

A SURE RELIEF FOR WOMEN'S DISORDERS.

10 Days' Treatment Free.

Orange Lily is a certain relief for all disorders of women. It is applied locally and is absorbed into the suffering tissue. The dead waste matter in the congested region is expelled, giving immediate mental and physical relief; the blood vessels and nerves are toned and strengthened, and the circulation is rendered normal. As this treatment is based on strictly scientific principles, and acts on the actual location of the disease, it cannot help but do good in all forms of female troubles, including delayed and painful menstruation, leucorrhoea, falling of the womb, etc. Price $2.00 per box, which is sufficient for one month's treatment. A free Trial Treatment, enough for 10 days, worth 75c., will be sent free to any suffering woman who will send me her address.

CHAPTER XVI.

She took the flowers and thanked him with a smile, and he sat down beside her and talked in an under-tone. The French maid announced dinner. "Deane, will you take in my sister?" said Mr. Morgan Thorpe.

Trevor had already offered his arm, and he let it fall to his side and cowered at Bobby as he bore Laura off.

The dining-room was small, but it looked very cozy. The table was an oval, and lighted by a hanging lamp, carefully shaded, which threw a soft, rose-colored light upon Laura's exquisite face. The plate was electro-plate, but Bobby did not know this—the glass was good; there was a plateau of beautifully arranged flowers in the center of the table. Champagne stood in ice on the sideboard. The dinner was a good one, and the French woman waited with the noiseless dexterity of her nation. The champagne flowed freely, and Trevor allowed the maid to fill his glass pretty frequently.

He sat opposite Bobby and took little or no part in the conversation, but sat the well-arranged and dainty meal with a kind of sullen appreciation. Morgan Thorpe kept the talk going, and managed to get a good deal of information about his personal affairs from Bobby. Laura spoke now and again, and once or twice addressed herself directly to Bobby. She told him of her life on the Continent; of her loneliness here in London; and she looked so pensive and sad and breathless such a soft little sigh, that Bobby's heart thrilled with pity—for what he didn't know. When she was speaking to Bobby, Trevor watched them from under his lowered lids; and every now and then he glowered at Laura as if he resented her addressing any one but himself.

Mr. Thorpe grew still more cheerful and amusing as the dinner progressed and the champagne circulated, and Bobby thought the meal the most delightful he had ever eaten.

Presently Mrs. Dalton rose and gathered her fan and flowers together and smiled sweetly on the men, her smile resting longest on Bobby.

"Do not leave me in my loneliness too long," she said; and Bobby would have liked to have gone with her there and then.

Mr. Morgan Thorpe got some port and some cigarettes. Bobby felt somehow that he'd had enough wine and declined the port, but Morgan Thorpe insisted, and filled his glass.

"Good wine, though I say it, my dear Deane. It came from the cellar of my dear old grandfather, the earl." He didn't say which earl. "It is the only thing I am likely to have from him, alas!"

Something like a sneer passed over Trevor's thick lips as he filled his burgundy glass with "the earl's" port. As he drank, and he filled his glass several times, a faint flush rose to the pallor of his cheeks, and his eyes began to glow with a sudden fire; but he did not talk and sat twisting his glass about, his eyes shifting from one man's face to the other.

With the port and the cigarettes, Morgan Thorpe became a still more delightful companion. He seemed, to Bobby, to have been everywhere, and to know everything and everybody. He was full of reminiscences and anecdotes. It was, "I'll tell you a thing that happened to me when I was travelling in Hungary with the Duke of Seltberg," or, "a remarkable thing occurred to me when I was staying with the prince at the Marquis of Goodwin's shooting-box in Ayrshire." And he told all these fabulous stories so modestly and with such an air of truth, that Bobby could not but believe him.

The sound of a piano floated out to them from the drawing-room, and, as if it were a signal—which it was—Morgan Thorpe said, with a wistful glance at the decanter:

"We ought to join my sister. Will you take some more wine, my dear fellows?"

Bobby shook his head, but Thorpe filled Trevor's glass again, and Trevor tossed the wine off as if it were water.

They went into the drawing-room. Laura looked over her shoulder at Bobby with a smile, and Bobby, as if drawn to it, made straight for the piano. She had a wonderful touch, and played like an artist. Bobby had never heard such music. She played Chopin; a soft and sensuous nocturne which filled the small, perfumed room with an exquisite melody.

"Would you like some cards?" asked Morgan Thorpe in a casual way, when the nocturne was over. "Trevor, Deane, what do you say?"

"I don't care," said Trevor. "Yes; if you like."

"Those horrid cards!" said Laura, turning with raised brows and a little moue of disgust to Bobby. "I hope you're not fond of cards, Mr. Deane! I think they are so tiresome."

"I don't care a bit about them," said Bobby. Then, with a boyish desire to seem a man of the world, he added: "Of course I play sometimes—whist and loo."

"Don't play to-night," she said in a low voice. "If you will not, I will sing to you; and we can talk while the others are playing. Mr. Trevor is devoted to cards."

Bobby flushed, and was speechless. "Ah, well," said Mr. Morgan Thorpe, "if Deane doesn't care about it, you and I will have a hand at cards, Trevor."

He opened the card-table and got the cards, and the two men sat down and commenced to play.

"You said you would sing for me," said Bobby.

"And I will keep my promise," she said.

She sang as perfectly as she played. Her voice was not strong—a loud voice would have been too much for the small room—but it was exquisitely sweet, and managed—well, as artistically as were her eyes, her smile, her complexion.

She sang an Arab hunting song, and Bobby could hear the thud of the hoofs upon the sand, could feel the breath of the stirocco upon his cheek.

"Sing something else," he said.

She nodded at him, smiled, and sang a Tuscan love song. It was so exquisite, so moving, that Bobby's young heart, and unsophisticated heart beat nine-tenths to the dozen.

The champagne and the port, the air heavily laden with perfume, the fascination of this beautiful little creature, were mounting to his brain. He breathed hard.

"That was beautiful," he said. "What a lovely voice you have! I could listen to you all night."

"But I should be so tired!" she murmured, with a little plaintive smile.

"Ah! but, no! I love to sing for those who like to hear me, who love music; and I know you love it, Mr. Deane."

Under the spell of her voice, Bobby's head whirled. He could not speak. She rose from the piano.

"Let us see how they are going on," she said.

Light as a thistle-down she seemed to Bobby to float across the room. She went behind Trevor, and leaning her hand upon his shoulder, in a way that seemed to Bobby very friendly and girlish, said, gaily:

"Are you winning?"

Trevor looked up at her with an ardent look in his small eyes.

"Yes, at present," he said, nodding at a pile of money beside him.

"I am so glad!" she said. "It is not very satisfactory, but I like Morgan to lose."

"It doesn't lose often," remarked Trevor, glumly.

She looked at his cards, and raised her hand to the left side of her head, and stroked the soft black hair. Morgan Thorpe glanced at her hesitatingly. She repeated the action.

"I'll go you double this hand, if you like," he said, carelessly.

She bent over Trevor so that the soft tendrils of her hair touched his red head. He looked up at her with a sudden flush, and answered at random:

"Eh! Oh, yes; if you like. There, I've lost!" he said; and he laughed disconcertedly as he pushed the stakes across the table.

A fresh hand was dealt, and Laura remained behind Trevor. Something must have been the matter with her hair that night, for her white hand went up to it and smoothed it very often, now on the right side, now on the left, as she bent over him. He played wildly; the flush on his face grew redder, his eyes glanced up at her beautiful face with a kind of suppressed and sullen passion. He lost the small heap of money beside him, and the pile at Morgan's elbow grew larger. Morgan Thorpe stroked his mustache. As if it were a signal—which it was—she went back to Bobby, who had been turning over a photograph album in which her portrait appeared frequently.

"And so you are going into the army?" she said. "How I envy you being a man!"

Thereupon, Bobby was led to talk of his prospects. She listened to him with her soft black eyes fixed on his face with an expression of sympathy and liking. She went to the piano again and sang to him several times; but between the songs she fitted across the room and leaned over Trevor, her hand upon his shoulder as before. And as before, her hand wandered to her hair.

Strange to say, whenever she stood behind him, Trevor lost.

At last he rose with a discordant laugh and something like a muffled oath.

"I've lost all the coin I've got, Thorpe," he said. "Here's an I.O.U. for the rest."

He flicked the I.O.U. across the table.

"You've had bad luck, my dear boy," said Morgan Thorpe, pleasantly. "Ah, well; the beauty of cards is, that what you lose one day you win the next."

"Oh, is it?" said Trevor. "I don't find it so. I'm going."

He went up to Laura, and drawing her aside, talked to her in a low voice. She listened with a pensive smile—the non-committal smile which a woman knows how to manage so well—then she glided away from him to Bobby.

"I hope you will come to see us often," she said in a low voice.

Bobby tried to murmur his thanks. The French maid appeared with a spirit-stand. Bobby had some whiskey, though he didn't want it; he also accepted a big cigar, though he didn't want that. His brain was in a whirl; his bright eyes were flashing; his heart was beating fast. Laura was standing beside him, smiling up at him with a friendly, almost a loving, smile.

"I wonder whether you would come and dine with me?" he said, looking round with boyish eagerness, his eyes resting, however, on the beautiful face beside him. "I've got rooms at Prince's Mansions. They're not mine, really; they belong to a friend of mine, an awfully good fellow, Lord Gaunt—"

Mr. Morgan Thorpe, who alone heard this, was mixing himself a second glass of whiskey. He was just pouring in a small quantity of water, and with an awkwardness scarcely to be expected of so cool a hand, he let the carafe slip from his grasp. The water poured over the table, and in the confusion Bobby's speech was almost unnoticed.

"How clumsy of me!" exclaimed Morgan Thorpe. "Forgive me, my dear Laura. We shall be delighted, my dear Deane—delighted. Must you really be going? Ah, well, the happiest hours come to a finish."

Laura went out into the small hall as the two men put on their light overcoats. Bobby found difficulty with his, and she helped him with her small white hands.

"You will come again?" she said.

"Yes—yes, indeed!" said Bobby, "if you will be so good as to ask me."

He got outside, and the cool evening air struck upon his heated brow. He felt as if he had come from some enchanted palace in which a beautiful creature with soft black eyes had resigned like a queen of the fairies.

"Nice people," he said to Trevor, with boyish enthusiasm.

Trevor grunted.

"You know them very well?" said Bobby.

"What a lovely creature Mrs. Dalton is!" said Bobby, looking up at the sky.

Trevor eyed him with a kind of suppressed ferocity.

"Oh, you think so, do you?" he said. "Look here, Deane—"

There was so much suppressed savagery in his tone that Bobby stopped and stared at him.

Trevor bit his lip, and looked from side to side.

"We part here," he said. "Good-night."

Coal Strike Settlement in Sight— Kiel Canal to be International Waterway---Germany Must Compensate for Scapa Flow-- Greek Admiral Elected Regent.

COAL STRIKE SETTLED.
LONDON, Oct. 28.
The strike of the coal miners was settled this afternoon, but the settlement is contingent on a ballot of the miners.

THE BASIS OF SETTLEMENT.
LONDON, Oct. 28.
The prospect to-night is that the coal strike will terminate by the end of next week through the miners' acceptance of the agreement arranged with the Government under which the miners will get two shillings advance unconditionally until the end of the year, and in future their wages will be settled by the creation of a National Wages Board. The wages will in the interval be settled on the basis of increase or decrease according to surplus profits or otherwise from coal exports. This depends upon such complex calculations as to render it hardly possible for any miner to understand it, therefore in the ballot to be taken next Tuesday and made returnable Wednesday, the miners must necessarily be guided by the recommendation of their leaders. The leaders favor a settlement on these terms. The agreement is skillfully added so that all concerned including the coal miners will be interested in increasing the output, as in case of decreased output the owners will be penalized by a reduction in their ten per cent share of the surplus profits.

GERMANY AGREES.
PARIS, Oct. 28.
Germany, according to despatches submitted to the Council of Ambassadors, will strictly observe the Allies' interpretation of the clause in the Peace Treaty providing that the Kiel Canal shall be free to international traffic. This is a reversal of the German Government's previous attitude under which vessels carrying arms to Poland were stopped. Early this month the Council of Ambassadors sent a note to Germany demanding the immediate release of the three ships loaded with munitions for Poland, which were being held in the Kiel Canal by German authorities. The note pointed out that Germany's attitude constituted a direct violation of the Treaty of Versailles, inasmuch as that Treaty specifies that the Kiel Canal is free waterway for all nations of the world. Germany had taken the position that she was neutral in the Russia-Poland war and that therefore she could not permit the passage of the ships.

