Mexico.—We learn from New York papers, that the Mexican dictator Santa Anna has recently issued a decree re-establishing the Jesuits in Mexico, which act it is said, is preparatory to his establishment as Emperor. They can do as they please, and are only responsible to the provincial of their own order, or to their general at Rome. This act of Santa Anna's, will be unpopular with their brethren the Catholic Clergy, and the Mexicans generally.

THE SEASON is rapidly assuming a wintry feeling and aspect. On the 6th instant, snow fell, which covered the ground; the sun however melted it the next day. On the night of the 8th, the frost was so severe, that water was frozen in several houses in Town, the weather since that time, with the exception of the 9th, when there was a rain storm, has been cold. We notice, that snow fell up the River St. John sufficiently deep to make sleighing. The thermometer at Fredericton fell to 8° above zero, and the river was full of floating ice, making it difficult for the steamers to reach that city.

The London Economist extends the wisdom of the Directors of the Bank of England, in raising the rate of discount to five per cent, and says "if the bank directors had acted with the same vigour in the end of 1846 and beginning of 1847, we should never have witnessed the extreme depressions and panics which prevailed in the April and September of the latter of those two years." The Economist holds that there is no cause for alarm and nothing warrant the existing depression in securities.

IMPORTANT INVENTION.—A most important invention—the manufacture of leather without bark,—has been made by Mr. Preller. The process has now been conducted so long, as leaves no doubt of its success, and universal adoption. We copy the following extract from a notice in the London Gardner's Chronicle, which is published by the N Brunswick. The agent for this valuable improvement in the tanning of leather, is at present in St. John,—Mr. E. Benuison, of that City, has secured the agency for this Province, and is working on the new principle. The Gardner's Chronicle says:

"Mr. Preller used, on the one hand, vegetable substances, consisting largely of starch, and containing little gluten, such as barley flour, rice flour, or even starch itself; on the other, butter, milk, grease, and other fatty animal matters; to which he added salt or saltpetre, in certain proportions. With this mixture, skins prepared in the usual manner are smeared, after which they are ignited in a revolving cylinder for a certain length of time, when they quickly become ready for the currier. This method of treatment is so remarkable for its originality, and attended with such excellent advantages in the course of manufacture, and in the character of the produced article with reference to the requirements of practice, as to promise nothing short of a complete revolution in the arts of the tanner, and the establishment to a certain extent, of new criteria by which the qualities and value of the leather for practical purposes are henceforth to be estimated. A large factory in Lant street, South-west, has been fitted up by Mr. Preller, and he is there carrying on his manufacture to a very considerable extent, and with a degree of success which could hardly have been supposed would attend his efforts in the comparatively short time which has elapsed since he began. His leathers have already acquired a high reputation in the market and are rapidly getting into favour for a variety of manufacturing purposes, especially for driving bands, for which their superior strength, flexibility, uniformity of texture, and durability, render them eminently serviceable."

The difference in quality of the skins thus treated and such as have been tanned with oak bark, catechu, or similar substances, is represented to be strikingly in favour of the patent process. The peculiar merits of Preller's method are said to be these. It reduces the weight of leather, and at the same time increases its strength; and this takes place to such a degree that it has been found that oak tanned leather of an inch in thickness is incapable of resisting a strain which Preller's leather of an inch in thickness will resist in constant working. A strip of it a yard long, about half an inch in width, and 1-8th of an inch thick, gave way with a breaking weight of 6cwt. 20lbs; while oak hide well tanned on the oak bark system, and of the same dimensions could only resist a strain of 5cwt. As another illustration of the superior strength of Mr. Preller's leather for driving bands, we may mention a circumstance which was told us at the factory, that on one occasion, to lengthen a driving band made of his own leather he added to it a piece of oak tanned, and that the latter gave way in the performance of its work. Sheep skins, kid skins, and some other species of leather, which in general may be tanned in sunder in the hands with the exercise of only a small degree of force, acquire in this process a strength which is quite surprising, of which we had experienced ourselves when a piece of split sheep skin, of large size, was put into our hands, and we were requested to break it."

