OTTAWA, Sept. 3.—The examination of James Stanley was continued yesterday afternoon. Some one told him that one of the Mays paid Joseph Pilkey and James Ireland something. He got $150 from Thomas Fitzgerald and $200 from Hedley Simpson, making $350 in all. He believed this was all he got from persons who received appointments. He said to Mr. tolls was all the ceived appointments. He said to Mr. Cochrane Saturday: "I hear they are going to haul you over the cools." Mr. Cochrane said he supposed so. That was all that was

To Mr. Mulcck, witness said that it was suggested to the convention that a committee of the leading Conservatives should be appointed. The members were picked out in the convention. This was about two years ago. The committee has exercised the power of recommending to office. The committee asked him to raise the fund for the protest, and he did the best he could. Tom Fitzgerald got the appointment of bridge keeper and paid him $150. He sent the $150 to W. Payne to pay the note in the Standard Bank. These contributions followed the recommendation and preceded the appointment. Witness said he and the work of the existence of this committee. He might have told Mr. Cochrane about these recommendations. He did not know whether Mr. Cochrane was present at the convention which appointed the committee.

At the evening senion Dr. E. Mallory produced the lease of Mrs. Wesley Goderich's farm in the township of Cramahe to Obadiah Simpson for his natural life for the consideration of one Depper-corn a year, and with the written understanding that in the event of the Government of Canada dismissing the said Wesley Goderich from attendance at the bridge on the Murray Canal then the lease should be null and void. This instrument was [put. in] as evidence. Arundel Simpson next wore to his signature to a statement made by him before Mr. J. B. Kent, J. P. THE SENATE COMMITTEE.

Before the Senate Committee in the Baie des Chaleurs inquiry, Messrs. Armstrong and Lonergan were on the witness stand. Several members of the committee asked the same questions about the same matters which had been asked a score of times. Armstrong stuted that Tacaul told him that he had to bring pressure to buar on Acting Premier Garneau to get the Quebec Government to pay the subsidy money immediately, and he told Mr. Garneau that if necessary he would cable Mr. Mercier, as the latter had told him before leaving for Europe that he was anxious to have the matter closed up and work begun on the road. Mr. M. S. Lonergan, who was solicitor for the new syndicate, and is one of the present directors, stated that he was constantly consuited in the negotiations with the Quebec Government and never heard anything improper being proposed or done until he came to the committee. He was of the impression that Messrs. Barwick and Cockburn knew of the Pacaud business before allowing the bill to go through the House of Commons. Asked to say if he had paid any money to any member of the House of Commons for his support of the bill, witness at first evaded the question and when it was repeated pointedly stood silent, during which it was moved that he be discharged, and witness retired quickly without answering the question. It is commonly reported that an answer to that question would lead to the expulsion of a Conservative member from the House of Commons.

W. W. Webb, Brighton, cashed a note of $1,000 brought to him in 1883 to raise money to meet the cost of protesting the election of Mr. Ferris. The note was taken up. The two Cochranes on the note he believed were sons of Mr. Cochrane, the member. The note was not all paid in 1886, and he sued Messrs Willoughby, Baldwin, R. Cochrane and Ewing. W. L. Payne then collected $500 and paid him. He received $150 from Wm. Brown, one of the bridge men, on the Wade, King and Nix note, which was substituted for part of the $1,000 note. He also got $75 from John D. Clouston, another bridge man, on the note. Clouston also paid something more, which he could not remember.

To Mr. Mulock he said R. Cochrane was so an and C. Cochrane a nephew of the member. Pilkey expected a bridge, but did not get it. Clouston did not give him any reason for paying the $50 except that he was instructed to pay $150. Mr. Cochrane said one day not to sue King, Wade Nix; that it would be all right and he Spirited Speech on the Scandals by Colonel Amyot.

