FINAL WORD IN U. S. ELECTIONS

Republicans Control, But Strength Much Reduced

The Fate of "Wet" Candidates in Middle West—New Senator from Michigan is Going After Newberry.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—A continuation of Republican control in Congress, but with a majority of 163 in the house slashed to fifteen and a Senate majority cut in two, was assured last night by practically complete but unofficial reports from last Tuesday's elections.

While the Republicans retained only seven above a house majority of 218 and five above a Senate majority of forty-eight, they will have in the next Congress a plurality of eighteen over the Democrats in the house, and of eleven over the Democrats in the Senate.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—Eleven avowedly wet candidates for Congress were elected and nine self-announced wet aspirants for Congress were defeated in the Tuesday elections in the middle western states.

Big Rapids, Mich., Nov. 10.—Woodbridge M. Ferris (Democrat), senator-elect from Michigan, plans to "do what one man can to out Senator Newberry from the Senate," he announced here yesterday. Critics of what he termed "Newberryism" was Mr. Ferris' chief campaign argument, and that time also searched motors and teams on the highways and held up runners.

"My first official act will be to begin steps for a re-hearing of Mr. Newberry's case," he said. Although he will be a new-comer at Washington, Mr. Ferris said he does not "intend to keep still, as is the custom of many members. The only way they can keep me quiet is to chloform me. It will be impossible for me to keep still for six years."

The senator-elect referred to published criticism of his campaign funds, denying that Henry Ford bore a part of his expenses.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill of Downers Grove, the first and only woman elected to the Illinois legislature, let it be known yesterday that she would not be bound by the overwhelming sentiment of Illinois voters for wine and beer as expressed at the polls on Tuesday.

The Evening Times and Star

ST. JOHN, N. B., NOVEMBER 10, 1922. The St. John Evening Times is printed at 27 and 29 Canterbury Street, every evening (Sunday excepted) by The St. John Times Printing and Publishing Co. Ltd., a company incorporated under the Joint Stock Companies Act.

THE FACTS PRESENTED.

Last night's meeting in the Imperial gave the first opportunity since the present majority contest began for the citizens at large to hear the issues fairly discussed from the public platform. Mayor McLellan has been going about, posing as the city's champion, and making much noise; but last night the ground was completely cut from under him, and the facts were presented with a clearness and force which left no room for doubt in any mind as to the course the people should pursue. The great audience was quick to respond, and the vigor of that response left no doubt as to the result of Monday's polling. The people will elect Mr. Fisher and declare for power at cost.

Premier Foster brushed aside every doubt about Musquash when he declared the government would guarantee to supply all the power the city contracted for, and more when more was needed. Thus in one sentence is brushed aside every objection based on the assertion that the power is not available at Musquash. The government of the province guarantees the supply. All the reports of all the American engineers from Maine to California cannot alter the fact—the delivery of the power is guaranteed.

With the absolute certainty that the power will be delivered, what next? Mr. Fisher gave the answer to this query. If elected he will sign the contract for the Musquash power. He will give the New Brunswick Power Company ten days to decide whether they want to enter into a competition that would be ruinous to them, or sell out to the city at the amount given by the Supreme Court as a liberal appraisal of the value of their property at a time when there was no competition in sight. If the company refuses to sell, Mr. Fisher will have tenders called for at once for a civic distribution system. Does anybody believe the power company will refuse to sell at a fair price when they are face to face with real competition?

Last night's audience heard from Mr. Kribs what hydro has done for Ontario, not merely the current from Niagara, but from storage developments like that at Musquash. The facts and figures he gave, speaking as a former district engineer under the Ontario Hydro Electric Commission, left no room for doubt as to what St. John should do. But we have only to turn to South Bay to see what Musquash hydro is already doing.

G. FRED FISHER'S PLATFORM

No. 1.—(a) The completion and signing of the contract with the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission for Musquash Power. (b) The appointment of an independent Civic Hydro Electric Commission to construct a Civic Distribution System and operate the same.

No. 2.—Completion of Plans and Specifications for a Civic Distribution System. No. 3.—That an offer be made by the city to purchase the entire property of The New Brunswick Power Company, at the sum named by the Supreme Court of New Brunswick, 1920, $2,575,000. This sum to be the maximum, and the offer to remain open for 72 days only.

No. 4.—In the event of the offer not being accepted by the Power Company, in the time specified, the city to proceed immediately with the construction of its own distribution system. FALLING EMBERS. The fire-light danced in the darkening room. Wraith-shadows flitted like spirits returned. From the wooden corpses that crackled and smoked at the wavering glow.

The flickering glow on her tresses shone. Burnished as bronze and wondrous fair. 'The dead' breath its halo of glories had. Blue eyes bright as the dawn. A question I read in the winsome smile. A doubt in the childish upturned face.

A CANADIAN LEVIATHAN OF A CENTURY AGO

(Fred G. H. Williams, in Toronto Telegram) Most Canadians are aware, or should be aware, that this country was the pioneer of steam navigation on the Atlantic—the steamship Royal George, built at Quebec, having been the first vessel to cross the Atlantic under its own steam, in the year 1831. But few of us know that seven years before that Quebec sent to the Mother Land, the largest sailing vessel ever constructed up to that time, the Columbus, launched at Quebec in the summer of 1824.

The fire-light danced in the darkening room. Wraith-shadows flitted like spirits returned. From the wooden corpses that crackled and smoked at the wavering glow. A ember fell from the glowing pyre. Bright for a moment lay, then died. Startled, I woke—some one had sighed. The blazing sparks shot higher.

The Columbus is now of Polynesia fame. Her rudder is hung like that of any other ship, but its head comes above deck. A great deal of the timber she has on board was, we understand, fresh hewn—it now looks extremely wet.

Lighter vein. Well treated. Mrs. Meeks paid you a very flattering compliment last night, my dear. 'What did she say?' 'She said that I did not look like a married man.'—The New Bedford Standard.

FIFTEEN MINUTES OF RADIO EACH DAY

By Edward N. Davis Formerly Technical Electrical Expert For U. S. Government

Lesson No. 150.

MODULATION APPLIED TO RECEPTION.

In the reception of continuous wave signals it is common practice to employ the heterodyne principle in some form or other, such as the popular regenerative circuit.

In the accompanying diagram, the incoming signals are impressed upon the grid of the modulator tube which in turn modulates the output of the oscillator tube.

The operation of the circuit is such that the plate circuit of the modulator tube receives energy from the oscillating circuit of the second tube only when incoming oscillations are being impressed upon the grid of the first tube.

The telephone is inserted in the plate circuit of the modulator tube and is shunted by a condenser having a capacity of about .008 microfarads in order to bypass the radio frequency current from the oscillator circuit.

The circuit illustrated functions very satisfactorily for the reception of continuous waves and in many cases where very weak signals are to be received, better results will be obtained by its use than by employing the usual form of regenerative receiver where the detector tube does not rectify very weak signals efficiently.

Lesson No. 151. RADIO DICTIONARY.

Carrier Wave. The wave which provides the means for transmitting or carrying the audio-frequency wave, but which does not determine the nature of the sound heard at the receiving station when simple detection reception is used.

Coated Filament. In some types of vacuum tubes the filament or hot electrode has cemented to its surface a thin coating of oxides. Filaments having this coating give off electrons freely at much lower temperatures than those employing pure metal and require considerably less power to evaporate the same number of electrons in a given time than filaments of pure metal.

Magnetic Amplifier. A device for controlling signalling in high powered stations, employing large currents, to create the full current. When used with a high frequency alternator, it consists of a variable impedance connected in shunt with the external circuit of the alternator.

Dielectric Constant. The dielectric constant of any substance is the ratio of the capacity of a condenser using this substance as the dielectric, to the capacity of the same condenser multiplied by the ratio, the capacity of an air condenser is used as the standard.

Sulphation. A condition which exists in lead cells due to over-discharge or to allowing the cell to remain discharged for a considerable period. The production of an excess of lead sulphate causes the plates of the cells to buckle, which either short-circuits the cells or reduces their capacity through the falling off of the active material from the plates.

Arc Transmitter. A system for generating continuous waves by combining an electric arc with inductance and capacity of suitable values and supplying the arc with direct current having a potential of approximately 500 volts. Copper is used for the positive electrode of the arc and carbon for the negative.

Push-Pull Circuit. A circuit in which two vacuum tubes having similar characteristics are connected in the same manner as a single-stage amplifier. Owing to the fact that the input voltage is divided equally between the two tubes, variations in this input voltage may be used which are twice as large as variations impressed upon a single tube. The resultant outputs are correspondingly increased due to the summation of the outputs of the separate tubes.

Lesson No. 152. FUNCTIONS OF THE THREE-ELECTRODE.

In radio-receiving circuits there are four distinct functions which the three-electrode vacuum tube is capable of performing, namely, rectification, direct amplification, regenerative amplification, and oscillation. Through the function of direct amplification, it converts the received radio oscillations into uni-directional pulsation which produces audible signals in the telephone receivers. In this respect it resembles the crystal detector but in addition to its rectifying properties it simultaneously performs the function of direct amplification, due to the fact that the small amount of energy received in the grid circuit is used to control the larger amount of local energy provided by the battery in the plate circuit of the tube. In other words, the alternating voltage of the received oscillation, when impressed between the grid and filament causes the plate current to follow the variation of the voltage impressed upon the grid.

This relation is brought out in the simple receiving circuit of Figure 1 which shows the physical relations existing between the plate and grid circuits. When no signal is being received and the circuit is in proper adjustment, a steady current flows from the positive terminal of the plate battery, through the telephone receivers, from plate to filament inside the tube and returns to the negative terminal of the plate battery.

It has previously been explained that the property of amplification possessed by the tube may be utilized previous to rectification of the received oscillation, that is, radio-frequency amplification or it may be used after rectification to magnify the oscillation of audible frequency, this method being known as audio-frequency amplification.

The third function of the tube, namely, regenerative amplification, is realized when a portion of the energy of the plate circuit is "fed back" to the grid circuit. This is accomplished, as shown in Figure 2, by connecting a "tickler coil" in the plate circuit and placing this coil in inductive relation to the secondary coil so that the radio-frequency current of the plate circuit will flow through the "tickler coil" and induce a radio-frequency voltage in the secondary coil. The voltage induced in the secondary coil reinforces the radio-oscillation and the resultant increased radio-frequency current in the plate circuit flows through the "tickler coil" and by virtue of its coupling to the secondary coil it increases the oscillation in the grid circuit. Due to this regenerative action the audibility of the signal is considerably increased.

