ALFONSO'S PROPLE DEMAND A STILL FURTHER APOLOGY.

A Significant Drapatch Said to Have Seen Seat by Kaiser Wilhelm-Dissentions in the French Ministry.

MADRID Oct. 4.—It is reported that the government is dissertised that the Paris Journal official merely published the fact that Grevey apologised to Alfonso, and has resolved to ask for the publication of the full text. It is also reported that Sagarts postponed making changes in the ministry until all matters between Spain and foreign nations were settled. Foreign powers forwarded to Alfonso congratulations upon the early until all matters between Spain and foreign nations were settled. Foreign powers forwarded to Alfonso congratulations upon the early until all matters between the ministry approached the sensed man and led him away to his return.

The cabinet council today, the king pressiding, discussed the question of diplomatic action regarding the demonstrations in Paris against the king. The greatest reserve is manifested as to the decision reached. The journal Correspondencia states that the government has telegraphed to the Spasish nainister at Paris that the French apology is insufficient, and if France requisitions.

The journal Correspondencia states that the government has telegraphed to the Spanish nainister at Paris that the French apolicy is insufficient, and if France persists in her refusal to make a satisfactory declaration, the minister will be required to leave Paris. The king and queen held a reception to-day. Eighteen hundred persons attended, including several French.

The cabinet has decided to advise Alfonso to convoke the cortes as soon as possible.

PARIS, Oct. 4.—Illness was not the cruse of the absence of Thibaudin, minister of war, from the recept on to Alfonso. He ostentstiously held aloof so that the glaring gap had to be filled by an ad interim minister of war. Ferry then thought himself bound to inform Grevey of the deplorable effects of Thibaudin's conduct in political circles and upon European opinion. Ferry, who is backed by all the ministers, declares Melliot will never with his concent become chief of the general staff, as the whole army acknowledge he is unfit for the post. Grevey shares this opinion, and if Thibaudin resigns on this question the president will not back him Grevey thinks Thibaudin, by enforcing the measures against bandin, by enforcing the measures against the Orleans princes rendered a service to the republic, which no other general would probably have agreed to perform, and which imposes upon the cabinet an obligation not to dismiss him now that no similar service is trigues aiming at the overthrow of Ferry. It is certain Thibaudin has resolved not to

The London Times in an article on the late vement of the Ontario government i this direction, says: "At the instance of the and concealment, and disguises he would Ontario government an exhaustive report meet the doom of Count Fosco in Wilkie ipon the necessity of preserving and replant. ing forests has just been compiled by Mr. R. W. Phipps of Toronto. The subject is one in which increasing interest is being felt in the dominion, and the report in question deals with it very comprehensively." The Times gives a critique of the whole report.

and concludes by saying: "What action the Ontario government may take on the strength of the recommendations is not yet known, but their appreciation of the importance of the subject is shown by their authorizing the gratuitous distribution of a large number of copies of the report among the farmers of the province."

Mr. Phipps, who has been given charge of the affair, is going on with this important work with that systematic thoroughness which characterizes his management of whatever he takes in hand. Large numbers of circulars have been issued and numerous replies obtained. Many places in the settled portions of Ontario will be visited before winter, and when the lately issued report is laid before parliament at the coming session it will be supplemented by another, giving the experience of many individuals in different parts of Ontario in raising trees, stating the soils most suitable to the different varieties, the method of planting most suitable, the relative merits of raising from the seed, from seedlings transplanted from nurand results gained in each case, with much other information calculated to assist those intending to plant, and to prevent the losses sulted from mistakes in commencing or want of after care. With earliest spring Mr. Phipps will make a tour through the great forest region in the northeast portion of Ontario, passing from the front near Kingston back towards and past Lake Nipissing, obtaining from ten, farmers and other practical men their opinions as to the best methods of continuing in productive forest such portions of territory as it may be advisable to preserve in woodland, and of preventing the ravages of bush fires in all portions of the country. In the report which will deal with this matter we may expect from Mr. Phipps' well-known powers of description many vivid pictures of the scenery presented r, and much valuable information concerning the resources of a large portion of our country not as yet well known to our population, while the report also will, judging from the last, be most useful to the general purpose of forestry-its principal aim.

