Pushed Back From Thabanchu

The Boers Forced to Retreat a Few Miles

In the Engagement on Monday and Tuesday—Active Movement for the Relief of Kimberley—Pole-Carew's Division Reviewed by Lord Roberts Before It Left Bloemfontein on Tuesday—Interesting Boer Correspondence Captured—Women Butchered by Boers—Kipling's Views.

London, Tuesday, May 3.—4:10 a.m.—The immediate objective of Lord Roberts is to establish a line of British posts from one frontier of the Free State to the other at right angles with the railway, thus preventing Boer raids southward. It is essential, therefore, that the Boers should be expelled from the rugged Thabanchu district and be forced to retire to Ladybrand. As the result of the desultory firing Monday and Tuesday the Boers were pushed back a few miles, but nothing decisive appears to have been yet attained. The Boers continue to follow their harassing tactics. One well-horsed commando, operating in the neighborhood of Sannas Post, interferes with the British convoys going from Bloemfontein to Thabanchu. The enemy merely captured a convoy Tuesday, but they were driven off after a night fight.

GEN. DICKSON'S MISHAP.

The Morning Post has the following dispatch from Winston Churchill, dated Thabanchu, April 29: "When Gen. Dickson retired in the circumstances related in my last telegram, his own mess cart and the brigade water cart fell into the hands of the enemy, and his rear guard was heavily fired on. This retreat compromised Gen. Hamlyn, who therefore collected his forces and fell back warily into Thabanchu after sharply checking the advancing enemy with musketry and artillery fire. Although much ammunition was expended on both sides the losses were insignificant, the fighting being at great range. The result is that the Boers are willing to retreat, but it is not in the power of the present force to interfere with them or their wages."

REVIEWED BY LORD ROBERTS.

A Bloemfontein dispatch, dated Tuesday, says: "This morning Gen. Pole-Carew's division, composed of the Guards and Gen. Stevens' brigade, with several batteries of artillery, all in winter clothing, left Bloemfontein. Lord Roberts, with Lady Roberts and their daughter, reviewed the division in the market place. Later Lord Roberts, while reviewing Roberts' Horse, congratulated the men upon their gallantry, spoke of the gallantry of the colonial troops and expressed the hope that he might soon review them in Pretoria."

CORRESPONDENCE CAPTURED.

The Bloemfontein correspondent of the Morning Post, telegraphing Tuesday, says: "We have captured two interesting letters. The first, which is from a Boer to a colonial soldier, is a neglect of the defense of Kroonstad, commands there, who are described as 'occupied in looting the grain districts, which causes an increase of ill-feeling among the Free State burghers. Steyn concludes by declining to be responsible for the loyalty of the Free Staters unless a guarantee is given of the Transvaal's intention to protect Kroonstad."

The second is a letter from Kruger to the commandant at Fouriesburg. Kruger declares that it is impossible to send the reinforcements the commandant asked for, since all the federal forces are required at their present posts, but he declares that the federals are gaining great victories, and that European intervention is only a question of days."

Spencer Wilkinson, commenting upon the foregoing letter, says: "They show that the military resources of the Boers are strained. They have no reserve of men. That being the case, we can only wish that the British advance should begin. The interests of the empire and financial reasons demand that the war should be concluded as speedily as possible."

KIPLING'S VIEWS.

The Daily Chronicle publishes this morning an interview with Mr. Rudyard Kipling. When asked as to what he attributed the British military unpreparedness, he replied: "Mainly to the great British public, who have never taken the army seriously, and who have thus unconsciously encouraged the system of playing at soldiers; to people who have objected to rifle ranges, because they made a noise, or were dangerous to individuals who got in the way; to people who have made as much fuss about a dozen soldiers going through a farmyard as if a field day were a bean feast and consequently helped to make proper maneuvers for many years an impossibility, and to people who think an officer a cad if he wears the Queen's uniform when not on actual duty. For years we have been preparing the way for Stormberg, Magersfontein and the rest. The result has been the loss of thousands of lives."

SUPPLIES FOR THE BOERS.