OTTAWA, Sept. 4.—Mr. Mackintosh re-sumed the debate on the census. He pitched into M. C. Cameron, and said his speech last night was vituperative. Irregularities last night was vituperative. Irregularities there were in the department, but they would be purified as they had been in the past. It was true the census was not so encouraging as was hoped, yet he declared the development of this country showed what a small population could do. He was satisfied that the complete census figures would show that in point of wealth our farmers and artisans were the equals of any people in the world. Mr. Mackintosh made a budget speech, and concluded by blaming Liberal papers and Liberal leaders for the small immigration. The Liberals, he said, had no remedy for the condition of things they had painted, but his side of the House wished to make Canada a great nation.

Col. Amyot opened his speech by refer-Col. Amyot opened his speech by refer-ring to the loyalty cry which the honorable member for Ottawa had again brought out—the loyalty cry that claimed all loyalty for those who steal the public money while the really loyal men were those who pro-tected Canada's interest and purified her public service. We want something more, he said, than rotten contracts that throw millions of dollars to a favored few. he said, than rotten contracts that throw millions of dellars to a favored few. Gentlemen opposite quoted Mr. Blake, but if that gentleman were in this House, Col. Amyot said, he would say cut the tie that binds the heads of the departments to the officials, pass the sponge over the present system of administration; he would say that the last election was carried by fixed and compation, but the sentiment say that the last election was carried by fraud and corruption; that the sentiment of the people had been choked with the money of corruption. (Applause.) Dealing with the claims that the country is prosperous, he asked, is it because a few contractors are given millions out of the public treasury, because a few manufacturers are made wealthy at the expense of the people, because officials get large bonuses and presents that the country is prosperous? (Applause.) If this country were prosperous would the people have left it? It was proved that 1,000,000 people had gone from this country, and if this kept on, if the people do not help the Liberals to put a stop it, there will be more of our people in the States than there are in Canada. Mr. Foster, a member of the Government, made an extraordinary attack upon another Government, of which no member was present to defend it, and which formed in no way a branch of this Parlisment. Decoding and demoralization by Messra.

Paccad, Langlier and Mercier. He (Col. Ampot) would at once state that if any corrupt set had been committed proper justice would be rendered by the Quebec tribusals. The National party, formed of the best clements of the old Conservatives and Liberal citizens will shirk no inquiry, and Liberal citizens, will shirk no inquiry, shield nobody. They will not sell their flag nor punish the small to save the big. (Cheers.) They will apply equal justice to all, and will employ no lawyer to help the witnesses and encourage the witnesses in not answering and refusing access to their books of account. (Cheers.) It might be, continued Col. Amyor, that the policy of the high tax party had so demoralized the people that some persons may have be induced to look upon public property as lost goods belonging to the first occupant. But wherein had a corrupt bargain between Messrs. Langevin, Pacand and Mercier been proved? He reviewed the evidence. In the formation of the Baie des Chaleurs Company by members of this Parliament, a gentleman since made Lieuten ant-Governor, another in the other House, "for which," Col. Amyot said, with a mock obsistance, "I have so deep a respect. Another member of this—but ho, he was not, for a few days ago he was not, for a few days ago he sent in his resignation. (Cheers.) They subscribed nothing at all and received $3900,000, enough to pay $15,000 a mile for the building of the road, and yet they owed $348,000 on account of the construction. Where did that money go? It was not Pacaud or Langelier boodling. Where had it gone? Oh, you great guardians of the public property," he asked of the Government, "where didthat $548,000 go?"

