It was found at the inquiry that the officers were not in any way to blame, and had acted well within their authority. The superintendent will make his report to the attorney-general, after which it will likely be made public. The investigation was strictly private, only the officers and three immigration men were present.

In another column appears an article entitled "Commercial Varieties of Apples for Planting" by the Department of Agriculture, Petrolia. Similar articles will follow weekly dealing with all phases of farm operations peculiar to the County of Lambton. We are dealing with varieties of fruit first as the time for ordering stock is at hand but care and management of same will be treated in a subsequent number. Any inquiries addressed to The Department of Agriculture will be readily answered either by personal communication or through the columns of this paper.

Boys and girls, long evenings are here again. Is there an ambition in you to be somebody of at least ordinary importance? Nature and heredity may have favored you but your future is largely what you yourself make it. As there is no royal road to learning or education you have to struggle, plod and continue to persevere, as all other educated people have done. Use the winter evenings to some good purpose, not in profitless pleasure, reading sensational literature, but in developing your mind and storing it with useful knowledge that will enable you to enjoy after life and to make your life a blessing to yourself and your fellows. A life of useful service is the best possible life. Be assured of this fact. Plan right now how you can best utilize your spare hours between now and next Spring.

SUFFERED EVERYTHING

For Years, Restored To Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Canadian women are continually writing us such letters as the two following, which are heartfelt expressions of gratitude for restored health:

Glanford Station, Ont.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and never found any medicine to compare with it. I had ulcers and falling of womb and doctors did me no good. I suffered dreadfully for years until I began taking your medicine. I also recommend it for nervousness and indigestion." — Mrs. HENRY CLARK, Glanford Station, Ont.

Chesterville, Ont.—"I heard your medicines highly praised, and a year ago I began taking them for falling of womb and ovarian trouble. "My left side pained me all the time and just before my periods which were irregular and painful it would be worse. To sit down caused me pain and suffering and I would be so nervous sometimes that I could not bear to see any one or hear any one speak. Little specks would float before my eyes and I was always constipated. "I cannot say too much for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, for there are no medicines like them. I have taken them and I recommend them to all women. You may publish this testimonial." — Mrs. STEPHEN J. MARTIN, Chesterville, Ontario, Canada.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

President Dickie, of a college in Albion, Mich., gave the students in his charge good advice the other day when he told them to "cut out your banquets and pay your honest debts." Too many students contract shiftless money habits at college because they are spending their dad's money, the earning of which gave them no concern. Dr. Dickie further advised a student to go barefooted rather than get deeply into debt.

According to the record of industrial accidents maintained by the Department of Labor, there were 104 workmen killed and 324 injured during the month of October. Compared with the record for September, this is an increase of 15 in the number killed and a decrease of 95 injured. The greatest number of fatal accidents occurred in the steam railway service, there being 28 employees killed. The building trade came next with 18 fatalities. Of the non-fatal accidents, the greatest number occurred in the metal trades with 85, followed second by building trades with 40 injured, and third by steam railway service with 37 injured.

was that they took away moisture and plant food that should go to the crops. Recent investigation at Cornell University has demonstrated that they have a deleterious effect upon crops in that they poison the plants by the intermingling of their roots. Corn and weeds were allowed to grow side by side in similar soil, but with partitions placed so that the roots were kept apart. The corn and weeds grew normally. In another box the corn and weeds were placed so that the roots could intermingle, with the result that the corn was stunted, and its growth materially retarded. It is a case of incompatibility of association.

Churches to Improve Living Conditions.

The whole purpose of the progressive thought is to create better living and wage-earning conditions, to secure a better distribution of prosperity and to make it true for every man, woman and child in the land that is the best of all countries. For some years now, this has been the objective of the various philanthropic organizations; and the social workers, as they have striven to help themselves, have, whether they appreciated it or not, all the time been creating sentiment for the cause. The churches have been appealed to with increasing success, and now in many cities men are stepping over the obstacles of creed to unite in the campaign for social justice. A striking illustration of this new activity is found in the fact that forty-seven churches and synagogues in Gramercy district, New York City, are planning to cooperate for the improvement of living conditions in that district. A union of churches has been formed for the purposes named. As Gramercy district is not the first, neither will it be the last to find its churches working together in this cause.

The girl that can't sing and won't try to sing is a bird that any young man should be anxious to furnish a cage for. Jack Chadwick, a former Napier boy, who moved recently to Glenora with Mr. Richard Dunlop, died suddenly last week at the latter's residence.

A beautiful font railing has been placed in position around the font in Christ church, Forest. The railing is of heavy brass, three feet high, of very handsome design and adds greatly to the beauty of the church. The church is indebted to Mrs. (Major) Snider, of Hamilton, formerly an active worker in Christ church as Mrs. Lemon, for the splendid gift.

Where can I get some of Holloway's Corn Cure? I was entirely cured of my corns by this remedy and I wish some more of it for my friends. So writes Mr. J. W. BROWN, Chicago.

The Fruit Growers' Association of Ontario secured from the Dominion Railway Board last week an assurance that the question of discrimination in the shipment of fruit, as against the Ontario growers, and in favor of the British Columbia growers, would be investigated. The assurance resulted from the application, pressed by G. E. McIntosh, of Forest, for an order compelling the railway companies to accept and forward past carloads of fruit at the carload rate, subject to the carload minimum weight, from the original shipping point to the final destination, to be stopped in transit for completion of the carload at an additional charge of $3 per car for each such stop.