The remaining function of the tube—oscillation—takes place when the coupling between the "tickler coil" and the secondary coil is increased up to a certain point. Regeneration may be considered as a means of "balancing out" the resistance of the circuit due to the fact that it supplies energy to compensate for the energy consumed by the resistance. As the coupling between the "tickler coil" and secondary coil is gradually tightened the resistance is gradually "balanced out" with resultant increase in the strength of the received radio oscillation. This regenerative effect increases up to a certain point where the tube automatically starts oscillating and a further tightening of the coupling results in increased strength of the tube oscillation. It may thus be seen that the three-electrode vacuum tube possesses the ability to perform four distinct functions simultaneously, following rectification, direct amplification, regenerative amplification, and oscillation, and through the utilization of these functions is able to produce a considerable increase in the audibility of radio signals. BILL SENTENCING EDITOR TO JAIL PASSES ASSEMBLY

Quebec, Nov. 9.—The bill providing for one year's imprisonment for John H. Roberts, of Montreal, editor of The Age was given final reading in the legislative assembly this afternoon. Before the sentence takes effect, however, the bill will have to pass the legislative council and receive the sanction of the lieutenant-governor-in-council. Premier Taschereau announced this afternoon that the government would open an inquiry by royal commission in the charges which have been made in connection with the Blanche Garsneau murder and that Arthur Sauve, Armand Lavergne, John H. Roberts and others would be heard before the two judges who will be appointed.

ITALIAN ARTIST IN NEW YORK

Lulo Bias Says He Intends to Paint American Beauties. New York, Nov. 10.—Among the first cabin passengers who arrived from Italy on the liner Colombo of the Italian Navigation Company was Lulo Bias, an Italian portrait painter, who said he had come here to spend six months, painting the pictures of noted American beauties. He is the son of Count G. de Biasi di Lesse, whose Venetian paintings are hung in the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Mr. Bias said that he was the sixth painter in his family, the others being his father, grandfather, great-grandfather, an uncle and a cousin. He has painted the late Pope Benedict, Prince Potengiani and many other persons prominent in European society.

RETURNED GOODS COST $25,000,000 IN N. Y. STORES

$100,000,000 of Sales Fail to Stick, Executives' Survey Shows—Association Seeks Cure for the Evil.

That the returned goods evil is growing to startling proportions in this city, and that it constitutes a far greater item in the cost of conducting retail business generally, was revealed at a recent meeting of the Store Executives' Association in New York. More than $100,000,000 worth of merchandise is annually returned to merchants in the city of New York alone, according to an estimate made by Thomas V. Gould, of Oppenheimer, Collins & Company, following a statistical investigation. Gould is president of the association. In some stores, he declares, the proportion of returned goods amounts to 25 per cent. $25,000,000 annually is the extra cost which the large retailers alone must exact from the public for the privilege of buying thoughtlessly and then changing its mind. "Estimating the overhead of retail stores at about 25 per cent," Gould declared, "a rather low figure, this tremendous cost must be passed along in the form of higher prices, and the consequence is a rise in the business costs that hamper business."

Taking the assumed costs of doing business at 25 per cent, and considering the cost of a store which carries a burden of 25 per cent returns, this burden alone would theoretically boost the cost of operation from 25 per cent to something over 31 per cent. One of the means suggested to combat the evil is a co-operative advertising campaign on the part of the stores whose managers comprise the membership of the association. An alternative suggestion dealt with the possibility of co-operation from the board of health, which might be asked to promulgate restrictions on sanitary grounds. Another hope expressed was that the campaign might be taken up by the National Retail Dry Goods Association.

MAYORALTY ELECTIONS IN OLD COUNTRY

London, Nov. 10.—(Canadian Press)—The mayoralty elections in twenty-eight London boroughs returned sixteen Conservatives, eleven Liberals, sixteen Labourites, six Labourites, including one woman mayor at Bermondsey, and two non-party mayors. Returns from 325 contests in the provinces show 123 Conservative electees, ninety-nine Liberals, eleven Unionists, sixteen Labourites, eighteen Independents, while in twenty-seven cases the politics of the winners are not stated.

GETS THREE YEARS IN PENITENTIARY

Montreal, Nov. 10.—"It is men like you who spread stories that justice is venal — that judges can be bought. You have attempted to soil the reputations of men on the bench for your own profit. I shall give you the maximum sentence imposed by the law—three years in the penitentiary." In these words, Judge Gustav Perreault here yesterday afternoon ended the trial of Henri Duperron, found guilty of attempting to obtain $75 from Mrs. Emelle Brassard. She testified that Duperron had told her he could furnish a charge against her brother for $55.

OFFICERS OF BOY SCOUT COUNCIL

The Boy Scouts Association annual meeting was held last evening in the Natural History Society rooms with Rowland Frith presiding. A comprehensive report of the work of the year was read by V. C. Tibberly, provincial secretary. The finance committee report was read by James MacMurray, the civic report by T. E. Simpson and the lecture committee report by Mr. Frith. The election of officers and members of the executive, who are also chairmen of the committees, took place, and the following officers were elected:—Palron, Hon. W. H. Thorne; president, A. C. Skelton; first vice-president and chairman of the finance committee, T. E. Simpson; second vice-president, F. L. McCafferty; third vice-president, Rev. G. D. Hudson; honorary treasurer, E. H. Turnbull. The following were chosen chairmen of the various committees: Leadership and training, Lieut.-Col. W. H. Harrison; educational publicity, T. P. Drummond; lectures, Rowland Frith; camping, William McIntosh; badge examiners, R. D. Magee; civic service, G. G. Hare. It was decided that all chairmen of troop and pack committees be added to the council as well as the following members:—Rev. H. A. Cody, Rev. William Duke, G. L. Landry, Peter Clinch, Grover Martin, John H. Kimball and B. C. Waring. The secretary reported that per-

MANITOBA AND HER CLAIMS AS TO RESOURCES

Winnipeg, Nov. 10.—(Canadian Press)—The demand of the Province of Manitoba for immediate return of all unalienated resources as well as an accounting upon a fiduciary basis for all resources disposed of by the federal government since the creation of the province in 1870, as presented to the federal authorities by the late legislature remains unaltered as a result of the change in the provincial administration, so it was learned yesterday.

NOT DECIDED YET WHAT TO GIVE TO THE EXHIBITION

Ottawa, Nov. 10.—(Canadian Press)—The amount which Canada will contribute toward the British Empire exhibition has yet to be determined. This was announced by Premier King last evening. He said that the federal government had been awaiting word from the provinces as to the amounts which they were prepared to spend on the exhibition before deciding on the expenditure of the federal government. He said that Major Belcher, head of the British Empire exhibition mission, which toured Canada, is expected in the capital again about the 20th of this month.

JURY MAKES NO COMMENT IN THE DREAM INQUIRY

The inquest into the death of the five persons who lost their lives in the Dream disaster on October 20 was begun and finished yesterday before Coroner Dr. DuVernet Jack at Brundale.

A. J. Ganong said he was purser of the Dream. He was on her the day of the ill-fated trip, October 20. He lost all the accounts in the accident.

Asked to give an account of what was on board on the day in question, the witness said he had, previous to the accident, entered part of the freight in his book. He was unable to tell exactly what she carried on October 20.

He had no hay aboard that day; he had a few barrels of turnips and a few barrels of potatoes. There was in all about 175 bags of potatoes on board. He had two carcasses of pigs, three of sheep and eight or nine of lambs and a few chickens.

G. H. V. Belyea, on behalf of the owners of the Dream, asked the coroner if he could question the witness. The coroner said that while he was inexperienced in regard to coroner's work,

1847 ROGERS BROS. SILVERPLATE

Furnishing the home with silverware

ASK yourself these questions before you purchase silverplate: Is it attractive? Is it well known? Has it stood the test of years? Is it the best of its kind? Can other pieces be added later in the same pattern?

This year's celebration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of "1847 Rogers Bros." answers "yes" to the above questions. Time has proved its quality, its desirability—and a wide variety of "open stock" patterns has long been one of its distinctive features.

For any kind of a gift this year, "1847 Rogers Bros." is particularly appropriate. Remember the date, 1847, as a symbol of finest quality. Emphasize it when you buy.

See the attractive chests and gift box assortments at your dealer's. No extra charge for the colorful packages.

This freight was aft of the funnel.

Jefferson Dykeman, husband of Mrs. Dykeman, who lost her life, said he got aboard at Upper Jennege with his wife. He saw no freight on the hurricane or upper deck. He saw the ash hole open when he boarded the boat.

There was no breeze blowing at Lower Jennege when the boat listed. No comments were heard when the boat rolled over at Lower Jennege.

The witness replied, "I would say the boat was top-heavy."

The witness recalled that at the stage of the proceedings that oftentimes the boat was "tripped" in order to make her roll, especially in cases where the passenger traffic was light and freight was heavy.

Don F. Taylor, owner of the Dream, was recalled by the coroner. He said that at first the steamer had a certificate to carry forty passengers. She was given a certificate later for 100. This increase called for a mate, he said.

The coroner—"Where was he on the day of the accident?"

Witness—"He was not required. The boat only had a few passengers. His name was David Mitchell, of St. John."

The witness explained that Mitchell was a deep sea captain. The steamer's captain would refuse to take more than forty passengers, he said, if no mate or second officer was aboard.

To Jurymen Boppe, the witness said he read the law that so long as the boat did not carry more than forty passengers, a mate was not necessary. Inspector Dalton informed the court that the boat could not, or should not go out today with a mate and tomorrow without one.

Samuel Apt said that he had been an engineer aboard the Dream in 1921. He could not say if he had seen the Dream leave St. John with 100 passengers. She had been, however, well loaded with passengers on different occasions. He never saw anybody on the boat deck. When he was aboard the boat the ash hole had been left open in fine weather, but not in rough times. He never saw anything wrong with the Dream. He said he left the ash hole open for safety but for the good of his health.

Coroner—"The same thing?"

He admitted he refused to run the engine at St. John on one occasion. The reason was that a closet known as the ladies' toilet had filled with water, and as he did not think it right to take her out under the circumstances he had refused. This had been remedied since, he thought. He never heard any engineer since say that the boat was unsafe. The closet, he knew it was aft of the coal bunker.

78 Seconds from Lather to Towel!

The World's Fastest Shave We invite you to try it!

For a quick shave, a super-keen blade. That's the whole story. We've processed a barber's edge—the keenest cutting edge known—on a safety razor blade.

It took us years to perfect it. The result is a Velvet Shave in 78 seconds actual time.

Over the Face—Once No scraping. No after-shave smart. No shaving lotions needed to protect the face.

Once over the face—that is all. Thus you reduce shaving time one-half. And save your face, for dull-edged blades ruin the skin.

Dermatologists tell us three men in four, past 36, look ten years older than they are, because of improper shaving methods.

This new blade overcomes it. Changes the whole shaving situation. It marks a new era in home shaving. Already millions of men are enjoying the comfort it brings.

