> QUEBEC, Aug. 4 .- The announcement that England and Germany greatest enthusiasm in this city, where English, French and Irish paraded together in a display of loyalty and patriotism such as has never before been witnessed in the ancient city of Champlain.

Before a large crowd Mr. Sevigny the member for Dorchester, made it plain that the French-Canadians realized the seriousness of the present menace to the empire in general, and to Canada in particular, and were many, to join the forces here. It is standing shoulder to shoulder with that over 200 will leave in their fellow-citizens of other races. He recalled how France had gone down before the arms of Germany in 1870. The great question which French-Canadians had been asking during the past few days, he said, had been, "What will England do?" Had France been left alone her arms might not have met with fortune. Now had received the happy news that the entente cordiale was no idle word. England had risen to the occasion. Whatever the result might be they would go into the war with a united front, and he was sure that Providence would smile upon them in this struggle of giants.

She Wants Canada. All, he said, realized the ambitions of Germany, and knew that she had her eyes on the English colonies, including Canada. In France all the parties were as one. In England, too, all political differences had been set aside in the face of the common foe. After describing what the victory of Germany might mean to the Do ninion, Mr. Sevigny said he had never seen such unity in Canada as upon this war question. They had the example of the entente cordiale before them between the original mother land and in the mother land which WOMEN ANXIOUS TO

As might be expected the greater preponderance of troops is in Eastern Canada, the latterly the west has displayed considerable activity in organizing new regiments and placing them on an effective footing. Just how quickly mobilization can be carried out is largely a matter of speculation, as such an experiment has never yet been tried. It is safe to say, however, that the city regiments would likely turn out in their entirety in a few hours' notice, more time being necessary in the case of rural regiments with scattered companies. The Cecilie dropped anchor here at 6 o'clock this morning, after a forced run of four days, her officers fearing capture. With a cargo of $10,000,000 in gold

Colonel Curie, M.P., called a meeting of the officers of the 48th Highlanders yesterday afternoon to consider what should be done to provide for all possible contingencies in case of a call for active service. It was decided to notify the minister of militia that the regiment is ready to do anything and go anywhere when called upon. In case the regiment is not called upon to go into active service a number of the officers have volunteered to join the first contingent. Under the Militia Act, as amended in 1904, all militiamen and officers are liable to serve at home or abroad, and it is expected that the militia department will call on units and regiments already embodied and having their regimental organization complete, instead of doing as was done in the case of the South African war, drafting contingents and forming up temporary regiments. In the meantime it was decided that the most effective work that the regiment could do would be to start recruiting classes and get two or three hundred additional men into shape in case they are needed for active service. The recruiting class will open at the armory tonight at 8 o'clock and will be continued until further orders. A special parade of the regiment has been called for Friday night. Advice to Girls $

Dear Annie Laurie:

I note your advice to some young girls is: "Don't tie one's self down to one friend, but, instead, have a number of admirers."

Do you think that a young girl about 19 would soon get the name of being a fiirt if she were seen out with a different fellow every time? Not only that, but I know some girls who seem to have taken your advice in this matter, until at the present time they have some half-dozen young men taking them to the theatre with young men taking them to the theatre with young men taking them to the theatre with him, or anywhere else that is respectable and interesting?

O. I do not think that a young girl about 19 would soon get the name of being a fiirt if she were seen out with a different fellow every time. A young girl of 19 has no business being seriously in love with any one—she's go young to "settle down"—and "make ip her mind." And how is she ever gome to make it up, pray tell, if she never the High Cost of Living.

In Almost Every Mail I receive a letter from some reader who bewalls the high cost of living, and who at great length tells me her weekly allowance, and how, in spite of her efforts, she can't save any money. I have on several occasions written letters of help, and when I really investigated I found that about seven out of nine of these women didn't keep any definite record of the money that passed thru their hands. And then they wonder why they can't save, and "where the money goes to."

What would we think of a business man who kept no record of his business transactions? Would we blame him if he forced himself into bankruptcy, or never 'got ahead in the game."

Housekeeping is our business—the business of those of us who are actively managing homes. Isn't it just as essential that we keep financial records as that other businesses keep financial records?

For the beginner the west and easiest method is to use a small ruled account book. These core a line for each day of the month. Such a book can be bought for 25 cents at various city stores, and has space enough for the accounts of a whole year.