O'DONNELL'S TRIAL.

Gen. Roger A. Pryor has just sailed for England in the Cunard steamer Scythia, having been engaged as one of the counsel for O'Donnell, who is to be tried in London on October 15 for the killing of James Carey. Mr. Pryor's services were secured by the friends of O'Donnell in the United States, who have resolved to spare no expense to secure him a fair trial. They could not have selected an abler counsel than Gen. Pryor, and there is good reason to believe that he will receive every courtesy from the English court. It is not yet known before what judge or judges he will be tried. In the ordinary course Lord Chief Justice Coleridge, we believe, would preside, pronatural refuge of the incompetent and the turn about, as there is no necessity for all the force on that quiet day. This would bably with two assistant judges, but as he is still in America he cannot be in England at the time of the trial. General Pryor's position will differ entirely from that held by Judah P. Benjamin, who was at once admitted to the Euglish bar, and of Edwin James, who as a set-off bar, and of Edwin James, who as a substitute of the politicians referred to Benjamin, was admitted to practice in the whole capital of the politicians referred the benjamin, was admitted to practice in the lies in denying the facts. They pose a United States by the supreme court almost as soon as he got over. All that the court has power to concede it will undoubtedly concede to General Pryor, but he will appear as a foreign counselor, having no right of pleading in an English court. The first question the judge will consider-and on this point he will be sure to consult with his coll-agues—is whether there is any precedent for allowing any but a British counsel to plead in a British court; the second question will be whether, if there be no precedent, the court has power to make one. If there be no law against it, there can be no doubt that General Pryor will be admitted as one of the prisoner's counsel and have all the liberty of speech allowed him that belongs to English counsel. The high character deservedly attaching to the highest courts in England forbids the thought of prejudice or injustice. As a citizen of a foreign country, O'Donnell has the right to shoose between a jury wholly composed of British subjects and one-half of British subjects and the other half of the state of British subjects and the other half of the state of British subjects and the other half of the state of British subjects and the other half of the state of British subjects and the other half of the state of British subjects and the other half of the state of the great inspirity of Ontario, that they should be importing the state of the great inspirity of Ontario, that they should be importing the state of the great inspirity of Ontario, that they should be importing to the great inspirity of Ontario, that they should be imported by them. But where are they? It is stated that there are such witnesses now in Melbourne.

The trial will undoubtedly create great interest in every quarter of the globe Carey took many precautions and was seen safe on board the South African steamship. Yet the avenger was there and played cards and drank with him -and killed him, if O'Donnell was indeed an avenger. If he was, there would seem no refuge for the Irish informer. If we might quote it reeem to encompass him on every side, if he ould "go up into heaven" he would find the avenger there, if he "went down into heli" he would be there also, and if, like Carey, he "took the wings of the morn iag and fled unto the u termost parts of the earth," the instrument of his fite whom a secret organ z ton had chosen, would be ear him, and in spite of all migrations

Cellins' "Woman in White." REAL SOLUTION OF THE BOUNDARY TROUBLE.

To the Editor of The World. SIR: I have observed that your journal aking, as it usually does, a fair and independent course between the eccentricities of partyism, has stated some undeniable truths to the effect that the cause of Mr. Mowat with reference to the boundary award is the cause of Ontario-and the cause of a greater than Ontario—the cause of right. Perhaps you will allow me space in your ournal to supplement this, and an opporunity of endeavoring in my plain way to make what appears to me the commencement the root—the cause, in fact, of all this rouble, at d its possible remedy, a little more plain to your readers.

not a people who if left alone would be likely either to cherish an unreasoning animosity against their fellow provincialists of Ontari, their cust or to use any exertions to hinder their ad- from insult. vancement. They are a civil, a frank, and a friendly race, and far more likely. I am a friendly race, and far more likely, I am aded, of their own unbias natures, to rejoice at than to grieve over the prosperity of Ontario.

