LIEUT. FRANK RIGBY

Who went overseas in June, 1915, with the first draft of the 52nd Batt. from Fort William, Ont. On his way over he spent a day in Carleton Place, his native town. On reaching England his health became so impaired that he was unable to go to France. While in England he did Red Cross work at the Duchess of Connaught Hospital, Cliveden, and for his valuable work there was recommended for a Commission in the Royal Flying Corps. He began his training in August, 1917, and proceeded to France in January, 1918. While on a low bombing show on the 27th of March, 1918, he was brought down. Since then he has been reported missing, until now the parents received the official notice that he is presumed to have died on or after the 27th of March, 1918. He is second son of Mr. and Mrs. Rigby of North Bay, formerly of Carleton Place. He was twenty-three of age.

Mississippi Golf Club

The annual meeting of the Mississippi Golf Club was held last Thursday, in the Council Chamber with a good attendance, when the following officers were elected: Hon. Pres., Geo. H. Findlay; Pres., Dr. Downing; Vice-Pres., C. McIntosh; Sec.-treas., F. H. Adamson; Captain, R. Thomson, Jr. Management Committee—Above officers with chairman of other Committees and C. W. Bates, D. W. F. Caldwell, A. R. G. Peden, R. Galbraith, J. K. Findlay, R. Thomson, Sr., W. Findlay, R. Patterson and A. Rosamond (Almonte). Membership and Subscriber—R. W. Bates, R. Thomson, Sr., A. E. Cram, Geo. H. Findlay, D. B. Oliver, and E. Scott (Almonte). Greens Committee—C. C. Brown, E. H. Ritchie, President; Secretary and Captain, House Committee—C. W. Bates, Dr. McEwen, J. K. Findlay and E. H. Ritchie, Mrs. R. W. Bates, Mrs. Dr. McEwen, Mrs. Galbraith and Mrs. J. K. Findlay. Match and Rules Committee—R. W. Bates, President, Secretary and Captain. A very successful year is anticipated at the links, and every man and woman in town is urged to take advantage of the excellent facility, and to become a member. Ladies especially are requested to join. Over $800 in subscriptions and fees was received at the meeting, and a committee was appointed to canvass for further stock.

The Hydro Commission Want Power Station

At a union meeting of the Town Council and the Board of Trade, held last Wednesday evening, Messrs. Kribbs and Drury, of the Hydro Electric Commission, were heard at length on the proposition made by the Commission to purchase the power station and the power recently purchased by the town from Messrs. H. Brown & Sons. Assurances were given that the lighting rates would not be raised, and the power with the extra 300 h.p. included would not exceed $30 to 33 per. After a very full discussion a resolution was passed unanimously recommending to the Council to dispose of the development station and water power to the Hydro Commission at an estimate of $60,000, and that the town contract for 300 additional horse power to be brought in for industrial purposes.

United Textile Workers Elect Officers

Last Tuesday the newly organized Chapter, No. 1123, of the United Textile Workers of America, elected officers as follows: Pres., Nor. Anderson; Vice., A. Rorebec; R. Sec., E. McCaffrey; F. Sec., E. Welsh; Treas., J. A. McLachlin; Con., E. Wilson. The meeting was largely attended and much interest is being shown in the new organization. Among the visitors were Mr. Green from Ottawa and Mr. Playfair from Almonte both of whom spoke. The membership is growing rapidly and a very large Chapter will shortly be established here.

A Breed Test

At the Ottawa Experimental Farm 55 dairy cows were kept in 1917. The average returns from these cows, between calvings, over and above cost of feed, with labor, not included on one side or manure and calf on the other, was $95.18. The best showing was made by the Holsteins, fifteen of this breed averaging $110.97 at one feed cost, and eight grade Holsteins, $113.25. Five French Canadians were a close second with an average of $110.33. Nine Jerseys averaged $86.22 over cost of feed, fourteen Ayrshires $82.42, and four grade Ayrshires $78.79.

Next Sunday will be Easter.

A smileless face is like a lightless lamp. Someone will have to build houses if the town is to grow.

Miss Edith McNab, of Ottawa, spent the week-end with friends in town.

The 22nd will be St. Julien Day. We do not hear of anything being done in Carleton Place to commemorate it.

The officers of the Canoe Club meet this evening to discuss ways and means for the erection of a new club house.

Mr. W. P. Thom has taken over the Renfrew Dairy business here and will commence delivery, Thursday, April 17th.

Remember St. Andrew's Concert on Tuesday evening, April 29th. Watch for posters.

Dr. J. A. McEwen has purchased the building in which he resides from the Bank of Ottawa. The location is ideal for his profession.

Lieut. W. G. Ferguson has resigned his position with the Department of Public Information at Ottawa and is visiting his home here for a few days.—Smiths Falls News.

AT HOME—The Officers and Members of L.O.L. No. 48 will be at home to all members and their ladies on Thursday evening, April 17th, in the lodge room at 8 o'clock. E. CORR, Ch. Com.

Notwithstanding having auction sales nearly every day, Mr. Hollinger shipped from here on Saturday last two cars of cattle to the Montreal market. In the lot were ten choice head from Alex. Cavers of Beckwith, and from such other good breeders as Robert Scott, John Cameron, Allan McArthur and others. The prices paid were high.

The Presbyterians are particularly fortunate with the speakers they have obtained for the Forward Movement meetings this week. Last night it was Rev. R. B. Whyte of Ottawa; to-night it is to be Rev. Wesley Megaw, also of Ottawa. To-morrow night, Rev. Hamilton, of Brockville, is to speak, Thursday Rev. Dr. Milne, and Friday, Rev. J. W. Woodside, both of Ottawa. The meeting last night was largely attended and the address was a most able one. The meetings are all open to the public.

Pte. C. H. Paul, son of Mr. Wm. Paul, arrived on the S.S. Minnekadha from overseas on Saturday, March 29th. Charlie had enlisted with the 7th Batt., Vancouver, and was wounded at Cambrai in September, having received gunshot wounds in head, shoulder, breast and knee, with a previous shrapnel wound in the thigh. Shortly afterwards he was taken to St. George's Hospital, Hyde Park Corner, London, where he remained till January. His many friends are pleased to know he has made such a good recovery.

Mr. John E. Aust, piano tuner, representing Mr. M. Webster, will make periodical visits to Carleton Place. Orders left at McIntosh's Drug Store will receive prompt attention. Mr. Aust is an experienced tuner and comes very highly recommended by Mr. Webster.

Friday next will be Good Friday.

The annual district meeting of the Perth District of the Methodist Church will convene in Perth on May 13th.

The proposition whereby Mr. John Edwards was to purchase Mr. Theo. McFadden's house, on Frank street, did not go through, and hence the property is still in the market.

Renfrew Chief of Police, Jos. O. Plannit, has resigned his position, after a splendid record of ten years' faithful service as Chief. He has purchased a blacksmith business in Admaston.

The death took place in Montague of Isabel Moor, wife of Robert Sample, on Sunday, April 6th. The deceased was seventy-four years of age and had lived in Montague nearly all her life.

Mr. Arthur Burrows, locomotive engineer, A.C., who has been on leave of absence for 30 days visiting friends at Ottawa and at the Derry, left on Saturday morning for his home at the Sault.

Sale of Home-made Baking—under the auspices of the Choir of St. Andrew's Church, to be held in the McDiarmid block (next door to J. A. Dack) on Saturday afternoon, April 19th commencing at 3 p.m. Afternoon tea will be served.

The Oddfellows will observe the centennial anniversary of their order by attending service in Zion church on the morning of the 27th, when Rev. Mr. Dobson will conduct a special service appropriate to the occasion.

Mr. J. S. Giles, editor of the Lachute Watchman, and his son Mr. Robt. Giles, who has recently returned from overseas after seeing three years service, were week-end guests of Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Forsythe at the Baptist manse, and took part in the musical services at the anniversary.

Lieut. Franklin Abbott, of the Royal Air Force, arrived home last Wednesday evening, having received his discharge after spending two years in the service, being once wounded by the enemy and afterwards laid aside by illness succeeding a severe attack of influenza. Franklin looks very well after his trip and hopes shortly to be fully restored to health.

This is the time of the year when people should give attention to cleaning up and beautifying their homes, and thus adding to the general appearance as well as the enjoyment of the summer season. Spring has always been regarded as the special period of the year for house-cleaning, home improvement and furnishing time generally. "Clean up and Paint up," has become a popular slogan. Start now.

SHIPPING DAY

Auditors—Dr. M. H. Steele and F. A. J. Davis.

The question of a new clubhouse came up for discussion and it was decided to leave this matter over until Tuesday evening, April 15, when the matter will be more fully gone into. The club will hold the annual regatta.

The Baptist Anniversary

The anniversary services in connection with the Baptist church were observed on Sunday, and proved a splendid success. The preacher for the day was Rev. S. J. Farmer, of Ottawa, who delivered two very able discourses that were greatly appreciated. The evening services were especially well attended. On Sunday the choir was assisted by Mr. J. S. Giles of Lachute, who sang a solo very acceptably at both services whilst his son, Mr. Robt. Giles, presided at the organ. Last night a social entertainment was held, when Rev. Mr. Wright, of Smiths Falls, gave an address, and a musical programme was rendered by the choir, assisted by Mr. Robt. Giles.

War Veteran's Association

A meeting of returned soldiers and all others interested in their welfare will be held in the town hall on Wednesday (to-morrow) evening, at 8 o'clock, when Mr. W. E. Tournay, of Toronto, provincial secretary of the G.W.V.A. will be present and deliver an address, explaining in full the aim and object of the association. Other speakers will also be present. The object is to organize a local branch of the association. It is hoped there will be a large attendance.

A Big Auction Sale

The most successful sale ever held in this part of the country took place at Mr. D. B. McLaren's on Wednesday last, when he disposed of his farm stock and implements. The day was fine, the stock was good, the crowd was large, and prices ran high. Goodfellow Bros. of Ramsay got three cows at about $50.00. The 2-year-old bull was knocked down to Frank Ireton of Drummond for $185. R. Montgomery, of Goulbourn, bought the sow and litter of pigs for $140. Sheep sold for $35 each. Mr. R. Scott was the lucky purchaser of a week old calf at $77.50, and everything else sold in comparison. Needless to say, Mr. Chas. Hollinger was the auctioneer. The sale netted $6,000.

Hands-Shields

On Tuesday evening, at six o'clock, the marriage was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Shields, John street, east, of their third eldest daughter, Edna Elizabeth, and Mr. W. T. Hands of Drummond township. Rev. G. W. McCall of the Methodist church was the officiating clergyman. There were no attendants. The bride was given away by her father, and wore a gown of white silk crepe de chene and carried a bridal bouquet of roses. After the ceremony, a supper was served, only immediate friends and relatives being present. Mr. and Mrs. Hands left on the local for Perth and on to their home in Drummond where the groom is a prosperous farmer. Going away, the bride wore a tailored suit of green broadcloth, cream georgette crepe blouse and a green hat. A number of lovely and useful gifts were given the young couple, consisting of silver and cut glass. Miss Shields was a nurse by profession and has been practising her profession for five years. She is a graduate of the Methodist Episcopal Hospital in Brooklyn, N.Y., and was a most capable and efficient nurse. The Record joins with the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Hands in wishing them a happy married life.—Rideau Record.

The best speakers from Ottawa are to address the Forward Movement meetings in the Presbyterian churches this week.