This is the way we use it: Place the amount of your weekly or monthly allowance in the space for that item. Then, as you pay bills, enter their totals under the proper headings, as meat, Jan. 16, 98c; vogetables, 46c; milk, $1.24, etc. Save the little sale checks that come with each purchase, and enter these also under "clothing," "personal," or whatever head they belong.

Then you can make a weekly or monthly "balance" by adding up what you spent and getting that total; this sum subtracted from the original allowance with which you started should equal your "cash on hand."

Such a simple record will show these points:

(1) It will compare any of thems for you at a giance, and you can see if it is "meet" or "laundry" that is pulling up your bills.

(2) It will show you leaks in your builsness which you car instantly find out cause of increase or change.

(4) It will tell you the average of

Since the revival of old-fashioned lowers has brought so many old time favorites to the front once more it behooves one to be on the watch to welcome the arrivals as they come out of their long seclusion.

Years ago the balsam was as great favorite among prim beds and borders as are the chrysanthemums nowadays among the autumn plants.

The common balsam belongs to a decidedly interesting family and takes pride in a decidedly exclusive family history, which history dates back to the last part of the sixteenth century. Back of the sixteenth century this history is lost in the mazes of the past and since the plant is a native of India (at any rate a descendant from Indian ancestors) no one knows how far back this ancient history stretches. Suffice it to say that the balsam is a very high-bred plant and in its stately air of inscrutable aloofness shows a decided trace of that caste which was no

GERMAN CAVALRY FORCED TO RETIRE

French Cavalry Moved Out to Meet Enemy Near Belfort.

Canadian Press Despatch.

PARIS, Aug. 4.—The Temps publishes a resume of incidents on the Franco-German frontier. It says a number of German reconnoitering parties crossed the frontier with the object of ascertaining the strength of the French covering troops. It is assumed by the French military authorities that the Germans would have made a sudden attack in great force on Nancy if the French troops in the vicinity had been found in minor strength.

While these reconnaissances were in the French fronts steadfastly many have been broken off.

While these reconnaissances were in progress the French troops steadfastly kept within the six-mile zone from the frontier. Several parties of Germans entered the zone to round up the cattle. These parties were not interfered with, but when an entire German squadron of cavairy crossed the line near Belfort a squadron of French cavairy was sent out and the German troops retired.

You would naturally expect a specialized system to be very superior. The Safford boiler, for example, has 70% of its heating surface directly around the fire, whereas ordinary boilers have but 51%. The more direct the heating, the less coal required to heat your home to 70 degrees, provided the water circulation is

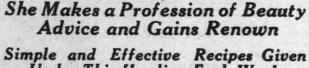

And the Safford water circulation is rapid, because after being heated, it has only one-third the distance to travel to get out of the fire-pot that the water in an ordinary boiler has. It circulates three times as rapidly.

The proof of the Safford's superiority shows in the coal bill, for you will pay for one-third less fuel than the man with an ordinary boiler of same size. And you will experience the comfort of a perfectly heated home, too.

A London Girl's Success

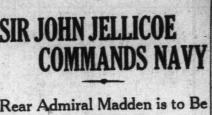

Simple and Effective Recipes Given Under This Heading Each Week.

By Olga Amsdell, Special Correspondent, London, England. In this department each week I can give my Colonial women readers a rare treat in beauty "news" by simply appending current clippings from the writings of a most remarkable young woman. Miss Rita Moya, a young London actress, has suddenly leaped into fame as a beauty writer. Owing to the remarkable effectiveness of her suggestions her articles of advice to beauty seekers are now eagerly sought by the leading newspapers and periodicals of England, and many thousands of women here are guided by them. Miss Moya's recommendations have the merit of astonishing simplicity, novelty and effectiveness. I shall select only those mentioning ingredients which could be obtained from Canadian chemists or druggists. Watch this department for new hints from Miss Moya and other experts each week.

The usual hair removers on the market. I have found not at all satisfactory. I advise the following preparation. It is really wonderful in its action, destroying hair completely in a few moments. Many women have merely a down on the arms and face and imagine they do not need a hair remover. They hardly realize what a wonderful difference there would be in their appearance if this down, even light as it may be, were removed. Get at any good druggist's an ounce of pure powdered pheminol. Most often now, when I came home. Mary was at her mother's. She gave as her reason the fact that she was a little afraid to stay alone, and that it was fearfully lonely, for the nervous old hypochondriac downstairs made his family go to bed early, and, therefore, a terrible pall of silence settled over the house by 9. I was disposed to be reasonable about this, for I know how very timid Mary is. Timidity seems an inherent part of a woman's temperament. Still I did not like my lonely supper. It got terribly upon my nerves to go to the oven and peer within for the food. Sometimes it was palatable. More often it was not. And after a while I ate down town. HAD a letter this morning from a little girl - just a lonesome, unhappy, forlorn little girl.