IT GROWS HAIR

Here Are Facts We Want You to Prove at Our Risk. Marvelous as it may seem, Rexall "93" Hair Tonic has grown hair on heads that were once bald. Of course, in none of these cases were the hair roots dead, nor had the scalp taken on a glazed, shiny appearance. Rexall "93" Hair Tonic acts scientifically, destroying the germs which are usually responsible for baldness. It penetrates to the roots of the hair, stimulating and nourishing them. It is a most pleasant toilet necessity, is delicately perfumed, and will not gum nor permanently stain the hair. We want you to get a bottle of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and use it as directed. If it does not relieve scalp irritation, remove dandruff, prevent the hair from falling out, and promote an increased growth of hair, and in every way give entire satisfaction, simply come back and tell us, and without question or formality we will hand back to you every penny you paid us for it. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store. J. W. McLaren, Watford.

Cultivate Neatness.

There are many girls who without being at all good looking always appear neat and smart. They may only have a small dress allowance, but with it are able to appear more attractive than girls who with twice their amount of money often look overdressed or dowdy. What is the secret of this? Surely it is due to the neat girl's taste. She always puts on her clothes with care and makes a point of her appearance being neat and tidy. She keeps her wardrobe orderly and has a place for everything; her ribbons, gloves, handkerchiefs, etc., are never bundled into a drawer just to get them out of the way, but are carefully put in their proper places. On the other hand, a girl clad in an expensive dress will often spoil her appearance by the careless way in which she puts on her clothes, losing the faintness that she might have had with a little more care. It is a mother's duty to see that her children are taught from childhood to be careful and tidy; otherwise by the time they are grown up they will have become so accustomed to carelessness and untidiness that these will be second nature to them.

For the Bridal Supper.

At a recent wedding the supper table for the bridal pair and their attendants was provided with handsome favors in

A FAVOR CANDY BOX. The shape of bonbon boxes. On the cover of each box was a hand painted bride's head with a bona fide wedding veil of tulle glued to the box cover.

In Stewing Corn.

When about to stew left over corn in milk remember that it must not cook long. Only a few minutes will suffice. Always score the corn first before cutting it from the cob, and in cutting do not cut close to the cob. Cut down through the middle of the kernels. Then scrape the cob. This will give you all the juice and pulp that cling to it, but not the hard end of the kernel.

LIQUID CURES ECZEMA WHERE SALVES FAIL

In regard to skin diseases, medical authorities are now agreed on this: Don't imprison the disease germs in your skin by the use of greasy salves, and thus encourage them to multiply. A true cure of all eczematous disease can be brought about only by using the healing agents in the form of a liquid. WASH THE GERMS OUT. A simple wash: A compound of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol, and other ingredients as combined in the D.D.D. Prescription. This penetrates to the disease germs and destroys them, then soothes and heals the skins as nothing else has ever done.

In addition to the regular dollar bottle which has cured so many cases, we have arranged with the D.D.D. Laboratories for a special large trial bottle at 25c. on a special offer now. This trial bottle will start the cure, and give you instant relief.

How Much of Your Road Money is Spent in Filling Ruts?

If the millions of dollars that have been spent repairing worn-out, washed-out streets and roads had been used to build more miles of good highways, fewer farmers would now be wasting valuable time and money taking "round-about" routes to town.

FIRST cost of an ordinary dirt or macadam road is usually only a "starter." The cost of upkeep soon equals that first cost and there is always an ever-increasing annual expense for repairs. The worst feature of it is that such a road is never a really first-class highway.

IN estimating the cost of a road you should include the expense of keeping it in good condition for at least twenty years. If you don't, you're figuring on the first payment for that road, only. And the remaining payments are as certain as taxes. The upkeep cost of concrete roads is practically nothing.

Concrete roads are the best roads from the first—and the best and cheapest roads at the end of ten, fifteen and twenty years.

CONCRETE is the ideal paving material for streets in small towns as well as for main highways in the country.

Edward N. Hines, Wayne County, Michigan, Road Commissioner, and one of America's foremost authorities on good roads, says:

Any community that wants a good road, a road that is cheaper for even a short time under fairly heavy traffic than any other good road, a road that is insensitively maintained, a road that is sanitary and dustless, a road that is not slippery, a road that affords good traction for any type of vehicle 365 days in the year, a road that in the long run, say 10, 15, 20 years and longer, is the cheapest of all good roads, should investigate the merits of concrete.

WRITE for the facts about Concrete highways. When convinced, use your influence to have the roads for which you pay built to last.

We have highway experts who will visit any community intending to build more roads and explain just why and how concrete roads are best and cheapest.

DOOMED HIMSELF.

Chief Shavehead Boasted Once Too Often of His Deeds of Blood.

J. Seymour Curry in "The Story of Old Fort Dearborn" describes the massacre of the garrison of the old fort and tells of one instance of poetic justice for the Indians' butchery.

"Bloody retribution," says Mr. Curry, "overtook one of the savages, who on the day of the massacre showed no mercy to his victims. This was a chief known as a deadly enemy of the whites and who bore the expressive name of Shavehead because of his peculiar manner of tying up his scanty hair.

"Years afterward Chief Shavehead was in company with a band of hunters in the Michigan woods. In the party was a white man who had formerly been a soldier at Fort Dearborn and was one of the survivors of the battle on the lake shore. At one of the camps the chief, being of a boastful disposition, related while under the influence of liquor to those sitting about the campfire the frightful tale concerning the events of that day, dwelling upon its horrors and boasting of his own deeds.

"He was not aware that one of the whites whom he had so fiercely assailed was at that moment listening to his bragging utterances. The old soldier as he heard the tale was saddened by the recall of the well remembered scene.

"Toward midnight the old savage departed alone in the direction of the forest. Silently the soldier with loaded rifle followed upon his steps. Others observed them as they passed out of sight into the shades of the forest. The soldier returned after a time to his companions, but Shavehead was never seen again."

