BUSY SEASON IN TOURIST TRADE ON GASPE COAST

SUMMER HOTELS ALONG THE BAY CHALEUR ARE NOW SCENES OF LIFE AND COLOR

Predicted That Number of Tourists in Gaspé Peninsula May Exceed That of All Previous Seasons—All Visitors Invariably Pleased With Country, Its Attractions and Accommodation at Hotels—More Motor Campers in Evidence This Season Than During Past Years.

According to reports received from various localities along the Gaspé Coast during the past week that section of the Province of Quebec is enjoying a profitable season in tourist business. That this summer's tourist traffic in the Gaspé Peninsula will surpass that of previous years seems likely judging from the opinion of some who are directly interested in the influx of summer visitors.

Although the backward weather of spring and early summer contrived to delay this annual invasion of visitors, the fine weather of June and July has evidently attracted many city folk to this part of the country.

In addition to those visitors who come either by rail or water to spend the season or a part of it at one of the delightful summer resorts on the Gaspé Coast, there has been evidence of an increase this year in the number of motor parties who utilize their autos for a holiday tour and camp out as they go, being supplied with tents and other necessary equipment.

Planned With Attractions

As in past years there is no difficulty in getting the opinion of these visitors regarding the attractions of the Coast. The Graphic has made an effort to secure information of this nature and the summary of opinion is that all visitors to the Gaspé territory are delighted with what the country offers them to enrich a holiday week. All speak in glowing terms of the beautiful scenery, the salt water bathing and fishing, and the splendid treatment accorded them at the hotels along the coast.

At The Resorts

With the arrival of holiday guests the four leading summer resorts on the south shore of Gaspé have awakened to vacation-time activity and are now scenes of life and color. Vacationists throng the verandas of the hotels and the lawns and bathing beaches are alive with visitors bent on the pursuit of holiday recreation. Many of these visitors, of course, will not spend the entire season in this part of the country but their departure from time to time will merely make it possible for the proprietors of these hotels to accommodate many others who are expected to arrive throughout the coming month.

With each passing year the attractions of this scenic Peninsula are steadily becoming better known and there is little doubt that before long vacationists will be enjoying the wide spread popularity among tourists from all over the country that this scenic beauty and natural facilities for outdoor recreation entitle it to.

ENTERTAINED THE STUDENT NURSES

Enjoyable Picnic and Outing at Diamond Farm Cottage

Diamond Farm Cottage was the scene of a most pleasant social function on Monday afternoon of last week when Mr. W. H. Miller and Mrs. W. R. Miller entertained the Soldiers' Memorial Hospital Student Nurses of the Senior year at a picnic on the cottage grounds at Bayview Beach. The honorees were accompanied by Mrs. F. E. Sheppard, Mrs. John Collier, Mrs. Fawcett and Mrs. Fred Campbell.

The afternoon was spent in swimming and target shooting. Mrs. Palmer presided in the latter sport.

GOOD BUSINESS AT THE NEW HOTEL

Many Tourists Register at Chateau Restigouche in Addition to Regular Guests

Since its opening on Monday of last week the Chateau Restigouche has enjoyed good run of business. This large and modern hotel is meeting with the enthusiastic approval of all the guests and as time goes on there is no doubt but what the hotel will increase and become more general with the travelling public.

Besides the usual run of guests the new hotel has been visited by a number of tourists who, upon seeing the Chateau was opened, came to Campbellton for at least a short stop over on their holiday tours.

The names of a number of these guests appear below:

J. A. Houston, Toronto; H. R. Hauch, Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Scott, Miss Eleanor Scott, Miss Mildred Wilson, Philadelphia; W. H. Robinson, Wm. Morgan, P. A. Johnson, Montreal; T. P. Hammer, Philadelphia; E. A. Barclay, Cleveland; George Bell and daughter, Rivière du Loup; Mrs. C. A. Baker and daughter, Cleveland; M. L. Crown, N. Y. City; L. B. Rogers, W. Amos, Me.; C. P. Willet, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. T. Wall, Brooklyn, N. Y.; H. E. Harkness, Toronto; Dr. Lidoux and family, Dr. Chapman and son, Newark, Ohio; W. R. Clark, Wolfville.

About 15,000 Ku Klux Klansmen gathered in Long Beach, N. J., on Independence Day. Larger photo shows parade through Long Branch streets by the hooded men while the other shows those about to be initiated, garbed in black, who also hide their faces.

CAUGHT STRANGE FISH LAST WEEK

Taken in Salmon Nets Near Dalhousie—Shipped to Dept. of Fisheries

A strange species of fish was taken last week in the salmon stand of nets owned by Alderman D. G. Stewart of Bon Ami Rocks. Had the large and unknown fish been kept alive in the nets, an expert from Ottawa would no doubt have been notified to come to Dalhousie. The fish, with a mottled head with hands and weighing 52 lbs. was placed in the Montgomery freezer, where Messrs. Andrew Loggie, W. S. Montgomery and Donald McGregor large shippers of fish, were unable to give it a name. It was shipped to the Department of Marine and Fisheries, Ottawa.

WAS ORDAINED AT DOUGLASTOWN

Rev. Owen Kennedy Consecrated to Service of Church—Bishop Ross Performed Ceremony

St. Patrick's church, Douglastown, Que., was filled with an immense crowd from the parish and from many outside places who assembled here on Sunday July the 12th to assist at the ordination of the Rev. Father Owen Kennedy of this place. Long before the hour set for the ceremony the church was filled to overflowing. Forming at the presiding altar the clergy headed by the cross bearer with the altar boys marched in procession to the church as they entered the organ intoned the Asperges during which the procession walked to the altar sanctuary. Following this came the beautiful hymn 'Yeni Creator Spiritus'. The church was handsomely decorated for the event. The second young man from this parish was about to be consecrated in the presence of members of his family, relatives and friends. His Lordship Bishop Ross, D. D. of St. Albert's Cathedral in Gaspé was assisted as sub-deacon by the Rev. Father N. Rioux, P. P. of Cape Oro. Rev. Father Kennedy, Vicar-general of the Diocese of Gaspé as deacon performed the ceremony. The choir of the church rendered mass assisted by singers from other parts. After the Gospel, Rev. Father Myers, P. P. preached the sermon, his subject for the occasion being 'The Priesthood the dignity and responsibility thereof and the respect and reverence that should be shown towards the chosen ones of God whose life was devoted to the sanctification and salvation of souls. After Mass the clergy and near relatives went to the altar for the consecration of the altar for the new year.

TO INVESTIGATE RLY. CONDITIONS

Canadian Railway Commissioner Coming to Gaspé During Second Week of August

Following upon the request of Hon. Messrs. Lemieux and Chas. Maréchal, members for the two Gaspé Counties, Hon. Mr. Carvell, Chairman of the Canadian Railway Commission, has announced that on August 14th he will start an inquiry into conditions along the Gaspé Railway from Matapédia to Gaspé. Conditions on the railway have been the subject of a number of complaints from farmers and others along the line. These complaints have been made to the members of Parliament mentioned and they requested the Government to take action. The matter has now been turned over to the Railway Commission and it is the intention of the Hon. Mr. Carvell to investigate all complaints submitted.

Hon. Mr. Carvell and members of the Commission will arrive at Matapédia on August 14 and will immediately start an inspection of the road and will hear complaints. The investigation will be concluded on August 16. The complaints already forwarded include those claiming that the road is in a state of disrepair, that the wagon service and freight charges are excessive.

'ENCOUNTER BETWEEN LAW OFFICERS AND REVELLERS' LASTED FOR OVER AN HOUR

Assailants Alleged to Have Used Bottles, Sticks and Pieces of Metal in Attack Upon Officials—Fight was Fast and Furious—Constable W. Smith Had Nose Broken—Inspector Gray Severely Bruised About The Head—Ringleaders Known to Police—Warrants Issued Today.

Probably not since the early years of colorful pioneer days has any village on the north shore been the scene of such a barbaric hand-to-hand battle as was waged near a highway bridge at Charlo on Tuesday about midnight between local representatives of the law and a number of men who, not content with breaking the law and ignoring those who sought to enforce it, seemed determined to do grievous bodily harm to the officials who interfered with their arrogant attempt to take matters in their own hands and do as they pleased.

The fight in which more than a dozen combatants engaged, took place on or near the premises of the Farmer's Hall at Charlo where a dance and social entertainment was being held. The fight, which was both fierce and bloody, started shortly before midnight and lasted according to the police, for an hour and a quarter.

The dispute began when some men from Jacquet River, who were attending the dance, refused to comply with a very reasonable request of a liquor inspector.

CHARLO STUDENTS ALL SUCCESSFUL

Seven Candidates from River Charlo Superior School Pass High School Exams

All the seven candidates from River Charlo Superior School, who wrote the High School Entrance Examinations here were successful. The names of the students, with their marks, are as follows:

Division I—the minimum total mark is 666 out of a possible mark of 1050 and the minimum mark for each subject is 40%.

Frances de St. Croix, 773; Helen Hamilton, 726.

Division II—the minimum total mark is 500 and the minimum mark for each subject is 30%.

Margaret McLean, 646; Mary Hamilton, 632; Claude Hubley, 566; Anabelle Doucet, 544; Alexander McPherson, 533.

J. G. TURNER, Examiner.

Was Fast and Furious

In a moment several men sprang upon Inspector Brown and one or more held him while others beat him over the head with a bottle. The other officers attempted to help him and found themselves involved in a hand-to-hand struggle. As moments passed the fight grew more furious. The officers at first merely attempted to protect themselves but as the blows of their assailants were rained thick and fast upon them, they realized that the occasion demanded real fighting. Blood began to flow freely from battered heads and faces. Both hands and feet were used with all the strength of their owners. Bottles, sticks, stones and even pieces of metal, secured from a nearby blacksmith shop, were, it is alleged, employed by several of the men in their attack and the officers were obliged to use their billys freely.

Attracted by the noise of the encounter and the shouts of the men as they swayed to and from in the fierce struggle, a great crowd gathered from the hall and neighboring houses. Scores of men lined up and watched the fight but no one moved to assist the officers to restore order. As they fought the men staggered across the highway to the bridge nearby and near the end of the struggle two of the men were hurled over the railing to the bank of the river some 12 or 15 feet below. During the encounter Constable Smith had his nose broken and when entering a neighborly house he was followed by a mob who shattered the windows of the house with stones and other missiles. The windows of the hall were also broken during the fray.

Our European Trip

A Brief Account of our Pleasant Experiences with The Canadian Weekly Newspaper Party on our Trip abroad
 By H. B. ANSLOW

Antwerp, Saturday, June 21

At daylight we encountered a heavy fog, so for a time we remained at anchor before proceeding up the Scheldt to Antwerp, but by 5.30 the air had cleared somewhat and we were able to proceed with slow speed up this great river.

Here the dykes are tremendously high in some places entirely hiding from view the homes of the thrifty Belgian farmers, which lie just behind them. The individual farms do not seem to be divided by fence or hedge, but by an imaginary line drawn from a certain point extending to another point.

Each farm consists of a very few acres, and each field is but a garden plot, but each plot is intensively cultivated. Here the crops looked splendid. Wheat and rye in head, and the first crop of hay being harvested. And such a hay crop. We venture to say that if we mentioned the tons to the acre cut from these farms our Canadian farmers would not believe us, so we refrain.

At 7 o'clock we were safely docked at Antwerp, and were being greeted by various officials.

At 8 o'clock we were ready to go ashore. Our baggage had been piled upon the deck, where the customs officials passed it without opening a bag, and the immigration officials passed us along without even a look at our passports, so we must have been a pretty good looking bunch.

Antwerp is a very large shipping port. It has miles of docks, with hundreds of steamers and vessels of all kinds loading and unloading. We spent most of the forenoon sailing about these docks the gurgles of the harbor commissioners, but really failed to grasp their magnitude. Here we saw vessels which sailed regularly to Canada, to the United States, to Africa, Australia and India, and in fact vessels which sailed the Seven Seas. Here we saw being unloaded the raw products of every nation, as well as the manufactured products of many. And here we first saw women working at loading and unloading these giant ships. At one dock we saw large tusks of ivory being unloaded and being stacked up like cordwood.

Here we were taken to view the Cathedral and it certainly is a most remarkable building. The paintings there displayed are priceless, among them being Rubens' famous picture "The decent from the Cross", as well as other pictures by this master. It was here we first began to realize what painting, sculpture, carving, etc., meant. The buildings are most artistic both within and without, and the people take a pardonable pride in displaying them to strangers.

We saw so much that it would be impossible in these rambling letters, written under stress, as it is very difficult to get time or opportunity to write even post-cards to do justice to them. Everywhere we were received with the most open handed hospitality.

It was here at Antwerp that we first experienced European hospitality. At lunch to-day all kinds of wines and champagne were served, in fact it was extremely difficult to procure water which was fit to drink. The wines are very light, and are the staple thirst quencher on the continent.

After a very enjoyable and restful lunch hour, we proceeded to the depot to take trains for Brussels, which journey was to be broken by a stop at Milan.

It was here we were first introduced to the style of railway trains common on the continent and in England. It is hardly necessary to give a description of these other than to say that each car is laid out in compartments which hold six or eight. These compartments open to a gallery which runs the length of the car. Before this train starts the doors are all locked.

After the novelty has worn off we rather enjoyed this class of carriage, as six congenial persons can have a very agreeable time. These cars seem to be but very light, but the trains certainly can travel at a high rate of speed.

It was upon this our first day in Europe that we discovered the value of knowing a little French. French is the universal language here, and very few know English, although, we understood that it was becoming more general since the war.

As we left Antwerp we passed through a very fine agricultural country. In fact all through Belgium we found the country looking very prosperous and the crops exceedingly abundant. The Belgian farmer is evidently an untiring worker, as we saw he and his family at work from early morning until dark.

Here even the dogs work. In Antwerp every push cart on the streets had a dog harnessed to it. He trotted along under the cart, between the wheels, pulling the load, while the driver, more often a woman, simply steered the cart through the traffic.

The run to Milan was a short one. Here we were to meet Cardinal Mercier, that heroic Belgian whom we all admired and loved for his brave deeds during the early stages of the war. I will have pleasure in writing of our visit to the palace and cathedral in my next letter.

MOTORS OUTNUMBER PHONES

Automobiles Total 15,221,183;
 Telephones in Use, 15,000,101

The automobile has finally outdistanced the telephone as a utility and convenience, according to tabulations just announced by the Automobile Club of Southern California. The total number of automobiles in use in the United States at the beginning of 1924 is given as 15,000,101, while the total registration of automobiles in all States is 15,221,183, placing motor vehicles in the lead by over a quarter of a million.

This situation developed during the past year when the increase in the number of autos registered was over 23 per cent. While the telephone has not lost any of its popularity, it has not increased in the ratio of the automobile. However, most of the expansion in telephone service has been since 1920 when there were but 676,733 phones in use. In 1920 there were approximately 2,000,000 more telephones in the United States than automobiles.

KILLS BROTHER; WOUNDS OTHERS

80-Year Old Man Fled to Woods and Is Shot by Police

Danielson, Conn., July 29.—Benjamin White, 80, who yesterday shot and killed his brother, Edwin T. White, 72, and wounded his nephew, Howard White, and David Mairson, fiancé of his niece, Sadie Phyllis White, was shot and killed by one of the members of a posse who were searching for him shortly after noon today.