Death of Rev. H. J. McDiarmid

On Tuesday last there passed away at his home in Perth, the Rev. H. J. McDiarmid, senior minister on the roll of Lanark and Renfrew Presbyteries, after a very brief illness. The deceased venerable clergyman was in his eightieth year and had been over half a century in the ministry of the Presbyterian church. Of late years he has lived retired in Perth, but up to the last took an earnest pastime interest in the work of the Presbytery, at all of whose meetings he was a familiar attendant. He was greatly beloved by his brethren in the ministry and by the congregation of which he had been pastor. He was an unflinching upholder of the old gospel of the Son of God and never wavered in his belief that it was the only hope of mankind. The funeral at Perth on Thursday afternoon was largely attended and was in charge of the Presbytery, the clergy present being Revs. Dr. A. H. Scott, Wm. Peacock, J. G. Greig, J. C. MacLeod, J. W. S. Lowry, W. M. Grant, and H. Walker. After appropriate devotions in the home by Rev. Mr. Lowry, the funeral proceeded to Knox church, where an impressive service was conducted in the presence of a sympathetic congregation. Rev. Dr. Scott leading the prayers and Rev. W. M. Grant delivering a suitable and very comforting address. The remains were conveyed to Kenpville by train and there, reverently interred.

HOME CIRCLE COLUMN

Pleasant Evening Reveries dedicated to tired Mothers as they Join the Home Circle at Evening Tide.

BENEVOLENCE

Queen of virtues and lovely star in the crown of life, it is the bright and glorious image of Him who is love. How beautiful it is in a woman's heart. A woman without benevolence is not a woman, she is simply a deformed personality of womanhood. In every heart there are many tendencies to selfishness, but the spirit of benevolence counteracts them all. A hollow, cold, graceless, ungodly thing is a heart without benevolence. In a world like this where we are all so needy and dependent, where our interests are all so interlocked, where our lives and hearts overlap each other, and often grow together, we cannot live without a great deal of benevolence. Our true earth life is a benevolent one and our highest interests are in the path of benevolence. We do most for ourselves when we do most for others. "It is more blessed to give than to receive." Good deeds double in the doing, and the larger half comes back to the door. A large heart of charity is a noble thing. The most benevolent soul lives nearest to God. Selfishness is the root of evil, and benevolence is its cure. In no heart is benevolence more beautiful than in the heart of a youthful woman and in no heart is selfishness more ugly. To do good is noble, but to be good is nobler. This should be the aim of all young men. The poor and needy should occupy a large place in their hearts. The sick and suffering should move on their sympathies. The sinful and criminal should awaken their deepest pity. The oppressed and down-trodden should find a place in their compassion.

Real womanliness is a woman's greatest beauty and most winning grace.

A BRAWLING WOMAN

A brawling woman can make more contention than any other created thing unless it is a guinea hen or a peacock. A brutal word hurts more than a blow. You can heal a physical hurt, but there is no balm for a heart-bruise. A word is not like a kite. You can't draw it back with a string, once spoken it is like a bird let loose from a cage, it will never come back and be locked behind the bars of forgetfulness again. Would it not be a good idea, then, as much as possible, to forego idle gossip about troubles that can't be helped, and to resolve to be mute where we can't say pleasant things. Sympathy is necessary to us all; but sympathy carried to an excess is like an overdose of opium, it weakens the fibre and dulls the spirits. Too much chattering about troubles that must be endured rather than cured, will end in making weaklings of us. The way to get along in this world is to keep our breath and our strength for the battlefield, and not waste it in idle chat about the campfire. The man who talks is not the man who does. The time the gallant Sheridan put in riding down to Winchester would never have immortalized his name had he descended.

TEN REASONS

During the recent campaign in the north riding of Ontario county, the following "ten reasons" why every farmer should vote straight for his own man were prepared by Sergt. A. M. Hunter, who played his part in the great campaign:

- 1.—Because direct representation is necessary for the greatest interest in Canada—Agriculture.
- 2.—Because the farmer is not represented in the legislatures in accordance with his numerical strength or his importance to the community.
- 3.—Because rural Canada is being depopulated and community life is moribund.
- 4.—Because the farmer cannot determine the selling price of his own product.
- 5.—Because he bears the heaviest burden of the labor of producing food-stuffs.
- 6.—Because he can alter these bad conditions when he is directly represented in the legislature.
- 7.—Because it is necessary to progress in a democratic state for agriculture to sit at the Council table.
- 8.—Because stronger representation in the Ontario Assembly will later mean direct representation in the Dominion Cabinet.
- 9.—Because the general well-being of the country is a greater consideration than the interests of a small section.
- 10.—Because it is the only way to insure a square deal between producer and consumer.

Looks Like Economy

Montreal Gazette: The Government of Ontario has introduced in the Legislature a bill to limit the number of judges by abolishing the position of junior judge of the county courts elsewhere than in Toronto and Hamilton. The pay of the judges comes from the treasury of Canada, not from that of the province. The bill, if it becomes law, will reduce the number of appointments to be made, and lessen the outflow of federal money into the province. The Canadian public is not used to this sort of thing. It looks like economy.

Winnipeg is said to have so many home stills that the liquor situation is beyond control.

According to a bulletin on the subject of wood fuel issued by the Commission of Conservation, two pounds of seasoned wood have a fuel value equal to one pound of coal.

ed from his horse and talked the situation over with every straggler he met.

It's ten thousand times harder to be generous. It is enough to give a poor woman a dollar, but when it comes to following a straight line, being just in all things, just to God, to your family, to your children, to all men, it is a different thing. Some men are never just to their wives. They pay their cook $5 very willingly Saturday night, but when the hard-working, economical, painstaking wife asks for a little money on Monday the brute will say, "Oh, wife, what do you want with money?"

Is it right for us to complain so much of our hardships and our disappointments? Can we expect to hear a "Well done, thou good and faithful servant," when we are doing so little with the talents given us? Is it reasonable we should expect to be given a world that is full of beauty and of richness, if we spend our time here in lamenting the crosses of life? Must a fairer home than this be given if we close our eyes to all the pictures which Nature has drawn to please them, turn a deaf ear to the strains of music that are vibrating the air about us, and murmur of hunger when rare fruits but need the gathering? Can't we do our part a little better? Can't we help others about us to raise the thin curtain of ignorance, doubt or despondency, which is shutting out the light of joy which shines for all? "Thou has been faithful over one city. I will make thee ruler over many." It is not likely that you and I were made to rule cities, but we have been given our work to do. Will we be faithful to the trust?

The mother heart does not need soft satin and lace and embroidered linens and rose-hooded candles to make itself felt. It beats just as devotedly and happily under cheap cottons as under silken folds; it watches in the silence of the night by the lowly couch of some little sufferer as tenderly as it does by the side of some other little patient in the splendid mansion; it reaches out to the convict behind the prison doors with the same love that glories in the success of a renowned statesman. Mother love in its countless combination furnishes a theme as old as the hills perhaps, but one from which the noblest of inspirations are drawn. In nearly all relations of life, from those of blood to those of friendship, wonderful combinations can be made—combinations which illustrate to the world the great heights which a pure love can attain, combinations which act as gigantic reflectors, which not only send light into dark places, but which draw all within reach into the circle of their brightness.

Fill your soul with richness, then when sorrow comes to you, her black shadows will be parted into golden rifts by your gathered sunshine.

WELL SATISFIED WITH BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Mrs. Edmond Gagne, Tikuape, Que., writes:—"I am well satisfied with Baby's Own Tablets. They are absolutely necessary in homes where there are little children. They cured my baby of constipation and I would not be without them." Thousands of mothers always keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets on hand as a safeguard against constipation, colic, colds, simple fevers or any other of the minor ills of little ones. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

New York's Flying Police

Plan of the New York police department for a "cloud cop" section materialized when 26 American, British and French aviators were sworn in the office of Dep'y Police Commissioner Rodman Wanamaker as members of the police reserves. Col. Jefferson Demount Thompson, who will command the police aviation squadron, announced that uniforms for the aerial patrolmen had been ordered and that planes would be ordered in May at a meeting of airplane manufacturers in Atlantic City. The squadron probably will take the air by June he said. According to Col. Thompson, the squadron when completed will comprise 150 men including flyers, mechanics, supply officers, medical officers, a chaplain and cooks. Landing places will be at Governor's Island, Van Cortland and Sheepshead Bay. Later he said, landing places probably will be constructed at the tops of high buildings. Both land and sea planes will be used, he said.

One of the Dominion Government's new standard boats for the inland lake trade is to be built by the Kingston Shipbuilding Co. The keel has already been laid, and much progress has been made in assembling the various parts. The vessel is one of the largest ever built in this yard, being 260 feet long, 45 feet beam, and 30 feet in depth.

TRETTURE OF CAFE AU LAIT

Cafe au lait forms this smart trette that should appeal to many women. The surplice waist has a large collar of beaver and the bell sleeves are edged with the same fur. Tassels of brown silk add an effective touch.

TO DETECT IMPURE MATERIAL

Silk, Linen, Leather, Among the Various Articles That Are Being Cleverly Counterfeited.

The "beware of imitations" line so common in advertisements is really a piece of good advice, observes a correspondent. An almost limitless amount of ingenuity is devoted to producing cheap substitutes for popular articles. In appearance they must rival the genuine, so it is well to know how their real quality must be tested. Nothing, for instance, is more satisfying to eye and touch than pure linen and most woman shoppers believe it has a distinctive "feel."

It has, but mixed with the linen of the next tablecloth you examine may be mercerized cotton, treated with magnesia so that it counterfeits this "feel." An easy test is to hold the fabric up to the light. Along the threads of good linen tiny knots will show. Cotton threads are smooth. An infallible method is to soak a corner of the napkin in glycerin. If it becomes translucent it is pure linen; if it remains opaque it is cotton.

Short skirts make stockings a distinctly conspicuous feature of woman's dress, so the demand was greatly increased for silk substitutes. Some are made of wood pulp, others of artificial silk. Cotton, of course, is mixed with good silk, and a poor quality product is given weight by treating it with oxide of tin. Small particles of the metal are scattered through the fabric, which cut tiny holes or cause the garment to crack along a folded edge.

The sure test for silk is to burn a bit of it. If pure scarcely a trace will remain, but a poor quality will leave one-third to one-half its weight in ashes. Beware of silk that has a hard feeling, or if it has a transparent look when held to the light. This means it is a mesh, filled in and weighted with metal.

Wool will disappear if boiled in a solution of caustic soda. If the fabric be mixed with cotton the latter will remain undissolved. This is a valuable test, for it is hard to tell what goes into some articles guaranteed as "all wool." Blankets offer a good field for the imitator, sheep furnishing but little of the fiber in some of those labeled "half wool." Specimens of such have been found to contain but 10 per cent wool. These are made of a mesh cotton, filled in by means of an air blast with scraps of waste wool. The result is a soft, fluffy covering, but little of it will remain after a first or second washing.

Shoe soles are made of ground leather scrap mixed with paper pulp and rubber. Cowhide is split into half a dozen layers and the source of many an expensive alligator handbag or pigskin leggings once wore horns—perhaps was the pride of some dairy.

Corduroy Kimonos.

Some new kimonos shown in some of the shops are a strange combination of style and fabric. They are Japanese kimonos made of corduroy. But when you come to think of it, wouldn't they be delightfully comfortable? Think of wrapping one of them around you some cold winter day when the necessary restrictions in coat make the thermometer lower than comfort calls for. That is probably what their makers thought of. And so although kimonos of blue and rose corduroy embroidered with silk chrysanthemums seem a bit of a strange combination and contrast still they are a delightful concession to the cold that is coming.

Logical Wish

On the outskirts of Philadelphia is an admirable stock farm. One day last Summer some poor children were permitted to go over this farm, and when their inspection was done to each of them was given a glass of milk. The milk was excellent.

"Well, boys, how did you like it?" the farmer said, when they had drained their glasses.

"Fine," said one little fellow. Then after a pause he added, "I wisht our milkman kept a cow."

Rheumatism, Kidney or Stomach Trouble and Asthma Promptly Cured

For Rheumatism, Kidney Trouble, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Sick or Sour Stomach, Bitter taste in the mouth, Loss of Appetite, and Asthma, this medicine has no equal. Two to five doses will cure Sore Back or Sluggish Kidneys.