ENGLAND SUBMITS AGREEMENTS.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.
Great Britain has submitted to the League of Nations for registration and publication, sixteen international agreements entered into by her since the Covenant of the League came into force last January, according to advices received here to-day, from headquarters of the League Council. "These agreements," said the advice, "include engagements of the Empire as a whole and specific engagements of India, South Africa and Canada. They cover such widely different subjects as the Anglo-France Oil Agreement, signed at San Remo, an agreement on commercial relations with Estonia, and an agreement with Soviet Russia for the exchange of prisoners, and various acccessions and denunciations regarding treaties which existed before January tenth. The registration of these agreements is in compliance with Article Eighteen of the Covenant which provides that no treaty or international engagement shall be binding until registered."

FURTHER FIGHTING IN IRELAND.
TIPPERARY, Ireland, Oct. 28.
Two soldiers were shot down and three were wounded when a military lorry was attacked by civilians near Thomastown about ten miles south-east of Kilkenny to-day. The battle raged half an hour and it is believed there were also casualties among the civilians.

GERMANY MUST MAKE GOOD.
PARIS, Oct. 28.
Germany must deliver two hundred and seventy five thousand tons of shipping to the Allies as compensation for the sinking of the German fleet in Scapa Flow, the Reparations Commission decided to-day.

AUSTRALIA AS A BORROWER.
LONDON, Oct. 28.
Speaking at a luncheon tendered to Governor Kell, of the Australian Commonwealth Bank, Austen Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said that while he could not welcome Australian Corporations as borrowers of short money under present circumstances which would make them competitors with herself in Great Britain's hour of need, they would always have the British Government's good will when they invited investors to take up long term issues for development of the Commonwealth.

REGENT OF GREECE.
LONDON, Oct. 28.
The Greek Chamber of Deputies has elected Admiral H. Coundouriotis as Regent of Greece by a vote of one thirty seven to three, says a despatch to the London Times from Athens. Admiral Coundouriotis is Minister of Marine in Venizelos' Cabinet.

DRESSMAKER SAVED FROM OPERATION

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in Time.

Ithaca, N.Y.—"Three years ago I suffered from pains in my right side, so severe that I could not raise my feet from the floor. Pains would shoot down my limbs and through my back, and the doctor said I had an abscess. I was in bed two weeks with an icebag on my side and expected any day that I might have to go to a hospital for an operation. A friend came to see me and told me of your wonderful medicine—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I began taking it, and after taking six bottles I feel well and strong, do my own work and do dressmaking for others. I cannot speak too highly of your medicine and recommend it to others who suffer with female troubles. It is a Godsend to ailing women, and you may use my name at any time."—Mrs. PERILLA HULSIZER, 218 E. Fall St., Ithaca, N.Y.
Women who suffer from any such ailments should not fail to try this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

No Such Luck.
A few days ago a well-dressed and charming young lady hailed a four-wheeler, there being no taxi in sight. Just as she was getting in she noticed that the horse seemed inclined to be tricky.

He was jumping about and swishing his tail in a way that alarmed her—she was a timid little thing. So she addressed a few words to the aged John.
"I hope," she said, smiling bravely, "that you will not run away with me."
The cabby sighed mournfully—"No, mum," he replied "I have a wife and seven kids at 'ome already."

Hidden Gold.

It is exactly four centuries since Cortez and his handful of Spaniards destroyed the Aztec civilization in their mad lust for gold. To-day a collection of Aztec and Inca gold valued at a million sterling is on view at the museum of the University of Pennsylvania.

All this has been dug up at various times and in various places, from the caves and hiding-places in which it was originally buried by its Indian owners. Idols, amulets, ornaments, household utensils—the collection covers almost the whole range of uses to which these two lost civilizations put what was to them their commonest metal. Nor can it be doubted that millions more of similar treasure lie hidden, awaiting the pick and spade of the enterprising explorer.

Treasure seeking is the most fascinating pursuit in the world, and once a man is bitten with the craze he never abandons the search. There is not a year in which a treasure-seeking expedition is not fitted out to search for some hidden hoard, and although success does not come to one in a hundred, yet the certainty that such treasures do lie hidden on lonely bays or at the bottom of sandy bays is ever the bait for fresh effort.

Some do achieve success. Witness the famous case of John Phipps, who began life as a ship's carpenter and ended it as Sir John Phipps, Governor of Massachusetts. His fortune was founded on the recovery of thirty-two tons of silver from a Spanish wreck off Hispaniola (Hayti).

La Fitte, a famous French buccaneer, buried a great hoard in the Leeward Islands, and was killed in a sea fight in the Gulf of Mexico in 1819, without being able to recover it. There is every reason to believe that a certain little vessel of 400 tons, fitted out in the Thames in 1838, carried a company who successfully retrieved this treasure.

There are heaps of treasure in Hayti. When, in 1790, the blacks rose and the French planters were forced to flee for their lives, they buried their gold in gardens and houses. In or about 1898 a poor man at Cape Haytien suddenly began to buy land, horses, and boats. He had found £3,000 in a chest under the half-ruined house in which he lived. A speculator then bought the house, pulled it all down, and discovered further treasure worth £40,000.

But the most famous of lost treasures is that supposed still to exist among the Cocon Islands, which lie some 500 miles west of Panama. No less than twelve million pounds is the value spoken of, and within the past twenty-five years half-a-dozen costly expeditions have vainly sought for this enormous fortune.

The story is that in 1835, when Lima was threatened by insurgents, the rich citizens put all their valuables aboard the barque Mary Dyer and sent her to the Cocon for safe keeping. Her crew quarrelled, most were killed, and the secret of the hiding-place was lost.

Talking From Earth to An Aeroplane.

Wireless Wonders One Can Scarcely Believe True.

We shall have to prepare ourselves for a new shock—a shock which may come at any moment and almost anywhere.

A voice can now be projected through space, and may reach the person for whom it is intended as if from another world.

This marvel is effected by wireless telephony. Recently an oral message was sent across the Atlantic—from Ballybunion, in the south of Ireland, to a station in Nova Scotia—without any connecting wire, and the voice of the speaker was easily recognized at the receiving end. The energy necessary for this achievement was actually less than is provided on an ordinary motor-cycle.

Wireless telephony has also been applied to the fire brigade service, though only experimentally. By fitting a fire-engine with an apparatus that anybody can work, its crew can keep in touch with headquarters over distances exceeding even those covered by the London Fire Brigade.

Still more remarkable, perhaps, is a further expansion of wireless telephony. It is possible for a business man, sitting at his desk, and using the ordinary telephone at his elbow, to "call up" somebody who is in mid-air forty or fifty miles away.

The application of wireless telephony to aeronautics began during the war, and since then it has been extended to commercial aviation, many of the aeroplanes now carrying goods and passengers having been equipped by the Marconi Company with wireless telephones. These, however, are more powerful than those which were used for military purposes, their working range extending to between one hundred and one hundred and fifty miles.

At present the connecting links is a special line which the Post Office authorities have installed between London and Croydon Aerodrome—a line which was first used for commercial purposes a few weeks ago. Anxious to communicate with the pilot of a certain machine on its way

When London Was Faced With Ruin.

DRAMAS OF STOCK EXCHANGE PANICS.

Conceived in a coffee-house and cradled in the nineteenth century.

Such was the genesis of the London Stock Exchange. But the Stock Exchange was really born with its splendid new home in Capel Court at the beginning of last century. Brokers were busy in London as long ago as our third Edward's time.

In the seventeenth century they were shouting themselves hoarse in the Royal Exchange; and when these quarters became too crowded they migrated to Change Alley, with their headquarters in Jonathan's coffee-house.

It was only after further changes of home—to the Bank of England and to a house in Threadneedle Street—that the Stock Exchange went to Capel Court.

And what a dramatic history it had during those years of wandering! We hear of Thomas Guy, bookseller and lighterman's son, waxing rich by speculating in Change Alley, and leaving £240,000 to found the splendid hospital which bears his name; Sampson Gideon, the Jew, picking up a million by spectacular gambling, none too honest; and Alexander Fordyce, an Aberdeen hosiery, qualifying as the "richest man in London" until the crash came which ruined hundreds and left him £4,000,000 in debt.

There was the rise of the South Sea Bubble. Stock at one time quoted at a pound rose to £1,200 in a few delirious months. Two months later it

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

A FOOLISH "PHOBIA."

A neighbor of ours was telling with evident pride that her two little girls were terribly afraid of thunderstorms.

Why are people who are afraid of thunderstorms or who have people in their families obsessed that way, so seldom ashamed of this needless, childish fear? And why is this fear so much more common than many other forms of fear, when there is so much need for it?

Of course people are killed by lightning now and then, but how often? Statistics for one of the largest states in the Union showed that in 1918 seven people were killed by lightning in that state—that was one in 500,000. In the whole United States the ratio was slightly larger—one in 200,000.

The Imperial German Air Force.

Absorbingly interesting as are many of the war books still being published, none recently has made quite as strong an appeal as Major George Paul Neumann's "German Air Force in the Great War," of which The Times has given British readers a generous foretaste. Air-raids are yet a vivid memory, and the intended victim may marvel at his escape when he realizes how much skill and valor and infernal invention were brought to bear for his undoing. But the upshot of it all was that the British airman beat the German at his own deadly game. The Germans always thought their work was more thorough than in the worst cases it proved to be, and for this impression the photograph, which has hitherto enjoyed a reputation for inflexible truth, was often responsible. Among the novelties which aircraft contributed to the war was the repeated performance of the "Wolf-schen," the seaplane which accompanied the raider, "Wolf," in holding up and escorting New Zealand, American, and Japanese boats to the raider's lair. German airmen found the British Secret Service too much for them. First Lieut. Schutz tells how, after the Turks broke in Mesopotamia, he returned from Germany with a new type of machine with which he hoped to surprise the British. In order to confound them he flew 300 miles from Baghdad railroad to the front in one day, but in vain! Within a few hours a British machine appeared, and dropped a tin of cigarettes with a message welcoming him back, and promising a Baghdad melon when in season! The end of the Imperial German Air Force was as bitter a pill to Germany as the collapse of her army and the surrender of her fleet. In a poignant note, Colonel Siegert sees it as the sunken city of his dreams, and hears afar off the ringing of the bells—"Atlantis!"—United Empire.

BETTER DAYS.

For long, long months we've lived to spend, but now our orgy sees its end, and better days begin; the man who has a bunch of bones now asks himself, in stentor tones, "Why should I blow them in? Why feed my money to the cows when your savings bank allows a seemingly interest rate? Too long, too long I've thrown away the shining plunks I drew as pay, and hit a gait." And now the merchant princes rise, and say to clerks and kindred guys, "Our prices must come down; so let's reduce some pica-yunes on every pair of pantaloons, and every velvet gown." And all the hungry profiteers are doubtless filled with sordid fears, as they size up their rolls; doomed is the graft they long have held, the easy marks have all rebelled, and they must hunt their holes. An end to profiteering crimes will come, I've said, in countless rhymes, and many a deathless screed, when people, sane again once more, refused to purchase at the store the junk they did not need. And now that happy day has come, or all the signs are on the bum, and all the omens punk; and Father, when he draws his wage, won't seek the marts, in noble rage, to blow his bottom plunk.

AUTUMN EVENINGS.

Apples on the table an' the grate-fire blazin' high. Oh, I'm sure the whole world hasn't any happier man than I; The mother sittin' mendin' little stockin's, toe an' knee, An' tellin' all that's happened through the busy day to me; Oh, I don't know how to say it, but these cosy autumn nights Seem to glow with true contentment an' a thousand real delights.

The dog sprawled out before me knowin' huntin' days are here, Coz in dreams he seemed to whimper that a flock o' quail are near— An' the children playin' checkers till it's time to go to bed, Callin' me to settle question whether black can take a red; Oh, these nights are filled with gladness, an' I puff my pipe an' smile, An' tell myself the struggle an' the work are much worth while.

The flames are full o' pictures that keep dancin' to an' fro, Bringin' back the scenes o' gladness o' the happy long ago. An' the whole wide world is silent an' I tell myself just this— That within these walls, I cherish, there is all my world there is! Can I keep the love abiding in these hearts so close to me, An' the laughter of these evenings, I shall gain life's victory.

Fashions and Fads.

Veils are embroidered in Ramage effect in designs suggestive of laces motifs.

In fancy mesh veillings, the dainty lightweight creations are preferred. The newest gloves effect the gauntlet top, and many are fancifully striped.