Mr. Cockburn—You ask too much. I

I. Arryot said he wanted an answer, none was forthcoming. He logically ed that if this Parliamenthad the right aquire into money voted by another lament, then in the investigation at bee, the disposal of the moneys voted that was would be inquired into by the bee Legislature. If equilined the at Ottawa would be inquired into by the Qeebec Legislature. He outlined the negotiations which had prefaced the payment of the $175,000 to Mr. Thom by Mr. Langelier and the payment of $100,000 by Mr. Armstrong to Mr. Pacaud, and held that they were separate and distinct, that they did not affect the Government. "How then," he asked, "does the honorable Minister dare to say that the Local Government are guilty of boodling in their paying honestly the money voted by the people according to the wish of the people without their benefitting personally 1 cent by it? The whole case of the Bale des Chaleurs as it stands is that Pacaud and Armstrong t stands is that Pacaud and Armstrong t stands is that Pacaud and Armstrong lave divided between themselves the proluct of a bona fide claim due to Armstrong, to him bona fide paid by Thom with the money bona fide to him paid by the Government according to the wish of the people. Where was the evidence of boodling in that? Mr. Pacaud had refused to its residuance but it was on record ple. Where was the evidence of boodling in that? Mr. Pacaud had refused to give evidence, but it was on record that Mr. Mercier had advised him to do so, while denying the jurisdiction of the Senate. Could they find a corrupt bargain in what had been proved so far? Let them proceed by comparisons and analogy. He (Col. Amyot) had been brought up a Conservative in the Quebec Conservative school, and he had been asked to look upon the Pacific Scandal transactions as patriotic. The principle laid down by Mr. Abbott and his friends at that time were that these transactions were patriotic, and he read the evidence to prove the nature of that disgraceful attack on the liberties of the people. Mr. Abbott, now Premier, has put it as record that it is not wrong to sell as Government contract for money. That was his teaching, backed up by his example. There was a more recent declaration by Mr. Chapleau, that he had asked Mr.

The Finance Minister had taken great consolation from his declaration that our peppinted in their census. But our dispipointment was much greater in proportion our population than theirs. Mr. Mills aid he did not agree that the attraction rom the rural districts to the towns and ities was an economic problem that could not be understood. The solution of the problem in Canada was that capital had seen diverted from agricultural pursuits to seen diverted from agricultural pursuits to ndustrial enterprises made artificially profitable, and by this means the income of the rural districts was interfered with, and this was the influence which had been brawing the people from the rural districts to the cities. The change in farming operations by labor-saving machinery could not be held responsible for the drift of population to the cities. The movement of the ural population to the cities in the United States was noticeable when proceeding was introduced into that country, and it came into this country with en diverted from agricultural pursuits to

We will have an opportunity We will have an opportunity an infidel." We will have an opportunity to examine later into the conduct of the Minister, he said, and we may find out that his own conduct might be vastly improved. We will find that he entered into an agreement for the Government and agreed to pay $4,100 a trip for a steamship service and paid out $6,150 a trip, with no authority therefore. Mr. Mills said he had stated a matter of great public importance. The Minister had charged the representatives in another Legislature in another Province with being boodlers and with mesappropriating the public moneys. But in this House they had to deal with the moneys of this Parliament. The hoporable Minister was a trustee, and had asked Parliament for $60,000 a year for four services; he had only contracted for three, and in an improper manner.

Mr. Foster—Order, order.

Mr. Mills replied that this was his opinion and he intended to ask the opinion of the House upon it. The Minister, he declared, made a contract to pay a certain sum of money for services and he paid out contrary to the provisions of the law $15,000 for service performed before the date of the contract, performed under no contract, and which he had no right to pay. Mr. Mills safd he charged that the Minister misappropriated that money for an obligation which had no existence so far as this House was concerned, which this House had tion which had no existence so that as this Enniskillen Lodge, Y. M. P. B., of Toronto, has handed in its warrant to Grand Secretary Derby, of Hamilton. The cause of the withdrawal of the lodge is the action of the Grand Lodge over the case of a member named Hickman. The latter was suspended by the Grand Lodge, and the local body claim that he was not given a chance to defend himself, no charge having been formulated against him. As Emissillen Lodge, is one of the strongest in the association it is probable that some effort will be made to amicably arrange the point in dispute.

ORDER OF FRATERNAL GUARDIANS.

London Lodge, No. 139, of this order is gaining a good foothold among the fraternal and beneficial societies in this city. Started last February with but 18 members, it now numbers 48, and applications are received at every meeting. The benefits of this organization as they become known commend themselves to every thinking mind, and the success of the order in Canada is assured.

A lodge of the order is being organized in South London by Chief Guardian J. W. McLaren, and steps are being taken to establish a lodge in London West.

