With but few beats of his wide season-wing, Time carried Sydney far past that summer-tide of loss and sadness into a girlhood lighter if lonelier, freer if less gladdened with willing duties, than could have been her fate if her father had lived.

"Mamma," she asked one morning, looking beseechingly across a pile of well-worn volumes at Mrs. Alwyn checking her baker's bill, "what am I to do now I have finished these? Will you get me fresh books to learn from, please?" Mrs. Alwyn paused, her forehead upon the last-checked item.

Japan Wants Visit From Prince of Wales.

No Quorum in Southern Ireland Parliament--Belfast Rioting Continues--China Favors Disarmament.

JAPAN INVITES PRINCE.

LONDON, July 13. The Prince of Wales has received an invitation from the Japanese Government to visit Japan at the conclusion of his tour of India, which, according to recent announcement, is to begin about the end of October.

CHINA WISHES TO TAKE PART.

PEKING, July 13. The Chinese Foreign Office, according to best information available, has replied to President Harding's disarming proposal through the Chinese Minister in Washington urging the inclusion of China in the conference.

GERMAN CREDITS.

LONDON, July 13. The Reichsbank announces that through an intermediary of the American branch of the Mendelssohn Bank House, a credit amounting to 10,000,000 gold marks has been granted to the Reichsbank, and that negotiations are in progress with reference to further similar credits. The Reichsbank statement says these operations will so enlarge measures being taken by the Government, fulfillment of the reparations demands falling due in August, may be considered assured. Further reparations payments in bills of exchange during the present year, therefore, will not be necessary, the statement adds.

SOUTH AFRICAN FINANCE.

LONDON, July 13. The financial situation of South Africa is causing anxiety, according to cables received here.

MEXICAN REPARATIONS.

MEXICO CITY, July 13. All countries whose nationals have suffered damage from the Mexican Revolution since 1920, have been invited by President Obregon to appoint representatives and form a permanent commission to pass upon claims.

SWEDISH PRINCE ILL.

STOCKHOLM, July 13. Prince William of Sweden was taken severely ill with malaria during his visit to the exhibition in the Belgian city, and his condition is serious, it was announced here today.

ENGINEERS ACCEPT CUT.

LONDON, July 13. Engineering unions, today, voted in favor of accepting the wage reduction proposed by employers. There is a substantial majority in favor of acceptance. The immediate cut amounts to three shillings a week, or seven and half per cent. on piece work, effective July 17. Other adjustments are to be made later.

WARNING IMMIGRANTS.

MONTREAL, July 13. RIOTING IN BELFAST.

LONDON, July 13. Rioting occurred in Vere Street, in Belfast, this afternoon. Two constables were injured and three civilians were taken to hospital suffering from gunshot wounds.

THE PROPOSED PACIFIC CONFERENCE.

LONDON, July 13. (By Gratton O'Leary).—The question as to whether the Pacific Conference is to be held in London or Washington, is understood to depend upon the attitude of President Harding. The British Foreign Office and most of the Dominion Premiers are urging in favor of London, but in view of the fact that the invitation came from President Harding, and that he suggested Washington, there is no doubt here to go beyond the mere suggestion that the gathering be held in London. The British press is sharply divided on the question, the Westminster Gazette maintaining that it would be folly to hold the Pacific Conference before the question of disarmament was settled. The Times, which is bitterly anti-Lloyd George, is savagely asserting that Premier Lloyd George and Lord Curzon, Foreign Secretary, are unfit to represent Great Britain in the United States.

AUXILIARIES ON LEAVE.

DUBLIN, July 13. Large bodies of police Auxiliaries, as a consequence of the truce in Ireland, have been granted indefinite leave of absence.

The Road Commission which has done excellent work on the Cove Road will likely start next week to repair the road leading to the Sandpits and near the Church of England Orphanage. Evening Telegram

W. J. HERDER, Proprietor
C. T. JAMES, Editor

Thursday, July 14, 1921.

UNTO CAESAR.

The Telegram has received from the firm of Messrs. Emanuel Pike, Ltd., Port aux Basques, a very indignant letter in which we referred yesterday, fairly bristles with indignation, and we are all but overwhelmed. Imprimis we are taken severely to task because mention was made in the House of Assembly reports of Tuesday, July 5th, and editorially commented upon, that Messrs. Pike had received a telegraph message from the Prime Minister re their taking possession of a shipment of flour from Canada, without having made a complete entry therefor, and without having paid the full sum of duty as by law required, full report of which circumstance has already been made in our columns. Messrs. Pike deny receipt of such a message or any communication from the Prime Minister with bearing on this incident. We accepted this denial and gave it due space. But perhaps the message in question was sent in the name of the Minister of Customs in which capacity the Prime Minister is and has been acting. That would be a distinction without a difference, and the quibble, if such is the case, is not worthy of the Messrs. Pike.

Secundus, the principal of the firm, who indites the letter referred to in his own hand, classifies our statement as a falsehood. Then the falsehood, if such there be, emanated from a member of the House of Assembly. We, however, do not admit circulating a falsehood, though we have given space to the denial of Mr. Pike that neither he nor his firm received any such alleged telegraphed despatch or letter from the Prime Minister. The member of the House of Assembly who openly declared in debate on this very subject that a message of one hundred and seventy-five words had been sent Mr. Pike about the flour incident, further stated that Mr. Pike had read this message to a number of people who were on his wharf at the time of its receipt, and they only laughed at it. Now the question arises, was there a message sent as alleged; and if it were not signed by the Prime Minister, did it carry the name of the Minister of Customs. This is a point which has to be cleared up, because quibbling and hair splitting is not going to save any person from openly and flagrantly defying the law of the land, be he of high or low estate. Thirdly, Messrs. Pike want us to understand clearly that they do not want to have the Customs case against them postponed until after the House closes. With that we have nothing to do, but having the highest admiration for the fighting qualities of the head of the firm, it delights us to make this declaration public. If Messrs. Pike decide to fight the Government, that is their lookout, but—and let there be no misapprehension about it—it is the prime duty of the Government to protect the revenue, no matter who may get in the way of the Act covering the collection of legal customs duties. There are some other observations of Messrs. Pike in their letter upon which we hope to make further comment. It might be added, without prejudice, that had the firm of Emanuel Pike, Ltd., fought the Fish Regulations as strenuously as they are opposing the sales tax on flour, the condition of the West Coast might have been different from what it is today.

Greeting to New Pastor.

We welcome to the city the Rev. C. H. Johnson, M.A., D.D., who arrived by the Rosalind this morning to take up the pastorate of the Cochrane Street Methodist Centennial Church. Mr. Johnson is the eldest son of Dr. D. W. Johnson, now at Truro, N.S., who settled in this city in 1879 and after living in many parishes, began his school work in the city of Halifax. In 1886 he graduated B.A. from Mount Allison University with honors in English. He immediately entered the Methodist Ministry, and after two years on probation went to the United States for Post Graduate work. He completed the D.D. course, specializing in History, at Drew Theological Seminary, and took the Master's Degree in Arts at New York University. Returning to Nova Scotia he married in 1904 Miss Louise H. Paisley daughter of the late Rev. C. E. Paisley, D.D., Professor of Theology at Mount Allison University. He was stationed at Casimiroia and River Philip, and then at the call of the Church spent five years in Alberta in pioneer work, including the founding of a Missionary paper in the Ruthenian language at Edmonton. Two later pastoral terms have been spent at Wentworth and Berwick, N.S. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson have many acquaintances in St. John's, for they spent the months of September and October, 1920, supplying Queen's Road Church.