Valet Auto-Strip Razor

REG. IN CANADA Sharpens Itself

We recommend your using our famous strip for the same reason a barber strips his razor. It keeps up the keenness. It works as a part of each razor—there if you care to use it or, if you choose, you can just insert new blades as you feel the need.

Make the Test 78 seconds for a velvet shave—that's our proposition. Pick up a Valet Auto-Strip Razor at your dealer's today. Make the test. It will amaze you.

3 Things in a Shave You've Never Had Before First—a super-velvet shave, going over the face one time. No scraping.

Second—a quick shave. 78 seconds from lather to towel. Only a super-keen blade can do it.

Third—a 78 second velvet shave every day. The strip keeps up the edge of the blade.

AUTOSTROP SAFETY RAZOR CO., LIMITED - TORONTO

he did not wish to hamper a fair inquiry. He would not like a question to be asked which might prejudice the jury in any way. If Mr. Belyea wanted a question put he, the coroner, would have to be advised of it first.

George Pierce, C. N. R. policeman, said he was a passenger on the Dream the day she sank. He was down in the cabin with other passengers. He saw no freight aft of the funnel. He got aboard at Upper Jennege. He did not see the ash hole closed during the day of Oct. 20. There was not much wind when he boarded the boat. At one wharf, on the left of the river coming down, he could not say definitely just where, the water came into the cabin where he was sitting. Some one shouted: "Hold the line." The boat plunged towards the left. He heard a man shout, apparently from the engine room, to hold the line. More than a barful of water came in at the time. The boat was held in response to the shout. He saw freight on the steamboat deck. This was above where he was sitting. This was the regular freight location. He saw no freight above the "steamboat deck."

Steamship Inspector Testifies. Charles E. Dalton, steamship inspector, was the first witness in the afternoon. He said he had inspected the Dream this morning, October 20. The Dream was sixty-three and nine-tenths feet in length, fourteen and one-tenth feet beam and five and one-tenth feet depth. The steamer was not disassembled. After the inspection a certificate was issued, known as "form B."

This was given to passenger boats. The certificate allowed her to carry one hundred passengers. There was no permission on the certificate to carry freight. Over a certain tonnage certificates were issued for freight. The Dream, he said, was rated as a passenger boat only; otherwise, however, was made for carrying freight on the river boats. Legally there was a limit to the amount, he added, but the boat would then be a freighter. The aft end was for passengers and the fore end was for freight. There was a boat deck on the Dream. The main deck, or original deck was down below. Freight was carried on the Dream on the top of the old cabin before her reconstruction. The hull inspector would have to do with the supports for the deck. The certificate granted, Mr. Dalton said, had nothing to do with freight.

In reply to the coroner the witness said that, within qualifications the steamer could carry freight. If she had one hundred passengers on board the steamer would not have much room for freight. It was understood that the river steamers could carry freight packages. In the "form B" issued to the steamer Dream there was no provision for carrying freight but it was generally understood she could carry freight.

The after part of the funnel was for passengers, and also a portion of the boat underneath a small over-structure. After the certificate was issued he did not know of any one seeing that the regulations were carried out. Captain Bennett, however, had visited the boat once since the certificate was issued. The inspectors had jurisdiction to go aboard at any time. No complaints had been received in regard to the Dream.

The Dream's Fireman. Bradford Hawks said he had been fireman aboard the Dream almost all summer. He gave an account of how he was rescued. Axes were thrown overboard through a fire-hole.

This square hole was about three feet from the boiler room. It was two feet square. The ash hole was fastened up by two swinging doors. The ash hole was on the port, or left, side. This was the side the steamer rolled over on. The hole was seldom open, only on very smooth days.

George Pierce, C. N. R. policeman, said he was a passenger on the Dream the day she sank. He was down in the cabin with other passengers. He saw no freight aft of the funnel. He got aboard at Upper Jennege. He did not see the ash hole closed during the day of Oct. 20. There was not much wind when he boarded the boat. At one wharf, on the left of the river coming down, he could not say definitely just where, the water came into the cabin where he was sitting. Some one shouted: "Hold the line." The boat plunged towards the left. He heard a man shout, apparently from the engine room, to hold the line. More than a barful of water came in at the time. The boat was held in response to the shout. He saw freight on the steamboat deck. This was above where he was sitting. This was the regular freight location. He saw no freight above the "steamboat deck."

Dr. Jack, in addressing the jury, said

Just two things to do for a perfect manicure

Cuticle smooth and even, nails polished and pink—here is the quickest, easiest way to get them

SHAPELY nails, exquisitely pink and polished, framed in smooth cuticle—at last you can have them without the time-consuming bother it used to mean. Now, with Cutex, there are just two things to do, instead of half a dozen, to make your nails look as if they had just been professionally manicured.

Instead of tedious soaking, and dangerous cutting, you just work carefully about the nails with an orange stick dipped in Cutex Cuticle Remover, then rinse, and the hard dry edges of dead tissue will simply wipe away.

In just a fraction of the time that soaking and cutting used to take, you can achieve the smoothness of the nail rims that was never possible when you cut the cuticle—and with none of the ill effects. Cutex also makes an excellent nail bleach and cleanser.

In a flash, the brightest, most lasting polish. Here are two new polishes, too, that help to make the manicure infinitely more beautiful.

that the number of passengers or freight carried by the ill-fated Dream, judging from the evidence, apparently mattered little. Their object was to get at the root of the matter; this was the law such that the people were getting the protection they were entitled to? He urged the jury to deal squarely and broadmindedly with the present matter.

It had been his purpose to draw out at this inquiry something to show that government protection was inadequate for the traveling public along the river. The jury should try to find out how the accident happened and could it have been avoided? These were matters squarely and broadmindedly with the present matter.

The jury retired and returned in about half an hour with their verdict. G. H. V. Belyea, K. C. represented the owner, Don F. Taylor, but made no comment, acting on the ruling of the coroner.

The verdict was as follows: We, the jury empaneled to inquire into the deaths of Mrs. Medley Dykeman, Mr. Medley Dykeman, Mrs. Jefferson Dykeman, and others, find that, according to the evidence given, said persons came to their death by drowning due to the capsizing and sinking of the steamer Dream on the St. John River near the mouth of the Belleisle during a heavy squall on October 20, 1922? GIRL, 17, DIES BY GAS.

Parents' Refusal to Let Sweetheart Call, Declared Cause.

New York, Nov. 10.—Despondent, it is believed, because her parents had forbidden her to receive her sweetheart in her home, Bernice Davidson, seventeen years old, employed in New York as a stenographer, wrote two letters, and then, after locking herself in the kitchen of her home, West Hoboken, turned on the gas. She was dead when found several hours later.

The girl's body was found prone on the floor. Beside her were the two letters. One was addressed to Paul Jensen, twenty-three, of 778 Hudson avenue, Secaucus, in which she asked his forgiveness and said she was sorry her mother would not let him call. The other was written to her mother and also begged for forgiveness.

WINTER SPORTS FIRST ON CARD FOR OLYMPICS

Committee in Charge of Paris Events in 1924 Issues Calendar Programme—Numerous Branches of Athletics Included in Games.

(Canadian Press Despatch.) Paris, Nov. 9.—Winter sports will open the seventh revival of the Olympic games in 1924, according to a calendar programme just adopted by the French Olympic committee for the Paris games.

The formal ceremony opening the games in state will take place on July 5, after which track athletics will alternate with wrestling, rowing and swimming.

Boxing will be begun July 15, which date is also set for the tennis matches to start. Cross country horse-riding and other equestrian contests, together with cycling, both road events and stadium races, will open on July 23. The games will be officially closed on July 27 with the distribution of prizes and an elaborate night-time festival.

SPORTSMANSHIP IN SPORT

(London Times) Sir—It is clear from newspaper reports and articles that considerable apprehension exists at the present time that "sportsmanship" in sport should become a lost quality. Especially is this the case with reference to football. The question always provides interesting matter for discussion, but the only hope of producing any good results from the present moment is to state the uncompromising truth unvarnished by any prejudice or personal interest.

The moment is particularly favorable now that the Corinthians are about to enter for the English Cup. There can be little doubt in the mind of any person who has watched any professional football of late years that sportsmanship is practically non-existent. The individual professional is not a sportsman.

On the contrary, at heart he usually is, and a good man, but he is the slave of circumstance. At almost any professional match nowadays the impartial observer cannot fail to be impressed by the following facts: The crowd as a whole has no sense of sport whatever. They are there to see their own side win, and they have not much interest as to how that result is accomplished, but do their best by fair means or foul to bring it about.

Naturally the players are influenced by such conditions, and it is lamentable to see a professional player appear to be so easily injured and then resume with redoubled vigour a few moments later to see him dispute the referee's decision on a technicality.

Whether the referee is a professional footballer or a sportsman, it is a business, and as such sportsmanship and enterprise in the actual play are largely killed in the natural desire to catch the eye and create a good impression. You cannot blame the pro. He is, as I said above, merely the slave of circumstance, and that is why really brilliant players either individually or collectively, is now seldom seen and has been replaced by a not too intelligent machine-like accuracy.

I can only think of one possible remedy. The ridiculous rule which makes it possible for a referee to give a foul or a heavy shoulder charge on the plea that it is too violent should be scrapped. Nothing can be done until it is fair, and it is partly the existence of this rule and the zeal with which it is applied which has produced the artificial position now in existence.

Undoubtedly the Corinthians, who barge hard but never foul, will have endless fouls charged against them under present conditions. But even the Corinthians, to whom we are looking to keep alive all that is best in football, have not always been above criticism in one respect, and it is as well for the present generation which is playing two years ago for a team of Corinthian veterans against a Public School XI, at Queen's College, to be somewhat humiliated to relate on that occasion several of the Corinthian side questioned the decisions of the referee, and that the act was commented on afterwards by some of the boys. This tendency was creeping in towards the end of any own time of regular playing for the team.

It seems to me that the Football Association might do something towards restoring real sportsmanship by the introduction of some such rules as the following: 1. Any player who disputes the decision of the referee shall be reported and suspended for at least three months.

2. If unsportsmanlike behavior occurs on the part of a crowd, on any ground, that ground will be closed for an indefinite period. 3. Playing to the gallery, especially in the matter of injuries, is strongly to be discouraged by the directors.

In addition the rule concerning "violent play" should be eliminated. The above suggestions may be drastic, but they would very soon have effect, and I hope someone may see his way to making some such proposals at the next general meeting.

STANLEY S. HARRIS, (England and Corinthians), West Worthing, Sussex, Oct. 16.

IN INTEREST OF CHILD AT WORK

Hong Kong, Nov. 10.—The British administration here has undertaken the enforcement of the child labor principles adopted at the international labor conference at Washington in 1919.