Putnam, Conn., July 28.—State police and a posse of residents of Pomfret, landing had failed up to early forenoon today to find any trace of Benjamin White, 80, who yesterday shot and killed his brother, Edwin T. White, 72, and slightly wounded Howard White, his nephew, and David Mairson, of Hartford, who is to marry his niece, Sadie Phyllis White.

White fled into the woods after killing his brother. It was announced following the shooting, that the wedding of Mairson and Miss White would take place as planned, next Saturday at the White residence.

Police, after interviewing members of the family of Edwin White, expressed the belief that the objection by Benjamin White to his niece wedding with Mairson may have something to do with the shooting.

ARCTIC EXPLORER ON WAY SOUTH

Donald MacMillan Expected to Return to Maine in September

Portland, Maine, July 29.—Donald MacMillan, Arctic explorer, with the schooner Bowdoin, has left winter quarters and has reached a point of 187 miles to the south, according to a special despatch to the Portland Press Herald received from the United States cruiser Milwaukee which was in touch with the radio station at Hawks Harbor, Nfld. As the Bowdoin spent the winter at Fiesmore land, eleven degrees from the north pole, her latest reported position is probable in the vicinity of Cape York, just northwest of Melville Bay, Greenland. The message said the Bowdoin would return home as soon as the ice fields, obstructing her progress, broke up. MacMillan and his party left Wiscasset, Maine in June 1923. They are expected to return here in September.

GOVERNOR -GENERAL IS OPTIMISTIC

Says Unity of Spirit Dominated Troops in Canada's Hope

Vancouver, B. C., July 29.—If the people of Canada possess the same unity of spirit as the Canadian troops possessed overseas there need be no doubt of the future of this dominion, His Excellency Baron Byng, Governor-General of Canada, declared during the course of an address before members of the Military Institute here yesterday.

A sound constitution, healthy environment and prudent conduct he mentioned as three essentials, and said Canadians possessed all three.

"I stand here before you a full-blown six-cylinder, harnessed optimist," said His Excellency. "I know that Canada is going ahead and that the spirit that emanated from small places where the Canadian units formed and spread to battalions and divisions overseas, still exists among the Canadian people."

CHAUTAUQUA OPENS

HERE NEXT WEEK

All arrangements have been completed for the Campbellton Summer Chautauqua and this week of splendid entertainment will begin on next Thursday evening, Aug. 7th. The Chautauqua officials will arrive here some time prior to that date and by Thursday he big Chautauqua Tent will be in readiness on the High School Grounds on Andrew Street.

The convenor of the Ticket Selling Committee reports a good sale of tickets and without doubt the attendance this year will greatly exceed that of last season.

It is to be hoped that this favorable progress in the sale of tickets continues. All those intending to secure a season's ticket should remember that only five days more remain in which to avail themselves of this opportunity of seeing the whole twelfth entertainment for the small sum of $3.00. Once this sale of season tickets closes they will be obliged to pay the regular admission fee to each performance they attend.

Judging from the Chautauqua literature now in circulation about the town the programme this year is especially as good as last, and that is saying a good deal.

The Chautauqua entertainments last year were of a particularly high order and of nature to appeal to everybody. Chautauqua is a real event that nobody should miss.

Chautauqua this season. That was seven years ago—even that does not tell it at all—today.

Those who have heard Mr. O'Brien think of him as a masterly, brainy teacher, who explains a perplexing problem, logically, clearly, non-partisanly. His open forum is a marvel of instruction.

One seasoned Chautauqua critic who heard Mr. O'Brien last season said, "I have never witnessed a scene anywhere to equal that one—and I have seen a good many. Every man, woman and child sat literally spellbound. They were listening to a clear, concise explanation of a subject that had snarled the minds of thousands. They were listening to the choicest English—adapted to conversational style—or raised, when the occasion demanded it, to the sublimest pinnacles of scholarly oratory."

"Folks who always thought lectures 'dry' stayed. Thinking people who had studied his subject, remained to rejoice in the explanation of facts."

His address this summer will be a discussion of present problems.

16-YEAR-OLD GIRL IS DROWNED

Popular Nelson Girl Loses Life While Bathing—Friend Had Close Call

Newcastle, July 29.—A gloom has been cast over the village of Nelson by the sad fatality there last evening, in which Miss Mary Hickey, one of the most popular young ladies of that place, lost her life. She was in bathing near Daley wharf with Miss Ronan, when she was carried beyond her depth by the tide and, despite every effort on her part and Miss Ronan's, she sank in about 30 feet of water.

Overcome by her efforts to save her friend, and over excitement, Miss Ronan came within an ace of losing her own life, but managed to seize hold of the wharf, from which she was rescued in a fainting condition. Miss Hickey who was 16 years of age was a daughter of Andrew Hickey of Nelson.

Mrs. Geo. MacKay Dead
The death of Mrs. Ellen MacKay, widow of George MacKay, occurred at her home here yesterday after an illness of several months. She was 55 years old and was twice married. ## Hon. Quin O'Brien To Lecture Here

One can't do justice to Quin O'Brien on paper.

The late Elbert Hubbard said, ordinary terms like "silver tongue" and "eloquent" sound trite as applied to O'Brien. He said, "There is not half a dozen speakers in America with the linguistic skill and phosphorescent purview that he possesses. He has the grace of person, ease of manner, bubbling wit and intellectual challenge that command respect, admiration and love."

The above is an admirable description of this well-known Chicago attorney who is lecturing here at Chautauqua.

ENTERTAINMENT AT FLATLANDS

A very interesting evening's programme was arranged by the ladies of the Presbyterian Church here on Wednesday the 23rd., and one that proved a success in every way.

Choruses of sacred music were well rendered by the girls of the Church, under the leadership of Miss Kathleen Stevenson, while solos by Mrs. J. Calder, and a duet by Mrs. Busted and Mrs. Calder were exceedingly well presented, and greatly appreciated.

Following the musical programme a lecture on "Edinbur" was given by the minister Rev. E. V. Forbes, who undertook to transport the audience over to "Auld Reekie" the ancient "Queen of the North", and to make them breathe the rich air of history and romance that clings about the storied city.

Following the programme refreshments were served by the ladies, outside on the church grounds, and a most sum was realized for the bazaar.

YOUNG TORONTO DOCTOR SUICIDES

Shoots Self Through Heart on Board Cunard Liner Ausonia On High Seas—No Reason Given.

Quebec, July 30—A tragedy on the high seas was reported on Saturday afternoon with the arrival of the Cunard liner Ausonia at this port and was to the effect that a young doctor D. E. Lang of Toronto, 33 years of age, had been discovered in his cabin on Thursday last, shot through the heart, and clutching a revolver in his hand.

On the way across the ocean, according to officers of the liner, the late Doctor Lang appeared to be normal in every way, and was apparently in the best of spirits. It was noticed that he attended his meals regularly, and spent most of the time about the decks. On Thursday morning, contrary to his usual habits, the doctor did not appear for breakfast. Later a search was instituted, but he could not be found on deck. His cabin was then visited, as it was thought that he had fallen ill and was in need of medical attention. Persistent knocking on the cabin door brought no response, so the chief steward of the liner, Mr. E. R. Leake, entered the room, and to his horror saw the lifeless body stretched out on a sofa in a semi-clothed condition, and lying in a pool of blood. A revolver was grasped in one hand.

The captain of the Ausonia, with the assistance of the ship's doctor and others held a post-mortem sit-

RUSSIAN CATHEDRAL SEXTET

Presenting Unique Concert on Chautauqua

The interest in Russian art has fairly taken American by storm during the past few years.

Every one knows of the tremendous enthusiasm over the Russian ballet as portrayed by Nijinsky, Morille, Fokine and many others. Critics have said the Russian school of dancing is the greatest in the world.

Two years ago the great Chautauqua appeared at the Metropolitan to standing room only, creating a veritable furor. He now receives the highest fees paid any opera singer.

The Ukrainian Chorus came to America to entertain. Harmony with their unusual perfection in ensemble and their marvelous music.

One might go on and mention the further success attained by Ballo's "Chorus Quartet" which has been playing steadily to sold-out houses in New York City since their first appearance, said by many to be the most perfect vaudeville ever presented. The Moscow Dramatic Art Players have been widely acclaimed in the field of drama. So it is that the interest in Russian art has become widespread.

Russian Cathedral Sextet, appearing here on the closing night of the Chautauqua program is an outgrowth of the Russian Cathedral Quartet, which has been such a success for several seasons. Retained in the new organization are the best elements of the old. Each member is an artist of long experience. Their ensemble singing is truly marvelous. Their program is a continued joy from start to finish.

A single quartet which is without a superior in the country with the addition of a soprano and contralto. No form of singing should make this opportunity to hear the best. It will be a memorable concert.

The program of the Russian Cathedral Sextet is divided into three parts.

First there will be a group of Russian liturgical selections. It is not generally known that the Russian Church music is considered to be the most remarkable in all the world. Those who have heard it never forget it. Unlike any other type of music, it has appeared as principal feature in leading opera houses abroad, enabling them to present operatic music on a par with the Metropolitan and Chicago Opera Companies.

The second part is devoted to Russian folk song music. The artists will

TO EXPECTANT MOTHERS

A Letter from Mrs. Smith Tells How Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Trenton, Ont.—"I am writing to you in regard to Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound. I would not be without it. I have taken it before each of my children, wife, born and afterwards, and find it a great help. Before my first child was born I had a nervous breakdown of health, and during my pregnancy I felt as if I would never pull through. One day a friend of my husband told him what the Vegetable Compound had done for his wife and advised him to take a bottle for me. After the fourth bottle I was a different woman. I have four children now, and I always find the Vegetable Compound a great help. It seems to build confidence and health. I recommend it to all my friends. Mrs. H. H. Smith, John St., Trenton, Ont."

Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for expectant mothers, and should be taken during the entire pregnancy. It is a gentle and safe remedy, and should be taken every evening, or morning, at bedtime. It is a natural and healthy way to build up the system, and should be taken by all women who are expecting a child.

appear in the very beautiful and colorful folk costumes which greatly add to the presentation. An analysis of Russian music states that the Russian folk song contains many of the elements of great variety and expression of every emotion and scene, almost always in strength, many times joyous in spirit, yet often-times melancholy in character due to the severe oppression of the Russian people.

In the third section of the program operatic and concert pieces in English will be given. Many of these artists have appeared as principal singers in leading opera houses abroad, enabling them to present operatic music on a par with the Metropolitan and Chicago Opera Companies.

NOTED WRITER IS WEARY OF JAZZ TENDENCIES OF THE AGE

James Oliver Curwood May Reside in Quebec—Is Sick of Intolerance of all Forms

(Quebec Telegraph)

"This is the greatest jazz age of all times. Jazz has not only demoralized our social life by its cheapness of song and dancing but it has infected our literature as well, and if we are not careful it will end by undermining the higher instincts of the race."

That is the text of the indictment which was unfolded to the Telegraph today by no less an authority than James Oliver Curwood, the famous novelist, regarded as one of the "world's best sellers" who has come to the province of Quebec to escape for a time the elements of which he complains as exemplifying American life at the present time, and incidentally to steep himself in the lore of provincial life with a view to writing a series of historical novels relating to Quebec, its environs, its people and their habits and history.

Very Outspoken

Curwood, in addition to being one of the most popular and delightful of modern writers, is a very outspoken gentleman. With his rise to literary fame he has carved out for himself a course of conduct and a line of philosophic thinking which, while it does not meet with the approval of the powers that be, nevertheless renders him all the more dear to his host of admirers not merely on this continent, but in Europe also. And when it is pointed out that the advance sales of his next book, not yet off the presses, has reached the hundred thousand mark, it will be appreciated that his admirers represent a considerable army.

This literary colossus whose works bestride the world even before they are published is heart sick of the jazz element both in life and literature, and, as indicated above, he has formulated a plan whereby he will become a citizen of the province. In the course of the next few weeks he will execute an itinerary through the remote regions of Northern Quebec where he will come into the closest possible contact with the real people of the country, the habitants. He will be accompanied by his wife and two children, and his secretary, and old horse and a covered wagon. The horse and wagon are not for transportation purposes but simply to carry the party's "dunnage". The trip, extending over a period of many weeks, and traversing hundreds of miles will be made on foot.

Must Know People

Regarding the harshness of his exploit Curwood smiled out of his penetrating blue eyes and said: "Well, how can I ever hope to know the country well enough unless I meet the people who represent the country? True enough, many writers get away with less, but I do not care for that system. Some men know might come here and after spending a few days at the Chateau Frontenac and taking the Saguenay trip, will sit down and write a history of your province from A to Z, with all the historical data and romance glamor thrown in. No doubt it is very interesting, but it does not get at the heart of the matter. My object is to know the people; then I know that I will understand the country."

So that Quebecers may look forward with confidence to numbering this famous author as one of themselves. He admits frankly that he has not yet decided upon the permanent location of his new home, but his enthusiasm for the city of Quebec leads one to the conclusion that the Ancient Capital is very likely to become his headquarters at least, his base of literary operations so to speak.

And that Curwood will carry out his intentions may be taken as read. Life in the wilds is no new thing to him. He has spent years in Yukon and the northwest territory and the Northwest Mounted Police are all his intimate friends as well as his most ardent readers.

Of the untapped material which Curwood expects to weave into book form in the near future the life of the habitants appeals to him perhaps more than anything else. As he says: "I am coming home free from all prejudices. Religiously speaking I may be an alien to the vast majority, but I decline to consider myself as such."

As was to be expected the conversation naturally drifted into the various phases of literature, and in his respect Mr. Curwood pointed out his utter lack of faith in the sex problem novel. "To step into the mire when there is so much that is beautiful and wonderful," he said, "is a wanton waste of talent, for with the mire clinging all about us so that everyone, even children can see and estimate its effect, there is no need to mar the bookshelves with the disembodied opinions on such messy stuff. If writers would keep their heads in God's clear air a little more the atmosphere some of them breathe would savor less of the dirt beneath their feet."

Mr. Curwood, who is scarcely less picturesque in appearance than some of the scenes of his novels, is only forty-five years of age. He has been writing since he was nine, however. He graduated into literature through the medium of the newspaper in which profession he attained quite a success before his forte for novel writing thrust him into fame.

Scores American Method Of Musical Education

When lights are low you shall in-to my heart And in-gar like a mel-o-dy.

Grace La Rue Says We Will Have "All-United-States" Grand Opera When We Teach Proper Diction

Grace La Rue, who has conquered all musical fields in America, is rooting these days for all-United-States opera.

"Only," says she, "shunning a pretty shoulder, 'we who have high hopes of the musical future of our country may as well wait until there is a change in the system of musical education. At present we have no one who can teach the science of every-sing-ing."

Diction is pretty much La Rue's hobby. Her own brand of it has helped her to head the list of musical comedy and concert stars in America. She has just been instructed in France.

"Strangely enough," she declares, "I learned to sing English clearly and understandably from a Frenchman. The truth is, we Americans put too little stress on distinct enunciation. Yet, home audiences appreciate it more than anything else, and when it is present it makes good friends for all time."