LAKE OF THE DEAD.

An Uncanny, Mysterious Spot in the Oban Country, Nigeria.

It will be a long time before the shores of the Lake of the Dead, in the Oban country, Nigeria, become popular for summer resort purposes. An English traveler says: "When I believed I was in the neighborhood of this haunted spot and altered my course my carriers begged to be allowed not to proceed and were left behind. After a struggle through dense bush we could see the edge of a sheet of water, along the banks of which were the holes of crocodiles, whose tracks covered the shore. The scene was a weird one. The surface of the water was absolutely still, and round about were ten foot high bushes, with what were apparently great tufts of creamy flowers. These, however, proved to be nests of tree frogs.

"The place is a sanctuary for all wild things, for no hunter would dare to penetrate the bush to this dreaded spot. As we stood at the edge, gazing out over the water, its quiet was suddenly broken by a broad ripple, and little fish were seen to spring agitatedly above the surface. A great python was crossing, and this, we learned, shared with the crocodiles the guardianship of the sacred lake. Nothing, we were informed, must be allowed to trouble the water or even to touch its outer edge or famine and pestilence would ensue.

"Here, according to popular belief, come by night the ghosts of long dead Ekoi to drift in sad companies hopeless and walling over the surface of the water. Even in the bright sunlight the place has an uncanny look, and one can easily imagine that at midnight, when the white mists shimmer ghostlike in the light of the moon, people with the terror and mystery of the 'bush' in their blood would rather sit chatting around the fire or dance by torchlight in the open spaces of the towns than seek out this uncanny spot."—Chicago News.

A new mail route will commence in the near future serving patrons across the Grey bridge in the township of Moss and part of Metcalfe, thence into Alvinston. Another route going down the 7th con. of Brooke, thence through part of Metcalfe, thence around by the Downie Corner, thence to Alvinston, will also be established.

THE CRICK IN THE BACK.—"One touch of nature makes the whole world kin," sings the poet. But what about the touch of rheumatism and lumbago, which is so common now? There is no poetry in that touch, for it renders life miserable. Yet how delightful is the sense of relief when an application of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil drives pain away. There is nothing equals it.

Mrs. Mary Steirs, wife of a prominent farmer of Essex County, died at Hotel Dieu, Windsor, last week from blood poisoning caused by cutting a corn with a razor. Mrs. Steirs performed the chiropractical operation four weeks ago, using her husband's razor. A few days later she was taken ill, dying at the hospital in terrible agony.

The work on the extension of the rural mail delivery service has proceeded so far that it is anticipated at the end of the month there will be at least 900 routes in different parts of the country. Thirty new routes will be put in service this month, while about 200 more are under advertisement and at the beginning of the New Year there is a likelihood that the 1000 mark will be reached. Farmers in different parts of the country especially are showing a desire to comply with the regulations set out for a route to be established.

The Live Stock Industry of Canada.

Last February there were brought together at Ottawa from the various provinces upwards of one hundred men officially delegated to represent forty-four Live Stock and Record Associations, besides a large number of interested persons to consider and discuss the various features of the live stock industry. This gathering which constituted the third general convention of the National Live Stock Association spent two days each of three busy sessions upon its program which included reviews of the conditions of the live stock industry prevailing in the respective provinces, interprovincial trade in pure bred live stock, the beef cattle industry in the east and the west, the dairy cattle industry, the development of the sheep and swine industries, the market for Canadian horses, transportation of live stock, stallion legislation, the chilled meat trade, bovine tuberculosis, and other business.

A full report of the addresses and discussions that took place has been printed for the information of persons interested in the live stock or in fact the general agricultural welfare of the Dominion. Among many other striking things it was brought out that our export cattle trade is rapidly approaching the vanishing point, that South American tinned beef is being used all the way across the Dominion, that we are exporting very little mutton and importing a great deal, while millions of pounds of pork are each year imported into Canada.

This report which constitutes a book of 130 pages embodies a fairly complete review of the live stock situation in Canada and offers many wise suggestions for its much needed improvement. The distribution of this work is in the hands of the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa to whom applications for copies should be sent.

Who Got the $5.00 P

A Halton county fruit grower is authorizing a story which throws an interesting sidelight on the high cost of living problem. He says the Winnipeg manager of a fire insurance company opened a barrel of Ontario apples, and found beneath the lid the following note from the farmer: "I got seventy-five cents for this barrel of apples; how much did you pay for it?"

The insurance man paid $5.75. Both the farmer and the consumer are now wondering who got the other $5.

WHERE

Commercial Varieties of Apples for Planting.

By Department of Agriculture, Petrolia.

At this season of the year the prospective fruit grower is often confronted with a long list of varieties of apples from which to choose for his spring planting. To the most experienced fruit grower this is sometimes confusing and some attention and study should be given to the matter before placing the order. The multiplicity of varieties is often a detriment in many localities when the marketing season is on. To surmount this difficulty considerable investigation work has been carried on to arrive at a list of varieties most asked for by the market and which will, at the same time, be profitable to the grower. The practice of modern fruit growers has been to reduce the number of varieties to six or eight in the one orchard and out of the great number of different kinds offered for sale to limit their planting to the following, which are arranged in order of ripening.

Summer—Astrachan and Duchess.
Fall—Gravenstein, Wealthy, McIntosh, Snow (Faneuse), and Blenheim.
Winter—King, Hubbardston, Greening, Baldwin, Northern Spy and Stark.

In a commercial orchard the following varieties could be planted in the proportions mentioned without any great mistake.

