

PROPHCY MADE IN 1853, FULFILLED IN BOER WAR; AGAIN DURING GREAT WAR

Remarkable Utterance by United States Officer At Opening of Old Great Western Railway in London 68 Years Ago—Interesting Event Recalled by Clipping and Picture From English Paper Published in January, 1854.

Look closely at the picture less you fail to recognize correctly one of the old historic landmarks of London. The reproduction is from an old copy of the Illustrated London News (London, England), dated January 21, 1854. The official opening of the Great Western Railway took place on December 15, 1853, and when the corner of the platform and station shown in the right foreground of the picture is actually a corner of the present Grand Trunk station or not may give rise to some discussion. The engine-house, which stood south of the station on ground over which the London and Port Stanley electric trains approach the Richmond street station, was torn down some years ago.

Historic Landmark.
Why the artist of the great English pictorial journal saw fit to sketch a meagre corner of the station is not apparent. Is it possible the Grand Trunk station was regarded as an architectural monstrosity even when it was brand new? It has been sketched, photographed and done in oils and crayons by so many artists during the past 68 years, that it has come to be recognized as an inviolate architectural relic and historic landmark of the city.

The Ark of the Covenant.
So much so that the Grand Trunk Company, although anxious to erect a new station having been checked through sheer force of public opinion, which most certainly would demand the imposing of extreme penalties upon any one who would dare to demolish the Ark of the Covenant which London made with the historic old Great Western Railway nearly 70 years ago. The Grand Trunk, which has now become historic in turn, has faithfully observed that covenant in so far it never materially disturbed or altered the outward symbol of that covenant.

Gigantic Undertaking.
The article which accompanied the sketch in the Illustrated London News reads as follows:

Nearly Seventy Years Ago.
"The opening of the central section of the Great Western Railway, which took place at London, Canada West, on the 15th of December, 1853, was hailed by the inhabitants with an expression of popular gratitude suited to an event which is calculated to exercise an important influence on their town and the adjacent district.
"Not many years have elapsed since the site on which the town of London now stands was a wilderness, and it is not more than a village; but in the general impetus which has been given to the progress of the state within the few years London has received its full share; handsome brick buildings are rapidly displacing the wooden shanties of the original settlers, and the event just mentioned, the town is put in connection by railway, not only with the shores of Lake Ontario, but also with the Atlantic.
"In England, even previous to the time at which railways were first brought into operation, the traveling was comparatively good, but in Canada, although the road from Hamilton to London, 80 miles distant, is esteemed one of the best in the province, travelers at certain seasons of the year must make up their minds to be twenty hours in performing the distance by stage, besides running the risk of being upset perhaps more than once by the way. Under such circumstances it is little to be wondered at that the opening of a railway in that province should be an event of general rejoicing.
"After the arrival of the train the spectators were entertained at a public dinner. The mayor of the town—who is also a director and has taken a very active part in pushing forward the undertaking, presided. Numerous appropriate toasts were drunk. The health of her majesty was received with great enthusiasm; but the festivities of the evening were not more remarkable for anything than the very good feeling expressed towards the mother country by the American gentlemen who were present. Gen. Clarke, from the States, in responding to the health of the president, expressed his sentiments to the effect that if any nation should lift a finger against the parent country, her children from this side of the Atlantic would be seen flying to her relief.
"It would not be doing justice to the Great Western Railway were these remarks on that great work to be limited to the benefits which it is likely to confer on the London district. The unfinished portion of the line from London to Detroit, opposite Windsor, which will very shortly be completed, will there connect with the railways through the Western States of America, and in conjunction of some one or other of those lines westward, as far as the Pacific—a gigantic undertaking, which many people now living may see completed. There is therefore nothing extravagant in assuming as a probability that at no very distant date trains from the Atlantic and the Pacific may meet on the railway which has been opened through the town of London.
"The sketch represents the train passing the company's engine-house and workshop, and approaching the passenger station. The engine-house, next the square building, partly lighted from the top, on the left of the sketch, is well arranged and capable of containing seventeen locomotives."

Finger Print Science Opens Unlimited Scope For Crime Investigator

Recent Action at Windsor Has Aroused Interest in Science in London and District—Only Burning That Destroys Sweat Glands Removes Tell-Tale Markings.

As a result of the report that the Windsor police department intends to open a finger print bureau in the near future, an added interest in this science of identification has sprung up in Western Ontario. Today an Advertiser reporter learned that there are already a number of students of the art in this city, independent of the police, who are naturally interested, and that some of them have made considerable headway in its study.

For the information of the readers of The Advertiser, a short article on the matter was secured from a student of the science, who has made almost perfect marks in every phase of the subject, and from his account of the work it may readily be seen that if such a bureau was established here still greater success in the detection of crime than is now obtained would result.

Finger Print Science.
He writes as follows:
"Of all existing science the finger print science, or method of identification by the prints given by the public in general than any other, notwithstanding the fact that it is perhaps one of the oldest of the sciences, for it is a known fact that the Chinese monarchs over two thousand years ago used the thumb print in order to know that a person is 'who he is.'
"It was not until recent years, however, that a deep study of the science of finger prints was undertaken by Sir Francis Galton, who wrote a very interesting account of the history and development of the science. To the casual observer, finger prints mean nothing more than the patterns from dirty or greasy fingers left upon some suitable surface; but to the student, or finger print expert, they may be the means of furnishing a vast amount of interesting information which may be either good or bad for the person leaving the prints."
"One cannot begin to give an account of the finger print system of identification in a newspaper column; it requires a volume in itself, but a brief outline may prove interesting to some readers. There are still a great number of people who are not yet convinced that there cannot be two finger prints alike, and that as a means of identification they are not reliable. Now this idea is erroneous, because of all the millions of prints taken throughout the entire population of the earth there has not yet been two found to be exactly alike.
"Sixty-four Billions to One.
"Sir Francis Galton figured that the chances were sixty-four billions to one against there being two alike. M. M. V. Balchard, a French student, finger prints, addressed a report to the French Academy of Sciences, and in that report he computed the chances to be only one billion to one against two finger prints being alike. Balchard wrote that 'any finger print is divided into one hundred squares, each square will contain a different pattern.'

EPOCHAL EVENT IN LONDON'S GROWTH

Reproduction of steel engraving by English artist of the official opening of the Great Western Railway, recently the G. T. R., but now part of the Canadian National Railways System, on December 15, 1853. It was accompanied by a brief account of the occasion, which is also reproduced in this issue of The Advertiser.

NINE MONTHS BEHIND TIME OF CONTRACT

Pine Lawn Houses To Be Finished November 1, 1920.

NO PENALTY CLAUSE

Chairman Cunliffe Is Silent, Pending Completion of Inspector Piper's Report.

Although contracts for the erection of dwellings on Pine Lawn were signed by Chairman E. R. Dennis of the London Housing Commission and Hayman & Willis, contractors, on September 30, 1920, requiring that these houses be completed by November 1 of the same year, none of these houses are yet completed, over nine months after the time limit specified.
A penalty clause inserted in the contract calls for a blank amount to be forfeited by the contractors for every day's delay after November 1, but, as yet, no penalty has been paid.
"The houses are not completed until they are turned over to the commission by the contractors, and none of them have been taken over as finished yet," J. W. Cunliffe, present chairman of the London Housing Commission, informed The Advertiser today. "However, I am not going to say anything more about it, and the reporters will get no further information from me until after Building Inspector Piper completes his inspection and hands in his report."
"I have never in my 33 years experience seen the penalty clause in a contract enforced, excepting once," Building Inspector Piper informed The Advertiser. "I never did," replied the building inspector. "Contractors do not usually get that far behind, because it is to their interest to finish as soon as possible. It is certainly a long time to be overdue on a contract."
"They ask $5,100 for a house over on Garfield avenue," declared a prominent city official, who demands that his name be withheld at present, "while one may purchase a better house on one of the best paved residential streets in the city for a small sum additional. It is a condition of affairs I cannot understand."

The building was originally used as a storehouse.

POPULATION OF LONDON IS MORE THAN REPORTED

Official Census Does Not Include Recently Annexed Districts.

WELL OVER 60,000

Government Calculations Are Made in Accordance With Electoral District Limits.

While official Government figures, following the recent Dominion decennial census, place the population of the city of London at 53,592, it is pointed out that this does not include the annexed districts, such as Pottersburg, Knollwood Park and Ealing, with a total population of 6,692, which brings the population of London proper to 60,284. The annexed districts are included for Government census purposes in the electoral district of East Middlesex, and the population of the former, according to official figures of the city assessment department, is 6,692. Figures released from Ottawa with regard to London specify only the federal electoral district of London, which is minus the annexed districts, the low population of 53,592 being thus explained.
"There are many people resident on the outskirts of London, aside from the annexed districts, not included in the official figures," Assessment Commissioner Stephen Grant stated to The Advertiser today, "so that London is well above the 60,000 figure."