Yesterday forenoon a motor car being driven by Mr. Harvey, of Baida, collided with a street car, and as a result the headlights and some minor parts of the auto were considerably damaged. The automobile came down Long's Hill and turned west as No. 3 street car was bound East, the motorist of the latter stopped his car instantly and no blame is attached to him. The impact threw a tire off one of the wheels of the automobile and twisted another wheel.

Hit With Tong.

A constant bickering between counsel for defence and counsel for the prosecution was the chief feature of an assault case heard in the magistrate's court this morning when a woman of the West End summoned a neighbor for assault. The defendant was accused of hitting the plaintiff over the back with a pair of tongs and stabbing her with a fork. Mr. G. W. E. Ayre, defending, subjected the plaintiff to a severe cross-examination, and Mr. J. Barron, for the plaintiff, frequently objected to Mr. Ayre's conduct of his examination. The case was dismissed as it was proved that the defendant acted in self defence.

With all the ceremony usual on such occasions, Mr. G. The installing officers were D.G.M. Bro. C. R. Duder and D.G.S. Bro. H. E. Cowan. Over 35 visitors from the city were present whilst several from Bell Island, Carbonsar and Mr. Grace were also in attendance. After a pastmaster's jewel had been presented to Past Master Caplin the gathering proceeded to the Orange Hall where a banquet was held and the usual toast list gone through. The city visitors returned to town this morning.

Each comb in a little case.

G. W. V. A. Dance.

The dance held last night under the auspices of the G.W.V.A. in the C.C.C. Hall, was quite successful and was an appropriate conclusion to the sports which had been held in the afternoon. In spite of the hot weather, quite a large number of people were present and all enjoyed themselves to the full. The music was provided by the C.C.C. Band under Capt. A. Bulley. In spite of their strenuous afternoon the Band did yeoman service last night playing their selections in their usual excellent style and responding to all the encore called for by enthusiastic dancers. The Coon Band which performed at the sports sang and played during the intervals between dances. An excellent buffet supper was served by the Ladies' Association whilst ice cream and cigarettes were sold by them also. The gathering broke up at an early hour this morning after having spent a most pleasant evening.

St. Bon's Alumni Annual Reunion.

The annual celebration of St. Bon's ex-pupils began this morning at 7.30 opening with the signing of the roll, after which the gathering proceeded to mass in the College Oratory on the upper part of the new building. The celebrant was Rev. J. J. McGrath and the Servers were John W. Kinsella and Philip Moore. Immediately after mass Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament was imparted by Monsignor McDermott, "O Salutaris," "Tea-Tum Ergo," and Laudate were rendered by a choir of old boys, assisted by Rev. Fr. McGrath and Bro. Penney with Mr. E. Devereux at the organ. At the conclusion the congregation sang the hymn to the Holy Name. The services being ended, the gathering proceeded to the College Refectory, where breakfast was served by the Sisters of the Presentation Convent Association. The room was beautifully decorated for the occasion and the menu all that could be desired. Sir Michael Cashin, presided, making a short speech, in which he reviewed the good work of the Brothers. He then introduced the Orator of the day, Mr. James R. MacDonnell, B.A., who delivered one of the most forceful and interesting addresses ever heard within the hall. His speech was warmly applauded. The other speakers were Rt. Rev. Monsignor McDermott, Rev. Dean O'Rourke of the West Coast, and Rev. Monsignor Donnelly of Conception Harbor, the latter making a very humorous speech. Cables of congratulations were read by the President from the Christian Brothers at Halifax. The group photograph of all those present was afterwards taken in front of the College, as a fitting conclusion. A reunion will be held in the Campus at 7.30 this evening, when the Cadet Band will give a concert, which is open to the public.

Vandals at Large.

Dear Sir.—Will you kindly allow me through your paper to request those who visit Long Pond frequently to have a friendly eye to the property of the Church of England Orphanage, and to discourage by any means in their power the visits of the few irresponsible individuals whose only object in life seems to destroy. On Tuesday we had a visit from two such persons who broke down the fence, smashed the lock of the boat house, removed the boat and left it leaning badly on the opposite side of the lake. The bathing house, which at considerable expense was repaired last winter, is at present in a dilapidated condition. The doors have been torn from their hinges, the platform smashed up, and the diving board removed. I feel certain these acts of vandalism will cease if those having regard for private property will suggest to those who have none that their company is unwelcome. Yours faithfully, C. E. A. JEFFERY, Superintendent.

Lord Balfour broke the silence he had maintained since his arrival in London in talking with correspondents this forenoon: "Speaking of the meeting with the Premier he said this is simply a private conference with Mr. Lloyd George, instead of a long range bombardment, to see what can be done at 1034 quarters." Asked what he considered the conference prospects for the settlement of peace, Mr. DeValera said: "The outlook is brighter than it ever was in history."

SCHOONER CUTS DOWN MOTOR BOAT.
A tragedy which cast a gloom over the settlement of Flatrock, occurred yesterday at noon, when Mr. Thomas Hickey, youngest son of Mr. Patrick Hickey, lost his life on the fishing schooner. From what could be ascertained it appears that the young man, who was accompanied by his brothers Michael and Patrick, left in their motor boat to haul their trawls on White's Ledge, about 3 miles off the land. Arriving at the grounds the motor boat was anchored and left in charge of Thomas Hickey, whilst the two brothers took a small punt and started to overhaul their lines. The weather was clear and fine, with a moderate breeze blowing, when at noon the schooner, the smaller boat saw the schooner and started to pull up. The motor boat, bearing down on the anchored motor boat, Michael Hickey immediately shouted to "Hard down," but it is believed the helmsman misunderstood what he said as the helm was placed "Hard up" with the result the vessel struck the boat near the engine room, cutting it in two and sending it under water. At the time of the collision the schooner was about 8 knots, and it is believed that young Hickey was killed by the impact as he was never seen after the accident. A careful search was made for the body by the heartbroken brothers of the victim, as well as by the crew of the Freedom, but without avail, the only thing being part of the motor boat. This was brought to Flatrock by the schooner. Head Constable Byrne went to the settlement during the evening and took depositions of the schooner's crew as well as that of the fishermen. The fishermen of Flatrock went out in their motor boats and made a thorough search for the body, but were unsuccessful. Deceased who was 20 years of age, leaves a father, mother, two brothers and a sister to whom the sudden and unexpected passing of their dear one comes as a severe blow.

Saved From Drowning.

A PLUCKY RESCUE.
A very plucky act was witnessed at Long Pond yesterday afternoon, shortly after 4 o'clock, when Lawrence Hickey of Belvidere St., almost fully clad, swam to the rescue of John Lawlor, son of Michael Lawlor, H.M.C. The young man Lawlor was attempting to swim across the Pond, and when nearly half way over he became exhausted owing to a strong wind making a heavy chop towards the centre of the pond. A number of young men who were on the bank hearing Lawlor shout for help called to Hickey who was in the woods close by dressing himself. Although having all his clothes on except his coat, Hickey plunged at once and after a hard swim reached the spot where Lawlor was. The latter had gone under but when he came to the surface Hickey caught him by the arm. The drowning young man now grasped his rescuer by the throat thus rendering him powerless. Hickey clear Hickey managed to get Lawlor and with his free arm started swimming towards the shore. In the struggle Hickey's clothes were partly torn off and getting entangled in his legs made it almost impossible for him to move. Meanwhile John Hickey seeing that both men would likely drown had divested himself of his clothes and plunging in reached them at the edge of the overfall. Lawlor and Hickey both exhausted were dragged ashore after a few minutes Hickey who is a laborer deserves recognition for his bravery in going to the rescue as he was in winter weight underwear and heavy tweed pants. His prompt action undoubtedly saved the life of the young man Lawlor. Daily he should receive distinction for his courageous action.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

THE HITCHY DAY.