There is every reason in fact why this should be the case. The prosperity of Ontario is pre eminently the prosperity and the security of Quebec. Every 10,000 additional inhabitants gained by Ontario means a possible regiment for the defence of the province of Quebec. In the last fifty years Quebec has greatly advanced. It has not so advanced against the wishes of Ontario. Ontario recognises the moral of the bundle of sticks and the mutual strength. She does not believe that Quebec has forgotten Lundy's Lane. Octario will never cease to remember Chateauguay.

Take the commercial view. Since the Take the commercial view. Since the union began the resources of Ontario have in no slight degree enriched the province of Quebec, and have very greatly enriched the city of Montreal. If the energetic citizens ity, I put the question. Whence came of Ontario can p pulate the wastes round Rat Portage, it means so many more packages landed at Quebec, so many more articles manufactured in Montreal. If the progress of Ontario be unhindered and rapid, if her exchequer be full, the inhabitants of Quebec are well aware that the same pros-perity aids to fill, broad and deep, the Dominion strong box at Ottawa.

So much the richer Ontario, so much the so much the richer Ontario, so that at richer the Ottawa government, and thence directly and often, and with no grudging hand, so much the richer Quebec.

The people of Quebec—the people them. selves—were they conversant with the mitter, could not fail to see this But, unfortunately, it is not the people of Quebec with whom we have to do. The politicians stand between us and them. There are in the province of Quebec a sort of people corresponding in some respect to the least capable of our old family compact men. They are not capable. are not rich men. They are not capable business men. They are not capable politicians. They are u ter imposibilities as But they choose politics, the go into parliament, in fact pledged to keep down Ontario, and, not naving the abilities to distinguish themselves in any other way when there, they keep up the cry on which they came in, exercise pressure on the gov-ernment in the t direction, and make capital with their constituents in t that they have assisted Quebec, but that they have hindered Ontario. dered Ontario.

The true remedy is the circulation throughout Lower Canads, of the actual facts of the case. That there is not, on the part of Unper Canada any desire to act unfairly towards Lower, their history should prove Whatever could reasonably done to make confederation profitable agreeable to Nova Scotis, to New Brunswick, to Quebec, that Outario has never grudged to do. Concerning laws, concerning customs, concerning religions, it is, and has always been the wish of the great home—and all this is possible — Quebec would peedily trable her population and her influence. There is not one man in Optan , save he be some pultry schism to mained in European bigotry, but would rejuice to see this. It may come to possible the will come it will be by the and of Optanio. Among the Anglo-Saxon race the aweening measures of development must insugural or they will not find exist no How shall we haven the progress How shall we haven the progress of these? I is in the power of the people of Quebec. Lt them chick with a sharp hand the attacks their politicians are making in their name, but I am sure never with their will, on the development of Ontaric. Let them declare with, I need not say, the Let them declare with, I need not say, the spirit of their ancestors, but with their own, which in time of need they have proved its equal, that to deny the ratification of an arbitation is unworthy of them, even were it against their enemies, but most unworthy as against their triends. What is it if the dary of Ontario extend to the west What is it if her population increase? The increase of territory, the increase of population form no menace to Quebec. The real danger to Quebec exists in the nature of he politicians, who force themselves to the front. If their present mistaken course unfortunately continue, if Ontario be induced to form the belief that Quebec is her enemy, that will indeed form a danger—a most serious singer to Onebec.

nost serious danger to Quebec.
I would urge them—as one who wishes I would arge them—as one who wishes their development, their increase, their prosperity; as one who sees in them much to admire, much which the Anglo-Saxon race might wisely imitate—not to arouse in the leading section of their confederation a feeling of bitter hostility. Already their course has caused, among Ontario men, deep annoyance and deep regret.