Lovers' Knot On One Side, Dollar Mark On Other

New York, Aug. 6.—The New York World today disclosed a standing jest that it says has been perpetrated for years by architects of the million dollar St. Thomas' Episcopal Church on the dozens of fashionable brides who have gone to the altar through the famous "brides' door" since the church was completed ten years ago.

Carved into the granite capital over the door, says the newspaper, is a huge dollar sign, slightly conventionalized but unmistakable. A photograph of the door, reproduced to bear out the story, shows a beautiful and finely chiseled decoration surmounted by a double ball, on one side of which is carved a conventional true lovers' knot, and on the other the somewhat similar, but strikingly different, "3" mark. Donald Robb, architect, who was in charge of the design for the designers of the church, is quoted as having admitted designing the dollar mark, saying it was "done in fun" and asserting he could not see that it was a subject for newspaper comment.
Mr. Robb declared architects frequently have hidden satire and humor in their designs.

VETERANS MUST AGREE ON UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEMS BEFORE ANY AMALGAMATION

Dominion Secretary of G. W. V. A. Declares Combination, Including All Returned Men's Organizations, Not Possible Until Various Bodies Can Agree On Unemployment Question—Clear Cut Policy Is First Necessary, Otherwise Dissension Would Follow.

Toronto, Aug. 6.—Declaring that before amalgamation of all veteran organizations in Canada can be accomplished they must first demonstrate that unity is practicable by co-ordination of their forces on the Dominion-wide problem of unemployment, C. G. MacNeil, Dominion secretary of the G. W. V. A., stated this morning that he had not committed his organization to any action that would result in immediate amalgamation. The decision in that respect, he added, would come from the members through their delegates at the forthcoming convention of the G. W. V. A. at Port Arthur this fall.

"Any form of amalgamation entered into at the present time without a clear decision as to the policy and aims of the united body, would tend to create dissension, and would put the ex-service men of Canada in a far worse position than at the present time," Mr. MacNeil declared. "Immediate action must be taken to provide against the serious unemployment that now exists in the country, and which has every indication of becoming far worse during the winter. If we can demonstrate to unemployed ex-service men that we can secure results by unity on such a grave problem, then they will lend whole-hearted support to the formation of one body, including all existing organizations, and those men who are at present without affiliation with any organization."

CANADIAN TEACHERS' FEDERATION HOLDING ANNUAL CONVENTION

Delegates From All Provinces Are Meeting in City of Toronto.

ORGANIZED IN CALGARY

Alberta Representatives Insist They Be Given Places On School Boards.

Toronto, Aug. 6.—Teachers from every province in Canada were present at the first annual meeting of the Canadian Teachers' Federation in the board room of the school administration building. This is the organization that was formed last year in Calgary. It set out to better the condition of the teachers financially and otherwise, and in Alberta the teachers had a rather strident battle with the school boards.

Reports From Delegates.
A feature of the morning session was the reading of the reports from the various provinces as to conditions of the profession. That of Alberta was particularly interesting, in view of the advanced demands made by the teachers there, and the conflict that followed when the teachers went on strike.

Another session was held during the afternoon, and tonight the Toronto teachers' council tenders an informal dinner to the delegates at the King Edward Hotel at 6 o'clock.

PICTURESQUE MEDLEY ON CITY MARKET

Many Types, Colors, Sounds, Make Strange Harmony in Covent Garden.

TOWN AND CITY BLEND

Old Market Square Is Saturday Mecca of a Wide Countryside.

In Covent Garden (London, Ontario's, Covent Garden) the flowers bloom, the gladioli nod and smile, the sweet peas demurely beckon, and the marigolds and asters stage a riot of gay colors and market days. Three times a week the old, grey square becomes a swaying throng of busy, bargaining men and women; a babel of voices, the stirring monotone of the Canadian blending with high Celtic and broad English, with overtones and undertones of a strident American, musical Italian, plashy splashy Yiddish; and the rapid chatter-battering of the Mongolian, the sombre colors, bright colors, soft, soothing colors, and other wonderful colors, colors that never were on land or sea and had no pre-existence until some dreamer discovered them by accident.

In Covent Garden, town and country blend. From the green fields and rolling hills of old Westminster's lovely farmlands and gardens, from the sandy hillsides of Chiswick, from the picturesque and quaint old homesteads of Nissouri, from the northern uplands of London and Hiddul, and here to meet them comes the workingman's wife, sometimes also the rich man's wife, who not too proud to go marketing and save a few cents on her green corn, peas and poultry for Sunday's dinner.

East Meets West.
Here the Orient meets the Occident, and a Syrian grocer purchasing his supplies, perchance, buys them from an Oneida farmer who has driven a tired-looking sorrel nag all the way from the Long-House country at Southwick. The Anglo-Canadian comes with a hesitant and careful purchaser in the Semitic woman from Clarence street, but she takes no less than half a dozen live fowls from this and, despite the fact that several young hopes of Israel clutch at her skirt and she pushes a young child in a baby's carriage.

NEW APPOINTMENTS ON POLICE FORCE EXPECTED SHORTLY

One, and most likely, more appointments will be made by the London Police Commission at its next meeting, which will be held on the latter part of August or the first part of September. One sergeant will be appointed to succeed the late Sgt. Thos. Noonan.

As the desk sergeants now work eight hours a day instead of dividing the day into two shifts, and as this has necessitated a third man working on the desk, it is probable that a third desk sergeant will be appointed to the post, to present the third shift is worked by patrol sergeants, each of the outside men taking his turn.

MEMBERS OF DAIL EIREANN TO BE FREED

Imprisoned Feiners To Attend Sessions When Peace Is Discussed.

CABINET MEETING HELD

London Confident That Peace Is Only Question of Time.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—None of the imprisoned members of the Dail Eireann have as yet been liberated, but it is considered certain the Government will release nothing in the way of their release, and that they will be free to attend the sittings of the Dail Eireann when that body convenes to discuss the peace proposals.

Meetings of the Ulster cabinet and the Dail Eireann "cabinet" were held today. So far as is known, however, they were not directly connected with the hitherto unsuccessful efforts to bring about an agreement between the north and south, preliminary to a tripartite conference at London.

Only incidentally, the "Republican cabinet" confined itself to consideration of the Dail Eireann meeting, while Lieut.-Col. Spender, secretary to the Irish cabinet, announced at the conclusion of its deliberations that the question of peace had been touched upon only incidentally.

Notwithstanding the lack of definite action immediately connected with the peace, or of even a hint of the imminence of such action, confidence continues to prevail in political circles in London that there is no likelihood of a breakdown in the negotiations.

BELEAST, Aug. 5.—Five armed men invaded an upholstery store tonight and demanded money from the proprietor, Green & Levine. This was refused, and the raiding party fired. Green was wounded in the head and Levine was stuck in the shoulder.

DAIL EIREANN MEETS.

DUBLIN, Aug. 5.—A meeting of the Dail Eireann cabinet was held today at the Mansion House with Eamon de Valera presiding. The forthcoming meeting of the Dail Eireann was discussed, and the question will be entitled to attend was an interesting point raised.

After the last elections for Northern and Southern Ireland the Sinn Fein party, anxious for the establishment of a national assembly, embracing all parties in Ireland, resolved to constitute the Dail Eireann from every man elected, including members of the Orange party and of Trinity College.

Got Small Response.

The Sinn Fein therefore issued invitations to all those elected, asking whether they desired to join, and how they have decided to send invitations only to those persons who then indicated their willingness to join in the national body. Thus, the Dail Eireann will consist of 132 persons who accepted the invitation.

MOTHERS! WATCH YOUR TEETHING BABIES

THOUSANDS OF THEM DIE EVERY SUMMER

When the baby starts to cut its teeth, then is the time the poor mother is under the stress of great anxiety. The child's bowels become loose, and diarrhoea, dysentery, colic, cramps and many other bowel complaints manifest themselves; the gums become swollen, cankers form in the mouth, and in many cases the child wastes to a shadow, and very often the termination is fatal.

On the first indication of any looseness of the bowels, give a few doses of

DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF Wild Strawberry

and thus, perhaps, save your baby's life.

For the past 16 years "Dr. Fowler's" has been used by mothers for teething babies so you do not experiment with a new and untried remedy which might be dangerous to your darling's health.

MOORS BUTCHER SOLDIERS AFTER THEY SURRENDER

Had Promised To Spare Lives of Spanish Troops.

MADRID, Aug. 5.—Twenty Spanish soldiers, the last remnant of the Spanish troops to resist capture of the town of Nador, fifteen miles south of Melilla, were massacred by the Moors after having surrendered, according to advices received here today from Melilla.