What a difference there is in the day when things run smoothly and the day when nothing goes as it should. How much one can accomplish without feeling it on the smooth running day, and how puzzled one gets without accomplishing anything on the hitchy day.

The Phone Call.

Last week I went to town to do some shopping and other errands. I had a list of accumulated errands which should be done in two days I had left three for the purpose. It did not seem like a very long list and I did not anticipate difficulties. But alas, that first day turned out to be a "hitchy" day. Someone called me on the telephone just as I was about to get off and I missed the car I intended catching. My first errand was to see a man about some repairs on the house—he had just been unexpectedly called out, would I wait? I thought I couldn't afford the time for that and rushed off to do some other errands, came back and found I had missed him again. Some embroidery worsted I expected to get at the first place could not be found in the right shade until I had been to five places.

I went without my lunch too long and as an inevitable result got faint and cross and incapable of accomplishing anything. The yellow cretonne for some new hangings, which was my most important errand, could not be found at all. Blues and pinks abounded in the small figures I wanted, but not a satisfactory yellow—for some reason the minute they began to make yellow cretonne the designers broke into giant roses and chrysanthemums the size of cabbages.

You Know the Rest.

These are a few, just a few of the misadventures that befell me on that "hitchy" day. The net result was that I reached home absolutely frazzled and with only half my quota of errands for that day done. That left me with half as much again to do on my next free day, and you can imagine how big a task it looked to me. The rest of the story you know, of course. Everything about that day fitted together like the last few pieces of a picture puzzle. I found the thing I wanted at the first place I looked, the people I had to see were all in and at leisure. Instead of having errands left over, I actually had an hour to spare before I had to start for home.

What made the difference between the two days? Well, part of it was luck but part of it wasn't.

The Causes of Hitchy Days.

It seems to me that those hitchy days come to all of us and that we are inclined to blame them too much to luck. Often there are other factors. A late start is a common one. If you get started half an hour late you are pretty sure to be chasing that half hour all day, and to be mentally breathless as a result. Another thing was I hadn't scheduled my errands wisely. I had left the cretonne which had to be bought (because I had someone hired to help me with the hangings the next day) until too late in the day and the result was that when I couldn't find it I got nervous and ineffectual. Then I dressed too warmly. Lastly, I wasn't feeling any too well in the beginning.

If I had turned straight around and gone home the minute I realized it was going to be a "hitchy" day I would have been better off in the end.

Won't you take my advice and do this the next time you find yourself against a "hitchy" day. I'm going to take it myself next time—that is, I hope I am! It's never quite safe to prophesy is it?

Smallest Writings in the World.

Referring to an Arab, now visiting Cairo, Egypt, who has written 110 words from the Koran on a grain of rice, a Manchester paper recalls an English penman of equal skill.

Peter Bales, as is learned from Hollinshed's Chronicle, put in the compass of a silver penny more things than would fill several ordinary pages, and presented Queen Elizabeth with the manuscript set in a gold ring and covered with a crystal, together with a magnifying glass so powerful that the Queen could easily decipher the manuscript, "which she held on her thumbnail and commended the same to the Lords of the Council and the Ambassadors."

Bales subsequently issued a challenge "to all Englishmen and strangers" to write, for a pen of gold of $100 value, in all kinds of hands, "best, straightest and fastest," and most kinds of ways, "a full, a mean, a small, with line and without line; in a slow set hand, a mean facile hand and a fast running hand," and, further, to write "truest and speediest, most secretary and clerlike, from a man's mouth, reading, or pronouncing, either English or Latin."

Another writing master, David Johnson, accepted the challenge and the contest opened on Michaelmas Day, 1595, before five judges and a hundred spectators. Bales was adjudged the winner in all three sections, though the competition in "writing sundry kinds of fair hands" proved a near thing for him.

He gained points for the beauty and "most authentic proportion" of his "Roman hand," but Johnson scored marks in court hand and in "bastard secretary" hand.

Bales, being then on his mettle, presented his "masterpiece," composed of "secretary and Roman hand four ways varied," and offered to forego all his previous advantages if Johnson could better it. This proved impossible, so Bales carried off the gold pen and had it painted and set up for his sign.

Storms on the Firms.

Maybe when you have seen on the screen the deck of a ship during a storm at sea you have wondered just how it is done.

Anyone who stops to think has realized, of course, that it is not possible to take such a scene on a real ship during a genuine storm, for reasons of light amongst other things.

Concluding, therefore, that it is all done in the studio, you probably imagine a ship's deck built on huge rockers with the players staggering all over

TO-NIGHT'S GAME.

Last evening, we witnessed the old trials—but always friendly ones—the C.B.I. and B.I.S. football teams play what will probably be the fastest and best game of the season.

To-night we will see the Baseball seasons of both these clubs compete in the fifth game of the regular League series, and if last night's football was a thriller then the same is expected to-night. The Institute lads feel undaunted by their unsuccessful one-point victory with the Lions, while on the other hand the B.I.S. regard their opponents as their legitimate prey this season.

The line-ups will likely be—

Churchill	C.
Drover	1-B.
Winter	2-B.
Alderice	3-B.
Windsor	S.S.
Gabriel	R.F.
Churchill	C.F.
Martin	L.F.
Ude	U.

(Empire: Chesman and Fulmore; Mermer and Skinner. The game starts at 7.15 sharp and a large attendance is expected.)

IMPRESSIONS OF THE FIGHT.

(By Doc Power.)

At 12.15 on Saturday we left the Murray Hill Hotel for Jersey City. Took a tube at 33rd and 6th Avenue for Grave St., Jersey. This eat up 10 minutes of valuable time. Here we found all the cars and streets blocked but the traffic cops had a pathway cleared for ticket holders. After ten minutes' wait we arrived at the Jersey Thirty Acres where the arena was built. On entering and being escorted to our seats, we found they were already occupied. Thanks, however, to Jim Vincombe's gentle (?) persuasion they almost immediately vacated with apologies most profuse.

Featherweight preliminary contests were going on. We saw five of them (three of them punk) and eagerly waited for the big mill. At 2 minutes the 3. Carpenter came forward. A handsome looking specimen of manhood; a pearl grey bath robe trimmed with black silk wrapped tightly around him. His hair is anubian and brushed straight back in military fashion. Then through the ropes in the other corner crawled Dempsey clad in a dirty red sweater and a three days' scrubby beard on his face scowling and ugly. He is and vicious looking with his nose almost flattened to his face from previous encounters in the ring. Three spectators flung overhead taking pictures while built up about 5 feet high and 20 feet from the ring is a motion picture tower—the camera men grinding away; 31,000 persons were present. Dempsey got greater ovation at his entrance than Carpenter, but the latter got some attention when the announcer introduced him as "A Soldier of France," and some sections present boomed "Dempsey."

The rival sections created a great uproar when Dempsey was introduced as "America's World Champion." The people of Jersey City then presented Dempsey with a floral horseshoe about 10 feet in height and carried it to his corner. The contestants are now standing in their respective corners, and Dempsey crossed to Dempsey. He's a little block of a fellow—rather dapper—with a check cap, faded grey sweater, a towel hanging from his right pocket, and chattering and gesturing briskly. Dempsey is gazing down on the boards of the ring still scowling, setting his hands on the ropes over in the other corner. Carpenter—the same of perfection and confidence—tapping his own smile and humming.