The Lorenzo Marques correspondent of the Daily Mail, telegraphing yesterday, says: A French steamer has arrived with 10,000 bags of coffee and 10,000 bags of sugar, consigned to a syndicate which is buying for the Pretoria government. Four more steamers, with similar consignments, are expected this month.

The Boers have begun constructing fortifications at Lydenburg, where they continue storing provisions. There is also evidence of an intention to connect the disused Selati Railway running northwest from Komatipoort with Lydenburg, to destroy the Netherlands Railway as a last resort, and to hold the Drakensberg range as an eastern barrier, with Lydenburg as headquarters. If this plan should be adopted the campaign would become exceedingly difficult.

The Portuguese authorities here objected to H. M. S. Forte using her searchlights, and they next objected to night patrols. Consequently the cruiser now steams outside the harbor nightly to avoid a possible repetition of the Maine disaster.

IN NORTHERN NATAL.

Gen. Buller continues quiet. The Boers assert that they are delaying an attack upon him in the hope that all the horses of the British will die of horse sickness.

ANOTHER B COMPANY MAN DEAD.

The war office has been notified that Pte. H. B. Barr, of the 21st (Essex) Fusiliers, died at Naauwpoort, Cape Colony, from enteric fever. He belonged to B (London, Ont.) company of the Royal Canadian Regiment of Infantry.

The death of Shoemith McMillan, of the Canadian Mounted Rifles, at Bloemfontein, is also confirmed. The war office gives it out that No. 7833, Pte. J. W. Culver, was slightly wounded at Israel's Poort on April 25. The official register of the first contingent gives No. 7833 as Pte. J. W. Raymond, of the 62nd (St. John) Fusiliers.

At Mafeking.

ALL WELL ON APRIL 20.
London, May 2.—Lord Roberts has telegraphed to the war office from Bloemfontein under today's date that news has been received from Colonel Baden-Powell, the British commander at Mafeking, saying all was well there on April 20.

NATIVE WOMEN MASSACRED.

The Times correspondent at Mafeking in a dispatch dated April 19, says that thirteen native women who were attempting to leave the town by moonlight were butchered by Boers. Col. Baden-Powell communicated with Commandant Symman on the subject, but the only reply that he received was that nothing could be done, as the party, with the exception of two who were wounded, were killed.

The besiegers have increased in number. They are apparently massing from all round. On April 20 they were estimated to number 4,000. Runners detached from the town hardly ever succeed in getting south, and they only succeed by creeping past the Boer pickets.

The heaviest bombardment, with the exception of that of March 27, was delivered on April 11, but except for the destruction of houses and the moral effect, the bombardment was harmless. Only three horses were killed. The British guns did not reply to the fire.

TO RELIEVE MAFEKING.

London, May 2.—Preparations for an advance continue at Kimberley. Sir Alfred Milner has written to the mayor of Kimberley, assuring him that the relief of Mafeking has not ceased to occupy his attention and that of the military authorities, and that nothing will be left undone to raise the siege at the earliest possible moment. The British garrisons along the railway to Warrenton have been strengthened and supplies are going forward. A mounted force has gone to Barkly West, in consequence of the Boers having occupied Windsorton.

A thousand Boers threaten the communications between Boshof and Kimberley. Malak, chief of the Taungas, has informed the British that the Boers are preparing to resist their advance at Phokwani, 20 miles north of Warrenton.

A correspondent at Lorenzo Marques cabled Tuesday that a large part of the investing force at Mafeking had been withdrawn.

TALK OF PEACE.

The Magdeburg Zeitung says it learns from sources connected with the Transvaal legation at Brussels that there will be sensational developments in the South African question immediately. The result will be a speedy conclusion of peace.

According to a correspondent of the Daily Telegraph with Lord Roberts, President Kruger is again asking peace terms.

BY MAY 18.
A London cable says: It must cost Lord Roberts much to be obliged to call upon the gallant defenders of Mafeking to continue to hold out for some weeks, but at last he has fixed (Continued on Page 2.)

Success

Attended Tuesday's Engagement at Houtnek.

Gen. Roberts Sends a Cheerful Message.

Enemy Admit Losing 12 Killed and 40 Wounded, Including Russian, French and German Members of the Foreign Legion.

