English politics continue blank.

American advices in view of Sherman's operations in Georgia and Florida in Tennessee were regarded with great interest.

London Globe thinks that at no period of the war were greater interests at stake.

Twenty five thousand (25,000) bales of Cotton.

(Signed) W. T. SHERMAN, Maj. Gen. Dec. 27.

We have nothing fresh from the various points of war this morning.

Richmond papers of Saturday claim that a Federal force under Butler has been repulsed in attempting to land on the Roanoke River, near Wilmington.

Gov. Watta, of Alabama, has issued a proclamation, calling out the Militia of that State; he says that two strong Federal columns were within twenty miles of Mobile and rapidly approaching the city.

Nothing official has been allowed to transpire about the great fleet sent to attack Wilmington. The army weather has doubtless delayed its movements.

Gold opened this morning at 214.

DESERTERS.—We copy the following from the "Portland Courier." It is just as well that such fellows who are a disgrace to the British Army, should fall into the hands of Butler's command:—

Four soldiers of the Royal Artillery, stationed at Halifax, two of them being English, one Scotch and the other Irish, deserted last week from that place, for the purpose of joining the Union army. Obtaining a small boat, they struck out, intending if possible to reach Calais. Their escape was soon known, and two steam-tugs were despatched in pursuit but the violent snow storm prevailing at that time, prevented their catching sight of the fugitives; meanwhile the deserters themselves, came very near perishing with the cold, and the gale having carried away their sail and rudder, they drifted helplessly about for several hours, and were finally swamped on the beach, about twenty miles from their starting point. One of the number was insensible at the time of the wreck, but his companions managed to rescue him from drowning. Then they sought refuge at a farm house close by, and relying on the generosity of the inmates, told who they were, and asked assistance, which either from fear or sympathy, was given. The soldiers gave up their arms and uniform in exchange for citizen's clothing, and procuring another boat, they again set out, and finally reached Calais in safety. Taking the steamer, they arrived in this city this week and went immediately to the Provost Marshal's and enlisted as substitutes for three years receiving $650.00 each. After being mustered into service, one of them wrote to his commanding officer, requesting that he would forward without delay, his arrears of pay; otherwise he would be compelled to put it in Uncle Sam's hands for collection.

[The latter sentence is mere brag and gasconade, as it is well known British soldiers receive their pay in current funds daily—and are neither starved left in rage, and kept out of their pay for months, as the American papers stated the Union soldiers were.]

In refusing the sum of £17,000 lately tendered by Lord Warcliff for the relief of Confederate soldiers confined in Northern prisons, Mr. Secretary Seward added the following insult:—how long will the extreme patience of Great Britain be able to sustain its original position under such extraordinary provocation and falsehoods?

The United States have ample means for the support of prisoners as well as for every other exigency of the war in which they are engaged; the insurgents who have blindly rushed in that condition, are suffering no privations that appeal for relief to charity either at home or abroad. Nor will any portion of the American people be disposed to regard the sign ostentatiously displayed for the relief of captured insurgents as too generous an equivalent for the devastation and desolation which a civil war, promoted and protracted by British subjects, were eminently prosperous and happy.

Finally, in view of this last officious intervention in our affairs, the American people can hardly fail to recall the warning of the Father of our country directed against two great and intimately connected public dangers, namely, sectional faction and foreign intrigue.

I think in common with a large countrymen, they will rejoice in being saved by the moderate and loyal Government which Lord Warcliff and his associates, in their zeal for the overthrow of the United States, have prepared for the victims of this unnatural and hopeless rebellion.

FROM SOUTH AMERICA AND THE WEST INDIES.—2000 French troops had arrived at Havana, homeward bound from Mexico.

Maximilian, by proclamation, declares that the British Colony of Honduras, with the Peninsula of Guatemala, and their Cozas and Islands, are incorporated with his Empire from the 1st October last. England's treaty-claims to Honduras are entirely ignored.