The massacred Spanish troops had held out for eleven days against great odds, the dispatch said, taking refuge in a church and finally in a nearby mill. They surrendered, it was said, only after the attacking tribesmen had offered to spare their lives.

The Moors, entering the town, ransacked houses and demolished the church. Some of the Spanish troops who succeeded in escaping are said to have seen the Moors disputing over the booty they had captured. During the dispute it was said a number of their own men were killed and wounded.

During the eleven days that the Spanish contingent resisted the invaders they were forced to survive on barley and wheat, procured in a random, dangerous position.

Since the recent drive by the Moors in the region south of Melilla, Spanish forces of the Third Foreign Corps and men from the command of General Navarro have been reported in a precarious position at Mount Arrat. As late as August 4 it was stated the troops here and also at Nador and Zeilan were continuing to resist the Moors, and that the aeroplanes were supplying them with food, medicine and ammunition. Thursday, however, a report came that Mount Arrat had been evacuated.

The Moors operating against the Spaniards in this region according to reports received in Madrid, had their army organized in European style.

BRITAIN TO TRY SEX EQUALITY IN CIVIL SERVICE

Women Likely To Be Admitted On Same Basis As Men.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—An important step in the direction of equality of sexes was taken in the House of Commons today as a result of the discussion regarding the admission of women to positions in the civil service. The resolution introduced by Sir Robert Stevenson Horne, chancellor of the exchequer, was unanimously adopted, providing that after a transitional period of three years women shall be admitted to civil service in the United Kingdom under the same conditions and regulations as govern men.

Regard, however, is to be had to the suitability of the women to the situation. Women appointed to posts in the civil service will have the same status and authority as men, but have regard to the financial position of the country the question of remuneration of women as compared with men shall be reviewed within three years.

A proviso was inserted in the resolution safeguarding the interests of former service men.

QUEBEC WILL GIVE BYNG FINE WELCOME

Residents of Ancient Capital Making Great Preparations For Visit.

QUEBEC, Aug. 5.—That the people of Quebec City feel deeply honored and pleased by the fact that the new governor-general of Canada, Lord Byng, has chosen the oldest city in America as his first landing place on Thursday, August 11, is shown by the preparations that are being made towards extending a hearty welcome.

An immense arch has been erected at the King's Wharf, where the viceregal party will land, and the streets will be decorated with flags and bunting. It is planned that the reception will be quite as elaborate as that which greeted H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught, when he came here to take office as governor-general.

According to the official program for the reception, Lord Byng will land at King's Wharf at 11:15 Thursday morning, and at 11:30 will leave for the Parliament Buildings, where the administration of the oath of office takes place at 12 o'clock. During the afternoon the viceregal party will visit places of interest in the city, and at 5 o'clock will go to Spencerwood, the residence of the lieutenant-governor for dinner. At 10:30 the party will leave Spencerwood for the C. P. R. station, where it will entrain for Ottawa.

U. F. O. TO CALL CONVENTION

D. M. Ross and J. D. Wilson May Be Choice in North Oxford.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 5.—Promises of early activity among the political parties of North Oxford in connection with the coming by-election for the Legislature, necessitated by the death of John Calder is given today in the information that the U. F. O. executive will meet next week to make arrangements for the holding of a convention. They have definitely decided to enter a candidate, and D. M. Ross and J. D. Wilson are in-line for the nomination. Dr. Sinclair, who has been mentioned as a possible Liberal candidate, stated today that he would not go after the position, but would consider the matter if asked to stand.

SEVEN DEAD FROM EATING POISON FUNGI

Baby Only One of Entire Family To Escape Horrible Death.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 5.—(By Canadian Press).—Seven persons are dead at Stuartburn, near Dominion City, Man., as a result of eating poisonous fungi, in the belief that they were mushrooms, according to word received here this afternoon.

The deaths wipe out an entire family, consisting of Fred Huska, his wife and five children, the only survivor being a six-months-old baby. The tragedy was practically complete before neighbors knew that sickening touches the family, and when help arrived it was too late to save the father, who was the last to succumb.

The story as it could be gathered from the almost incoherent utterances of the sick man, was that the mushrooms, or what they took to be mushrooms, were gathered by the children on Sunday, cooked and eaten. The first death occurred on Monday. Another child died Tuesday, and by this time all the members of the family were suffering from the poison and unable to help themselves.

The family lived four miles from Stuartburn, and had been gathering mushrooms for some time. An inquest held yesterday, at which a verdict was returned that all the deaths were from poisoning and attaching blame to no one.

GRAIN COMMISSION WILL INVESTIGATE WEIGHT AND GRADES

Integrity of Officers At Elevators To Be Probed Also.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 5.—The board of grain commissioners will investigate all matters within its jurisdiction which might affect the weight and grades of grain, and the integrity of its officers at all elevators, according to a letter made public today by R. J. Henderson from R. Hetherington, secretary of the board. The letter was in reply to one sent by Mr. Henderson to the board asking for a go-ahead to an investigation which he made before the royal grain inquiry commission at Fort William some time ago.

Mr. Hetherington says he is also directed to state that the board has "no intention or desire, nor would it have any right to eliminate any member of the board at such investigation."

ESSEX FARMERS ARE COMING TO LONDON

Auto Tour of Ontario Planned To Start August 16.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WINNIPEG, Aug. 5.—Members of the farmers' section of the chamber of commerce will make a tour through the agricultural sections of the province, winding up at the Chipewyan, Peace River and the Peace River, where an inspection will be made of the work going on there. It is expected that at least 100 farmers will take part in the tour, which will take about four days. Auto owners may make up their own parties.

The trip will be under the direction of J. W. Noble of Essex, representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Among the places where stops will be made, are Highgate, Ridgeway, Avonlea, Simcoe, London, Welland, Jordan, St. Catharines and Niagara. The tour will start from Leamington on the morning of August 16.

HARVESTING WILL BE GENERAL NEXT WEEK

Recent Rains Have Greatly Helped Crops in the West.

TORONTO, Aug. 5.—The harvesting of wheat in the prairie provinces will be general about the 10th of August, according to a comprehensive report on the condition of the growing grain there from agents along Canadian National lines, received at the head office of that system here today.

"It is apparent," says the report, "that the rains which fell over wide areas in the West during the early portion of last week have had a generally beneficial effect. In many instances these rains have the effect of clearing away the old crop, and cutting has been postponed on that account."

The report is optimistic in its estimates of yield vary up to 40 bushels to the acre. There are large numbers expecting a bumper crop."

WALL STREET EXPLOSION SUSPECT RELEASED

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—The complaint against Giuseppe Filis, a truckman of Bayonne, N. J., arrested several months ago by agents of the department of justice in connection with the Wall Street explosion, was dismissed today by United States Commissioner Hitchcock.

De Filis had been "identified" by several persons as a man seen standing beside the cart, thought to have carried explosives into the financial district, but it was announced today that he was loading freight cars in Bayonne when the blast occurred.

YOUNG FARMER HAS SHOULDER DISLOCATED

Charles Hendy, an employee on the farm of Artemus O'Neil, near Denfield, was admitted to Victoria Hospital last night suffering from a dislocated shoulder.

Hendy and O'Neil had been harvesting all day and were bringing in the last load of wheat when the horses became frightened and ran away. Both men were thrown from the load, but Mr. O'Neil was not badly injured.

POLICE CLOSED MANY SHOWS

Lid Is Clamped On by Council At Brantford.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

BRANTFORD, Aug. 5.—Following a special meeting of the city council, when the order was passed that all amusements, except mechanical devices, with the shows on the Market Square, and all booths and concessions except the refreshment booths, had to be cleared off city property, the police closed every show not exempt. The council took the stand that permission was given only to the shows specifically exempted. This second closing for many of the gambling devices or games of chance being shut up on Wednesday to re-open with new devices "as games of skill" immediately afterwards.

The massed band concert fireworks display and drills by C. H. Hartman's "old boys" drill corps, famous a number of years ago as never defeated in competition, put on some of their old games, and the council's decision was a financial success, and the number of visitors, considering the business depression and the high railway fares, was considered good.

TRIED TO BURN HER IN HOUSE, WIFE ALLEGES

Windsor Man Is Under Arrest On Charge of Arson.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WINDSOR, Aug. 5.—David Long, 1553 Church street, set fire to his home today, destroying it, in an attempt to end his wife's life, according to the allegation made by Mrs. Long in a formal complaint submitted to Chief of Police Thompson today. Long was arrested on complaint of his wife, and is held on a charge of arson.

Neighbors saw flames leaping from the house shortly before noon and called the fire department. When the entire building was ablaze Mrs. Long rushed to the house, barely escaping with her life.

Long was standing near when the firemen and police arrived. He was taken to police headquarters when Mrs. Long accused him, as she reached safety.