London, May 3.—The war office has received the following report from Lord Roberts, under date of Bloemfontein, May 2:

"Gen. Hamilton met with considerable success yesterday, and drove the enemy out of the strong position they had taken up at Houtnek, with comparatively small loss to us. The Boers dispersed in several directions, mainly to the east, and not north, leaving 28 prisoners in our hands, including 1 commandant and 16 other wounded men. Gen. Hamilton is now in camp at Jacobsrust.

As the men needed rest after fighting seven out of the last ten days, I ordered them to halt for today.

"Gen. Broadwood's brigade of cavalry arrived upon the scene in time to afford valuable assistance in threatening the enemy's rear. During the afternoon Gen. Ian Hamilton was joined by Gen. Bruce-Hamilton's brigade of infantry.

ENEMY LOSE HEAVILY.

"The enemy admit having 12 killed and 40 wounded yesterday, among the former was Lieut. Gunther, a German officer belonging to the 25th Regiment, and among the latter was Maximoff, the Russian commander of the Foreign Legion. 21 out of 52 of the enemy's casualties occurred among the members of the Legion. Two Frenchmen were among the killed.

"Gen. Hamilton speaks in high terms of the good service performed by the 8th Hussars, under Col. Clowes, and made up into a regiment of lanciers, which came into Gen. Broadwood's brigade and assisted in making the Boers vacate their positions.

THE COUPE DE GRACE.

"The final stroke to the enemy's rout was given by the Gordons and two companies of the Shropshire Light Infantry, who cheered loudly when they got within 200 yards of the position. Kitchener's Horse is also spoken of in terms of praise."

ONE OF THE CROJES SHOT.

Cape Town, May 3.—A sentry at the prisoners' camp has shot and killed a Boer named Cronje, who was a relative of Gen. Cronje, the Boer commandant who is now a prisoner at St. Helena. Cronje was outside the limits of the camp, and ignored the sentry's warning to return, whereupon the latter shot him.

The mayor of this city has opened a fund for the benefit of the sufferers by the fire at Ottawa.

TRAPPED A BIG BEAR.

Alpena, Mich., May 3.—The first bear caught in this county this spring was trapped by J. B. Treaster, a farmer, within three miles of the city. The bear weighed, after being killed, 301 pounds. A great many have been seen between here and Grand Lake this spring.

TWO TEAMS IN AILSA CRAIG.
At a meeting held Tuesday night the Ailsa Craig ("Stars") baseball club was organized for the season with the following officers: President, John Morgan; first vice-president, Joseph Siddall; second vice-president, Dr. D. A. Stewart; secretary, Dr. H. J. Kennedy; treasurer, Dr. H. J. Kennedy; manager, George Phelan; captain, Bert White; scorer, E. B. Smith; mascot, W. Calhoun; umpire, C. Bachus. The secretary is ready to arrange games with outside clubs.

THE INTERNATIONAL.
Detroit Free Press: International League affairs are rapidly assuming tangible shape, and it is expected that the schedule will be out in a few days. There is no longer any doubt as to the ability of Port Huron business men to put their club on a solid basis, and Manager Ray Eddy has been playing good players in his dragnet, ready to haul it in at any time the word is given. The three Canadian clubs have their men signed, and many have reported exhibition games having been ready to be played by London, and Manager George Black will open up with his Chatham team this week, when the D. A. C. team will tackle the leaguers. Manager Fred Eddy has several good men for the Saginaw and C. A. Hitts, who is back of the Grand Rapids club, has not been idle by any means.

Some of the men Hitts has signed are: Birmingham, a first baseman, who was considered good enough for the Western League last year; Gulheen, an infielder, who was tried by Manning this spring, and who was highly recommended by the owners of the Kansas City team; a valuable man for an International League club; Shortstop Paddy Boyle, of Cleveland; Third Baseman Wolff, a hard hitter, who has played in the Interstate League; Tommy Gettiner, the left-handed outfielder, who is well known to Western League patrons; Catcher Baker, of Toledo, and Pitchers Hagerman, King and Riley, the first two being recommended by Manager Armore of the Dayton club. The Grand Rapids grounds will be moved at once, and the first practice game will be played Saturday and Sunday with the Columbus Giants. In Manager Hitts, Grand Rapids has a local club owner and a hustler, as his efforts in the past two weeks go to show, and the talent he has signed indicates that his team will cut some figure in the race.