"We'll have American opera and successful opera too, just as soon as we teach our artists how to sing without garbling their words."

Miss La Rue never shuns her words and we one over says after hearing her: "It was a pretty tune, but what was it all about?" This year she is singing on her trans-continental tour "When Lights Are Low," a walk-a-ballad, which she says is a perfect type of our best sentimental song, so often butchered by the singer who stresses tone and forgets diction.

"We may not, as a nation, be as sentimental as the Latin countries of Europe, but we certainly like to have our singers let us in on the story of their love songs," she concludes.

THE BRITISH ASSOCIATION
The British Association for the Advancement of Science will hold its annual meeting this year in Toronto, from the sixth to the thirteenth of August. This is its fourth meeting in Canada. It met in Montreal in 1884, in Toronto in 1896, and in Winnipeg in 1909. Occident with this year's meeting an International Mathematical Congress will meet in Toronto, with more than one hundred leading mathematicians from overseas, as well as some hundreds from this continent in attendance. The visitors will be entertained in Quebec, Ottawa and Montreal en route to Toronto; and after the convention is over about four hundred will make an excursion to Vancouver. This convention should be of great value to Canada, because so many men eminent in the scientific world will attend and take away impressions of the greatness and the boundless possibilities of this country. The British Association for the Advancement of Science has such a record of achievement for human welfare in every department of life that its annual meetings are events of world-wide significance. The address of the President is always an important review of the state of science in the world; and, as the Association is divided into thirteen sections, each dealing with a particular department of science, the discussions will be of the utmost value. Many important conventions have been or will be held in Canada this year, but none with so wide a scope of discussion that is material to human welfare as that which will meet in Toronto on the sixth day of the month. A number of the overseas delegates have already arrived at Quebec, and special arrangements are being made for their reception in those cities they or some of them will visit during their tour. As yet, unfortunately there is no announcement that the Maritime Provinces will be included in that tour. This is not unusual. Too often Canada is set down as being at Quebec or Montreal.

CANADA'S WHEAT CROP
The first official estimate of the Canadian wheat crop by the Bureau of Statistics at Ottawa, places the yield at 318,640,000 bushels. The major part of this, of course, is in Western Canada where the forecast is not as promising as a year ago. Sensational correspondents are sending out unsupported reports to Chicago and elsewhere whose only effect is to excite stock markets and throw wheat traders into a panic. It is generally agreed, however, that the crop conditions in the southern areas of the three provinces are very satisfactory, with Manitoba as a whole very promising, though central and northern parts of Alberta and Saskatchewan are in need of rain and better growing conditions.

No, Girls, You Can't Have 'Em

White egrets are now in their full plumage, but they will no longer adorn millady's hat. The birds were fast becoming exterminated when protective laws were passed by all countries. This egret in the London Zoo is an unusually fine specimen.

OPPORTUNITIES IN CANADA

The return flow to Canada of former Canadians who had sought to better their condition by migrating to the United States, has attracted much attention on the other side of the line as well as here. There is on questioning the fact that business and industrial depression here did send thousands of Canadians scurrying across the border, but inquiry has revealed that the exodus was more seasonal than permanent. Statistics just made public by the department of immigration and colonization show that natives of Canada are returning to the Dominion at the rate of approximately 4,600 a month. In April and May 9,000 Canadians who had lived in the United States six months or longer recrossed the border on the way to resume their residence in Canada, and the movement has been on the increase ever since. The Rochester Herald, discussing the remarkable fact that the rate of return is exceptionally good in Canada. Not only former Canadians, but many natives of the United States are going north to take advantage of the conditions now to be found in the Dominion. This American testimony is in refreshing contrast to the jeremiads of certain pessimists in our own country.

THE DEVELOPMENT OF GRAND FALLS

Hon. Dr. Smith Tells of the Progress Made by the Survey Parties

St. John, N. B., July 29.—Hon. Dr. E. A. Smith, chairman of the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission, who has just returned from a visit to the survey parties working at Grand Falls and the upper St. John River basin, expressed himself as well pleased with the progress made with the work and highly gratified with storage possibilities which had been brought to light. The investigations so far had shown that the potential storage was much greater than had been estimated and assured success for the Grand Falls development.

Dr. Smith, accompanied by Hon. J. E. Michael and S. R. Weston, chief engineer, visited No. 1 survey party on the main river on Tuesday. This party is investigating a large artificial storage extending from a point about four miles from the mouth of the St. Francis River, about 30 miles up the St. John River, flowing up the Allegash branch and for about 55 miles up the Little Black River. The party made an 18 mile canoe trip on the Little Black River on this trip. On Wednesday the St. Francis River parties were visited. These are now at work on the Glazier and Bow lakes. This will be an international storage and the dam, about three miles from the mouth of the St. Francis, will raise the water in Glazier Lake about 50 feet and in the Bow Lake about 40 feet. The total storage in this storage will be more than 30 miles long.

This week the party now at Grand Falls will move to Lake Temiscouata and investigate the storage possibilities there. He said it would be two months yet before the survey parties would complete their work and the commission prepared data for an application to the Joint International Waterways Commission.

The chairman said that the Jordan Memorial Sanatorium had signed a contract with the commission for current and this opened the way for the quoting of rates to the residents of Petticoat and Salisbury.

SCARLET FEVER AT EDMUNDSTON

Emergency Hospital Has Been Established by the Authorities

Edmundston N. B., July 30.—A outbreak of scarlet fever here has led to the establishment of an emergency hospital by the local health authorities to meet the situation. Two nurses of the Provincial Public Health Department's nursing service have been sent here to assist in caring for the victims of the outbreak. Dr. J. A. Wade, District Health Medical Officer is also here to take charge of the situation which has developed. The epidemic is not serious so far, but the emergency provisions have been made as a matter of expediency to stamp out the disease. While scarlet fever is a common ailment with young people it assumes a serious aspect when the patients are more advanced in age.

MURDER TRIAL IS POSTPONED

Five Men Await Trial in Connection with Game-warden Blaquieres Death

Provisions have been made by the Attorney-General's Department to delay until September 8th the special term of the Criminal Assizes, which was to be held this month in Rimouski to deal with the case of the alleged authors of the death of Joseph Blaquieres. The latter was found dead last July a short distance from the Bonaventure River on the banks of the Matajama Club for which he was game-warden. Five men were subsequently arrested and a warrant issued for the arrest of a sixth, one Emmanuel Michel, a former Montrealer, who has not yet been located. Three of the men arrested have been in jail for nearly a year, while two others were successful in obtaining bail. Efforts of the Attorney-General to hold a trial at an earlier date have been unsuccessful, because there is no judge at present available. It is understood that an application for bail for the three men held will be made before the Superior Court in a few days here.

ENCOUNTER BETWEEN LAW

OFFICERS AND REVELLERS

the encounter is not known but it is safe to say that there were many sore heads after the affair was over. One man from Jacquet River is thought to have been pretty severely bruised about the head while others sustained minor cuts and bruises. Inspector Gray sustained two bad cuts on the head which required medical attention as also did the injuries received by Constable Smith. Gordon McLean, who is employed here with Gray's Wholesale and who displayed considerable courage in going to the aid of the officers also received several bad blows. Farney Polley and Palmer Walters who went through the thick of the fight, escaped without serious injuries.

Names Withheld

Five Ways to Serve Vegetables At Their Best

Fresh Summer vegetables are a delight when properly prepared and cooked. There are several ways of preparing each one of the vegetables if we take the trouble to hunt them up.

Take, for instance, asparagus. There are many ways of cooking it besides the usual fashion of boiling and serving it with the stalks butter dressed. Escalloped cucumbers, creamed radishes, baked lima beans, squash in Summer pies and eggplants in ramekins are all changes that afford variety.

CREAMED RADISHES

Select radishes that have grown rather too large for table use. After paring them, dice them, plunge them in boiling water and cook them for a few minutes until they are tender, then drain them. Have ready a good rich cream sauce and put the radishes into it. They are then ready to serve.

BAKED LIMA BEANS

Shell enough fresh lima beans to fill a pudding-dish, then boil them until they are tender. Drain the beans and turn them into a buttered pudding-dish. Place a scored piece of salt pork in the middle of the dish, add the beans with pepper and salt, add a half cupful of molasses and enough of the water the beans were boiled in to nearly fill the dish. Bake them in the oven for a half hour covered, then uncover and bake them until the pork is done and the beans a good brown. Serve them hot, or cold. Brown bread toasted is nice with the beans, which make an excellent luncheon or supper dish. They are very like navy beans except that they are more delicate in flavor.

ESCALLOPED CUCUMBERS

Peel, seed and dice fresh cucumbers that are too large for salad use. Boil them for ten minutes. Drain them.

Three-Piece Outfit

This very effective three-piece outfit copies the most attractive features of the peasant costume and combines them with the best lines of Paris.

The gown is a simple straight-line affair with a low waistline and a pleated skirt. The long coat is much more elaborate. The pleats are held in at the waistline and hemline by bands of embroidery which keep the lines very straight. The embroidery is repeated on the shoulders, applied peasant style.

A collar of white rabbit fur softens the neckline and adds the bit of protection this even a summer coat should afford. The material is white crepe de chine and the embroidery is in shades of blue and orange.

boiling water and allow them to stand for ten minutes. Drain them. Butter a pudding-dish and put in a layer of the cucumber, then sprinkle them with minced onions and crumbs and dust them with pepper and salt. Dot the dish with butter and sprinkle it with two teaspoonfuls of grated cheese. Proceed in this way until the dish is full, then turn in a small cupful of milk in which an egg has been beaten. Dot the cucumbers with plenty of butter, dust them with pepper, salt and a little sugar, sprinkle them with a little of the cheese and bake from thirty to forty minutes. If preferred, a cupful of tomato juice may be used instead of the milk.

EGGPLANT IN RAMEKINS

Peel a firm, fresh eggplant and chop it quite fine. Add to it a half cupful of crumbs, a large minced onion, a tablespoonful of minced green celery leaves, a half cupful of grated cheese, pepper, salt, a teaspoonful of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of soft butter and a beaten egg. Mix these ingredients well, fill buttered ramekins lightly with the mixture and bake it about fifteen minutes in a medium oven.

SUMMER SQUASH PIE

Peel a large yellow squash, cut it in pieces and remove the seeds. Stew it for a few minutes until it is tender, then drain and mash it. Add a cupful of sugar, a half cupful of molasses, a teaspoonful of salt, a generous lump of butter, a teaspoonful of sugar, a half cupful of molasses, a teaspoonful of salt, a generous lump of butter, a teaspoonful of ground ginger, a saltspoonful of mace and the same of cinnamon and cloves. Beat in four eggs and a small cupful of cream or very rich milk. Make good, short crust and line deep pie-plates with it. Finish the edge by marking it with the floured tines of a fork. Fill the crust with the squash and bake the pie. If the squash is watery do not add quite as much milk or cream.

TWO ARE COMMITTED

Oshawa, Ont., July 28.—At Whitby last night Leonard and Thomas McGlashan were committed for trial on charges under the criminal code "in that they contributed by a negligent act, to the death of Lieut. W. H. C. Southam, at Dunbarton on the night of May 7."

Lieut. Southam died following injuries received when he crashed into their truck.

Summer Menus For the Children

The changing of the nursery menu to fit the season is very important. Even though little folks do not eat as much heavy food during the winter as grown-up persons, still in early summer it is wise to eliminate very heavy articles from their diet.

The feeding of children is receiving a great deal of careful consideration nowadays. Orange juice was looked at askance when first advocated as a beverage for children. Now in food experiments with child feeding, especially in the case of underweight children, oranges are found as valuable as milk owing to the high vitamin content. Orangeade is not only a refreshing drink, but a healthful one as well and is better for children than the more acid lemonade. A simple breakfast for a warm morning may start with a baked apple and a little cream, preferably sweetened with a bit of honey rather than sugar.

A dish of some wholesome cereal should follow, with a glass of milk and buttered toast. For the mid-morning luncheon, a glass of rich orangeade and three graham crackers are sufficient. For the middle of the day dinner a child may have a broiled lamb chop, and baked potato, a small dish of peas, spinach, creamed carrots or carefully-prepared string beans, whole wheat bread and butter, and a very simple pudding of boiled rice or sago, or a fruit-jelly, tapioca junket or a custard. In midafternoon should be necessary, a glass of milk with a few graham crackers, rice cookies or simple ginger snaps are enough.

For the simple supper, serve a bowl of bread and milk or a light cereal if the child prefers it, or a cupful of bouillon with whole-wheat bread and butter, a glass of milk and a dish of stewed peaches, a poached apple or a little apple-sauce. A fruit jelly with two plain cookies may be substituted as a desert.

A quart of milk a day is usually considered the right amount per child. This may be taken as a drink, used on fruit or a cereal or cooked in the form of creamed vegetables. A cupful of orange juice may be used in any way liked—in orangeade, a drink before breakfast or in a quick jelly. Fresh, green vegetables supply iron and other minerals that the child needs, as do the yolks of the eggs used in thickening the cream sauces that children like so well.

Broths, light creamed soups, a little broiled chicken or squash, the whites of poached eggs, homemade sponge cake or pound cake, a guava paste, raisin fondant and maple sugar may appear on the menu occasionally to vary the diet.

FASHIONS & FOIBLES
by Shirley Sharon

In fashionable circles it is correct to hint at a hipline with fine plaits which extend vertically across the skirt.

A series of very fine (slits) held down by stitching is a life saver for the dress which otherwise would hang as straight as one's robe de nuit. A wide banding of embroidery in green, bronze and yellow is vivid for black or navy blue silk crepe. Soft crepe, satin or charmeuse is lovely with such dress. Black make up well for this type of dress. Without the embroidery, printed effects in silk crepe or cotton voile are also very lovely for a dress which is to be used in Mid-summer.

Frock of Taffeta

Here is a simple but effective frock that manages to look original and different merely by the selection of material. It is of taffeta striped in white and black and the intermediate shades of gray, worn with a black cape lined with the same taffeta as the frock. It adheres to the popular silhouette of flat front and back and enough fullness at the sides to give the necessary freedom.

appear on the menu occasionally to vary the diet.

Laundry that makes clothing money go farther

Your sheer, lovely things—crepe, fine silks, lace—will be found to wear much longer, laundered this way. Perhaps as much as 50%. And your clothing money buys just that much more. For these snowy-white, crinkly flakes of purest soap do not harm the most fragile fabrics; if anything, they brighten and renew delicate colors. The laundry soap contains nothing injurious. But it gently dissolves and removes all dirt and soil.

PALMOLIVE PRINCESS SOAP FLAKES are used by thousands of women—for all washing and household purposes. They really "do the job" better than any other laundry soap. They are the best for delicate fabrics, for they are so gentle and so effective. Use them in the washing machine, for the small hand-wash, wherever you need soap. In handy one-pound packages.

IS A WOMAN AS OLD AS SHE LOOKS

Performer With Sparks Circus Tells How to Keep off Old Father Time's Path

"Any woman who really wants to preserve her youthful looks without resorting to artificial measure can do so," declares Adele Nelson, a famous acrobat, who was seen here with the Sparks Circus on Wednesday and Thursday, July 28th, and 24th.