THE THRIFFLESS FARMER.—The thriffler farmer provides no shelter for his cattle during the inclemency of the winter, but permits them to stand shivering by the side of a fence, or lie in the snow as best suits them. He throws their fodder on the ground, or in the mud, and unfrequently in the highway; by which a large portion of it and all the manure is wasted. He grazes his meadows in fall and spring by which they are gradually exhausted and finally ruined. His fences are old and poor,—just such as to let the neighbour's cattle break into his field, and teach his own to be unruly and spoil his crops. He neglects to keep his manure from around the sils of his barn—if he has one, by which they prematurely rot and his barn is destroyed. He tills, or skims over the surface of his land, until it is exhausted; but never thinks it worth while to manure or clover it. For the first he has no time, for the last he "is not able."

He has a place for nothing, and nothing in its place. He consequently wants a hoe or a rake, or a hammer, or an auger, but knows not where to find them, and thus loses much time. He loaves away stormy weather, when he should be repairing his utensils, or improving his mind by reading useful books or newspapers. He spends much time in town at the corner of the street, or in the "snarkholes," complaining of "thrunkines," and goes home in the evening "pretty well wore."

He has no shed for his fire wood consequently his wife is out of humour, and his meats out of season. He plants a few fruit-trees and his cattle forthwith destroy them. He "has no luck in raising fruit."

One half of the little he raises is destroyed by his own or his neighbor's cattle. Somebody's hogs break in, and destroy his garden, because he had not stopp'd a hole in the fence, that he had been intending to stop for a week.

He is often in a great hurry, but will stop and talk as long as he can find any one to talk with. He has, of course, little money; and when he has to raise some to pay his taxes, &c. he raises it a great sacrifice, in some way or other by paying an enormous share, or by selling his scanty crop when prices are low.

He is a year behind instead of being a year a head of his business—and always will be.

When he pays a debt, it is at the end of an execution; consequently his credit is at a low ebb.

He buys entirely on credit and merchants and all others with whom he deals, charge him twice or thrice the profit they charge prompt paymasters, and are unwilling to sell him goods at cost. He has to beg and promise, promise and beg, to get them on any terms. The merchants dread to see his wife come into their stores, and the poor woman feels depressed and degraded.

The smoke begins to come out of his chimneys late of a winter morning, while his cattle are suffering for their morning's feed.

Manure lies in heaps in his stable; his horses are rough and uncured, and his harness rot under his feet. VALUE OF A PLOUGH.—Among the Calfrean agriculturists is considered to be a kind of labour unworthy of a warrior, and is therefore left entirely to the women.—When they first saw a plough at work, they gazed at it for a time in astonishment, and delighted silence; at last one of them gave utterance to his feelings in this exclamation—"See how the thing tears up the ground with its mouth! It is of more value than five wives."

How the Queen wears her Bonnet.—The Dublin Evening Mail, has the following bit on bonnets: "We may mention for the information of our fair readers, that the Queen wore a pink bonnet, (on her visit to the Exhibition) which her Majesty wore on her head, be it remarked, and whose shape we wish we could induce the fashionable milliners of the present day to adopt, instead of those absurd things which now-a-days hang half way down the backs of young ladies, giving a brazen, bare-faced expression to the fairest and most delicate features, and an appearance of being high shouldered to the most graceful figures."

Dry Wit.—Dr. Jasper Mein, who lived in the reign of James I. of England, was celebrated as a scholar and a wit. He displayed through life a strong propensity for innocent raillery and practical jokes. Just before he expired, he told his servant, who was sadly addicted to intemperance, that he had bequeathed him something that would make him drink. The servant, as soon as his master was dead, immediately opened the legacy, expecting, of course, to find a heap of treasure; but alas! his disappointment was great in finding nothing but a red herring.

