OBITUARY

Fred B. Newcombe

The death of Mr. Fred B. Newcombe took place very suddenly at Kentville on Friday evening. He was participating in the degree work of Hiawatha Lodge and had just completed one of his parts when he sat down in a chair and passed peacefully away. Medical aid was summoned but death had come instantaneously.

Mr. Newcombe was a man most intimately connected with every interest of the town. He was Presiding Councillor, Chairman of the School Board, for several years, Warden of St. James' Church and a prominent member of Hiawatha Lodge, I. O. O. F., Hiawatha Band, etc. He was indefatigable in his work for the advancement of the towns interests and business affairs.

He was born at Cornwallis, son of the late D. B. Newcombe, July 28th, 1856. He leaves a sorrowing wife and one daughter, Violet, a younger brother, E. B. Newcombe, member of the firm. He received his early business training with the firm of R. H. White & Co., Boston. He came to Kentville and engaged with the firm of Beckwith & Dodge and over 25 years ago started in business for himself in what has proved to be one of the largest business enterprises of the town.

The funeral service held first at the residence, Monday morning and at 10.30 the body was removed to St. James' Church where it was viewed by a large number of friends. At three o'clock service was held in the church conducted by Rev. T. C. Mellor. Members of the Town Council attended in a body and the Oddfellows, a very large number in regalia. Rev. Archdeacon Martell preached the funeral sermon which was an eloquent and touching tribute to the deceased on the fighting of a good fight and the time of departure being at hand.

The funeral cortege was as follows: Hiawatha Band, Oddfellows, Clergy. Pallbearers, Hearse, Mourners, Mayor and Town Council and Vestrymen, Children of the public schools citizens etc.

The floral tributes were many including beautiful pieces from the following: Wife and daughter, Hiawatha Lodge, Hiawatha Band, Mayor and Council, Teachers of Academy, Employees of the Firm, Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Calkin, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Morash, Rev. and Mrs. Outerbridge, Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Newcombe, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Cole, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Wickwire, Mayor and Mrs. Pelton, Mr. and Mrs. H. Oyer, Prof. and Mrs. Blair, Mrs. Botsford, Mrs. McLeod and Mr. Harold Hall.

Addresses of welcome on behalf of the congregation and other denominations were also given by various speakers. Martin B. Pitt.

GERMANS UNCERTAIN OF THEIR ABILITY TO HOLD THE HINDENBURG LINE

(The Daily Echo.)
WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES AFIELD, March 30—British officers saw signs behind the German lines today that the Teutons were uncertain of their ability to hold their new defensive position. This belief was based on reports of numerous fires, series of explosions and preparations reported in progress by Germans for flooding operations of the same character as those adopted in her retreat to the "Hindenburg Line."
Moreover, French civilians left behind by the wave of retreating Germans reported an increasing dissatisfaction spreading among the German soldiers themselves. Before leaving, many a citizen said the soldiers revealed to them a situation in Germany somewhat akin to that which preceded the Russian revolution. The soldiers expressed general dissatisfaction with the state of affairs at home. They said they were treated like dogs in the army, while folks at home were regarded as "mere cattle." French inhabitants declared an oft-repeated phrase they heard from the German soldiers was that "when the war is over, those who are responsible will have to suffer."
British troops forging steadily ahead are today interested in German developments. A favorite greeting which I heard everywhere is "Good morning, ally, what's the latest."
A new German plan for raising money was revealed at Jeacourt and other French cities recently occupied by the British forces. At Jeacourt the German officials inquired what the commune was worth, and, on being told, promptly issued notes for this full amount, forcing the French civil officers of the town to sign these obligations. A number of other villages reported they were victims of the same plan.

BRITISH TROOPS DEFEAT TURK ARMY CAPTURING ENTIRE DIVISIONAL STAFF

LONDON, March 28—The British army in Palestine has defeated a Turkish army of 20,000 men, capturing 900 men, including a general, the War Office announces.
The official statement says that British troops have advanced for a distance of fifteen miles along the Southern Palestine coast of the Mediterranean. The British forces have pushed forward from Rafa to the Wadi Ghuzze, a river five miles south of Gaza (Ghuzze). Gaza is twenty miles north of the Egyptian-Syrian boundary.