Rio Janeiro dates of the 10th ult. are received. There is little or nothing of the views or designs of the Brazilian Government concerning the seizure of private property. The Official Gazette says full directions have been sent to their Ministers at Washington to demand proper satisfaction.

War between Brazil and Uruguay is continued. The blockade of Montevideo has been ordered by Brazil. The Brazilian Minister had notified foreign vessels to Uruguay that they would be searched for contraband of war. England denied that there was a war, and says Brazil is merely engaged in suppressing a rebellion.

From St. Domingo we learn that Solido,

the late leader of the Dominican patriots, was shot by his country men for endeavoring to bring about an end to the war by submission to Spain.

UNIVERSITY EXAMINATIONS. The Terminal Examination of the students at the University began on Friday week, and were concluded on Tuesday, last by the public oral examination. On this occasion, there were present His Excellency the Lieut. Governor, accompanied by Capt. Moody, A. D. C. the Bishop, Judge Wilnot, the Hon. Messrs. Tilly and Steadman, the Examiner for degrees, and a few other gentlemen. The examination room at the University, would doubtless have been filled with a large number of visitors. The students acquitted themselves very satisfactorily, evidence being afforded not only of careful and thorough drill on the part of several Professors, but also of close application and proficiency on the part of the students. During the afternoon of Tuesday, the Rev. Messrs. Cover and Lee, Dr. Brooke and Dr. Spurden, who are the Examiners for Degrees, were engaged in examining Thomas Milledge, A. B. in the higher Classics and Mathematics, preparatory to his taking the Degree of A. M.

Lent Term at the University will commence on Wednesday, the 18th January. [Reporter.]

School Examinations.

This being the season of the year, when the Winter examinations of our educational institutions are held, the following brief notice, will we trust, be acceptable to the parents of the pupils, whose progress and satisfactory improvement is so marked as to call forth the highest commendation of the examiners; but while announcing this pleasing fact, we condemn the want of interest, amounting almost to indifference, on the part of a majority of the parents, who seldom or never attend the examinations. This lack of interest and our regard for the intellectual culture of their offspring, is to say the least reprehensible, and is very discouraging to both the teachers and scholars; it is to be hoped that the parents will manifest more interest in future. The first examination we will notice is the

CLASSICAL SCHOOL.

A meeting of the Directors was held on Wednesday last, for the purpose of assigning prizes to the most deserving pupils. It was judiciously agreed, that a portion of the school fund subscribed quarterly by the parents should be used for the purpose. The boys had been told at the semi-annual examination held on the first Monday of November last, that the pupil who should be head of his class at Christmas, according to a carefully kept register of his standing each day, would be accounted worthy of a prize. On the day of the meeting it was decided, that the value of the prize should be regulated by the number of classes in which the pupil was head. Boys without any marks against them were also to be rewarded for good conduct. This plan had a very beneficial effect; it created a generous emulation among the pupils, and they seemed to be perfectly satisfied with the fairness of the award. In deciding on which was the best writing in two classes, the Directors had great difficulty, as there were so many copies that were excellent, and almost equally matched. The books to be distributed as prizes we learn, have not yet arrived from England, but are expected daily and will be all ready, with the pupils' names written in them, on the re-opening of the school, Monday, Jan. 9, 1865.

The following is a list of successful pupils and subjects. We may remark here, that many who did not succeed in getting head of their classes, and consequently failed to be marked for a prize, had made good progress in their respective stations:—

Edward Chamberlain, Virgil, Euclid, English composition, good conduct and Latin grammar. Wm. Whitlock, Arithmetic, Euclid, good conduct. Gustave Treadwell, Marknes' Arnold, Thomas Jones, and Euclid, spelling, good conduct. Robinson Clark, Latin geography, Roman History, writing, good conduct. Thomas Sandford, English History, dictation, 2nd writing. George Swift, 2nd English grammar, Lewis Waycott, 2nd arithmetic and general progress. Edmund Dawson, 2nd geography, spelling, good conduct. James Blundy, 3rd spelling, and tables. James Kennen, 3rd arithmetic. Willoughby Hatch, 3rd reading. Burton Clinch, transcribing.