Corporal W. Lewis No. 305525, 1st D.A.C., at present residing in Eganville, Ont., writes:—"I was 18 months in France and went through the battles of the Somme, Vimy Ridge, Lens, Hill 70 and Passchendaele. On account of Kidney Trouble I was invalided to England. I was treated there for some months in the 5th, and 11th Hospitals, and was finally invalided home to Ottawa, where I received treatment in the Convalescent Home. I was finally discharged as being medically unfit for further active service. Having heard of your Victory Rheumatic and Kidney Cure, I decided to try it, and after using four bottles I feel certain it has made me as well as ever, and I am gaining in weight every week. I can highly recommend it to any sufferer from Kidney Trouble as a sure and quick cure."

Mr. W. J. Payne, Renfrew, Ont., writes:—"I had Rheumatism in my arms, shoulders and legs for over four years. At times I was unable to get on my coat without assistance. My kidneys were also in bad shape. Three bottles of your Victory Rheumatic and Kidney Cure completely cured me."

For sale by W. P. Pattie, Carleton Place, M. R. McFarlane, Almonte; L. A. Wilson, Smiths Falls; J. L. Rochester Ltd., Rideau St., Ottawa; or direct from the manufacturer W. F. Ritchie, box 296, Renfrew, Ont.

The Invisible Conflict

From the moment of birth— and before—until the hour of death, there is going on within the body a constant conflict, unseen and usually unfelt, between forces that seek to defend, and others that strive to destroy.

Germs that enter from without are attacked and destroyed by the living guardians in the blood, the white blood cells or phagocytes. Poisons generated within seek entrance into the blood and are removed or destroyed by the functions of the intestines, liver and kidneys.

Food waste allowed to stagnate and remain in the intestines, unevacuated, poisons the blood and destroys its power to defend against outside or inside enemies. Such self-poisoning causes over 90% of human illness.

Constipation turns the tide of the invisible conflict against the body, in favor of the invaders. Nor does the taking of castor oil, pills, salts, mineral waters, etc., to force the bowels to move enable the body to defend itself. Not only will the constipation grow worse with the continuance of such remedies but the dose must be constantly increased with an ever-weakening effect.

On the other hand Nujol overcomes constipation and brings about the habit of easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals, because Nujol is not a drug, does not act like any drug. Nujol brings about a return to Nature's methods by supplying necessary lubrication of the bowel contents, by facilitating intestinal muscular action, by absorbing poisonous matter, and thus securing necessary cleansing of the intestinal canal and protection of the defensive properties of the blood itself.

Get a bottle of Nujol from your druggist today and send coupon for free booklet—"Thirty Feet of Danger."

OPERATIVE EXPERIMENTS IN WEED ERADICATION

This experimental work was commenced in 1912 and has been conducted now for seven successive years. The object of this work is to have carried on by men on their own farms experiments in the eradication of weeds, the results of which will furnish data from which definite information may be obtained regarding the best methods of controlling the various troublesome weeds of the Province. Before the results of these experiments began to accumulate there was very little or no definite knowledge concerning the eradication of weeds.

The weeds experimented with are Perennial Sow Thistle, Twitch Grass, Bladder Campion or Cow Bell, Wild Mustard, Ox-eye Daisy, Field Bindweed or Wild Morning Glory, Wild Oats and Chess.

Each spring leaflets are sent out to numerous farmers of the Province inviting all who have any of these troublesome weeds on their farms to co-operate with us in this work and try the experiment outlined for the particular weed which is giving them trouble. Application forms for the experiments accompany the leaflets. To those who fill in these and return them detailed directions for the carrying out of the experiment selected are sent and in the fall they are supplied with blank forms on which to report the results of their work.

In the past seven years (1912-18) over sixty farmers have co-operated in this work and some valuable information has been obtained. It may be briefly summarized as follows:

1. That good cultivation followed by rape sowing in drills provides a means of eradicating both Perennial Sow Thistle and Twitch Grass.

2. That rape is a more satisfactory crop to use in the destruction of Twitch Grass than Buckwheat.

3. The thorough, deep cultivation in the fall and spring, followed by a well cared for hoed crop, will destroy Bladder Campion.

4. That Mustard may be prevented from seeding in oats, wheat and barley by spraying with a 20% solution of iron sulphate without serious injury to the standing crop or to fresh seedlings of clover.

The following are the experiments outlined for this year.

1. The use of rape in the destruction of Perennial Sow Thistle.

2. A system of intensive cropping and cultivation, using winter rye followed by turnips, rape or buckwheat, for eradicating Perennial Sow Thistle.

3. The use of rape in the destruction of Twitch Grass.

4. A method of cultivation for the eradication of Twitch Grass.

5. Method of cultivation for the eradication of Bladder Campion or Cow Bell.

6. Spraying with iron sulphate to destroy Mustard in cereal crops.

7. A method of cultivation for the eradication of Ox-eye Daisy.

8. A method of cultivation and cropping for the suppression of Field Bindweed or Wild Morning Glory (requires two years to compete).

9. A method of cultivation and cropping for the eradication of Wild Oats (requires two years to complete).

10. A method of cultivation for the eradication of Chess.

All who have any of these weeds on their farm are invited to join with us in this work. By so doing they should be able to clean the field of the weed experimented with and demonstrate to their own satisfaction the effectiveness of the method tried and at the same time their results will be of great value to others. Full information can be obtained concerning these experiments by writing to the director of Co-operative Weed Experiments, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

A GILT-EDGED TRADE FOR CANADA IN 1919

Tourist "trade" gives quickest returns for service of any commerce any land can undertake. Payment, cash "on the spot" is for exactly those things which the people produce and originate themselves. In that sense tourist traffic forms a most valuable national asset of "gilt-edged imports" of practically nothing but dollars.

It is an aspect of Canadian trade which must not be overlooked in this year of difficult re adaptation to peace conditions.

The Trade Adviser of the Pan American Union, an international organization maintained by the twenty Latin-American republics and the United States for the development among other things of friendly intercourse, writes to the Canadian Trade Commission as follows:

"I am inclined to think that all parts of Canada could receive thousands of tourists from the United States during the coming summer if special efforts were made by the Dominion to let it be known generally in this country that Canada wants tourists to come. Possibly articles in journals and magazines, calling special attention to the delightful climate of Canada, the fishing possibilities, the scenery and other attractions would induce more than usual thought being given to that country.

Our people who may be a bit more settled than during the war years "wish to go somewhere," and as they cannot go to Europe, or Mexico, and as South America is too far away and passports too difficult to obtain, our own western country and Canada then become more or less Mecca.

Canada's Asbestos Output

The production of asbestos in the Dominion has increased very greatly during the past four years, and average prices in 1918 were about three to four times those of 1914, as shown by the preliminary report on the mineral production of Canada during 1918, issued by the Department of Mines. The total value of the shipments of asbestos and asbestine in 1918 was $8,970,779, as against $7,230,383 in 1917. A total of 3,074 men were employed in 1918 in the asbestos industry, and the total wages paid were $2,871,643.

Of Interest to Bakers

Bakers will be interested to know that one of the benefits instituted by the Canada Food Board under the licensing system is to be continued as a private undertaking. This is the educational side of baking, in which an effort was made to improve the standard of bread-making by applying latest knowledge of processes and methods. Mr. W. H. Linn, late Chief of the Bakery Section of the Food Board, is now consulting and advisory taking expert at Ottawa, and will deal with any trade difficulties.

Forest Destruction in War

A recent survey by Percival Ridsdale, Secretary of the American Forestry Association, shows that there are some 1,500,000 acres of forest lands in France destroyed by the Germans, or about ten per cent of the total standing timber in that country. But he found that in England no less than 450,000 acres have been deliberately destroyed by Englishmen themselves, and this means no less than half the total standing timber in that country. Even the venerable giants in Windsor Park were leveled, and the seven thousand acres of the Park would have been laid bare had not fire destroyed the Canadian sawmill there just before the remaining trees were reached.

GLYCERINE MIXTURE FOR APPENDICITIS

Carleton Place people can prevent appendicitis with simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-ika. ONE SPOONFUL flushes the ENTIRE bowel tract so completely it relieves ANY CASE sour stomach, gas or constipation and prevents appendicitis. The INSTANT, pleasant action of Adler-ika surprises both doctors and patients. Leaves stomach clean and strong. W. J. Hughes, druggist.

It Made a Difference

A noted physician particularly expeditious in examining and prescribing for his patients was sought out by an army man whom he "polished off" in almost less than no time. As the patient was leaving he shook hands heartily with the doctor and said: "I am especially glad to have met you, as I have often heard my father, Colonel Blank, speak of you." "What!" exclaimed the physician, "are you old Tom's son?" "Certainly," "My dear fellow," cried the doctor, "fling that infernal prescription in the fire and sit down and tell me what is the matter with you."

Will Meet in Canada

The National Fire Prevention Association, which has a large membership in both Canada and the United States, will hold its annual meeting about the middle of May. It is due to the efforts of the Commission of Conservation that the association is to meet in Ottawa, according to officials of the commission. At the meeting the whole question of fire prevention will be discussed by experts and further measures will be taken in the interest of reducing fire losses, it is stated.

As the Boys Come Home

"I understand that you have taken on a number of returned soldier boys to work here on the farm."

"Sure I did. I needed help and it was a patriotic thing to do."

"How is the scheme working out?"

"Fine, I have my son blow on a bugle at 5 o'clock every morning, and the girls dress up as Red Cross nurses and I named every rock and stump in that fresh ground over there after some German general."

Rather Different

Some time ago a resident in Dublin entertained an old Presbyterian minister, who was rather short sighted, and loved to prattle about the city by himself.

On returning home one evening, his host found him reading the Bible and muttering to himself:

"Very strange. Remarkably strange! I have read Genesis XXX through three times and fail to find the allusion."

The host naturally enquired what was troubling his visitor.

"Why I cannot understand why so many of the shops have the reference Genesis XXX inscribed upon them. I have seen it everywhere, even on barrels."

Light dawned on the host at last.

"Oh!" he explained laughingly. "You mean Guinness's XXX!"

THE HERALD.

TUESDAY, APRIL 15TH, 1919

The House of Commons is now running on railroad time.

CANADA'S war estimates for this year call for an expenditure of $350,000,000. National thrift on a large scale is still very necessary.

THE Canadian national debt in 1914 totalled $46 a head. It is now over $270. Increased trade only, says C.T.C., can help us to carry the new burden.

Who won the war is a question about which there is a difference of opinion. But the war was won by a higher power—the power of right over wrong.—General Maurice.

IMPORTS in the last analysis can only be paid for by exports. The Dominion war debt has grown so that an increased export trade is imperative, according to the advisors of the Canadian Trade Commission.

THIS war has created or strengthened a belief that as a general rule there are too many laws, too many restrictions too much evidence of people being busy regulating the affairs of other people, and the sentiment is very widespread.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

CANADA should at once "get after" the big stream of American tourists who, according to the information received by the Canadian Trade Commission at Ottawa, will this year be unable to go to Europe, Mexico, or South America and who do not want to go to their own West.

INSTEAD of two parties in the house, as in the past, there will be in future several strong groups or parties. Who then, will draw the $7,000 a year voted by the government to the "opposition leader?" Leaders of the United Farmers, the grain growers, the labor party, the Conservatives, the Liberals, the returned soldiers, etc., etc., will all have equal claim upon the salary.—Kingston Whig.

Why Canada Must Finance Herself

Canada must finance herself, if for no other reason than that the great majority of countries that formerly invested annually millions of dollars abroad, have forbidden the use of money for such purposes, until their domestic demands for capital have been satisfied.

In the British House of Commons recently, the Chancellor of the Exchequer said that as long as domestic demands for new capital, both for trade and industry and for national purposes were so pressing, he did not think it would be safe to remove restrictions upon investments outside the United Kingdom.