London, March 29—The entire divisional staff of the fifty-third Turkish division in Palestine, has been captured by the British. It is announced officially.
The text of the official statement reads:
"Telegraphing yesterday the Commander in Chief in Egypt reports that we advanced our troops fifteen miles from Rafa to the Wadi Chuzze, five miles South of Gaze, to cover the construction of a railway.
Monday and Tuesday we were heavily engaged in this neighborhood with a force of about 20,000 of the enemy. We inflicted very heavy losses on him taking nine hundred prisoners including the general commanding and the whole divisional staff of the 43rd Turkish division. These figures includes four Austrian officers and thirty-two Austrians and Germans of other ranks. We also captured two Austrian 4.2 inch howitzers.
"All the troops behaved splendidly, especially the troops of the Welsh, Kent, Sussex, Hereford, Middlesex and Surrey regiments and the Anzac and Yeomanry mounted troops."

BRITISH GAIN IN PALESTINE IS OF GREAT IMPORTANCE

LONDON, March 30—The morning newspapers today comment enthusiastically on the British victory near Gaza, Palestine, which naturally opens the way for much biblical and historical references and comparison. "The new crusade" and "Fight for the Holy Land," are among the headlines.
Jerusalem is assumed in some quarters to be the immediate objective of the invaders. Other commentators, however, think the British aim first at securing the whole coast of Palestine. In any case the news papers consider that the blow dealt the Turks near Gaza will seriously cripple the effects of Emperor William's visit to Palestine and his entry into Jerusalem 19 years ago. Of this the Times says:
"The political dreams which led to that visit are now in the process of being shattered. The Holy Land, it would seem, is on the eve of being rescued from the regime which through centuries has held it in bondage."
"The manner in which the British have pushed railroads across the desert is considered a remarkable achievement. Apparently hundreds of miles of railroads have been constructed across the desert since last August."

Trenton, N. J., March 28—Governor Edge today received from the State Agricultural College the first purple carnation ever originated. It was produced by Professor M. A. Blake by artificial hybridization, and a cutting is valued at $100. It was brought to the executive offices of Dr. J. G. Lippman, director of the experimental station.
Purple is the color of the Northwestern University of Illinois, and that institution asked for a cutting, but the experiment station has decided first to accumulate enough stock to be distributed free to the florists of New Jersey.

German Papers on War Preparations in the United States

Copenhagen, via London, March 29—There has been a noticeable absence of comment in the German papers of the last few days on the news of American war preparations. The newspapers have printed various despatches, some from New York and others from the

FRENCH TROOPS ARE STEADILY ADVANCING ON THE ROAD TO LAON

The Associated Press despatch says:
The Germans are striking back in the Champagne in a determined effort to divert General Nivelle from his ceaseless pounding at the base of the shaken Hindenburg line. The scene of the counter offensive launched by Field Marshal Von Hindenburg is along a fifteen mile front, starting about twenty-five miles East of Rheims. Attacking in force in this section the Germans have driven the French from some of their advance trenches but have failed so far to make a serious impression on the defenders' lines.

In the meantime the iron semi-circle which General Nivelle has thrown around the southern part of the great St. Gabaïn plateau is steadily contracting. If the French maintain their present rate of advance it can only be a matter of a very few days before the entire plateau is in their grasp, removing the last great natural barrier to Laon. The British are moving forward steadily to the north but the fact that they are capturing villages with cavalry indicates that they are not yet in contact with the main German forces. The most advanced British outposts are still ten miles from the Cambrai lines, where Allied observers have assumed the Germans propose to make their real stand.

Military critics in Paris and London are reverting to the belief that the present German retreat is only part of the plan for a retirement on a tremendous scale to the Belgian border. In support of this theory it is pointed out that the withdrawal from the Noyon and Bapaume salient is rapidly forcing the whole German line into the form of an immense right angle. The upright of this angle runs north and south for 120 miles from Nieuport, on the Belgian coast, to Laon. The horizontal runs for about an equal distance east to the Lorraine border. It is into the apex of this angle that General Nivelle is boring his way, threatening to cut the forces of the invaders squarely in two.

Paris, March 29—Important munitions and supply depots have been captured by the French, the War Office announced today. Artillery fighting continued during the night between the Aisne and the Somme and the French kept in contact everywhere with the German lines. Soissons was bombarded by heavy German guns.

The statement follows:
"From the Somme to the Aisne there is no change in the situation. Intermittent artillery fighting occurred during the night. Our troops everywhere maintained contact with the enemy's lines."