In the past children of all ages have been employed in manual labor, such as carrying coal and building materials. Owing to the poverty of many of the natives, the new regulations will have to be applied gradually, otherwise it is feared that long established social and economic conditions may be upset.

The new regulations provide that no children may be employed in the dangerous occupations of boiler chipping, fire works or glass manufacturing. Children under ten years of age are barred from factories of all kinds, and children under twelve are not permitted to carry coal, building material or debris.

Employers are required to keep record of all the children labor engaged in their establishments. One holiday every seven days is made compulsory under the new law and children may not be put to work between 7 p.m. and 7 a.m.

UGANDA BISHOP IN TORONTO

Rt. Rev. Bishop Forbes, head of the Catholic Mission in the British Protectorate of Uganda, Africa, spoke at both services on last Sunday in St. Michael's Cathedral, Toronto.

The bishop is a Canadian and has been in African mission work for about forty years. His subject both morning and evening was the story of work and sacrifice in Uganda. He closed with a stirring appeal for mission workers in the African field. Already 150 Canadian priests and teachers have devoted their lives to the work there.

SHOT AWAY 20,000 FRANCS

Swiss Farmer Forgot Money Was in Gun Barrel. Paris, Nov. 10.—A single shot at a hare cost a farmer of Vevey, Switzerland, 20,000 francs. This sum did not represent a fine or doctor's fee, but the cost of the charge of his shotgun.

Following the peasant custom of keeping his savings in his own home, he recently converted them into bills of large denominations. Acting on a brilliant inspiration, he put these into the barrel of his shotgun for safe keeping.

This afternoon, when he saw a hare scampering near his home, he ran into the house and seized the gun. In his excitement he entirely forgot that it had been transformed into a safe deposit vault. It was only when he picked up the hare after he had killed it with a well-aimed shot that he realized his costly indiscretion.

CONGRATULATES SOVIET.

Anatole France's Manifesto on 5th Anniversary. (Special Cable to the New York Times and Montreal Gazette).

Paris, Nov. 8.—On the occasion of the fifth anniversary of the Soviet revolution in Russia, Anatole France has written the following manifesto, which is published this morning by the Socialist organ, L'Humanite: "Five years ago the Soviet Republic was born, poor but invincible; it brought a new spirit which was a menace to all governments of oppression and injustice which share the earth among themselves. The old world did not understand. Its chiefs organized calumny, riches and violence against it. They desired to crush and despatched hordes of bandits against it. The Soviet Republic raised red armies and crushed the bandits.

If there still exist in Europe friends of justice, let them salute respectfully the fifth anniversary of that revolution which, after so many centuries, gave the universe the first attempt at government by the people for the people. "Born in destitution, grown up in famine and warfare, how could the Soviets be expected to achieve their great design to establish complete justice? At least they established the principle. They sowed seeds which, if fate be favorable, will spread throughout Russia and perhaps one day throughout Europe."

WINNERS OF THE PRINCE OF WALES CUP IN N. B.

At the recent annual meeting of the New Brunswick Rifle Association it was decided that the Prince of Wales cup which had just been returned from England where it had been sent for repairs, should remain the property of the association and that small medals or shields showing replicas of the cup should be made for presentation to the annual winners. This cup has been shot for at provincial rifle meets for more than sixty years. It is now valued at more than $800.

THREE MASTER IN COLLISION AND IS SUNK

Portland, Maine, Nov. 10.—The three masted schooner Samuel Hart, of New York, was sunk in a collision with the sea going tug Wyoming, five miles east of Small Point, at the entrance of Casco Bay, late yesterday. Captain Johnson of the sailing vessel and three members of his crew were taken from their vessel and brought to this port by the Wyoming last night.

REVEALS OLD MURDER.

Michigan Jury Decides Mrs. Mattice's Skeleton Shows Slaying.
Traverse City, Mich., Nov. 10.—Mrs. John Mattice, eighty-four years old, who had been missing since June, 1920, and whose skeleton was found in a woods near this place early in the week, was murdered, a coroner's jury declared. Death resulted from blows on the head or from a bullet, the verdict stated.
Mrs. John Newstead, stepdaughter of the aged woman, with whom Mrs. Mattice made her home for seven years, was the principal witness at today's inquest. John Newstead, her husband, was questioned at the time of his stepmother-in-law's disappearance, but no arrests were made in the case. Newstead died a year ago.
Mrs. Newstead's testimony that she and her husband frequently quarreled with Mrs. Mattice was substantiated by statements of several neighbors. She denied, however, having any knowledge of the circumstances surrounding her stepmother's disappearance.

NOTABLES ON S. S. EMPRESS

Montreal, Que., Nov. 10.—The Canadian Pacific 18,500 ton Empress of France from Southampton and Cherbourg to Quebec in command of Capt. E. Griffiths R. N. R., arrived and docked at Quebec at six o'clock this evening with a large list of passengers and 33,000 bags of mail.
Among the prominent saloon passengers were Sir Edward and Lady Pierce on their way across the continent to Shanghai; Sir Ernest Oldham, deputy chairman of the federation of British industries, on his way to New York accompanied by his daughter Miss Oldham; Hon. W. C. Nichol, Lieut.-Governor of British Columbia and Mrs. Nichol, returning after a holiday in Europe; H. D. Reid, president of the Reid Newfoundland Company, accompanied by Mrs. Reid and party including Hon. W. R. Warren and Mrs. Warren, enroute to St. Johns; Nid; T. Howard Stuart of Montreal, returning after a holiday trip to Europe accompanied by several friends; Dr. J. H. Grisdale, deputy minister of the department of agriculture, who has been in England on business in connection with his department regarding the cattle embargo and now returning to Ottawa to make his report for the prime minister; Lady Holt of Montreal, returning to Canada after a stay in Europe and who was met at the ship's arrival by her husband, Sir Herbert Holt; Y. E. Mitchell, K. C. of Montreal, accompanied by Mrs. McDougall; Percy B. Wilton of Sault Ste Marie; Robert P. Todd and party representing Messrs Armstrong Whitworth Limited, proceeding to St. Johns; Col. C. W. Murphy of Salisbury, O. C. of the American army, a composer of music which was played by the orchestra of the Empress of France on several occasions during the trip; Wright Symons, Canadian baritone returning after a sojourn in Paris. He appeared in excellent concert during the season in Paris and whose programme included songs in French, Italian and German, also a modern Irish melody by a young English composer, E. Wyburn Farrell. The entire musical training and career of Mr. Symons has been in Europe. After studying with Edouard and Jean De Reszke, he made his debut in Italy in 1914 in the leading baritone role of "La Traviata" and later was starred in Nice and Monte Carlo in "Tullman" and "Un Ballo in Maschera." While in England Mr. Symons created the title role in "Monsieur Beaucaire" a romantic opera by a French composer Messager, which was produced by Gilbert Miller in 1919. He also appeared frequently in concerts in London and his work with the American troops in France for whom he gave 375 concerts within a period of two years is well remembered. Mr. Symons after a short rest in Canada is likely to appear in many concerts in this country.
One hour after the Empress of France docked at Quebec the saloon and second class passengers were entertained in C. P. R. special steamer train, and left to make connections at Montreal for the United States and the Pacific coast.

DEAD MAN'S VOTE VALID

Vote, a War Veteran, Lived 5-2 Hours on Election Day.
Orange, N. J., Nov. 10.—The vote of a dead man was dropped into the ballot box here on election day, and the Essex county election board and the district board both held that the vote was valid and should be counted. James H. Owen, a member of the county election board, walked into the polling place for the fifth election district of the fourth ward on election day, bringing with him the marked ballot of John H. Ellis, a veteran of the world war, who had been a patient in the Essex Mountain sanitarium at Verona.

"Don't you know that this man is dead?" asked Homer J. Berger, a member of the local board. Owen said that he did not. The ballot, he said, had been properly marked and sent according to the law to the county board at Newark. He had delivered it, he added, as he had been detailed to do. Ellis was a son of Joseph G. Ellis, who is attached to the sheriff's office here and he was known not only to the members of the board, but to most of those who happened to be in the polling place at the time. The board members had already heard of his death. There was a conference, and it was decided that as Ellis had lived for five and a half hours on election day his ballot was valid.
Those in the polling place learned what happened, and huts were taken off as Patrick Conroy, judge of the board, took the marked ballot and dropped it into the box. One woman cried: "Ellis was 17 years old when he enlisted, and Tuesday was his first chance to vote. He was anxious to vote for Edwards, and so on his death bed he marked his ballot first."

James Kane, a C. N. R. section hand, was killed yesterday about noon in the Chatham yards when he stepped in front of an incoming train. He leaves a wife and six children.

What wind and cold do to your skin—how to protect it

Under exposure to the dry cold winds of winter the skin becomes unusually dry and then cracks and breaks under the strain.
This chapped condition must be guarded against not only in the depths of winter, but at its first approach when the skin is especially sensitive to the change in season.
To guard against the drying effects of wind and cold, protect your skin with Pond's Vanishing Cream. It holds the natural moisture in the skin and keeps it from becoming rough and dry and cracked. Never go out without first smoothing it into your skin. It is absorbed immediately and affords an invisible shield against wind and cold.
This cream is sold in jars and tubes at 50 cents each at all drug and departmental stores. It cannot clog the pores or promote the growth of hair. The Pond's Extract Company, 146 Brock Avenue, Toronto, Ontario.
To complete the care of your skin you need a very different cream—Pond's Cold Cream for a thorough nightly cleansing. It is made with just the right amount of oil and not a bit more.

LOCAL NEWS

MILK SITUATION. There is no change as yet in the milk situation. It is expected that some action will be taken by the dealers by tomorrow.

ENGINEERS REPORT. The city commissioners have been notified that the committee of the whole council will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock to hear a report of the hydro-electric engineers.

ELECTION OFFICIALS. H. E. Wardrop, common clerk, announced today that the ballot boxes and papers for Monday's election would be ready for the district commissioners early on Saturday morning. He asked that all commissioners call for their equipment before noon if possible.

I. O. G. T. BOWLING. On the Victoria alley last night a postponed game in the I. O. G. T. District League, between Dominion Lodge and District Lodge was rolled. It resulted in Dominion taking four points, total pinfall being 1222 to 1128. Dominion and Thorne Lodge teams will play on Monday night.

FORTUNATE ESCAPE. A woman had a narrow escape from death or serious injury yesterday when she stepped directly in front of a street car. It is alleged that she was standing on one side of the track in Dock street apparently waiting to let the car go by when suddenly she started to cross the street and was struck by the fender and knocked down. Fortunately the motor man had the car well under control and brought it to a stop in time to avert any serious consequences.