Fire Chief DeWitts asserted that the rapidly with which the flames spread indicated that kerosene or something equally inflammable had been scattered over the building. Mrs. Long followed her husband to police headquarters, and there in a statement alleged that her husband had beaten her frequently, and a few months ago he had attempted to burn the house, the last time occurring before the fire they had quarreled.

CROP CONDITIONS MOST FAVORABLE THROUGHOUT WEST

Reports From Prairie Provinces Are Especially Optimistic.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 5.—Crop conditions along the Canadian National Railway lines in the Prairie Provinces are most favorable, according to A. E. Warren, general manager, who is making an inspection trip over the western lines. North of the main lines from Winnipeg, Saskatoon and Edmonton grain are fairly good. There has been plenty of rain, and the season throughout has been particularly favorable, perhaps.

The big central portion of Alberta has a good crop, and so Mr. Warren arrived in time to help the wheat, as well as other grain crops, except early sown and early-maturing varieties. Optimistic reports come also from most districts in Saskatchewan and Manitoba which are reached by the Canadian National Railway system.

Cutting has commenced in several districts, and while it will not be general for a week or so, indications are that harvesting will be earlier than usual.

LOUIS J. OUELLETTE DIES IN DETROIT

[Special to The Advertiser.]

DETROIT, Aug. 4.—Death occurred in the Providence Hospital here tonight, of Louis J. Ouellette, a native of Windsor, and for years well known down town as a cafe proprietor. He was 62 years old, and a member of the oldest and best-known families in Essex County. Ouellette was a principal thoroughfare, named after his father. His cafe was the resort of many Western Ontario men whenever they visited the city. Auguste Ouellette of Leamington is a brother.

LIVESTOCK MEN TAKE ACTION TO BOOST EXPORTS

Doing Everything Possible To Stabilize Business in Alberta.

EDMONTON, Aug. 5.—Edmonton livestock men are not lagging behind in the matter of doing everything that is humanly possible to boost the livestock industry in Alberta and relieve the present situation, which has given indications of becoming panicky, owing to the low prices prevailing on the home market.

A committee from the Edmonton livestock exchange held a meeting yesterday and took action, which it is expected will be most far-reaching in promoting the export industry and relieving a situation which recently has been putting most harmful exporters. The committee sent a telegram to Dr. J. G. Torrance, veterinary director-general of the department of agriculture at Ottawa, urging most insistently that the veterinary in charge at the stockyards be given full power to inspect all cattle coming into the yards and to issue all certificates.

WILL TAKE ACTION

CALGARY, Aug. 5.—Immediate action will be taken by the special committee appointed by Bruce Robinson, President of the Board of Trade, to investigate measures that will provide a remedy for conditions which threaten to threaten Canada's livestock industry.

Members of this committee, which includes W. Peterson, W. F. Richardson and J. H. Woods, with Cecil Rice as secretary, met this morning and agreed that a systematic effort should be made to interest and inform

Things You Would Not Do Without

There are many forms of advertising, but the world could get along without some of them.

Billboards are good, but if they were to disappear nobody would worry.

Circulars that come in the mail are sometimes interesting, but if your mail was free from them you wouldn't worry.

Electric signs are often beautiful, but you wouldn't miss them.

Street car cards serve a useful purpose, but if they weren't there you would hardly notice it.

But think what chaos would reign if the world were suddenly deprived of its daily newspapers.

The daily newspaper is man's only point of contact with the universe. It is this fact that makes the daily newspaper the greatest advertising medium. It is the only form of advertising that people pay to read.

Use it to stimulate fall and winter trade.

THE CORNFIELD LESSON.

Three months or better ago the farmer examined a kernel of the seed corn he was planting. Its shiny, yellow sheath indicated vitality, but the grain itself seemed so small that a chick might swallow it. Protected within lay the minute germ, one end ready to shoot upward, the other to form a rootlet. About it was a little store of nourishment to sustain the beginning of the adventure of growth. No revealing microscope has ever yet penetrated the mystery of that tiny life germ, nor has any biologist duplicated it. In some incomprehensible way, a touch of pollen dust, falling silently, awakened a new life.
Six weeks since the stalks were only at the knee of the man with the hoe. This week they were ten feet high, tossing like the plumes over some vast, ancient army, every tassel scattering fertilizing powder on the silks of the swelling ears below, while the dark, broad leaves rustled the music of growth, growth, growth, and assembled food for the herds of a province. Repeated in ten thousand fields, this mighty process becomes so commonplace we forget the Divine miracle, and only measure it in terms of milk and beef and bacon. The growth of man is conditioned by its nature upon a suitable soil, not rocky or too shallow, nor filled with weeds, but containing plant food in plenty, moisture and warmth, light and darkness alternating, and a favoring atmosphere.

Without drawing analogies too rigidly, the cornfield illustrates spiritual life in respect to origin, condition and growth. The Master Teacher, when He wished to impress a great multitude with the truth, turned for an example to the seed-sower. He makes it clear that the seed is the revealed Word of God. In another account it is the Word of the Kingdom of Heaven or of the Kingdom of God.
Otherwise expressed, this is The Gospel Message.
Like the farmer's seed, it should be pure and clean,
for there may be spurious teaching by false teachers, blind leaders of the blind, both falling into the ditch of error and unbelief. Both in impulse and process, the spiritual life manifests the Divine element. The corn germ may not be comprehended, but no one questions its reality nor hesitates to venture in the enterprise of the field. It is an act of faith, and it is so in the spiritual realm. But growth and fruitage are dependent upon compliance with conditions, not blind chance. Heart and mind are the receptive soil into which the good seed of Gospel truth falls. The Divine spirit supplies the fertilizing touch. Divine grace furnishes the germinating warmth and moisture.
Without these in the cornfield, the miniature plant could never acquire strength to push its way out of the seed, nor could it start without the small but vital store of nourishment attached, nor continue without what is furnished by soil and air. The giant corn plant will not spring out of nothing; neither can a spiritual organism. There must be food of truth from The Word, not "profane and old wives' fables," but as St. Paul puts it elsewhere a nourishing "in the words of the faith." Lacking this spiritual anaemia and torpor will assuredly develop.
As with vegetation, light is imperative. Thy Word is a lamp to the feet, and a light to the path. One might enlarge upon the callisthenics of the cornfield. The battalions of green have their daily drill, growing strong of root and stalk and leaf thereby. So with the spiritual plant. If it is to assimilate its food and develop vigor there must be Christian activity. The inspired Paul understood this thoroughly, and when giving Timothy directions for the better ordering of his life he put particular care to say, "Exercise thyself unto godliness." He means something more than physical drill, because, as one revelation puts it: "Bodily exercise is profitable for a little, but godliness is profitable for all things." So if the spiritual life is frail and ineffectual, the individual would do well to take a course in New Testament callisthenics. Among the conditions under which this is to be pursued there is one of first-rate importance frequently overlooked, viz., the atmosphere.
The free air of heaven in its purity surrounds and contributes to the luxuriance of the corn plant. The spiritual life requires a pure and tonic atmosphere, free from the blighting miasma of the vulgar, webasting and sinful. Strong moral fibre fortified by grace may withstand the airs of slumdom, but Christian sociology recognizes the peril, and works to better the conditions of youth and adult. Comparing spiritual life and the cereal of the cornfield lies one impassable chasm, viz., the Divine-like faculty of choice. A multitude of influences contribute, but man initiates the way he shall grow, and St. Peter suggestively adds, "But grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ"—a wonderful epitome of the profoundest teaching.

CANADA AND U. S. EMERGENCY TARIFF.

The effect on Canadian trade of the United States Emergency Tariff Act is very marked, as shown by the decrease in exports from this country for June of this year, as compared with those of June, 1920.

One of the most remarkable of these decreases is shown in connection with the trade in sugar. In June, 1920, the quantity of sugar exported from Canada to the United States was not less than 14,075,784 pounds, of the value of $1,675,235, while last June only 20 pounds were sent across the border, of the value of $8.

This $8 worth of sugar, when compared with the value of the product sent into the United States for the corresponding period last year, is a striking illustration of the part that a tariff wall plays in shutting off the flow of commerce.

There is also a notable reduction in the exportation of tobacco in its various forms. In June, 1920, there was sent from Canada to help to furnish smokers for Uncle Sam not less than 8,655 pounds of unstemmed and stemmed tobacco, which was worth $11,726, while last June only $38 worth crossed the border.

The dairy industry has also been hard hit by the new tariff. Last year during the month of June 716,973 pounds of butter and substitutes therefor were exported to the United States, the value of which was $381,122, and this year it had fallen to 14,767 pounds, realizing $4,759. The decrease in the value of cheese and its substitutes was not so marked as that of butter, but nevertheless there is a notable reduction; from 12,680 pounds in 1920 it dropped to 6,700 in 1921, or a little more than half. In the same period, however, the quantity of fresh milk rose from 155,235 gallons to 166,787, although the value received for this was $3,062 less, owing to the fall in the price of the product. There was also an increase in the quantity of cream sent south of the line, as compared with last year, the figures being 184,031 gallons for 1920, and 202,488 gallons for 1921. The low duty on milk, namely, 2 cents a gallon, accounts for this important commodity being practically unaffected by the tariff, and indicates that the Americans are dependent upon Canada for the augmentation of the supply.