"In the course of the operations of recent days south of the Aisne we took possession of important depots of materials and ammunition.
"Yesterday German long range guns fired seven shells at Soissons. In the region of Soissons we made a successful surprise attack North of a Pompele.

"In the Champagne, near Tahure, and in the Argonne, at Courtes Chasses, attacks by the enemy were repulsed completely by our fire. On the left bank of the Meuse (Verdun front) our troops recaptured in a spirited attack the last element of the trenches which the enemy had been holding since March 18th.

"We took prisoners in the vicinity of Avocourt wood and Hill 304.

"There were no important events on the remainder of the front.

Allens May Control Saskatchewan Legislature

Regina, March 28—A widely extending movement is demanding that all aliens in Saskatchewan be disfranchised. It is pointed out by Rev. D. Murdoch MacKinnon, of Knox Church, that these aliens may control the Legislature after the next election. On the list there are a hundred thousand names. Special legislation gives 33,000 non-resident Saskatchewan soldiers only three representatives. There are 59 other seats and the census shows there are 95,000 Germans and Austrians in Saskatchewan, over 30,000 of whom are eligible to vote.

Telephones and Messages to be Taxed

Halifax, March 27—Taxation of Telephone Companies within the Province, and of people making long distance telephone calls, is provided for in a Bill introduced in the House yesterday by Premier Murray. The Bill, which is to amend the supplementary revenue act, provides that every Telephone Co. operating or using more than 20 telephones within the Province shall pay a tax of 25 cents on each telephone so operated or used. The Bill also provides for an additional tax of 5 cents on all long distance messages, where a charge of 25 cents is made. A tax of 75 per cent on the surplus earnings of the Companies is also proposed.

N. S. TRAMWAYS GIVEN EXTENSION

By a vote of sixteen to twelve the House of Assembly Thursday in the Committee of the Whole extended the time within which the Nova Scotia Tramways and Power Company, Ltd., must commence development operations at their Gaspareau site, by two years. Instead of three years, as the Bill, reported up from the Committee on Private and Local Bills, proposed. When the bill came up in Committee of the Whole, Mr. Hall moved an amendment that the extension of time be not three years, but two, and his amendment, as already stated, was carried.

Hon. R. M. MacGregor, supporting the three years' extension, said that in 1914 the Company was incorporated and given two years in which to start development work. In 1915 the Legislature had extended this by one year, so that the Company was compelled to start work in 1917. This Bill, as reported up from the Committee on Private and Local Bills, proposed, however, to extend that time by three years. He thought that if the Committee were willing in 1914, when times were normal, to give the Company two years, surely now when times were abnormal it would be willing to give three years. The cost of development had increased enormously and the Company, if compelled to immediately start work, would incur a much greater expense than had been estimated in 1914. The result would be that extra cost would ultimately be a charge upon the public.

Mr. Hall said that the proposed extension would make the total extension six years, not three, to which Hon. Mr. MacGregor replied that six weeks after the passage in 1914 of the Act incorporating the Company the Empire was at war and financial affairs were given a rude shock. He pointed out that in 1915 the Legislature, which in that year extended the time limit of development operations by the Nova Scotia Tramways and Power Company by one year, also extended the time limit of the Canadian Provincial Power Company, a similar organization, by two years.

Mr. Hall said that he proposed to do what he could to see that the avowed intention of the Nova Scotia Tramways and Power Company, Limited, namely the development of hydro-electric power, was carried out. He admitted that he did not think the present was the proper time to insist upon the Company carrying out their operations. He did not want to put the burden upon the City of Halifax, but should not "let the Company get out of his sight."

Hon. G. E. Faulkner said that the general feeling was that the Company should be given some extension of time in view of the general unsettled financial conditions and the exceedingly high cost of development. He would most certainly be opposed to the Company in any way shirking its obligations, but he did feel that what the Company was asking for, namely a three years' extension was under all the circumstances a reasonable proposition.

Mr. Hall said that the Legislature met every year and, if at the end of two years, conditions were not then normal, further extension could be granted to the Company. He moved an amendment that the Company be given two years in which to commence development operations, and three years in which they should spend not less than $500,000 on the development instead of three and four years respectively as the Bill proposed.