THE THRIFFLESS FARMER.—The thriffler farmer provides no shelter for his cattle during the inclemency of the winter, but permits them to stand shivering by the side of a fence, or lie in the snow as best suits them. Upon the whole there is a large gain to the public, for besides saving in fuel, it is capable of increasing the bread of the people to the value of £2 460 428 a year, which at 6d. per loaf would give them 81,757,120 more quarter loaves a year.

The "conical" mill is intended to obviate the defects of the flat mill, and a very few remarks will suffice to show that its inventor has not only detected their causes, but has brought into operation a most philosophic, and therefore successful, combination of grinding and separating agencies, by which these defects have disappeared to an extent which leaves little to be desired. The beneficial changes effected may be succinctly enumerated. First the reduction of the weight of the running stone from 14 cwt. to 11 cwt., by placing it beneath instead of upon the fixed one; second, the reduction of the size of the stones in the proportion of 3.34 to 1; and thirdly, the giving to the stones a new form—that of the frustum of a cone. The advantage of lessening the diameter and weight of a mass, of which the one is 4 cwt., and the other 14 cwt., will be apparent, when it is considered that its effective velocity is 120 revolutions per minute, and that this velocity must be sustained against the friction of the grinding surfaces. The altered position of the running stone admits of a much more delicate adjustment of the opposing surfaces, and gives to the mill a more easy and effective control over the most important portion of its operation. The conical form facilitates the discharge of the flour, and obviates the clogging and over-heating of the old practice. In addition to these advantages, a judicious modification of the ordinary mode of dressing, or rather by a combination of the mill with the dressing machine, a perfect separation of the flour from the bran is effected at the moment the grist escapes from the stones. The bran still remains in the mill and falls by its own gravity to a second pair of stones, in all respects resembling those already described.

Both pairs of stones are mounted on the same spindle, and of course impelled by the same gearing. The operation of the lower pair need not be described; they complete the process, and leave nothing unconverted into flour which could add either to the weight or the quality of the loaf. In considering this arrangement, we cannot fail to be struck with the analogy subsisting between it and that which we observe in the construction of the jaws of animals—a circumstance which assures us of its philosophical superiority.

There were three trials as regarded the old system and the new. The first experiment on the old mill gave a discharge of 16 lbs. of flour in five minutes, which was equal to 192 lbs. per hour; while upon the patent mill there was a discharge of 38½ lbs. in five minutes, 452 lbs. per hour. The difference, therefore, on that experiment was against the old system 270 lbs per hour. The second experiment tried was even more favorable as regarded the new system. Two conical mills worked against two on the flat principle for one hour, ascertained exactly, and with the following results: Conical mill (No. 1) produced 81 bushels. Flat mill (No. 1) " 7½ " " (No. 2) " 3 " " (No. 2) " 3 "

REPENTANCE.