The Parish School, of which Mr. Glenn is the Master, also held its examination, and the scholars generally acquitted themselves very creditably, reflecting credit upon their teacher as well as themselves. That Mr. Glenn can keep in order and impart instruction to so large a number of scholars, speaks volumes for his method and ability as a preceptor, and his popularity in the place. The scholars answered promptly and accurately the questions put to them, evincing a fair knowledge of grammar, geography, history, and arithmetic; the reading was very good, and the writing excellent. We have before stated this school should be classed as a superior school, and we think so still.

The MADRAS SCHOOL, taught by Miss Alagar, was examined on Thursday last; we learn that the children have made fair progress in their studies. There are other schools in the town, but as no invitation was extended to us to be present at their examinations, we cannot give any notice of them.

We embrace the present occasion, and wish our readers and friends generally the compliments of the season, and a happy and prosperous new year. Our carriers will pay their respects in person, with their annual address.

Glancing back for a moment on the year now so near its close, how many thoughts crowd upon us of time mispent, opportunities for good deeds and improvement neglected, bad passions fostered, and evil dispositions gratified. We do not desire to sermonize, but briefly allude to some of the things which have been done which ought not, and others left undone which should have been done. Let us all profit by experience, and endeavor to do better in future; "time is on the wing," and ere long our places will be filled by others; let us leave them the best legacy—a good name, and inculcate by example and precept, industrious habits, integrity of principle, honesty of purpose, and independence of character. We are taught that charity covereth a multitude of offences, may we then practice that virtue, and follow the golden rule of "doing unto others as we would they should do unto us." Where there is union there is strength—let us then be united, and every one help his neighbor, by doing so, we will promote the public good.

THE VOLUNTEER BALL, which is to take place on the 3rd January, promises to be a splendid affair. Our gallant friends are making every preparation worthy of the occasion, and the Ball we learn is to be conducted in such a manner, as to meet the wishes of the most fastidious; the strictest etiquette will be observed, and every effort is being put forth to make the Ball pleasing and attractive. It will serve to remind some of the old officers, of the "good old times" of public assemblies and balls, of which the present generation have only heard, when we have seen those who are now their fathers and mothers pass many pleasant hours.

We last week had the pleasure of a call from an old friend Mr. L. Myers, the first contractor on our Railway. He looks hale and hearty, and is as active and energetic as he was some years ago; although the springing of "silver" among his raven locks reminds us that we are all approaching "the star and yellow leaf." Mr. Myers is the contractor for the St. Stephen Branch Railway, and will drive on the work at Railroad speed. Many of his former friends here, were happy to meet him. He is the first man who contracted to build Railways in the British North American Provinces.

HORRIBLE.—We find the following sentiment in a "Thanksgiving Sermon" preached by the Rev. J. W. Hailey, at Eastport:—Speaking of the Southerners he uses the unchristian expression:—

"If raised at all in the great resurrection day, they they will awake to 'shame and everlasting contempt.'"

We have received from our friend Mr. Hailey, a copy of the "Correio Paulistano," published at St. Paulo, Brazil. The paper may be very interesting, but as we do not understand Portuguese, it remains a dead letter to us. The Editors name is Joaquim Roberto de Andrade Marques.

SMALL POX.—The ship, Minnesota, which arrived yesterday morning from Boston, had on board a case of small Pox. The patient was removed to the Island, where there are now five cases; none of them we believe, very dangerous ones. [G. H.]

Richard Hutchinson, Esq., accepts the nomination for Northumberland County, and will probably be elected.

SEVERE DRAIN.—Mr. George Bedford, a well known and highly respected resident of Camden, died suddenly yesterday morning. Mr. MAJOR OF THE ALBION HOUSE, is authorized to receive subscriptions for the Telegraph.