They strip! Both are well tanned. Around Carp's waist is the tri-color of France with white pants and black stripes. He is compactly built, well shaped, no muscles standing out at all, but every movement of his torso shows them rippling "neath the smooth body. Dempsey wears a plain white pants with the Stars and Stripes around his middle. He is herculean with frightfully well developed shoulders and back. He certainly looks ferocious. The gloves are laced on them; the referee reads the rules to them; the gong clangs and they are off. Carpenter blesses himself before the fight, but Dempsey, though of the same faith, does not.

ROUND 1.—Carp in on the defensive. Dempsey is very cautious like a beast stalking its prey. Suddenly he straightened up, shot out a wicked left and split Carp's nose covering his face with blood. They clinched, Dempsey getting in his body blows, and handling Georges as if he were an infant. Just before the bell sounded, Carp looks groggy and falls near his own corner. A great cry goes up from the multitude, but it's only a slip, and he gets up immediately. You can hear the wise-guys muttering "Why, the Frenchman is only a set-up for Dempsey."

ROUND 2.—Carp jumps right out of his corner and lands his right straight on Dempsey's chin. The champion staggers back and Georges clips him to the head with his left. The crowd is on its feet wildly excited shouting for Carp to finish him. Over goes Carp's right twice to the chin. Dempsey's hands are hanging to his side and he looks dazed and bewildered. This is the psychological moment but Carpenter is too eager to finish him and here's where he lost the fight. He depended too much on his unerring aim. He drives his right with every ounce of his strength behind it, and neither I nor anyone present can tell whether Dempsey was staggering and swaying after the terrific impact or whether he succeeded in cleverly dodging the blow. Anyway Carp's sizzler just grazed Dempsey's neck as it passed by; they then clinched and the bell rang.

ROUND 3.—Dempsey waded right in, pounded the stomach out of Georges's at-in-fighting, outclassed him in every department, and just before the gong sounded shot out a right uppercut to Carp's head and the gallant Frenchman was practically finished. The bell saving him from receiving the quietus. An old grey-haired man near me jammed an unlit cigarette in his mouth saying, "Put on your coat kid, this thing is all over; Dempsey'll kill him sure next round."

ROUND 4.—A minute and sixteen seconds gone when Dempsey jammed Carp over near his corner and shot his wonderful right to his heart, and the game bland Frenchman—game as they can make 'em—went down for the count of nine. He pluckily got to his feet with all his remaining energy and a wan smile bravely breaking through, but he was literally out. Dempsey stood aside, "ched the human target as you'd count 6, carefully taking aim as he measured him for the finish—then over goes his right with all the terrific strength behind it and down goes "the man of destiny," the soldier of France, the gamest little bit of flesh that ever breathed. Dempsey lifted him to his corner. All is still. Then up goes a mighty cheer. Dempsey bowing all around and acknowledging the salutations goes back to his corner smiling.

NOTES.
Dempsey is a champion, and a real one, and if he takes the necessary care of himself one that is going to remain champion for a long, long time.

It was five or six minutes before Carpenter could realize what it was all about. He had to be helped out of the ring. His nose was split straight open, his eyes blackened and closed up, and his body terribly bruised. Dempsey was not visibly marked at all. It was subsequently discovered that Carpenter's right thumb was broken at the lower knuckle—presumably in the second round. Dempsey absolutely repudiates the idea that he was staggering and almost finished. He says at no period throughout was he worried or hard pressed.

The Passing of the "Sir."

The Toronto Star points out that there are now no Prime Ministers in the Dominion who are burdened with the prefix "Sir." The last of them was Sir Lomer Gouin, Newfoundland, unlike Canada, did not promulgate a self-denying ordinance. In regard to knight-hoods, and so her Prime Minister, Richard A. Squires, was created last month a K.C.M.G. He is the only Prime Minister in the Western Hemisphere who is a British Knight; while the only one in the Eastern Hemisphere so honored is the Premier of Tasmania, Sir Walter H. Lee. The Premier of Great Britain is a plain "Mr." And the Premiers of the Empire who are meeting in conference in London are Messrs. Lloyd George, Meighen, Hughes, Smuts and Massey. Verily the day of "honors" is passing in the young democracies.—Halifax Chronicle

Newfoundland as a Health Resort.

SIR E. BOWRING'S HOPE.
Sir Edgar R. Bowring, as president of the Newfoundland Club, entertained a large company at luncheon yesterday at the Hyde Park Hotel. Among those who had accepted invitations to be present were—

The Lord Chancellor and Lady Birkenhead, Lord and Lady Morris, Lord Islington, Lord Emmott, Sir James Allen, Mr. Amery, M.P., General Sir Geoffrey Feilding, Mr. Cecil Harcourt, M.P., Sir George Peckey, Sir Edgar Walton, Sir Thomas Berridge, Sir G. McLaren Brown, Sir Bruce Porter, Sir Andrew Caird, Sir Fortescue Flannery, M.P., Sir George Fiddes, Captain Gee, V.C.M.F., Sir William Goodie, Major A. L. Hadow, Sir Richard Linthorne, Sir Peter McBride, Sir Newton Moore, M.P., Colonel J. Obed-Smith, Sir Walter Preston, M.P., Sir Richard Redmayne, Sir Edward Stephenson, Sir John Taverner, and Sir H. Wilson.

Lord Birkenhead proposed the toast of "The Newfoundland Club." No reminder was necessary from him, he said, of the many circumstances which lent interest to the long story of that one must not forget was the oldest of our Colonies. The men and women of Newfoundland might be in the habit of abusing their country themselves, but they never allowed anybody else to abuse it. He regarded it as all to the good that a Newfoundland Club should have been formed in London.

Sir Edgar Bowring, in reply, said that Lord Northcliffe, a distinguished upholder of Newfoundland, was unable to be present, as he was entertaining a number of Rotarians from the United States and Canada, but had expressed a wish to be made a member of the club. Lord Northcliffe was the pioneer of a great and valuable industry on the island, and they owed very much to his enterprise. The objects for which the Newfoundland Club had been formed were, in the first place, to provide a gathering-ground for Newfoundlanders when they came to England, and to create a national spirit in all those who had the interests of the Colony at heart. An exchange of views on matters relating to the island, by those legitimately concerned in its affairs, could not but be helpful in abating their distrust. They wanted the influence of all their friends and supporters to be thrown on the side of Newfoundland in the island's pursuit of further progress, and in the effects they were making to develop their natural resources. Owing to their sparse population and relatively small area—although with Labrador their jurisdiction covered an area of 163,000 square miles—the attractions of their Colony were likely to become obscured by the larger glories of their more opulent neighbours, and it was with a view for keeping the name of Newfoundland and its aspirations constantly before the world that the association had been formed.

The establishment of the club was bound to benefit Newfoundland in a variety of ways. Some of their people knew nothing of the "Old Country," as it was affectionately called. Their young men and women went in increasing numbers to the United States for their education and business training, and consequently shaped their ideals on other than British lines. They wanted, through the agency of the association, to foster the feeling of loyalty, and to make more real, if that were possible, the affection that was deep-rooted in the breast of every Newfoundland for the Mother Country. Similarly they hoped to stimulate to more vigorous action the interest that was everything felt in the Old Country towards the first born of the Imperial family. Their hope was that Newfoundland might one day become a holiday place for visitors from the Old Country.

Lord Morris proposed the toast of "The Chairman." The Empire, he said, was not held together by bonds of steel, but by affection. When the Great War came it was not necessary for the Government to invite the Dominions to take part in it. The Dominions regarded their participation as a privilege, to which they gladly responded. There was no cause more potent in the propaganda work which produced this good feeling than that provided by the High Commissioners and Agents-General.—London Times, June 28.