The Rev. C. Simeon, on being asked, in a company of friends, members of the University, "What do you consider the principal mark of regeneration?"—replied as follows:—"The very first and indispensable sign is self-loathing and abhorrence. Nothing short of this can be admitted as an evidence of a real change. Some persons inquire, 'Do you hate what you once loved, and love what you once hated?' But even this mark cannot be so surely relied on as the other. I have constantly pressed this subject upon my congregation, and it has been the characteristic of ministry. I want to see more of this humble contrite, broken spirit among us. It is the very spirit that belongs to self-condemned sinners. Permit me to lay this matter near your hearts. Take home with you this passage, 'Then shall ye remember your own evil ways, and your doings that were not good, and shall loathe yourselves in your own sight for your iniquities and abominations;' (Ezek. xxxvi. 31.) and to night, on your beds, or in the m-rning, meditate thus within your selves: Loathe? Why, if I loathe and abhor anything, I cannot look upon it without disgust. The very sight of it gives me great pain and uneasiness. I turn away from it as from something abominable and hateful. Have I ever thus loathed and abhorred myself, at the remembrance of my iniquities and abominations? This sitting in the dust is most pleasing to God. When we carry our thoughts to heaven, and consider what is going on in that blessed region, we behold angels and archangels casting their crowns at the feet of Him that sitteth upon the throne, in whose province the cherubims veil their faces with their wings. I have been in the company of religious professors, and have heard many words about religion; but give me to be with a broken hearted Christian, and I prefer his society to that of all the rest. In these days there is too much of talking about religion, and too little of religion itself. On this subject, I remember having read a passage in the life of a pious man, who observed on his death bed, 'I have met with many who can talk about religion—with few whose experience keeps pace with their talking.' Permit me again to lay this important subject before your consideration; and that you may be able the better to pursue it, and properly to enter into it, allow me to state to you what have sometimes been my feelings while seated in this chair by myself, but in with God from the world around me. I have thought thus within myself in my retirement:—I now look around me and behold this apartment. I see all its comfort about me. I find myself with my God, instead of being shut up in an apartment in hell, although a hell-deserving sinner. Had I suffered my desires, I should have been in those dark abodes of despair and anguish—There I should have thought of eternity without hope. From all this I am delivered by the grace of God, though I might have been cut off in my sin fifty four years ago.—While engaged in these thoughts they sometimes overpower me. Were I now addressing to you my dying words, I should say nothing else but what I have just said. Try to live in this spirit of self-abhorrence, and let it habitually mark your life and conduct."

A LOAFER'S SOLILOQUY.—"I wish I knew where to get a cent, I do. Bless if I don't emigrate to Kamshacka to dig gold. Money scarce there but wit—can't live by neither—at least I can't. Sold the last old shirt, pawned my boots for three cents, and went home rich as a lord. Told my landlady I had a hundred thousand dollars, and wanted the best room in the house. He-ruled me by saying the attic was too good for me. I am injured individual. Society persecutes me. I don't do exactly no harm as I know on. I don't rob widder's houses, I don't know widder's lips. I don't put the bottle to my neighbor's lips. I ain't got no bottles; and the fact is, I don't own any bottles. Couldn't tell 'em if I did. I am an ignorant man. Nobody can look me in the face and say I ever hurt 'em's nobody, and yet I haven't a raf to lay my head into. My old landlady hated me—why? I couldn't pay, and I left. Cause why? I ain't better to dwell in a corner of the house-top than with a brawling woman in a wide house? But I ain't got a house-top; and if I had, a corner wouldn't be safe, would it? I'm a despr't man. I'd go to work if it wasn't for my excessive benevolence. I'm afraid of taking the bread out of somebody's mouth. Besides, wisdom's the principle thing; don't the good Book say so? What's money to wisdom? Ain't I a studying character? If a man kicks me because I can't pay for my liquor, ain't I getting understanding? ain't it a lesson to human nature? I'm told the world owes me a living. When is it going to pay, I wonder? I'm tired of waiting."

DISPOSING OF A MAN AND WIFE.—Tui Matuwata, a King of the Cannibal Islands, had in his very miscellaneous collection of wives, one of some pretensions to beauty, and this was the way of his wooing her. Having visited the island in company with her husband, she attracted the attention of his majesty, who made a dinner of the gentleman and a queen of the lady, on one and the same day. In other words, he took the husband to his stomach, and the wife to his bosom—thus incorporating an entire family, and furnishing a forcible illustration of genuine savage hospitality.—Account of Exploring Expedition.