The Peter Pan collar, made of exquisite lace, is worn with a small bow tie.

A silk glove for spring has a fancy embroidered cuff in contrasting color. Important in the millinery world are a new ruby shade and a startling turquoise.

Duveltyne in brown and tan shades is favored for the more expensive frocks.

For tailored and street frocks, long tight sleeves and snug shoulders are proper.

Suits and coats of elaborate fabrics are featured in place of fur-trimmed models.

There are new elastic bandeaux which are without straps and which flatten the bust.

Long loop panels which cover the knee start at the line of the shallow yoke of the bodice.

Panel of royal blue lace are featured on a black velvet dress in draped princess effect.

An exquisite new color for velvet evening wraps is deep sapphire with a tinge of emerald green.

Evening wraps feature brilliant colors and are usually of metallic cloth lined with silver satin.

Duveltyne vestees, pipings and facings, in some contrasting color, are used on serge and tricotine frocks.

To wear with the riding habit is a sports stock of hunters' green pinned with a small emerald horseshoe.

Lace dresses are trimmed with applique flowers of leather and kid, and designs of glycerined ribbon flowers.

Frocks which feature full lace tunics are ornamented by bits of pastel-colored ribbon in the folds of the lace.

Although short sleeves are featured by very smart models, the long sleeve will be most popular for fall and winter.

A tunic of white crystal and black beads is worn over a silver cloth foundation. Black tulle side panels form a train.

Luxurious Bathing.

The average American's idea of a bath is a tubful of warm water and plenty of good soap, and it would hardly seem to him that the matter of bathing afforded much scope for eccentricity. Not a few celebrities, however, have in times past regarded water as entirely too common a thing to apply to their exalted persons, and milk has been the usual substitute. Beau Brummell was one of these particular persons, and even when a prisoner for debt at Caen he used to have a quantity of milk left daily at the gate for bathing purposes. The famous gambler, the Duke of Queensberry, took a milk bath every morning. These and most other milk-bathers were satisfied with ordinary milk, apparently, but Poppaea, wife of the tyrant Nero, kept a herd of 500 asses to supply her with milk in which to bathe. Even when banished, this particular lady would not give up the habit, though forced to part with her magnificent porphyry bathtub and to content herself with but fifty asses.

Marie Antoinette's bath was a decoction of serpolet, laurel leaves, wild thyme, marjoram, sea salt, and water, while crushed strawberries and raspberries appealed to Mme. Tallien. To a bath of perfumed water were added twenty pounds of strawberries and two pounds of raspberries, and this mixture, it is asserted, kept the skin as smooth and soft as velvet. Isabel of Bavaria had a most catholic taste in bathing fluids. While she approved of milk, such preparations as water distilled from the honey extracted from roses, melon juice, the milky extract of green barley, and preparations containing almonds and yolks of eggs made a stronger appeal. John Law, the originator of the famous Mississippi Bubble, added to his already perfumed bath water the yolks of 100 eggs, some veal broth and wine.

Wine baths have been frequent, and in France during the seventh century they were in great vogue among the beauties of the court.

In each of these instances the preservation of a beautiful skin or complexion, or the hope of attaining such, was the motive. About everything one can think of has been used at one time or another with the hope of improving health, and baths in various kinds of mud supposed to have particular medicinal qualities are still popular.

What British Sport Costs

John Bull spends $240,000,000 each year on sport. Horse racing, which heads the list, accounts for a quarter of that sum. There are 265 days of each year devoted to this sport alone, and more than 1,500 events. Next on the list comes hunting, which costs $40,000,000, angling $20,000,000, cricket $15,000,000, football $12,500,000, golf $7,500,000, cycling $7,500,000, yachting $5,000,000, coursing $2,500,000; on the remaining outdoor sports of all sorts, $240,000,000. So large is the sum that, if it were converted into gold, it would require a train a mile long to transport it. So heavy is the gold spent on sport in one year that it would require 7,540 porters to carry it, each with a burden of a hundredweight. If John Bull made a golden carpet of the forty-eight million sovereigns, people to the number of over 182,000 could comfortably stand on it.

Railway Trainmen Hold First Reunion.

Last night the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen held their first reunion in their rooms, C.L.B. Armoury, which took the form of a dinner, concert and dance. Every member of the Brotherhood in the city attended, many of whom were accompanied by their lady friends. There were also representatives of the Lodges of Brotherhood of Firemen and Engineers, Brotherhood of Clerks and Freight Handlers, and Brotherhood of Telegraphers. The rooms were beautifully decorated with national flags and flowers, and in a conspicuous place was displayed the charters of the different Brotherhoods who are all united under one Supreme Lodge with headquarters in the U. S. A. and Canada. The catering was looked after by Mr. Edward Baker, who fills every position on the road from cook to conductor, and was most successfully carried out. Following is the menu:

- Soup—Tomato.
- Fish—Boiled Cod.
- Meats—Roast Beef, Baked Ham.
- Vegetables—Riced Potatoes, Mashed Turnips, Green Peas.
- Dessert—Apples, Oranges, Grapes, Nuts, Raisins, Apple Tart, Tea and Coffee.

After the party had taken freely of the good dishes Chef Baker had provided, the following toast list was taken up, Conductor Charles Lush, President of the Brotherhood, presiding:

- "The King"—Prop. Chairman; resp. "God Save the King."
 - "Grand and Terra Nova Lodges"—Pro. Bro. F. Wright; resp. Bro. C. A. Lush.
 - "Sister Lodges"—Prop. Bro. W. Hawco; resp. Bro. D. P. Redmond.
 - "Reid Nfd. Co."—Prop. Bro. S. Noseworthy; resp. Bro. W. Fitzpatrick.
 - "Our Guests"—Prop. Bro. T. Rossiter; resp. Bro. R. Gaul.
 - "The Press"—Prop. R. O'Neill; resp. Representatives.
 - "The Ladies"—Prop. Bro. C. Cleary; resp. Bro. A. Blackler.
 - "The Chairman"—Prop. Bro. L. Wright; resp. the Chairman.
 - "GOD SAVE THE KING."
- During the toast list songs were given by Bros. L. Cleary, J. Turner and others. The different speeches were of exceptional merit and proved that the trainmen are just as capable at after dinner speaking as they are at their general work, which at times is most strenuous.

Herring Fishery Notes.

The Bay of Islands herring fishery has commenced, about the first fishing was on Saturday when catches ranging from three to eight tubs were taken along the shore from Red Rocks to Gillams.

On Monday there was good fishing at various parts of the Humber Arm. At McIvers boats had from ten to forty tubs per feet. At Meadows and McCarthy's catches were from eight to fifteen tubs. One fleet off Summerside had twenty four tubs on Monday morning. J. Furlong had three tubs of St. Mary's Brook on Monday.

There was a good sign of herring at Middle Arm on Saturday, but reports say the fish were not of the usual large run, but that might be due to second hand gear being used.

Some of the Scotch packing factories have commenced operations. On Saturday A. G. Brake at Meadows took about thirty tubs. Eugene Baggis, Ltd., began taking herring on Monday and Bagg Bros. have their factory in readiness. R. E. Boak's factory at Middle Arm was to commence on Monday. Bashes were ready to commence on Monday. Maurice Boland commenced on Saturday, and others will likely commence this week.

On Saturday some herring sold at $2.50 a barrel and others at $3.00. On Monday the general price was $3.00. Only a few of our people yet have any gear in the water but by the end of the present week however, it is expected the fishery will be in full swing.

We have heard of two Gloucester vessels coming for salt bulk. The two Howard schooners are also expected here from New York for salt bulk cargoes and it was rumored on Monday that some two or three Nova Scotia vessels were coming for cargoes. Unless a number of vessels come seeking salt bulk cargoes some of our fishermen say that they will not engage in the voyage because of the factories in the past being unable to handle any great quantities of fish at one time, and when there is big fishing it is difficult to dispose of all the catch owing to the limited market with the absence of these salt bulkers.

We understand some enquiries are being made for split herring and present indications point that there will likely be a demand for that class of cure the approaching season. There is also some enquiry regarding frozen herring, but the season is yet too early to say anything on that line. The great drawback regarding the frozen herring industry in the past has been the lack of facility for getting the goods to market.—Western Star.

To-Day's Messages.

THE FIRST SNOW.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 28. Reports of the first snowfall of the season were received to-day by the Weather Bureau here from points in Northern Missouri, Iowa and down State regions in Illinois. Heavy frosts were reported in Northern Texas and Omaha.

FIGHT OVER COFFIN.
HOLYHEAD, Wales, Oct. 28. Relatives of the late Lord Mayor MacSweeney resisted when the authorities started to place the body on board the boat bound for Cork to-night. After a fight over the coffin, however, the body was taken aboard the vessel, which sailed for Cork.

GREAT INTEREST IN RACE.
HALIFAX, Oct. 29. Excitement over the international fishing schooner races has become feverish on the day before the event. The schooner Delawana, Canadian contender for the cup, sailed from Lunenburg this morning with a tremendous send-off. The American boat, Esperanto, which has been at the city wharf for a day, has been besieged by visitors, as the finishing touches are put to her rigging and her ballast finally adjusted. Capt. Marty Welch, of the Gloucester schooner, is the man of the hour here, and will be, until Capt. Thomas Himmelman in the Delawana arrives this afternoon to share honors. Halifax is the Mecca of newspapermen from American cities.

Trouble for Nothing.
"WHITE NAPE" LABRADOR FISH UNSALEABLE.
An unfortunate fisherman who made the Coaker white nape Labrador fish was at the Board of Trade Rooms to-day seeking a purchaser. He had tried nearly every premises in the city and not one would handle it. As a last resort he went to the Marine and Fisheries Department to ask the maker of the regulations to buy, but we were informed that neither that gentleman, his secretary, nor "Muttie II." could be seen. The fish is of splendid quality, but recent advices from London say that white nape Labrador was not wanted in the English market.

Prominent St. John's Men in Town.
A trio of distinguished Newfoundlanders arrived here on the belated steamer Kyle, which was upwards of three hours behind her regular schedule. They were Hon. S. D. Blandford, High Sheriff of the New Dominion, B. B. Stafford, manager of the wholesale drug firm of Doctor F. Stafford and Sons, and Dr. H. M. Mosdell, editor of the St. John's Daily Star. It is understood the mission of these gentlemen, who are on their way to Toronto, is in connection with the erection in St. John's of a modern hotel. They leave for the queen city to-night.—North Sydney Herald, Oct. 26.

Express Passengers.
The following first class passengers arrived at Port aux Basques this a.m. by the S. S. Kyle and are on the incoming express: A. Hayward, A. Williams, W. McIsaac, C. H. McPartridge, Miss M. O'Quinn, Mrs. A. H. Vinez, Mrs. R. Gardener, Mrs. G. Pike, J. A. Paradis, Mrs. J. Davidson, H. Mittleberger, W. S. Kaeff, H. C. Harvey, W. Tifford, Miss M. Smart, A. Dingwell, Mrs. Geo. Scott, Mrs. M. J. Cleary, Mrs. J. Ryan, Mrs. M. Sheard, Rev. J. S. Hamilton, R. Smith, W. Burt, H. Snow.

Shipping Notes.
Schr. Minnie D. arrived at Wood's Island from Halifax with a cargo of salt to R. Boak & Co., and has entered to load herring.

Norwegian steamer Utsire arrived at Botwood last evening from St. John, N.B., in ballast, and will load pulp from the A. E. Read Co.

S. S. Daisy is at Grand Bank on Revenue service.

S. S. Hochelaga arrived at Aquathana from Sydney with three cars miscellaneous freight.

Schr. Elizabeth D. arrived at Fogo from Sydney to Earle & Sons with 116 tons coal.

Schr. Esther Hankinson, 54 days from Bahia, arrived in port this morning to A. S. Rendell & Co.

Schr. Little Princess left port this morning for Hr. Grace, being towed by S. S. Cabot, to go on dock for repairs.

Schr. Fabricins, loaded with shore fish by Earle & Sons, is now due at Alicante. Her cargo is being sold to-day.

Small Exports.
During the month of October 5 vessels and one steamer, the S.S. Znefeld cleared from St. John's with cargoes of fish for market. The amount of fish exported amounted to only 44,000 qts.

The Newest Nomenclature.