She works in a big office downtown and she supports herself very decently by her work there. She gets a very fair salary and is a nice, wholesome, good - humored, pleasant little girl, alone in a big city and starving to death for

"Nobody speaks to me except on business from one end of the week to the other," says the little girl's letter. "You'd think I war just an adding machine or something. Why, they never even look at me, and they used to say at home that I wasn't so bad to look at, either. "I used to take a good deal of pains with my looks-my mother always taught me to. I curled my hair and I took time deciding what colors were the most becoming to me. But, dear me! I might as well wear a gunny sack and tie up my head in a window curtain. Nobody knows whether I'm pretty or ugly, and nobody cares. Nobody knows whether I'm good or bad, and nobody cares. Nobody knows whether I'm stupid or bright, and nobody cares.

"Sometimes I feel as if I'd like to grab some woman's hat off her head when she comes into the office where I am, and make faces at her, just to get her to look at me. It would be interesting to be arrested, anyhow. "I suppose the town is full of just such girls as I am. If we could only get together, somehow, we could have a good time. I like men-but I can live without them. But I don't believe I can live without some kind of friendship. Where in the world and how in the world am I going to

The Uplift Club.

There was an address at the head of the lonesome little girl's letter, and I happened to know the woman who is married to the man who is at the head of the firm which employs the lonesome little girl.

Her daughter is just about the age of the lonesome little girl. The daughter doesn't worry much about the Afghans-she's more concerned with the new tango steps-but she belongs to an uplift club, too. She says you really have to nowadays, or not be in it at all.

Every once in a while the uplift club hires a speaker to come and tell them just how unfortunate the girls are, and just what to do to reform them. The speakers go into details about it. They have to, one of the out a report on "why girls leave home"-and stay-to do it.

speakers said the other day, because it is a singular fact that many people interested in the reform of the unregenerate are so fond of details of a certain kind, and sometimes the members of the club are horrified at the things they hear, so horrified that "they wouldn't miss another meeting for anything, my dear. It's really one's duty, don't you know, to keep cne's self informed." They never seem to have anything to say about the girls who do not need reforming-yet.

Now if my little lonesome girl would only be "steeped in iniquity," perhaps the club would ask her to come and speak for them, and tell them

As it is, I'm afraid neither my friend of the board of foreign mission nor her daughter of the uplift club know that my little lonesome girl is alive, and they would be bored to death at the very idea of her if they did know it. And yet that girl is likely to be quite as well born, quite as well bred and a good deal more intelligent than most of the members of the uplift club themselves.

A Friendly Call.

I wonder why they never think of her at all? I wonder if it would really hurt my friend of the foreign missions to stop at the ionesome little girl's desk some day and chat a second or two-just as one human being You don't have to belong to an uplift club to do a little good in the

What a lonesome, stupid old world this is—when you make it so. And what a gay, good-humored, friendly, interesting place it can be, if you want to think so, and act accordingly.

EUROPE AND AMERICA CLEAN-

What the present war will accomplich, if it is fought to a finish, will be to regenerate the old autocratic conception of government and class domination. What happened in France after 1870 will happen in Germany after 1914 if the German Emperor and war lord fails in his intentions. The German people are struggling under a burden of military imposition which beats anything since the Israelites made bricks in Egypt. There was nearly a revolt against the tremendous income tax levy in Germany some time ago, when, as is now evident, the emperor had the present coup in view. The Germans will be as glad to be rid of their burden as the French were, even if a little military glory is lost in getting sid of it. So much for Europe. In America the United States has a similar burden hanging round its neck in the Wall street plutocracy and its piratical methods. That must go also. It may not need a war in the military sense, but it means a war just the same a social war, which has been proceeding for some years without any formal

But that has been cut out by the patience and policy of President Wilson, and must never be allowed to crop up again on this continent, at least.