DIAMOND JUBILEE A WINNER.
London, May 2.—The Two Thousand Guinea stakes, run at Newmarket today, was won by the Prince of Wales' Diamond Jubilee. Bona Rosa and Sidus finished second and third respectively in the field of ten.

Sir R. Waldo Griffiths' View Holia, ridden by Martin, led to the furlong post, when Diamond Jubilee drew easily clear, followed by Sidus, and making the remainder of the running, won easily by four lengths. The betting was 11 to 1 against Diamond Jubilee, 60 to 1 against Bona Rosa, and 100 to 1 against Sidus. L. Reiff rode Bona Rosa. This is the first time the Prince of Wales' entry has won the Two Thousand Guinea stakes. His royal highness has now captured all the classic races with the exception of the Oaks stakes. After the running of the Two Thousand Guinea a host of leading jockeys in police and society crowded around the prince in the paddock. Removing his hat he shook hands with his friends and the officials of his stable and bowed repeatedly to the ringing cheers thrown in honor of him and Jockey Jones. Diamond Jubilee's attendant, who, though a mere stable lad, was given the mount in preference to the fashionable jockeys who had hitherto been unable to get the horse into a gallop.

YESTERDAY'S WINNERS.
At Aqueduct, New York—Sparrow

Wing, Edna Conig, Ragged Sailor, Boney Boy, McGrathiana and Belario.
At Nashville, Tenn.—Shrove Tuesday, The Pride, Windward, Clarita, Sir Eldon and Crystalline.
At Oakland, San Francisco—Loneless, Mamie G., Mortgage, Headwater, Gauntlet and Coda.
At Louisville, Ky.—Deceptrix, Ethel Press, Polly Bixby, Oronas, Sam Lyons and Isabinda.

Holmes; secretary-treasurer, A. J. McKinnon; captain, A. J. Gentles.

BICYCLES AND HEALTH.
Old Riders Say Wheeling Is the Most Invigorating of All Outdoor Exercises.

Many persons who have demonstrated to their own satisfaction that cycling is the most beneficial and pleasant of all sports, have been surprised to hear their favorite pastime condemned by some friend who claims to have given the wheel a trial and found it wanting.

Very few of these advocates of the wheel ever analyzed the objections and demonstrated that the use of the bicycle was not the cause of their friend's opinion, but that the trouble lay in the abuse of it. A little investigation will prove that this is the case nine times out of ten and that had many people that had enlisted in the ranks of those opposed to cycling been properly initiated into the sport they would now be enthusiasts of the first water.

Usually the beginner, graduating from the riding school, starts out by utterly disregarding the old adage that "One must creep before one can walk." He knows Mr. Oldier, who isn't near as strong as he is, and easily rides 40 or 50 miles a day; or she remembers how Miss Chainless rode three centuries last season, and she is only a little thing; so there is no earthly reason why they shouldn't ride 20 or 30 miles on their first outing. They do not take into consideration that many of the muscles brought into play in wheel riding are ordinarily little used, and consequently are not prepared for the unusual strain about to be imposed upon them.

In walking, the weight of the body is carried by the lower limbs; the swinging of the arms, the swinging of the legs, the rhythmic motion of the feet, all relieve muscles that in cycling are almost at a continuous tension. The weight of the body is carried on the saddle, but pedaling makes a demand on muscles not used in walking. Though it relieves the body of the weight of the body, the constant grasp of the hands on the bars brings into use muscles of the back, shoulders, arms, particularly the wrists, that have never before been called upon to do any work. A beginner, hardly possessing a couple of miles of riding and these newly exercised muscles weary of the tension and become sore. The beginner, after with determination, pays no attention to the fact that his opinion is based on nature, but labors on his way as best he can. Perhaps he reaches the turning point of his journey, having neglected to think that it is just as far, perhaps, as he is out. Eventually he reaches home again, (how would he be another story), but the lasting impression that he has of cycling is anything but favorable. The next day and perhaps for two or three days afterwards, his opinion is emphasized by stiff and sore muscles, that make work almost an impossibility and the slightest movement a hardship. A very small proportion of those who have ever undergone an experience such as this persevere, and are profiting by their former errors, try a spin of a mile or two and then take a good rest. Another short run and they are done for. The next day the lengthen their ride perhaps a mile, and at the end of a week are surprised to find that a ride of ten miles is much easier accomplished than the first half mile. They have not become stronger in this one week, but have learned to sit the chair easily, to grasp the bars lightly, to relax the muscles generally, and in every way use them to the best advantage, instead of having them at the utmost tension as they had at the start.