The United States also apparently wants our wheat, for, in spite of a duty of 35 cents per bushel, there were 552,233 bushels exported in June of this year, in comparison with 41,253 bushels sent across the line in June, 1920.

The 30 per cent ad valorem on each head of cattle, the $2 per head on sheep one year old or over, and the $1 per head on sheep less than one year old, has led, however, to a considerable come-down both in value and quantity. There were 14,240 head of cattle shipped in June of last year, of a total value of $576,083, while this year the figures for the same period are 3,059 head, which were worth $57,267. The number of sheep fell in the same time from 2,996 to 1,807. There is also a great decline in the amount of fresh and frozen meat, although the import is only 2 cents per pound, there having been 3,338,500 pounds exported in June last year, whereas this year it had fallen to 1,411,800 pounds.

One noteworthy feature of the returns is found in the figures relating to flaxseed. These figures indicate that the United States cannot nearly supply the demand for this product, and that there is a profitable field for Canadian growers in making up the deficiency. Notwithstanding the duty of 30 cents per bushel for flaxseed under the new tariff, the quantity dispatched across the international boundary in June, 1920, amounting to 24,550 bushels, valued at $101,093, had increased this year to 156,276 bushels, worth $281,895.

The effect of the emergency tariff, as indicated by these returns, goes to show that while the measure is meant for the protection of United States farmers, they are themselves hit in certain directions, and are unable to cope with the demand for commodities which are vital to the welfare of the people. The boomerang effects of all protectionist devices often surprise their most ardent advocates. Canada's present remedy is to seek fresh markets elsewhere.

THE REVIVAL OF CRICKET.
We recently referred in a short article on the revival of cricket to some of those who took part in the well-remembered match with the English eleven.
We mentioned the fact that Charlie Hyman caught out W. L. Grace, the best bat of his day, but we unintentionally omitted the circumstance that Jack Gilleen bowled the ball that Charlie Hyman caught.
Jack Gilleen was the best bowler London ever produced, and in the first inning of that famous match took five wickets. There appears to be a desire to revive the game. Its revival will depend largely on the Collegiate Institute and the Western University. The first cricket set brought to London from England was brought by the late Henry C. R. Becher, Q.C.

EUROPE'S TASK.
[Westminster Gazette.]

M. Briand says that the French Parliament "will never consent without amendment to ratify the treaty of Sevres, which is opposed to the French interests." He says also that on the Silesian question France "will press to the last for the integral execution of the treaty of Versailles." We are uncertain what the French mean by the treaty of Sevres which the French Government desires, and what exactly it means by the integral execution of the treaty of Versailles in Upper Silesia. But both uncertainty and opposition have been cleared up, and must be cleared up before the Washington conference takes place. Europe cannot present herself in America in such disorder and perplexity as to the subject of the treaty of Versailles. Therefore, we shall have other conferences before the Washington conference, and we may reasonably hope that they will be quickened and clarified by the approach of the great armaments debate to which they must contribute.

JUSTICE IN THE NORTH.
[Edmonton Journal.]

The accounts which have been under the first trial by jury in the history of the north, best of the of the Indians charged with murder at Fort Providence, are full of dramatic interest. The sending north of such a judicial party is a large step, and three, but it is worth it to have the aboriginal inhabitants properly impressed with the sureness, as well as fairness, of British administration of the law.

Others, however, in the north, believe that the natives, who have been home to them how long is the arm of the law. The system that was previously adopted of bringing prisoners charged with a capital offence to the monition for trial was lacking in one important respect. In the administration of justice not only must the punishment of guilty persons be considered, but also the deterrent influence of their trial and punishment on others. This can only be properly exercised when a case is heard near the scene of the crime.

AN ARMY OF GENERALS.
[Vancouver Sun.]

At the present time Canada has a standing army of about 4,000 men, headed by 478 officers, including some twenty or thirty of the rank of major and one or two of the rank of lieutenant colonel. There is also a commissioned officer for each of the 478 officers. Some of these officers are paid as high as $6,000 a year, while few of them receive salaries which are regarded as high.

In Ottawa alone are stationed enough highly-paid officers to command

a force as big as the army of the Marne.

It would appear from the figures that the army of Canada is not too big, but to put too fine a point on it, somewhat mismanned.

This year $11,000,000 is being appropriated to train Canada's soldiers.

For many years the spending of this huge sum are the men who are just now defending the Dominion with 478 officers and 4,000 other ranks. The army does not look very bright. To be perfectly consistent the military department should round out its program by putting a few more generals on its pay roll, and a few more of economy that could be expended to strike off a few of the privates. This method would not give us a very large force, to be sure, but think of the intensified efficiency which the general would be able to achieve on that $11,000,000.

MR. BIGGS' REPLY.
[Hamilton Spectator.]

Mr. Gordon (Wilson, M. P. for Wentworth County, recently challenged Hon.

Frank Biggs to a public debate in Dundas concerning the highway minister's road policies. Last Saturday afternoon

Mr. Wilson met the very chance he had courted, when Mr. Biggs spoke at length in answer to the accusations which had been brought against him. It is a pity that Mr. Wilson did not avail himself of that chance, for it would have been interesting, to say the least, to have seen how he would have acquitted himself in face of the very complete retaliation of his charges made by the minister of public highways.

Mr. Wilson's tactics have already proved prejudicial to the interests of this district. The work on the Beach road which was intended to form a link in the provincial highway system, has been held up on account of the criticisms made in the Federal House by the member for Mr. Wentworth. No one can say what further mischief may not result from this prejudicial attack, which Mr.

Biggs characterized as a "lot of bluster that is not founded on fact."

A telling point of the minister's speech was that which explained the specially heavy cost of certain sections of the highway: "Then Wilson singled out one mile of the Hamilton and Brantford highway, and was horrified at the terrific cost. But in doing so he was not fair. On that mile of road—and the only mile of the entire highway—were erected on a steep shore, and cut away the escarpment and do other expensive excavating, all of which should and will be charged up to the remainder of the twenty-five miles built. This passage is commended to the attention of other opponents of the road policies

who, for political or personal reasons, are seeking to create capital out of the act that particular stretches of the roadways are of a specially difficult and costly character.

THE STRIPE IS THE MODE OF THE MOMENT.

There is quite a furore of striped fabrics at the moment, and to a lesser degree for plaids. Many times the lines are applied instead of being woven into the fabric, and such is the case on this frock of ivory taffeta striped so cleverly with narrow black velvet ribbon, and relieved by the use of a wide and lovely brocade ribbon which is drawn across the bust, and adds color to a gown, which, while striking, is colorless. If you are at a loss to know how to begin preparing for fall, why not take stock of the evening wear that are brought over, and if time is no object I am sure you can find remnants of lovely material.

XIV.—The Creeping Shadow

Mary finished up her letters and prepared to accompany Carrington Bellairs upon his stroll. The greyhounds followed.

"Oh, what a heavenly day!" Mary drew a long breath of the clear, sunlit air. "I love the fresh smell of the earth, the woods-of-everything!"

He flung a sidelong glance at Mary. He knew that she spoke genuinely. There was nothing affected or artificial in this girl. He admired her naturalness—tremendously. You like the country?" Mary nodded. "At every season of the year!"

"You wouldn't find it dull?" "Oh, that would depend on circumstances," Mary said with a smile. "For instance?"

"Well, companionship," rejoined the girl. She felt that she was about to venture on this line and tried to change the subject. "Town can be fascinating, too—if one has means."

She regretted the words the moment they were spoken, for they sounded like direct encouragement for reopening the matrimonial question.

"I'd like to travel best," she stammered.

"To wake up in a new place every morning."

"I'd like that, too—for a couple of years or so. I've never been a little closer to Mary. 'Miss Drew, you know that your wish could be gratified, if you'd only—'"

"I don't know anything of the sort," rejoined the young girl briskly. "Oh, what an idiot I should be to start a conversation of this kind! Look at that little rabbit over the—the dear, furry little creature!"

Carrington Bellairs smiled grimly. Mary's elusiveness—admitting that quality, though it often served to irritate him.

"The dear, furry little creature" are a perfect nuisance—destroying crops and working havoc in my young plantations. He turned to his dog. "On Bruno! On Caesar! Chase 'em! Hurry!"

Mary gave a little shudder. She hoped the small, furry thing would get away in time.