CHURCH MUSIC.—A correspondent complains that the organs in our churches overpower the voices of the singers. It always seems to us that singing as a part of public worship is very strangely conducted in Christian churches. The words are always drowned in the tune. If the singing is intended merely as a professional exhibition, it is not generally, we suppose, of a character to justify the attention given to it. If it is intended for a higher purpose, as a part of the public worship, we cannot see the propriety of singing in such a manner that the sentiment of the hymn is entirely lost. As the singing in our churches conducted, the words might as well be in a foreign tongue.—Providence Journal

Cuba.—A telegraphic despatch from Washington states that Mr. Crampton, the British Minister, had a long interview with President Pierce on Tuesday, in which he positively denied that there was any truth in the ridiculous rumour that the British Government was engaged in any scheme to substitute the apprenticeship system for slavery in Cuba.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY OF CANADA.

AN ENIGMA FOR. We are so carefully sick of the jobbing...

This is the lamentable case with railways in the old country, in the new we expected something better.

We have in our two last numbers faintly alluded to certain extraordinary things in the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada.

To begin at the beginning of this matter, we shall mention by way of episode that a certain individual whom we will call 'A,' came from the Canadas to London, to try to get the English Government to endorse or guarantee certain debentures of Canada.

While in England it seems that A had the good fortune to meet with a gentleman, whose name is not unknown to the readers of this Journal, whom we shall call 'B,' not as the initial for blockhead, far from it, for no man who ever heard his name would call him blockhead.

Between these gentlemen, B, C, D, and E, on the one part, and A on the other, it was arranged that the parties in the first part should have the construction and supplying with plant of a line between 1,100 and 1,200 miles in length, beginning some distance east of Quebec, and running to Sarnia, on Lake Huron.

Prior to this excellent arrangement on the part of A with B, there were three Companies formed to execute certain portions of the line, as for instance one from Quebec to Richmond, to join the Montreal and Portland; another from Montreal to Kingston; and a third Company to go from thence to Toronto.

However, soon after the return of our friend A from England, that is, in June, 1852, the President and Vice President of the Montreal and Kingston section informed the Government that they had deposited their 10 per cent, that is, we believe, some £60,000, and only waited for the Government's assent to proceed.

In this section it will be observed comes the bridge over the St. Lawrence, about which the present contractors make so much noise.

Can this mean Mr. Hicks? Will this apply to Mr. Jackson? —Ed. Stand.

reached, although numerous statements were circulated. There was much running to and fro of Couriers with despatches, but nothing is suffered to transpire.

The Russians are preparing a strong reserve at Galatz. They have 50,000 at Bucharest. All Commanders have joined their respective corps.

The latest telegraphic, published in the Montreal, dated Bucharest, Oct. 25th, states that two Russian steamers, with eight gun boats, forced the passage of the Danube on the 23d, and encountered a brisk fire from the Turkish Fort of Isatcha, between Reni and Ismail.

What we now wish to ask the Canadian Government on these most extraordinary transactions is— 1st. What and who induced them to come to these wonderful agreements? Was it any member of their body, and if so, who?

2nd. Had that member any private agreement with B on the behalf of C, D, and E? If so, of what nature was it?

3rd. When was that agreement concocted? before the 10 per cent. was deposited to construct the Montreal and Kingston Railway at £5,000 a mile, or after?

4th. If before what influence had the said agreement in getting the £5,000 contract rejected?

5th. Why was the Toronto and Sarnia contract for 172 miles at £5,000 a mile cancelled, and recontracted for with the same parties at £3,000 a mile?

6th. Who is A? Is he a member of the Government? Has he any beneficial interest in those contracts, or has his part been disinterested and purely patriotic to get £8,000 a mile for works which might have been profitably executed for £5,000 a mile, thus putting into the pockets of some parties, at the expense of the colony over and above a good profit, between 3 and 4 millions sterling?

7th. More surprising still, has not the Montreal and Portland line, nearly finished and partly supplied with working stock, been bought by B, C, D, and E at £5,000 a mile, and been made part of the contract with Government at £3,000 a mile?

8th. Have not these transactions been severely commented on by several parties, some of whom have been silenced by being put in the Direction, just as George the 3d proposed to silence a troublesome preacher, by making him a bishop? and have not the local press had several sharp reflections on this—scandalous job?