START RECONSTRUCTION. An effort will be made to reconstruct before winter sets in the plant of the Stephen Brick Co., Ltd., Little River, which was destroyed by fire early on last Monday morning. A crew of men was put to work this morning taking out the damaged machinery and cleaning up the ruins. When this is accomplished, it is proposed to start immediately the erection of a plant to replace the destroyed one, so Thomas Stephen, the company's president, said today.

BURKE-WALTON. On Thursday morning, in St. Rose's church, Rev. Charles Collins united in marriage with nuptial mass Miss Alice Letitia Walton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Walton of Millford, and Arthur J. Burke, also of Millford. They were attended by a sister and brother of the bride. The bride's costume was a charming suit of navy blue broadcloth with a white apron. A dainty wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents.

DAMAGED IN COLLISION. Word has been received by J. H. Knight and Company, shipping agents, that the British schooner James Williams, on her way from Philadelphia with coal for Montserrat, was badly damaged by collision with the U. S. survey tug Videtta. The information received was to the effect that the schooner while being towed out of the port, was struck by the tugboat with the result that about one-third of the cargo was carried away and several plates and frames were damaged. The schooner was forced to return to Philadelphia for repairs.

GAVE MINISTERIAL SHOW. Members of the minstrel troupe of Thorne Lodge, I. O. G. T., went to Nerepis last night by automobile and gave a successful entertainment there in the new Community Hall, assisted greatly by Miss Helen Wheaton, who acted as accompanist. The hall, although being used, is not quite completed and a good sum was realized last evening to help along the work. A crowd which filled the hall to capacity greeted with enthusiasm the efforts of the amateur musicians and funmakers. Cream was served at the close of the programme.

ST. P. X. TEAM WAS HERE. The St. Francis Xavier High School football team arrived in the city from Antigonish this morning enroute to Fredericton where they will play the capital high school team for the inter-collegiate championship of the maritime provinces. They left by automobile and expected to arrive in good time for the game this evening. In an effort to win this title the St. Francis Xavier boys have traveled more than 400 miles. The team appeared to be quite heavy and during their championship series in Nova Scotia, where they defeated Acadia Academy, 3-0 displaying good team work, although some of the players are inexperienced. One member of the party is Lionel McIntyre, son of W. E. McIntyre of this city. Rev. P. O'R. Boyle, one of the professors, is in charge of the party.

FREDERICTON MAY BUY A FAST PACER

Club Management Authorized to Take Up Matter—The New Officers.

Fredricton, N. B., Nov. 10. — The Fredericton Driving and Sporting Club last night authorized the newly-appointed management committee to make preliminary investigations which might lead to the purchase of a fast record pacer to meet the trio of Aros-look butlers John R. Braden, 2:02 3/4; Roy Gratton, 2:01 1/4, and Jackson Gratton, 2:01 1/4— and to consider an international free-for-all in the 1923 season.

The following officers were elected: President, Roy W. Smith; vice-president, G. C. McDowell; treasurer, C. D. Holder; secretary, J. Harold McMurray; management committee, E. Howes, L. B. C. Blair, Harry Crotty, G. T. Peeney, Dr. G. C. McCoy, F. L. Cooper, W. B. Lint and R. W. Smith. Montreal, Nov. 10.—Lambert Todd, owned by Wm. Wright of Sierbrooke, has not been sold to Thomas Murphy, but merely turned over to the noted driver for campaigning purposes on the big track, following a successful seasons' race on the old-mile track.

St. John To Observe Well Armistice Anniversary

Several Functions Arranged for St. John

Replica of Grave of Soldier to be Placed in King Square—Ball, Church Services and Other Events—Saturday and Sunday—Sale of Poppies.

Everywhere, in all quarters of the world tomorrow, people who inhabit far-flung lands which go to make up the great British empire, will for a few minutes bow their heads in respect to the anniversary of the armistice which day four years ago when the news was sent broadcast that the greatest war in history had come to an end.

November 11 is a day of mixed emotions. Under the rejoicing in the deliverance which that day brought to the boys in the trenches and the seas, as well as to their anxious dear ones at home, lies the memory of those brave women and men who gave all in the cause of justice, right and liberty.

On Sunday morning the G. W. V. A. members will parade to Knox church for a memorial service and in the afternoon they will carry out their annual decoration of the graves of ex-service men in all the cemeteries. At 3 o'clock will be held the service at the Field of Honour—a naval and military plot—in Fernhill.

Armistice Day will be suitably honored by the Great War Veterans' Association. There will be a ceremony in King square at eleven o'clock tomorrow morning in connection with the annual distribution of poppies. A replica of a soldier's grave in France, covered with flags, will be decorated. The lieutenant-governor, the mayor, and the members of parliament will be present and the public generally is invited. In place all day to permit those who wish to place a poppy on it in memory of a dear one who sleeps "over there". A talk will be given to the school children on Saturday morning at the Free Public Library by R. E. Armistice, president of the Navy League.

On Sunday the G. W. V. A. members will attend a memorial ceremony in Knox Presbyterian church in the morning and in the afternoon that annual decoration day proceedings will be carried out. The graves of all the war veterans in the various cemeteries will be decorated. The decoration committee. There will be a special ceremony at three o'clock at the Field of Honour, the naval and military plot in Fernhill, when members of the Royal Arms Chapter, I. O. G. T., will assist the decoration of the G. W. V. A. in the decoration.

Some additions have been made to the list of allotments for tagging and poppy distribution as published on November 7. In Queen's ward the work will be done by the High School Alumnae Association under the direction of Miss Grace Campbell and Miss Jean Smith, assisted by the Free Kindergarten Association under the supervision of Miss Alice Letitia Walton. In the St. John's ward the work will be looked after by Callum Lodge, L. O. G. T., and the committee of Mrs. W. J. Edwards, in West St. John and Lancaster Mrs. William Tobin will be in charge and will be assisted by Mrs. C. W. James and Mrs. P. A. Parks. Mrs. Mary O'Brien will have charge of Fairville and will be assisted by Mrs. Shoman of St. Saviour's Lodge, I. O. G. T. In Millidgeville Miss Elizabeth Ritchie will be assisted by young ladies of the Millidgeville Summer Club. East St. John will be looked after by a committee of young ladies under the direction of Mrs. Cliffe. In Prince ward Moulton Temple, Pythian Sisters, will be in charge under direction of Mrs. F. L. Gerson, assisted by St. Vincent's Alumnae Association in charge of Miss Frances Turner.

This afternoon at 2:30 the presentation of a flag map and chart was made to King George school by Valcarier Chapter, I. O. G. T. R. represented the Union Jack and its component parts and will prove an instructive addition to the school library. The presentation was made on behalf of the chapter by Mrs. Douglas V. White, educational secretary of the Chapter.

Ball Tonight. This evening in the Pythian Castle the Royal Arms Chapter, I. O. G. T., will hold an Armistice ball under the patronage of Colonel John Houston, D. S. O., general officer commanding M. D. No. 7. The hall will be decorated with greenery and flags and the royal coat of arms, the emblem of the chapter, will be on the wall. The dining room will be decorated with I. O. G. T. emblems and red berries and the table will have red, white and blue candles in brass candlesticks, and brass vases.

Mrs. W. H. Turner is the regent of the chapter and will have general oversight. She and Mrs. Norman Gregory, the vice-regent, will form the reception committee. The general convener is Mrs. T. H. Carter and she will have with her Mrs. F. Z. Fowler. Mrs. James Christie and Mrs. William Taylor will preside and Mrs. J. H. McConnell and Mrs. W. E. Anderson will serve the teas. The decoration committee is composed of Mrs. James Patterson and Mrs. Norman Gregory. Others assisting will be Mrs. F. H. Neve, Mrs. L. M. Curran, Mrs. J. F. Tilt, Mrs. M. Crouse, Mrs. J. G. Willet, Mrs. J. J. Gordon, Mrs. G. G. Corbett, Mrs. E. S. Stevens, Miss Daisy Stevens, Miss Muriel Carter, Miss Belle Anderson, Mrs. H. R. Gregory and Mrs. Clifford Williams. Bridge will be played and the music for dancing will be supplied by Jones' orchestra.

ALL THE POWER SAINT JOHN CAN USE IS GUARANTEED OF GOVERNMENT; UPS IF THE PEOPLE VOTE MAY TO SIGN CONTRACT

Government Will Guarantee To Deliver All The Power That The City Can Use

A Fighting Speech and a Convincing One by Premier Foster at Last Night's Hydro Meeting

Campaign of Misrepresentation and Pretence by Power Company and Its Cohorts Shot Full of Holes by Supporters of the People's Rights; Crowd Cheers Fisher's Declaration That He Will Stand for no Delay

St. John wants the hydro—wants it right away, and wants it at the lowest possible cost, without the possibility of its falling into the clutches of a monopoly.

The misrepresentations and misleading propaganda of the Power Company and its satellites were effectively refuted and no doubt as to the sentiment of the great mass of the city electorate was left after the big Fisher-Hydro meeting in the Imperial last evening. The enthusiasm of the vast throng that filled the big Keith house, the applause which greeted each speaker, and the clear and concise manner in which the speakers outlined the issues in the campaign, without bluster or vilification, showed conclusively that the Fisher platform was the platform of the people, that the people were behind the offensive for cheap light and power, and that they had tolerated long enough the dictates of the monopoly.

The premier guaranteed the power, unreservedly. He scored time and again those who attempted by questionable methods to discredit the Musquash project, developed by the people's government for the people's benefit. His speech was a forceful, clear and convincing one, and everyone who heard it could not doubt that the government was prepared to stand behind its contract and deliver the current contracted for.

He exposed ruthlessly the pretences of the Power Company and its candidate, the Mayor, AND HE CERTAINLY LEFT THE CITIZENS IN NO DOUBT AS TO THE DELIVERY OF ALL THE POWER ST. JOHN NEEDS—OR THAT MONCTON NEEDS. He drove a coach and four through the wild charges and insinuations of the slander brigade that is trying to fasten the Power Company's spiked collar upon the necks of the people and discredit the hydro enterprise that has been created by public money for public use, not for private profit and greed. If the enemy was looking for fight the Premier certainly gave them all they could stomach. And he shattered their case completely.

Mr. Fisher made a compact and definite speech, the meaning of which none could mistake. He will sign the contract at 1.2. He will get the power. If the company does not accept the Supreme Court's figure—$2,577,000—within ten days, Mr. Fisher will get on at once with a civic distribution system. The big crowd liked that. It is the programme the public wants—no nonsense, no fiddling, no delay.