Life was very glorious. One did not want to lose it when the sun shone and the air held a frosty, exhilarating "tang." Long, deep breaths of it were "heady," like champagne.

The little rabbit got away. The young girl smiled, well satisfied.

"Have you seen Mr. Caladine lately?" The question interrupted her thoughts, bringing a lovely color to her cheeks.

Carrington Bellairs, however, was not looking at her. Mary hoped he did not see the silly blurb.

She walked another mile. The hedgerows were quite shadowy now, the fields a blur. And—it was a little eerie, walking underneath the trees!

"I saw him yesterday." Her tone was as careless as she could make it. But she studied the carelessness did not escape her listener.

"I've got some rather important papers for him. Maybe after lunch you'd run over to the Barley Mow in the car and leave them for him."

Mary could not keep the pleasure from sparkling in her eyes. Her voice, however, was quite demure as she made answer:

"If you don't mind, I'd rather walk! I need the exercise. I'll be very glad to take the papers."

"That's all right, then. Suppose now we return home for lunch?"

Mary was not free to start upon her precious mission till after 5 o'clock. Carrington Bellairs discovered a reason for dictating several extra letters—and they took some time.

At their conclusion he handed Mary a domesticated road to Dick Caladine. "If you aren't back by 6 o'clock I'll send the car for you!" He gave a curious little smile.

And Mary slipped off to her room—to make herself look nice—for Dick.

The countryside was very lovely. Battered leaves—miserably tinted—still clung to the great, nodding trees. Mosses and bracken mingled together in shades of green, yellow and golden-brown.

He had been to a logging-belt and had a yoke of young oxen, of which he was naturally very proud, as they were exceptional for the country. He had not gone far when he saw the young fellow did not go home as soon as he should have done, but remained by the comfortable fire, talking with the others.

TATTOO OF HITS GET TECS SECOND WIN

Concentrated Effort in Two Frames Gave Them Five-Run Margin — Twenty-Eight Hits in All Were Registered.

London's short sharp hit attack in the second and third frames yesterday gave them five runs and the second victory against the Tees, 5-1. It was a steam riveter driving leather-headed rivets to the ear.

In all eight pokes were injected into these two frames and the Tees struck along with this collection, though they hit Ainsworth's offerings long and often to the extent of another seven hits, which didn't get them anything but exercise.

Herbert was opposing Ainsworth and making his first appearance since he went in against Bonesset Reese. After being spotted the five runs he let some of the burden fall on the other eight willing shoulders which didn't come anywhere near eargring under the load.

If Dolly Gray has five hunters to choose from he must have been picking the needful for Ainsworth didn't show a sign of the stuff calculated to undiminish the Flinters up out of the well. So the loud noise of leather against wood and the patter of footsteps down the runways beat upon the air all afternoon.

Flinters Hit, Too. Quite a number of the Flinters broke to the center, too, as thirteen of them reached sacks; twelve on hits, and only one on a walk. They weren't at the bat time, though. Herbert, when he headed to, shot them across the corners with rare skill, and Roseberry, who did walk, was lucky to have Cavanaugh being that way at a decision, but he needed this ability in three or four chapters, and especially in the ninth, when Rose singled cleanly to right, and Gray was on through a smashing hit in the edge of the third base foul line, in which the ump called a foul, no play being made, while Gray continued to second and chased Rose ahead.

The ump reversed his decision, but he put the reverse gear on the runners for one base. However, Emmers singled out, and Roseberry grounded out second, and the hurry was gone.

It was the walk handed Roseberry that accounted for the lone marker the Flints achieved after Sam Vandye had handed them a mighty discouraging start by picking Emmers' knock right out of the game. Roseberry's crashing liner, which had Stutz handuffed, brought Roseberry in.

If Ainsworth had read the signs right in the first when the Tees started to shout, he might have known there was something in the air. Right as soon as Emmers had gone way in behind second base, he grabbed off Carmichael's hot grounder, the Tees were safe on a hit to second, and a smash to right, was safe at second.

Emmers' error on a peg, and scored Joe Briger's whanging clout to centre for the two runs. Joe followed a moment later on Herbert's hit to centre. With one gone in the third, Schaefer got one to middle through second base, coming home on Carmichael's hump, but left, Donnelly was safe on a hit to own back. Briger singled to centre and Herb struck to short field, and two more runs were panned.

The Tees had two on in the fifth, but

JUST BETWEEN US

(BY SEE S. GEE)

Tom Nelson of Brantford, whose name is synonymous with professional baseball in Ontario, died yesterday. Mr. Nelson stood for all that is best in the game which threatens to become the national pastime of this country as well as of our neighbor to the south.

Most of his work was pioneering. When the old Canadian League was formed, he was one of the leaders in its formation and was equally prominent in all the discouragements of minor league baseball and the disillusionments of sportsmanship which are suffered often by club owners. Tom Nelson kept his cheerful, optimistic outlook on life, baseball and people. He will be missed greatly.

The baseball public at large in the United States show a surprising lack of moral perspective in their indifference as to whether the Black Sox were allowed to return to major league baseball or not. In fact it is doubtful if their return tomorrow would occasion any loud clamor from the fans. And this tendency to forget is still stronger amongst the players of many of the clubs.

However, the better element of American fans and Judge Landis combine to form a jury which will look with disfavor on any attempt made to get these men back into baseball.

News of Fred Fulton's reinstatement after two years' suspension will cause a flutter of apprehension through the heavyweight ranks. It will, however, be a relief to the public.

Johnny Evers, often acclaimed baseball's brainiest player, is again out of a job. A fiery temper, which brooked no mistakes and no argument, shattered his chances of team spirit on the Cubs, to which team Evers has given his best baseball years. Evers has had some of the rawest deals, too, that baseball history knows, but he was possessed naturally of a sour disposition. Evers is another case of a gentleman lacking the quality of leadership.

Canucks who saw Belyea perform at the Canadian Henley are betting the "streak of homespun" from the Maritime will make America's best look billous.

Willard is again just within a telegram or two of being matched with Jack Dempsey.

Fans who suspect Umpire Cavanaugh's oversight ought to bear in mind that his ump was playing ball when Crichlow first broke in as a kid in the south. At that, he's been doing awfully well, and he didn't at any stage deserve any harsh criticism.

The Griffen are playing hob with the Indians. Another win yesterday over the Spiritkies while the Yanks beat the poor Tigers. The Senators had just lost eight games out of nine on a western trip before they started on their present win jaunt.

BELYEA LOSES TO HOOVER IN SENIOR SINGLES SCULLS

CRICHLAW APPEALS MAINES' DECISION TO NATIONAL BOARD

Notified by Secretary Farrel That His Case Is Being Investigated.

It was announced in the city last evening that Leslie Crichlow, former centre fielder of the London club, has appealed President Maines' decision to the National Board of Arbitration. He was notified by Secretary Farrel that his case is being investigated.

The Canadian contingent suffered another setback when in the intermediate fours the West Side Rowing Club of Buffalo, defeated the crack Argonaut crew of Toronto. Odds of 5 to 1 were offered by Argonaut enthusiasts that the Toronto crew would capture the event.

Local talent also took first honors in the intermediate singles. Edward Hooper of Duluth, was the sensation in the opening contests of the two-day regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen on the Buffalo harbor course today. Carrying the colors of the Duluth Boat Club, Hooper captured the quarter mile dash and was first in the association senior singles, the latter victory giving him the right to compete in the championship single sculls tomorrow. Hoover's chief competitor in the association senior singles was Hilton A. Belyea, the St. John, N. E. fisherman, who won the Canadian Henley singles last week. Belyea was favorite despite the fact that Hoover beat him in the first heat of the race in the morning.

The Canadian contingent suffered another setback when in the intermediate fours the West Side Rowing Club of Buffalo, defeated the crack Argonaut crew of Toronto. Odds of 5 to 1 were offered by Argonaut enthusiasts that the Toronto crew would capture the event.

Local talent also took first honors in the intermediate singles. Edward Hooper of Duluth, was the sensation in the opening contests of the two-day regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen on the Buffalo harbor course today. Carrying the colors of the Duluth Boat Club, Hooper captured the quarter mile dash and was first in the association senior singles, the latter victory giving him the right to compete in the championship single sculls tomorrow. Hoover's chief competitor in the association senior singles was Hilton A. Belyea, the St. John, N. E. fisherman, who won the Canadian Henley singles last week. Belyea was favorite despite the fact that Hoover beat him in the first heat of the race in the morning.

Estero. The see from the Hendrie stable. They own a slice of this racing establishment sent by the work watchers as the special of the meeting. List to the gab they append: "This trick is better than ordinary rated; that last effort, when they woke lucky E. up, was better than cold dogs would indicate. The winners are down hook, line and sinker." Now, unless you are all dead from the shoulders up, I suggest you have your two megs riding on the old bezer. The fifth at Hamilton is the spot. My Dear and the Segram entry for what is left.