GUELPH, Aug. 4.—Under the auspices of the Ontario department of agriculture, there is in session at the Ontario Agricultural College a rural teachers' conference. About 225 are present. The purpose of this conference is to bring before the teachers of the country at large the plans of the department of agriculture for agricultural training in the high and public schools of the province. At the present time agricultural training is not comschools of the province. At the present time agricultural training is not com-pulsory, but optional, but it is slowly coming into favor, especially in the rural schools, where the value of agri-cultural education is becoming more Zavitz, acting president of the college, followed by an inspection of the college grounds and buildings under the direction of Prof. H. L. Hutt. In the afternoon the program proper was proceeded with. Prof. McCready gave an address on "Purposes and Plans of Teaching Agriculture in Ontario Rural Schools," which dealt fully with the reasons for holding the conference.

ing smoothly today, as a result of the emergency measures taken yesterday to meet the present extraordinary situation, little progress was made towards the resumption of the interchange of credits and commodities between the old world and the new.

With immediate financial necessities met, Wall Street turned its atteintion to the general trade problem, which is more intricate than any other which has confronted the country for a century. Unless this problem is solved, in part at least, it was recognized that the consequences might be felt seriously thruout the nation.

Import Trade Stopped.

The greater part of the import trade from Europe already has been cut off oh account of the seisure of railway facilities in France and Germany by the governments for military purposes, and the holding of transatlantic vessels of these countries. Merchandise importations here from France and Germainy alone average $1,000,000 daily. The export trade presented a still larger problem. American exports to Europe under normal conditions average $4,000,000 daily, nearly one-third of which is for France and Germany direct. All of this trade, at least for the moment, is blocked. The remainder, including the one-third which usually goes to England, is halted by the present absence of facilities for financing the export movement. With this problem the commercial and banking interests of New York began to deal, but even the most experienced bankers were unable to give an idea today of what the solution would be.

Regarding the school section arbitration.

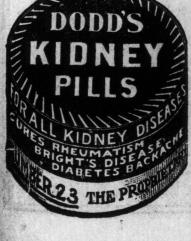

County Clerk Phillips has informed the president that John Gardhouse of Weston, one of the arbitrators, having been in the west, nothing had been done. The opinion was expressed that the schools around having sent in their estimates for the ensuing year, nothing would be done this year, and especially pending the settlement of the question of annexation.

Silver Quilty Threatened With University Education.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 4.—While reported that Silver Quilty, the great Ottawa College plunging half-back, would attend Toronto University this fall, it now turns out that Quilty, if he attends any university, is more likely to go to McGill. When questioned by a friend as to the report that he would attend Varsity, Quilty admitted that he thought of again going to college, but stated "it was news to him" that he intended going to Toronto. Later a McGill man intimated that the college star might enter McGill.

error, a single and a put-out. The Saints should really have won the game, as in both the seventh and ninth innings it was an error that started the fireworks. Kirley worked for Toronto and was very wild, passing seven men, but he succeeded in striking out men at critical times, or of having them hit easy rollers or flies. His support was of the best, also, and helped him considerably, Reilly, for the Saints, was good also, but seemed unable to hold the Beavers in the pinches, and this, combined with an occasional error and walk, was the Saints' undoing. Hunt starred at bat for Toronto, and Reilly for the Saints. Reilly completed the circuit on a triple in the third innings, when Ort's relay from right field went wild. Score:

GRAYS' RALLY IN THIRD BEAT LEAFS

Kelley and Co. Tried Hard, But Breaks Went Against Them-Third Straight.

Providence made it three straight yesterday at the island, when they grabbed Flynn's Daily Home another to the tune of 5 to 3. The Grays fairly ate up everything in sight and came away, assisted by Red Oldham's good pitching. With a few of the breaks in the closing sessions the Leafs might have made it different, but they didn't

In the eighth, with one down, we were trailing three runs behind. Pick grounded and back came our hopes. Jordan and and back came our hopes. Jordan and O'Hara both silegled, scoring Fisher. With one down and two on, and only two runs needed to tie the score, Kelly was brought in to bat for Kroy. He flied to right field, however, and some snappy fielding stopped Jordan from getting to the third bag. Still, Kritchell was up, and some hope was left. He tried hard to hit it on the nose, but a sharp grounder was all that resulted, and the breaks went against us, leaving us still two to the bad. Even in the ninth Prieste falled us as a pinch hitter, so that the Grays maintained their margin to the end.