But Fish Do Not Sell Any Better. Along the waterfront to-day from one end of the city to the other, there are only seven schrs. handling fish. Three of these are landing Labrador, three are landing shore and one schooner is taking back. This latter had quite a lot of West India, for which practically nothing could be obtained, so the unfortunate owner was storing it in his vessel again, as was remarked by one of the handlers, "for ballast." It was noticeable that the only firms to-day helping the fishermen out are those opposed to the regulations, the Advisory Board and the other lawmakers handling practically none. Labrador—no that is not the correct term—"Choice, heavy salted, soft cured Newfoundland" fish, not as dry as ordinary prime, is we are informed, selling for $8.25 per quintal, when the owner can locate such a quality. Work is scarce too, and at one premises over 50 men applied for jobs after the full complement needed had been secured. This gang of men split into smaller bunches and went both East and West without any success.

Compromise Offer.

We understand that yesterday the Railway Commission met and offered a compromise to the demands for increased pay by the Railroad Brotherhood. The increase offered is not as much as was wanted but it is believed that it will prove satisfactory to the men when it is submitted to them by their executive.

Rink Course Measured.

In connection with the big sporting event which takes place in the Prince's Rink on November 22nd, the C.C.C. Boat Club had the rink measured. Contestants in the sports will have the satisfaction of knowing that the distance covered is correct, and any records made will be official. It takes 16 courses of the rink to make the mile.

Harbor Grace Notes.

The schooner Union Jack, Captain A. Lahey, came off dock yesterday afternoon after having some painting done.

Mrs. R. S. Munn and daughter, Muriel, left here yesterday for St. John's to spend a few days there.

The little steamer Minoru, Captain A. H. Nicholas, arrived in port yesterday.

Mr. F. R. Ward, of the Cable Staff here, having spent a very enjoyable holiday, is now back to town again.

There passed peacefully away to the great beyond on Wednesday, 27th inst., a respected townsman in the person of Mr. Charles French, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph French of the West End. Deceased had been a contractor by trade, which he followed up till ill health prevented him, and for the past summer was unable to do any kind of work, but gradually weakened, and at last fell a victim to that dread disease, Consumption. Besides his mother and father, he leaves to mourn a wife (nee Miss Mary Tetford) and six helpless children, (the oldest being only ten years of age), also one brother, Mr. Walter French, residing here, and three brothers in the U.S.A., and one sister, Mrs. Eldred Sheppard, of Grand Falls. The funeral takes place to-morrow (Friday), interment being at the Methodist Cemetery. The town extends sincere sympathy to the sorrow stricken family in this hour of their great bereavement.

Amongst those visiting the town the past few days there has been Messrs. Charles Butt of Spaniard's Bay, and Theophilus Hart of Lady Cove. Mr. G. Christian of Messrs. Archibald Bros., Ltd., was also in town on Wednesday.

Schooner Innovation, Captain M. H. Randall, went on dock this afternoon.

The many friends of Mr. Arthur Tapp were pleased to see him out again the other day, after being very ill for the past month or so, and trust that he will regain his former good health in due course.

S.S. Seal is due here some time to-night from the Labrador.

We notice that one grocer in town is selling turnips at $4.00 per barrel; this, no doubt, will be the general price. So far, the farmers have been holding back in order to get a settled price.

CORRESPONDENT.

F. B. McCurdy Firm Being Purchased.

Former Association of F. B. McCurdy Remains With New Concern.

It was announced recently that Johnston and Ward have acquired the business of F. B. McCurdy and Company, which was founded by Mr. McCurdy in 1901, and was subsequently extended until it became one of the leading financial houses of Canada, with branches at Montreal, Halifax, Sydney, Moncton, St. John, Sherbrooke and St. John's, Newfoundland. The firm was the proprietor of two seats on the Montreal Stock Exchange, the Exchange members being Alfred Sower and K. R. Schofield.

During the first ten years of the business, Mr. McCurdy gave unremitting attention to the development, but from the date of his entry into politics in 1911, owing to his extended absences, the more active conduct of the business has been in the hands of his partners. His assumption of the duties of Minister of Public Works demands the whole of his time, and since the bye-election of September 20th, the announcement of his retirement from business, has, therefore, been generally expected by the street.

Fashion's Newest Costumes

FROM Fashion's Centre, New York, we received last week a very striking selection of Ladies' Costumes for Fall and Winter wear. In fine Serges, and the new Llama Cloths, exquisitely trimmed and braided, these new Costumes are remarkable for beauty of line and design, and quality of material.

Here are all the smartest new shades, sizes to suit all buyers, and we make a special feature of REALLY never stocking any two Costumes alike.

When you are looking for your Fall Costume ask to see the new Pleated Straight-line Skirts in plaids and plain materials, they are the latest fad, and very graceful in wear.

U. S. Picture & Portrait Co.

The purchasers of the business are Johnston and Ward. Captain Stanley Johnston, M.C., late of the Canadian Machine Gun Corps, has associated with him in the new firm, R. H. Mettler, Alfred Bowser and K. R. Schofield, all of who have been actively connected with the firm of F. B. McCurdy and Company for many years. Captain Johnston has enjoyed extensive previous experience in banking.

Johnston and Ward will continue business along the lines of the firm of F. B. McCurdy and Company, as a commission house.

Is It Graft?

Nothing that the Telegram, Herald or News may say can have the slightest effect, according to the Advocate, in influencing the Government not to lend public monies to Fish Exporters to buy Labrador Fish. If that be so the fault of making such an advance will be Coaker's only, just as the credit will be Coaker's only, if the advance is made. It is well to have the saddle placed on the right horse. The Advocate tells us that "the loan would mean the salvation of the fishing interests of the country," and "help the country," and "if the fishermen and trade require assistance, why should such aid not be forthcoming?" It is peculiarly noticeable that the Coaker organ refers to certain exporters as "Tory Commerce Raiders," and to certain other exporters as "having invested their every penny in purchasing fish," and "as requiring assistance." Apparently, then, the Tory merchants are solvent and do not want public money, while Coaker's crowd are in need of it. The loan, therefore, of public money or the guarantee of public credit is to be made to help Coaker and his associates alone.

Now what is to be loaned? Public money or public credit? The proposition is, that either certain cash in the Treasury of the Colony shall be loaned to the Coaker clique with which to buy fish—or that their notes of hand—as it were—shall be endorsed by the colony and paid by the public when due, unless paid for by the proceeds of the fish sold. The public money has been or will be collected in the form of customs duties on goods consumed by all the people. The public credit is based upon the power to tax the whole people. Therefore whether cash or guarantee be given, it is the people at large who must pay, or the public property, which is the security. And the exporter friends of Mr. Coaker are to be the speculators and possible beneficiaries with this money! They are to be helped to buy fish at the present low price, and sell it at a higher price later on, and pocket all the profit! But if loss should ensue the public is to foot the bill. "Heads I win, tails you lose," is the proposal that Mr. Coaker's friends are supposed to get away with, according to the notion of the Advocate.

The argument is that when Banks will advance no more, when the Coaker coterie have no more money, it is a wise and prudent thing to lend public money or public credit to the latter, to enable them to buy and hold fish till their own fish have been sold, and then launch the guaranteed purchases on a glutted market. But why not? The loss will fall on the public and the clique will rake in a fat profit while the game is going on. And how is this fish, purchased with public money or public credit, to be cared for, shipped and marketed? If it is to be looked after by the exporters, what expenses are they to be allowed to charge to the venture! What freight in their own vessels may they charge to it, and who shall censor their sale of it abroad? What commissions are Hawes & Co., and the big three to collect for handling and selling? The venture may be so loaded down with graft, that not one dollar of public money invested in it may ever be recovered. And how is this Government Fish, when taken into the exporters' store, to be kept separate from the other fish already there? Will there be safeguards to prevent it from being robbed of all that is good in it, and its place taken by refuse? The Government's Fish would soon, we think, be "rotten fish" for the whole project is rotten to the core, and smells to high heaven as a clumsy job of grafting.

Notes and Comments.

What about that plot to make Warren Premier? Who is engineering it?

What the people of St. John's desire mostly is not a demonstration of the up-to-dateness of the two Coal hauling trucks, recently imported, but a real demonstration of local coal coming into the city.

Fish and Sugar both under Government Control. For the latter the consumer is compelled to pay top-notch prices, while the producer is unable to dispose of his holdings of the former at anything like reasonable rates.

The Star has rediscovered Mr. Coaker, and is now as lavish in flattering that gentleman as it one time was in expressing its strongest detestation of the present Minister of Marine and Fisheries. Wonder if Hon. W. F. C. is on!

What about the "raid on the Treasury last fall," spoken of by the Advocate, meaning the half million dollars voted in May, 1919, for public works? The vote was proposed by Coaker, insisted upon in caucus by the Coakerites, who expected to have the spending of it, and have been as mad as the d—l ever since, because it escaped them.

Western Star: In view that the high priced sugar was purchased by the F.C.B. last spring and pooled with the low priced article then in the country in order to even up prices, would it not be well to purchase some of the low priced sugar now on the market and pool it with our present stock to help even down prices.

The Advocate seeks to propagate the idea that attacks upon Coaker's fish regulations are attacks upon the local price of fish. Quite the contrary! They are attacks upon the things which chiefly cause the low local price of fish. Coaker's regulations have lost our markets, and hence the decreasing prices. Much of the fish now unsold could have been sold long ago but for these infamous regulations.

Coaker's organ talks about "the Tory Millionaires who came out of the Tory Government," meaning, we suppose, Cashin and Crosbie. But they made their money chiefly when Coaker and they were colleagues in the coalition government—1916-1919. If it is meant that they hoodled into wealth, that they grafted while in office, Coaker is the responsible man, for he was there, and they used some of their money at least to help him out of financial trouble in the summer of 1918. Does the Advocate want particulars?

The following story is told of General Sir William Birdwood, who is taking over the Northern Command of the Indian Army.

In Gallipoli he was proceeding along a trench when, all unwilling, he came to a "dead man's corner."

"Duck your head, Birdie!" roared an Australian voice.

The General told this story to a high War Office official, who gasped and said:

"Good heavens! Did you have him court-martialed?"

"No," answered "Birdie"; "I ducked!"

Artificial Prosperity.

The oracle has spoken! There is no depression in business circles in this country—labor is in great demand, in fact, to use a colloquialism, "everything in the garden is lovely." At least, the Star says so, and everybody knows that the Star loves the truth. Now on what does this truth-loving journal base its statements? Why, because there are, as forecasted a few days ago in the Telegram, capacity audiences at the Casino and the movies! Yes, O Star, there are capacity audiences at these places of entertainment, and the greater part of these audiences are stunting themselves for the purpose of amusement. It might surprise the Star to learn how many deprive themselves of home necessities to enjoy themselves outside.

Again, a full page advertisement for labor at Millertown and Badger appears in the Star as a sign that labor is in great demand.

How many men, however badly off, does the Star think wish to go to the backwoods for months, suffering untold hardships, due to the severe cold, and leaving their wives and families alone for the winter? Apart from this, surely the Star is not ignorant of the fact that several large factories in St. John's and elsewhere have discharged many of their employees, that day after day the offices of the firms which usually employed many laborers are besieged by men looking for work, which cannot be found for them! Has the Star ever taken the trouble to interview the Water Street merchants? We do not mean the fish exporters only, but the ordinary general merchant. Evidently not, for otherwise the statements made in the editorial column of that paper could not have been made truthfully, and we all know how well the Star loves the truth! Well, then, if the Star has not interviewed these merchants, let them do so, let them publish the results of these interviews.

We can safely say that there is not a merchant on Water Street to-day who will say there is no financial depression. Ask them if there is plenty of money coming in. How many, think you; will say that money is plentiful? Not one! Ask them how many unpaid notes they have, ask them how many unpaid drafts have been returned to them. The answers will surprise the Star. One wonders why the Star should devote any of its space to statements which are either deliberately untrue, and made to deceive, or are made through ignorance of the true state of affairs. Let us hope that the former conjecture is not correct. If the latter is, then the Star would be wise to make itself better informed as regards the economic conditions of this country, if it expects to have its readers believe its statements in the future.

Schooner Fitted With Wireless.

What is probably the first tern schooner to arrive at the port of North Sydney equipped with wireless apparatus and in every way fitted like an ocean liner, is the three-sticker Cote Nord, which is discharging a cargo of lobsters and seal and cod oil at Vooght's wharf. The Cote Nord arrived here from the Labrador coast, and as soon as the cargo is discharged she will load coal for a Newfoundland port. She was built in Lunenburg quite recently, and is in command of Capt. Paul Young, one of the many successful young Terra Novans sailing out of these waters.—North Sydney Herald.