The other speakers delivered addresses of high merit. The chairman, Mr. Willet, defined the issue with admirable clearness and force, and he went after Mayor McLellan like a cool operator doing a necessary and thorough bit of surgery. Mr. Krubs, whose every sentence was full of hydro meat, brought a score of remarkable illustrations and a host of facts to bear upon the situation, and he left the case in such a position that no one who is not wilfully blind or hopelessly prejudiced could vote against St. John and for the Power Company on Monday.

Herbert Phillips had little time at his disposal but he made wonderful use of what he had. He spoke with vigor and wit, and when he struck the blow was swift and hard. Where he landed hardest was on the Mayor.

When he said the Power Company had tried to steal the Musquash plant and failed, but had stolen the former leader of the hydro forces, a voice from the audience cried: "DID THEY STEAL HIM OR BUY HIM?" Mr. Phillips' answer, if he made any, was drowned by a roar of appreciation from the crowd.

It was a wonderfully fine meeting, indicating a wonderfully fine majority for St. John and Power at Cost next Monday.

Good music—just enough of it—is a good feature at a public meeting. The Imperial's orchestra demonstrated that last night. Next week they will be playing The Dead March for Monopoly in Public Utilities. It's time, too.

Mr. Fisher's Platform. Mr. Fisher said that his platform, which was also that of the United Kingdom, was prepared only after very careful consideration. It first provided for the completion and signing of the contract for the Musquash current. If elected, he said that there would be no delay in signing the contract. He said that the members of the council went with him. "And I know they will, if the majority on Monday is large one."

He pointed out that the different sections of the platform did not represent successive steps, but all the matters mentioned could be taken up and carried out simultaneously. "Every day's delay is costly," he said. "It has been in the past, and it will be in the future, if the contract is not signed today, it will cause a financial loss to the people which will run into hundreds of dollars."

He said that the appointing of the election commission to provide for the distribution system would take a little time in order to secure the best men for the job, but it could be carried on at the same time as the other deliberations, as could also the offer of purchase to the Power Company. "Referring to an assertion made by Mayor McLellan that a few years ago Mr. Fisher had approved of a larger amount for the purchase of the New Brunswick Power Company's property, the speaker said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it."

Comparing the platform of Mayor McLellan with his own, Mr. Fisher said that it had been assembled, the speaker said, by a group of men who had no right to do so. He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it.

He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it.

He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it.

He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it.

He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it.

He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it.

He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it.

and Ontario hydro was the outstanding example of municipal ownership in the world of the American continent. "Voice from the audience—"But they have in Ontario. There are thirteen others besides Niagara, and the majority take in storage of water similar to your scheme at Musquash."

This ended the interruption in that quarter. The Power Company would try to make you believe that Niagara is the only power proposition in Ontario, but that is not so. Continuing, Mr. Krubs said that this was the biggest issue ever placed before the voters of St. John. If the proposition were voted down it would not take long for "your" to find your exit.

He referred to Halifax, where the power from the hydro development was turned over to private corporations. There had been no reduction in the prices, but if this city decides to take the power from Musquash, it would be just one-third of what it is at present. He thought the people of St. John were more interested in the playing of politics than in using common sense. This sort of thing, if continued, would get the people in wrong.

The government of the province says the water powers of the province will not be turned over to private corporations to develop, but the development will be made by the people for the people and not for the pockets of the shareholders. Industries Needed. In Ontario the electric companies had looked to New Brunswick for the power poles, but more recently referred to the hydro commission. He found that the supply was very limited. The result has been that poles must be secured from British Columbia. The forest resources of this province were fast going and something must be secured to take the place of this industry.

He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it. He said that he had never heard of it.

made and instead of there being a deficit there had been a surplus of $4,000,000. The audit showed the following: Reserve for sinking fund, $1,229,490.00; Reserve for Ontario Power Company, 163,271.00; Reserve for renewals, 2,937,982.00; Reserve for contingencies, 35,215.07; Surplus of interest, 67,694.00; Miscellaneous surplus, 42,989.00.

Total surplus, $4,615,741.07. Balance remitted to municipalities, rebate to municipalities, the excess charges for power above cost, $219,098.00.

Ontario was not the only province in which there were electric plants owned by the people. In Western Canada alone there were eighty-four municipally-owned plants and all had been successful. There were many plants also in the United States, among them being those at Detroit and Los Angeles. The state of California was undertaking the development of the Colorado River, but it was just one-third of what it is at present. He thought the people of St. John were more interested in the playing of politics than in using common sense. This sort of thing, if continued, would get the people in wrong.

South Bay Folk Have No Doubts About Hydro. They Have the Evidence of Its Value Right In Their Homes AND AT A FOUR PER CENT RATE. Two More Residences Connected Yesterday—Expect Exodus From City To Their District If St. John Should Reject Offer of Similar Benefits—Many Summer Residents Will Enjoy Cheap Current Too.

Considerable satisfaction was expressed by Samuel Lunnin, South Bay, over the telephone last evening when he announced that his home was now being lighted with the current from Musquash. The home of Patrick Duffy also was connected with the main wire last evening and he, too, was loud in his admiration of the quality and the service given by the light. Mr. Ferris, whose home was illuminated shortly after the current reached the home of Amador Anderson, also called up and again expressed his praise of the light.

"The only way to get a real idea of how good the current is would be to come out and see the houses all lit up here at night. The lights are burning from garret to cellar. We are not ashamed of them and it only costs four cents per k. w. h.," said Mr. Ferris. He urged the reporter to visit his home and inspect his private gas plant, which had cost him about $8 per month for fuel and other expenses. His first bill will easily cut his gas expenditure in half.

The Power Commission workers were held up during the morning on account of the snowstorm but in the afternoon made excellent progress and by nightfall had the wire running from the four cent rate under way. His first bill will easily cut his gas expenditure in half.

ISLAND TO VOTE ON QUESTION OF LIQUOR IMPORTS
(Canadian Press Despatch.)

Charlottetown, Nov. 9.—December 20 has been recommended by the prohibition commission as the date for the referendum to decide whether liquor shall be imported into Prince Edward Island for other than medicinal purposes. The Temperance Alliance today completed their programme for a campaign to precede the referendum.

The High School Alumnae had an interesting and enjoyable meeting last night at the residence of Mrs. F. B. Ellis, in Queen square, when Miss Jean Smith gave a delightful account of her recent European trip and illustrated her talk with an excellent series of lantern slides. Miss Grace Campbell, the president, was in the chair. Refreshments were served at the close.

The Street Railway Men For Fisher

The members of the Street Railwaymen's Union, Division 663, decided last night to lend their hearty support to G. Fred Fisher in the coming civic election. The meeting, which was held in their rooms in Prince William street, was largely attended and the members appointed several large committees to co-operate with the United Organizations during the remainder of the campaign. Ira D. Ferris, president of the union, said last night that there would be three or four workers, from among the members of this union, canvassing for Mr. Fisher in every ward. He said last night's meeting was an enthusiastic one and the members were determined to help swell Mr. Fisher's majority on Monday next.

Ottawa Bills Show Saving Hydro Makes

Rev. Dr. Hains, of St. John, who has just returned after a visit to Ottawa, brought with him the receipts bills for electricity supplied to the home of E. S. Johnston, 55 Gilmour street, Ottawa, by the Ottawa Hydro Electric Company. One bill for a month in the summer time covered electricity used to operate a large baking oven, a large electric heater, a water heater, a smaller heater and eighteen electric lights, and the charge was $354. Another bill for a month in winter, the highest amount Mr. Johnston has yet been charged, was $538 for the same service, except that more electricity was used.

The St. John consumers can figure out for themselves about what they would have to pay the New Brunswick Power Company if they attempted to use any such electrical appliances as Mr. Johnston's family enjoys.

Dr. Hains told The Telegraph that thirty lights, and a single electric iron used but twice a week, has cost him as high as $14 a month. "And we are by no means extravagant in the use of electric light," he said.

A CRUSADE MEETING.
The Missionary Aid Society of the Waterloo street Baptist church held its crusade meeting last night and had its guests members of the ladies' aid societies of other churches. Mrs. Thomas Robinson, the president, was in the chair, and Mrs. George Brown offered prayer. Miss Margaret Hamilton sang a solo, and the pastor, Rev. J. A. Sweetman, sang "The Holy City," a dialogue, "How the missionary aid society secured more members," was well presented; those who took part were Miss Aggie Pooley, Miss Ada Coates, Miss Florence Kierstead and Miss Mairie Hamilton. Mrs. Duvall, a returned missionary from Africa, who with her husband is under appointment of the Southern Baptist Convention, was the speaker of the evening, and in an interesting and instructive address outlined the customs and characteristics of the people and told of their religion. A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Duvall on the motion of Miss Coates, seconded by Miss Kierstead, and Miss Margaret Hamilton presented to Mrs. Duvall a bouquet of carnations. After the benediction had been pronounced by the pastor, refreshments were served and a social hour was pleasantly spent.

COMMUNITY FAIR.
The community fair in the new arena in the north end was successfully opened last night and will run until Saturday. The fair is being held under the joint auspices of Dominion L. O. L. No. 141, and Johnston L. O. B. A. No. 13. It had a large patronage last night. Many attractive booths did a lively trade and the wheels were the centre of interest. More game will be in operation to night and there will be enhanced attractions. The general committee in charge is as follows: Chairman, R. B. Stackhouse; secretary, C. L. Hamilton; treasurer, J. M. Howe; supplies manager, Arthur Harris; assistant secretary, Mrs. C. Stephens; soft drinks, Mr. Hamilton; amusement booth, W. Whitbone, assisted by John Main; home cooking, Mrs. J. M. Howe; fancy work, Mrs. Hayward; country store and ice cream, Mrs. James Moore; wheels, F. W. Smith, James Moore and Stanley Dale. A drawing for a touring car was a feature of special interest at the fair and proved very popular.

FORTY MINE DEAD BURIED YESTERDAY

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
Spangley, Pa., Nov. 9.—Menathe commonly called marsh grass—was responsible for the explosion in the Rellie mine Monday which claimed a toll of more than three score of lives. This conclusion was reached tonight by Edward Hutson, chief of the state bureau of mines, who completed the first phase of an investigation to fix responsibility for the disaster.

"Menathe is generated by vegetable matter in the coal," he said. "The actual explosion was comparatively slight. Most of the lives were claimed by the after damp."

Forty of the victims were buried today.

PUT NEW HEAD ON BUDDHA.

Faith almost approaching superstition still characterizes the simple-minded Japanese country folk's attitude toward the image of Buddha. A despatch from Oyedamachi, Nagasaki, reports that an extraordinary manifestation of such faith was made in Shiotamura.

Because of the continuous drought the villagers assembled and held a prayer meeting before the local stone image of Buddha in the hope of calling down rain. The meeting continued for a week, at the end of which, to the disappointment of the villagers, no rain came. The men were so seriously excited at the "incompetency" of the Buddha that they beheaded the image. A few days later the rain came down in torrents.