Hon. Mr. MacGregor said that this was a pretty heavy penalty to place upon the Company, like a sword hanging over its head, saying as it were, "unless you do so and so, you will lose your charter." He repeated that if, in 1914, before the war, the Company was entitled to two years, surely now,

ROLL OF HONOR

Several thousand officers and employees of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company enlisted for active military duty with the Canadian Expeditionary Force, and the majority of them are now in Europe, bravely battling for Canada and the Empire. This list of those who have given up their lives for their country or been wounded in action does not include the Army Reserves.

NOTE.—Where "presumed dead" appears above, the employees referred to have been missing for long periods, and their death is presumed by the Militia Department.

when times were so hard, it was entitled to three years.

Mr. Hall commented that the Company was not organized in 1914, but that it was organized now, to which Mr. Wickwire replied that the Company only went into active operation as The Nova Scotia Tramways and Power Company, Limited.

Mr. Finn said that legislation incorporating and authorizing the Company was on the agenda of the present year. Statute Books, that the Company was organized under that legislation and was in operation under it, and it was the duty of the Legislature to see as far as it could that the Gaspareau power was developed. He said that three years, under the present war conditions, was not too long to give the Company to start work. While he had no love for the company, he did not consider that three years was too long. He did not think that financial conditions would be sufficiently settled in two years' time, even if the war were over.

Mr. Margeson thought that two years' extension was plenty. He said that six months ago the members for Halifax would not say a word in favor of the Company.

"The members for Halifax don't talk flappodde," replied Hon. Mr. Faulkner.

Mr. Finn said that he had misunderstood the proposal of the Bill as it was before the House. What he was in favor of was extension of two years in which the company should start work and three years in which they should have spent not less than $500,000. He was, therefore, in favor of the amendment which was put and carried.

An Unusual Case

An unusual case of sickness is attracting the attention of members of the medical profession here. A young lady who suffered from nervous troubles for a considerable period retired last Tuesday night and slept until Friday morning, despite the efforts of physicians to arouse her from the deep sleep which had given her an almost lifeless appearance. Since Friday the young lady has slept heavily and with only short periods of consciousness.—St. John Globe.

CANNINGS NOBLE ROLL OF HONOR

From the list given below it will be seen that Canning and vicinity have answered nobly to the call of the Empire and has given of her best sons to the cause of freedom and right.

This is what might be expected for right here in the centre of the town stands a public monument erected to the memory of one whom Canning loved and to whose memory citizens ever will hold dear, a record of a life unselfish and a heroic death in a distant land. Harold Borden stands before us, with features and form carved in bronze but it has stirred the hearts of the young men to emulate his example and answer to the call of duty.

Monument of Major Harold L. Borden.

Read the names of the following who have donned the Kings uniform and then deny that the life of Major Harold Borden was offered to his country in vain.

delightful occasions, not only to those who have been members of the college at some time or other, but to the guests present who have not known the joys of "under-grad" days together. There is something perpetually youthful about the college spirit and that something marked the reunion last evening. Old times to be reviewed, and progress in the grim fight with the world since graduation days to be told.

The big Y. M. C. A. Hall was tastefully arranged and decorated for the occasion though with the joyous faces of those present, ent, there was no need of anything further to make the room bright and pleasant.

The programme which was rendered during the evening, in a large measure due to the energy of Mrs. Miller, was as good as good things can be, and was enthusiastically received.

After the opening chorus, Dr. (Major) Cutten, in his genial and pleasing manner, made a few remarks welcoming those present, and touchingly referring to those who had so bravely gone forth from the college and made the name of Acadia a (Continued on Page Eight)