The Weak, The Diseased, Made Strong and Healthy Through Dr. Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

Every drop of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent communicates through the blood, sweat, urine and other fluids and juices of the system the vigor of life; fortifies the wastes of the body with new and sound material. Scrofula, consumption, syphilis, unclean and badly treated venereal diseases, all forms of skin diseases, eruptions, fever sores, scabs, ring worm, salt rheum, erysipelas, acne, black spots in the flesh, tumors, cancerous growths, female complaints, and all weaknesses and painful discharges, night sweats, neuralgias and all forms of the life principle are within the curative range of this Wonderful Modern Chemistry and a few days use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of disease its potent power to cure them. If the patient daily becoming reduced by wastes and decompositions that are continually progressing succeeds in arresting these wastes and repairs the same with new material made from healthy blood, and this the Sarsaparillian will and does secure, a cure is certain, for when once this remedy commences its work of purification and succeeds in diminishing the loss of wastes its repairs will be rapid, and every day the patient will feel his self growing better and stronger, the food digesting better, appetite improving and flesh and weight increasing.

SCROFULA FROM BIRTH.
Dr. Radway.—Dear Sir: It is with pleasure I take my pen in hand to inform you of the great cure effected by your medicine called Sarsaparillian Resolvent. I have a girl 3 years old last September, who was born with scrofula ever since she was 2 years old. In fact, the doctor told us she was born with it. We had our best local doctors with her, and it seemed like all hope was gone, for they told us if the disease settled on her lungs she could not be cured. This frightful disease seated on her lungs, she was very weak, and I began to think that our little girl could not live very long, our physician's medicines doing no good. In the meantime I received a copy of your medical publication, called "False and True," which you sent me. After seeing the accounts of so many cures effected by your treatments, I at once resorted to them, and by the time she had used one bottle she was most well. The doctor that was making her appearance on her body are entirely gone, her lungs almost healed, or, at least, she has quit coughing. She has begun on the second bottle, and I believe that by the time she uses all of it she will be well. She had a very bad cough. I am yours, respectfully, SAMUEL S. BARKER. Flat Top, Mercer County, W. Va.

LIFE A BURDEN.
Dr. Radway.—Dear Sir: For a long time past I have been suffering from the most distressing manner from a long train of symptoms which have baffled the skill of all the medical men down here, and which, I feared, if not arrested in their progress, would terminate in the total prostration of my strength. Loss of appetite and desire of stimulating and artificial means of sustenance at irregular times, want of healthy sleep and consequent depression on arising in the morning rendered life quite a burden to me, until a friend induced me to try your medicine. So I got a bottle of Radway's Sarsaparillian and a box of Radway's Pills and took them according to directions. I soon found relief. I got three boxes and three bottles more, and I am better in health than ever before. I remain your humble servant, ARTHUR D. WRIGHT, Unionville, Mich.

The Most Economical of the Best.

Settling South Africa After the War.

A good many of the British soldiers in South Africa are considering the question of settling there, as they realize that the demand for skilled labor after the war is likely to be enormous. An officer of one of the Guards regiments has made private inquiries among the reservists in his own company, and has found twelve men willing and anxious to stay in the country. The great difficulty is, of course, the expense of bringing their families over; but the hope is expressed that the Government, on the conclusion of the war, instead of incurring the expense of sending these men home, will contribute a substantial sum of money towards the passage out of their wives and families. "Many officers who are deeply interested in this question," says a correspondent, "have formed an informal committee and intend to bring before the British public proposals somewhat in the nature of those I have mentioned. Such action, they urge, would be likely to secure at small expense a fixed loyal population."