G. W. V. A. Reunion.

At a largely attended meeting of the Blue Puttees held in the G.W.V.A. Club Rooms last night, the report of the committee appointed at last week's meeting was read, and it was unanimously decided that the Blue Puttees' re-union would take place at Smithville on Armistice night, Nov. 11th. This is the first re-union of the Blue Puttee boys, and at last night's meeting the different committees to look after the arrangements were appointed and the success of the affair is now assured.

Mining News.

SLATE.
Prospects are bright for the early resumption of the development of our slate deposits. Several requests have been made for samples, and we understand that negotiations are in progress for the purchase of a property in this vicinity.

COPPER AND IRON.
We learn that two very promising mineral discoveries have recently been made in Bay of Islands, one is a deposit of copper of a high percentage, and the other a very promising deposit of chrome iron. We hope to have full particulars for our readers very shortly. It is the intention of the owners, so we understand, to start development operations at an early date.

COAL.
The road from South Branch station to the Reid coal areas is about completed, and the motor trucks for the conveyance of the coal from the mine to the railway track are expected there this week and will be put into immediate operation. Some forty men are employed at the mine and some coal has already been hoisted. The course of the new road was somewhat changed from the original survey, so that now the motor trucks are enabled to go right to the mouth of the pit.—Western Star.

Leeming L. O. L.

Many members attended the regular meeting of Leeming Loyal Orange Lodge in Victoria Hall last night, and an animated discussion on matters in general took place. Arising out of this there will shortly be a meeting of members of city and outport Orange Lodges, for the purpose of reaffirming the principles of the Association in connection with Imperial affairs. Due notice of this meeting will be given through the columns of the press.

Shipping Notes.

Schr. Roy Bruce, home port Burin, Capt. R. F. Hollett, has been chartered by Messrs. J. & F. Moore to load fish for Europe at St. Anthony. T. H. Carter & Co. are the agents of the ship.

The steamer Herbert Green, commanded by Capt. Vatcher, has completed taking on a cargo of flour at the terminus wharf North Sydney and sailed for Alexander Bay. The Herbert Green, which is one of the Moulton's Ltd. fleet, has carried a considerable quantity of flour and general freight to Newfoundland from North Sydney during the past season.

Schooner Minnie D. has arrived at Wood's Island with a cargo of salt and will load herring for Halifax.

Schooner Review, Symonds, master, has entered at Bonne Bay to load codfish at West St. Modests for Halifax.

S.S. Digby arrived at Liverpool on the 26th from this port.

Cathedral Parish Bazaar a Big Success.

All yesterday evening and up to closing time last night, the Cathedral Parish Bazaar in the C.L.B. Armory was well patronized. The Charlie Chaplin Comedy Co. continued the performances of the opening day and were greeted each time with a full house. The C.L.B. Band was present during the evening and the selections added greatly to the enjoyment. At the close of the Bazaar Mr. Reg. Dowden auctioned off whatever odds and ends that were left, and as usual he obtained good prices. The bazaar, which has been the first of its kind attempted by the united efforts of the Cathedral Parish Association, has been a big success, and those in charge are to be congratulated on the outcome. It is expected that the total receipts will be in the neighbourhood of $4000.

S. MILLEY.

To Float Schooner.

With any sort of decent weather and favorable tide during the next few days, Captain Francis expects to float the Catherine B., which went ashore on McMullins beach, near the Scotia slag pits, on Friday night 15th inst., in a furious north easter that carried the vessel into the sand banks on the shore, causing only slight damage to the keel of the schooner. Messrs. White, Brown and Holmes of North Sydney, have contracted to remove the Catherine B. from her comfortable position, and believe they will have little trouble accomplishing the task. The schooner is owned by George Harris, of Grand Bank, Newfoundland, and was built only two years ago.

Capt. Francis was en route to the port of North Sydney for a load of coal, when overtaken by the storm, and was deceived in his course by the swollen slag heaps below the Scotia blast furnace. Happily for the crew of five men, the Catherine B. escaped the ledges on both sides of the beach and grounded a few yards from the shore on a sandy bottom.—North Sydney Herald.

Bell Island Poultry Show

The first exhibition of poultry and vegetables under the recently organized Bell Island Poultry Association, was formally opened yesterday. The Hon. Dr. Campbell, Minister of Agriculture and Mines, with representatives from the Nfld. Poultry Association, consisting of Judge Walter Reid, who was officially appointed to award the prizes, and Messrs John Duff, Harry McNeilly, Secretary Calver, Vice-President Stanley White and G. B. Williams, Accompanying Hon. Dr. Campbell was Secretary A. J. Bayly, of the Board of Agriculture and Mines, F. P. LeGrow and Reid. The exhibition was held in the Orange Hall, Wabana, both flats being used. The poultry being on the ground floor and upstairs was used for the vegetables, artwork work, photographs, school competitions, business men's exhibits. The attendance was good, over 320 adults visiting the show for the opening day. The exhibition will close on Friday night at 8 p.m., when the ribbons and prizes will be awarded. The exhibition is a thorough success from every standpoint. The poultry are all in standard wire coops, loaned by the St. John's Association. The quality of birds is good. The better classes are Black Minorcas, owned by Mr. Sam Godden, Rhode Island Reds, White Pekin Ducks, Brown Leghorns, owned by Mr. Angus McDonald, Bronze Turkeys owned by Mr. J. J. Hookey, and Toulouse Geese, which we believe would win ribbons in the larger show in St. John's. A new feature was the exhibition of a miniature model poultry house, feed hopper, and trap nests.

Upstairs the room was a picture. The vegetables were varied and some of the best we have ever seen, proving that Bell Island is still able, if its citizens wish, to produce as good crops as the farmers there did a generation ago. Bell Island butter has been always famous, and the sample shown by Mrs. Petrie is well up to the standard. The judging of the vegetable exhibits on the upper flat was done by Secretary J. T. Lawton, Stanley White, Otto Rusch, whilst the artwork work was judged by Mrs. Dr. Giovanetti, Mrs. Dr. Lynch, Mrs. Dr. Carnochan and Stanley White. The display of photographs of Bell Island, scenery by Miss Marion Godden, G. A. Harvey, the work of geometrical problems, typewriting, etc., by school pupils of the island—the woolen rugs, etc., by Mrs. Aggie Whelan, Mrs. Charles Feaver, Mrs. Peter Murphy, Mrs. Dennihy and the fine lace done by Mrs. Dicks, a lady of 84 years, was as good as could be produced in any part of the world. Nurse Ledrew's fancy work was also of the highest class, as well as the wadded quilt of Mrs. J. K. Butler. The bed spreads shown by Mrs. J. H. Bennett (prize-winner), was something seldom seen. Miss Clara Godden and Mrs. F. F. Jardine's work also was a prominent feature. Cabbage prizes were won by Mr. Ben Searle, Will Bennett, and J. B. Petrie. Turnips by Wm. Bennett and Mrs. A. Bennett. Potatoes, Carrots, Parsnips, Beet, Vegetable Marrows, Housewives bread, Jam, Pickles, were also shown, and the official prize list will be forwarded by Mr. Secretary Lawton and published later. The exhibition of Aladdin Lamps, by the New York Import Co., the stalls of the business men were also neatly arranged, including Rexall drugs, Imperial Life Insurance Co. were quite an attraction. At 8 o'clock the exhibition was formally declared open by Hon. Dr. Campbell, Minister of Agriculture and Mines, in a very fine speech of congratulation to the exhibitors. Mr. Geo. R. Williams spoke on the poultry exhibits as well as Judge Reid, Treasurer, W. R. Butler of the Newfoundland Poultry Association and their remarks had an enthusiastic reception. Next year the Exhibition Committee will have to find two buildings for their show which will be an annual affair. After the official ceremony the Bell Island Club entertained Hon. Dr. Campbell and visiting city folk to a luncheon in the Masconic Club. Toasts to Hon. Dr. Campbell, guests of the evening, etc., followed and the time went all too quickly. The party were motored to the pier where a special trip of the Euphrates brought them to the Cove at 11 p.m. The city visitors speak highly of the courteous treatment of their hosts. Everybody felt that at last a good start had been made towards pure-bred poultry and the advance of agriculture for the Iron Island. The Committee in charge of the Exhibition consists of Mr. J. A. Hughes, President; J. B. Gillatt, Vice President; R. Proudfoot, Treasurer; J. T. Lawton, Secretary; and the following Committee:—Dr. Carnochan, F.F., Jardine, J.P., M. J. McNeill, and Mr. S. G. Sirotna who deserve the thanks of the community, as well as Mr. Angus McDonald, Manager of the Dominion Iron and Steel Co., who has been indefatigable in influencing the organization into concrete shape. Congratulations to Bell Islanders on their show.—Q.

Parties desiring to reserve tables at the Blue Puttee may do so any time during the day, and if a special after-theatre supper is desired (Chicken, Partridge, Oysters, etc.), we will serve it by getting a few hours' notice.—oct25, 21

NOTICE.

Under and by virtue of "An Act respecting the General Hospital" (6 George V., Cap. XIX.), and with the approval of the Governor-in-Council, the Board of Governors of the St.
John's Hospital hereby give notice that they have fixed and prescribed the following scale of fees to be levied from and paid by all persons who occupy beds or undergo treatment at the Hospital. The scale is to come into operation on the 1st day of January, 1921.

SCALE OF FEES.

Every person receiving treatment in the General Hospital shall, after December 31st next, pay fees according to the following scale:

Persons admitted to the public wards $1.00 per day; persons occupying private rooms $10.00 per week, in addition to the daily fees of $1.00.

Every applicant for admission to the Hospital must bring with him or forward to the Superintendent of the Hospital certificate signed by a duly registered physician that such applicant is a proper subject for Hospital treatment.

Under the provisions of the General Hospital Act, 1916, all patients who are unable to pay fees shall be required to bring with them a certificate of their inability to pay, which shall be signed by the resident Relieving Officer, or where there is no such officer, by a Justice of the Peace, or Clergyman or other responsible person. The fees of such patients thereupon become payable by the Commissioner of Public Charity by virtue of the said Act.

By order of the Board,
J. W. WITHERS,
Chairman.
H. M. MOSDELL,
Acting Secretary.

Recovering Vast Treasures
From the Deep.

Goods and specie to the value of many hundreds of millions of dollars are awaiting recovery from the bottom of the sea around the coast of Great Britain.

Of the 5,612 ships belonging to the Allies which were sunk by mines and German submarines, over 1,000 vessels of from 200 to 10,000 tons are lying in less than twenty fathoms (120 feet) of water around the British Isles.

The Admiralty has prepared a chart of these, showing the position of every sunken vessel between Dungeness and the Tyne. They are indicated by little black dots, which show that the Germans reaped their richest harvests off Deal, Aldeburgh, and between Flamborough Head and Whitby, while the mouth of the Thames is a chain of wrecks.

Salvage operations were conducted during and after the war, with the result that of the 5,612 ships sunk 500 have been salvaged, the value of the recovered ships and cargoes being estimated at $300,000,000.

It is believed that at least another $1,250,000,000 can be recovered, and double that amount if anyone can invent a new method of deep-water salvage.

At present it is not possible for a diver to operate at a greater depth than 120 feet if he is trying to recover the ship itself, although cargo can be recovered at greater depths.

Remarkable Salvage Feat.

Perhaps the most remarkable salvage feat is that which is being carried out in connection with the White Star liner Laurentic, which lies in twenty fathoms of water off the North Coast of Ireland. The Laurentic was sunk, either by mine or submarine, while on a voyage to the United States in the early part of 1917. She carried $45,000,000 in gold and silver.

An attempt was at once made to salvage the specie, but enemy submarines discovered the salvage vessel and attacked her several times. On one occasion the salvage boat had to run for safety without waiting to haul up the diver, who was towed through the water. Fortunately his life-line held and he was eventually saved.

In spite of these dangers, however, and the fact that divers could not remain at such a depth for more than half an hour, as the water pressure was over fifty pounds to the square inch, a way was blasted to the strong room and specie to the value of about $30,000,000 was recovered.

An effort is now being made to recover the remainder of the gold and silver. The Admiralty salvage ship Racer, which has been fitted out with the object of salvaging the remaining treasure, has on board a pump which will lift 800 tons an hour—not only water, but coal, mud and debris.

Wonderful Apparatus.

Science and invention have equipped the salvage diver of to-day with some wonderful apparatus. To cut holes in the sides of sunken vessels he now uses a flame cutter. This is so devised that an oxy-acetylene flame can be used under water. The flame issues from two jets, and is projected by a stream of compressed air coming from two other jets in the same cable, which blow the water away from the flame. The usual plan, however, is to blow a hole in the side of the vessel with explosives.