Brisk looks like an extra good thing in the seventh. Harry Furze is also a turf course, and the boys who have seen him to run for the purses. Madge F will carry the commissions of old boy salt, but that makes no never mind. The one that may turn a form somersault is Citizen. He is fresh and good. Tabbing is the correct word.

The Decision was an overnight commission here. In this respect, too, I also want to add that the boys are also some real smart dogs here for Ettahe. All things being equal, I think The Decision can win. I like to follow the "dynamiters," especially when the tale is really planned. A word to the wise is usually as good as a kick in the shins. To the Mark and Whirl for what is left.

In the fourth I suggest that you get away money on Hildur. Never mind what will be second or third. I said Hildur for the old B. R. Over the Devonshire my getaway special is Bengali. Now, I would like to go into details, but if I did there would be a run on the "iron men" that would be ruinous. I do hope, however, that you profit by these words and set yourself right. I said Bengali, on the nose, unless.

JEANETTE RANKIN REPEATS AT TOLEDO

Cox Drives E. Colorado To Win in 2:05 Trot.

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 5.—Jeanette Rankin repeated as a consistent winner today, carrying Lou McDonald home with victory in the feature race of the day's program at Port Miami track, the Toledo Blade $5,000 stake for 2:14 trotters.

McDonald won the first two heats easily, but was crowded out at the finish by White's Princess Etawah. The Steadman $3,000 stake for 2:05 trotters went to E. Colorado with Cox up, after Harry Stokess had piloted Peter Coley home in front of the field in the first heat. Peter Coley never had a chance thereafter, however, as Cox took his bay horse out in front at the start and kept him there.

The other stake race on the card, the Toledo Times $2,000 stake for three-year-old trotters, went in straight heats to Tommy Murphy behind Siladar. A fourth heat was necessary to decide the winner in the 2:08 pace for $1,200. Harry Gray, with Maybelle Direct, took the first; Nat Ray's J. V. S., second, and Wrack, driven by Paine, the third. In the run-off Maybelle was the winner in a close finish.

Four races are on the program for tomorrow, caused by a postponement earlier in the week.

The Detroit boat's victory was not clinched, however, until Arab IV, owned by E. H. Sidway of Buffalo, N. Y., sank in the last lap, after being distanced by the two leaders.

Defeated Caledonia 5 to 4—Two of Galt's Runners Due to Homers.

GALT, Aug. 5.—In the first of home and home games in the first round of the Essex County Baseball League, the local nine won by a score of 5 to 4. Galt's first run was also a homer, a single being converted into a circuit counter when the left fielder, the ball got by him. It was an interesting game because of closeness of the score, and while the locals had more errors, still they featured with three snappy double plays. Boettger twirled a nice game for Galt, having nine strikeouts. O'Brien, fielding at third for the locals featured.

TEN
UNITY IS VITAL IN SOLUTION OF EMPIRE PROBLEMS

Whole Weight of All Parts
Should Be Behind Action
in Foreign Affairs.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—(By Canadian Press Cable).—An official summary of the deliberations of the dominion premiers' conference emphasizes the discussions on foreign policy. The summary revealed a unanimous opinion as regards the main lines and a deep conviction that the whole weight of the Empire should be concentrated behind a united understanding and common action in foreign affairs.

The means of circulating information between Great Britain and the dominions was most carefully considered. It was the unanimous opinion that a policy of empire could not adequately represent the democratic opinion of its peoples unless overseas representatives frequently associated with the Imperial Government in determining the policy to pursue.

When the members of the conference were keenly appreciative of the value of this meeting, and urged that similar gatherings be as frequent as possible.

Was Epoch-Making.
Premier Massey of New Zealand, when interviewed, declared that the conference of the dominion premiers had been epoch-making, as the overseas premiers for the first time had joined in the government of the Empire as a whole.

Very important matters had been dealt with and momentous decisions arrived at which would have far-reaching effect in the direction of Empire unity.

"I am strongly of the opinion," Mr. Massey continued, "that we laid the foundations of a system which will develop into a satisfactory form of government for the Empire. When the public realize the importance of what has occurred they will consider the result has been good work well done."

SOME MISCONCEPTION.
LONDON, Aug. 5.—That there existed some misconception of the nature of the conference is indicated by a summary of the proceedings of the Imperial conference, issued this evening at the conclusion of the last session of that body.

In accordance with the suggestion which was believed to have been made by the United States Government that the conference on disarmament should be preceded by friendly conversations or consultations between the powers principally concerned in the future of the Far East and the Pacific, says the summary, the Imperial conference, anxious that for the Anglo-Japanese agreement there should be substituted some larger arrangement between the three great powers concerned, namely, the United States, Japan and Great Britain, and holding the firm conviction that the later discussion on disarmament, to which they attached transcendent importance, could best be made effective by a previous mutual understanding on Pacific questions between those powers, discussed these preliminary conversations or consultations which the United States Government had in principle agreed should be held in London.

Volunteered to Attend.
"When it transpired," continues the summary, "that there was some misunderstanding as to the nature of the suggested preliminary conversations, the British Government in an endeavor to remove any possible misconception, and to meet what it believed to be the United States view, volunteered to attend a meeting on the other side of the Atlantic, at which the agenda of the Washington conference could be discussed."

Premier Lloyd George, Marquis Curzon, and the dominion premiers were prepared to attend such a meeting. Japan also had signified her willingness to attend. The United States Government, however, did not favor the idea, which, accordingly, was dropped. At no stage was it suggested that the result of such consultation should be either the subject of work or lie in the hands of the Washington conference. On the other hand, the Imperial conference made the proposal because it was anxious to remove every possible obstacle from the path of the Washington meeting, which is desired to see attended with complete success.

Were Unanimous.
The summary declares that the greater part of the proceedings of the Imperial conference relating to foreign affairs and defence was of a confidential character, but that the discussions revealed a unanimous opinion as to the main lines to be followed by the British policy, and a deep conviction that the whole weight of the Empire should be concentrated behind a united understanding and common action in foreign affairs.

The matter of naval defence was left to the various parliaments, as was the question of imperial communication. It was decided to improve the wireless link, while the various governments were exchanging regarding bills of lading. Any assistance given by the governments for reduction of rates for press messages, it was agreed, should be so directed as not to affect the quality of the new service, or the freedom of the newspaper so served.

South Africa Opposed.
A resolution was passed by South Africa dissenting from the summary, that the rights of British Indians to citizenship should be recognized. The summary expressed their protest against the position of Indians in South Africa, and their hope that by negotiation between the Governments of India and South Africa, some way might be found to make their position more satisfactory.

It was agreed that in view of the consultations of the premiers no additional meeting was to be held in London, the proposed constitutional conference.

AGREES TO DATE.
PARIS, Aug. 5.—France, replying to an inquiry made by the state department at Washington today, agreed to November 11, as the date for the conference in Washington on disarmament and Far Eastern questions.

The conference agreed that the war reparations receipts should be apportioned as follows: 65 per cent; minor colonies, 80 per cent; Canada, 45 per cent; Australia, 45 per cent; New Zealand, 15 per cent; South Africa, 40 per cent; Newfoundland, 10 per cent; India, 120 per cent.

It was resolved that, in advantage would be gained by holding the proposed constitutional conference which was recommended by the Imperial conference of 1917, although attaching great importance to continuous consultation, which was obtainable only by improved communications between the various parts of the empire. It was the opinion of the overseas premiers that they should meet annually.

Another resolution warmly thanked the English premier and his colleagues for the large amount of time given the overseas premiers, and declared that the conference clarified the lines of communication in Imperial foreign affairs and still more firmly established the free co-operation of the peoples of the commonwealth.

LABOR COUNCIL TO DISCUSS PLATFORM

WINNIPEG, Aug. 5.—Drafting of a uniform political labor platform for the Dominion and the co-ordination of the various labor parties now in existence in the various provinces, probably will be taken up by some of the delegates attending the Trades and Labor Council convention here this month, according to Ernest Robinson, secretary of the Winnipeg Trades and Labor Council.

With the congress out of the political field the matter may be discussed at an informal session of the delegates apart from the convention, Mr. Robinson said.

BOTH WIVES LIVING AMICABLY TOGETHER

PORT ARTHUR, Aug. 5.—Two Thunder Bay Indians, brothers, were found by Indian Agent W. Russell Brown, during his recent trip to Long Lake, each to have two wives and two groups of children. The first, Chief George Taylor, an Ojibway Indian, has seven children by his first wife, and six by his second spouse. Both wives and all their respective children live amicably together. His brother, also Chief Taylor, supports two wives and their children, numbering eight and five, respectively. The family of his second wife are all daughters. Mr. Brown said that all the children were well cared for and in a healthy condition.