Variety.	Percentage.
Northern Spy.....	35
Baldwin.....	30
Greening.....	10
McIntosh.....	10
Snow.....	10
King.....	5
Total.....	100

It is realized that some of the varieties at first mentioned are not in those recommended for the commercial orchard and which, at the same time, are standard varieties. They do not, however, possess any desirable characters not included in the list and may as well be omitted unless warranted by some very local conditions. One feature of the Spy should be borne in mind, viz., the long time required before it comes into bearing. This difficulty is partially overcome by planting Tallman Sweet or McMahon White and after two or three years, growth top graft them to Spys, the scions for which have been secured from vigorous productive trees. The stock of the King tree is subject to collar rot and this may be overcome by grafting onto another variety as in the case of the Spy. The market now calls for no less than 33 per cent. Spys in all orders and planting heavily of that kind will insure a profitable orchard. They are the king of apples and no variety yet discovered promises to take its place.

Straight growthy trees no older than two years should be planted. Order from reliable firms and pay the price—it is economy in the end.
Bulletin 194 (Apple Orchard) will be sent free to any address.

TUBERCULOSIS DAY IS NEXT SABBATH

Clergymen and Laymen Will Unite in Helping Work for Consumptives of Province.

The response made to the efforts of the National Sanitarium Association to secure the observance of next Sunday, December 1st, as Tuberculosis Day throughout the Province of Ontario has been exceptionally cordial and encouraging. Letters expressing approval and promising support have been received from not only the most prominent statesmen and church dignitaries, but also from the clergy as a body and leading laymen. In addition to having the ministers devote their discourses to the work being carried on for the benefit of sufferers from consumption, with advice as to the cure and prevention of the disease, the suggestion has been made that medical men or laymen familiar with the subject should be given an opportunity to supplement the sermon by brief and helpful addresses. This suggestion is being adopted by many of the clergymen, and the innovation should add to the educative value of the day. It is not intended to ask for special offerings, the collections being devoted to the ordinary purposes of the church.

DO YOU USE PILLS?

If In Doubt About the Right Pills to Use Read the Following Letter Carefully:

"I am one of those persons whose system requires aid," writes Mr. Young Glendon, from Fiction, "but it is so easily affected by reason of the great sensitiveness of the bowels that ordinary drastic pills inflict great injury to the delicate coating, and excite such persistent activity as to be with difficulty checked."

"I wish in the highest terms to express the great value of Dr. Hamilton's Pills in cases like mine, and I am sure also for elderly people and the very weak there is no pill like them."

"Speaking of my own experience with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, I can say they have proved the most stimulating pills for the liver I have found. I have proved their tonic action upon digestion, and the same results have been secured by friends upon whom I have urged their use. The manufacturers are to be congratulated upon possessing so valuable a prescription, and the public should know that so valuable a remedy has been placed at their command."

No other pill for constipation, for liver, kidney, or stomach trouble, compares with Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they are mild and sure always to restore health. Refuse substitutes. Sold by all dealers, 25c per box, or The Cattaraugus Co., Kingston Ont.

THE CRUISE OF THE DAWN

It Resulted Differently From What Might Have Been Expected.

By HAROLD WINSTON

I am the son of a fisherman and was brought up on salt water. I loved it, but was ambitious to break away from so simple a life and make something of myself, if not better, at least more prominent. I was twenty-one when, with $100 in my pocket that I had saved, I went to New York for the purpose of finding a position.

Positions are not to be had in a moment in the metropolis, and the best I could do was to enter my name at the bottom of a list awaiting vacancies. My money was being used up, though I husbanded my resources, and I became discouraged. Every morning I bought a newspaper and looked over the advertisements to see if a young man of my description was wanted. I finally saw one that met my case, but not for business. It was an advertisement for a skipper for a yacht.

I had seen enough of the crowds of a big city. The continual whirl sickened me. The display of wealth side by side with abject misery made me long again for the water, upon which there are no streets, no alleys, no dirt. True, the vehicles on the ocean differ in degree as those on the land. I had been used to nothing better than a fishing boat and was fascinated at the idea of sailing a yacht.

I answered the advertisement, but with no more hope of getting the position than I had of securing any of the clerkships for which I had applied. But I had an advantage in knowing how to sail a boat, while I was entirely ignorant of business. A few days after I mailed my letter I received an invitation to call at a dwelling in the upper part of the city.

I was received by a woman about thirty-five years old. She repelled me from the moment I met her, looking at me critically, as if sizing me up for something besides my marine qualifications. She asked me to state them, however, and I did so. When I told her I had been born and brought up near Bath, Me., I noticed that she pricked up her ears, and when I added that I knew the coast thereabout from Portland to Mount Desert I saw that I had affected her favorably.

She told me that her uncle, with whom she lived and of whom she had the care, was a very old man and an invalid. He had been falling lately, and his physician had advised his getting out into the open. A yacht had been purchased with a view to taking him on a cruise along the New England coast. It was rather late in the season for yachting and she asked me how long it would be safe and comfortable to remain on the water. I replied that if the vessel was not too small and was capable of being heated it might remain in commission till the first of November. After an interview lasting nearly an hour, during which she surprised me by the large salary she would pay—$250 a month—she dismissed me, saying that when she had decided among those who had applied she would let me know.

One morning when I had about given the matter up I received a note from the lady advising my of my appointment and directing me to get together a crew. I got busy at once, visited the yacht, saw that she needed six men and engaged them. Miss Huribert—the lady who engaged me—procured the servants.