The intimidated men then pulled the headless Buddha by a rope up to a village physician for diagnosis, after the traditional custom. The physician reinstated the head by means of cement, and, bandaging the neck, declared that he would be all right in a week's time.

CATHEDRAL FAIR.

The orphans of St. Vincent's were entertained at the Cathedral high tea yesterday-afternoon and spent a very happy time. In the evening there was a record crowd and supper was served for the last time. The fair will be continued tonight and tomorrow night and on Saturday there will be a grand auction at the close of the evening. The prize winners last night were as follows: Door prize, ticket 2569, a trunk; rose booth, ticket 817, a basket of fruit; C. W. L. booth, ticket 141, a pair of chickens, won by D. Killom, of Waterloo street; ice cream booth, ticket 770, a pair of towels. The mysterious lady, Miss Grace Holmes, was identified by Miss Arnold, of 43 Ekmouth street. Ticket No. 834 won the voting contest and the candidates stood as follows: McLellan, 943; Fisher, 904.

Health and Comfort

EVERY winter, more and more people enjoy the health and comfort of Stanfield's Unshrinkable Underwear.

Stanfield's is health underwear because it is made in Canada for Canadian winters by Canadians, who know the climatic conditions of every section.

Stanfield's Unshrinkable Underwear retains the natural warmth of the body and prevents the skin from becoming chilled—two essentials for health in winter.

Stanfield's is comfortable because it fits—and it keeps right on fitting right because it is unshrinkable.

Stanfield's never breaks on the seams, because of the special over-cast stitching.

Made in combinations and two-piece suits, full length, knee and elbow length, and sleeveless, for Men and Women. Stanfield's Adjustable Combinations and sleepers for growing children (Patented). Sample Book, showing weights and textures, mailed free. Write for it.

BONAR LAW TO RETIRE IF TASK TOO MUCH FOR STRENGTH

Times' London Correspondent Says This Was Arrangement When New Premier Took Office—Mrs. Asquith's Second Volume of Memoirs—Mr. Marcel of Hair-wave Fame.

(From our own correspondent.) London, Oct. 26.—Since last week the coalition government of Lloyd George has been irretrievably smashed, and another government, with Bonar Law at its head, has succeeded. After his rest of more than a year, Bonar Law is wonderfully restored to health, and his medical advisers have consented to his undertaking the burdens and strain of office, always on the understanding, however, that if he feels it becoming too much for his strength he must again retire. He frankly put this before his supporters and the country, and so great is the trust in his ability that he was unanimously elected leader of the Conservative party.

Lloyd George.
The prime cause of this sudden crash has been the "dynamic personality" of Lloyd George, as one of the dissenting Unionist ministers described it, and that personality is still the predominant factor. How high his prestige stands with the nation it is difficult to say, but he has certainly lost influence in parliament during the last eighteen months or so. Being absent in foreign affairs, he has lost touch with home feeling, and those whose duty it has been to keep him informed of the trend of popular sentiment do not seem to have served him well.

His most able lieutenant, Winston Churchill, is dogged by ill luck, and at this crisis has had to undergo an operation for appendicitis. It is whispered that from his bed he sent an urgent telegram which altered the plans of his leader and turned the Leeds visit into an anti-climax. Lloyd George will be hard put to it to recover the ground lost by this tactical disappointment.

Bonar Law Cabinet.
The official list of the cabinet issued confirms in most particulars with the general anticipations. There can be no denying the strength and experience in this ministry, but certain criticisms are, of course, inevitable. There may be comment on the prominence of the "die-hards" in the list, but the main criticism will be the large proportion of peers. But it must not be forgotten that it is a purely contingent ministry dependent on securing the requisite parliamentary majority at the polls and with great basins in the way of ministerial defeats in the constituencies. Obviously in the event of some other form of coalition becoming necessary, there must be a big reshuffle, and this possibility has been in the prime minister's mind. Peers might be more willing to give way in such an event than members of the other house.

At the same time expectations are high in expert quarters of a more sweeping victory for the Conservative party than some of their opponents admit to be likely. It was very significant to note how enthusiastically the city meeting welcomed Mr. McKenna's whole-hearted support for Bonar Law and cheered his welcome of the exchequer. The Conservatives will probably do well in London and the south. The crucial question, as usual, is how they may fare in the industrial north. Scotland presents the gravest prospect. There the possibility of a reaction to Liberalism on the break up of the coalition which secured the election of so many Scottish Unionists at the last elections is quite on the political cards. Strong efforts are being made to avert all avoidable conflicts which might let in the Labor nominees, but even under the ablest direction this campaign is going to be a crusade in the dark.

Lloyd George's Hopes.
Lloyd George is understood to have had ambitious social or politico-social schemes up his sleeve at Leeds, but at the last moment he fired blank ammunition if one may mix metaphors nicely. Perhaps the veteran election experience tells him that at the present juncture a big scheme of social legislation, even including unemployment insurance, might have been the worst card to play. Bonar Law's instinct is sound in promising a weary and almost bankrupt nation tranquility and a retirement. A prominent party official tells me incidentally a queer story about the collapse of the coalition. He attributes it entirely to the fact that all the parties concerned found their war chests were being starved under a coalition because apparently the usual supporters failed to see any necessity to open their pockets. In the circumstances he insists that this and this alone was the bedrock

Silk Under Things

The makers of Kayser "Italian" Silk Underwear (Made in Canada), the high quality and exclusive features of which are recognized as standard, strongly advise the use of Lux. They say:

"Lux renews the beauty and lustre of these excellent garments. Silk Underwear should be washed at home, preferably with Lux."

A quick gentle washing in the rich Lux suds will make your underwear as clean and fresh as when new. The thin white satin-like flakes of Lux are made by our own exclusive process, and dissolve instantly into a rich bubbling lather as harmless as pure water itself.

Lux stands supreme for washing silks and other fine fabrics. It is sold only in sealed packets—dust-proof!

curly—what you call the flogger's curl and wear most wrongly hanging over the shoulder (hideous!)—is the most beautiful curl in the world. Women ought to choose their hats to accommodate their coiffure, and their coiffure should be devised especially to suit their style of face. But no woman can choose a hat. It requires a man to do that."

Mr. Marcel is a slim old gentleman, always perfectly dressed in black, with flowing white hair and a beautifully trimmed beard. He made a fortune in Paris with his "Marcel wave," which took the fashionable world by storm. Quite suddenly he announced that he was going to retire and spend the rest of his life in travel. But he had not got a 100 miles from Paris before he was attracted by a fine chateau. He purchased it, and has lived there in the manner of a French country squire ever since.

What London Is Worth.

The fire insurance companies are best able to estimate the value of a city. It is therefore interesting to find the president of the Chartered Institute assessing the value of London at £200,000,000. At least that is an estimate of the total value of fire insurance in the metropolitan area, and it is generally believed that the value of London is more than 90 per cent of all property is now insured against this risk, although possibly it may not be all insured to its present full value. It would be interesting to discover what proportion of London is actually covered by fire insurance companies. In any case it is safe to say that there is not a single London street but has at least one building representing British insurance funds.

There is time enough before the Varsity raggy match on December 12, but already one can see up form pretty well. Last year it was a tragic episode. That imperturbable Berserk warrior, Wakefield, of England, the Air Force, and Harlequins, led a wonder-world's champion. Apparently he regards Beckett as easy game. Whether his manager, who, it will be remembered, described him as a human monkey trained to fight—will be able to pull him up in his gay career, and get him down to hard training in time for his battle with Beckett in December is highly conjecture. The fishy French public, although for political reasons strongly pro-black, and without the pleasure quarter centing on the famous Rue d'Anjou, dressed to kill, flashing large diamond rings, talking loudly and aggressively of what he proposes to do to Dempsy. At its meeting on Wednesday afternoon the Women's League of St. David's church heard very satisfactory reports of the recent rummage sale and made plans for the annual tea and sale which will be held early in December. Plans for the tea and sale were enthusiastically entered into. Mrs. M. H. Dunlop, the president, was in the chair and there was a large attendance of members.

Curzon's plan involves no inconvenience unless to the Foreign Office messengers, who have to run backwards and forwards with his official despatches and papers. These worthies may be constantly seen now carrying the famous Cambridge blue bags in which material correspondence is always placed, trotting up and down the Duke of York's steps leading from the park to the Foreign Office, but transacting most of his work at home in Carlton House Terrace. This famous terrace of high white mansions in the regency style is the ministerial suburb. Gladstone's name is perpetuated on one of the houses, Earl Balfour occupies another, and the senatorial aura of the Athenaeum Club which overlooks the terrace seems to permeate even its huge basement kitchens. reason for those sensational events which the country has recently witnessed. Milk O! Since his recent indisposition and doubtless under doctor's orders, Lord Curzon's official routine has changed. He no longer puts in long hours at the Foreign Office, but transacts most of his work at home in Carlton House Terrace. This famous terrace of high white mansions in the regency style is the ministerial suburb. Gladstone's name is perpetuated on one of the houses, Earl Balfour occupies another, and the senatorial aura of the Athenaeum Club which overlooks the terrace seems to permeate even its huge basement kitchens. Who Is The Mysterious "Mr. X." The second volume of Mrs. Asquith's diary promises to be even more piquant than the first, perhaps because it deals with current controversies at a much closer range. Margot makes two assertions which may, because they impinge vitally on prominent figures and popular topics, loom large in the general election campaign. She resolutely defends her husband on the question of the shell shortage which brought about his downfall, and was the turning point in Lloyd George's career. According to Mrs. Asquith her husband played, not a futile or ignoble, but a clever hand. His official despatches and papers, from both Kitchener and French assuring him that there was no shortage of ammunition. Sooner than weaken the prestige of the higher command during critical days, Mr. Asquith refrained from publishing their concerning documents, and accepted his own fate with quiet dignity.

Margot's own statement is still more interesting. She refers repeatedly to mysterious "Mr. X." a prominent member of Mr. Asquith's 1914 cabinet, who at first opposed our joining in the war at all. The only clue Margot gives to the identity of Mr. X. who was intriguing "with that scoundrel" is that it was not Mr. McKenna, who was "splendid," but a minister who, since 1907, had been a leader of the opposition, and was trying to find how much backing he had in the country. Never a Passender, Fokker, the Dutch aircraft inventor, whose glider made the first long flight on the South coast, in honour of the intrepid of all experimental air-men. He invariably tests every machine he invents, and on several occasions has gone into the air when friends have declared it unsafe. Only a short time ago when he was trying to test a new type of engine, he had invented a petrol tank which could not be set on fire. He calmly took an aeroplane into the air at dawn and shot the tank away while his kineasa operators took a film of the test from the ground. Like most air-men, however, he has his prejudices, and it is practically impossible to persuade him to fly as a passenger with another man a pilot, so much so that he invariably comes to England by sea and train rather than come by one of the machines of his own invention which are flying daily on the London service. He came by sea for the present gliding tests.