The Leafs were fighting hard from the

The Leafs were fighting hard from the start, the, and it is had not been for the one innings when Johnson aviated there might have been a different tale. Opening in the second McIntyre banged one into the bleachers for a homer. But in our half Tim Jordan didn't start to try and find the trade-mark or anything else, but stepped right into Oldham's shoot, and straight for the bleachers it sat and reached. That evened it up, and G'Hara singled right afterwards, but was caught stealing second. However, the Leafs were satisfied that they could still hold the Grays. But they had not counted on the third-innings swatfest. Oldham beat out a grounder. Then Powell made the two out by flying to Wilson. Shean was walked, and McIntyre hit for two bags, scoring Platte and Shean. Then Tutweller spilled the beans, hammering one into the bleachers, sending McIntyre home ahead of him. Fabrique singled, but was forced at second on Bauman's grounder. Four runs on four hits was the result. One-two-three, the Leafs filled out in our half, and only one hit in each Inkings was registered until the seventh. Then came our grand but fulle effort in the eighth, and we had enough. Only at one other time did the Grays look dangerous, and that was in the fifth. With one down, McIntyre and Tutweller singled, but Fabrique fouled out to Kritchell and Fisher handled Bauman's grounder pulling us out of the corner. It was not the fact that the Leafs played loose ball, but more the fact that the Leafs played loose ball, but more the fact that the Leafs played loose ball, but more the fact that the Leafs played loose ball, but more the fact that the Leafs played loose ball, but more the fact that the Leafs played loose ball, but more the fact that the Leafs played loose ball, but more the fact that the Leafs played loose ball, but more the fact that the Leafs played loose ball, but more the fact hat the Leafs played loose ball, but more the fact hat the Leafs played loose ball, but more the fact hat the Leafs played loose ball, but more the fact hat loose ball, but more the fact that the Grays tightened up when we were within striking distance, and so the Leafs lost.

Win at Newmarket

Old Country Cricket Club were entertained to a splendid day's outing on Monday by St. Paul's C.C., Newmarket. Altho the wicket matting, laid on rough ground, was treacherous, some good cricket was seen. Wakefield's long hitting was the main feature of the game, the ball being driven out of the field five times. In bowling, all the O.C.C. men met with success. For Newmarket, Messrs. S. Bayman and extras were the only double figure scorers. Some wonderful fielding by two promising acquisitions of O.C.C., Robb and Osborn, should also be mentioned. Old Country won in the two innings by 87 runs. Score:

Canadian Olympic Team to Be Large

James G. Merrick, president of the Canadian Olympic committee, returned from Parls yesterday, where he has been attending the international Olympic conference. He is well satisfied with the program and believes that the fortyference. He is well satisfied with the program and believes that the forty-five or sixty athletes that Canada will send to Berlin in 1916 will all be point getters. Mr. Merrick was instrumental in getting the following features added to the program: An additional walking race, making two in all, formulation of a regulation Olympic program with regulations governing each contest, settling on the number of athletes permitted in one event from each country, securing a uniform standard for the amateur status of an athlete, allowing women to compete and to have their points count for their country. Then boxing and wrestling were made events on the program, while two classes in yacht racing will be given a chance. Sir John Hanbury Williams, Canada's permanent representative on the Olympic committee, proved of great assistance to Mr. Merrick, and everything looks far brighter for the Canadian athlete than in any of the other games. Despite the fact that England has declared war against Germany, Mr. Merrick believes that it will be finished long before the games are scheduled. The Panama Canal Exhibition at San Francisco in 1915 are holding a set of games, and these will give the Canadian athletes a chance to show just what they can do it is possible that the results in these events will be used to determine the members of the Olympic team.

GERMAN ARMYTRAINED WRONGLY ASSERTS HIGH MILITARY EXPERT SOLDIERS ARE MERE AUTOMATONS

Writer Points Out That Discipline Counts for Everything In Teutonic System, While Individualism Is Discouraged—Mass Formation Still Taught at Manoeuvres.

Is the German army the fighting force it is represented to be—well drilled, thoroly disciplined and ready to meet all comers and crush them; or is it a great ponderous war machine living on a reputation earned loss. Surely here is a proof of the value of extended formation for infantry attack. The Germans, however, say not. They declare numbers must prevail.