Had not the people of Quebec better, while yet there is time, break loose from the schismatics and from the small politicians who would array them against their best friends? Would it not be more in accord ance with their linesge, with the ideas of fairness and honor which we have been accustomed to associate with the French Callines and the control of the con nadian character, to say, "Our fellow-col-onists of Outario wish but their own; it is not fit that we hinder them in obtaining it"? Would not this be better than to allow their leaders to excits all through Ontario the feeling that a member of our partnership is hostile to our interests and cares only for is hostile to our interests and cares only for her own? I would earnestly warn the peo-ple of Quebec that this is not a small affair, not a business which will stop with the ad-justment of the boundary. It is a little fire which will kindle a great matter. It will set all Ontario considering whether they can not help themselves, and they will certainly find a way to do so.

The people of Quebec st this moment have allowed their politicians to bring them to a point where two roads diverge. They may, by following the dictates of their own natural good feeling, compel their leaders to cease the obstruc ion of Ostarian progress—may make of Ostario the friend she is willing to be—and may secure their own advancement in pepulation, in territory and in material interests. They may take the other read. They may continue to allow their leaders to attack Ontario. They may exc to all through the upper province that angry jealousy of which at many a point the smouldering embers are beginning to burst into a flame. They may make an enemy of The mass of French Canadians, as every one who has been among them is aware, are They may leave themselves no resource but an alliance with the States—an alliance in which they could secure no terms to sav

DAYS. To the Editor of The World.

Sir, On week days, when all busines s open, the avenues are handy for the criminal class to commit easy depredations, but on the Sabbath everything is closed up and they have no opportunity to rush into unlawful acts. This being a fact which admits of no dispute, I do not see any reason why a third in number of the force should not be withdrawn on the Sabbath as bankers, artizans, etc., and even cattle get. Then they could attend church or go and see their friends on Sundays.

The man who accomplished this tack was Mr. Thomas Cartin, the present superintendent of city police of Baffal 2, N.Y. Mr. Curtin is a man who is known by every prominent detective and policeman in America, and he stands preseminently in the frost rank of his profession. Quiet and gentlemanly in appearance and manners, he pofessess a courage, combined with marked physical polyers, that make him the tarror of evil-doers and the pride of law-abiding citizens. Eaw people can realize, however, the trials, exposures, and even privations, to which the members of every municipal polices and fire department are exposed. Compelled to be on duty at uncertain hours, subjects at other most inclement weather, and ofter necessitated by the nature of their duties to protracted undertakings, they endure a nervous and physical strain that is terrible. Such was the experience of Mr. Curtin in former days, and it is not surprising that he found himself suffering from a mysterious physical trouble. In relating his experience to a representative of their spaper he said:

"At times when I was on duty I would feel an unecountable weariness and lack of energy. My appetite was also uncertain, and my head seemed dull and heavy. I did not know the cause, or really what supposed, as most people suppeas, that I was suffering from a mysterious physical trouble. In relating this paper he said:

I began the use of a popular remedy at the earnest solicitation of a number of friends in this city, and found to my great gratification that I began feeling better. This feeling continued, and I gained in strength and vigor until now I am perfectly well—and wholly through the instrumentality of Warner's Safe Cure, which I believe to be the best medicine for policemen, firemen, railroad men, or any other class of people exposed to dauger or a change of weather, ever discovered. Since my recovery I have recommended it everywhere, and never knew a case where it failed either to cure or benefit. I would not be without it under any consideration, and I am positive it is a wonderfully valuable, and at the same time entirely harmless remedy. Indeed, I see that Dr. Gunn, dean of the United States medical college of New York, andorses if in the highest terms."

"And do you never have any fear of some of the desperadoes whom you have been the means of bringing to justice?"

"Not in the least. Such men do not try to retaliate, partially because they have mot the courage, but oftener because they respect an officer who does his duty."

The policemen, firemen, letter carriers and other public employes in this country have a particularly trying life. When, therefore, a simple and pure remedy that can rectore and sustain the health of all such men is found, it should be cause for great congratulation, especially when great congratulation, especially when great congratulation, especially when tendent Thomas Curtin of Buffalo.