An Irish Chief Justice.

Lord O'Brien of Kilfinora, one of Ireland's most famous Lord Chief Justices, who was known to his opponents as "Peter the Pusher," and in the west of Ireland as "Master Pether," used to tell the following: "A man came to him in the lobby of one of the Courthouses on his circuit, saying, 'Master Pether, I want you to take my brother's case.' O'Brien explained that he could not as he was fully engaged in the civil court, and asked what the brother had done.

"Och, yer Honour," replied the man, "next to nothing—he jist laid his stick on a boy's head, and—he died under it." The fact being that his brother had beaten out a man's brains.

"O'Brien said, 'You must get someone else, for, as I have already said, I shall be occupied with a civil case, and besides, you have told me your brother is guilty.'"

"Then, said O'Brien, 'take my card to the man whose name I have written on it, he speaks Irish splendidly, and may take the case.'"

"A few days later the man came to O'Brien in great delight saying, 'We won easily, and my brother got off.'"

"Then you got the man I sent you to?" said O'Brien.

"Och, so, yer honour," was the reply, "he was too stickin' about money. He wanted five poun' and we had only three poun' ten'."

"Well, what did you do?"

"Why, sor, we jist tould the intarpreter he would get the whole money if my brother got off—an' he got off!"

YESTERDAY'S OUTDOOR EVENTS.

G.W.V.A. SPORTS.

The sports held yesterday afternoon in St. George's Field were a splendid success, one of the largest concourses of spectators ever present at any event held on the field being in attendance. The sports were under the patronage of His Excellency, Sir C. Alexander Harris who arrived on the scene at 4.30 p.m. and was met at the entrance by President J. G. Higgins and Vice President Butler of the G.W.V.A. who conducted him to his seat. The various events, many of which were novel and in some cases unique in local sports, were carried out without a hitch, thanks to the work of the field committee performed under the supervision of Mr. W. J. Higgins, K.C., M.H.A. The various races were all exceedingly well run, very good time being made in most. The field regatta which was started by Judge Morris, was one of the most popular events of the day, and drew forth loud applause whilst several other amusing items were also greatly enjoyed. The Coon Band which regaled the delighted visitors to the refreshment tent with their melodious chanting, was a novelty which was greatly appreciated. The various side shows were all well patronized during the afternoon, many people being anxious to try their luck with the wheel of fortune, and shooting galleries. Refreshments were served by various ladies who have at all times worked energetically to help any entertainment which the G.W.V.A. may get up. The prizes for the sports will be presented upon their arrival from England.

The winners of the various events were:—

1. Hurdles—1st, R. Halley; 2nd, J. Rogers; time 14 1-5 seconds.
2. 100 Yards Dash—1st, T. Butler; 2nd, J. Power; time 11 seconds.
3. Football Fives—Feildians vs. Britton, won by Feildians.
4. Half Mile—1st, T. Butler; 2nd, M. Moore; time 2 minutes, 21 1-5 seconds.
5. Bombing Contest—1st, H. Mitchell; 2nd, J. O'Driscoll; 136 feet, 10 inches.
6. School Boys race—(under 15 years)—1st, J. Nicosey; 2nd, A. Chown.
7. Football Fives—Saints vs. Star, won by Saints.
8. 220 Yards Dash—1st, A. Martin; 2nd, R. Halley, time 24 4-5 seconds.
9. Field Regatta—1st, H.M.S. Britton; 2nd, C.L.B.
10. Quarter Mile Open—1st, R. Halley; 2nd, D. McCall; time 59 1-5 seconds.
11. Tug of War—St. John's Veterans vs. Britton, won by St. John's.
12. Crutch Race—(Men with one leg)—1st, E. Carew; 2nd, J. Courtney; 3rd, I. Wells.
13. Band Race—1st, Bellows; (C.L.B.); 2nd, Chislett and Kelly, (C.L.B.).
14. Baseball Relay Race—Won by B.I.S.
15. One Mile Open—1st, H. Skirving; 2nd, J. Murray; time 5 minutes, 1 2-5 seconds.

M.C.A.A. GARDEN PARTY.

Brookfield was yesterday the scene of the Methodist College Ayre Athletic Garden Party, an affair which was very well attended and greatly enjoyed by all present. The sports were conducted under the most efficient management of Mr. James Ayre and the Sports Committee and were productive of a considerable amount of interest. All the events were keenly contested. The five mile road race, for which there were twelve competitors, was won by W. Thorburn in 25 mins. 45 secs. J. Jacobs being second and R. Taylor third. The finals in the Mercantile Fives were won by (1) James Baird, Ltd.; (2) by Bishop, Sons & Co., Ltd. The laurels in the 100 yards Dash, Quarter Mile Race, and Half Mile Race were awarded in each instance to T. Butler. In the Mercantile Relay

Race, the boys from Baird's were again triumphant.

There were many interesting side-shows for the benefit of both young and old and much amusement was caused by them, particularly by the fishing "pool." Teas were served during the evening by the ladies of the M.C.A.A., of such a nature as to delight the greatest epicure. The Methodist Guards Band discoursed excellent music during the day. After the various events were over the prizes were presented by Mr. C. P. Ayre the donor of the new Athletic Grounds.

ST. PATRICK'S GARDEN PARTY.

The parishioners of St. Patrick's Church held a successful Garden Party at Lester's Field yesterday afternoon. Some thousands of people were present during the day including Rev. Monsignor McDermot, Rev. Dr. Kitchen and various other priests. Stalls and tables on which a variety of articles were arranged so as to catch the eye of the visitor, were scattered over the grounds and were presided over by the ladies of the parish. The C.C. and City Bands rendered excellent music during the afternoon. The sports programme was most interesting. The Pony Race, which was exciting was won by Cowan's horse which defeated Kirby's pony which held the championship last season. The five mile race was also a big event and was won by R. O'Toole in 31 minutes 30 seconds after a close contest; E. Crocker was second with R. Redmond third whilst D. Bayly, a lad of 12 years finished the course fourth and received a big ovation from those present and was awarded a special gold medal. The other items included a baseball match between Mt. Cashel and Holy Cross School which was won by Holy Cross, whilst in the final football five the medals were won by the Cadets. At the conclusion the prizes were presented by Rev. Monsignor McDermot, after which the affair was brought to a close with the National Anthem. The gate receipts amounted to over $400, and it is expected the total receipts will be in the vicinity of $4000.

ST. MARY'S S.S. PICNIC.

The St. Mary's annual Sunday School picnic was held at Ruby's on the Bay Bull's Road yesterday. The scholars numbering over three hundred with their teachers, parents and friends left by special train in charge of Conductor Geo. Noseworthy, at 10.30 a.m. The train ride was most enjoyable and proved a popular item for the day's programme. Various games and outdoor sports were entered into until tea hour. Some road races were very interesting. For these special prizes were donated by Dr. H. M. and Mrs. Mosdell, Mr. Baxter Parsons and Mr. Alex Ruby all of whom were heartily cheered by the children. After tea there was a continuation of fun until "all aboard" was heard when a pleased and weary crowd returned to the city at 8.15 p.m. The weather was ideal and all concerned fully enjoyed the fresh air of the country. Conductor Noseworthy and his assistants certainly know how to deal with the young people placed in their care and with whom they are deservedly popular.

Signs of the Times.

As an index to the depressed condition of the country it was observed that the loads of freight being conveyed to S.S. Prospero yesterday for the Northward were made up of practically all foodstuffs mostly flour. It can be inferred from this that people are not in a position to purchase other than bare necessities.

Corner Stone of Maternity Home Duly Laid.