A woman is said to be as old as she looks. Most women try in one way or another to conceal their age. This is particularly true of the professional woman. But not so Mrs. Nelson who looks to be not over twenty-five yet glories in the fact that she is the mother of two full grown sons. Her rules for preserving youth are simple. Any woman can follow them. They are:

"Right living, fresh air, proper on the amount of seasonal rainfall.

exercising, proper dieting, sleep, lots of deep breathe."

"Get through excess fat through exercising and proper dieting."

"Proper foods eliminate many of the causes of premature old age."

"The proper foods are vegetables, fruit, milk, and red meats in moderation."

"Dance in moderation."

"Banish worry because worry will never bring you anything but more worry, troubles and wrinkles."

Scientists have decided that the width of annual tree rings depends on the amount of seasonal rainfall.

Black lace and white chiffon, are both lovely, fragile fabrics and when they join their forces as they have in this gown and hat we get a truly satisfying result. Besides the lace edging, motifs of the lace are cut out and applied on the skirt and the scarf. It is impossible to over-estimate the popularity of the black and white combination this season. As the season advances we find that white trimmed with black is more popular than black trimmed with white, but you can't go wrong with the combination any way you use it.

BAZAAR IN AID OF NEW R. C. CHURCH WAS BIG SUCCESS

Total Receipts Amounted to $3030—Large Crowds Attended—Splendid Work Done by The Various Committees.

To enlarge the present R. C. Church, or build a new and larger one, is the task that the devoted pastor of the R. C. congregation, of Dalhousie, has undertaken with his well disposed parishioners. There are about 240 R. C. families to accommodate, and if the industries spoken about materialize, it will not be long before the number reaches 300 families. The encouragement that Rev. J. A. Hart, P. P. has so far received, encourages him to look into the future with optimism, and the great success of his first Bazaar, in aid of the new church, which place during three evenings of last week, speaks well for the undertaking and if the good work continues, it will not be long before the R. C. population of the shiretown will be equipped for worship with the other progressive sections of the Co. of Restigouche.

The gross receipts of the Bazaar reached the handsome sum of $3030.00. It is the largest amount ever realized by the congregation at any Bazaar, or Church Pic-Nic in the past. Complete organization had a good deal to do with the enjoyment, that was appreciated by the hundreds of people from the town, from all parts of the county, and by those who attended from the Quebec side.

The children of the place will remember the Bazaar of 1924 for a long time, as parents and friends in a most unselfish manner gave the little ones a good time. The weather was all that could be desired, and with flags flying to the breeze, the grounds well lighted in the evenings lots of attractive outdoor sports, music by a Campbellton Band, of twenty instruments, supper nicely served in the large Convent Hall, decorated for the occasion, a large variety of fancy and useful articles offered for sale, a chance table at which every day of all won the prizes of the Bazaar, the nicely arranged ice cream and candy tables, the fortune telling, fish pond, and the well managed booth of ice cream, soft drinks, cigars, etc., all contributed to the enjoyment of the Bazaar, and the meals given were delicious and many complimentary remarks were heard from those who patronized the Bazaar, from Campbellton, Athol, Richmondville, Charlo, Balmoral, Val D'Amour, Point LaNim, Dundee, Carleton, Migasha and Dalhousie.

Special credit is due Mrs. Ed. J. Cannon for the executive ability she displayed in the management of the Bazaar which ran smoothly from first to last. Her good work will be long remembered by all concerned.

GASOLINE AS AN ANTISEPTIC
A number of the leading hospitals are now using gasoline as an antiseptic for washing out wounds. This has an advantage over iodine which burns considerably after being applied.

The gasoline can easily be reached by opening the petcock underneath it and saturate well. If there is no petcock available, unscrew the nut that holds the Petal Valve Cover and lift off the cover that exposes the Petal-Chamber. This makes gasoline instantly available.

Those who had lucky numbers with the lotteries were the following: Mr. Con Roy, Campbellton, $10 Gold Piece, dated by Mr. Frank McEvoy; Mr. Max Vian, Charlo, Bag of Sugar, donated by Mr. E. R. Giguere; Mrs. Dr. N. Doucet, Brl. of Flour, gift of Mr. H. J. Trudelle; Mr. Johnnie Godin Box of Soap, gift of Mrs. L. P. LaVoie; Miss Carmen LaVoie, gift of Mrs. Benj. Synette; Mr. Henry Dittie, M. P. P. Brule, Balmoral, gift of Mrs. Wm. Cabot; Mrs. John Cormier, Campbellton, Two Fancy Plates, gift of Mrs. B. Chiverton; Mrs. Ed. J. Cannon, Centre Piece, gift of Mrs. Andree Barberie; Mr. Isidore Allain, Book, (American History) gift of Miss Cimon; Master Arthur Gaudet, Large Box Chocolates, gift of Miss Helen Trudelle; Roney Elzinger, Fancy Hat, gift of Mrs. Jos. LeBlanc, La Butte, P. Q.; Miss Eva LeBlanc, Sweater; Miss H. Thivierge, Centre Piece; John J. Harquail, Side Board Draper; Fred J. LeCouteur, Box of Cigars; Andrew Wallace Sweater.

Mr. Leonard Green, Migasha, P. Q., guessed the nearest of the cash contents in a Pickle Bottle, and received $2.50 in Gold.

Much credit is due to all the members of the R. C. Sewing Circle for their industry during the winter and spring months. The fancy work Booth was certainly a credit, and drew lots of purchasers.

Opt. Frank Allard, who has many friends in the shiretown, brought from 35 to 40 people from Carleton, the first day of the Bazaar, who generously patronized the fair. The Carleton visitors came on the S. S. Lord Robert.

Others who kindly donated special articles were: Mrs. C. H. LaBillico, Centre Piece; Mrs. J. M. Colton, Fancy Table Cloth; Mrs. Dr. St. Laurent, Infant's Wool set, Shadow Lace Corset and Fancy Apron; Mrs. H. Trudelle, Lace Shawl; Mrs. Wm. MacMichael, Fancy Table Cloth; Mrs. Fleck, Hand Bag; Lady from Quebec, Rag Rug; Mrs. Joseph St. Pierre, Side Board; Set; Mrs. Vincent Harquail, Bureau Sear; Mrs. Joseph Barberie, Wood Sear.

Your correspondent would like to give all the names of the ladies, who helped and waited so nicely at the supper tables during the three evenings. For fear of omitting any, it will suffice to state that in the experience of many years, never was there such quick work done in serving such a large attendance of people at table, as was experienced at the Dalhousie Bazaar, and the meals given were delicious and many complimentary remarks were heard from those who patronized the Bazaar, from Campbellton, Athol, Richmondville, Charlo, Balmoral, Val D'Amour, Point LaNim, Dundee, Carleton, Migasha and Dalhousie.

The beautiful sunsets over the lake were completely blotted out by heads close, close together!

The drowsy chirp of the crickets and tree toad was drowned by the smack of loving lips.

The blossom-laden air out in the great open spaces were made unfragrant by Lady Nicotine—sometimes smoked by girlish lips.

Even the aroma of John Barleycorn mingled with the honeysuckle hedge!

WAGING WAR ON PETTING PARTIES

Vigilantes Chase Lingerers From Night Lovers in Ohio

(Cleveland Press)
War—wild, vigorous, valiant—continues to wage its violence upon the peaky petters in the hamlet of Bay Village, O.

Mayor Carroll Beck informed all men by these presents early Monday that the war would continue until not a solitary smack broke the still night air of Bay Village.

The mayor himself declares that those same strong arms of the law that flashed their flashlights into every secluded nook of the village from the sunset hours on Saturday through the early hours of Sunday, never finching until 33 good smackers and true has been lodged in the village jail, will continue to flash until even the fireflies of the village give up the contest.

Eight of 'em!
The mayor deputized his vigilantes committee Saturday night. Eight red-blooded, virile, strong deputy marshals' maced through the great open spaces where a man's man and a spooner's a spooner, and flashed their beacon's into the faces of the 33 kisers.

The same beaming, scintillating, trusty flashlights held in the brawny arms of the trusty eight will continue to flash nightly until the amorous learn that Bay Village is not the proper habitat for osculations and embraces.

Not a Joke!
"This is no funny matter," the mayor himself said Monday.

It seems that for nearly three years his native city had been "arassed by the amorous."

The Great Impersonation

A stirring story of love and

By E. PHILLIPS OFFENHEIM

One of the famous author's best.

Published by arrangement with The British & Colonial Press Limited.

She gave a little hysterical sob.

"Wait," she begged. "I shall answer you in a moment. Give me your hand."

He opened the fingers which he had clenched together, and he felt the hot grip of her hand, holding his passionately drawing it towards her until the fingers of her hand, too, fell upon it. So she sat for several moments.

"Leopold," she continued presently,

"I understand. You are afraid that I shall betray our love. You have reason.

I am full of jealousy and passion,

as you know, but I have restraint.

What we are to one another when we are alone, no soul in this world need know. I will be careful. I swear it! I will never even look at you as though my heart ached for your notice, when we are in the presence of other people.

You shall come and see me as seldom as you wish. I will receive you alone only as often as you say. But don't treat me like this. Tell me you have come back. Throw off this hideous mask, if it is only for a moment."

He sat quite still, although her hands were tearing at his, her lips and her eyes beseeching him.

"Whatever may come afterwards," he pronounced inexorably, "until the time arrives I am Edward Dominey.

I cannot take advantage of your feelings for Leopold von Ragsdale. He is not here. He is in Africa. Perhaps some day he will come back to you and be all that you wish."

She flung his hands away. He felt her eyes burning into his, this time with something more like furious curiosity.

"Let me look at you," she cried.

"Let me be sure. Is this some gasty change, or are you an impostor? My heart is growing chilled. Are you the man I have waited for? All these years? Are you the man to whom I have given my lips, for whose sake I offered up my reputation as a sacrifice,

the man who slew my husband and left me?"

"I was exiled," he reminded her, his own voice shaking with emotion. "You know that. So far as other things are concerned, I am exiled now. I am working out my expiation."

She leaned back in her seat with an air of exhaustion. Her eyes closed.

Then the car drove in through some iron gates and stopped in front of her door, which was immediately opened.

A footman hurried out. She turned to Dominey.

"You will not enter," she pleaded,

"for a short time?"

greeted Dominey enthusiastically.

"Come," he commanded, "I am weary of solitude! I have seen scarcely a face that I recognise. My tongue is parched with inaction. I like to talk and there has been no one to talk to.

I might as well have opened up my little house in Forest Hill."

"I'll talk to you if you like," Dominey promised a little grimly, glancing at the clock and hastily ordering a whiskey and soda. "I will begin by telling you this," he added, lowering his tone. "I have discovered the great danger I shall have to face during my enterprise."

"What is that?"

"A woman—the Princess Eider-

strom."

"A woman—the Princess Eider-

strom?"

Seaman lit one of his inevitable

cigars and threw one of his short, fat legs over the other. He gazed for a moment with an air of satisfaction at his small foot, neatly encased in court shoes.

"You surprise me," he confessed. "I will consider the matter. I cannot see any great difficulty."

"Then you must be closing your eyes to it willfully," Dominey retorted, or else you are wholly ignorant of the Princess's temperament and disposition."

"I believe I appreciate both," Seaman replied, "but still do not see any peculiar difficulty in the situation. As an English nobleman you have a perfect right to enjoy the friendship of the Princess Eiderstrom."

"And I thought you were a man of sentiment!" Dominey scoffed.

"I thought you understood a little of human nature. Stephanie Eiderstrom is Hungarian born and bred. Even now she has never taught her self-restraint. You don't seriously suppose that after all these years, after all

she has suffered—and she has suffered

—she is going to be content with an emasculated form of friendship? I talk to you without reserve, Seaman.

She has made it very plain to-night that she is going to be content with nothing of the sort."

"What takes place between you in private," Seaman began—

"Rubbish!" his companion interrupted. "The Princess is an impulsive, passionate, a distinctly primitive woman, with a good deal of wild animal in her. Her plots or political necessities are not likely to count a snap of the fingers with her."

"We have kept the old place wethertight, somehow or other," he said,

"and I don't think you will miss the timber much. We've taken it as far as possible from the outlying woods."

"Any from the Black Wood?" Dominey

asked, without turning his head.

Mr. Mangan shook his head.

"Not a stump," he replied, "and for a very excellent reason. Not one of the woodmen would ever go near the place."

"The superstition remains, then?"

"The villagers are absolutely rabid about it. There are at least a dozen who declare that they have seen the ghost of Roger Unthank, and a score or more who will swear by all that is holy that they have heard his call at night."

"Does he still select the park and the terrace outside the house for his midnight perambulations?" Dominey enquired.

"The idea is, I believe," he said,

"that the ghost makes his way out from the wood and sits on the terrace underneath Lady Dominey's window.

All bunkum, of course, but I can assure you that every servant and caretaker

we've had there has given no notice within a month. That is the sole reason why I haven't ventured to recommend long ago that you should get rid of Mrs. Unthank."

"She is still in attendance upon Lady Dominey, then?"

"Simply because we couldn't get any one else to stay there," the lawyer explained, "and her ladyship positively declines to leave the Hall. Between ourselves, I think it's time a change was made. We'll have a chat after dinner, if you've no objection. You see, we've got to get the house in the park," he went on, with an air of satisfaction. "Beautiful place, this, in the springtime. I was down last May for a night, and I never saw such buttercups in my life. The cows here were almost up to their knees in pasture,

and the bluebells in the home woods were wonderful. The whole of the little painting colony down at Flank-ney turned themselves loose upon the place last spring."

"Some of the old wall is down, I see," Dominey remarked with a frown

as he gazed towards the enclosed kitchen garden.

Mr. Mangan was momentarily surprised.

"That wall has been down, to my knowledge, for twenty years," he reminded his companion.

Dominey nodded. "I had forgotten,"

he muttered.

"We wrote you, by the by," the lawyer continued, "suggesting the sale of one or two of the pictures, to form a fund for repairs, but thank goodness

you didn't reply! We'll have some workpeople here as soon as you've decided what you'd like done. I'm afraid," he added, as they turned in through some iron gates and entered the last sweep in front of the house.

"You won't find many familiar faces to welcome you. There's Loveybond, the gardener, whom you would scarcely remember, and Middleton, the housekeeper, who has really been a godsend

so far as the game is concerned. No one at all indoors, except—Mrs. Unthank."

The car drew up at that moment in front of the great porch. There was nothing in the shape of a reception.

They had even to ring the bell before the door was opened by a manservant seated down a few days previously from town. In the background, wearing a brown velvet coat, breeches and leggings of corduroy, stood an elderly man with white side whiskers, and as brown as a piece of parchment, leaning heavily upon a long ash stick.

Half a dozen maid-servants, new importations, were visible in the background, and a second man was taking possession of the luggage. Mr. Mangan took charge of the proceedings.

"Middleton," he said, resting his hand upon the old man's shoulder,

"here's your master come back again.

Sir Everard was very pleased to hear that you were still here; and you,

Loveybond."

The old man grasped the hand Dominey stretched out with both of his.