By providing a means whereby people may save even the smaller sums, War Savings Stamps help Canada to finance herself, for they gather up and place at the service of the nation the savings of the people. Money thus invested is absolutely safe and it pays well.

The Pulp and Paper Industry

The statistics of the pulp and paper industry in Canada hitherto collected and published by the Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior are now prepared co-operatively by that branch and the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Under this arrangement the statistics for 1917 are being issued. These show that in 1915 eighty mills produced pulp and paper valued at $40,000,000, while in 1917 eighty-three mills produced pulp and paper valued at $96,000,000, an increase of nearly 40 per cent. The pulpwood consumed increased from slightly over 1,400,000 cords in 1915 to 2,100,000; cords in 1917, an increase of nearly 20 per cent, while the total value of the wood rose from $9,426,000 to $18,877,000 an increase, as will be seen, of nearly 100 per cent. Nearly twenty-three thousand persons were employed, which was an increase in the two years of 50 per cent, while total wages increased 96 per cent in the same period.

Major-General Sir Frederick Maurice declared that a renewal of the war was an impossibility.

Canadian Express Company employees went on a general strike throughout the country last Friday evening.

By the end of the present fiscal year Canada's war bill will have amounted to one and a half billion dollars.

Sidney Drew, a well-known legitimate and moving picture actor died at his home at New York, aged fifty-four, from nephritis.

Fred Cameron of Dutton, who deserted from the army on three occasions, was sentenced to two years in penitentiary.

A short preparatory course on foreign trade for business men and students has been suggested to every Dominion university by the Canadian Trade Commission.

Specimens of work done by returned soldiers in Vocational Training Classes in the Ontario Military Hospital, Whitby, are to be exhibited in Rome, Italy. The exhibit, which has already been shipped, comprises the various kinds of work done by these men.

THE WEEK IN THE LEGISLATURE

Toronto, April 12.—Great efforts are being made to conclude the business of the session by Easter, and contrary to practice the House sat on Friday night to conclude a debate initiated by Mr. Nelson Parliament, a Liberal farmer from Prince Edward county, in which he demanded that a non-partisan commission, including representatives of agriculture and labor, should be appointed by the Government to inquire into the conditions which are ordinarily responsible for the continuous decline in the rural population of the province.

Mr. Parliament was supported in his motion by other members of the Liberal Opposition and also by the two United Farmers. Mr. Ben. Bowman (Manitoulin) and Mr. J. W. Widdifield (N. Ontario). Mr. Bowman's interest went so far as to second the resolution. Mr. Parliament, after setting forth the position in regard to depopulation in the rural districts, touched on the problem of agricultural immigration and inducements to Ontario farmers to remain in Ontario. He emphasized the need for market roads rather than trunk highways, advocated a rural banking system and the extension of Hydro radials. He also called the attention of the Government to the unwarranted spread between the prices received by the producer and the cost to the consumer. The Government amended the resolution and forced through their own amendment.

GOVERNMENT LIQUOR ANNOUNCEMENT:

The Government confined the rumours which had been current in the corridors during the previous week in reference to the details of the proposed liquor referendum. The actual questions which will appear upon the ballot paper are as follows: (1) Are you in favor of the repeal of the Ontario Temperance Act? (2) Are you in favor of the sale of light beer containing not more than 2.50/100% alcohol weight measure through Government agencies, and amendment to the Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale? (3) Are you in favor of the sale of light beer containing not more than 2.50/100 alcohol weight measure in standard hotels, local municipalities that by majority vote favor such sale, and amendments to the Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale? (4) Are you in favor of the sale of spirituous and malt liquors through Government agencies, and amendments to the Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale?

A great deal of controversy is taking place over form of these questions. The temperance people are not finding it so difficult to answer the questions as other people who are not out-and-out prohibitionists, because anyone favoring prohibition merely has to answer all four questions in the negative, whereas it is difficult to see how it is going to work out in the other cases. For instance, one question has been raised that if a majority is in favor of the repeal of the Ontario Temperance Act how could the Government carry out the wishes of any subsequent majorities on the other three questions by amendments to the Ontario Temperance Act which, it is pointed out, would not then exist if it were repealed under the first question?

EDUCATIONAL MATTERS

A feature of the week was the intellectual treat given to the members of the Legislature on the occasion of the first real address of the Hon. Dr. Cody as Minister of Education. The Minister in a very full address, splendidly rendered, made a survey of the whole educational system of the province. Two of his most important measures were to provide for consolidated schools in rural districts, and to change the method of enforcing school attendance. Some of the matters dealt with by the Minister were his intention to provide libraries in rural districts and to train teachers in the use of libraries. The training of teachers in connection with technical and industrial education will in future be divided into two sections under separate superintendents. Grammar will be combined with composition so as to make the subject more attractive to the scholars. The Minister does not propose to do away with home-work but to lighten the tasks set might be considerably lightened. Special secondary agricultural, commercial and technical schools are to be provided. Every assistance will be given to enable rural school boards to increase the salaries of the teachers.

Mr. Thos. Marshall, Liberal member for Lincoln, congratulated the Minister upon his able speech, but pointed out that all the various matters referred to by him had been urged upon the Government time after time by the Liberal Opposition. He assured the Minister that the Opposition would co-operate with the Government in carrying out these proposals. The member from Lincoln thought the curriculum at the present time was overloaded. He also criticized examinations. In his opinion isolated facts were of no use in themselves; the instructors should lead their pupils and not drive them. He thought the Minister would have been well advised to have appointed a committee of experts to go over the whole system of education in the province.

RECONSTRUCTION

Another lengthy debate took place during the week upon a motion introduced by Lt. Col. T. R. Atkinson (Liberal member for N. Norfolk) relating to fair wages and fair prices for the products of the farm, encouraging men to return to the land, pensions for widows with dependent children, and, generally speaking, that the Government should take an advanced stand upon all social questions. After Allan Studholme, the Labor member from D. Hamilton, had given the House the viewpoint of Labor, Mr. Hook of S.E. Toronto moved a ridiculously long amendment praising the acts of the Government, and Thos. Magladery, another Government supporter of Temiskaming, added further words of commendation. The amendment was substituted for the motion.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Mr. E. G. CURTIS, who died Oct. 16th, 1918.
Sad and sudden was the call
Of one so dearly loved by all,
The pain so hard, the shock so severe,
For we little knew his death was near,
It's only those that loved can tell
The pain, not saying the last farewell.

APPLETON

Special to THE HERALD.
Miss Jean McLaren, of Beckwith, spent the week-end with Mrs. Duncan Stewart.
Sacrament was observed in St.
Andrews church Sunday when the individual communion cups were used for the first time.
Mr. and Mrs. Guthrie of St. Paul, Minn., visited at Mr. Robert Baird's during the past week.
The young son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Cavers was kicked on the heart by a horse on Thursday last. The little fellow was unconscious for quite awhile but now is on the way to recovery.
The many friends of Rev. George Bayne, for seventeen years pastor of the Presbyterian church here, will regret to know that he is in poor health and has been obliged to resign his charge in the West. Mr. and Mrs. Bayne purpose coming East in April.
The W.M.S. will meet at the home of Mrs. Robt. Baird on Wednesday evening April 16th.
Friends of the Rev. Mr. McDiarmid received word of his sudden death at his home in Perth on Tuesday last. Mr.
McDiarmid is remembered kindly by friends in the Appleton congregation.
Mr. Willows of Carleton Place, spent part of the past week with Mr. and Mrs.
Buchanan.
Pte. Arthur Anty visited in the village during the past week.

INNISVILLE

Miss Elizabeth and Mr. Thomas Hollinger of Fergusons Falls, spent Sunday evening with Mrs. A. McGarry.
Mrs. Wm. Waters is at present staying with friends near Balderson.
Hark, Listen! Wedding bells ring again.
Miss Florrie Call, of Scotch Corners, spent the week-end with Miss Elsie McLaren.
Several from here attended the funeral of the late Mr. Richard Hailey, of Balderson, on Monday.
Miss Blanche McKim, of Carleton Place, spent the week-end with her aunt, Mrs. S. C. Crampton.
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ireton and little daughter of Drummond, spent Sunday with friends in the village.
Once more the fish have appeared in the rapids, several being caught last week.
Miss Ada McCall, of Boyd's, spent an evening last week with her friend, Miss Katy Ireton.
The Orangemen have decided to have a dance in the Hall here on April 25th.
Mr. R. L. Bolton is spending this week in Drummond Centre.

FRANKTOWN

Special to THE HERALD.
The brighter, warmer weather is welcome on every hand.
Pte. Lorry Edwards arrived home from the front last week, and is at present visiting friends in Smiths Falls.
Mrs. J. Perry and Mrs. Cliff Porteous, of Carleton Place, were over Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. George Perry.
The roads are gradually drying up around the village, but the fields and gardens are too wet and the soil too heavy for any work of cultivation at present. The spring will be late.
Mr. Harry Ferguson has recovered from his illness and returned to Ottawa on Monday after spending some time with his sister, Mrs. Robt. McLachlin.
On Easter Sunday the communion of the Lord's Supper will be held in the Presbyterian church and the service of preparation will be on Friday at two o'clock in the afternoon.
The village school pupils are enjoying their exams this week and are looking forward hopefully to the Easter holidays which will commence on Thursday.
We are pleased to learn that we are to have some summer residents to occupy certain of the vacant houses in our village this coming season. There is no pleasanter and more restful spot to spend the "good old summer time" than right here, and we are keeping to the old time too. So come on!
The Young People's Society of the Presbyterian church are to have a "Night with Beckwith" on Easter Monday evening, the programme to consist of literary and historical memorials of their home township.

On recommendation of Premier Clenneneau, President Poincare has commuted to ten years imprisonment, the death sentence imposed on Emil Cottin, who attempted to assassinate the premier.

PERTH

From the Courier.
Mr. John Scott brought in to Perth stock yards last Saturday from Preston-vale a hog that weighed 700 lbs. and realized $91.00. It was a Yorkshire.
Mr. W. J. Wilson, the well-known West Ward grocer, has been suffering for some days with blood poisoning in his foot, but is now improving although not yet enabled to leave his residence for business.
Mr. F. A. Lambert is now in possession of the Imperial Hotel which he purchased from Mr. J. P. Hogan and has many years experience at the former Queen's Hotel fits well in conducting the Imperial for the future.
Private James McLennaghan, who recently returned from over three years' service overseas, is visiting relatives and acquaintances in town. He enlisted in Western Canada and has been away from here for eighteen years.
Major W. R. Caldwell of Ottawa, Service Officer of the Information and Service Branch Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, was in town the beginning of the week, opening the Ontario Government Free Employment office, which will be in charge of Mr.
Gordon A. Scott, son of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Scott.
The death of May Jackson, wife of George McGinnis, occurred at her residence in Fallbrook on Saturday morning last. The deceased was 29 years of age, and was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Marshall Jackson of Lanark.

LANARK

From the Era.
Pte. George Buffam, son of Mrs.
Harry Buffam, returned home last week.
He went to France in 1917 and was attached to the Canadian Forestry Corp.
Mr. and Mrs. David Gemmill Dick, formerly of Almonte, now residing in North Vancouver, B.C., celebrated their fiftieth anniversary of their wedding on March 30th. Mr. Dick was born at Rosetta seventy-three years ago and comes of the race which did much for Canada in the pioneering days. He married Mary Stewart, of Almonte, and six children were born to them. In 1874 Mr. and Mrs. Dick decided to "go west." He served as a soldier in the Fenian Raid and the second Riel Rebellion. When the Hun broke loose his war spirit was aroused but his age prevented him from going overseas. He served exemption and, although 70 years of age, he joined the Railway Guard Service. Mr. and Mrs. Dick are well known in North Vancouver.

