W. H. THORNE'S Nursery Rhymes, No. 16. THE TURTLE. A beast with curious action that I'd noticed not before;
And I watched it gaily flitting, as hither it came skipping.
Like a stone upon the waters, near proud "Tis young" Bolivar" or "Shellbark' sporting on the pebbly shore;
This it is, and nething more."
And then there came a tapping, like unto a wild beast's snapping.

Or like a dragon dancing on a stalwart caken floor.—
Cutting remaint and awains as a second and in the continuous second and continuous and actions.

floor.—
Cutting quaint and curious capers worthy notice in the papers:
And I halted at the "druggist's on King street, twenty-four.—
And pushing back the crowd, glanced meekly through the door,
And saw— Ta turtle—nothing more.

only broken.

By the movements of the turtle as, in vain, it tried to Isoar;

And then there came a groaning—a tender plaintive moaning,

And on its back the turtle lay, wildly struggling And on its back the turned my, that just turned on the floor;
The man with Quaker Bitters had just turned him slightly o'er—
Only this and nothing more.

In New York we observe another advance in grain freights, with an active demand for ton nage, and sail rates are now quoted at a shilling por bushel. At the South, the prospect for high freights is also very encouraging, and three farthings is now offered from New Orleans. With these facts in view, we cannot but look for very high rates for Deals; at least the present high quotations will doubtless be sustained. Since our last, the charter of the "George H.