Whether many Canadians will stay behind in South Africa after the close of the campaign, it is impossible to say. A good many of our young fellows had some such idea in their heads before they left Canada; but the general tone of the private letters received reveals a heightened appreciation of the land of the maple on the part of her temporarily exiled sons. South Africa will become, in time, a great country, but no country such as Canada. South Africa, with its millions of Kaffirs and other black peoples, has tremendous color and labor problems, apart from its British-Boer race difficulty. On the whole, we think most of our Canadian boys who survive the ordeal of Boer bullets and South African fevers will be glad to get back to their own happy and progressive country.

The U. S. Senate, Also!

Some interest has been excited by the resolution of the United States House of Representatives that a proposal be submitted to the states of the Union for revising the system of electing members of the Senate. They are now elected for the most part by the Legislatures, but in future should be elected by the direct vote of the people in each State. The resolution, which was passed by a majority of more than 20 to 1, is purely academic, as the Senate will not concur, but it indicates clearly the growth of a profound discontent with the constitution and action of the Senate. Fifty years ago that body was exceptionally conservative and temperate, but it has undergone a marked deterioration. It now swarms with millionaires, who are believed to purchase election by large gifts to "campaign funds," who are always disputing prerogatives with the Executive Government, and who make it nearly impossible for the President to have a foreign policy. The senators can accept or reject any foreign agreement, and they are complaisant or hostile according as they think the President friendly or hostile to their pet interests or ideas. "The Hay-Pauncefote treaty, for example, which would be most advantageous for America, has been blocked, not because its provisions are disliked, but because such a treaty might help Mr. McKinley's candidature. The people are growing weary of this, and the vote of the House marks their desire to make in some way a radical change in the composition of the House of Lords."

These Second Chambers, as Canada knows to its cost, removed as they are from the necessity of appearing before time to time in their units before the people for re-election, are apt to become seats of reaction and barriers to progress. In the Canadian Senate the process of equalizing the strength of the two parties, unfairly disproportionate as it has been, is going on quietly but steadily. After that unfair disproportion has been adjusted, the question of making the Senate in some way more directly amenable to public opinion must be taken up and vigorously dealt with. The appointment of senators for life in a new country like Canada is an anachronism that cannot continue.

Feeding a Great City.

In the Quarterly Review for January of the present year there is an interesting article on the food of London, which gives one, at least, a glimpse of what is meant when we say that it is a wonderful process by which a city of five millions is steadily supplied with food from day to day. As the writer well says, "The feeding of London's millions is one of those phenomena which arouse our wonder by reason of their scale alone. Taken singly, the details may be unimpressive, but the combined effect is overwhelming. It is a familiar truism that men buy in the cheapest market, and sell in the dearest, and that in obeying the laws of their own interest they are impelled to supply each other's necessities. But to see the process at work on a colossal scale, to see a community of five millions of human beings supplied day by day and hour by hour, with the regularity of a machine, with all the necessities and luxuries known to man, by the willing labor of countless thousands of men and women, utterly unknown to them, many of them dwelling thousands of miles away, bound to them by no ties of compulsion, joined to them by no relations of friendship or race, and all this not by any elaborate process of conscious organization, but by the continual and automatic working of elementary forces—this is a spectacle which appeals forcibly to our imagination."

However, it is not sufficient to have the imagination impressed. There are lessons for the reason to be drawn from this great spectacle, and the essayist goes on to ask the pertinent question, in what consists the mysterious power which enables London thus to hold the world in fee? London must give something for what she gets, since all trade is exchange, and in the economic world nothing is obtained for nothing. "The outgoing stream of London's visible exports, large as it is in the aggregate, is but a dribble compared with the flood of imports which the metropolis receives." We are warned, then, in this case, not to press the popular distinction between production and distribution as if the former only was a source of wealth. London pays in services, not in goods merely, or, as this writer puts it, London is the great "middleman" of the world. London is a great distributing center, goods meant to be consumed elsewhere are brought in London ships, insured in London offices, marketed by London dealers, stored in London warehouses.