"I'm right glad you are back again,

Squire," he said, looking at him with curious intensity, "and get the words of welcome stick in my throat."

THE SMITH-SPRING-HOLMES ORCHESTRAL QUINTET The Company Artistic

The Smith-Spring-Holmes Orchestral Quintet, appearing here on the Chautauqua program, is a company of the best in music, and who use no play trap methods in order to win applause. Mr. G. E. Holmes and Mr. Clay Smith are two composers of international reputation. (See "Who's Who in America.")

Twenty-four years ago they were drawn together through their writing and formed a partnership which has never since been broken. Nine years ago they married the Spring sisters, who were then the stars of a well established company bearing their names and formed the present company whose phenomenal success has been one of the outstanding triumphs of the Lyceum, Chautauqua and concert fields.

Their program consists of solos on trombone, cello, violin, saxophone and voice. Also saxophone duets and trombone and cornet duets and various trios. Their instrumentation for their ensemble is correct, according to Berioz, consisting of violin, cello, flute, bass horn (or alto clarinet) and piano.

AT EDMUNDSTON

Edmundston, N. B., July 29.—Premier Veniot is arriving here today and will probably spend most of the week here meeting people, who are expected to gather from all over northern New Brunswick this week in connection with the horse races and other attractions.

The Premier spent Sunday at his home in Bathurst after unveiling the soldier's memorial at Shediac on Saturday and came here via the International Railway to-day.

NEW YORK TOURIST SAYS TRIP THROUGH GASPE PENINSULA WAS TREAT OF A LIFE TIME

N. Y. Insurance Broker Enthusiastic Over Wealth of Natural Attractions in that Territory—Declares Scenery Along the Coast Rivals That of Any Locality on the Continent—Says Gaspe Region has Great Future As Vacationland for Summer Visitors.

That his trip through the Gaspé Peninsula was the treat of a life-time and that that scenic section of the Province of Quebec undoubtedly has a great future as a vacationland for health and pleasure seekers was the enthusiastic declaration of Mr. J. W. Andrews, a New York Insurance broker, who passed through here last week after a six weeks tour through Upper Canada and the Gaspé territory.

"This is truly a delightful country in summer," Mr. Andrews declared with the enthusiasm of one relating a particularly enjoyable experience. "I am told that it is rather cold and somewhat banked up with snow in winter but after travelling through this beautiful territory, arrayed in the varied beauty of its summer dress, I should think that such charm as is here should amply compensate you for whatever discomforts the winter might bring no matter how severe it is."

"We have had a most delightful trip," continued Mr. Andrews, "and I will certainly urge many of my New York friends to take a holiday tour through this country next year. I have toured through various sections of the United States and Western Canada but for picturesque scenery this country of yours is unsurpassed. For the time we crossed the border every passing mile has brought a wonderful change of view that is most refreshing. The drive through the Matapédia Valley is something to remember and I am mighty glad I decided to come by that route. At Quebec and even farther East we heard various rumors about bad and dangerous road but these stories are a myth. I am going back that way and the trip through the valley is being looked forward to by every one of our party. The road was a bit narrow in spots but it did not appear to me to be dangerous at all."

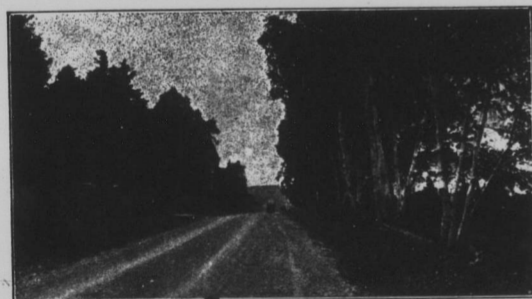

"Yes, we camped out nearly every night," continued Mr. Andrews in reply to our question. "By being prepared to camp out we felt that we could make our own time and stop where we wished. The weather for the most part has been delightful and tenting out has been a most enjoyable feature of the trip."

"We also took advantage of the opportunity for salt-water bathing. Your country here abounds in fine clean beaches of both sand and gravel and we all enjoyed our daily dips. We did not stop long in Campbellton as time was limited and we were anxious to get through to Gaspe. Arriving here about 10 a.m. we took the ferry across the river here and hurried along down the coast. I will admit that portions of the road over there is not just as good as it might be but a few bumps don't amount to anything on a trip through such a beautiful country."

We camped out the first night somewhere east of New Carlisle and had a dip in the bay shortly after sunrise. After a good breakfast (we are all eating twice as much as when we left home) we sped on to Port Daniel and other pretty villages, stopping at Chandler for dinner.

The second night we camped in a little nook near the Perce

Mountains and got up early enough to view the sunrise. Someone had told us the evening before that the sunrise, viewed from the hills was wonderful. To my way of thinking wonderful is too weak a word. It was simply amazing. We saw more than one sunrise from here and each one seemed more remarkable. Someday when I get time I am going to describe it.

"That is only one of Percé's attractions however. That giant rock at the beach is something that held our attention. It is surely one of the wonders of the world. After all it is typical of the scenery at that point. To my way of thinking the scenic beauty of the Gaspé Coast rivals anything on the continent. Its variety is truly remarkable."

"Yes, we went through to Gaspe and right out to the end of Cape Gaspe. It was the end of a wonderful trip—a trip I would not have missed for anything. Unless something prevents my return next year I'm coming back to make a longer visit in this beautiful district."

Helpful Hints

To Motorists

Nearly a year ago attention was called to the initial appearance of the air-cleaner as applied to American passenger cars and since then the introduction of this device has made rapid strides so that it is already regular equipment on a number of makes of cars. The use of several kinds are available as additional equipment for cars of all makes that are already in service. To motorists who drive almost entirely over improved highways, the surfaces of which are oiled or otherwise bound and therefore practically dustless, the need for the air-cleaner may not be vividly apparent, but to those who frequent loose surfaced sand and clay roads, with their inevitable clouds of sharp grit, especially upon windy days—and such roads still constitute a vast proportion of the whole, the country over—no argument as to the value of clearing the carburetor air of dust is needed. Hand in hand with the movement to prevent, so far as possible, the entrance of abrasive, airborne material into engines is that designed to remove from the engine oil such injurious foreign particles as may find their lodgement in it. Devices for the continuous filtration of the oil in the engine base, for the removal of the fine particles of metal, carbon and sand which the ordinary pump screen cannot exclude and to trap any water present are already being marketed.

NO HUNTING AT NIGHT

North Shore Now Has First Class Hotel Accommodation

With the completion of the Chateau Restigouche here the finest and best equipped ostelry in the Maritime Provinces, the rebuilding of the Bay View Inn at Jacquet River on a much larger and more modern scale and with other smaller hotels at Dalhousie, Charlo, Jacquet River and other points along the main highway in operation, Restigouche County now has first class accommodation for tourists. Much advertising literature has been sent out during the past season by those directly interested in tourist trade in this district and when it becomes more generally known what this part of the province has to offer in the way of attraction for summer visitors and what thorough provision has been made for tourists in the matter of adequate hotel accommodation there is no doubt but what the North Shore will see an annually increasing influx of summer holiday guests.

With first class accommodations available at both Campbellton and Bathurst it is indeed gratifying to know that in touring the North Shore one may stop half way between these two points of interest and be assured of every comfort at the new Bay View Inn.

This large new hotel is so roomy, so well furnished, so up-to-date in its equipment and so well conducted that it is more what one would expect to find in a town than in a village. With its reputation for fare of excellent quality, service of the best and an electric lighting plant of its own, the Bay View Inn is probably without a peer among country hotels of the whole Maritime Provinces.

The Bay View Inn is situated in a particularly beautiful section of Restigouche and from its broad verandas the guest may enjoy remarkable views of the landscape both East and West and also of the historic Bay Chaleur. At this delightful summering place the visitor may enjoy every out door recreation to which he may care to devote himself. Fishing and hunting are two premier attractions. Salmon and trout fishing is unexcelled along the Jacquet River while feathered game and moose and deer abound in the forests here which are easily accessible to the sportsman.

For the visitor who prefers the seashore a sojourn at the Bay View Inn promises a vacation to be long remembered. Bathing in the buoyant salt water, boating and deep-sea fishing are all activities that the holiday guest at Jacquet River may enjoy on his quest for diversion.

The hotel management has also made provision for tennis and this healthy out door sport may be enjoyed on courts on the Bay View grounds. For a country hotel the Bay View Inn is a delightful surprise to the stranger tourists and when the attractions of the beautiful locality in which it is located become better known it will surely be crowded with summer visitors who are seeking a restful holiday in a delightful climate where every comfort is assured them.

TOURISTS ARE VOLUBLE IN THEIR PRAISE OF SCENIC BEAUTY OF RESTIGOUCHE

Motor Campers and Tourists From Various Parts of United States and Canada—Camp out on Way Through This District—Many Pitch Tents at Jacquet River, Charlo and Other Places—Speak Highly of Good Road Here.

That the attractions of Northern New Brunswick need only to be more extensively advertised in order to bring summer visitors in great numbers from all over Canada and the United States to this district seems evident from the consensus of opinion as expressed by the various tourists with whom we have had conversation on their brief stops here while passing through on a holiday tour.

During the present season which is only half gone as yet, it would seem that a much larger number of auto tourists and motor-campers have visited Restigouche and the general district than in any former year. And from all have come enthusiastic expressions of praise for our scenery and the natural attractions of the country for the vacationist who seeks a restful holiday in the out-of-doors and in a land of healthful climate.

Many Motor Campers

During the past month and a half the main road through Restigouche has been the scene of a steady stream of summer visitors. The majority of these tourists have come from points across the border, nearly every state in the union being represented. Besides these American visitors there has been a goodly number of visitors from various places throughout Canada both from the West and from the lower Maritimes.

While some hotels report only average business from tourists this is indicative of the number of summer visitors coming to the North Shore for this year a great number of tourists have taken to camping out as they go along. The motor camping idea which has evidently led the majority of tourists to prepare for camping out and, in the absence of regular motor camp sites in this district these visitors have taken to passing their nights out of doors in sheltered nooks and protected from inclement weather by suitable tents with which the most of them are provided.

An Advertising Medium

While the influx of motor campers may not mean any considerable rush of business for hotels, their visits to this part of the country will eventually result in profit for those who are prepared to cater to tourist trade. From an advertising standpoint no better medium could be desired. These people on their return home and a result of their visit to this part of the country, many others will come next year. Each year this advertising will increase in its scope and with the arrival of each successive season larger numbers of summer visitors will undoubtedly find their way to this district on the quest of health or pleasure.

Words of Praise

The words of praise voiced by tourists passing through Restigouche this season are further proof of the fact that people here fail to appreciate the beauty of the land in which they have made their homes. Various motorists from points across the border have camped out for a night in different sections of the country and all of these whom we have met have spoken in glowing terms of the scenic beauty of the North Shore. Several of these visitors in passing through have camped near the beach at Jacquet River, Upper Charlo and other places among the prettiest spots for a camping ground that could be found anywhere. All speak highly of the roads through the northern part of the province and the Matapédia Valley has come in for a generous share of praise from these summer visitors.

Many Ask For Routing This Way

Montreal, July 26.—"Already there has been an increase of fully 20 per cent. in the number of motor tourists recorded as reaching the province, and it is safe to estimate that this growth will be maintained throughout the balance of the season, with the result that while last year only 40,000 touring automobiles were registered as crossing the border into Quebec, the probabilities are that the number will reach 175,000 at the end of the current season," said George A. McNamee, secretary of the Royal Automobile Club of Canada, and the Good Roads Association of Canada. Many asked for routes to lead them through the provinces, through Gaspe, and particularly into New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

"These enquiries are fully twenty five per cent. heavier than last year," said Mr. McNamee. "We receive from 40 to 60 every day, while on Monday the total is risen to 150 letters."

Decrease to U. S.
Mr. McNamee recorded a decrease in one direction, not so many Canadians have motored across the border. "There appears to be a general impression that matters are different at the border, but this is not so," said he. "There is nothing severe or inconvenient in the regulations, and Canadians of native birth or British subjects permanently domiciled in Canada (continued on page 8)

CAMPBELLTON

The Gateway to Gaspé

Situated in Northern New Brunswick on the south bank of the beautiful Restigouche River, about fifteen miles from its confluence with the historic Bay des Chaleurs (Bay Chaleur) Campbellton is virtually the Gate-way to the delightful Gaspé Vacationland. Each year with the arrival of summer an ever-increasing number of tourists, travelling both by automobile and by railway, make Campbellton a stopping place on their tour of the province of New Brunswick, and it is evidently destined to become the recognized point of entry for the traveller whose objective is one of the summer vacation-grounds along the Gaspé Peninsula of the Province of Quebec, which is separated from Northern New Brunswick by the Restigouche River and the Bay Chaleur.

A Quiet Nook on the Restigouche River

Its proximity to Gaspé in a geographical sense, however, is not Campbellton's only claim as the most convenient entrance to this wonderful vacationland of Eastern Canada. Just as the ornate Gate-way of a Palace is suggestive of the palatial beauty to be found within, so Campbellton, in its delectable setting of scenic beauty, is eloquent of the great variety of Nature's charms and holiday attractions which await the visitor in the delightful playgrounds along the coast beyond. Here at Campbellton after one of the most pleasurable stop-over visit on his summer tour, the traveller is enabled to combine with his holiday a variety of early rising with the railway lines or the splendid highways which traverse the sunny south shore of the Gaspé Peninsula. This is accomplished by means of one of the best ferry services operated in Eastern Canada, which conveys the visitor across the beautiful Restigouche River at this point. Accommodation is always adequate on this large, modern ferry boat, and the motorist, should he miss the regular trips, can depend on being taken across at almost any hour of the day.

A BEAUTIFUL LOCALITY

To the stranger on a tour through Eastern Canada and unfamiliar with the attractions of Northern New Brunswick, Campbellton might be regarded as merely as one of the towns enroute and of no particular interest. This, however, is an entirely unjust and very erroneous idea. Besides its distinction as the Gate-way to the wonderland of Gaspé, the pretty town of Campbellton is the centre of a beautiful district famous for its magnificent scenery and splendid natural facilities for holiday enjoyment.

varied green of woodland hills. To the west is the beautiful Matapedia Valley bedecked in scenic splendor leading on into the untrammelled wilds of the southern part of the Province of Quebec. Beyond the river, a mile wide at this point, rises a range of lofty hills and mountains resplendent in soft and ever-changing hues and to the east unfolds a seemingly endless panorama of fresh green farm lands which skirt the south coast of the Bay Chaleur.

Apart from its scenic beauty Campbellton and its surrounding country is richly blessed with a variety of attractions for the tourist on his way through New Brunswick or to the playgrounds of Gaspé. The lakes and streams of this territory abound in trout and salmon, while big game hunting in the forests of this district is unexcelled anywhere. Other holiday recreations, such as bathing, motor-boating, canoeing, motoring, golf, tennis and deep-sea fishing may all be enjoyed, and in order to even briefly participate in these delightful summer activities, the stranger is obliged to prolong his visit.

Campbellton, in many ways the most attractive and most progressive town in the Province of New Brunswick, has a population of nearly seven thousand. It is the centre of an immense lumbering industry and its numerous mills and other industrial plants are always a source of interest to the stranger. The splendid highways of the surrounding country are also a delight to the vacationist who comes to Campbellton in his car. A motor camping site in a desirable part of the town and close to stores and the Post Office is another attraction which is being added this season.