The purchasers became convinced that they had been bitten, and had Taylor arrested at Teeswater. The notes procured by Taylor in payment of the right to sell in this section were disposed of in Brussels and Wingham. Under a late act passed all notes given for a patent right must have printed or written across the face of them, before they are offered for sale, the words: "For patent right." Those disposed of by Taylor had not this on the face of them, hence he was committed to Goderich jail by Mayor Clegg. Failing to secure bail he was taken down.

PREVENTIBLE DISEASES.

What sanitary precautions can accon plish has been shown in the experience of England. There even the dread malady of consumption has been combatted to such an extent that in the last 30 years there has been a diminution of more than 30 per cent. in the death rate from the disease. To probably as great an extent the ravages of typhoid have been combatted. Typhoid fever is above all things a filth disease. The worst of it is that otherwise sensible people, for the sake of saving a few dollars in expenditures on drains and sewers to aid in keeping their surroundings clean, will run the risk of endangering the lives of themselves and their neighbors. Then when sickness and death comes to them as a re-sult of the neglect of the simplest sanitary laws, they talk of it as "a dispensation of Providence !" It is high time that this excuse were shown up in its true light. Providence will never do for us what we ought to have sense enough to do for ourselves, and it is no less true that we cannot break a law of nature without suffering

THEY DON'T WANT HIM.

The latest excuse for the dispensers of "stern justice" at Ottawa is that they permitted Sir Hector Langevin's nephew, Tetu, to decamp to Dakota because they did not have an opportunity to secure his arrest. Great bodies, we have been told, move slowly. The charges against Tetu to return voluntarily to Canada I What a travesty on "stern justice !"

over-taxation of the people. With an it telligent trade policy Canada will have bright future in store for her.

The Kingston News (Conservative) consesses that the reason why the Canadian olunteers are neglected by the Government at Ottawa is to be found in the fact that out of the $1,225,000 annually voted for the force, $1,000,000 is spent on staff and paraphernalia. To make matters worse in this district, the Government first bought a camping ground put to greater expense and are deprived of comforts and of special instruction which can easily and inexpensively be supplied at "D" Company's headquarters It is a disgraceful thing to turn the anual camp into an agency to bolster up the fortunes of a weak party candidate, as the Toronto Empire has told us is done in the case of the camp for this district.

The New York Sun thus discusses the re-sults of the Dominion census:

"The Canadians are surprised, disap-pointed and even chagrined by the results of the census of the Dominion, which were published last week. Between 1871 and published last week. Between 1871 and 1881 the gain in population was eyer 17 per cent. Between 1881 and 1891 it has been 11½ per cent.

"The population of the older Provinces has been almost at a standstill. Ontario and Quebec have increased only 9:66 and 9.25 per cent. respectively. The gain in Nova Scotia has been berely 2 per cent. in the ten years since 1881. New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island have merely held their own. The most conspicuous increase has been in the Northwest, but even there it has been actually small as compared with the growth to small as compared with the growth to which we are accustomed on this side of the border.

the keener because the Dominion Govern-ment made extraordinary efforts during the The Advertiser "looks forward with what has of an Independent Canadian Nationality, believing that such a status would be best for Canada, best for Great Britain, and promotive of the best attainable relations with the United States.

"The Advertiser" advocates prohibition of the manufacture and sale of intexicating liquor.

"The Advertiser" and independent canadian succeeded so far as to bring in more than $850,000 foreigners. Yet the gain in population according to the census is only about 500,000. It is obvious that the great majority of the newcomers passed over the best ream which pours into this country far more than it has secured new settlers for its own territory. In all its more populous Provinces it is not holding even its natural increase. Along with the immigrants brought over from Europe by many inducements, a steadily augmenting number of the Canadians themselves emigrate to the United States to take advantage of the Canadians of the component which our larger and more varied prosperity of offers. In other words, we gain far more population from Canada than it gains for itself, though it uses every effort to win new settlers, and we make no offort to draw the Canadians or any other foreigners to our territory. They come hither of their own motion and because the Dominion Government med extraordinary efforts during the last ten years to stimulate immigration and succeeded so far as to bring in more than $850,000 foreigners. Yet the gain in population from the extraordinary efforts during the last ten years to stimulate immigration and succeeded so far as to bring in more than $850,000 foreigners. Yet the gain in population to itself the Dominion deven in majority of the newcomers passed over the stream which pours into this country far more than it has secured new settlers for its own territory. In all its more population from Canada than it gains for itself, though it uses women, whether as regards the franchise, or equal wages for equal work.