We sailed on the day when tourists were returning from their outings—the first of September—and I was directed to coast eastward. The only persons aboard were Miss Huribert, Mr. Townsend, the invalid, and the crew and servants. After rounding Nantucket I was directed to steer for Portland, where, on arrival, we put into the harbor and I was directed to go ashore for mail. I brought one letter addressed to Miss Huribert, which she tore open at once, and its contents affected her perceptibly. She asked me to go down into the cabin with her where there was no one but ourselves—Mr. Townsend kept his stateroom—and when we were alone she said:

"Captain, are you a fighter?"
Surprised, I replied by inquiring why she asked such a question. Whereupon she told me that her uncle was engaged in a lawsuit in which a fortune was involved. All his property, except his real estate, had been turned into jewels, which were aboard the yacht. The move had been advised by his attorneys on the ground that possession in nine points in the law. She had received a warning from one in her interest that the plaintiff in the suit, a great rascal and a very determined man, had got wind of Mr. Townsend's—or rather Miss Huribert's method of procedure and had fitted out a yacht to follow and take the property by force. Could she depend upon me in the matter?"

The affair was not to my liking and I gave her no immediate reply. She followed up the question by offering me $5,000 for myself and a thousand dollars for each one of the crew in case her expedition were successful, to be paid whether they were fighting to be done or if the scheme could be handled peacefully. I consulted the crew and they agreed that if I thought the matter involved too much rascality they would go in under my command. The deal was made with this proviso:

The contract was no sooner made than Miss Huribert gave me a roll of bills and directed me to go ashore and buy arms and ammunition. I bought a cutlass, a repeating rifle and a revolver for each of the crew, including myself, and was fortunate enough to pick up a couple of little two pounder barkers, with ammunition for all. Miss Huribert was well pleased when she saw the barkers.

When all was completed Miss Huribert directed me to weigh anchor and lose ourselves among the many islands that line the coast of Maine. Since there are several hundred of these in Casco bay alone, embracing but a small fraction of the coast, it seemed to me a very good hiding place.

I now saw the principal reason why I had been engaged. It had been Miss Huribert's intention from the first to disappear with the valuables among these islands so effectually that, through her attorney, she might make such terms as she desired with the plaintiff in the suit. She had not counted on being followed, but when she found that she would be, being a woman of great determination, she had the nerve to prepare for defense. She flattered me and every member of the crew, treating us all as her equals and constantly sending to the forecabin delicacies from the cabin mess. As for me, she insisted that I should eat at her table, since she would otherwise be obliged to eat alone.

We spent the first two weeks sailing no farther east than Bath that Miss Huribert might occasionally run into Portland for letters, but at the end of that time she told me she had been advised that the plaintiff had left Boston, bound east, and she directed me to move on. I asked her if our pursuers had made preparations to fight, and she said she didn't know; she hoped that we should avoid them till the 5th of November had passed. But why she placed stress upon this date she did not tell me.

We heard of a yacht called the Spray, which we suspected to be the one looking for us. Ours was the Dawn. Nearly all yachts but the two had gone out of commission, for by this time it was the 28th of October. On that date we were concealed in a cove in Penobscot bay under trees hanging from a cliff. Had we remained there we would have avoided a meeting with our antagonists. They had tracked us and had settled past our hiding place when we were pulling out. As soon as we did so she turned about and came for us before the wind.

This was in the morning, and two hours after noon she had out sailed us and was within half a mile of us in open water. Miss Huribert came up to me and with a devilish look as I ever saw on any woman's face asked me if I was ready to keep my contract with her. I wished I was out of it, for I had never felt much faith in the justice of her cause, and I feared to be mixed and mix my crew in a violation of the laws. However, I told her that I would stand by her.

"Well, then," she said, "go about and while doing so give her a broadside from the barkers."

I raised a glass to examine our enemy and was astonished to see on the after deck a woman, who appeared to be giving orders like the captain of a battleship. The peculiarity of the situation amazed me. Here were I and my crew serving under a woman while another was in command of our enemy, and we at least about to engage in an illegal altercation. Nevertheless I obeyed orders, sent a couple of men below to work the guns, and while turning the yacht's nose before the Spray the port gun was fired, and as we swung round the starboard gun followed suit. Neither shot took effect.

Our enemy paid no attention to our messengers, standing right for us.

"To your rifles, men!" shouted Miss Huribert. The men obeyed, though reluctantly, while I stood by, wondering what would happen next. Six rifles were resting on the gunwale of the Dawn, while the Spray was advancing head on. A man stood on the latter yacht's bow holding a paper in one hand, a megaphone in the other. Raising the megaphone, he belted:

"You, on that yacht! You're wanted. I'm the sheriff of—county, Maine."

And holding up the paper he read through the megaphone a warrant for the arrest of Matilda Huribert.

That ended the matter for me. I did not propose to resist an arrest, though not knowing whether the warrant and the sheriff were genuine.

"Fire!" cried Miss Huribert to the men.

They looked at me for instructions, and I told them to lower their rifles. The look our employer gave me was something frightful.

"There seem to be but a few persons aboard of her," I said, "and we are seven men, well armed. Let us have a parley."

Well, the upshot of the matter was that Miss Huribert was no relation to Mr. Townsend, but a nurse who had got control of him and was trying to get him away where she could marry him. His only child, a daughter, was aware of her object and had been endeavoring to thwart her. Miss Huribert had been deceiving me as to her playing a legal game. She was simply trying to get her charge into a position where she could tie him up in wedlock. She dare not go ashore for the purpose, for the police in every port had been given orders by Miss Townsend to arrest her if she appeared. She dare not bring a minister aboard, for this would give her design away to me and her crew.

I proved that I and her crew were not aware of her real scheme, and we escaped prosecution. Miss Huribert was sent to prison for abduction. Miss Townsend was so happy at her success that she paid us what her enemy had promised us.