Most Stupendous Spectacle Mortal Mind Has Conceived

Mr. Griffith was eight months making the entire production. During that time he employed a small army of men and women to get the desired result. In the great battle scenes Mr. Griffith employed many novel appliances to get his effects. For the first time in the making of motion pictures he utilized the telephone extensively. Imagine a stage director handling thousands upon thousands of players in one scene and directing them by telephone. This was done by laying underground wires to all parts of the battlefields. The director had a switchboard of ten wires directly in front of him and in this way kept in touch with every part of the conflict. There are 5,000 scenes, 18,000 characters, 3,000 horses, and the approximate cost of the production was $500,000. The great battle scenes were also the first ever taken by a motion picture camera at night. The scenes showing the escape of the refugees from Atlanta, the bonfire effects in Piedmont, and the great red battle effects were all realized by night photography. Elaborate preparations for these were secretly laid and several inventions were made on the ground to accomplish the desired end. Patented illuminations were distributed over an area of two miles to get one midnight battle scene. The novelty of midnight photography is carried to a striking point in one of the vast pictures. Here under the glare of giant illuminators and bursting bombs one can see a line of trenches stretching over a territory of more than three miles. An amusing incident happened while one of the great battle scenes was being photographed at night. Mr. Griffith kept his plan so carefully concealed that it was not known what he intended doing. The night the big fight came off many citizens, miles away from the actual scenes, telephoned into the newspapers, and the following morning several papers appeared with stories of a mysterious naval engagement the night before in which the long thunderous roll of heavy cannonading had been distinctly heard by citizens many miles from the seas. Cities were built up and then destroyed by fire. A series of wild "Ku Klux" rides that commiserated a country for a day and cost $10,000. Wonderful artillery duels in which real shells—costing eighty dollars apiece—were used. Miles of trenches—thousands of fighters. Twelve thousand feet of film in the public picture represent 140,000 feet of actual photography, making altogether the most stupendous and spectacular enterprise that the brain of man has yet envisioned.

You see the American Civil War start after being shown the causes which precipitated it. You see the great generals of the contending sections playing their desperate games of human pawns moved upon the field of slaughter. Then comes the agreement for peace and Lincoln sets about his superhuman task of healing the wounds by the application of that great love which made him the towering figure of his age. A fanatic's bullet stills the heart which beat so evenly for all humanity. The South is thrown back into a worse fate than war. Their lands are over-run by a horde of veneful politicians and grafters. The poor negro is enjoined into a false understanding of liberty, and in his ignorance is led into excesses by these sealawags of fortune. Out of it comes the ghostly garbed crusaders of a terrible era to once more set things aright and return the lands and liberties of peace to their rightful owners, and over the land's "miserere" sounds the chorus of brotherly love which has made the American nation so great after its baptism in its own blood.

The leasing of eight square miles of grazing land north of Prince Albert, Sask., by interests with headquarters in Holland, who intend going in for dairying on an extensive scale is stated to be the beginning of a Dutch colony in the West. The newcomers should prove welcome settlers. The Dutch are successful dairy farmers in their own land. Their fame as such being universal. In Saskatchewan the conditions are favorable, so the venture is likely to prove profitable to the community as well as to the workers.

"Billy" Sunday Will Start Recruiting Campaign Moment War is Declared by the United States on Germany

"Jesus you are taking a lot of back talk from the Kaiser," remarked William Asher Sunday, as he unfolded his newspaper and sipped his breakfast coffee in Buffalo, Friday morning. "I wish, Lord, you would tell America to help wipe Germany off the map, as you commanded Israel to destroy the idolators and corrupt Canaanites. Count Billy Sunday in up to his neck when war comes."

The evangelist, who has taken Buffalo, is poised for a spring drive against the New York division of Satan's army. "Billy" is ready to turn the light against "Teuton frightfulness" when Congress gives the word. "What will I do?" he echoed. "Why, I'll turn that New York tabernacle into a recruiting station. I'll call for recruits, volunteers, for the Christian U. S. Army. I'll have recruiting officers there to stir them up. I'll raise enough of an army myself to break down the devil's hordes that are murdering our women folks."

"Christ will be our commander in chief and he has Von Hindenberg beaten to a frazzle. And maybe he hasn't it in for Germany—the miserable heresy that crawled out of Leipsig and Heidelberg."

Billy Sunday believed that the United States will be at war with Germany before he opens his Gotham revival campaign in the tabernacle at Broadway and 148th Street on Easter Sunday. If there is a call to arms, he believes his first duty is to the nation rather than to New York.

The Toronto Methodist Ministerial Association favored asking Billy Sunday to speak in Toronto after the war, and decided to confer with the other denominations in the city as to possible co-operation in the venture. The evangelist is willing to come to Toronto, but as he told Rev. W. H. Hincks, he would rather come after the Canadians had helped to "beat the Kaiser to a frazzle."

Farmer Had No Kick

A Kansas farmer drove into Kansas City a few days ago for the purpose of buying a buggy and the salesman at an implement store showed him one at $90. "Talk about the high cost of living," the farmer grumbled. "I can remember that my father bought a buggy here, exactly like that one, for $60 some 26 years ago."

The salesman, who remembered the sale, responded quickly: "Your father turned in 300 bushels of corn to pay for it. Now, I'll do better by you than I did by your father. You bring in 300 bushels of corn and I'll let you pick out this list."