"Ine Advertise" is a believer in Christian Union, and considers the time has come when the various Christian denominations should come closer together. Those bodies which are now nearest should unite first. Under the present system there is an unjustifiable waste of men, means and effort. The Advertiser will endeavor to promote the movement for Christian union not alone by direct appeal and argument, but by seeking to present the best rather than the worst side of each denomination.

"In the Indications of this last tensural that the Canadian enligation in our favor was greater during the last ten years thun over before. The returns show that the rate of increase of the population is declining and declining greatly, and the decrease is likely to continue. Instead of competing with us, Canada is helping our growth. "But there is no policy which can save Canada from retrogression so long as it continues apart from the United States. If that separation continues, the decline in the rate of increase of population from over 17 per cent. between 1871 and 1881 to 11½ per cent. during the next decade is likely to be continuous in the next century. The future offers no hope which the last ten years did not present, and the Canadians are compelled to face the gloomy prospect. They have leaded themselves with debt to secure progress and prosperity, and yet, except in the Northwest, they are standing still. Their richest Provinces are the most stagnaut.

"Of course, this state of things cannot continue. The Canadians will not submit to such a sacrifice to maintain a separate colonial existence when they can gain real independence and sovereignty and secure material prosperity by uniting with a people akin to themselves, and with whom experience shows that they cannot com-Pete. "The only policy that can save Canada

There is much truth in the strictures of our contemporary, as we are all sorry to admit. The policy of piling up debt and taxes to make the country rich has been a of the flower of the population; it has failed to keep the immigrants in Canada which the taxpayers paid to bring here; and while it has made some rich and others very rich, such riches have been largely accumulated at the expense of the great mass of the community.

Our New York contemporary looks on the amalgamation of the Dominion with the United States as the one remedy for our present position—as the needed stimulus to our national exertions. We take leave to differ from it. There is room in North America for two nations, and we are quite contented that the United States shall con were made eighteen months ago, yet it was tinue one of them. But Canada is big not till Mr. McMullen brought the matter up in the House last June that business-like action was taken. Forgery and other. Her ideal future is national, and like action was taken. Forgery and embezziement are the charges of which Tetu has been found guilty by the official investigators. On either one or other of these charges Tetu could be extradited and brought to Canada for trial. But Mr. Carling's organ tells us that he will only be punished if he has the audacity over taxation of the needle. With an inwill only be punished if he has the audacity over-taxation of the people. TRADE.

The correspondence in reference to trade with the West Indies in another colum must suggest many reflections to Ontario manufacturers and merchants. From the pioneer in the more recent efforts to in crease the trade between Canada and the West Indies and South America it is near this city, and then, for confessedly learned that so far Ontario has gained little political reasons, takes the annual camp advantage from the $60,000 yearly bonus voted to the steamship company. Considering the share of this bonus which the taxpayers of Ontario have to pay, the confessions of Mr. Murdoch are significant. We are not much enamored of bonuse as a means of promoting trade, believing that the best means to increase commerce is to let it be as untrammeled as possible by taxation. When that is the case a nation gets all the trade that she can profitably undertake without coaxing. But if these large occan steamship subsidies are to be continued, and to prove of no more value to Ontario producers and consumers than has been the West India $60,000 bonus, the time should soon arrive when the Parliamentary representatives from this Province might fairly demand that if money is to be expended to encourage Ontario trade with the West Indies and the Southern republies, some more direct route should be agreed upon and subsidized. If Mr. John Law can prove that by his scheme for shipping products between Ontario and the West Indies by way of a lake, land and ocean route, trade can be more economically and expeditiously conducted than under the present roundabout arrangement, then no one could fairly deny that a share of the subsidy should go to any company opening up the new route. The on fact now apparent is that, so far, Ontario has received little or no benefit from the with the West Indies.