9th. We have only to observe that some of the parties connected with this affair are in England, and if any thing here stated is untrue or overcharged we shall be thankful to them to furnish us with a direct or contradictory answer, in order that they shall have time to do so, as we will not recur to the subject for a fortnight from this time, or any reasonable time longer which they may desire.

Owing to the heavy rain storm, which commenced on Sunday evening last, and continued without intermission, until Monday afternoon the roads have been rendered almost impassable; the large Bridge at Digdequash on the road leading to Magadavio and several others together with some mills, have been swept away by the freshet, which is reported to be higher than ever known at this season of the year.

Dark Harbour.—We understand that application is to be made at the next session of the Legislature, for aid to open Dark Harbour, in the Island of Grand Manan, a sufficient depth, to admit vessels of 500 tons to enter in storms &c.

Fire.—We learn that Mr. John Glass' buildings, at the mouth of the Digdequash were destroyed by fire last night about 12 o'clock. Our informant could not give particulars.

The Circuit Court for this County, terminated its labors on Thursday last. As our readers have expressed a wish that the names of the Juries, with a list of causes entered for trial, should be published, we have obtained them, and they are as follows:

THE LIFE AND TIMES OF THE LATE
Duke of Wellington;
By Lieut. Col. Williams; (a Companion in

Comprising the Campaigns and Battle Fields of Wellington and his Comrades,
the Political Life of the Duke and his Contemporaries, and a detailed account of England's Battles by Sea and Land,
from the commencement of the Great French Revolution to the present time, interspersed with Anecdotes, Personal Incidents, and Adventures, &c.

ADDRESS.
The earthly career of Arthur Duke Wellington has closed; one of the greatest men of the nineteenth century, the foremost military commander of any age, has paid the debt of nature. The time has now arrived for giving to the world a History of the Great Captain—the of the Events of his Life and Time—a life marked by patriotism, prudence and honour, and events the greatest
which have ever agitated the civilized world, and whose influence will be felt upon society till the end of time. Such a work must appeal to the best and proudest feelings in the heart of every Briton—the glory of his country, the honour of its name and position among the nations—day his own existence as a freeman, are recorded and engraven in the annals of the "well fought fields," and the deadly imminent battles, the immortal battles and the glorious sieges in which Wellington and his Companions in-arms gathered infusing laurels, placed their country's honour and renown on the highest pinnacle of fame and glory, and tore the victor's wreath from the brows of heroes decorated with the trophies
of Italy, Egypt, and Germany.
To supply such a desideratum in English literature, the publishers of The Life and Times of the Duke of Wellington have determined to produce a book which shall present to the reader, not only the dry details which a mere biographical sketch-
work would afford, but a comprehensive work, embracing the contemporary history of the period; exhibiting the circumstances which brought about the great events in which the Duke and his contemporaries were engaged, and giving to the reader a connected narrative of the lives and actions of the Warriors and Statesmen of the nineteenth century; and thus from the pen of one who was a companion in arms of the great hero, and participated with him in many a well-fought field.
In order to carry out their views, the Publishers have determined that the work shall be profusely illustrated by Portraits of the Warriors and Statesmen of the last half century who have shed a lustre upon the history of their country; also representations of the most important engagements by sea and land from the period of 1780 till 1852; so that the work, when finished, shall form an illustrated Gallery of the Naval and Military Exploits of England.
It has been well said, "Character is the true strength of nations; true glory their best inheritance. When the time shall come that the British heart no longer thills
at the names of Cressy, Poitiers, Agin-court, Blenheim, Ramilies, Oudenarde, Malplaque; of Talavera, Salamanca, Tou-lous, Waterloo,—the last hour of the British Empire will be struck." The promotion and elevation of national spirit and feeling is therefore the duty and interest
of every true and loyal son of England.
May Heaven inspire the hearts of every one of us with that spirit and feeling.
Conditions of Publication.—The work will be issued on the 1st and 15th of every month, in Parts at 1s. 3d. and Divisions handsomely bound at 9s. 4d. printed on Imperial 8vo. double columns, each part will be embellished by two highly finished steel Engravings, and will contain 32 pages of letter press. A beautiful steel Engraving, pattam, the first victory in which the late Duke of Wellington was engaged in India, to