ARE YOUR HANDS CHAPPED?

Zam-Buk Will Cure Them.

The particular danger of chapped hands and cold cracks (apart altogether from the pain) is that the cold is likely to penetrate and set up inflammation, festering, or blood-poison. Directly the skin is broken by a cut, graze or scratch, or chafed and cracked by the action of the cold winds and water, the one necessary precaution is to apply Zam-Buk freely.

The pure herbal juices from which Zam-Buk is prepared are so perfectly combined and refined that the immediate effect of these Zam-Buk dressings is soothing, antiseptic, and healing. Pain and inflammation are allayed, disease germs expelled from the wound or sore, and the latter is quickly healed.

Zam-Buk is not only a powerful healer and skin purifier; it is strongly antiseptic and germicidal, and so forms the ideal protection for the skin against disease germs.

It quickly heals cold cracks, chaps, chilblains, cold sores, etc.

Mrs. O. M. Ploen, Neuchatel, Alta., writes: "I must tell you how pleased I am with Zam-Buk. My husband had an old frostbite on his foot for many years, and had tried almost every known remedy without any effect, but the first application of Zam-Buk seemed to help him so much that he persevered and the sore is now cured. We would not be without Zam-Buk in the house."

Zam-Buk is also a sure cure for piles, eczema, ulcers, abscesses, scalp sores, blood-poison, bad leg, eruptions, etc. Its purely herbal composition makes it the ideal balm for babies and young children. All druggists and stores sell Zam-Buk 50c. box or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Try also Zam-Buk Soap, 25c. tablet.

On Friday afternoon last, Mrs. Frank B. Malot, Essex, went into the yard near her house and was shocked to find her six-year-old son, Byron, lying unconscious in a pool of blood on the ground with his skull crushed. The lad was conveyed to the house, medical aid summoned and he was taken to the Hotel Dieu on the four o'clock car. It was at first thought an operation would be necessary, but during the night he regained consciousness and he has since been making satisfactory progress towards recovery. Though no person saw him injured it is surmised that he was kicked in the head by their horse, which was running loose in the yard. The skull was kept open, the animal having kicked him in the side of the head.

YOU NEEDN'T DESPAIR

Here's an Offer that Should Interest Sufferers of Skin Irritation.

First of all we want to explain that the remedy we are about to tell you of carries our promise of money back for the mere asking to anyone not thoroughly pleased with its use. That should unquestionably establish the sincere faith we have in it.

Parasites or germs cause eczema, and eczema is probably the most prevalent cause of all skin ailments. To overcome them, the remedy must of necessity destroy or remove the parasite or germ before relief can be obtained.

Possessing remarkable antiseptic, germicidal, cleansing, soothing and healing power, the curative value of Rexall Eczema Ointment is very pronounced in the treatment of eczema and allied skin diseases, whether of the dry scaly sort, the weeping type, where there is a flow of ill-smelling excretion, or the intermediary kind, such as pimples, blotches, discolorations, ringworm or acne. It is very useful for treating bites, nettle rash, insect bites and wounds. It is ideal for the skin ailments peculiar to children.

Rexall Eczema Ointment is grayish-white in color, has a pleasant odor, and is very cleanly for use. If you are a sufferer of skin irritations or eruptions in any form whatever, we urge you to try a box at our risk. At the mere hint of dissatisfaction you may have your money back. Two boxes, 50c. and $1.00. Remember, it is only sold at our store—The Rexall Store, J. W. McLAREN, Watford.

PRESCRIPTION

For a Long Life.

This is the prescription for a long life given by an old gentleman in Connecticut, who is ninety-nine years old and still well and cheerful. "Live temperately, be slow to anger, don't worry, take plenty of exercise in the fresh air, and, above all, keep cheerful."

Should the system get run down—digestive organs weak—the blood thin and sluggish, take Vinol, which is a delicious combination of the medicine—body-building properties of cods' livers, with the useless grease eliminated and tonic iron added. We regard Vinol as one of the greatest body-builders and strength-creators in the world for aged people.

Mrs. Mary Ivey, of Columbus, Ga., says: "If people only knew the good Vinol does old people, you would be unable to supply the demand; it is the finest tonic and strength-creator I ever used."

We wish every feeble old person in this vicinity would try Vinol on our agreement to return their money if it fails to give satisfaction.

If the blood is poor and filled with the poisons from diseased kidneys or inactive liver, the heart is not only starved but poisoned as well. There are many conditions due to impure blood—such as dropsy, fainting spells, nervous debility or the many scrofulous conditions, ulcers, "fever-sores," white swellings, etc. All can be overcome and cured by

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

This supplies pure blood—by aiding digestion, increasing assimilation and imparting tone to the whole circulatory system. Its a heart tonic and a great deal more, having an alternative action on the liver and kidneys, it helps to eliminate the poisons from the blood. To enrich the blood and increase the red blood corpuscles, thereby feeding the nerves on rich red blood and doing away with nervous irritability, take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and do not permit a dishonest dealer to insult your intelligence with the "just as good kind." The "Discovery" has 40 years of cases behind it and contains no alcohol or narcotics. Ingredients plainly printed on wrapper.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of wrapping and mailing only. Send 50 one-cent stamps for the French cloth-bound book. Address: Dr. R.V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE AUTHENTIC LEE.

His Two Master Spirits Were Lofty Pride and Fierce Enthusiasm.

Under the habitually unruffled composure of that ocean of reserve and dominated, as I believe, by two master spirits, lies the authentic Lee. And what were those master spirits which, blind to facts and deaf to reason, drove him on from Farmville? Were they creations of his own? No, not at all. Nature herself had planted them. And what were they? One, an all pervading, unconscious pride, a pride not sordid or arrogant, but lofty; the other, diffused through his whole being and pulsing in every vein, a burning, even fierce, enthusiasm.