Forcible Criticism. chine living on a reputation earned in a campaign forty-four years ago when active service conditions were entirely different from what they are today? That is the question which thousands of officers have been asking themselves for the past few years since the German menace first made itself manifest in Europe. Time will give the answer to the question: but there are many qualified experts who maintain that the German fighting maintain that the German fighting force is overrated in a hundred ways, and when opposed to another fighting machine, trained on modern lines, will machine, trained on modern lines, will greatest but the most perfectly organstruggle against the Japanese.
In the South African war it was that frontal advances against an enrenched, skilfully concealed, sharpshooting defence force could not pre-vail. So great is the effectiveness of the modern small arm that troops, no matter how courageous, will not advance beyond a certain point. Generally that point was not less than from 800 to 1200 yards from the de-fenders. Admitting that no army in Europe, or in the world for that matter, can approach the Boers in the matter of marksmanship, none the less the fire from a conscript force, numbering anywhere from 10,000 to 50,000, on an advance en masse would undoubtedly so wreck its morale that nothing but defeat would result. Magersfontein Recalled.

Extended formation is the system attack or defence. They have learnt that lesson by bitter experience. Take an example. Under modern conditions of warfare the best soldier is he who knows how to "muddle thru" and how to "carry on" when in a tight place, without waiting for instructions. The whole training of the German soldier is designed to Forcible Criticism.

A writer in The London Magazine who conceals his high military rank under the pseudonym of "En Avant," has some forcible things to say about the German army and its system of training. He declares that during the past ten years, while witnessing their grand manoeuvres, he has seen the Germans trained and ordered to do things which would be utterly imposgreatest but the most perfectly organ-ized army in the world, but battles are not won by flourishing sheaves of statistics in the enemy's face, nor is demonstrated time and time again there any sound criterion by which the worth of an army for war can be judged in time of peace. Individualism Counts.

"There are a hundred and one quali-"There are a hundred and one quali-ties which are supposed theoretically to make for efficiency in an army, such as numbers, material, disciplire, leading, physique, training, organiza-tion, and so forth, but the great decid-ing factor and those who have had as much modern battlefield experience, as myself will doubtless agree with me as myseif will doubtless agree with me—is the capacity of the individual soldier to endure hardships, and his individual determinations to win thru. The German army is obedient to a rule of thumb. To the German tactician the science of warfare is cut and dried. Officers and men alike know Extended formation is the system what they ought to do under a hun-pursued by British troops either in dred different conditions; they learn it all by heart, and when these condi-

"Untaught to think or act for them-

When Under Fire. The writer then goes on to point out that on the modern battlefield it is impossible for an officer adequately to supervise his men and to enforce discipline. All he can do is to lead his men and encourage them. The German officer, however, relies only upon discipline, and against a British or a French force he is likely to soon learn will risk death rather than contravene discipline. Wherefore I maintain that in our present state of civilization the German system of organization and training is fundamentally wrong." Different in War.

Examples are given of how, at manoeuvres the German cavalry are encouraged to charge against unbroken infantry in a strongly defensible posi-tion. Whole brigades sweep down in most gallant fashion and are encouraged to do so, whereas against an infantry force armed with the modern death-dealing magazine rifles such charges will be utterly impossible. The writer declares that when in close formation the work of the German infantry is good and its drill ex cellent, but once the men get into ex-tended formation, or anything approaching it, all initiative ceases.

Lacks Dash.
The German infantryman, he says, lacks the dash of the French, the dog-gedness of the Russians, the fatalism of the Turk, or the practical adapta-bility of the British. Nor, apparently, does the critic place any higher value on the Prussian artillery while thinks that their engineers are better at theory than at practice. The iron test of war will show whether the critic is right.

Large Number Are Making Shift With Manure-Heated Hot Beds.

GLASS HOUSE CHEAPER

Plants Are Not Endangered Thru Change of Tempera-

Many vegetable growers live remote from the market or operate on too ated hotbeds when they should have uses to start their crops in. It economy to use hotbeds when uses would serve the purpose All the arguments are in favor of the greenhouse when a large amount of glass is required. It is more economical to operate both in fuel and labor. It is much more pleasant as well as convenient to work in a greenhouse than to stoop over frames, especially if the weather is disagreeable. The greenhouse gives the grower more persecultured in the stoop over frames, especially if the weather is disagreeable. greenhouse gives the grower more perfect control over the soil and atmospheric conditions. He is inside the pheric conditions. He is inside the structure, where his eye notices very quickly if the soil is too wet or too dry. The plants are not endangered by probale drops in temperature, as the boiler may be fired more heavily to provide the proper heat. Cold air is admitted at will without a cold draught striking the plants, as is likely to occur when hotbed sashes are raised for ventilation and watering. The air in hotbeds is likely to become too close and steamy, causing damping off, and weak, spindly plants; while these troubles seldom occur in greenhouses the less attention is given to ventilation.