And the salesman wrote down:

- One $90 buggy.
- One $50 suit of clothes.
- One $20 dress.
- One $5 baby dress.
- One $5 crib.
- One $3 box of cigars.
- $2 worth of sugar.
- $1.50 worth of coffee.
- $1 worth of tea.
- $40 worth of gasoline.
- $2.50 worth of lubricating oil.

The total figured $240, the value of 300 bushels of corn if had taken to buy a $90 buggy 20 years before. The farmer climbed back into his motor car. "I guess I haven't got any kick coming on the high cost of living," he said. "Send out that $90 buggy."

Flying to the War

In his new book, "My Second Year of the War," Frederick Palmer, war correspondent, tells of a trip in an aeroplane from London back to the British front. Many people have wondered how the Allies replace the many aeroplanes which are lost in action or by accident on the western front. Mr. Palmer tells us that twenty new machines a day on the average fly across the Channel from the factories and arrive ready for the business of war. When Mr. Palmer was ready to return to France he made application at the War Office for permission to cross on one of the new machines. The general to whom he spoke appeared to regard the request as an ordinary matter of routine.

"Why not?" he said. "When are you going?"
 "Monday."
 He called up another general on the telephone and in a few words the arrangements were made.
 "And my baggage?" I suggested.
 "How much of it?"
 "A suit case."
 "The machine ought to manage that considering it carries one hundred and fifty pounds in bombs."

On Monday morning at the appointed hour I was walking past a soldierly line of planes flanking an airfield scattered with others that had just alighted or were about to rise and inquiring my way to the "Ferry-Pilot's" office. I found it, identified by a white lettered sign on a blackboard, down the main street of temporary buildings occupied by the aviators as quarters.

There was a storm over the Channel that morning, so all flights were postponed until the afternoon. Meantime the correspondent was asked to inspect the many machines that were to go over that day and to select the one he fancied. By afternoon the storm had subsided and the start was made. The plane crossed at a level of about 4,000 feet, which is lower than usual. The time occupied in crossing the Channel itself, and by no means at the narrowest point, was seventeen and a half minutes, which was said not to be fast. At the narrowest point the trip has been made in eight and a half minutes. The crossing of the Channel was only a small part of the journey, which ended at the front itself. The pilot and the passenger duly reported their arrival, the new plane was turned over to the proper official, and the pilot said briefly: "Good night, I'm off to catch the steamer to bring over another 'bus tomorrow." With him it was all in a day's work. In a few minutes the correspondent was in a motor car and the chauffeur was asking him if the "fly over" had been agreeable.

Trouble is Brewing in Spain

Washington, March 29—Frequent reports from Spain of widespread unrest because of her attitude toward the war and an almost universal food shortage, made officials at the State Department receive today's announcement of the suspension of constitutional guarantees without surprise.

Officials here, pointing out the similarity to the Russian revolution which also began through political unrest deepened by the food shortage, were unwilling to predict the outcome. Recent reports have shown the food shortage has been felt in cities and in the country as well. Germany's submarine warfare has sunk many Spanish vessels, and virtually stopped foreign trade. As a result the country has been threatened with an industrial crisis.

A deeper cause of dissension has been Spain's war policy. The court, the clergy and the army have been reported as decidedly pro-German, so that Spain has not been fully trusted by the Allies. Business interests, as in many other neutral countries, and the people generally, are reported anti-German. Spain has protested sinking of her ships with a varying degree of bitterness, but reports that she had sent an ultimatum to Germany in response to the demands of the business interests of the country have not been corroborated.

Spain refused to endorse President Wilson's peace note last winter on the ground that it was not opportune, and reports have been frequent that King Alfonso hoped to be the mediator at the end of the war. Germany is declared to have conducted a systematic campaign to spread that idea.

Senor Kiano the Spanish Ambassador, was without any official information on the situation in his country.

Why He Closed His Bar

(Christian Science Monitor) Frank Case, proprietor of the Algonquin Hotel, in New York, has closed his bar, which last year paid him a profit of more than $10,000, and says it will remain closed, because he does not wish to pay the cost of his small son's education with money received in that way. Least he be termed a sentimentalist, Mr. Case brings forth other reasons also to prove his assertion that a public bar as an adjunct of a hotel, cheapens the whole place.