ALMONTE

From the Gazette.
Miss Eva Dulmage, of Carleton Place spent the week-end in town.
Mr. Matthew Aikenhead, who was ill with pneumonia, is now on the fair way to recovery.
The engagement has been announced of Miss Beatrice May Lowry, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Lowry of Fitzroy, to Mr. Wilbert Lorne Steen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Steen of Pakenham.
The doors of Hotel Almonte—formerly the Davis House—have been thrown open to the public, and it seems likely to fill a serious want that has existed in Almonte for some time.
Night prowling and thieving have reached such a point in the town that the time has arrived when it is absolutely necessary that something should be done.
Mr. Andrew Philip of Bennie's Corner's, passed away on Thursday night from the effects of a stroke of paralysis from which he had suffered.
The late Mr. Philip was born on the farm upon which he spent his whole life time. About twenty-five years ago he was married to Miss Jessie Brown. To them seven daughters were born, the eldest of whom is twenty-four years of age, and the youngest eight years.
Frank, the young son of Mr. and Mrs.
Edgar Cavers, near Appleton, was kicked on the face by a horse this Thursday morning and when found was in an unconscious condition. Later he regained consciousness, and his recovery is hoped for.

From the Times.
Mr. Frank Coldwell, expressman, proposes to leave shortly for England.
Mr. Nelson Horton has removed with his family to Ottawa where he has secured a position.
So far this season the following trappers in this town and district have purchased licenses: Del. Johnston, Frank Myers, Harold Fligg, Chas. Houston, Roy Evoy, Duncan Forgie, Abie Whitfield, Walter Edmonds, Almonte; Jos. Baye, Daniel Thompson Clayton.
Mr. John Lawson, V.C., has sold his residence on George street to Mr. Jas.
H. Reilly of Ramsay, and Mr. Wm. Mc-Clymont has purchased the residence.

A French squadron has departed for the Black Sea. The road to Crimea is now open.

Dr. Thomas B. Flint, former clerk of the House of Commons, died Tuesday at Yarmouth, N.S.

A company is to be organized in Winnipeg to furnish aerial transportation, starting with four planes.

Federal Legislation on prohibition will likely be brought down in the House shortly after Easter.

Prof. R. J. McFall, the Cost of Living Commissioner, is in Toronto to enquire into the causes for the rise in the prices of butter and margarine during the past few weeks.

At the various schools in Saskatchewan there are in attendance 248 soldiers. Of the total, 130 are attending the University at Saskatoon, 67 are in the Vocational Training School at Saskatoon, and 51 are in training in private establishments in various parts of the Province.

SPRING IMPURITIES
CLOG THE BLOOD

A Tonic Medicine is a Necessity at This Season

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are an all-year-round tonic, blood-builder and nerve restorer. But they are especially valuable in the spring when the system is loaded with impurities as a result of the indoor life of the winter months. There is no other season of the year when the blood is so much in need of purifying and enriching, and every dose of these pills helps to make new, red blood. In the spring one feels weak and tired—Dr.
Williams' Pink Pills give new strength.
—In the spring the appetite is often poor—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills develop the appetite, tone the stomach and aid weak digestion. It is in the spring that poisons in the blood find an outlet in disfiguring pimples, eruptions and boils.
—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills speedily clear the skin because they go to the root of the trouble in the blood. In the spring anaemia, rheumatism, neuralgia, erysipelas and many other troubles are most persistent because of poor, weak blood, and it is at this time, when all nature takes on new life, that the blood most seriously needs attention. Dr.
Williams' Pink Pills actually renew and enrich the blood, and this new blood reaches every organ and every nerve in the body, bringing new health and new strength to weak, easily tired men, women and children—Here is a bit of proof: Miss Anna Patterson, R.F.D.
No. 1, Thorold, Ont., says:—"My trouble was one of general weakness, which thinned my blood and gave me at times unbearable headaches, loss of appetite and also loss in weight. I tried several medicines, but without success. Then I heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and decided to give them a fair trial. The result is that I feel like a new person. My appetite improved, I gained in weight, my blood is thoroughly purified, and my face cleared of some unsightly pimples which had troubled me. If one good turn deserves another then I have much pleasure in recommending Dr. Williams' Pink Pills." If you need a medicine this spring try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills—they will not disappoint you. These pills are sold by all medicine dealers, or by mail at 50c a box or six boxes for $3.50 from The Dr.
Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CALMING THE IRISH.

British Make Another Effort to Grapple With Problem.
LONDON, April 14.—A British-Sinn Fein conference has been organized in being held between British ministers and the Sinn Feiners, according to the despatch of an Irish correspondent appearing in the London Morning Post Saturday.
The writer says that a deputation arrived, presumably in Dublin, from Paris, to see De Valera, head of the Sinn Fein. Two slightly different reports of the supposed negotiations are published. The first states that the Government representatives merely asked De Valera what he wanted in the way of an Irish settlement. The second version is that De Valera has been offered Dominion Home Rule if the Sinn Fein will cease its present Republican policy.
Mr. Macpherson, Secretary of State for Ireland, is now in Ireland, and no one on his secretarial staff here was able either to confirm or deny the story. They professed entire ignorance of the report. The same answer was returned to inquiries at the office of Bonar Law, the Government leader in the House of Commons, who is now in Paris, and at the Downing Street office of Premier Lloyd George.
The London Times cable service has received no information concerning this report in the Morning Post, and regards it as unlikely that any "official action" of the kind has been taken at the present time. The Thunderer adds: "Whatever proposal the Government may decide to make to Ireland in the near or distant future will undoubtedly be based on conferences with each of the factions in Ireland."

MOB KILLED WAR MINISTER

Angry Soldiers Caused Murder of Herr Neurung.
COPENHAGEN, April 14.—Herr Neurung, War Minister in the Government of Saxony was killed at Dresden Saturday by disgruntled soldiers to whom the Minister had refused a hearing. The War Ministry was stormed by demonstrators who dragged Herr Neurung and threw him into the Elbe, where he was shot and killed as he tried to swim to the bank.
An order had been issued by Herr Neurung to the effect that the wounded in future should receive only peace-time pay. Five or six hundred men then formed a procession to the War Ministry and sent a deputation to see the Minister, who refused, however, to receive them.
Upon this, the crowd, incited by Communist speakers, stormed the entrance to the building. The sentries used their weapons, but were overpowered. Government troops were summoned, but they declared they would not attack the crowd, and they marched off after surrendering their arms.
An excited crowd meanwhile had thronged the square in front of the building, and machine guns posted at various points were fired on the Ministry. At four o'clock in the afternoon the demonstrators had forced their way into the main building, followed the War Minister to the upper story, where he had fled, and dragged him out into the street.
After the Minister had been severely maltreated by the crowd he was hurled from the bridge into the river. When he tried to swim to the bank the demonstrators fired at him and within a few moments he disappeared under the water.

Car Accident at Smiths Falls

Last Tuesday evening, a serious automobile accident occurred at the corner of Elmsley and Russell streets, Smiths Falls, when a motor car crashed into a tree in front of Dr. Murphy's home, and was badly damaged. The car was a Studebaker and Mr. Stedman Craig was at the wheel, with Mr.
Herbert Cameron and Mr. W. E. Halpin the other occupants. The car was coming down Elizabeth street when it is thought something went wrong with the steering wheel and of course the driver lost control. It crashed into a tree and the left back wheel was completely torn off. The occupants were not thrown out, but the left side of the car was torn away and Mr. Craig received the full force of the crash. He was picked up unconscious and carried into Dr. Murphy's office where he was given immediate attention. It was found that his left arm was broken above the wrist, the left shoulder partly dislocated and his forehead cut and bruised. He was removed to the Public Hospital, where he is now resting fairly comfortably. Mr. Cameron received a severe shaking up and had his left arm above the wrist severely gashed. He was taken to St. Francis General Hospital for treatment. Mr. Halpin was the fortunate one of the three, and was not hurt in any way. The car was owned by Mr. Walter Girven.—Rideau Record.

"See here, waiter," exclaimed the indignant patron of the dining-car, "here's a piece of wood in my sausage!"
"Yes, sir," replied the waiter, "but I'm sure—"
"Sure nothing! I don't mind eating the dog, but I'm blessed if I'm going to eat the kennel, too!"—Tit-Bits.

Interesting Impressions

Of the Strong Personality Of Ex-Premier Kerensky

IN Land and Water, Mr. J. Coudurier de Chassaigne gave recently an interesting impression of M. Kerensky, who to-day is, as he says, something of a king in exile. "The first time I met Kerensky I was struck by the simplicity of his manners," says Mr. de Chassaigne. "He might have been one of those innumerable Russian students I used to see, in my youthful days, at the Sorbonne. But, in spite of his loosely-fitting clothes, there was something in the way he entered the room which showed that the man had confidence in himself, and had been in possession of great power—that he was, in fact, somebody. His clean-shaven face, a little round, but not fat, with its close-cropped hair, as is the fashion in the Russian army, had a very juvenile air. But the instant he looked at you he reminded you, somehow, of one of those veteran actors who, at a distance, seem to be boys, and when you get near them are old men. His nose—large, but not aquiline, broad at the top, and still broader at the base—falls over the mouth, as the nose in some of the portraits of Mirabeau. If Kerensky had adopted the French fashion of long hair a la Gambetta, one might call his nose

EX-PREMIER KERENSKY.

leonine and admirably matched with an abundant mane. His scrutinizing eyes, frequently screwed up as if they were very short-sighted, close and open so suddenly that I have not yet been able to discover what their color is. But when he speaks with animation they throw out sombre flashes. His lips are rather thin, well curved, and the whole mouth is firmly set. On the forehead, a few deep lines. Above the eyes, slight protu-berances. It is evident that the man has spent his life in hard and concentrated thinking, and the last two years have left their traces on the whole expression of that enigmatic face. Kerensky is of medium stature, well set up, though not in the least athletic. The hands are strong, but delicately shaped. His voice is deep, and even when speaking to friends round a dinner-table he can not suppress the volume of sound which pours forth without any apparent effort from his powerful throat. At our different meetings we always spoke in French, but I found him very fluent and able to express every shade of his thought with the greatest facility. He is a clear thinker, and, as he knows what he wants, the words never fail him to construct his logical and well-balanced sentences. As is often the case with real orators, his gestures are few. The force of his oratory lies neither in magnetic power nor in physical fascination, but in his constant effort to gain your mind and to convert you to his point of view, through the mere strength of logic and common sense."

Howlers!

A school principal lately told us some of the answers found in pupils' examination papers. Here are three of them: "What is a volcano?" "A volcano is a mountain that sometimes blows the equator off." "What is the difference between a mountain and a hill?" "A hill is like a mountain, only a mountain is a little more hillier." "What became of the locomotives of Pharaoh's time?" "John the Baptist ate them."

Coffee and Prohibition.

Porto Rico is consuming 50 per cent. more coffee to-day than she did before the island went "dry," according to a San Juan coffee dealer. This fact, together with an island coffee crop of only half of what it was last year and a heavy demand from Spain and Cuba, has sent up prices throughout the island. Retailers found the price almost doubled overnight and the restaurants raised their prices to 10 cents a cup.

The Bean.

The common bean is a native of South America, and was introduced into Europe during the sixteenth century. Now it is represented by over 150 varieties. The big broad bean is probably a native of southwestern Asia and northeastern Europe. The broad, but not thick, lima bean, called by some "butter bean," is a pole variety that comes from South America.

AIR PIRATES.

They May Become a Menace in the Future.

The Dutch paper Telegraaf reported that on November 15 airplanes dropped bombs on the castle at Swalmen, where the ex-Crown Prince of Germany is staying.

No suggestion is made as to the nationality of the airplanes, except by the parenthetical remark that Swalmen is only three miles from the German frontier. The report does not mention any casualties, nor does it say how the ex-prince bore himself under fire, though it would have been interesting to have known, since, according to popular report, he has had no previous experience during the war of being under fire, having left all that to the German "cannon fodder," which he so recklessly and cynically sacrificed.