THE UNITED STATES WHEAT

The current estimates of the United States wheat crop new run from 550,000,000 bushels up to 600,000,000 and over, from 175,000,000 to 190,000,000 of this being spring wheat and the rest the winter variety. This is said to be by far the largest crop they have ever grown, and the percentage of it, unusually good in quality, is very large. Good crops in yield, good quality and good prices, constitute a trio that should make American farmers smile.

TOPICS OF THE DAY. .NNING, of Toronto, a Conservative of the Conservatives, says he is so disheartened with the results of the census that he is ready for annexation Col. Denison, get you gun!

THE Dundas cotton mills have been sold for $150,200. They were run profitably under the old tariff, but were so squeeze by the pressure of the factories con-structed in "boom" times that their management became insolvent. The original cost of the works was $800,000.

THE Buffalo Times says that "Canada's progress is of the slow kind," It has been slow recently, but not because of its natural advantages. No country can prosper if it is overtaxed and a large portion of its taxes go to sustain cor-rupt Ministers and their army of hangers-We will have a change soon, and then we will boom ahead.

EVEN Conservative papers are now con pelled to confess that much of the money spent in recent years to promote emi-gration to Canada has been wasted. That goes without saying. Canada paid for the coaxing of over 800,000 persons from Europe in the last ten years; but the s shows that only 500,000 have been added to our population. Where is the natural increase and all the immigrants? An immigrant is of no use unless he can be induced to stay in the country.

THE Hamilton Spectator confesses that it is highly probable "some of the Ministers will be disqualified without the assistance of the law courts." Of a surety. The investigations forced upon the Parliamentary majority by the Liberal leaders are bringing forth evidence that one-half of the Ministers or more are really disqualified by incapacity or worse failings from properly serving the country. The best plan is to get rid of the whole lot as speedily as possible.

Nature smiled on the plumbers, gastiters, brass-finishers, painters and tinsmiths Wednesday, and tavored them with excellent weather for their annual picnic at Pert Stanley. The train in the morning carried probably 300 to the favorite resort. Another train in the afterneon conveyed others, and those who went enjoyed them selves thoroughly. Boating and swimming were favorite pastimes for the younger members of the party. Captain Ellison's steamer made trips on the lake during the day and many enjoyed a ride with the genial old sailor. The performances in the dancing hall attracted their share of attention. Young and old kept time with music furnished by a London orchestra. On the hill races and others sports were engaged in, the winners receiving prizes, valuable and useful. Round after round of applause followed some of the events. The successful competitors were as follows:

A Widow of Fifty Advertises for a Hus-band and Goes After Him. Wilmington, Del., Sept. 3.—The story of one of the most romantic marriages that has ever occurred in this city has leaked out. Mrs. Lena Bennett, of Hillside, Mich., and twice a widow, about two weeks ago inserted an advertisement in a Western newspaper for a suitor. A paper containing the notice reached Charles B. Cleatworth, a machinist of this city, and he immediately answered it. A reply sconreached him, requesting aphotograph of himself. This was sent, and while he was at work Mrs. Bennett reached this city and went to the mill where Cleaworth was employed. He was called from his lathe, and, walking outside, was face to face with the woman whose photograph he had received. They greeted each other, and Mrs. Bennett asked Cleaworth to accompany her 'o the nearest preacher to have the nupital knot tied.

This was postponed until to-day, however, when the company went to Camden and were married. Mrs. Cleaworth is a beautiful woman and says she has $1,000,000 in her own name. The bride and groom left for their Western home this evening.

Detroit, Supt. 3.—At 9:40 Wednesday morning Dr. Oronhyatekha, the supreme chief ranger, brought down his viory silvermounted gavel, calling the court to order. After the opening exercises the journal secretary, David Millar, read the minutes of the previous day, which were duly confirmed. The supreme secretary presented the report of the Credential Committee, in which was noted the arrival of some brethren from the distant Eastern Provinces. The supreme chief ranger appointed the following special committees:

On the Independent Forester—Bros. Watt, Griffith, Haymaker, Coleman and Shirley.