The New York Times says that when the Germans seek to give the impression that they are accomplishing a great military feat by their retirement, it is simply forlorn whistling in a graveyard.

German Officer Admits That His Cause is Lost

With the British Armies in France March 28—Monsieur Le Cure Caron, parish priest of reconquered Voyennes said today:

"We knew last autumn of the Battles of the Somme, for we saw wounded Germans coming back until the roads seemed choked with mangled men. We saw other thousands going back after a brief rest, and heard them call out: 'Jesus, have mercy! Jesus, save us!' "A German officer a few days ago met me on the street and said, 'Father, we are lost.' "

British Chief of Staff in Italy

London, March 29—The most interesting piece of news from the war theatre today is the announcement of the visit to Robertson and General Weyland, the Italian front of Sir William G. B. Robertson, representing General Nivelle. It can be assumed that the presence of the British chief of staff and the representative of the French headquarters staff at the post of the Italian supreme command means that heavy fighting is expected in the war zone.

JERUSALEM

Again the Briton nears the ancient gates! The city of the Holy Sepulchre. Sits in its Eastern calm and dumbly waits. The coming of the legions from afar. They're dust a thousand years, the knightly train. That followed Richard's leopard-blazoned shield. Down the long road that valor pointed plain— The path of honor to the stricken field.

Now men as bold as they, their sires' sons, Toil through the sands where centuries ago Their forebears fought—awake with roaring guns The death who heard crusading trumpets blow.

Perchance the ghost of grim old Saladin, A scimitar across their path may fling, Yet shall one wave them onward till they win— The wraith of England's Lion hearted King! —O. C. A. Child, in N. Y. Times.

What the Huns Think of the Canadians

Sergt. J. D. Logan in the Halifax Chronicle tells us the Germans speak of soldiers, they have met in hot fights, as follows:

"The English fight for their country.

"The French fight for their country.

"But those Canadians, ach, Donner wetter, (oh! by thunder), they fight for the love of it and don't care a pfennig (penny) what happens, Nein. (No)"

The Canada Gazette of a recent date contains the name of Major Lawrence, N. B. Bullock, son of C. B. Bullock of this city as having won the D.S.O. Previous to the outbreak of the war Major Bullock had been engaged in the Yukon district as a mining engineer and was in Mexico when he answered the call. He took a commission as a lieutenant in a Nova Scotia Battalion and went overseas two years ago. In England he was offered a commission in a Middlesex Regiment and another in the Royal Engineers, but declined both offers, preferring to remain with the Canadian forces.

Russian Workmen Do the Right Thing

Petrograd, March 29—The workmen in all the factories engaged in manufacturing for the national defense have decided to renounce for the period of the war one of the fundamental items of the labor program, namely, the eight hour day, it is announced here semi-officially. The decision was taken in view of the necessity of augmenting the output of munition.

Despondent Over Death of Daughter

Despondency because of the death of a daughter in Halifax, last Sunday, following two years after the death of her husband, from which she had never quite recovered, is given as the reason why Mrs. Emily Hutchinson, an active Woman Suffrage worker in the Eighth Assembly District, threw herself to death from the third floor window of her home, at 287 Carroll Street, yesterday.

Mrs. Hutchinson was 67 years old, 2 years ago her husband, Capt. Joseph Hutchinson U.S.N., died in the Canal Zone while on duty there, and Mrs. Hutchinson had been despondent, her daughter in law stated yesterday, (March 17), and when Mrs. Hutchinson learned that one of her daughters had died in Halifax last Sunday she became even more downcast.

Mrs. Settag, who lives on a lower floor of the house, was the first to discover Mrs. Hutchinson's act, and shortly after 4 o'clock she awakened the younger Mrs. Hutchinson and told her she believed that her mother in law had jumped out of a bedroom window. The elder Mrs. Hutchinson was found in her night clothes, lying in the rear yard, apparently dead. Dr. G. W. Waugh of 388 Clinton Avenue, the family physician, was summoned, and pronounced the woman dead. She appeared to have fractured her spinal column, and her neck was broken.

Coroner Ernest C. Wagner after an investigation, declared that he believed the woman had committed suicide, as her daughter in law stated that she believed Mrs. Hutchinson had thrown herself from the window.

Mrs. Hutchinson was a native of Waterville, Kings Co., N. S., and was well known in Yarmouth, having taught school in the Yarmouth Seminary for some years.