THE CHATEAU RESTIGOUCHE

To crown all other attractions and greatly enhance its possibilities as a point of particular interest to the tourist, Campbellton will, this season, have a large, new modern hotel to accommodate summer visitors. This is the Chateau Restigouche a splendid brick structure with a wide and particularly attractive entrance and front of enlaid brick. This thoroughly up-to-date three-storey building which cost nearly $200,000 was opened to the public on Monday, July 1st. It contains seventy-one rooms, all with running water, hot and cold, and thirty rooms with bath. Large private parlors have been provided for as well as spacious and well lighted dining rooms. An elevator will be installed and a large garage with individual stalls for automobiles will be one of the many attractive features for the tourist. In the spacious basement of the building are fine bowling alleys, billiard room, soda fountain and barber shop.

The Chateau Restigouche was constructed chiefly to accommodate the ever-increasing number of tourists and nothing will be left undone by the management to make holiday and other guests feel entirely at home. Every modern convenience is at hand and the cuisine and hotel service will be of irreproachable quality. Both the American and European plans will be used. The Chateau Restigouche is situated on Roseberry Street opposite the Canadian National Railway depot and commands a marvellous view of the Restigouche River, the mountains and the surrounding country.

HOW TO COME

Campbellton, the Gate-way to the Gaspé Vacationland is situated on the main line of the Canadian National Railways between Montreal and Halifax, and approximately five hundred miles from the former city, Canada's eastern metropolis. Travelling by-rail the visitor from the United States or any part of the Dominion, may make direct connections through to Campbellton and then by ferry across the Restigouche River to the resorts of the Gaspé Peninsula. For the motorist, Campbellton is easily accessible by means of the splendid highways which lead in from Montreal and Western points. The Matapedia Valley Highway leading in to Campbellton from the west is rapidly gaining the recognition it deserves as the most convenient and also the most beautiful route for the visitor motoring in from Quebec, Montreal and other upper Canadian cities. By means of this splendid highway which is being greatly improved this season the visitor from the States is enabled to make a round-about tour crossing the international boundary line at Calais, Houlton or Van Buren, Maine, on his return home. These ideal motor highways form a net work of splendid roads throughout the province which make motoring a constant pleasure for the tourist, but until the stranger has gone through the far-famed Matapedia Valley, his trip is not complete. Along this beautiful route the never-ending series of magnificent views are unsurpassed in pictorial beauty by those of any locality on the entire continent of North America.

CARLETON

Nestling almost at the water's edge between the mountains and the sea, Carleton, situated some thirty miles down the Bay Chaleur from Campbellton, is a place that will long remain a favorite among the summer resorts of Eastern Canada. For years this picturesque village has been visited by an ever-increasing number of health and pleasure seekers and in view of the variety of its attractions, its growing popularity is clearly well-merited.

The village was named in honor of Sir Guy Carleton and was first settled by a number of exiled Acadians. According to legendary lore, Jacques Cartier landed here on his first voyage to America in 1534, and erected a wooden cross in memory of his visit.

THE BEACH

Carleton's most valued asset as a vacation-ground for city-weary people of its magnificent beach which is the finest for bathing and other sea-shore recreations on the entire Gaspé Coast and unexcelled by that of any summer resort in Eastern Canada. This great expanse of splendid beach is of fine, hard sand and has always proved a delight to visitors whether devotees of bathing or not. Its attractiveness is greatly enhanced by its ideal location being flanked by two long capes which taper off to sand bars extending out into the bay, and is thus admirably sheltered in a wide crescent-shaped cove.

THE MOUNTAINS

The long range of the Tracadie Mountains lying to the rear of the village and clothed with the rich green foliage of indigenous trees, not only lend a delicate touch of artistry to the background of Nature's painting here but furnish diversion of a most healthy and invigorating kind for the holiday guest at Carleton. Hikes to the top of these lordly tree-clad hills, eighteen hundred and fifty feet above the sea level are a long remembered treat for the energetic vacationist. The view from the summit of the range is truly beautiful. Across the bay nine miles distant, the low blue hills of northern New Brunswick frame the far edge of the picture while three miles nearer the outline of Herron Island is clearly visible. Far to the west stretches the irregular coast line of the upper portion of the peninsula drawing gradually nearer to the opposite shore and finally merging its great expanse of lofty hills with the vast stretches of forest of its sister province.

The visitor is loathe to break the spell. The delicate blues of sea and sky and the varied green of distant mountain peaks and rolling farm-lands far below color a picture that is irresistible in its charm and wholly satisfying in its revelation of nature's beauty.

RECREATIONS AT CARLETON

Apart from the excellent salt water bathing, thoughtful provision for healthy, out-door recreation of all kinds has been made for the summer visitor at Carleton by the management of the Wilfred Hotel.

The older guests, intent on a luxurious rest by the sea-side, are assured the fulfilment of every desire on the wide, tree-shaded verandas of the hotel and along the delightful walks and sheltered nooks which abound on all sides. But the expectations of the youthful and more active visitors have also been considered. Boating and motoring are two features on the programme of holiday activities here. Tennis also has always proved a popular recreation and is frequently enjoyed on the smooth sand of the beach.

The wild fowl, so abundant along the shores and big game hunting farther inland are attractions that never lose their interest for the sportsman. The Nouvelle River, a few miles away is famous for its trout and there patience always rewards the fisherman with a fine catch of speckled beauties.

THE WILFRED HOTEL

At the Wilfred Hotel every need of the summer vacationist has been carefully provided for. The fine modern building beautifully situated, connects with a large new annex and has accommo-

NEW CARLISLE

New Carlisle and its immediate locality, the second vacation ground reached on a tour along the sunny south side of the Gaspé Peninsula, abounds in varied interests for the summer visitor. Clothed in a wealth of stately shade trees and with its magnificent view of the Baie des Chaleurs, this town is one of the most picturesque in the Province of Quebec. It is the recognized centre of the numerous points of interest throughout its territory and is the shiretown of the county. The country both east and west of the town proper stretches out in panoramas of fresh, green verdure eloquent of nature at its best. The district abounds in delightful drives and walks washed in warm sunshine, shaded by the protecting foliage of wayside trees and cooled by balmy, salt sea-breezes. Along these avenues of dappled shade and shadow, redolent with the mingled fragrance of flowers and the sea-sweet winds from the bay, the lover of nature may revel in all the refreshing pleasantness of summer in a delightful climate.

ONE ATTRACTION

At few summer resorts, even among the most popular national watering-places, is there to be found a finer stretch of clean, sandy beach than at New Carlisle. The locality is not without industrial activities on its coast but this wide stretch of beach, reaching out between two of these possible points of interest is always clean and wholly free from any of the debris which is usually found near the scene of industrial operations.

Bathing at New Carlisle is always a great attraction for tourists. Here it may be enjoyed to the full in the buoyant salt water of the bay. Private bath houses have been provided for the guests of the White House Hotels. The shore at this point is replete with sheltered nooks, particularly suitable for picnicking parties. Here the vacationist may follow his plunge in the surf with a restful hour of quiet where the sun lends a tropic warmth to the atmosphere but where vagrant breezes from across the sparkling waters of the bay dissipate all dread of oppressive heat.

THE LAKES

The lakes at New Carlisle have always been a great attraction for the holiday guest. These, three in number, Black Lake, White Lake and Long Lake are situated approximately two miles to the rear of the town. This beautiful lake district is easily accessible by means of a good road. Guests may motor to the first and walk the intervening distance to the others.

One of the Lakes in the New Carlisle District Where the Canoeist May Forget all Care.

Those who enjoy trout fishing will find two of these lakes a continual source of pleasure but probably the greatest charm of this lake district is in the intrinsic beauty of the surrounding scenery. The locality is a veritable natural park in its woodland loveliness and not even a protracted sojourn can rob this playground of its allure to all those who fully appreciate the freedom of the great outdoors. An evening spent at the lakes with the effulgence of the setting sun mirrored in the placid waters and the enchanting silence of twilight broken only by the mellowed notes of feathered songsters of the woods, is a reminiscence that the visitor will want to hide away in the storehouse of his most pleasant memories.

A GREAT CAMPING GROUND

The lake district at New Carlisle is one of the most delightful camping-grounds to be found anywhere. A few lodges have already been built there but as yet this beautiful locality has lost none of its wild and primitive beauty so eagerly sought by the tourist. Here in a gorgeous setting of cool, leafy bowers the camper may pitch his tent and permit the songs of the birds and the music of the wind in the tree-tops to lull into mere remote memories the erstwhile worries of business life in the hot, dusty city.

CANOEING AND BOATING

To the canoeist the clear calm waters of the lakes at New Carlisle offer another delightful and healthful diversion for here there is ample opportunity to ply the paddle. Boating on the bay is another attraction for the visitor and proper facilities for the pursuit of this holiday sport are a feature of the summer season's activities. Deep-sea fishing may also be enjoyed on the bay opposite the town. Cod and tuna are plentiful in the nearby waters and many visitors, particularly from inland centres, annually take advantage of the opportunity to indulge in this novel sport.

GOLF AND TENNIS

Thoughtful provision for other out-door recreations has also been made for the prospective visitor at New Carlisle and on the White House Grounds there are two Tennis Courts and a miniature Golf Course. Here the lovers of active sport may enjoy themselves as the spirit moves them.

MOTORING

The highways throughout the whole New Carlisle district and for miles beyond both east and west are the best along the entire coast for motoring. Automobiles are always available and motor-trips and picnics to various points along the coast may be arranged for at short notice. Horse-back riding has all but passed with the increasing popularity of the auto but all to whom this sport appeals may readily secure a trusty mount and enjoy a canter on the highway or along the quiet shaded lanes which intersect the farmlands and lead one far into delightful woodland haunts beyond a ridge of rising ground known as "the mountain" which lies approximately two miles to the rear of the town.

HUNTING

Throughout the season both big game hunting and bird shooting abound along this part of the coast. Many a proud sportsman has secured a magnificent moose head in this locality and taken it back to the city as a souvenir of his visit here. The moose season extends from September 1st to January 1st; Caribou from September 1st to February 1st; while the sportsman may shoot partridge, duck and geese from September 1st to the 15th of December. Competent guides are always available.

POINTS OF INTEREST

In the locality of New Carlisle are many points of interest to the stranger. One of these, so suggestive of association with by-gone days is the old Grist Mill about five miles from the town. This old stone mill, built in 1827, is still in operation. It was erected at a cost of $10,000, all the machinery being of English manufacture. Four miles distant from New Carlisle all phases of fishing operations, including the curing and packing of the sea's annual harvest, may be seen at first hand. Besides these, many other interesting objectives invite a visit by the tourist. These are too numerous to mention but each holds a story that will appeal to the imagination of the visitor.

THE WHITE HOUSE HOTELS

No description of New Carlisle's attractions for the tourist would be complete without reference in some detail to the White House Hotels, for here special attention is accorded the summer holiday visitor. The White House is a modern, well-appointed hostelry of twenty-four rooms beautifully situated overlooking the bay. Apart from the main building is a large new annex built expressly for the accommodation of tourists. These splendid buildings have spacious, well-lighted rooms that always please the guest. The cuisine is excellent and careful attention to the comforts of the guests adds much to the pleasure and rest of a vacation here. Rates $15.00 to $18.00 per week. ## PERCE

In introducing Perce, the third vacation-ground to be reached on the Gaspé Tour, the demands on the visitor's imagination are very nominal. A mere statement of facts has almost the tone of exorbitant praise for at few places anywhere is there revealed a single locality so crowded with such a remarkable variety of natural attractions for the stranger. Even a glimpse from the distance thrills the visitor with joyous speculation over the possibilities of a vacation at a spot so blessed with such a promise and diversified assemblage of scenic splendor. Here nature has been most extravagant in the endowment of her charms. The mountains, rising abruptly at the rear of the village and seeming to achieve the blue infinity of heaven; the marvelous view of the sea stretching out to meet the horizon, fascinating in its immensity; the majestic limestone cliffs; the towering, pierced, Perce Rock; picturesque Bonaventure Island in the foreground of the scene and the wide reach of hillsides radiant in the sunshine and dotted by trim, cosy farm-houses all combine to make an incomparable setting for a holiday of either rest or recreation.

SAMPLES OF PERCE'S SCENIC BEAUTY

DAYS OF GLADNESS

On his arrival at Perce, the summer visitor will hardly know just what to do first in a place where so many delights offer him diversion. He may feel assured of one thing, however, no matter how long his vacation, every hour may be crowded with some enjoyable pursuit. The days are days of gladness, the nights are balmy and restful and each morning finds the visitor refreshed and eager to be out of doors—radiant with the vigor of health, full of the joy of living.

Surf bathing is one of the chief recreations of the holiday visitor at Perce. The weather here is never oppressively hot but the buoyant salt water is always of a temperature to make a dip thoroughly enjoyable and the long wide beaches are unexcelled for sea-shore recreation. Here the vacationist may bask in the sunshine or recline in the shade of the cliffs, lulled into quiet restfulness by the dreamy, sedative music of the waves upon the pebbles, and revel in the littoral beauty of the surrounding scene.

PICTORIAL GRANDEUR

The view from the bathing beach at Perce is one of unexcelled pictorial grandeur, well worth travelling across a continent to see. Here one obtains a remarkable close-up view of the gigantic Perce Rock, scarcely a quarter of a mile off-shore and accessible at low tide by means of a sand bar. Here at this close range the visitor is thrilled as he gazes upon this giant prodigy of nature, so majestic in its strange and awesome beauty and impressive bulk. But

BATHURST AS A POINT OF PARTICULAR INTEREST TO THE TOURIST OR HOLIDAY GUEST

Ideally Situated in a Beautiful District Abounding In Delightful Camping Grounds, Lakes and Rivers—Excellent Facilities for Healthy Outdoor Sport of all Kinds.

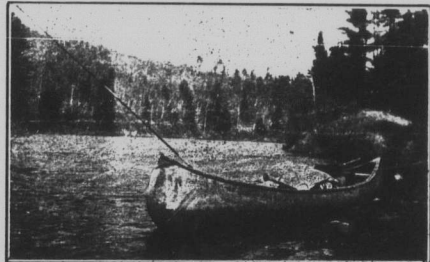

With its ideal location and splendid facilities for healthy outdoor recreation, the town of Bathurst will always rank among the most charming points of interest for the tourist or vacationist.

An industrial town with a population of about 5,000, it is situated at the head of Bathurst Basin on the Baie des Chaleurs, in one of the best hunting and fishing districts in the Province. It is on the main line of the Canadian National Railways about 500 miles from Montreal and 200 miles from St. John. All through trains from Montreal to Halifax stop here and the town and surroundings have Brunswick, Matapedia and follow rare charms for the summer visitor.

Bathurst is also fortunate in possessing some of the finest hotels in the Maritimes. To crown his pleasures the hunter or fisherman needs a modern, well equipped hotel where he can clean up and have a rest so that he will reach home to go to work immediately; and the tourist, weary of a long day's travel in the dust and heat, can refresh himself with a nice cool bath and easy bed.