On the Independent Forester — Bros. Watt, Griffith, Haymaker, Coleman and Shirley.

On New Business—Bros. Syphiot, Waggener, Aikman, Eingham, Heiver.

On Michigan and Separate Endowment Jurisdiction—Eros. Boynton, Aplin, Van Alstain, Stockwell, Carson.

The chairman on constitution and laws presented his report, which was taken up in clauses, a number of changes in the constitution being made as a result.

At 2 o'clock the supreme chief ranger called the court to business, when Col. Wharry, on privilege, presented a partial report of the Finance Committee, which recommended that the salary of the supreme chief ranger be $6,000 per year and that of the supreme secretary $3,000, he supreme chief ranger be $6,000 per year and that of the supreme secretary $3,000, he supreme treasurer's salary to be $1,500 and the auditors to receive $500 cach, they to make six audits per year instead of four as heretofore; the delegates to receive 5 cents per mile on way mileage, also $3 per day for each day consumed in coming to and returning from and while attending the Supreme Court. The committee also recommended that Past Supreme Chief Ranger Bro. Botterell be presented with a silver service for his past labors so freely given without any remuneration. The election of officers was then proceeded with, which resulted as follows:

WAR TALK.

Continent of Europe.

London, Sept. 3.—In France, in Alsace-Lorraine and in Austria immense bodies of troops were set in metion to-day, this being the day fixed for the contemplated and much-discussed grand army maneuvers of France, Germany and Austria.

In view of the heated war talk caused by the echoes of Sedan, the Dardenelles includent and the Cronstadt understanding, and to say nothing of the renewal of the Drie-bund, these military movements are being watched with feverish attention by the military men and diplomats of Europe.

Changes in military organization, im-proved equipments, smokeless powder and new rifles are having their real campaign test, and much may depend upon the re-ult.

In England this showing of war material In England this showing of war material attracts deep attention, and detailed reports from the various headquarters are being received by the War Office and press. Vienna, Sept. 3.—Emperor William, of Germany, accompanied by Chancellor Von Caprivi, at Horn this morning met Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, who was accompanied by the King of Saxony, and the entire party, surrounded by military suites and escorts of cavalry, proceeded to the bendquarters at Gepfritz and engaged in the maneuvers.

The seven tailors charged with assaulting McBain in Windsor will be arraigned before Judge Horo at Sandwich to-morrow.

The trouble between the Windsor journeymen tailors and the bost tailors is becoming interesting. General Secretary Lennon on Aug. 13 sent $200 to the union by registered letter, and on Aug. 21.8150 more. Neither of these letters have been received, and Mr. Lennon says that of 6,000 tragistered letter, and on Aug. 21.8150 more. General Secretary Lennon on Aug. 13 sent $200 to the union by registered letter, and on Aug. 21 $150 more. Neither of these letters have been received, and Mr. Lennou says that of 6,000 registered letters he has sent out from his office in New-York during his term of effice these are the only ones that have not reached their destination on time. The conspiracy case against the members of the union under arrest involves, it is said, every trade union in Canada, and if the case goes against the men every trade uniouist in Canada is a conspirator and is amenable to the law. The journeymen are holding back their big card for play if the game becomes deaperate. The merchant tailors of Windsor get most of their custom from persons living on the American side of the river, and the journeymen say if the merchants persist in their persecution they will stand on the dooks of the Detroit side and point out to the customs officers those who go to Windsor for their clothes. This will be a crushing blow to the trade, as no one will run the risk of smuggling under such circumstances, and will refrain from trading with the Windsor merchant tailors. It looks now as though it was a bitter fight to the end, and that the journeymen had the most effective force yet to bring to their side.

She could not refuse then. Derwent saw her gather herself together with a supreme effort, and very quietly—though pale as any statue—she followed Padre Francisco into the room. The young man almost held his breath as he gazed at the pleture which she made, standing beside the bed, looking down, with a face which might have served a painter for that of the Mother of Mercy, upon the worn, brown countenance out of which the dark eyes shone with a calm and solemn gaze, the gaze of a man whose regard is fixed upon eternity rather than upon time.