Eve and M. Marcel. M. Marcel, who has come over to London for a hair-dressing exhibition which is being staged in honour of his 70th birthday, has decided views on what constitutes beauty in women, and how effective beauty may be attained. There are some of his notes. "Hats worn by the fashionable woman of today are ridiculous. They kill any attempt at an attractive coiffure. A pretty face topped by a bad coiffure is completely spoiled." "The hair is a frame for the face. Most women seem to think it is merely garnishing." "The Greek coiffure adapted from the beautiful 1830 mode is the most charming way of wearing the hair. Next comes the Stuart style." "The short little Greek

To You Who Don't Eat Good Breakfasts

Because you have no time to prepare it.
Because you feel no inclination for it.
Because you think you can't digest it.

- 1.—Do you breakfast at a restaurant or do you just have coffee at home because you have no time to wait for a morning meal?
Quaker Oats—the most wholesome, nourishing and economical breakfast—can be prepared over-night, and heated in a moment in the morning. It gives all the food elements your system needs, and costs less than one cent per dish.
- 2.—Have you no appetite for breakfast? Probably you have not tried the right kind.
Quaker Oats properly cooked is enjoyed by thousands who will touch no other breakfast. It has just the delicate flavour that appeals to a sensitive palate and it gives an abundance of nourishment to sustain you through the morning.
- 3.—Does breakfast disagree with you?
Those unable to digest other foods find in Quaker Oats an ideal breakfast. It is a simple, basic food, gently stimulating the stomach to perform its function. Properly cooked it is easily digested and assimilated.

Oats reach nearer perfection as a balanced food than anything else that is grown. Everybody should eat oats at least once a day. Quaker Oats are the finest oats you can buy. In milling, all the small, imperfect grains are discarded, and only the rich, plump, queen grains, full of flavour and nourishment, are retained.

Order a package of Quaker Oats with your groceries to-day.

Cable to Near East is Cut in Turkish Thrace—British Hope Peace Conference Will be Held Nov. 20.

London, Nov. 9.—London late tonight was still without news from Constantinople, but the cable company whose lines have been cut in Turkish Thrace said it hopes that communication might be restored soon.

Official circles point out that the situation is an almost exact counterpart of that which arose from the Balkan crisis, with the important difference, as emphasized by Bonar Law tonight, that there is now no question of isolated action by the powers, who are all working in agreement.

IT TOOK ONLY 5 DAYS TO CHANGE A 10-YEAR POLICY

The Kohler Company, of Hutchinson, Minn., Found That Cash Sales Paid Them a Whole Lot Better Than Credit, So They Shifted Basis of Payment in Five Days—No Complaints.

An advertising campaign, conducted in five days, that completely sold a community of upwards of 30,000 prospective customers on the advantages of a change from a credit to a cash policy in merchandising, recently was conducted effectively by the A. Kohler Company of Hutchinson, Minn.

The campaign was unique in many ways, especially in the quality of the copy which carried the message and put it over so completely. The Kohler Company had been operating its dry goods, shoes and clothing departments on a credit basis for ten years while selling groceries for cash only. The cash basis was so much more satisfactory that a decision was reached to put the entire store on the cash policy.

Then came the question of how to do it effectively. It was felt that a long advertising campaign would be too expensive, so it was decided to conduct a short drive of publicity, but to do it in an outstanding way, believing that by this method the idea could be put over at minimum cost.

Aside from the concentration of copy in the last five days, the only advertising in connection with the change consisted of a few readers inserted in local newspapers. Here are some samples:

"Cash is the magic word in merchandising today that unlocks the great door of saving. Read about it in the Community Salesman, third page.

The 'Community Salesman' is a bulletin gotten out co-operatively once a month to advertise the community bargain day sale held by Hutchinson merchants.

Another reader used by the Kohler store follows:—

"On the third page of the Community Salesman for April you will find the most important announcement Kohler's ever made. After ten years

GILLETT'S LYE

Comparatively few people realize to what extent Gillett's Lye can be used to advantage in every home. For instance, with one can of Gillett's Lye and five and a half pounds of lard or grease, ten pounds of good hard soap can be made. Use one tablespoon Gillett's Lye in gallon of water for cleaning and disinfecting refrigerators, sinks, garbage cans, tiled floors, baths and toilets.

Useful for over 500 purposes.

the profits shaved to the end that they may buy more value for the money that they spend.

"On every hand you hear of saving. Saving is the air, Kohler's is going to save with the people. Kohler's—selling for cash, buying for cash, standardizing merchandise and operation, cutting out waste and expense (which is often excess profit)—Kohler's are going to save you more money than Kohler's ever did before.

"If the old methods will not stand in competition with the new, then the old methods must go—and the first rule of saving in merchandise is to sell for cash. No store can sell on long-time credit and pay you dividends on the merchandise that you buy from it. When you want to save money then you must do your part. Cash is the magic word in merchandising today that unlocks the great door of saving.

"We cannot give you credit. It is not you—it is the system. We like you. If you ask for credit we shall be sorry to refuse you. But we do not believe our customers will ask for credit. The time when people did not understand why a merchant could save by asking for cash is past.

Three follow-ups were used in helping sell the community on the change. One of these went to all the credit customers the store had. The message was printed on green slips and included with the statements sent out April 1. This slip read:—

"To give our customers better value for their money and better service than in the past we are going to sell only for cash after April 5. You will read about the plan in the April Community Salesman. It means money in your pocket to buy for cash from a cash store. We trust that you will not take offense at the change of policy, since it will enable us to become more useful to everybody alike."

There was another problem the store had to solve and a more difficult one it dealt with: the credit customers of the highest class, those whose accounts always were settled on the day they became due and which involved virtually no risk.

Two days before the change to cash went into effect the store sent the following letter to these customers:

"We really feel very sorry to discontinue an account which has been taken care of so nicely as yours. At the same time, however, you will understand that to be fair to everybody alike, we cannot make any exception in the way of giving credit in the future. If it were not for that fact we would be very pleased to carry your account just as we have been carrying it in the past with your very prompt payments.

"Still we can hardly write you without saying something about the advantage of buying from Kohler's in the future, for cash. There is nothing which contributes more to the expense of merchandise than long-extended credit, and nothing which helps lower prices so much as cash for the goods. You may expect to buy more cheaply from this store, because it is a cash store and we shall not disappoint you."

Reflecting the success of the advertising campaign and of the change from credit to cash, is an advertisement used by the Kohler store a month after the change took place. It was headed "People Like to Pay Cash," and read:

"That is the outstanding fact that the first month of all cash business has shown.

"We know most of our customers had paid cash in the past—but we had no idea so many people would welcome doing business that way.

"People like to pay cash—thousands of people actually want to pay cash—want to get the habit.

"It is easy when you come to Kohler's. And when you leave the store you have that clean feeling of No Debts. In return, Kohler promises you more merchandise for less money and better merchandise for the same money. It is simple—as simple as two and two making four."

Your Corsets and Theirs—

For many years Warner's Rust Proof have been the largest selling corsets in the United States. For many years also they have been worn by discriminating women in all corners of the civilized world. At the outbreak of the War they were sold in 56 different countries or Dominions, and were made only in the United States.

To-day they are also made in Canada, cut from the same carefully designed patterns, and made to the same standards and specifications as the United States models. Corsets which are imported by other nations are offered to women of the Dominion without the costs of duty, ocean freight, etc.

You can, for instance, buy in Canada Warner Models for which your friends in England gladly pay almost double the price—and Warner Corsets are widely sold in England. You can buy comfortable corsets that price the last word in Style at prices which mean true economy, and business as a cash store when we have extended limited credit, we have accumulated the lowest total of book accounts by any store in Hutchinson.

"Yet we can not sell for cash store prices so long as we have credit accounts. We have found this out. Credit stores will never sell for prices so low as cash stores. Credit stores cannot do it.

"Will You Pay Cash?"

"So, in bringing this issue to you, we definitely promise you lower prices. The question is, 'Will you pay cash?' We do not mean to force you to decide. The majority of people will if they can see it pays them. Witness the Kohler grocery, which, after going to an all cash basis five years ago, jumped to the highest sales totals it had ever attained.

"But Kohler's are going to do more than go on a basis of cash. The day of the future demands simplification, for people definitely want the useless frills cut out, the expenses lowered and

SOUSA, SIXTY-EIGHT

Gallant Seventh Regiment Camp Fire Girls and Actors Equity Aid in Tribute

(New York Times.)

Five thousand persons filled every seat in the Hippodrome and spilled over on the stage last night to help John Philip Sousa celebrate his sixty-eighth birthday anniversary and to drown out even some of his most thrilling crescendos with deafening applause that he might be left in no doubt that he still was America's best-loved bandmaster. It was Sousa's 107th birthday, the anniversary of his organization, it was his first appearance in New York for some time, it was an number of things offering opportunities for particular enjoyment and special outpourings of music, matched by specially merry acclaim.

For instance, there were the Camp Fire Girls, properly uniformed and occupying a stage box to hear played as part of "Leaves From My Notebook," a new composition by Sousa, an offering descriptive of themselves in a woodland setting; there was the inevitable military note supplied by admirals, and colonels and lesser officers of the army, the navy and the marine corps; there was the band of the 107th, the Seventh of earlier days, massed with Sousa's own and blaring away at the 101st Sousa march, "The Gallant Seventh." Then there was a speech honoring the bandmaster as a sympathetic and helpful artist on behalf of the Actors' Equity Association, the speaker thereupon doubling in brass as the modest Mr.

Sousa's own mouthpiece in presenting the original manuscript of the march to Colonel Wade Hampton Hayes, that he might deposit it in the archives of the regiment. And there were the armfuls of flowers that brought all sorts of birthday wishes to a smiling and happy maker of music for the masses.

Encores came faster than the usual Sousa quick time in obliging, old favorites drawing the echoes of old favorites. And, to round it all out, there were four soloists—John Dolan, with a most admirable cornet; Miss Marjorie Moody, with a sweet voice equal to the huge amphitheatre; George Carey at a melodious xylophone and Miss Caroline Thomas, whose violin playing was in high favor.

Crushing Retort.

"Hello, dearie," said the fresh young man with a "toothbrush" mustache and dressed to the minute, "a glass of sweet milk and a piece of lemon pie?"

"Anything else?" asked the fair but haughty waitress.

"A little speed and a smile, if you don't mind."

"You've got all the speed you need, and as for a smile, look at yourself in one of them mirrors along the wall. If that don't give you a laugh, you ain't got no sense of humor."