THE ROAD TO TAKE

From Riviere Du Loup a picturesque highway through the beautiful Matapedia Valley, which is now a splendid auto road, you enter New Brunswick at Bathurst and follow along the south west shore of the Competent guides are located here, and supplies and equipment for the hunter and camper can be purchased or hired at reasonable rates. The guides for hunting and have their camps on the headwaters of the Nepisiguit and Teteouche rivers—territory right in the heart of the crown lands of New Brunswick. Comfortable lodges for fishing are located along the Nepisiguit. These can be leased by periods, the lease carrying with it some of the finest salmon and trout fishing which can be found in any part of Canada.

Entering from the State of Maine at ST. STEPHEN the blue route will lead you to St. John a distance of 88 miles passing through Oak Bay at 6 miles, St. Andrews at 20 miles, St. George at 30 miles, Lepreau at 62 miles, Musquash at 71 miles, and Fair-

WHERE TO GET MORE INFORMATION

Reliable information as to Hunting, fishing, and Canoeing trips, guides, etc., can be obtained by addressing the Secretary of the Northern New Brunswick Fishing and Hunting Association, Bathurst, N. B.

It is an easy matter to plan a hunting, fishing or canoe trip of eight or ten days' duration but oftentimes it is difficult to make arrangements for a day's outing. Perhaps you are touring and can only stop for a day or you may want to evade a hot wave in the city and rush out by the fastest train to some cool and refreshing spot where you can enjoy a little of your favorite sport.

Then come to Bathurst and have a holiday worth remembering.

AT THE BEACHES

Perhaps you would like a day at the beaches to have some salt water bathing. If so all you need do is to inform the Hotel Manager and he will plan the day's outing for you. Youghall beaches are one of the finest beaches in Canada and you can reach them either by motor boat or auto from Bathurst, being three miles by water and four miles over a good auto road. You can either take your lunch with you or get your meals in the dining car and we are ready to jump aboard.

In an hour of travel over the railway where we are liable to see at any moment a nimble footed deer or a moose cross the track we will be landed at Nepisiguit. Grand Falls sixteen miles distant. Here we will see the beautiful falls and the power plant of the Bathurst Electric & Water Power Co., who supply electric current to the town of Bathurst as well as several other towns in the vicinity and also turns the wheel of the big industry of the Bathurst Co. Ltd., who operate the only newsprint paper mill in the maritime provinces. We will also see mountains of iron ore at the plant of the Canada Iron Corporation. After seeing the clubhouse of the Nepisiguit Angling Club and having a look at the hundreds of salmon in the great pool at the foot of the falls we will put our canoes in the water and start for downstream. The scenery along the Nepisiguit is most beautiful and will want to take it all in so by the time we reach Middle Landing it will be time for lunch so we decide to boil the kettle here. After lunch we proceed down stream passing by the Chain of rocks. We may stop for a moment at Pabineau Falls to watch the salmon trying to shoot up the falls and then we will be off again passing by the clubhouse of the different fishing clubs until we reach Nepisiguit Junction again where we can either pull in our canoes if it is getting late and return by auto or proceed down to Bathurst by canoe.

GETTING MORE MILEAGE

The warm season is the time to realize the highest fuel economy of which your car is capable and as your summer mileage is very probably several times your winter mileage, it really pays to do everything possible to realize the full saving which can be effected. During the winter your chief concern has probably been to have your engine start promptly and quickly attain smoothness of operation and full power. As these requirements can best be satisfied by the use of a rich or slightly over-rich mixture, it is likely that the adjustment of your carburetor has been made rather "fat" for cold weather service. There are, of course, many motorists who depend upon increased use of the choke in winter driving and do not alter the carburetor setting, but it is a very common practice to open the needle valve a little, put in a larger jet or in some other way to increase the richness of the mixture as a cold weather expedient. Tests made upon a large number of cars, selected at random, have shown that the mixtures upon which the engines of a very large proportion of them were running were sufficiently over-rich to be distinctly wasteful. Whether or not you enriched your engine's mixture last autumn, it is worth your while now that warm weather has come to see if it cannot be made more economical, without material effect upon performance. If it can be weakened you will not only save a lot of gasoline but you will reduce the rate of dilution of your engine oil and diminish the tendency toward carbonization. If you are one of those who do not make your own minor adjustments, we suggest that sometimes, when your his enthusiasm is quite pardonable, however, for visitors from remote corners of the globe have declared Pêre Rock the eighth wonder of the world. This towering rock is 1200 feet long, 300 feet wide and reaches a height of 300 feet at its highest point. It is the home of countless sea-birds and much sought by artists and by geologists from all over the world for the fossils it contains. In former years this great rock had two natural arches through which boats could sail at low tide but a few years ago the rock split down one of these, thus forming a separate pillar. It is evident, however, that the incessant beating of the waves are slowly wearing other passages through this massive freak of nature and in these deep caves and about the arch already formed, the visitor may enjoy something rare—the adventure of exploring mysterious regions that are a small replica of the grotesque caverns of storied pirate days.

In the foreground and a short distance to the right is Bonaventure Island, projecting its dark form from the sea like some huge whale stranded on an invisible sand-bar. Its lofty cliffs, like

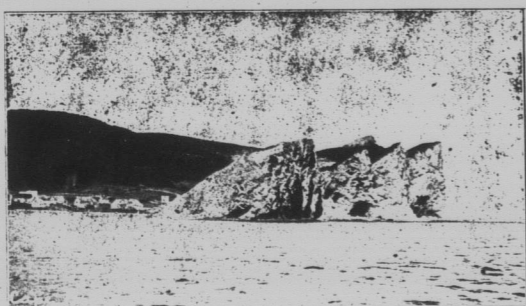

A feature on the Programme of Delightful Summer Sports at this Popular Resort

Pêre Rock, are of a species of limestone known as Conglomerate Bonaventure Formation. Bonaventure Island, three miles long and a mile in width, is famous for its Gannet ledges and, like the Rock, is a government sea-bird reservation. Here thousands of snow-white Gannets, Herring Gulls, Crested Cormorants, Auks, Murres, Guillemots, Puffins and Petrels build their nests and these multitudinous wild-fowl at home form an unique and amazing sight. A little farther to the east the lordly sea-wall cliffs of Pêre rise majestically to a height of some three hundred feet and the Three Sisters and Rosy Peak add a final touch of beauty to a truly magnificent picture.

A TREAT FOR THE GODS

The numerous mountains about Pêre are a never-ending object of admiration for the visitor. The two highest of these are Mount St. Anne and Mount Blanc or "White Mountain", and a trip to the summits of these mountains is a frequent pleasure expedition among guests of this summer colony. From the heights of Mount St. Anne, 1200 feet above the sea level, the sight is a treat for the gods. Far below at the base of the mountain is spread a magnificent panorama of Pêre Village, its carpet of green crisscrossed by the grey streaks of numerous roads. From this lofty vantage-ground even the larger buildings of the village appear ridiculous in the foreground is Pêre Rock, fantastic in form as seen from this height. Bonaventure Island, snail from a rift in the sea, lies along the tossing wave-crests of the bay. To the east rises the ruddy summit of Rosy Peak and the lower peaks of the Three Sisters, seeming to extend a mute but resolute welcome to the light of another day. To the south is the vast expanse of deep blue water jeweled by the rays of the radiant sun, and to the north stretches a magnificent confusion of moorland peaks merging their purple summits one with another until the extreme limit of vision is reached and the far rim of the picture is finally lost in the misty blue of the northern sky-line. No doubt as this sight in day-light, its transcendent beauty is multiplied to paradisaical splendor at sunrise when, the sun, rising like a huge ball of fire from the eastern sea, bathes the surrounding country in the wine-glow of dawn. Space forbids attempting the description of this daily event which many visitors forsake their beds to behold; moreover, the ineffable beauty of such a spectacle cannot be done justice in print.

A Glimpse of the Sea-Birds which in Countless Numbers make Their Home on Pêre Rock and Bonaventure Island.

MOUNTAIN HAUNTS

For the nature lover to whom vacation-time means an opportunity to roam in the solitude of fresh, cool reaches of forest and study bird and animal life in its natural haunts, the country surrounding the Pêre Mountains is a never-ending source of delight. The vicinity is replete with shaded hillside paths and strange mountain caves which never cease in their allure for the holiday explorer. In his wandering the vacationist will discover another unique creation of nature, as remarkable in its own way as the massive pierced rock at the beach. This is The Great Rift which separates Mount St. Anne from Mount Blanc. This grotesque crevice, seven feet wide at the top and tapering down to inches at its base, splits the adjacent mountain-walls for a depth of 200 feet. A trip through this giant crevice, although laborious, gives the adventuresome visitor a genuine thrill.

THE PÊRE ROCK HOUSE

Apart from all Pêre's natural attractions for the pleasure seeker there is still a great attraction to be mentioned, and, incidentally, one which provides several others. This is the Pêre Rock House situated on the side of a bluff in close proximity to

The Pêre Rock House Where the Vacationist Enjoys Everything that Makes a Holiday Worth While

Pêre Rock and, by merit of its location affording every guest, right within the confines of his room, a magnificent view either of sea or mountains.

There are no dull moments for the holiday guest at the Pêre Rock House. Almost every possible wish of the visitor has been contemplated and provision made for its gratification. In front of the hotel is a fine tennis court, always popular with the younger and more active guests. The wide enclosed veranda on two sides of the hotel offers a splendid place for dancing. Motor-boating, fishing, hunting, motoring and other recreations have all been provided for. Excursions to Bonaventure Island or Corner of the Beach beyond the mountains are events that the guest will long remember as red letter days of unalloyed enjoyment. Autos are always available for picnicking or sight-seeing parties to points of interest throughout the surrounding country.

The Pêre Rock House together with its cottages can accommodate about seventy-five guests. This fine summer hostelry is up-to-date in every particular and the treatment accorded the guest is such as to make his sojourn enjoyable in every way. The cuisine is of irreproachable quality and a novel feature of the service is the addition of a bright and airy veranda dining-room large enough to accommodate fifty guests. Lobsters, salmon and fish of all kinds, fresh from the bay, are served in season.

Gaspé as Seen From the Ferry Landing on the South Side of Gaspé Basin.

GASPE

No matter how crowded with enjoyment the tour of the summer vacationist along the scenic Gaspé Coast might be, the trip is not complete nor a full knowledge of the attractions of this holiday wonderland gained unless the visitor goes through to Gaspé, the fourth and last summer resort in this delightful vacationland. Here at Baker's Hotel, internationally famous as the Sportman's Headquarters, comes the final and crowning pleasures of the tour. The holiday guest's cup of enjoyment is filled to the brim and a memorable climax furnished to a truly delightful trip. Apart from all artificial attraction, the very location of this beautiful resort, situated as it is, on the finest natural harbor in the world, has contrived to make Gaspé the favored rendezvous of hundreds of holiday visitors each year. And as to the permanence of this popularity no doubt ever exists in the mind of anyone who has once made the acquaintance of its charms. Gaspé is different; just enough different to delight the tourist who, on his quest for diversion, seeks something new. Newness is here, and in abundance; in all the wealth of variety that nature alone can provide.

A TWO-FOLD APPEAL

For the summer visitor Gaspé has a two-fold appeal, for it possesses at least one unique distinction which no other summer resort in Eastern Canada can claim. Situated just within the entrance to Gaspé Basin, a sheltered and land-locked harbour, near the mouth of the beautiful York River and yet at the head-waters of Gaspé Bay, this delightful vacation-ground has at once all the attractions of a sheltered inland resort and yet offers to its visitors all the advantages of a watering-place on the open sea. This dual appeal is emblematic of the variety of Gaspé's attractions to the health or pleasure seeker for this characteristic enhances all the holiday activities of this delightful summer colony. Two classes of summer visitors are thus attracted to Gaspé and each enjoys in equal measure the fulfilment of his highest expectations.

RIVALLING THE BEST

Both in scenery and in healthful out-door recreations for the tourist, Gaspé closely rivals any of the popular summer resorts in

A Side View of Baker's Famous Hotel

Canada. Nestling on the sunny south side of a range of lordly mountains that rise majestically above the harbour and decked in a profusion of the fresh green verdure of summer, Gaspé Village presents a thrilling picture even to the tourist who has travelled far and behold the varied beauty of foreign lands. From the shaded roadways about Gaspé the visitor is afforded a magnificent view in all directions and from the lofty hill-tops about the village the immense panorama of sea and mountains spread out before the vision is a sight that will stir even the most jaded imagination. Seaward the gaze wanders over the wide expanse of Gaspé Bay which, twelve miles out, merges its waters with the tossing billows of the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Across the water lies the long low sand bars of Peninsula and Sandy Bay; farther south rises the stately Forillon Range with its lofty summit backed against the blue beyond and its long northern slopes carved out in trim, clean farmlands. To the east stretches the tapering promontory of Cape Gaspé, while to the north the eye ranges over a vista of mountain peaks, soft in forest coloring and reaching on and on until in the distance its dark fringe of tree-tops seems to reach the blue of heaven. Below, in the gently ruffled waters of the Basin, ships ride languidly at anchor in their sheltered haven. The scene in its brilliant profusion of coloring is one of quiet and restful beauty which defies description and forever eludes the skill of the artists' brush. Perhaps in the tranquil eventide a gentle breeze freighted with a faint salt tang from the sea and the balsamic fragrance of the forest, fans the visitor's cheek and ushers in the nocturnal quiet of a balmy summer night. Above is the star-spangled dome of heaven, while the silver radiance of moonlight bathes the scene in beauty all its own. In the solemn stillness the drooping protestations of twittering bird voices come from the leafy boughs of the shade trees and hush the vacationist into a peaceful twilight reverie—an hour of delightful rest, which crowns the day's activities on river or lake or mountain trail.

BUSINESS WORRIES FORGOTTEN

In such surroundings and amidst such delightful holiday activities as those which crowd a summer visit to Gaspé, the vacationist's business worries are forgotten. The roll-top desk seems transformed to the stately form of York Mountain; the monotonous rattle of typewriter keys is changed to the rippling music of crystal brooks; the dolorous whine of street cars is forgotten in the murmur of sea-sweet breezes in the tree-tops; the incessant drone of the city's mechanical noises is replaced by the clear-throated songs of the birds and the spasmodic rumble of the elevated is substituted by the roar of the surf on the beach. The visitor enjoys the luxurious relaxation of a vacation at its best in a land of delightful climate where the only disturbing thought is a regret that holidays are made so short.

THE TONIC OF THE OPEN

The tonic of the open spaces is one of the delights of the summer visitor at Gaspé. Here the nature lover may roam amidst the fresh, green beauty of forest and field, mountain or lake district or sequestered woodland haunts. Gaspé abounds in hunting grounds. Both big and small game is abundant and the vacationist will have constant use for either gun, fishing-rod or camera. Here the stranger will find the finest caribou hunting on the continent of North America and this attraction in the beautiful York Lake district is easily accessible to the visiting sportsman. Moose and deer and a great variety of feathered game also abounds in the great untrammelled forests of Gaspé and these unrivalled hunting grounds are steadily becoming more widely known as a veritable Sportsman's Paradise.