"Senorita," he said, so low that she stooped to hear him, yet so clear that Derwent, leaning against the door, heard every word, "I have asked you to come that I may thank you for saving me from the crime I should have committed this morning. I know that you might be sorry; and I wish to tell you that it is well for me that I am here. I have been a very wicked man, my soul is stained with many crimes, and it is likely that I should have died as I have lived had you not brought me here, to make my peace with God. It is more than I deserve, far more than I deserve, senorita. Thank God when you think of me, and pray for my poor soul."

"So long as I live," she answered, very gently. "I shall pray for you, and I shall have the Holy Sacrifice offered for the repose of your soul."

"It is more than I deserve," he repeated again. "Tell the senor whom I tried to kill that I thank God for preserving him, and I beg his forgiveness with all my heart. I have told the padre where his watch can be found, but the money, alas! is spent and gone."

"Tell him," said Derwent, when this was translated, "that I forgive him heart-

In the drink problem, too, there are a great many Christian men who have a great deal more faith in non-Christian methods, and a great deal less faith in Christian methods, than I have. It is quite legitimate for society to protect itself from the despotism of the drink traffic by laws and constables. But the man who is set free from the power of drink by a policeman keeping guard over the closed door of the liquor shop is not free indeed. The real evil is the supremacy of appetite over the reason and affection in the individual, the general reduction in the supremacy of the affection and the reason over the appetite. When the soul has been made master of general reduction in the supremacy of the affection and the reason over the appetite. When the soul has been made master of itself, when it dominates its own appetites and passions, when, Samson-like, it breaks the green withes of custom with which its enemies have sought to bind it, and turns the wineglass upside down at the dinner party without ridicule, then it is free indeed, and not till then. A little girl came home from her Sunday school one day and her father asked her if she had learned a text. "Yes," she said. "I keep my soul on top." Her father laughed and asked her to find the passage. She pointed it to him triumphantly, and he read: "I keep my body under." He who keeps his soul on top, and only he, is free indeed from the boadage of appetite.

I have taken but a single text from the lesson appointed for the day, and yet that text seems to me to be the key to the interpretation of the whole discourse. There are two fathers, God and the devil. They that are the children of the devil. They that are the children of the devil. They that are the children of the devil. They that are the ohidren of the devil are and must be in bondage, and all bondage has its secret source is this: that men ace children of the devil. So long as their appetites, their passions, their avarioe, their animal and genuel and devilish nature is uppermost, they are in bondage to their own baser nature, in bondage to the another and in bondage to the father of falsehood, of darkness and of despotism. When they become children of God they are set free from their own baser natures, set free from the deepotism of their follies, and set free International Sunday school Lesson for Sept & 1991-John will al-42. in Brantford. Music on the Park.

A large crowd, probably the largest in the on, gathered Wednesday evening on Victoria Park to hear what was announced to be the last concert given this year by the favorite Seventh Band. The greatest degree of pleasure was manifested by those who so heartily enjoy these delightful outings in the park, where music always doubly pleases; but regret was expressed by many that the open air music season in the evenings had passed. One more occasion will probably be provided, however, in Parke's park to-morrow evening. If arrangements are completed announcement Music on the Park.

No. 3 Committee of the Council was to have metal accountable of the council was to have metal asserting to the care and collins and Clerk Minton were in attendance. Fred Ellis was the lowest tenderer for building sidewalks and received the contract. Accounts were passed, and an adjournment was made until Tuesday next, when bylaws to open new streets will be submitted.

—While two of the sisters of St. Joseph Were out driving Wednesday near the Roman Catholic Cemetery their horse became unmanageable and ran away. Both were thrown out, and one of them was very badly hurt. They were taken into the cottage at the cemetery and cared for by Mrs. Gleeson, the caretaker's wife, after which they were conveyed to Mount Hope.

—Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Ingram were not very agreeably surprised on their return from their ocean trip to find that during their absence their house had been entered and a large quantity of culery and other valuable small wares and jewelry stolen. The theft was cleverly executed and concealed, as to those passing from day to day no indication was given that burglary had been committed.