The corner stone of the S. A. Maternity Home, corner LeMarchant Road and Pleasant Street, was laid by His Excellency the Governor at 3.30 p.m. yesterday. A large number of citizens were present to witness the ceremony. The programme, which was a most impressive one, opened with the well known hymn, "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name," which was beautifully rendered by the S.A. Band. Prayer was offered by the Rev. Canon Bolt, in which he invoked the blessing of God upon the purpose of the gathering. Col. Martin, in a few words, introduced His Excellency, who proceeded to lay the corner stone of the building.

His Excellency in speaking of the work of the Salvation Army, said the city owed a debt of gratitude to the organization, which by persistent efforts, at last had the satisfaction of knowing that the Maternity Home was an accomplished fact. He paid a high tribute to the Hon. M. G. Winter for the work he had performed in connection with the campaign of raising funds for the building. In closing his remarks he made special mention of the work of Colonel Adey, the predecessor of Colonel Martin.

Hon. M. G. Winter gave a short address, paying a tribute to the committee, which had worked so faithfully with him. He made particular mention of the efforts of Mr. R. Dunbar, who, to a great extent, was instrumental in raising the necessary funds. The Prime Minister, who was present, being called upon by Colonel Martin, eulogized the work of the Army, particularly in the large cities of the United States.

Mrs. Martin, wife of Colonel Martin, next gave a short address, and in a few well chosen words, pleaded the cause of the mothers and children of the city. A collection in aid of the Hospital funds was taken up, after which Hon. W. B. Jennings proposed a vote of thanks to His Excellency the Governor for so kindly officiating. Benediction pronounced by Adj. Ryall and the singing of the National Anthem brought the function to a close. The following message was received during the evening by Hon. M. G. Winter from Mr. R. Dunbar, Orillia, Ontario:—

Convent School Outing.

The Sisters of Mercy, Military Road, and the ladies of the Knights of Columbus Association planned to signalize for the pupils of the Academy of Our Lady of Mercy, the closing of the scholastic year, and their final adieu to the Old Schools, opened in May, 1843, A.D. and in which the grandmothers, mothers and relatives of the present pupils received their education, by a day's outing to Bowling Park, the date fixed being July 4th. Everything was in readiness; intense excitement prevailed among the little ones the previous day, only to be dominated by disappointment on Tuesday, when, owing to unfavorable weather, it had to be called off.

Wednesday, July 6, being a half holiday for the city folk, the Park had to be abandoned; but arrangements were made with the Sisters of St. Bride's College to accommodate them on their grounds. Thither at 2 o'clock p.m. more than four hundred children were conveyed in motor procession from the Convent of Mercy. Many of our prominent citizens sacrificed their own holiday plans to give pleasure to the youthful band, some making four, five and six trips to Littledale.

This happy crowd at various sports on the green, amid picturesque surroundings: green fields, flowering lilacs, hawthorn and other shrubs, and balmy air was a sight well worth seeing. Slight showers, however, interrupted the outdoor games, then the children found shelter in the College Recreation Hall, where refreshments were served them by the kind ladies in charge. Every chance of sunshine was availed of for resuming open-air amusements, or roaming at large through the beautiful and spacious College grounds. Since all things here must end, so did this enjoyable day, by a return procession to the Convent of Mercy, whence the children dispersed for their several homes.

NOTICE OF MOTION.

Hon. the Prime Minister—To ask leave to introduce a bill entitled "An Act respecting the Exportation of Timber (No. 2).

NOTICE OF QUESTION.

Sir M. P. Cashin—To ask Hon. the Prime Minister what steps, if any, are being taken by the Government with a view to securing greater facilities in the way of wireless telegraphy than at present exist in this Colony, and is it the intention of the Government to complete a contract entered last year with the Marconi Company, and if not, why not?

Sir M. P. Cashin—To ask Hon. the Prime Minister if the Government has yet taken any steps to appoint a Municipal Commission for St. John's and if so, who have been appointed and if not what is the cause of the delay.

Sir M. P. Cashin—To ask Hon. the Minister of Marine and Fisheries if, in a list of fish inspectors recently furnished the House in which the name of James Carroll appears, that person is really James Carroll, or is he Ernest James Carroll, of Bonavista, an employee of the Fishermen's Union Trading Company, and in the latter case was the said Ernest James Carroll employed to inspect fish of the Trading Company; if so, what quantity of fish did he inspect, in which cargoes was this fish included for shipment, and is it considered proper that an employee of the Trading Company should have been inspecting fish belonging to that organization.

Sir M. P. Cashin—To ask Hon. the Minister of Marine and Fisheries if Mr. D. James Davies, who was sent to Canada to represent this Colony on a Fishery Conference, has yet made any report, and if so, to lay a copy of the same on the table of the House. If not, when will he report and what is the cause of the delay. Also if Mr. Davies while in Canada took up with the Canadian authorities the question of the proposed abandonment of certain lighthouses and signal stations at present maintained by the Canadian authorities on the Newfoundland coast, if not, has the Department taken any steps on its own account and if so will he lay on the table of the House copy of the same.

Sir M. P. Cashin—To ask Hon. the Prime Minister, in the absence of the Hon. Minister of Agriculture and Mines, if it is correct that recently a surveyor was sent from St. George's to measure a few thousand cords of pulp wood at Fort aux Port while there were duly appointed surveyors of lumber in the section, one of whom is a returned soldier; if this returned soldier applied for this work and if so, why it was not given him; and under the circumstances, what value is to be placed on the Premier's statement of his attention to protect the interests of returned men.

Sir M. P. Cashin—To ask the Minister of Public Works if Mr. W. H. Rennie is employed in the General Hospital in any capacity, and if so, what salary is he being paid and what provision is being made for its payment.

Dr. Jones—To ask Hon. the Colonial Secretary, if any appointment has been made to the position of Port physician or quarantine physician for St. John's and if not, who is now performing the duties of same and at what salary and when will a permanent appointment be made.

Blackie and the "Auld Greeks."

Stories of John Stuart Blackie are delightful, and this one will be read with joy by Scotsmen. This is how the most picturesque figure then living in Edinburgh greeted the teller. Blackie was wearing a wide-brimmed Panama hat beneath which streamed his long white hair, and he had on a blue silk dressing-gown and around his waist yards of red silk sash. "Punctual," said he. "You sharp to the minute. Come by eleven train, eh? An hour and minutes on the rail. Wonderful we live now! Glasgow to Edinburgh and return, ninety-six miles for six shillings and sixpence, first class, quickest travelling in the world, the cheapest. That's one thing, auld Greeks could na' do. Foulds-de-rol-de-r. Progress, progress, believe in it. I'm a marching man. There's nae such thing as stand still; you go forward, or you fall back. Will ye ring the bell? I thank Bachelor's hall the day. My wife in the country, but we will try to oomfortable."

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—I am surprised to see that so little comment is being made on that report of Sir George Bury, which, if acted upon by the Government, will mean the destruction of our independence as a self-governing country. It is not apparent to you, Sir, that the granting of $1,500,000 to the railroad company is a bold move to railroad us into the arms of Canada? It would be bad enough for us to take this step as a choice of evils, but when our own money is taken from us, and used as a whip to scourge us every step of the way, we are being treated worse than the slaves of old. You spoke truly in one of your recent editorials when you said, "we are a gullible lot," and we are if we allow this, the latest and most momentous coup d'etat to be pulled off on the people of this country. Every scheme known to corrupt capitalists and politicians in Canada and Newfoundland has been used to try and force us under the yoke of Canadian greed, but up to this time every effort has failed, because they did not understand the proper means to bring about their designs. Now they have seized the economic weapon in the way of paying railroad losses—which may never occur—to force us to bow to the will of Canada—the country where the people are so free that they can only import such books as are proscribed by the rulers of that country.