JUDSON'S CHEMICAL EXTRACT OF

CHERRY AND LUNGWORT, FOR THE CURE OF Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Spitting of Blood, Night Sweats, Asthma, Liver Complaints, and CONSUMPTION.

Can be and has been cured in thousands of cases by this only certain remedy. JUDSON'S CHEMICAL EXTRACT OF CHERRY AND LUNGWORT, and no remedy has ever before been discovered that will certainly

CURE CONSUMPTION. The most strongly marked and developed cases of Pulmonary Consumption, where the lungs have become diseased and ulcerated and the cure so utterly hopeless, as to have been pronounced by Physicians and friends, to be past all possibility of recovery, and at times thought to be dying, has been cured by this wonderful remedy, and are now as well and hearty as ever.

It is a compound of medicaments which are peculiarly adapted to and essentially necessary for the cure of COUGHS AND CONSUMPTION. Its operation is mild, yet efficacious; it loosens the phlegm which creates so much difficulty, relieves the cough and assisting to expel from the system all diseased matter by exhalation, producing a most delightful change in the breathing and chest, and this, after the prescriptions of the very best medical men and the inventions of kind-sorrowing friends and Nurses, have failed to give the smallest relief to the Consumptive sufferer.

THOUSANDS OF CONSUMPTIVE persons have been deceived in buying medicines which were said to be infallible cures, but which have proved only palliatives, but this medicine is not only palliative but a cure for ulcerated lungs. It contains no deleterious Drugs and one trial will prove its astonishing efficacy better than any assertions or certificates in curing consumption and all diseases of the Lungs, such as Spitting of Blood, Coughs, pains in the side and chest, night sweats, &c. &c.

About 1000 certificates of almost miraculous cures, performed by this medicine, from some of the first Doctors, Clergymen and Merchants, have been sent us, but this medicine, but the publication of them asks too much like Quackery, [will show them to any person calling at our office]. This medicine will speak for itself and enough in its own favour wherever it is tried.

Caution.—This medicine is put up in a large bottle and you must find the name of Comstock & Brother, Proprietors, New York, on the splendid Wrapper around the bottle. All orders must be addressed to Comstock & Brother, No. 9, John St. New York.

TO OWNERS OF AND DEALERS IN HORSES.

CARLTON'S FOUNDER OINTMENT. For the cure of Founder, Split Hoof, Hoof bound Horses, and contracted and Feverish Feet, Wounds, Bruises in the flesh Galled Backs, Cracked Heels, Scratches Cuts, Kicks, &c., on horses.

CARLTON'S RING BONE CURE. For the cure of Ring Bone, Blood Spavin, Bone Spavin, Windgalls, and Splint—a certain remedy.

CARLTON'S CONDITION POWDER FOR HORSES AND CATTLE. The changes of weather and season, with the change of use and feed, have a very great effect upon the blood and sinuous fluids of horses. It is at those change, they require an assistance to nature, to throw off any disorder of the fluids of the body that may have been imbibed, and which, if not attended to, will result in the Yellow Water, Heaves, Worms, Botts, &c. All of which will be prevented by giving one of these powders, and will at any time cure it when any symptoms of disease appears it used in time. They purify the blood, remove all inflammation and fever, loosen the skin, cleanse the water, and invigorate the whole body, enabling them to do more work with the same feed. The action of these powders is direct upon all the secretive glands, and therefore have the same effect upon the Horse, the Ox, the Ass, and all Herivorous animals—all diseases arising from or producing a bad state of the blood are speedily cured by them.