In efforts to raise sunken vessels it has been found possible to "lift" ships of 3,000 tons. The usual plan is for divers to lighten the vessel, so far as possible, by taking out the cargo. Submersible pumps then clear the hold of water, and hawsers are attached or passed beneath the vessel.

It was by this means that a Government collier weighing 3,500 tons, which was sunk by collision in twelve fathoms of water, partially blocking an important channel, was raised some time ago. She was lightened by various methods to 2,800 tons, and sixteen 9-inch wire ropes, each with a breaking strain of 250 tons, were placed in position and attached to four Admiralty craft over the wreck.
The vessel was then lifted and carried to a place on the beach—a wonderful salvage feat, as up to that time it had been believed that no vessel of more than 1,500 tons could be raised by wire ropes.

Roses Make You Dizzy.

The perfume of most flowers has some effect on human beings. Poppies, for instance, cause headaches, and roses, if inhaled freely, lead to dizziness.

Singers don't like violets, for the perfume from that little flower causes huskiness and sore throats. If a professional singer is handed a bouquet she nearly always glances at it before burying her face amongst the flowers. If violets were included their perfume might ruin her voice for the evening.

Mesopotamia and India.

Vigorous measures are being taken in Mesopotamia to restore order and relieve beleaguered garrisons preliminary to the drawing up by Sir Percy Cox of some scheme of Arab self-government. More troops are being sent from India, and the Maharajah of Kapurthala has generously placed his infantry at the disposal of the Imperial Government. This action is in striking contrast with the spirit of extremists like Mr. Gandhi, who has induced the National Congress to pass a resolution refusing to co-operate in the working of India's new institutions. India's idealist friends are her worst enemies. The resolution will be repudiated, but it makes for quiet and uncertainty when every nerve should be strained in the interest of peace and order. An appointment carrying the dependency a step further towards Dominion status is that of Sir William Meyer as India's first High Commissioner, in London. Regarding the frontier, the Viceroy is able to make a reassuring report. The repercussion of Bolshevik energies will no doubt be felt for long, but if Lord Chelmsford is well advised the Soviet emissaries who hope to entangle the Amir will get short shrift. Afghanistan desires to restore former relations with the British Raj. The news is none the less satisfactory, notwithstanding that the announcement of the notorious Enver Pasha's appointment as Bolshevik Generalissimo of forces marching on India has probably not disturbed the night's rest of a single subaltern—United Empire.

The Stranger Tumbled!

M. Poincare is fond of telling this story against himself.

One bitterly cold day the winter before last (he says) I was walking hurriedly down the almost deserted Bois de Boulogne, the collar of my overcoat turned up about my ears, my head bent down against the stinging blast.

I wanted to know the time, but I was unwilling to unbutton my overcoat in order to get at my watch. Just then I saw a man of well-dressed appearance coming along.

I perceived that he was buttoned up just as I was. Nevertheless, such is the selfishness of human nature, when he arrived opposite to me I touched my hat, politely and said: "Sir, do you know what time it is?"

The stranger paused, removed his right glove, unbuttoned his coat from top to bottom, unbuttoned his undercoat, and finally pulled out his watch, while the cold wind beat against him.

Holding up the timepiece he scrutinised it an instant, and said: "Yes!" Then he passed on without another word.

He had evidently seen through my little ruse, and acted accordingly. It served me right.

Finger Prints as a Detector of Crime.

The use of finger prints in the detection of crime, although only introduced into New York from Scotland Yard, London, fourteen years ago, has now been generally adopted throughout the United States, as well as in all civilized parts of the world.

In the New York police bureau at the present time there are filed more than 300,000 finger tip impressions. Not all of them are original with New York for they come from police investigations made in all parts of the world. Should a criminal come before the authorities in Japan, China, India or even the islands of the Indian Ocean and his finger prints be taken, a copy is sent to be filed in New York. More ordinarily these prints come from England and the European countries, for there flourishes the international rogue.

Similarly when a bad man is caught in Newark or some more outlying city of New Jersey his finger tips are photographed and added to the collections of all cities of the United States. Upon receipt of an inquiry into the offender's past, accompanied by this pictured record, Mr. Hammersley, chief finger print expert at New York, or another expert looks him up in the vast cabinet collection at Police Headquarters in that city to see if the criminal under investigation has a metropolitan record.

But out of a collection of over 300,000 how can one little set of impressions of ten (or less) digits be accurately found?

"Easily and infallibly," answers Mr. Hammersley. "If that particular criminal was ever known in New York and had his finger prints taken we can find them in a couple of minutes. In this respect the bureau in the thirteen years I have been with it never has failed."

How the Prints are Classified.

"For a case in point, take this notification from the Chief of Police of Newark. One one side of this printed paper are two photographs of a thief; on the other are the records of his fingers. We pay cursory attention nowadays to the photographs, and our closest attention to the finger impressions. This man's fingers show whorls and loops; they count up to a certain number, and by counting under the microscope the complex or broken (they may be either) from Greek delta to delta, that is where the lines converge, we obtain a common denominator. Thus we obtain certain infallible numbers which put this criminal in a certain class of finger impressions. He can be in no other. Whorls and loops, you understand, have a numerical value, and we go at once to the cabinet and the section where the records of this valuation are kept. There may be five or ten or more or less examples in this folio. Each one differs infallibly from the others in this folio, and from all others. If we have made a record or received one taken from the fingers of the thief in question then he is in this folio. If he isn't we seek no further, for we haven't got him."

"But suppose the man had three fingers amputated from his left hand and one from the right hand, then he would be safe from your folio because you couldn't reckon up the valuation, isn't that so?"

This was the question put by the knowledge seeker, who thought it was a poser. It was not.

Loss of Fingers Makes No Difference.

"We allow for the loss of fingers," said the expert, "and given the equation we always are able to arrive at the common denomination, ascertain the valuation and class the man where he belongs."

"To-day, even, we had such a case; a record was sent to us of a pickpocket arrested in Boston on July 3. He had lost one finger from his right hand and two from his left. Here is the record sent to us and (he turned to a cabinet, took out a portfolio and produced another record) here is ours; you see the figures, the numerals, are the same in both. We can give Boston a complete criminal history of this pickpocket."

"We are asked to find an escaped convict from Jacksonville, Fla., and the Chief of Police there has furnished this bureau with a set of finger prints. You see they are of the composite type. There are but four types of finger marks—the composite, the arch, the loop, the whorl. We call them our four patterns, and everybody's fingers fall into one of them. The loop may be ulnar or radial, but these classifications can be distinguished only with difficulty save where they are illustrated. As you see, we keep four charts with these patterns grossly magnified. The composite pattern is what its name implies and we do not encounter it often. Now this infallible record of that Jacksonville convict is filed here and if he ever comes in on any charge we have only to look at his impressions and we have him. Then we wire the word to Jacksonville. Isn't it easy?"

Surprise of the Criminal.

"Are the criminals surprised when we tell them who they are and recount their exploits performed in distant parts of the country and sometimes in another hemisphere? Surprised isn't the proper word; they gasp and take us for a conjure board."

"They appear under different names and plausible stories. In former days justice might find it hard to get the truth. Not so to-day. We read their finger prints, and these always put us on the right track."

"Most criminals are indifferent about having the impressions taken, while they protest, distort their faces and try all means to circumvent the camera when we seek to take their likeness for the Rogues' Gallery. Once in a while we get a wise one who objects to having his finger tips impressed. In many cases we do not let him know that it is being done, for why should we invite trouble? It is so easy to take them. If he will hold a piece of white paper in his hands we have him; his finger tips are there but not yet visible. Would you like to see how it is done? Well, lay your hands lightly on this sheet of common writing paper, leave them there a fraction of a second only, now place it on this desk. Do you see anything on the surface of the paper?"

The expert then lightly sifted some ordinary graphite powder over the sheet of paper and there appeared in strong contrast to the white margin complete impressions of the finger tips.

A Simple Touch is Enough.

"This experiment shows how helpless any person is who would prefer for any reason not to leave a record of his fingers. A thief who touches a cash box or a polished surface like a piano, however lightly with his ungloved hand, leaves a clear record for the law to trace him by. Again I say this method is infallible."

"In another field, that of the unidentified dead, the finger print has been a wonderful aid. Banks are everywhere using it for purposes of identification and illiterate persons, if they will but have a record made of their finger tips, will be spared loss of time and a good deal of unpleasantness and even humiliation, since the finger print serves as a signature."

The use of finger prints, as will be seen, far transcends the criminal field. They have been and are constantly being taken for all manner of confidential, industrial, commercial, civil and character investigations. The clerks of both New York and Queens countries are in favor of accepting finger print signatures to deeds formerly signed by illiterates with their "mark," and banking and trust institutions also approve such signatures. The War Department at Washington has a collection of several million of finger prints of men who served in the world war.

"Proved Friend in Need to Me," Says Joseph Bussieres

"I've Never Seen the Equal of Tanlac in all the 72 Years of My Life," He Says.

"I am now seventy-two years of age, but in all my life I have never seen the equal of Tanlac, for since taking it I am enjoying good health for the first time in years," declared Joseph Bussieres, of 8 Fullum St., Montreal, who was for thirty-five years traffic clerk for the Canadian Pacific Railroad, now retired.

"For ten years my stomach was so badly disordered I couldn't eat anything scarcely without severe pain. My back also hurt me nearly all the time, and I never knew what it was to get a good night's sleep, but was forced to get up again and again and walk the floor on account of the pain I was in."

"I tried dozens and dozens of medicines, but nothing did me any good until I got Tanlac. But as soon as I started on Tanlac I saw I had at last found the right medicine, for it began to straighten me right up, and now I am clear of all my troubles."

"Why, I can eat meats, or just anything else I want, not even canned, and nothing ever hurts me. I sleep soundly all night long and never have a pain of any kind. Tanlac has certainly proved a friend in need for me, and since taking it I feel all of fifteen years younger. I intend to always keep a bottle on hand, in fact I wouldn't be without it for any consideration."

Tanlac is sold in St. John's by M. Connors, in Paradise by Mrs. Martin F. Byrne, in Upper Gullies by Heber Andrews, in Portland by H. C. Haines, at St. Joseph, Salmonier, by Mrs. J. Gushue, in Millertown by Exploits Valley Royal Stores, Ltd., in Flat Island by William Samson, in Jamestown by Christopher Haines, and in Lewisporte by Uriah Freake.—adv.

Mainly About People.

Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig has accepted an appointment as a member of the committee arranging for the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the death of Napoleon Bonaparte.

Ferdinand, abdicated Czar of the Bulgars, is having a high time at Berlin, with the sole worryment of planning to supply his purse with money. He goes under the name of Count von Muranny. He's a spendthrift on books, bronzes, pictures and jewels. He is content to be rid of the duties of governing.

Blasco Ibanez, who left hurriedly for Mexico after advising Americans never to adopt a cave man attitude towards their wives, is now, he has just written to one of his friends, looking upon America to convince himself of just what kind of a country it is that these same American men inherit. He neglected to tell in this letter just how much progress he was making.

The French government has presented the Cross of the Legion of Honor to Mme. Segond Weber, the leading tragic actress of the Comedie Francaise. Next to Sarah Bernhardt she has been the chief exponent of late years among French actresses of the French classic drama, as well as of the romantic school of Victor Hugo. During the war Mme. Weber appeared continually at benefits for the soldiers, besides playing and reciting patriotic poems in the camps and trenches. Her decoration with the Red Ribbon is enthusiastically received by the Paris press and public.

"Stepmother" to 10,000 kiddies and anxious to increase her "family," is Miss Amy Steinhart, chief of the children's department of the California State Board of Control and administrator of over $2,000,000 every two years in widows' pensions. Miss Steinhart heads a corps of young women whose duty it is to see that the children of some 10,000 widows in California do not suffer want. The law now excludes hundreds of children, whose fathers are incapacitated through disease. Stirred by this manifest injustice, Miss Steinhart, without consulting a legal firm, penned an amendment to the State Constitution, which to the voters of the State, and which is declared to be a faultless as well as a big piece of humanitarian legislation.

Too Smart for Him.

Jones met his friend the other day, and asked him how he was getting on with his landlady.

"Is she any better, old chap?" he remarked; "I have heard that she cheats you all round."