The report is vague in the extreme, but whether or not true, it suggests various exciting possibilities in the future. Piracy and smuggling by airplane are possibilities not to be overlooked. Of course, while all Europe is still armed, and the German army resembles a pack of wolves without a pack leader, nothing could be easier than for some German airmen who disapprove of the ex-crown prince's conduct in general and are resolved that no counter revolution shall ever make him emperor, to paint out the national marks on their machines, fly high above the clouds into Holland, dive upon his residence and release their bombs. In any force still retaining its discipline, and the discipline of active service at that, such action would be wildly impossible.

In times of peace such raids would be less easy. All airplanes and their airplanes will, of course, be registered; the movements of aircraft will be even more strictly under observation than those of seagoing ships, for the simple reason that their periods of absence from terra firma are necessarily much briefer.

Moreover, air pirates could never stop a commercial airplane and call on it to "stand and deliver." They could never get away with booty, and therefore their operations could only be destructive and not profitable.

But one must not overlook the possibility that a power as evil disposed and reckless as Germany was in 1914 might suddenly begin a systematic attack on all the aircraft of a rival.
The experiences of the past warn us to be cautious in the future.

It will be the task of the Royal Air Force to guard the air merchantmen of Britain. For years their work may be as bloodless as was the work of the navy from Navarino, to 1914, but the navy was needed at last, and it would be very rash to declare that the Royal Air Force will never again send a foe down in flames.

We must remain prepared on land, on the sea, and, last, but not least, in the air.

Just Found It Out.

Manuel is a Mexican. He runs a chili wagon on Main street and up to a day or so ago had had a good record. But on the fatal day he found himself before a judge charged with assault and battery.

"Why did you beat that man?" asked the judge.

"He called me something, senor," answered Manuel politely.

"What did he call you?"

"El rhinoceros, senor judge."

"A rhinoceros? When was this?"

"Three years ago," responded Manuel, and the court nearly fell off the bench.

"You mean that you hit a man yesterday on account of something he called you three years ago?" demanded the judge.

"Si, senor! Up until that accused yesterday I have not seen a rhinoceros. Only yesterday do I learn the colossal size of the insult."

Snakes Once Human.

The pious Hindu believes the snake to be the reincarnation of some human being, possibly a great philosopher, and he has the assurance that the deities he worships will protect him from these venomous reptiles. Sometimes one sees a Hindu before an altar in a temple with a serpent in the folds of his cloak. Suddenly he permits the snake to sting him, showing the blood flowing from an undisputed wound. He then takes a black stone from his pocket, rubs it over the bleeding spot, then, muttering many incantations he makes passes over his body. A few moments later he assures his audience that the bite, which would have been poisonous otherwise, was made harmless by his prayers and incantations offered to the deity.

Soldiers and the Battlefields.

Battlefield touring, curiously enough, seems to be becoming popular among the troops in France, as a means of passing the time until general demobilization is ordered.
The soldiers are invariably interested in the sectors of the front other than those which were scenes of their own exploits. A system of short leaves has been authorized, and lorries detailed for the tours. Ypres, Messines, Arras, and Albert, are easily first as sight-seeing centres, but places of lesser fame, such as Boesinghe and Wood 15, Bois Grenier, Comblès and La Prie Farm, Epéhy, and Bousies, are all claiming their crowds.

Digestible Cheese.

By experiments on the digestibility of cheese it has been shown that much depends on the special physical character of the food. All fat cheeses are said to be dissolved and digested with great rapidity, because the molecules of casein—the nitrogenous part of the cheese—are separated only by the fat, and so the gastric juice can attack a large surface of the cheese at one time. Whether the cheese be hard or soft does not appear to influence digestion, and there is no connection between the digestibility and the percentage of water present in the cheese.

Glasgow has now supplanted Birmingham in the honor of being the second largest city of the United Kingdom.

What's Your Speed?

Q UITE some food for thought is offered in Ernest Wel-leck's article in a current issue of Popular Science, entitled "What's Your Speed?" This question, as Mr. Welleck considerately points out, does not apply to your car (if you have one), but to your brain. The writer asks: "How promptly does your brain respond to impressions by muscular reaction?"
And then he says:

"If you don't know, and the chances are you don't, go to Dr. Amar, in Paris, and let him find out for you. He will submit you to a few psychographic tests, and at their conclusion will tell you your speed to the hundredth part of a second.
Incidentally, he will tell you whether you are fitted for the profession or occupation in which you are engaged or intend to become engaged."

"The apparatus that Dr. Amar uses is a psychograph of his own invention, a device for registering the promptness, intensity, duration, etc., of muscular responses to impressions received by eye, ear, or sense of touch of the person tested. The apparatus has a cylinder covered with paper coated with lampblack.

"This cylinder is revolved by clockwork at the rate of one revolution a second. A vibrating needle, which makes one hundred double vibrations a second, marks a wavy line that serves as time measure for minute fractions of a second upon the blackened paper. The muscular reactions of the subject tested are transmitted by air pressure to two needles, which mark a record of these reactions on the cylinder.

"Dr. Amar will seat you in front of a table equipped with the testing apparatus. Directly before you are two little pneumatic drums. When you have received your instructions you place a finger upon the membrane of one of the little drums, your eyes focussed on something that resembles a small camera.

"A few minutes later the touch of the doctor's finger upon the shutter releases a flash of the electric light in the box behind the lens to reach your eye. At the same moment —so it seems to you—you press your finger upon the drum head. The air pressure in the drum simultaneously causes a needle to mark a line, more or less curved, on the lamp-black covered paper.

"Then the paper is taken off the cylinder. Here is the mark of the doctor's signal and there is the record of your reaction. The doctor counts the number of waves of the vibrating needle on the paper and informs you that 20-100 of a second elapsed between the signal and your response. And you imagined your pressure to have been simultaneous with the signal!"

"You are assured that your brain functions normally—that the time for simple visual reactions in normal subjects averages between 0.195 and 0.21 seconds.

"In the tests for reactions involving deliberation the same device is used. You place one finger of the left hand on one of the little drums, one finger of the right hand on the other drum. You are informed that the left drum means blue, the right drum red. The doctor flashes a red or a blue light through the lens of the camera-like device, and you signal back the impression by pressing the right or the left drumhead. On examining the record on the cylinder you find that it took you more than twice as long to react in this visual test as in the simple visual test in which you were not called upon to decide whether the light was red or blue.

"The statistical material so far collected shows that the age of the subject, between the limits of eight teen and forty-five years, does not materially affect the time of simple reactions. Subjects whose occupation demands alertness—for instance, designers, typists and mechanics—react more promptly than farmers, who are invariably slower by 0.02 seconds or more. The records of persons who have sustained injuries of the brain, or who have been operated on because of such injuries, show much higher figures: 0.32 seconds for visual signals, 0.24 for sound signals and 0.21 seconds for touch signals represent the average for that class of invalids."

Mining the War Zone.

Europe's battlefields, says an editorial writer in the Mining and Scientific Press, have been showered with steel and iron and brass from shells, exploded and unexploded, and from hand-grenades. He goes on:

"Much of this metal will be removed as a necessary preliminary to the resumption of peaceful pursuits.
The quantity of metal is so great that it would be a source of annoyance and even of danger to the tiller of the soil. A systematic sweeping, so to speak, of all the bombarded regions will be necessary. A French engineering journal describes an apparatus which, though created for this special purpose, can be applied to other uses for it will indicate the presence of steel and iron not too deeply buried in the soil. This, however, is a slow way to proceed where long-continued bombardment has literally filled the soil with metallic fragments. Methods of salvaging are contemplated that involve passing the soil through plants for recovering the metal, and returning the soil to its place leveled and ready for tillage. It is also pointed out that the concentration of fixed nitrogen in these battlefields soils, resulting from the enormous quantities of explosives used will make these areas exceptionally fertile."

During the war the British covered the seas with something like 4,000, 000 of mines, costing from $500 apiece upward.

The Hospital Ship "Loyalty" HER INTERESTING CAREER RECALLED

1915, ex-R.M.S. "Empress of India" Hospital ship "Loyalty," Bombay.

Q UITE recently the hospital ship "Loyalty" has been converted in Bombay into a troopship, and the occasion appears to justify publication of some account of her career as a hospital ship, a career which was not only one of great service, but which reflects in a very remarkable way the great generosity of his Highness, the Maharajah of Gwalior.
In August, 1914, his Highness the Maharajah of Gwalior visited Bhopal and arranged with the Begum Sahiba to present the Government with a hospital ship, to be called "Loyalty," to which the Chiefs of India were to be asked to subscribe. The offer was gratefully accepted, but there was considerable delay in procuring a suitable ship. Eventually the ship chosen was the "Empress of India," built by the Naval Construction & Armaments Company, of Barrow-in-Furness, in 1891, for the Canadian Pacific Railway's Pacific Ocean trades.
Together with her sister ships "Empress of China" and "Empress of Japan," she was specially designed, built on very handsome lines, and fitted most luxuriously with everything considered necessary for the comfort of passengers of all classes.
The matter of engine power and speed was kept specially in view, so that the ships in their time were the fastest in the Pacific trade, and earned a great name for the quick transmission of passengers, mails and fine goods, such as silk and tea, between Hong Kong, Japan and Vancouver, and thence to various points by the Canadian Pacific Railway across the North American Continent. It will thus be seen that the "Loyalty," prior to becoming a hospital ship, took a great part as "Empress of India," in the opening up and developing of commerce in one of the outlying parts of the Empire. Incidentally she has the honor of carrying King George as a passenger when he was Prince of Wales.

It would almost seem to be in the natural order of events that the good ship "Empress of India," after carrying on such useful commercial work for 23 years, and being relieved on the Pacific station by a larger and more modern style of ship (the new "Empress of Asia") should come on the scene at the outbreak of the present war, just when his Highness the Maharajah of Gwalior decided to repeat his loyal and munificent act of 1900, by presenting a hospital ship of 300 beds capacity for use during the war. Most appropriately the ship was acquired from the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. The Director of the Royal India Marine and his officers acted for his Highness in the matter of buying, altering and refitting, the "Empress of India," of London, and changing her name to the "Loyalty" of Bombay. This was done in October, 1914, and within four months from the time war was declared the hospital ship "Loyalty" was ready to begin her good work and assist in the relief of suffering humanity.

Record of Four Years.

The "Loyalty" sailed from the Persian Gulf on November 29th, 1914, having been renamed by Lady Willington on the previous day, and from that time up to nearly the end of last year she was in commission. On her first voyage she was deflected to Karachi, where she stayed till December 24th, when she left for England. During this time the ship was bought outright for the Chiefs, and subsequently remained their property.

In the four years she was in commission as a hospital ship she sailed 41 voyages and carried 15,406 patients British, Indians, Chinese, West Indian, East and West African, and German, Turkish and Arab prisoners of war.

The hospital was staffed with three or four I. M. S. officers and one military assistant-surgeon, and one matron and four to six nursing sisters and sub-assistant-surgeons, com-pounders, ward orderlies, etc. A few lent by the Government of India, the rest being recruited from Gwalior, Indore, Dhar and Bharatpur States, and the balance locally in Bombay.

The cost of buying and fitting out the ship was approximately $600,000, and her upkeep for four years was $1,800,- 000, the total being nearly two and a half million dollars, of which by far the greater part was paid by H. H. the Maharajah of Gwalior, though contributions were made from other States.

Incidents at Sea.

Unique as part of the ship's life-saving work was the rescue of the crew of the steamship "Ben Vorlich," after that ship had been shelled and torpedoed by a German submarine near Ushant, on August 1st, 1915.
This incident and the sinking of the steamship "Clintonia" were witnessed by the "Loyalty" from a distance of about 14 miles, when she was full of badly wounded men (British cases from the Dardanelles) on her way down Alexandria and Malta to Southampton.