THE TORONTO WORLD FRIDAY MORNING, OCT. 5, 1888.

ACUTE KLEPTOMANIA

From the New York Morning Journal. A private carriage drawn by a fine pair dry goods house one afternoon last week, and a portly, well-dressed lady, perhaps fifty years of age, alighted. As she entered the store the clerks riveted their eyes upon her, as did also the floor-walker whom she passed at the door. The lady walked to the laid before her for some little time she turned and left without making a purchase.

Particular notice was paid to the visitor, because she was known to be a kleptomaniac. Less than a week before she was in the same store, and after her departure a silk dress-pattern was missed. Her carriage was followed by a clerk and caught up with and the mission. missed. Her carriage was followed by a olerk and caught up with, and the missing silk was discovered lying on the seat alongside of the lady, who said she did not know it was there. The silk was taken back to the store, and that was the last of the case. It was one of that kind where the shop people had no desire to prosecute. The lady had not taken the goods with the intention of stealing them. She was simply attacked by the strange mania. She had no cause to steal. Her husband is well off, and can pay for anything she wants. On other occasions when she succeeded in getting away with goods and carrying them home her husband paid for them and nothing further was said.

"The case is but one of many," said one of the proprietors of the store to a report ar.

"The case is but one of many," said one of the proprietors of the store to a reporter.

"Still the kleptomaniacs seem to be thinning out in this city, and vicinity during the past few years, We formerly had a great deal of trouble with kleptomaniacs, and professional pickpockets escaped punishment by introducing evidence that they, too, were possessed of the mania. It is something I never could understand, and I always notice that kleptomaniacs are women who are well off. Four years are over always notice that kleptomaniacs are women who are well off. Four years ago over $4000 wouth of goods were missed in our store inside of ten months, and I haven't the least idea but that the class of women I speak of took a big portion of them, and were not detected. I suppose you remember the last case made public by the arrest of the lady. I felt some for her husband. He wanted to make good the article telesure.

essed of the mania was in the habit of go them. He was taken interaction and locked up, as is the custom of the store in did not steal with any criminal intent.

A Bracebridge Bear Hunt.

About 5 p.m. the brothers John and William Campbell were proceeding along the road when they espied a very large black bear standing right in their path. As the east appeared to dispute their passage they waited until their mastiff-bull dog, Nero, came up, he being following just behind. The dog eagerly rushed forward as soon as le caught sight of the bear. The onslaught was too much for his bearship, and he took to the woods, followed by Nero and the two men. The dog soon caught up to the bear, and compelled it to take to a tree. The brothers had no gun, and decided that William should climb the nearest tree and watch developments, while John went for fire-arms and to arouse the neighbors. Very soon however the bear got tired waiting, and sprang from the tree right over the dog. There ensued a second chase, which soon terminated however by the bear climbing another tree, William again posting himself in a convenient tree. Reinforcements and munitions of war soon arrived, Ma. James Middleton, late of Bracebridge, his two sons and T. Yearley being among those who arrived first, when it was decided after a council of war to oot the animal. It was agreed that Wm. ampbell should have the first shot, he having held his ground, or rather his tree, presence of a very superior force.
v.illiam's first shot brought Bruin low,
thus eriding the most exciting bear hunt which ever took place in the township.

From the New York Truth. To-morrow what is called the "cheap trains act" comes into operation in England, with especial application to London. To-morrow all fares not exceeding one penny To-morrew all fares not exceeding one penny a mile are to be totally exempt from passerger duty, and the duty above that amount is to be reduced from five to two per cent between stations in the same township or "urban district." Although such concessions are calculated to aunually cost the revenue about two millions of dollars in our nfficient comfort and accommodation for third class passengers, soldiers, sailors and the police at fares which may appear reasonable to the board of trade. Any company declining to accept those terms will not be allowed to enjoy the privileges of the act.