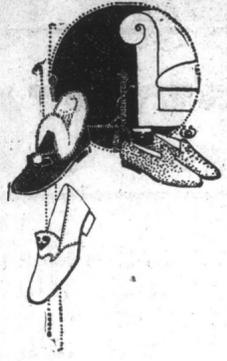

"She does," replied his friend mournfully. "I thought I had cured her the other day. I bought some potatoes, and before giving her them to cook I counted them, and in a stern voice I said: 'Remember, madam, there are ten potatoes.' Dinner time came, I raised the lid of the dish, but found she had got me again."

"How?" asked the sympathetic friend.

"She had mashed them," was the reply.

Jack Tar's Jargon.

He Has a Nickname for Everything.

As soon as anything new comes into the lives of our sailors they at once find a nickname for it. Thus, when wireless came, its operators were immediately, and by no preconceived arrangement, dubbed "Sparks" by the entire Navy.

Weird and strange is the vocabulary of our sea dogs. Almost any words seem to serve—provided they have no apparent relation to the thing referred to. A soldier is a "grabby" or "leather-neck." But a "soldier's wind" means nothing military—it is merely a fair breeze.

A marine calls his bluejacket pal a "flatfoot," in return for which he is hailed as "Joey." The ship's cook is "slushy," and an artificer is a "chippy chap." Even the chaplain does not escape. He is the "devil dodger."

The Funny Man is "Cuts."

A grumbler "fogs the cat," while a bad-tempered man "lies under the truck." A "schooner on the rocks," isn't as ominous as it sounds— it is just a pan of vegetables; while preserved meat is "Fanny Adams." A "fanny," however, is a lot of rum.

A funny man is "Cuts," and a storyteller is "Tom Pepper." "Gold dust," of course, is the paymaster, though the less respectful call him "Pusser" and "Paybob." The commander is the "bloke."

A "holiday" isn't a good time, it is a gap left in the clothes-line when washed garments are hung up to dry. A "handy billy" is a small pulley; and the "bulligins" drive the ship. The order "Haul away handsomely!" does not mean pull hard, but pull slowly and carefully.

A gunner is "Blue Lights," because he is responsible for the "fireworks." The master-at-arms is "Jaunty"; a ship's corporal a "crusher"; a petty officer is "Tanky."

Sailors are "matloes," and "Andrew" is the Navy.

These Knees Won't Bag.

It is said that a fortune awaits the inventor of a trouser that will not bag at the knees. All trousers suffer in this way sooner or later, no matter how carefully they are hitched up when sitting down, or how frequently they are put in the press; the fact remains that they will and do bag. The cure is wonderfully simple, and actually prevents the cloth from stretching over the knees.

A piece of silk must be stitched inside the trouser legs, reaching from well above the knee to an inch or so below. The stitches must be put in firmly, so as to keep the silk in place. The silk not only prevents the "bags" appearing, but doubles the life of the material.

Eats Candy but Loses Her Fat

Here's joyful news for every fleshy person who loves good things to eat, especially those who are desiring themselves the things they like most because of their desire to keep down their weight or to reduce the fat which they are already burdened with.

There is no further necessity to diet in order to keep your weight down or reduce the fat you have already acquired.

The famous Marmola Prescription has been put up in tablet form, and is now sold by all druggists at one dollar for a good size box. To get rid of fat at the rate of two, three or four pounds a week, just take one of these little tablets after each meal and at bedtime until you have reduced your weight to where you want it. No wrinkles or sallowness will remain. Use Marmola Prescription Tablets according to directions on a few weeks and get results without going through long sieges of tireless exercise and starvation diet. Get them at any drug store or send the price to the Marmola Co., 20 Garfield Building, Detroit, Mich., and receive them by mail, prepaid, in plain, sealed cover.

World's Biggest Bottles.

A French firm of wine-growers has recently caused to be made a bottle that holds 300 quarts of champagne.

This, however, is not quite a record, for a bottle blown some years ago at Leith, to the order of a Scotch whisky firm, had a capacity of two hogheads, or about one-fourth more than its French rival.

Another huge bottle, blown about the same time by the same firm, measured 10ft. in height and 4ft. in diameter. Filled with scent, it was later on shown at the Paris International Exhibition.

These are the two largest bottles ever made for use, as such, but at another exhibition, held at Bordeaux, an erection was built in the centre of the grounds to represent a bottle of tonic bitters.

The immense bottle was 115ft. in height. On the ground floor was a large refreshment room, and there were three stories above.

The Human Clock usually Breaks Down Instead of Runs Down

"It has long been a favorite idea of mine to compare the human body with my old clock here."
"Without proper attention the old clock gets run down and stops until I wind it up again and then it ticks away just as heartily and regularly as ever."
"And so it is with the human body, but the great difference I find is that the human clock usually breaks down instead of runs down, because people neglect to take proper care of their health."
"Through all these years I have managed to keep well and to keep young by using restorative treatment whenever there are indications of the system becoming run down."

"Fortunately I learned the value some years ago of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and to its use I largely attribute my healthful condition at this age."
"When I hear people talking about being unable to sleep, or of suffering from nervous headaches, indigestion or worn-out feelings, I ask them, 'Why do you not use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to increase your nervous energy?'"
"So many people, as age advances, suffer from a lowering of the vitality, from high blood pressure or hardening of the arteries, but I have found that the use of this restorative treatment, when required, keeps my health at the high water mark."

Illustrated Conversational Style.

Before beginning the next series of advertisements to tell people about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, we want you to help us decide on the style of our advertising.

The use of testimonials has always been favored in medical advertising, but with an effort to make our advertisements more interesting we have during the last few years used attractive illustrations and the conversational style of reading matter.

You will find samples of both styles of advertising on this page. What we want to know is which style appeals most strongly to women, because it is on the wife and mother mostly that rests the responsibility of looking after the health of the family.

If in addition to reporting that such a style of advertising is most interesting to you, you can say, "I have made inquiry among 25 of my friends and find that 16 have used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as the result of reading your illustrated advertisements, 7 on account of reading testimonials and the other two have never used it," your answer would be much strengthened.

By adding further particulars as to various cases which have come to your attention your letter would be made more interesting and more likely to win a good prize. Your name will not be used publicly without your permission.

For your guidance we would suggest that you clip out this advertisement and start in at once to make an investigation among your friends and neighbors.

The competition closes Nov. 15th, 1920, but in case of two letters being equally good, the first one received will have the preference.

The Questions to be Answered

1. Which style of advertising interests the most people in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food?

A. The use of testimonials?

B. Human interest advertisements with illustrations and conversational style of copy?

2. For what ailment do you find that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is most frequently used?

Both these questions can best be answered by making inquiry among your friends. Then write a good letter telling what you found out by your investigation.

$50 for second best letter.
$25 for third best letter.
$5 each for succeeding twenty-five best letters.

Was given Few Months to Live Is Now Strong and Well

Miss E. W. Ehmman, School Teacher, Libau, Man., writes:—"Four years ago, while living in Regina, I was afflicted with fainting spells, nervous headache, and became very thin and pale. I sought medical advice and was treated for consumption, and given only a few months to live. I had to sleep on the verandah and was told not to go to public places for fear of spreading germs."
"A newspaper advertising Dr. Chase's Nerve Food fell into my hands. I bought six boxes and after a few weeks began to increase in weight and feel better. Under this treatment I gradually regained my health, and now weigh 165 pounds. I enclose a picture I had taken while ill and my photo of to-day, so that you can see what a difference there is."

"The reason for my writing this is the hope that this statement of mine will fall into the hands of some poor sufferer who can be benefited, may be saved, by the steady, regular use of Dr. Chase's preparations."

"I often use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to keep my kidneys and liver in shape. I have recommended Dr. Chase's medicines to a great number of people for kidney trouble, lame back, appendicitis, shortness of breath, indigestion, nervousness, and in fact for every sickness I am asked advice about."

Clark-Urban Co.

Delights Capacity House in "Nothing But the Truth."

An exceptionally fine house greeted the Clark-Urban Company at the Casino last evening to witness Wm. Collier's greatest success, "Nothing But the Truth." The house was practically filled to capacity and with a very appreciative audience, which thoroughly enjoyed the production throughout. To-night the company presents "The 13th Chair," a mystic melodrama. The story tells of a young man, Will Crosby, a son of wealthy parents, who is engaged to marry Helen O'Neill, a young woman of poor parents, but who is accepted by Crosby's parents. Philip Mason, a friend of the family, thinks Helen is guilty of a mysterious murder, and has Madam Rosalie LeGrange, a clairvoyant come to the Crosby house the night before the wedding, hoping she may clear up the mystery and prevent an undesirable union. Madam LeGrange attempts to solve the mystery. Seated around her are a dozen people hanging on her words. Mystery follows mystery. See the 13th Chair for some real excitement. The C.C.C. Band will be present and their rendition of popular airs is well worth listening to.

Obituary.

CHARLES FEARN.

At St. Joseph's Hospital, Chatham, Ontario, there passed away on October 14, following an operation for peritonitis, Charles, son of Geo. J. Fearn, Esq., well known in St. John's. Deceased had been previously operated upon for appendicitis, and was going on successfully, but a set back supervened and specialists in charge of his case decided for the second operation, from which unfortunately, the patient did not recover. The body was embalmed and shipped to Sioux Falls, South Dakota, U.S.A. for burial, accompanied by Mrs. Fearn on October 15. The funeral took place on Wednesday, October 20, at Sioux Falls. The late Charles Fearn was auditor for the Wilson Canadian Co. Ltd., of Chatham, Ontario, and was overseas with a Canadian Regiment. Mr. Percy Fearn of P. F. Fearn & Co. Ltd., this city is a brother. To the bereaved widow, father, brother and other relatives the Telegram extends sympathies.

Make Love—Live Long.

The art of love-making has a direct influence on the heart and blood. It stimulates the working capacity of the former organ, and keeps it up to concert pitch. As a result, the blood circulates with greater strength, and every part of the body is accordingly strengthened.

Love-making, moreover, has a very decided influence in stimulating the working of the liver. Patent medicines would have to go out of business to a considerable extent if the world were more generally given to the art of making love with genuine feeling.

Perhaps the most striking proof of the humanity of lovers from one form of ill, viz., colds and chills, is afforded by the fact that a pair of Cupid's devotees will sit on a damp bench in November for hours and take no harm.

World's Most Terrible Prison.

HORRORS OF DEVIL'S ISLAND.

We have heard ugly tales of Siberia. The Spanish penal settlement at Fernando Po is not a health resort, while Italy was obliged to close up her prison colony at Massowah because warders as well as convicts were dying by the score.

But of all prisons in existence to-day, there is nothing to match, for horror, the French convict settlement of Devil's Island.

Devil's Island lies off the coast of French Guiana or Cayenne, the one colony which France owns in South America. This settlement is reserved for the worst cases, and few survive a term of imprisonment there.

A prisoner sentenced to Cayenne is usually given six months' solitary confinement in a French prison before being sent away. The term varies according to the length of time required to collect a cargo of unfortunates.

For a week or two before leaving the prisoners are given some meat or wine to prepare them for the ordeal of the voyage in a convict ship. The 'tween decks of the ship are made into one long passage with cells on either side, closely barred in front. Near the boilers are two punishment cells in which a man can neither lie nor stand, and where the heat is almost unendurable.

Arrived at Devil's Island, the prisoners are stripped and searched. They are then divided into large barracks, each of which holds 50 prisoners. These large rooms are perfectly bare, and paved with stone, and the unfortunates are obliged to lie on the floors all through the sweating nights, tormented by mosquitoes and other insects.

The food consists of provisions condemned by the military and naval authorities. The only exception is the flour, which is of fair quality.

Roll call sounds at five in the morning, and after breakfast the gangs go out to work in the sweltering sun. They clear the land and cultivate it. Yet if one is caught picking up a cocoon or any other fruit he is at once ordered sixty days in the cells. "Cells" means confinement in a airless place, sleeping on a plank bed, and only one meal a day, that being bread and water. Punishments are frequent and of fearful severity, and if a man lays hands on a warder the penalty is death.

Devil's Island was first used as a prison about seventy years ago. At that time there were no guards. Since the tepid sea teems with man-eating sharks, the authorities thought it needless to take other precautions.

Then came the escape of Henri Chabanne, one of the most wonderful instances of prison breaking on record. Under his directions his companions built a large raft. They made oars, a mast and sail; they even constructed casks to hold freshwater.

Seven in all started away. They left at eight in the evening and next morning were out of sight of land and in a rough sea. They were up to their waist in water, with hordes of sharks around.

Escaped Three Times.