When plying in Indian waters, the "Loyalty" had the good fortune to render assistance to a transport which took fire and was abandoned at sea, the "Edavana." Hearing the distressed vessel's messages on the wireless, the "Loyalty" proceeded with all speed to the place indicated and picked up 70 of the burning ship's people in three boats during the night, afterwards transferring them to the steamship "Madras," which was bound for Bombay. Had the "Loyalty" not been an hospital ship she would have towed the "Edavana" into Bombay, but, of course, could not do this without infringing the Geneva Red Cross Convention.

She also rendered assistance to several India and native craft met at sea during her voyage, short of water and provisions, and to a lighthouse crew in the Red Sea.

Rumania orders for the Dominion Textile Company to the extent of over six millions have been confirmed by mail.

The British House of Commons decided that Britain wanted no negotiations with Lenin and Bolshevism, and wired Premier Lloyd George its decision.

Angus Fraser and his wife of Woodstock, aged respectively seventy-nine and sixty-seven, died within twelve hours of each other from pneumonia.

"Phew!" whistled Jim. "If that's how he squanders his money he needn't ever come asking credit of me." He grinned at Jonathan. "Davy must be a mighty poor workman when you'll pay so high to get rid of him."

"Oh, no!" Jonathan protested. "It will be very hard to fill his place—in one way entirely impossible. But, you see, Davy and I have become good friends, and—"

"And, of course," Mrs. Jim put in sweetly, "in friendship one forgets one is a shaver of notes."

"Oh, my hands are up!" Jim groaned. "I'll match your figures, Radbourne. But, for heaven's sake, don't raise me again!"

"What I'd like to know," said Jim when Jonathan was gone, "is why we are going to the poorhouse for Davy Quentin?"

"First," said his wife, "because we know Davy will do work that is worth while and because he is Davy; second, because it is good for us to give a little out of our much."

"No one helped me when I was poor," growled Jim.

"That," she explained, "was because you were known to have a talent for helping yourself and because you married me, who am help enough for any man."

"There may be something in that," Jim was forced to concede. "Shirley still at her aunt's?"

"Yes."

"H-m-m! Mighty long visit. What's she doing there?"

"Having a very good time."

"While Davy—h-m-m! Any trouble there, do you suppose?"

"No-o-o! But Shirley keeps writing about 'poor Davy, who doesn't seem to have the money making knack,' with an air that says, 'Poor Shirley!' And when a woman begins to speak sadly of her husband's flaws it is time they were together again with all flaws repaired. Shirley being Shirley, it had better be in prosperity."

"Who's going to repair Shirley's flaws?"

"That's part of the scheme. We must get her back somehow before she knows Davy's plans are accepted. Then she will seem—"

"I see," said Jim dryly. "That may allow her time for a very long visit—a lifetime, in fact. But isn't there a theory that hard scratching is good for the soul?"

Mrs. Jim eyed her lord with contempt. "My dear Jim, you are old enough to know that no family ever came happily through money troubles unless the wife was patient and wise indeed. Besides, I'm not trying to prove a theory, but to correct a mistake before it's too late."

The old witch must have gnashed her teeth in rage as, peeping through her windows, she saw her spell broken. There is a good fairy called Hard Work and another Bright Hope, and both of these were standing guard. David must have been happy, because he never thought of happiness, its causes or effects. There was a new set to his jaw that meant far more, if you were looking for signs of the future, than the youthful enthusiasm once reflected on his face. So the witch, shrieking grisly maledictions, rode away to vent her spite on colicky babies and gouty old men.

There was one thing the fairies could not guard against, perhaps because they had not been warned. Sometimes the witch perceived that David was not alone. Those occasions were not many, a few minutes now and then when household errands were prolonged a trifle or lemonade and cookies, sweetened by the aunt's good wishes, were carried to him. And sometimes he went downstairs to listen to a song and to tell the singer that her high "sp" flat was unmistakably easier.

There was no great harm in that, to be sure. But the witch, baleful creature that she was, took a hint and hatched a wicked plot.

They had a bond, you see. They faced the same adventure. It did them good to compare notes of progress, and an audience was needed if they were to make a jest of setbacks, such as a throat that seemed all burrs or an idea that had for the moment lost its charm. Also he needed some one to remind him that he took too little sleep and never exercised. He would have been wiser if he had listened. Instead, he laughed at her and said, "Work never kills, and in summer I always get thin." But evidence of her concern always left him pleasantly glowing.

In August she took her vacation. But she did not go away. Part of each day she spent in his room, putting it to rights and keeping it sweet and clean. She liked to do that because he never failed to note the result of her labors or to thank her. When she had finished her sweeping and dusting she would sit for an hour or more studying the sketches and plans he had left on easel or table. She thought it a marvel that a young man could think out a church so proportioned that its harmonies set one to dreaming and thinking, so devised that it would not fall down through the storms of centuries charged against it. And it was a relief to think of him and his work; it took her mind from an ugly little fear lurking in her heart. Her throat did not always behave as a well meaning throat should.

When he went downstairs one evening to tell her the plans were complete she dissembled her excitement and said, "Now, you'll be able to get enough sleep." But when, after a few minutes of gay nonsense, he had left her to take her advice and she thought what success would mean to him she became very grave and had her first taste of a suspense that grew heavier with each waiting day.

The blind woman was first to see. There was another dinner at Jonathan's house, by way of celebration of the plans' completion, with music, most of which came from his violin. Esther sang only twice, because that was one of the days when her throat behaved ill. "I've been working it a little too hard," she explained.

Between times they were very gay. It seemed to Jonathan that his guests were unusually witty and happy.

Mrs. Radbourne was not asleep, though the lids drooped over the poor, sightless eyes. She was listening, but not to the music or jests. And she was seeing through a sense that only blind people have.

When Jonathan came back from his walk with his guests to the trolley she was waiting for him.

He began to pace back and forth across the room. She listened closely to the quick, staccato tread.

"You seem very happy over something, Jonathan."

"I am." She did not need eyes to know that he was beaming. "Did you notice that they both seemed in better spirits than usual?"

"I noticed."

"They are coming into their own. I can't help feeling that our ventures are coming out well. It will be something to have helped them a little. There are compensations, you see." He caught himself abruptly.

"Compensations for what?"

"Oh, for all the things," Jonathan said vaguely, "that one would like to do and cannot."

"Even for giving your life to the care of a helpless, uninteresting old woman?"

"Hush, mother!" He reached her in a twinkling and patted the fine slyer of her hair. "You know better than that."

"I know what you have given up for me. It is only lately that I have begun to understand. Oh, Jonathan!"

"But think what I've gained by staying with you! There have never been any regrets."

"You have been a good son." But her smile was very faint. "Do you like David Quentin as well as ever?"

"Yes."

"Why?"

"There's no 'whys' in friendship, mother."

"Does he return your friendship in equal degree, do you think?"

His answer was without hesitation. "No."

She was silent.

"That is not to be expected, of course," he said simply. "I think he would if he could. But such matters are not to be forced."

She lifted her face, and the poor lifeless eyes seemed to be straining to see him. "I am just beginning to know my son. Ah, if I could see you—only once! I would ask nothing more."

Her hands reached toward his face. But he caught them and held them gently.

"Why do you never let me touch your face?"

He mustered a laugh. "I'm afraid you would be disappointed. You know, your hands have seen David, and—"

"Ah!" she breathed. "Always your David! Jonathan!" She paused.

"Yes?"

"Jonathan, there is a Mrs. David Quentin, is there not?"

"Yes."

"Where is she now?"

"Visiting relatives, I believe."

"It is a strangely long visit, don't you think? In my time husbands and wives lived together."

"It is an arrangement for the sake of economy, Mrs. Blaisdell tells me. It seems David had got into debt."

"I should think," she said slowly, "Mrs. Quentin would find it economical to return."

"Mother!" Jonathan started. "Just what do you mean?"

"Her husband and you find Miss Summers quite agreeable, do you not?"

"Mother," he reproved her gently, "you should not even hint such a thing. David is a man of honor."

"Say he is a man and stop there—a presentable young man whom people seem to like and whose wife has been long away. And Miss Summers is an attractive young woman who has been thrown much with him. I have seen what I have seen."

"Mother!" Jonathan stood stiffly, as though he had been turned to stone. "Oh, that is impossible! You are unjust. It isn't like you to be so suspicious. There is nothing between them but a friendly attachment."

"A friendly attachment, in other words, perhaps. But—oh, my poor blind son! Jonathan, sit here beside me."

He went to her and sat down by her side. She took both his hands. And her voice was very gentle.

"You are in love with her, are you not?"

"Yes," he said.

"Then press your suit quickly, my son."

"But I can't—you must see that. I am her employer. She is dependent on me. It would put her in a distressing position."

"I approve of your delicacy. Not many men display it in these greedy days, I am told. But delicacy can be carried to excess. Women love to be wooed strongly, masterfully. I remember how your father—"

"My father was equipped for masterfulness," he smiled sadly, "am not."

"You are small, I know, like me. I had hoped my son would be tall." She sighed. "But many small men have been great and strong."

"You don't understand. Mother, you have been blessed—you have never had to look on your son. That is why I never let you touch my face. I am more than merely small. I am ugly. I am ridiculous. I am almost grotesque. People smile in amusement when they see me and never take me seriously."

"Does she smile in amusement when she sees you?"

"No. She is too big hearted for that. She is gentle and kind and friendly, because she is a little sorry for me and because she thinks mistakenly that I have reason to be grateful. As a friend, a helper, I am tolerable. As a lover I should only be absurd. See, mother, for yourself—this once!" He lifted her sensitive hands and guided them over his face. "My nose—my ears—my little pig's eyes—this grinning mouth—these silly whiskers that hide a little of my absurdity!"

INCREASE POTATO CROP

How to Check Serious Diseases in Ontario.

Leaf Roll and Mosaic Are Firmly Established and Reduce Yields One-third—How to Detect Diseases and Only Way to Control Them.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

THE two most serious seed-borne potato diseases in Ontario are Leaf Roll and Mosaic. Other seed-borne potato diseases common in the Province are Black Leg, Rhizoctonia, Blight, Wilt and Scab. Leaf Roll and Mosaic cause a very marked reduction in the yield, and the fact that these two diseases are so prevalent in Southern Ontario accounts for the poor crop of potatoes that has been obtained in many parts of the Province for the past four years.

Leaf Roll.—The cause of this disease is unknown. Data gathered by the pathologists of the United States and Canada shows that Leaf Roll may reduce the yield to about one-third of the normal crop.

Symptoms.—Symptoms of Leaf Roll are very variable. Affected plants are always more or less dwarfed and in some varieties the leaves assume a characteristic upright, almost star-shaped habit, instead of drooping over in the normal way. Rolling of the lower leaves is always associated with the disease. The rolled leaves on plants affected with this disease begin to die early. The harsh, leathery texture of such leaves is a constant symptom. The tubers of affected plants are small and are borne generally on very short tuber-branches (stolons) or even attached in a cluster to the stem. Tubers from affected plants invariably produce diseased plants. There is also evidence to show that the disease may spread from plant to plant in the field.

Prevention.—The only sure way of avoiding loss from Leaf Roll is to secure fresh seed from districts free from this disease. Fortunately, this is possible, as Northern Ontario and certain sections of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island are comparatively free from this trouble. In experiments carried on in Old Ontario by the Agricultural Representatives with seed potatoes from South Ontario, New Brunswick and Northern Ontario, it was found that the average amount of Leaf Roll in the plants from the seed from the three different sources was as follows:—

Old Ontario	45.5%
New Brunswick	5.1%
Northern Ontario	1.4%

These figures strongly emphasize the desirability of obtaining northern-grown potato seed.

Mosaic.—The cause of this disease is also unknown. It has been observed in many fields in Ontario. When severe there is a very noticeable reduction in the crop. Data gathered by the pathologists of the United States and Canada shows that this disease may reduce the yield by one-half.