Further, London is the financial and banking center of the world; she draws a vast tribute of interest on capital invested, and this comes in the form of food. The work done as a political and judicial center of the empire may also be regarded as a kind of "invisible export." Is not, then, the size of such a city a great danger? The author thinks that so long as a powerful fleet commands the seas, and there is the attraction of purchasing power, nothing can hinder an adequate supply of food from reaching London. Not that way is the danger, but if the shipping trade should go to another flag, or the financial center of the world shift, or the British Empire decay, then London would be "resolved into a mere amorphous aggregation of human beings," and the problem of feeding five million mouths would assume a terrible form. Like the writer of this luminous essay, we hope that such a day is very far off.

WHY HE FLED FROM TURKEY

Ismail Was a Friend of Great Britain.

India Tea Crop Damaged by Hail and Rain Storms—A New Ocean Flyer.

Constantinople, May 2.—It is now learned that Ismail Kemal Bey, who was reported April 30 to have mysteriously disappeared, has, with his three sons, got safely out of Constantinople on board the Egyptian steamer Rubattino, en route for Europe. When Ismail disappeared he boarded the British gunboat Salamander and claimed an asylum, which was immediately granted. The British embassy then informed the sultan, who feigned surprise, but finally declared that Ismail was free to go.

While the departure of Ismail is particularly due to the conviction that it is impossible for anyone of enlightened views to remain in Turkey under prevailing conditions, his going was also influenced by the fact that most of the other signatories of the recent address of sympathy for Great Britain in connection with the war in South Africa have already been exiled.

In spite of the port's refusal to sanction the British, the British post office at Salonica was opened on Tuesday.

INDIA TEA CROP DAMAGED. Calcutta, May 3.—Reports received here from the tea districts show the prospects are generally unfavorable. Hail and rainstorms have done much damage to the crops.

NEW OCEAN FLYER. London, May 3.—The North German Lloyd line has just placed with the Vulcan Shipbuilding Company, of Stettin, an order for a vessel which is to maintain an average speed of 25 knots an hour.

BABY'S FACE MASS OF SORES

They Almost Closed Her Eyes. Physicians of No Benefit. Healed by CUTICURA.

When my little sister was four months old her cheeks became red and inflamed. Small pimples broke out over her face and it was one mass of sores, which almost closed her eyes and reached to the corners of her mouth. For several weeks a physician attended her, but as she showed little or no benefit from his treatment we searched for other means. We bought a cake of CUTICURA Soap and a box of CUTICURA Ointment. Her face healed and she grew healthy again. You can use this letter as a testimonial. March 19, '98. ROSA BURGER, Solomon, Kan. Signed by parents.

embassies note the Porte's declaration that it does not intend to introduce any unilateral measures and will hasten to inform their governments of this. The ambassadors have decided to make their consent to an increase conditional on the removal of the abuses in the matter of chemical analysis, the suppression of warehouse duties and the abolition of the stipulation whereby articles not specified in the tariff may be interdicted, confiscated or destroyed. The ambassadors have decided to make the payment of indemnities to foreigners a separate question, and to deal therewith at a later date.

BOER ENVOYS.

The Hague, May 2.—The Boer delegates, Fischer and Wolmarans, left yesterday for Rotterdam, en route to the United States. A great crowd bade them farewell at the station; school children sang hymns, and floral tributes were sent from all parts of the country. The delegates made short speeches, thanking the populace for the kindly reception extended by "the people united to them by bonds of race and religion." Mr. Fischer told the Associated Press correspondent that the object of their visit to the United States was to appeal to the government and people in order to seek the re-establishment of peace. He said they were going in order to rectify erroneous opinions and make the truth known, by which it would be seen that the Boers had not brought on the war, but desired only peace and the tranquil possession of independence, which was as dear to them as to the American people. He said he knew nothing regarding the statements that they would not be received officially by the government. In response to a question as to how the refusal of Secretary Hay to receive them to Washington would affect their mission, Mr. Fischer said: "We know absolutely nothing. We have seen it in the papers, but we can say nothing more."

Constantinople, Wednesday, May 2.—The Egyptian steamer Tewfik Bahiana, having on board Ismail Kemal Bey, who was reported April 30 to have mysteriously disappeared, passed through the Dardanelles this morning without incident. At the last moment the Sultan, through Redvan Pasha, unsuccessfully tried to persuade Ismail to abandon his decision to go abroad.