The lakes and streams about Gaspé abound in trout. The York river which flows into the Basin is famous for its salmon fishing and here for the ardent angler is a never-ending source of delight.

Where the Rigid Confines of Custom and Convention are Forgotten in the Joys of Vacation Time

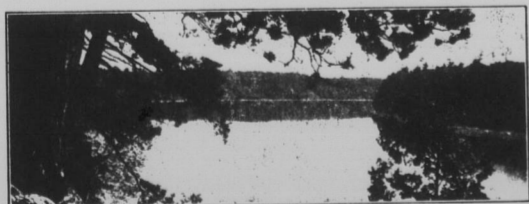

Apart from the attractions of hunting and fishing, however, the country around Gaspé is unexcelled as a vacation-ground for the health or pleasure seeker who desires merely to revel in the freshness and freedom of the great out-doors. Along the York River there awaits the lover of nature all the unspoiled beauty of wild and primitive woodland scenes that could be crowded into an excursion in the open. In countless tiny coves, out of the path of the swiftly gliding current, the placid waters mirror the trees upon the banks; the delightful quiet of cool, fragrant forest lands prevades the air and in the stillness of twilight, these nooks seem charged with an almost tangible atmosphere of peacefulness and solitude. Here, too, in this delightful woodland setting the vacationist may study with the naked eye the mysteries of nature's ever-changing beauty. From a mountain crag or through the dark screen of countless tree-trunks he may see the sky, azure at noon-day, flame to primrose at sunset. Then as day sinks to rest among the fleecy clouds which bank the far horizon, he may behold the marvelous change of colors. As moments pass the ruddy glow, first succeeded by orange, fades to saffron, then pales to heliotrope as night draws near. Then as the sky darkens to violet a blood-colored moon rises slowly above the black fringe of the forest, bathing the scene in weird, ghostly loveliness and throwing paths of glimmering gold across the dark, unruddled surface of lakes and rivers. Enraptured, the visitor gazes upon a masterpiece of Nature's creation. Only the urge of necessity forces him to reluctantly leave it and return even to the comforts of his room at the hotel.

OTHER ATTRACTIONS

Besides those already mentioned, many other attractions offer diversion for the vacationist at Gaspé. Salt-water bathing may be enjoyed either in the calm waters of the Basin or in the wind-swept surf of the Gulf of St. Lawrence along Cape Gaspé. Deep-sea-fishing, motor-boating and tennis are also features of the summer holiday programme here. Automobiles are always available for motor trips to various points of interest throughout the beautiful surrounding country and on these delightful drives the vacationist may visit numerous landmarks of eminent historical interest.

BAKER'S HOTEL

In making a sojourn at Gaspé a period of prolonged delight for the summer holiday guest, the management of Baker's Hotel has supplied everything that generous nature may have overlooked. As a result there is nothing lacking at this far-famed resort. At Baker's one finds the acme of comfort, cuisine of the highest quality and luxuries that demand a very light toll upon the purse of the holiday guest. In large comfortable rooms, famous for their "hominess" and beautiful decorations or on the spacious verandas the vacationist may relax and rest with a completeness that makes a holiday worth while. Here, as at the other summer hotels in the Gaspé Vacationland, there is no distasteful ostentation or rigid regard for convention. The children may romp in overalls. It is not essential to dress for dinner whether or not one has just returned from an expedition or a dip in the surf and the resonant clump of heavy outing boots is never greeted with a frown of disapproval.

Besides the main hotel with its dining-room large enough to seat one hundred and fifty guests, there are also Ony Ash Inn and The Lodge, operated by the same management, and with a combined capacity of fifty or over. In these two beautiful additions there are special family suites. The hotel service at Baker's is all that even the most fastidious guest might desire. Everything possible is done to make the visitor's sojourn a memorable outing with all the comforts and luxuries of his own home.

Rates range from $18.00 to $25.00 per week. Special rates for families of more than four. For reservations or any further information write John Baker, Baker's Hotel, Gaspé, Province of Quebec.

THE ROUTE TO VACATIONLAND

A Litteral View Along the Route to Vacationland, showing the Magnificent Railway Bridge at Douglastown.

In preparing this edition to acquaint you with the beautiful "Gaspé Vacationland", it is expedient that we should make plain to our readers its admirable accessibility to travellers by means of the railway lines that operate along the south coast of the Gaspé Peninsula for its entire length, a distance of two hundred and two miles, and which connect most conveniently with the other railway systems of Eastern Canada at Matapédia, thirteen miles west of Campbellton, a divisional point on the Atlantic Region of the Canadian National Railways.

The splendid highways of the Bay Chaleur district are the scenes of an annual invasion of motorists on their holiday tours but the most comfortable and most economical way of reaching any one of the quartette of delightful resorts along the coast is by means of the Quebec Oriental Railway and the Atlantic, Quebec and Western Railway lines which skirt the south shore-line of Gaspé.

The trains of this railway system connect at Matapédia with the fast through trains of the Canadian National from Montreal to Halifax. Thus the traveller from the West or any part of the United States gets started on the final lap of his journey without delay or the inconvenience of poor travelling connections. The service on these lines obviates the possibility of discomfort or undue fatigue. During the busy summer season Parlor and Chair Cars are an appreciable addition to the regular service and every convenience is carefully provided for by the railroad in their solicitude for the comfort and enjoyment of passengers.

A WEALTH OF VARIETY

It would be manifestly unfair to the stranger, undecided in his choice of a summer vacation-ground, not to give at least a brief sketch of a country so resplendent in Nature's lavish beauty, so freighted with historical significance, so replete in its colorful romance of pioneer days and so rich in legendary lore, as this country through which these railway lines convey the traveller on his way to the delightful summer playgrounds of Gaspé. These railways have always been noted for their association with a land of magnificent scenery but to the stranger, travelling on these lines for the first time, a prompt impression and one that remains is that these praises have been far too humbly sung. Along few railway routes on the entire continent may the tourist gaze from the car windows upon such a seemingly endless succession of beautiful and vari-colored pictures. And this enthralling portrayal is free from even a suggestion of the monotony of sameness. Each rock and tree, as it hurries past, seems to herald the arrival of something new and different and magically effect a perpetual change of scene. It is a superb unfolding of an immense variety of Nature's charms and, as the passenger drinks in the beauty of each fleeting landscape, he may liken it to a wonderful and seemingly endless scenic film being flashed, by some invisible and mysterious projector, across the vast screen of the far horizon.

THE RESTIGOUCHE DISTRICT

Leaving its western terminus at Matapédia the line follows the northern bank of the beautiful Restigouche River stopping at Cross Point, noted chiefly for its Malécite Indian settlement. These descendants of the original inhabitants of this country are looked after by the Capuchin Fathers, to whom they are indebted for their church and newspaper, the only one in the world printed in the Malécite language. Cross Point is immediately opposite Campbellton and an up-to-date ferry runs between the two places during the summer months. Below Campbellton the Restigouche River, about a mile in width here, widens out as it draws nearer the waters of the bay. Here in the vicinity of Point à la Garde, the traveller may view from the car window a scene of eminent historical interest for here in the river the last naval battle in the struggle for the supremacy of Canada was fought and the remains of seven or eight French ships lie sunken beneath its waters. At Carleton the first summer resort on the Gaspé Coast is reached and the identity of the Restigouche River completely lost in the wide expanse of the Bay Chaleur.

THE TERMINAL

The country from Carleton to New Carlisle is very beautiful. Several large rivers emptying into the bay are crossed by the railway. Chief among these is the Cascapédia River, considered one of the finest salmon streams in the world and visited annually by sportsmen from various parts of the United States and England. Another beautiful stream is the Bonaventure River which is crossed by an iron bridge about ninety miles from Matapédia.

Nine miles farther on is New Carlisle, the terminal station of the Quebec Oriental and the Atlantic, Quebec and Western Railways and the second summer resort on the coast. Here there is a spacious and thoroughly up-to-date restaurant at which meals are served on arrival of all trains. New Carlisle is the county seat and here are situated the Academy, with its splendid new Home for Girl

Students, the Court House and also the offices and shops of the two railway companies. The Atlantic, Quebec and Western Railway which begins here is a comparatively new line and is built on a most substantial and up-to-date standard. For the traveller there is no delay at this point for he continues his journey to Gaspé in the summer season without even the necessity of changing cars.

Paspébiac, the first station on the new line, is noted as being the headquarters of the fishing business on the Gaspé Coast for here, fish of all kinds collected from various parts of the bay are shipped to markets all over the world. Twenty miles farther on is Port Daniel situated between the mountains and the beautiful Port Daniel Bay. After passing through the Port Daniel tunnel—abored for some 800 feet through the base of an immense mountain of grey limestone—the train runs for the next fifty miles along the shore of the Bay Chaleur. Here the magnificent stretch of diversified maritime scenery will evoke repeated expressions of enthusiastic praise from the tourist, for the views on all sides are a revelation to the visitor who beholds its charms for the first time. Then, away, at some points skirts the edge of precipitous cliffs and the passenger may look down from his seat into the water of the bay below. Lofty hills, clothed in the fresh greenness of their summer dress and with their summits silhouetted against the blue of heaven, form a striking background for the north side of the picture. Far across the water the gaze rests upon other mountains which seem to rise out of the bay in the distance, dividing the vast stretches of sea and sky with a border of deep blue.

THE END OF A WONDERFUL JOURNEY

At Cape Cove the railway leaves the coast line and passes through the celebrated Percé Mountains. Through the mountains the scenery is strikingly beautiful. The surrounding country is a great assemblage of forest clad mountains broken by deep, shaded ravines. In appearance it has all the allure of a forest preserved for it possesses that ingenious beauty which needs no artificial touch to strengthen its appeal, and has a sense of being unspoiled and undespoiled. . . . a sanctuary of the great out-doors.

At Corner of the Beach the railway reaches the Shore again and runs along a level stretch of beautiful sandy beach to Barachois. The view from this point is indescribably lovely. Percé Rock shows distinctly and the Shikshock Mountains, with the picturesque little village of Corner of the Beach make a delightful picture. From Barachois to Douglastown the railway runs for the most part high up on the cliffs of Gaspé Bay and the passenger is afforded a series of remarkable views along the opposite side of this beautiful body of water. Arriving at Douglastown the sea level is once more reached and, after crossing the St. John River over a magnificent steel bridge, six hundred feet long, and running through a series of big fills and rock cuts the traveller reaches Gaspé Harbour where, by means of a ferry he is conveyed across the basin to Gaspé Village—the end of a wonderful journey through the land "Where The Tourist's Dreams Come True." And now as we leave the visitor to enjoy a sojourn in this delightful Vacationland of Gaspé he is sure to reflect that our statement about "Dreams" is well founded on "Realities."

SOME POPULAR CAMP RECIPES

Below are a number of recipes you will find especially suitable on a camping-out expedition.

HOE CAKE—FOR 2 PERSONS

One cup of cornmeal, 1/2 teaspoonful salt. Enough hot water to make a rather thick batter. Hot pan evenly but not heavily greased. Moderate fire. Cook thoroughly, browning both sides well. Serve hot with butter, gravy or molasses.

CORN BATTER CAKES

One pint corn meal, 2 pints milk or water, 2 eggs (egg powder will do just as well), 1/2 teaspoonful salt. This will make a thin batter. Cook on hot pan, turning when brown. Serve with butter, or molasses to taste.

OLD FASHIONED CORN CAKES

One quart sour milk (clabbered), 1/2 butter, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup corn meal, 1/2 teaspoonful salt. Stir in the meal, add soda and bake on hot pan well greased. Turn when browned.

FLAPJACKS

One quart flour, 1 teaspoonful salt, 2 level teaspoonfuls baking powder, 2 heaped teaspoonfuls grease, well rubbed in and if you have eggs, 2 eggs. Mix the thin batter without lumps. Get the skillet hot. Pour in enough batter to cover centre of pan or skillet to within half an inch of rim. Have skillet well greased. Cook until batter bubbles up pretty well, then flip it over for the turn. It takes a quick wrist and is rather difficult at first. Practice will make perfect.

TWIST BREAD

Three pints flour, 3 heaping teaspoonfuls baking powder, 1 heaping teaspoonful salt, 2 heaping tablespoonfuls cold grease 1 scant pint cold water. Mix as follows, with big spoon or paddle; Baking powder with flour; add salt; next rub in the cold grease—lard, bear's grease, crisco—until smooth and even; finally, add water and work up to a stiff dough. Twist your dough into a rope and wrap around a smooth stick. Hold or prop stick over fire or hot surface of stove until well done. This will result in a fine article of bread and will be enough for four men.

BOILED POTATOES

Not so easy as it sounds. Many spoil them in the process. Peel potatoes and place as peeled in cold water. Put salted water on fire until boiling. Place potatoes in this water and boil until a splinter will penetrate potatoes easily. Drain off water and set aside until dry. Then eat while hot.

FRIED POTATOES

Peel and slice potatoes fairly thin. Have a pan of hot grease and drop in slices of potato one by one. Cook in hot fat until brown, then lift off and eat. If rather thickly sliced, call them French fried. Slice more thinly and they are cottage fried potatoes.

BACON, FRIED POTATOES AND ONIONS

Fry your bacon. Lift from fat and place in stove to keep warm. Slice two boiled potatoes and one onion—all medium sized. Fry in the hot bacon fat until brown stirring all the while. When done drape the fried foods over bacon and eat. Nothing better.

FRIED SWEETS

Wash sweet potatoes and boil until done—shown by being puncturable readily by splinter. Drain off water, and set inside awash to dry. Skin and slice lengthwise. Pepper and salt to taste and fry until brown in hot fat. Satisfying and filling.

FRIED MEAT

Put fat in a deep pan and heat smoking hot. Cut the meat in small pieces and drop into fat piece by piece. Cook until done to taste and remove from fat and place on a row of sticks to drain off. Eat while hot. Pretty good.

DRY-FRIED MEAT

Ordinary shallow skillet. Just enough fat to keep meat from sticking to bottom. Heat skillet fairly hot. Lay in pieces of meat, cut small one by one. Do not stick in fork until apparently done, otherwise meat juices will escape, remove from skillet, then pepper and salt.

FRIED FISH

Dry fish, place in hot grease, pepper and salt as fish browns in pan. Grease should be piping hot in pan before fish is placed there, otherwise fish will not be crisp. Use butter. Some prefer olive oil.

FRIED SMALL FISH

If small, skewer fish on green stick and lay in pan, place slice of bacon over each fish, and fry until brown.

COFFEE

One way: One tablespoonful fresh ground coffee to a pint of water. Put in pot with cold water and raise to boil.

FOR THE OUTDOOR LUNCH Make your outing a success by taking along a quantity of GRAYS VELVET ICE CREAM. Nothing like it for the out-door lunch. In Bricks or in Bulk. Delivered to any part of the GRAYS WHOLESALE SALE.

The secretary said that there would be no trouble at all at the ports of entry, and he expressed the opinion that motorists should not postpone any journey into the United States through fear of delay at the border.

Mr. McNamee said that there was an increasing number of inquiries for camping accommodation, particularly where travelers were accompanied by children. In conclusion he again reiterated the opinion that the present season would smash all records for travel over the main highways leading to and from Montreal.