Symptoms.—The foliage of plants affected with Mosaic is somewhat wrinkled or corrugated and mottled with faint, light green or yellowish spots. The stalks of the diseased plants are often more bare near the ground than those of healthy ones, partly because the affected foliage does not spread out and drop down normally, and partly because the lower leaves sometimes fall off in the last stages of severe attacks. The tubers of affected plants are normal-looking and sound and their keeping or eating qualities are not impaired.

Prevention.—If Mosaic is abundant in a field the surest and quickest way of eliminating it is by obtaining fresh seed from a non-infected district. Such seed can be obtained at the present time from Northern Ontario.

General Suggestions for the Prevention of Seed-borne Potato Diseases.

In order to avoid loss from Leaf Roll and Mosaic, the source of seed is of the utmost importance. Seed potatoes free from these diseases can be obtained from Northern Ontario. Only certified seed, however, can be relied upon. For information concerning certified northern-grown potato seed write Mr. J. H. Miller, Assistant Commissioner of Agriculture, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, Canada.

Even certified northern-grown seed is not a panacea for all diseases. In order to avoid loss from such seed-borne potato diseases as Black Leg, Rhizoctonia, Wilt, Blight and Scab, the following precautions should be taken:—

1. Select for seed smooth, sound tubers, as free as possible from scab, black, hard lumps on the surface, and abnormal discolorations of the skin or flesh.
2. Disinfect all seed before cutting with formalin or corrosive sublimate. The latter substance is the more reliable for the prevention of Rhizoctonia.
3. When cutting potatoes have at hand two or three knives and a jar containing a 20 per cent. solution of formalin. After cutting into a tuber which shows signs of rot drop the knife into the formalin, discard the diseased potato and take a fresh knife from the formalin solution for the next cutting.
4. Spray every year with Bordeaux mixture for the prevention of Late Blight and Rot. Such spraying is an insurance which it is not safe to neglect.
5. Rogue the growing crop once or twice during the summer, or at least that portion of it from which the seed is to be saved. This operation consists in the removal and destruction of any plants showing signs of such diseases as Leaf Roll, Mosaic, Black Leg, Rhizoctonia and Wilt.
6. Practice a rotation of crops and if possible plant potatoes after clover sod.—Prof. J. E. Howett, O. A. College, Guelph.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

Copyright, 1919, by Western Newspaper Union.)

LESSON FOR APRIL 20

THE RISEN LORD.

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 28:1-10.

GOLDEN TEXT—He is risen, as he said.—Matthew 28:5.

ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—Luke 24:1-49.

PRIMARY TOPIC—An angel tells about the resurrection of Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The story of an empty tomb.

INTERMEDIATE TOPIC—The living Christ.

SENIOR AND ADULT TOPIC—The meaning of Christ's resurrection.

I. The Visit of the Women to the Sepulcher (28:1).

They came early to see the sepulcher. Their zeal and love exceeded that of even Peter, James and John. "Women were last at the cross and first at the tomb."

II. The Earthquake (28:2).

This occurred when the glorious angel descended to roll the stone away from the tomb. This work of the angel was not to allow Jesus to escape but to show that the tomb was empty. Christ needed not the help of a glorious angel, for he was raised up by his own power as the seal of his atoning work upon the cross. The open tomb and the angel sitting upon the stone with calm dignity is a picture of God's triumph over the devil, and the terror of the keepers is a sample of what all of Christ's enemies shall one day experience when he comes in glory to reign as king.

III. The Angel's Message to the Women (28:3-7).

1. "Fear not" (v. 5). While the enemies have occasion to fear, those who love the Lord receive good news from the empty tomb. The Lord will not long leave those who follow him, in suspense and dread. The empty tomb puts an end to all doubts and fears. It is the proof that the question of life is dealt with and that God is satisfied, carrying with it the assurance of eternal victory.

2. "Come see" (v. 6). The angel said that the Lord had risen, and invited the women to see the place where he lay.

3. "Come quickly" (v. 7). The women must see for themselves and then go tell the message. Experience must precede testimony. They were to go quickly to the disciples with the blessed message, with the assurance that the Lord would go before and meet them.

IV. Jesus Meets the Women (28:8-10).

The women rendered instant obedience and were running to bring word to the disciples. Jesus met them on the way. Those who have an experimental knowledge of Christ should speedily go to tell others of it. To all such the Lord will appear and bring joy.

V. What Christ's Resurrection Guarantees to Us (1 Cor. 15).

1. The integrity of the Scriptures (vv. 3, 4). The Old Testament Scriptures told of the advent, death and resurrection of Christ. Christ's resurrection gave the seal of authentication to them. Christ rebuked the disciples on the way to Emmaus for their disbelief of the Scriptures concerning the resurrection (Luke 24:13-26).

2. The reality of the divine person (Rom. 1:4). Jesus claimed to be one with the Father. He predicted his coming forth from the dead (Matt. 16:21). He declared that no one could take his life from him. He had power to lay his life down and take it up again (John 10:15-18). He died because he wished to do so. The life which he laid down must be resumed at the completion of his sacrificial work. His coming forth from the grave proved that he was what he had claimed to be.

3. The sufficiency of Christ's atoning sacrifice (Rom. 4:25). On the cross Christ exclaimed, "It is finished." By the resurrection God declared to the universe that an adequate remedy for sin had been provided. The resurrection of Christ is God's certificate that an adequate sacrifice has been provided for sin.

4. Our life and immortality (1 Cor. 15:20). He is the first fruits of them that slept. "Because I live ye shall live also." The guarantee that man in the integrity of his being spirit, soul and body shall live again is furnished us in Christ's death and resurrection.

Promoting Happiness.

God has given understanding to man, to be employed for his glory in promoting the happiness of his creatures; and in nothing that belongs to earth can the human understanding be more worthily employed than in the researches of science and in the works of invention.—Chief Justice Chase.

Absorbing the Bible.

Reading God's Word is one thing; to look at it in the right light is another. It is like this: A man may see the figures on the dial, but he cannot tell how the day goes unless the sun shines on the dial. So, also, is reading the Bible—unless the spirit shines within our hearts it is likely that we will not get the correct interpretation.

Lord Never Forgets.

"The Lord never forgets anyone because he is little."

WHY Does Your Head Ache?

Headaches, sick or other kinds, don't happen to people whose livers are busy and whose bowels are as regular as a clock.

War Brings Peace to New York.

All is peace in New York's toughest district since the war. A year or so ago any person who wandered through the "Gas House" district, on First Avenue from Seventeenth to Twenty-second street, at night usually came away minus his watch and roll and with a battered countenance. Many were the actual and alleged breaches of the peace laid to the young manhood of this section of the city. It ran the gamut of everything from riot to murder. Today all this is changed. Since the "Gas House" gang has donned the khaki there is an air of refinement and culture in the district. Men neighbors meet on friendly terms and clothes-line fights and feuds between the women are only memories. Gone is the old order of things material. Fights have given way to celebrations in honor of the lads from the district now fighting in France. There are 171 of them from this section and the other night a service flag was unfurled. It showed five gold stars. Two thousand men, women and children, many of them mothers and fathers, lifted their voices in a pean of consecration.

Marked Oats.

The appearance of the letter B on oats coming up this season, which is astonishing people in the rural regions of Wisconsin, is less mysterious than what is said to have happened at Zanzibar, where, so report avers, a fish was caught with two inscriptions in Arabic characters on its tail. These, as deciphered by scholars, were respectively "The word of God" and "God alone." However, the Zanzibar narrative is a fish story.—Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—"For many months I was not able to do my work owing to a weakness which caused backache and headaches. A friend called my attention to one of your newspaper advertisements and immediately my husband bought three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for me. After taking two bottles I felt fine and my troubles caused by a weak nervous system are a thing of the past. All women who suffer as I did should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. JAS. ROHRBERG, 620 Knapp St., N. S., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Women who suffer from any form of weakness, as indicated by displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, backache, headaches, nervousness or "the blues," should accept Mrs. Rohrborg's suggestion and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a thorough trial.

For over forty years it has been correcting such ailments. If you have mysterious complications write for advice to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

No action was taken on the request of the Dominion Alliance.

Mr. H. Bennett, on behalf of the Trades and Light Congress asked for the free use of the town hall for a public meeting held recently, no charge be made.

It was moved by Mr. McRostie, seconded by Mr. Findlay, that no charge be made for the hall for the meeting held on January 22nd, under the auspices of the Trades and Labor Congress.—Carried.

The question of a boy that has become a nuisance in the town was brought before the Council and discussed, and was finally left in the hands of the clerk to refer to the Children's Aid Society.

It was moved by Mr. Edwards, seconded by Mr. Hughes, that the clerk be instructed to prepare and forward a resolution similar to the one passed by the City of Toronto protesting against the passing of any legislation which does not adequately protect the municipalities in the free and full use of their public highways.—Carried.

Mr. Hughes asked if the Water Commission, proposed extending the water services this year. It would relieve the labor situation, and many of the ratepayers were getting very impatient at not receiving the water.

The Mayor reported the proposed contract form of the Hydro Electric Commission, and the resolution passed by the joint meeting of the Board of Trade and the Council at a meeting held a week ago, recommending that the town sell the power and power house to the Hydro at an estimate of $60,000.

It was moved by Mr. Donald, seconded by Mr. Edwards, that the mayor and clerk be instructed to sign the necessary contracts with the Hydro Electric Commission for our proper requirements, the first contract to be for 800 horse power.

After a full discussion the motion was passed.

It was then moved by Mr. Hughes, seconded by Mr. Edwards, that the Mayor and chairman of the Finance Committee be empowered to make an agreement of sale between the Town of Carleton Place and the Hydro Electric Commission, for the Hydro Electric Commission, for the Hydro Electric generating system about to be purchased from H. Brown & Sons, the amount for this portion to be $60,000.—Carried.

It was moved by Mr. McRostie, seconded by Mr. Pattie, that a committee consisting of the Mayor and chairman of the Finance Committee interview Mr. Miller, of St. Mary's, with a view to engaging him as manager of the electric system, if satisfactory.—Carried.

Council adjourned.

EDITOR OF HERALD.
Dear Sir,—I have heard with pain that a public dance is to be held on Good Friday. If so I feel sure that those promoting it have acted without thought. A great many good citizens would feel that their religious principles had been ignored. Good Friday is the most Sacred day in the year with Christians, as on it we remember that our Dear Lord died for us.

SITUATIONS FOR RETURNED SOLDIERS

Open Letter to SIR THOMAS WHITE Acting Premier Dominion of Canada Ottawa.

DEAR SIR,—I was very much grieved just recently when reading the minutes of our Town Council regarding the kind of work suggested for the boys that have done so much for us; and my troubled heart causes me to point out to the Dominion Government what might be done to greatly assist our heroes, as well as benefit thousands of Canadians living in towns or other places where there is no mail delivery. If light-running automobiles were purchased and given in charge of returned soldiers to deliver and collect the mail daily in said localities, and perhaps the sisters of those who gave their lives for justice and freedom's cause, might be offered a situation going about with these soldiers, assisting in collecting and delivering the mail at good wages, it seems to me for a number at least, these would be real joy rides and easy labor, instead of offering one of the most menial of occupations of our victors, or any other laborer, such as straining their backs over buck-sawing hardwood on the market place, especially when we have so many modern ways of cutting wood with engine power. It was my privilege to address a number of these fine young men when they were preparing to go to the battle zone, and had I known at the time that those returning (some thirty-two from this town having given their lives) would be offered such work, it would have taken all the pep and enthusiasm out of my speeches, and I would not have had the nerve to talk to them as I did. These men fought to protect our country and the wealth of the rich, so tax these highly and use this money in giving the best situations at good pay to those deserving so much for their great sacrificing services.

Sincerely,
G. ARTHUR BURGESS