The Government must be stark crazy to enter into an agreement to pay the railroad the sum of $1,500,000. If you tried to make the road cost this amount you could not do so. Of course, it is a very easy matter to so manipulate figures as to show a greater loss than the above mentioned sum. The American roads are past masters in this kind of business, and with your permission, I will, at a later date, show how the railroad magnates of that country juggle their figures in order to show big deficits, while at the same time they have made billions out of the American Government. My reason for wishing to publish this is because I think it would serve to open the eyes of some others and put us all on guard. With this gift of $1,500,000, together with the reduction in operating expenses, the railroad company will be able to clean up $1,000,000 clear profit. If they cannot do so they should take up cabbage planting.

The Government should have had a complete and detailed financial statement of every activity, local and foreign, of the Company since the first hour it began to function in this country. The mere statement of the cost of coal, oil, wages and the receipts for passengers and freight is not good enough and affords the Government no sound data on which to determine the actual status of the road. The Government should know and the people want to know, and will know—who owns the stocks, when they were issued and to what extent. The watering of stock may at first blush not seem to fall within the scope of these comments, but on a little closer examination we shall see that it directly affects every one in any country where this is done. Every one should know how this chicanery is operated. Let me explain it briefly: Suppose, for instance, a certain concern is capitalized at $50,000,000. To water its stock the controlling capitalists, on the pretext of improving the property, issue, say, another $50,000,000 of stock. Thus the burden of the industry is doubled. Thereafter it has to pay dividends upon $100,000,000, instead of $50,000,000. The advantage to the engineers of this hobnobbing is many. For one thing they are enabled to steal millions at a blow; and another is that the resultant cutting of the dividend rate puts the road in the position of being poverty-stricken and furnishes an excellent excuse for beating down wages and screwing up passengers and freight rates. When, however, through wage-cutting, rate-raising and the natural increase in business, the dividend rate rises on the watered stock, then the manipulators inspect more water and the whole process is gone over again. By means of this watered stock swindle, many railroads have been used as instruments of extortion and robbery. Dozens of railroads have had their equipment ruined and themselves thrown into bankruptcy because of it. Sir George Bury says that he thinks the Government would be willing to go to any length rather than take over the road, and that is his reason for suggesting such lengths as the gift of $1,500,000 to the road. Just why the Government is not willing to take over the road and save, at least, $1,000,000 a year is hard to explain. If the Government cannot run the road as cheaply under government control seeing that the money is coming out of their own pockets (people's), how can it expect others to run it with a view to economy when they know that the Government is footing the bill. There is no form of Government control that can act so disastrously upon the people of this country as the present form. In a few years the road will suck the last dollar out of the people and leave the country in economic ruin which will mean that we will have to go on our knees to Canada for a great relief. The granting of this $1,500,000 is the beginning of the forging of the weapon which is to drive us into submission to the will of Canadian capitalists, who will exploit us as they see fit, and under whose yoke we will perish like cattle on a sandy desert. For be it remembered, confederation in Newfoundland is not the same thing as confederation in Canada.

Yours truly,
W. L. BUTLER.

Swiss Funeral Customs.

At the death of a person in Switzerland, the family inserts a formal, black-edge announcement in the papers for sympathy, and stating that the "mourning urn" will be exhibited during certain hours on a special day. In front of the house where the person died there is placed a little black table covered with black cloth, on which stands a black jar. Into this the friends of the family drop little black-bordered visiting cards, sometimes with a few words of sympathy on the back. The urn is put on the table on the day of the funeral. Only men go to the churchyard, and then generally follow the hearse on foot.

"Sincerity in word and deed, that is what makes friends, wins customers, grows business, insures success. We make no claim we cannot substantiate, declare no values we cannot show."

Our claim is that Phorstone Cough and Cold Cure is the best preparation for all kinds of Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma and various lung troubles, and to substantiate our claim we can produce the proof by the sales we are making. If Stafford's Phorstone was not what we claim it to be why should people be continually asking for a bottle and wholesalers purchasing it in great quantities. Phorstone is only one of the many preparations we manufacture and have succeeded in obtaining a very large sale for owing to its medicinal qualities.

Poem That Made a Revolution.

BYRON AND THE CENTENARY OF THE GREEK RISING.

(By Colonel B. R. WARD, C.M.G.)

Fair Greece! sad relic of departed worth! Immortal, though no more; though fallen, great! Who now shall lead thy scattered children forth, And long-accustomed bondage uncreate? Not such thy sons who whilome did await The hopeless warriors of a willing doom In bleak Thermopylae's sepulchral strain— Oh, who that gallant spirit shall resume, Leap from Eurotas banks, and call thee from the tomb?

In these words Byron addressed Greece and its existing inhabitants after his visit to Albania and the Morea in 1809. Greece was at that time nothing more than a geographical expression, being divided up into a number of Turkish provinces, governed by semi-independent pashas. When Byron in company with his friend John Hobhouse, visited Ali Pasha, the Turkish Governor of Albania, at Janina, in October, 1809, he doubtless little thought that in less than twelve years—to be quite exact, in April, 1821—the standard of revolt would be raised in the Peloponnese—and that no names would stand higher in the estimation of the Hellenic nation than his own and that of his Turkish host, the redoubtable "Lion of Janina."

A Lyric Masterpiece. Never did a nation rightly struggling to be free obtain a more magnificent advertisement of its claims and ideals. All later propaganda, however, scientifically conducted, must pale before the immortal freedom put forth by Byron in the second canto of "Childe Harold" and in "The Isles of Greece," that lyric masterpiece sandwiched in between two stanzas in the third canto of "Don Juan."

So much for Byron's influence in the uprising of Hellenic nationality against Turkish oppression and tyranny.

How did it come about that portraits of Ali Pasha, the Turkish Governor of Albania, were to be found hanging up in the huts of Greek mountaineers during the War of Independence, and that no songs more popular amongst them than those celebrating the doughty deeds of the "Lion of Janina."

"The Sick Man of Europe."

All did not support Greek independence from any love of the ancient classics, or from any desire to support the idea of the self-determination of peoples, but simply and solely from overmastering ambition and love of power. The Sultan was already "the Sick Man of Europe," although the name had not yet been bestowed upon him, and the Governor of an outlying province such as Albania was in those days to all intents and purposes an independent monarch.

So long as the annual tribute and judicious bribes to the Sultan's advisers were forthcoming, the Sultan was willing to leave the Lion of Janina severely alone. When, however, Ali so far forgot himself as to procure the murder of one of the Sultan's relatives in Constantinople itself, the long-suffering Commander of the Faithful was forced to take action, and dispatched an army to Janina in order to reduce his insolent Viceroy to subjection.

From 1820 to the spring of 1822 Kurshid Pasha, the Sultan's commander in chief, besieged Ali in his stronghold of Janina. Meanwhile, on April 2nd, 1821—the centenary of which date all Greeks have been celebrating—Archbishop Germanos raised the standard of the Cross at Patras in the Morea, and from one end to the other of the Peloponnese the Greek peasants rose against their Turkish masters and during the next few weeks thousands of Turks were massacred throughout the country.

The Sultan took a terrible vengeance, and on Easter Eve, April 22, 1821, immediately after the morning celebration of the Eucharist, Gregorios, the Greek Patriarch of Constantinople, was executed.