These, in my judgment, were the ingrained, controlling temperamental qualities in Robert E. Lee which determined his fate. The former could not stand the humiliation of being overthrown completely in a cause he believed right; the latter converted him at danger's first challenge, as was again and again displayed in the field, into a prompt and inveterate fighter.

As, for instance, at Antietam, although he had met and stood off McClellan, yet with such carnage that it was in effect a defeat, still for a day after the battle he held his ground among his dead, resolutely challenging his adversary to come on if he dared.

So, too, he stood for a day at Gettysburg after his frightful repulses, inviting Meade to attack, and when with his bleeding army he reached the flooded Potomac, with every bridge swept away, undismayed he turned his back on the raging stream and, planting his colors, defiantly bade the Army of the Potomac to strike.

Who can forget, too, how quickly he accepted Hooker's gage of battle in the Wilderness and how a year later—the violets were just in bloom again for the first time on the blood stained ground of Gettysburg—he plunged at Grant?

No eagle that ever flew, no tiger that ever sprang, had more natural courage, and I will guarantee that every field he was on, if you ask it about him, will speak of the unquelling battle spirit of his men. Be not deceived—Lee, notwithstanding his poise, was naturally the most belligerent man at the head of any army in the war.—Morris Schaff in Atlantic.

A NAVAL REBUKE.

Two Admirals, a Captain and a Fool in Manila Bay.

When Dewey's fleet was at Manila the late Admiral Clichester was then a captain. On one occasion Admiral Diederichs, the German, sent out the Irene on an unrevealed errand and without the customary notification to the commander of the blockading fleet.

Admiral Dewey had suffered, he thought, sufficiently from that sort of thing, and so the admiral sent a vessel across the Irene's bows and notified her captain that she would not be permitted to depart without a statement as to her destination.

It was not Admiral Diederichs' mission to quarrel with both the American and the English fleets on this critical occasion, so he sought to find out Captain Clichester's purpose in case of a collision. Going on board Clichester's ship, he angrily exclaimed, "Did you see what Dewey did to my ship?"

"Yes," replied Clichester. "What would you have done if it had been an English ship?"

"Well," said Clichester, contentedly assuming that the Irene's captain had sailed without orders from Diederichs, "I'd have put my captain in arrest, and then I'd have gone on board the Olympia and apologized to Admiral Dewey for having such a fool in command of one of my ships."—Harper's Weekly.

Sweden Aids Its Athletes.

Sweden is the only country in which the practice of athletics among adults is state aided. The Swedish National Union of Athletes has since its foundation received an annual subsidy of 20,000 crowns ($5,400) from the government. The union bestows gold, silver and bronze badges on all who attain a certain standard in athletics. In order to encourage the continuance of training in later life these badges are bestowed according to age as well as proficiency. The gold badge can be secured only by men over thirty-two who can swim 200 meters, take a long jump of five meters, put the weight sixteen meters and run ten kilometers in fifty minutes. This performance has to be repeated annually in order to retain the badge.

Mother Was Right.

It was at the dinner table, and the hostess addressed her husband's brother thus: "Do have another piece of pie, William?" "Why, really, I've already had two. But it's so good I believe I will have another." "Ha, ha! Mother's a winner!" said little Frank excitedly. "She said she'd bet you'd make a pig of yourself."—Harper's Magazine.

His Little Scheme.

"Going to Wombat's dinner party?" "Guess so. Why is he announcing that reporters will be rigidly excluded?"

"That's his scheme to get the affair well written up."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Nothing to Conceal.

Barber—How do you—part your hair, sir? Customer (partially bald)—Along the line of least resistance, young man.—Chicago Tribune.

A Curious Canal.

Between Worsley and St. Helens, in the north of England, is the most remarkable canal in the world. It is underground from end to end and is sixteen miles long. In Lancashire the coal mines are very extensive, half the country being undermined, and many years ago the Duke of Bridgewater's managers thought they could save money by transporting the coal underground instead of on the surface. The canal was constructed and the mines connected and drained at the same time. Ordinary canals are used, but the power is furnished by men. On the roof of the tunnel arch are crosspieces, and the men do the work of propulsion by lying on their backs on the coal and pushing with their feet against the crossbars on the roof.

An Expensive Drop.

Mr. Hiram Jones had just returned from a personally conducted tour of Europe. "I suppose," commented a friend, "that when you were in England you did as the English do and dropped your H's?"

"No," moodily responded the returned traveler, "I didn't. I did as the Americans do. I dropped my V's and X's."

Then he slowly meandered down to the bank to see if he couldn't get the mortgage extended.—Lippincott's.

The Doubtful One.

Spurgeon was once asked if the man who learned to play a cornet on Sunday would go to heaven.

The great preacher's reply was characteristic. Said he, "I don't see why he should not, but"—after a pause—"I doubt whether the man next door will."—London Tit-Bits.

Cruel.

Miss Yellowleaf—Yes, ours is a very old family. You know, we came over in the Mayflower. Miss Caustique—Indeed! And did you—er—have a pleasant voyage?—Judge.

A Bright Scholar.

Teacher—John, what is wrong with the sentence, "The goat went in the garden?" John—The words "garden" and "goat" should be transposed.—Exchange.

Today.

Live today as though it was the only day you had to live. This is the secret of the forceful life, the life of vitality and beauty, the only life that is worth while.

There is a great secret in knowing what to keep out of the mind as well as what to put in.—Emerson.