After four days and four nights of indescribable horror, they landed on the coast of Dutch Guiana, but there was no fresh water. Chabanne and another plunged into the forest, and after five days reached a plantation where the owner received them kindly. Chabanne asked for assistance to go back to fetch his friends. This was granted, but of the five only three were alive.

This was the first of a long series of escapes. One man, Adrian Demarian, possesses the amazing record of having made three separate escapes from Devil's Island.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS AT THE ANNUAL MEETING FOR 1919-1920 HELD AT THE HEAD OFFICE, ST. JOHN'S, NEWFOUNDLAND, ON THURSDAY, OCTOBER 28th, 1920 AT THREE O'CLOCK P.M.

General.

Since our last meeting, contrary to anticipation, trade development and traffic has declined materially and the Dominion along with all parts of the world has suffered from industrial depression, which has been accentuated by a lack of any appreciable fall in prices of necessities, but during the last few weeks we note by the world market quotations a considerable decline in many staple products which Newfoundland imports. The fishery is admittedly a small one, but of late shipments are moving overseas in a way that should be more reassuring to the trade.

Fortunately with the small fishery the Dominion has experienced an unusual activity in the pulp and paper business, the Anglo Newfoundland Development Company at Grand Falls extending their operations and making preparation for further extensions, and the employment they are able to afford far exceeds anything in the history of that Company. The Terra Nava Sulphite Company on the Gambo area have made a substantial start in their construction work, as also have the St. Lawrence Pulp and Paper Company at Bonne Bay on the West Coast. Judging from options that are now out on various timber areas in Newfoundland, we are of the opinion that the Dominion can expect very material development of her water powers and timber areas in the near future, particularly when exchange becomes more normal and British capital can be favourably released for overseas purposes.

The year has been remarkable for the activities of various parties in the development of coal areas in the Dominion. The Government has conducted successful coal boring operations in the Howley area, and it is hoped and anticipated that with further exploratory work a valuable commercial deposit of coal will be demonstrated. The company opened up and worked a property at South Branch proving up a deposit of coal about 50,000 tons in sight. An arrangement has been arrived at whereby the Government will operate this deposit, and the coal will prove of economic benefit to the railway situation on the West Coast. Considerable work has also been done on the St. George's coal areas and doubtless in time a satisfactory commercial operation will be in full swing at this point.

Railroad Operations.

During the year under consideration the shareholders have had to meet again heavy financial loss, owing to ever-rising cost of operations, wages, supplies, coal, etc., and have not been as fortunate as almost all railroads in other parts of the world affected by war conditions in regard to substantial increases in freight and passenger rates and other Government subventions. To give an idea of the situation we might point out that the Newfoundland Government subsidy for the year under consideration only amounted to $61,250.00 for the entire system of 960.4 miles, as against a subsidy of $42,000.00 for 634.9 miles operated in 1919-18 years ago, and the bulk of the mail material handled has increased over 100 times in this period.

During the war the loss to the United States Government in operating the railroads amounted to $900,478,000, and lately the Interstate Commerce Commission has granted further increases in rates which will aggregate annually $1,017,000,000.00. Canadian railroads have practically enjoyed similar increase of their incomes, and the matter must come up for serious consideration and action to increase the rates upon the railroad in Newfoundland in like proportion to our neighbors on the adjoining continent, as the increased cost of operation and supplies has always kept pace with them.

The situation arising out of war conditions became so grossly unfair to the Company that representations were made to the Government, resulting in an undertaking by the Government to improve the track and terminals and the appointment of a joint commission for railway operation. Your directors admit that Government aid should have been invoked during the war, say in 1915, when almost all other Governments met the situation by coming to the assistance of the roads; but we hoped against hope we could carry on until the termination of the conflict. Owing, however, to the fact of its long duration beyond anyone's estimation, and the continued increase in cost of operation since the armistice, we found that in fairness to the shareholders it was necessary to put the situation squarely before the Government.

Snow Fighting.

Owing to the exceptionally heavy snow fall and intense frost of last year (which is generally said to have been the worst winter experienced in fifty years) unusual difficulty was encountered in clearing the line, the weather being often such that men were unable to work at all. During the months of February and March the operation of the Trepassey and Bay de Verde branches had to be abandoned. Trains on the Topsails were discontinued about the 26th January and not operated again until May 9th, but this was made necessary not so much by snow conditions as because of the unusually early closing of navigation and through the Department of Shipping being disappointed in obtaining some promised coal cargoes which made it impossible to distribute coal over the Topsails section before winter set in. The shortage of coal supplies, in fact, was largely responsible for the difficulty of keeping the trains running last winter and the impossibility of operating parts of the system entailed heavy loss through lack of revenue, with wages and overhead charges going on, in addition to the actual expense of fighting snow, which later, as the following figures will show far exceeded the usual heavy expense on this score:

Snow Fighting and Incidentals.

1917-18	$ 19,352.00
1918-19	31,763.00
1919-20	116,969.93

Coal and Payroll.

The following figures show the cost of coal for locomotives and railway pay-roll:

	Coal for Locomotives	Railway Pay Roll
1915	$164,693.58	$ 507,444.32
1916	191,238.27	293,561.79
1917	294,105.50	737,295.77
1918	365,436.59	928,648.18
1919	586,227.29	1,249,937.48
1920	590,498.49	1,417,512.77

In other words although the Company employed about the same number of men in 1920 as in 1915, and the quantity of coal consumed in 1920 was not materially greater than in 1915, the increase in the price and freight of coal amounts to over 350 per cent, and the increase in the rate of wages is over 275 per cent, comparing 1920 with 1915.

Maintenance and Improvements of the railroad during the year have been increased and the policy of operating steam shovels and ditches has been proven to be a wise move even beyond the anticipation of the Directors. Even the most critical admit the roadbed never was in such good condition.

The following figures will be of interest in this connection:

Locomotive Power.

	Carloads	Carloads Filling	Carloads Filling
Balasting Cost	$26,455.41	5,596	666
1918-19	61,736.86	7,939	3,153

The forty one (41) locomotives owned by the Company are all in serviceable condition with the exception of four (4) and these four (4) are in the shops undergoing repairs. The improvement in the locomotive power situation reflects considerable credit upon the Superintendent, Mr. J. H. Fulmer and his staff.

Steamships.

These too are, like the railroad, a serious drain upon the resources of the Company and some remedy will have to be found to meet the situation by way of a proportionate increase in rates and more adequate subsidies from the Government to meet the largely increased cost of operation. The situation as regards steamboat service was admitted by all members of the House, as the "Susu" Subsidy Bill passed last session without opposition. Worked out on the same basis of time and tonnage and assuming that the Company's ships were only as good as the "Susu," we would have been in receipt of Government aid to the extent of $215,000 instead of $151,500, which was our last year's subsidy. Added to this the Company will have to face at least a minimum increase of cost of operation of $75,000 for this season and should take into consideration that they face a further loss by not charging depreciation on the ships or any equivalent money for charter. This at the lowest computation should be $120,000 per annum.

Electrical Department has shown fair returns but owing to the increasing demands for light and power further extensions were imperative. This situation has been accentuated during the present abnormally dry season so much so that even with reduced consumption and trams not running on Oct. 13th there was only about five days' supply of water available. In spite of the extensive increase of storage made a year ago at Big Pond, the Company is compelled to enlarge its operations to provide increased power. Plans have already been prepared for developing a new power and proposals will shortly be laid before you for providing capital for the new work. Your Directors fully anticipate that arrangements can be completed whereby the work can be undertaken next summer.

The Dry Dock

during the year yielded satisfactory returns but the Company have to face a considerable expenditure on repairs to the dock itself and the installation of labour saving machinery in order to bring the plant to a much higher state of efficiency and be able to cope with the increased cost of operations, both as to labor and material. Great credit is due to Mr. W. C. Harvey and his staff for carrying on the work under considerable difficulties. Proposals for the improvement of the Dock will be laid before you at an early date.

Natural Resources Department.

The Natural Resources Department during the past year has made a complete examination of 336,337 acres and has made a partial survey of an additional 177,728 acres. A timber survey was made over 62,921 acres. Some very important work has also been done regarding the origin of the copper ores. The Department has also re-opened the coal mine at South Branch for the Railway Commission and satisfactory progress is being made. An output of fifty tons per day will be obtained within a short time.

The Department has continued to supervise coal boring operations for the Government with the idea of locating a coal supply large enough to supply the needs of Newfoundland. Newfoundland Products Corporation. Active negotiations have been diligently prosecuted in regard to this property and had it not been for the difficulties of exchange and the restless condition of the money market we feel that construction work would now be under way, but we have every expectation of concluding satisfactory arrangements for the operation of this property as soon as financial conditions become more stable.

Group Insurance.

Group Insurance of employees was inaugurated at the end of the year under consideration and it is hoped the results will not only prove of benefit to the policy holders, but will lead to a more hearty co-operation and greater efficiency of all members of the organization. The payments of premiums by the employers entail a considerable annual expenditure, but your Directors feel that the attained results will warrant the continuance and expansion of this mutual benefit scheme.

The Directors wish to express their thanks and appreciation to Mr. J. P. Powell the General Superintendent, the staff and the organization generally for their loyal work and support, often under trying circumstances and have no doubt that with continued co-operation and an improvement of conditions generally, the Company will enter upon an era of prosperity.

Signed on behalf of the Board.
H. D. REID, President.

A Trinity College Graduate.

MISS MARGUERITE M. MEANEY A.T.C.L. L.T.C.L.

Since the introduction of Trinity College of Music Examinations into this country, Newfoundland candidates have been among the most successful graduates each year. All the city colleges and most of the schools, and many private teachers all over the country, have entered candidates in the yearly examinations, and the aggregate passes complete favorably with any other portion of the overseas dominions of the British Empire. Several pupils have distinguished themselves and won honours in the higher grades, reflecting great credit upon their schools and teachers.

One of the most successful, if not the leader in these examinations, is the young lady, Miss Marguerite M. Meaney, whose record in the various grades from preparatory to Licentiate is one of which both herself and teacher may justly be proud. At ten years of age she entered for her first examination under Trinity College regulations, and her record we give below.

- 1911. Preparatory.
- 1912. Junior.
- 1913. Intermediate.
- 1914. Senior.
- 1915. Higher Local.
- 1916. Advanced Inter. Theory.
- 1918. Associate.
- 1919. Theory A. T. C. L.
- 1920. Licentiate.

Miss Meaney, we believe, the first Newfoundland taught student to win honours in Licentiate degree, and she now holds diploma A.T.C.L. L.T.C.L. In five of her ten examinations she won honours, and also received a certificate of special merit from Trinity College, a gold medal presented by Rev. Father Sheehan, St. Patrick's, and a gold wrist watch from the pupils of the Presentation Convent as a mark of appreciation of the honour accruing to the school through her marked success in music.

Miss Meaney was born in Pendleton, Ontario, April 21st, 1901, and was just nineteen when she sat for licentiate degree, in which she won eighty-five marks. She is the eldest daughter of Mr. J. T. and Mrs. Meaney of this city. The Telegram tenders congratulations to the talented young lady and her parents, and also to her Alma Mater, the Presentation Convent, Cathedral Square.

A SIMPLE DRESS FOR WORK OR LEISURE.

Pattern 3094 cut in 7 Sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. Here is here shown. For comfort, convenience and attraction, this model has much to recommend it. The lines are simple, and the garment may be made for service, or as a "porch" or "afternoon" dress. Foulard, taffeta, serge, gabardine, crepe de chine, voile or poplin would be nice for a "dressed" dress. Developed as a work dress it would look well in gingham, chambray, linen, lawn or percale.

Size 38 requires 6 1/2 yards of 36 inch material. Width of Skirt at lower edge is about 2 1/4 yards.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15c. in silver or stamps.

A POPULAR MODEL.

Pattern 2366 is portrayed here. It is cut in 7 Sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. A 38 inch size will require 4 1/2 yards of 40 inch material.

Braided serge or duvetyne would be attractive for this style, or satin, taffeta, tricotine, and velveteen. The dress measures about 1 1/2 yard at the foot.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15 cents in silver or stamps.

 One thing essential in your Winter Coat is QUALITY. One has to wear their Winter Coat for many months, and to stand against this you require the best of material in it.
 We have carefully selected our stock of Winter Coatings and feel we have goods that merit your approval. You can purchase enough excellent material to make a coat for $24.00, and if you wish we can make it up for you, and deliver the finished garment in a week or less if necessary. The material is equal in quality to that in coats which retail at $70.00 to $90.00.
 We ask you to come in and see the goods, examine them, get samples and prices, compare with others, and come back and purchase the goods.