COUNSEL IN PROHIBITION CAUSE RESIGNS.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Declaring that the country is "drifting toward prohibition anarchy," and that, "unless calm and sane judgment displace popular excitement and hysteria," all respect for the law so essential to enforcement will be lost, Alfred D. Vanburen, of Kingston, N.Y., has resigned as chief counsel to the Federal Prohibition Commissioner.

In an interview explanatory of his action, Mr. Vanburen asserted that the Volstead enforcement law has carried things to extremes, and the people are just beginning to realize that the effort to carry into effect national prohibition is affecting the practice of medicine, pharmacy, chemistry and religion. Mr. Vanburen said he had always been a prohibitionist, but believes that if national prohibition is to succeed it will be necessary to maintain respect for the law at any cost, and this cannot be accomplished by further curtailment of personal liberty and "abusive and ruthless" restrictions.

"The situation is critical," said Mr. Vanburen, "and deserves the most careful consideration and study by all who believe that this Government should not suffer from an abuse of those principles upon which it was erected. From all over the country professional and business men, ardent supporters of prohibition against beverage liquor, generous contributors to the cause and among the drier of the dries, are raising their voices in vigorous protest against further encroachments upon rights guaranteed in the pursuit of lawful occupations."

Names and Phrases.

What is the last word in the English language? In Funk and Wagnall's Standard Dictionary the last word is Zymomma, an Indian dragon fly, having a large head, narrow face, and very large eyes. In Webster's Dictionary it is Zythum, a kind of an ancient malted beverage.

For a long time dictionary makers were content to stop at Zymology and Zymurgy, words that have to do with the science of fermentation. Then somebody came along with Zyxomma. Now the compilers of the Oxford Dictionary, begun in 1844 by Murray and the English Philological Society have found still another last word: Zyx. This is a Kentish dialect word, coming down from the 14th century, and it means "seest." It hardly seems likely that Zyx will ever be ousted from its place as the last word in the English language.

The Australian Federal Chief Justice has refused to allow United States forms of spelling to appear on official documents in the High Courts. He ordered the spelling of the words "program" and "center" changed to "programme" and "centre," remarking that English spelling was good enough for him.

In an English court the other day a lawyer referred to a judge as "Judge Brown." He was immediately pulled up by the presiding judge, who reminded counsel that the English term was "Mr. James Brown." The court refused to allow the use of the "Americanism."

To give, or receive, a knife without something of value, preferably money, being given in exchange is popularly supposed to break the friendship between giver and recipient of the knife. This is a very ancient superstition, a survival of primitive man. The savage, having progressed from a club to a knife or spear as a weapon, soon learned the danger of relinquishing it merely for friendship's sake. His friend, having disarmed him, was apt to be his friend no longer. He found, also, that when a friend presented him with a weapon, that friend presently came to regard him—because of respect for the act, or because of envy at the added superiority the gift bestowed—with suspicion, growing into enmity. In both cases, however, if something of value passed between the two the deal was a matter of pure business and no jealousy was aroused between the two.

Workmen Who Are Prisoners.

Most of the world's emeralds now come from the Muzo Mines in Colombia, where an emerald weighing 630 carats was found recently.

The Muzo Mines are in a mountainous district, about ninety miles from Bogota, and most difficult of access. All the miners employed there are pure-blooded Indians, who show an almost incredible degree of skill in breaking through the limestone containing the gems.

Though the pointed bars with which they work weigh thirty pounds, a miner can strike exactly the same spot with the point of the bar fifty or sixty times in succession, twisting not one hair's breadth, and using just sufficient force to break the limestone without damaging the emerald or the calcite in which it is embedded.

Each miner has to undertake to remain at the mines for not less than three months at a stretch, during which period, though well housed, fed, and amused, he is kept a prisoner, so as to prevent any illicit sale of the emeralds.

9,000,000 Eggs a Year.

The poultry-farmer who has to be content with the annual production of a couple of hundred eggs from each hen would like to learn the fish's secret of producing eggs so prolifically. The cod tops the list with nine million annually, then comes the sturgeon with seven and a half million. Another great producer is the flounder, which just touches the million.

The mackerel deposits half a million eggs, the perch four hundred thousand, while the humble herring is content with a paltry ten thousand.

Eggs are generally deposited in sand or gravel, though fish which live on the ocean attach their eggs to seaweed. Fish are almost entirely carnivorous, and have no compunction whatever in swallowing their own young. It is by small rather than by sight that they obtain their food.

Tears as a Bait.

The use of the saying, "crocodile tears," is due to an old belief that the crocodile, in order to lure its prey within its reach, sighed and moaned like a person in distress.

The expression was a common one as far back as the days of the Latin and Greek authors. Virgil states that the crocodile "wept at the sight of man" and, having caused him to approach, devoured him. The expression is applied to those who falsely arouse the pity or charity of men.

Erasmus, in his "Adagia," recounts a legend of the third century to the effect that crocodiles wept in order that they might make the river banks slippery and thus cause their victims to fall in, later using additional tears to soften the skulls of those who had slipped and make them easy to mutilate.

As late as 1865 we find a similar statement to the effect that "in certain countries large snakes called crocodiles slew men and ate them weeping."

There is a certain basis of truth in all these beliefs, because crocodiles emit loud and plaintive noises, something like the howling of a dog. No so far as is known this is not done with any intent to lure prey within their reach.

Sisters as Wives. Extraordinary marriage customs are observed by the natives of Borneo. If a man has the means, he is free to take four wives, who may be his own sisters if he so desires. But while brothers are permitted to marry their sisters, consanguinity is forbidden to marry each other.

A worse offense is for a man to marry the mother of his wife or the sister of his father or mother. If the transgression has been committed, the culprit must pay a heavy fine or be killed.

At a marriage ceremony a young bride is waved over and around the bride and bridegroom, after which she is killed. The blood is smeared on the forehead, chest, neck, hands, and feet of the bride, and following this the two dab each other's foreheads.

The officiating priest-doctor then takes hold of a hand of each, pulls them from their seats, and sends them off as if to say, "Now you are gone!"

B.S. WIN IN EXCITING FOOTER GAME.

In one of the most exciting contests for the season, the B.S., last evening, defeated the C.E.I. by 3 goals to nil. One of the largest gatherings of spectators ever present at a football match saw last night's game, and enthusiastically applauded their respective teams. The composition of the B.S. forward line was excellent and every scoring opportunity was fully availed of. There was a cohesion between the Irish forwards, which was very effective. Fred Brian played a steady game throughout and got in some useful work, whilst the Phelans all showed fine form.

The C.E.I. played a good, hard game, but were slow in making use of their goal getting opportunities. Their defence work was excellent, particularly in particular, putting up a game. Nix Hunt was greatly commended from the forward line. The B.S. won the toss and kicked the eastern goal, playing for the first half against a strong breeze. They kicked from the start, but the ball was quickly returned by the C.E.I. who kept it in their opponent's territory for some time. The defence work of both teams was excellent and halftime no scoring had resulted. In the second half the B.S. tried hard and within a few minutes, E. Phelan had scored from a mix up play from this on was very fast and efficient combination was seen, but scoring was done until near the end, when from a beautiful pass by Phelan on the right wing, Harry Phelan scored one of the nicest goals in this year's League series. No other scoring was done during the game despite the efforts of both teams.

The following was the lineup:—
B.S.—Goal, J. Phelan; backs, J. Higgins, P. Constantine; halves, F. Nix, W. Burke, C. Fox, forwards, A. Phelan, H. Phelan, W. Callahan, E. Phelan and F. Phelan.
C.E.I.—Goal, Smith; backs, M. Archill, J. Hussey; halves, S. Stick, G. Evans; forwards, A. Hammond, R. Stick, G. Adams, S. Winsor and J. Bartlett.