BILIOUSNESS BURDENS LIFE.—The bilious man is never a companionable man because his ailment renders him morose and gloomy. The complaint is not so dangerous as it is disagreeable. Yet no one need suffer from it who can procure Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. By regulating the liver and obviating the effects of bile in the stomach they restore men to cheerfulness and full vigor of action.

The name of the new municipality above Walkerville is Ford Park. It takes about five hundred acres of land in the Township of Sandwich East. Ford Park will immediately join Walkerville, extending along the river front for about one mile and a half. The new municipality receives its name from the plant of the Ford Motor Company. Village officers will be elected the first Monday in January. To provide for the election the county council will name a returning officer at a special session on Dec. 2nd, and the by-law incorporating the village will be passed at the regular county session in January. Following the incorporation steps will be taken to provide for police and fire protection and improved streets.

Toronto, Nov. 26.—Another record run was made on the Union Stockyards to-day when during the day 273 cars arrived at the yards. This is the largest number of loads recorded in some time: 5,378 head of cattle, 2,900 sheep and lambs, 1,761 hogs, 298 calves and 98 horses comprised the run. There were more cattle received to-day than during last week's entire market. More horses were also sold. There was a good demand for cattle of all grades, which, however was met with owing to the exceptionally large number of cattle offered. Prices consequently held practically steady, where otherwise they would have been higher than last week. Western buyers are still on the market looking for stockers of the better quality. Several loads of these were bought up and changed hands at from $3.75 to $4.00 weighing from 500 to 750 pounds. Calves were slightly higher and ran from $7.50 to $8.00. Choice butcher cattle prices remain almost stationary at from $5.75 to $6.25. The late incessant demand for this grade of beef seems to have abated somewhat and the demand for feeders and stockers appears to have become predominant. Hog prices are higher now than at last week's close and ran from $8.25 to $8.35, fed and watered, while $7.90 is the price, f.o.b. Lambs were strong and higher with sheep firm. For the small offerings at the City cattle market trade was good. Receipts were nine cars, with 140 cattle, 10 calves and 253 sheep and lambs.

While it is generally admitted that the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal, is the best family and farmer's weekly paper printed, the Publishers are determined to make it still better. They are sparing no expense to give their subscribers of 1913 bigger value than ever. Their beautiful picture, "Mother's Treasures," is a delightful subject for the home and it is safe to say that no one who receives a copy would part with it for double the money. No mistake can be made in sending one dollar for that great weekly paper for 1913. Every subscriber gets the picture, "Mother's Treasures," size 23 by 29 inches, free. It is the biggest dollar's worth offered to-day.

A highly respected former Brooke resident and pioneer of that township passed away in Alvinston on Friday, November 8th, in the person of John H. Ramsey, aged 74 years, 7 months and 21 days. The deceased had been ailing for many years and for the past 14 months had been confined to his bed.

A meeting of the ladies of the district was held on Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 19th, at the home of Mrs. M. J. Campbell, when a branch of the Women's Institute was formed. Mrs. Courtright, the district president for East Lambton, was present and took charge of the meeting. She gave a very interesting address and gave much encouragement to the new branch. A number of representatives from the Alvinston branch were present and presented Mrs. Campbell, their retiring president, with a silver card receiver. An instrumental solo, also short addresses by several of the ladies, were much enjoyed. At the close of the meeting a dainty lunch was served by the hostess and after singing the National Anthem the meeting adjourned. The following officers were elected for Brooke:—Hon. President, Mrs. Margaret Campbell; President, Mrs. M. J. Campbell; 1st Vice-Pres., Miss M. Fisher; 2nd Vice-Pres., Miss B. McIntyre; Sec.-Treas., Miss A. McGugan; Pianist, Miss A. McLean; Auditors, Miss B. Rundle, Miss N. McEachern; District Director, Mrs. M. J. Campbell. The first meeting will be held at the home of Miss Mary Fisher on Thursday, Dec. 12th at 2.30.

On Tuesday morning last Mr. A. J. Davis passed quietly away, after about three weeks' illness, at his home in Sutorville, aged 46 years. The funeral took place Thursday afternoon to St. James' church cemetery, 6th line, service being held in Christ church, Sutorville, by the rector, Rev. S. P. Irwin. Mr. Davis was born near Hamilton, and before coming to Brooke kept a general store at Tupperville. He was married about 23 years ago at Tupperville to Eliza Smith, who survives him. Shortly after his marriage he moved to Sutorville and bought the Sutor general store, which business he carried on until the time of his death. Besides his widow he leaves two sons, John and Bryan, and one daughter, Ruth, all at home.

Deceased was a man of more than ordinary intelligence, a good shrewd business man and well posted on current topics. In politics he was a Liberal and in his earlier days attended the Methodist church. When the new Anglican church was erected he became a strong supporter and did much towards helping the new congregation and edifice along, and at the time of his death held the position of vestry clerk. While in business in Sutorville he made many warm friends, who deeply regret his removal in the prime of life. He was a man exceedingly liberal in his views on all questions and a friend to any who needed help. His memory will be long cherished by all who came in contact with him.

Mrs. Sneath, of Alvinston, had a sixty pound tumor removed from the abdomen by Drs. Martyn, Balfour and Walker last week. The patient is over seventy years old.

EYE AILMENTS

Seventy-five per cent. of the people have abnormal vision, and only about 25 per cent. wear glasses to correct the defects.

The other 50 per cent. suffer from various eye troubles. These have a reflex action on the bodily function, causing headaches, indigestion, dizziness and many other ailments.

Every person should make it a point to find out whether his or her eyes are normal or not. We can do this for you—do it accurately and scientifically by the dark room test.