The greenhouses may also be used The greenhouses may also be used in forcing lettuce or other vegetables before the space is needed to start early vegetable plants. This gives employment to the farm hands during stormy weather, and, if the houses are properly handled, they become a source of revenue when there is no income from crops grown in the open. A green-house makes summer the year round on one spot on the farm, and this argument, altho it relates to sentinent, is well worth considering.
It is not necessary to build very arge houses unless the forcing of flow-

The size of the greenhouse must be determined by the number of available sash for cold frames. If the plants are merely held in the beds until the first transplanting the house need not be large. At least 300 seedlings should be started on every square foot of bed or bench space if they are to be transplanted in four weeks.

The location is important. The house should be protected if possible from the hard north and westerly winds. It should be comparatively near the dwelling and convenient to the cold frames. The water supply must also be taken into consideration when locating the greenhouse.

There are various forms of greenhouses, the lean-to, hilliside, threequarter span and even span. Of these the even span is the most popular. Definite experiments show that none of these plans have any real superiority over the others. It is largely a matter of preference, altho the threequarter span houses are better adapting the span is the lead has not been in the lead has not b

ARMY WORM DOES GREAT DAMAGE

Have Been Caused by Pests in Michigan.

Losses totaling more than $1,000,000 ave been sustained by Michigan farmers as the result of the army worm pest, said Professor R. H. Petritt, head of the Entomological Department of the Michigan Agricultural College. He explained that he had based his estimates on letters received from farmers in the affected districts. Altho preventive methods are checking the deadly work of this pest, the crop lost is bound to be much greater before the worms are all killed off.

In Ontario the pest is generally well under control at the present time, but in some of the affected districts

CO-OPERATION GAINS

Government Report Shows That Big Gains Have Been Made in This Connection.

The co-operative handling of farm products is making good headway in Saskatchewan, and during the past year the number of co-operative societies for one purpose or another has more than doubled. The government report, which has recently been issued dealing with the co-operative creamories shows that rapid strides have been made during the last year in the manufacture of butter. In the six winter months of 1912-13 the output from the co-operative creameries was matter of preference, altho the three-quarter span houses are better adapted to hillsides if the land has not been graded. Houses that run northeast and southwest are satisfactory, althothe position of the house with reference to the rays of the sun at difference to the rays of the sun at difference to the rays of the day is a matter of little consequence.

peat, sixteen pounds of acid phosphate and eight pounds of kalnit. Such a mixture will contain about 1.25 per cent. of nitrogen, 4.5 per cent. of phosphoric acid and 2 per cent. of potash, which used at the rate of two tons per acre, will furnish 50 pounds of nitrogen, 185 pounds of phosphoric acid and 30 pounds of potash, and at the present price of fertilizing materials is worth about $10 per ton. The mixture would furnish a well balanced stable fertilizer which, altho not fine enough to work well in drills, can be successfully applied with the manure spreader. This manure should be well sheltered until the time it is applied. The poultryman or farmer can materially add to the profits of his business by properly caring for the droppings of his fowls. For example it is shown that the droppings from 1000 fowls if preserved without needless loss are worth at least three hundred dollars per annum, and this estimate is based on the assumption that less than half of the actual droppings can be collected.

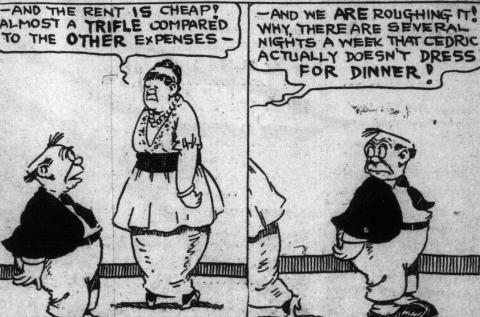

According to the Maine station the droppings should be collected daily and mixed with substances that will first, prevent loss of nitrogen, second add sufficient potash and phosphoric acid to make a better balanced fertilizer, and third improve the mechanical conditions of the manure so that it can be applied to the land with the manure spreader.

This can be done as follows: To each thirty pounds of the manure add ten pounds of sawdust, good dried loam, or