WINDSOR BOARD OF EDUCATION Asked To Attend Session.

WINDSOR, Aug. 5.—Members of the board of education have been asked by acting Mayor Jackson to meet the city council Monday night when a special session will be held to consider the bylaw which provides for the granting of a requisition of the board for $102,000.

At its last meeting the council sent the bylaw to the city solicitor for his opinion as to the validity of the requisition.

At that meeting the building policy of the board was criticized and several of the members declared they were not satisfied with the explanation of A. B. Peddie, vice-chairman of the board, who told them why the money was needed.

Ald. George Wood contends that the board acted irregularly in the matter, as he claims that part of the money asked for was spent before the board asked the council to grant it. He pointed out that should the council submit the bylaw to the ratepayers the board would be in a peculiar position if the measure were turned down.

The board has agreed to meet the council and in the meantime several Windsor aldermen are engaged in discussing the matter in connection with the building policy of the board.

TELEPHONE COMPANY WOULD RAISE RATES

Waiting For Railway Board To Set Date For Hearing.

TORONTO, Aug. 5.—"The Bell Telephone Company has already applied informally to the Dominion Railway Board for an increase in rates, and no further action will be taken until the board sets a date for the hearing of the application," declared K. J. Dunstun, vice-president of the company, tonight in reference to the report from Ottawa that a request for an increase was to be made.

ARBITRATE TRAMWAY MEN'S WAGE DISPUTE

MONTREAL, Aug. 5.—Hon. Gideon Robertson, minister of labor, this afternoon telephoned J. L. Bonin, secretary of the Montreal Tramway Employees' Union, notifying him that the department of labor had granted the union's application for a board of arbitration to decide the dispute between the men and the Montreal Tramways Company in connection with the company's proposal to reduce wages by 20 per cent, effective next Wednesday.

Aneur Sauve, leader of the Quebec Conservative Opposition, has been definitely chosen to represent the men on the board of arbitration.

FOUND BOTTLED LIQUOR IN CAR WITH HORSES

RUFFALO, Aug. 5.—The nine race horses seized by customs officials here yesterday, when inspectors found bottled liquor in their car, were unloaded today and will be held pending the arrival from Saratoga on Monday of owner R. A. Smith. In addition to the liquor, customs officers said they found in the horsecar, two bolts of cloth and two motion picture films. The horsecar had been declared that the car contained nothing dutiable except the horses.

SANDWICH POLICE SEIZED 2,400 BOTTLES OF BEER AT WINDSOR.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
WINDSOR, Aug. 5.—Whether Ontario brewers can legally sell liquor to rum runners for transportation to the United States was the legal technicality put up to the attorney-general today for solution. Sandwich police last night seized 2,400 bottles of nine per cent beer on a launch at the foot of Mill street, believing the shipment a violation of the Ontario "dry" law.

A local firm which made the beer claims that the bone dry law permits it to export real liquor, and that accordingly last night's shipment was legal. It is up to American officials to stop liquor imports into the United States if the brewing company's view of the matter is correct.

Pending a decision of Attorney-General Raney, the launch is not held, nor are the owners of the liquor under arrest.

BORER DESTROYING CORN IN NORFOLK

SIMCOE, Aug. 5.—The corn-borer has made its appearance in large numbers in the vicinity of Delhi and Waterloo and are affecting farmers under the direction of G. G. Bramhill, county agricultural representative, are taking means to prevent a spread of the scourge. Large canvases were placed on the roads surrounding the areas requesting no one to take corn from the affected area. Notwithstanding this the scourge is spreading rapidly and isolated farms as far south as Charlottetown are said to be affected. The Dominion Department of Agriculture has been asked for aid.

FRANCE WILL NOT RECOGNIZE RUSS SOVIET

PARIS, Aug. 5.—French officials of the ministry of finance, as well as the ministry of foreign affairs, are studying the ways and means by which France may collaborate in feeding the famine-stricken Russian population without such action implying recognition of the Soviet Government.

The prevailing opinion in official circles is that whatever assistance in finance, labor and foodstuffs, which France contributes should be placed entirely in the hands of the American Relief Association for distribution. The feeling expressed in official circles here is that the organization headed by Mr. Hoover will be perfectly able to cope with the situation, and France will not trust its contribution to the experience behind the organization. This would not entail recognition of the Soviet Government, as the Russian commission for relief of Belgium recognized the German occupation forces in Belgium and Northern France, although the commission dealt with them.

Experts who are studying the problem say that the undertaking to feed the Russian famine-stricken populations will be much more difficult than the work done in Belgium and Northern France, owing to the lack of transportation facilities and the great expense of territory. It is pointed out that Belgium and Northern France were honey-combed with canals and railroads for delivering foodstuffs within the limits of all cities of any size in the occupied territory.

SEND RELIEF TRAINS.
NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—From two sources tonight came word of preparations being made to relieve Russia's starving millions in the Volga district. A cablegram from the Russian Telegraph Agency received here by the publication Soviet Russia stated that mission had sent out two relief trains from Moscow August 1 to aid 6,000,000 starving millions in the Volga district. At the same time the American Relief Administration announced that its child-feeding operations in Czechoslovakia would end in 60 days, "clearing an experienced staff for Russia."

The Russian Telegraph Agency cablegram said that all state theatres would devote the month to benefit performances for the famine sufferers with stock companies touring prosperous regions.

It was resolved that no advantage would be gained by holding the proposed constitutional conference which was recommended by the Imperial conference of 1917, although attaching great importance to continuous consultation, which was obtainable only by improved communications between the various parts of the empire. It was the opinion of the overseas premiers that they should meet annually.

Another resolution warmly thanked the English premier and his colleagues for the large amount of time given the overseas premiers, and declared that the conference clarified the lines of communication in Imperial foreign affairs and still more firmly established the free co-operation of the peoples of the commonwealth.

Seasonable Pointers For Farmers

Rearing of Queen Bees Needs Considerable Care

This Operation Should Commence Immediately—The Hopkins or Case Method Gives Very Good Results.

Those who intend to rear their own queens and who have not already done so should commence immediately. A method which gives very good results is the Hopkins or Case method. To rear queens by this method select a comb in which there has not been brood reared and place it in the colony which you intend to use as a breeder. The queen heading this colony should possess qualities which you are trying to secure in your apary, such as gentleness, honey-gathering ability, pureness as exhibited by evenness of color and prolificacy. The comb is allowed to remain in the center of the brood nest in the queen mother's colony four days. At the end of this time there will be hatching eggs and day-old larvae in the comb. Remove the comb and using a sharp stick destroy every alternate row of cells, both horizontally and vertically, across the comb, in this way leaving cells surrounded on all sides by torn down cells. The best cell-building colony is one which has shown signs of superseding or one that is under the swarming impulse. If you have such a colony in the yard, so much the better, but if not, a good strong colony for cell-building purposes. Remove the queen and unsealed brood replacing frames, remove with frames of emerging brood, unless disease is present in the apary, in which case frames should not be moved from hive to hive. Now, place over the top-bars of the cell-building colony, an empty Hoffman frame. Over this empty frame lay the comb containing day-old larvae, which has been previously prepared, according to directions, with the prepared side down over the empty frame. This place a burlap sack or piece of canvas and over the canvas place a cloth tray or a half-inch plank, shavings to conserve the heat. Then place the cover on top. If directions have been followed accurately and there is a honey-flow on, five days later the queen cells will be sealed and queens will commence to emerge seven days after that or on the twelfth day after the frame containing day-old larvae was prepared. If the stock in the apary is pure it will simplify matters to requeen the colony with right queen cells, taken directly from cell-building colonies and placed in cell protectors in the colony to be requeened, immediately after removing the old queen. When placing the cell in the cell protector, be sure to push cell clear down to the tip of the cell protector or else bees in the colony may enter the cell protector at the tip and chew down the cell from the sides. If the stock in the yard is not pure it will be better to requeen with a queen which can be easily made by partitioning a ten frame hive into four parts, giving entrances in each direction. In each partition place a comb with emerging brood with bees, and one comb partly full of honey. If possible, these nuclei should be by themselves and have access only to those drones, with which it is desirable to mate. If this is not possible, trapping the drones from undesirable stock will help. If there is not time enough available to use nuclei, for mating the queens, there is much to be gained by requeening with ripe cells instead of allowing the old queens in the colony to hold over another year. The reasons for this are:

1. A queen introduced during July or August is seldom superseded, preceding the next major honey flow.
2. Colonies requeened at this time are only half as likely to swarm next year as colonies headed by an old queen.
3. The introduction of a young queen at this time results in the building up of the colony during the late summer and fall flow with young bees which assists greatly in wintering.

Good Friend of Farmer Is the Bumble Bee

One of Its Most Useful Functions Is To Fertilize Red Clover—This Insect Has an Interesting Life History.

Have you ever been guilty of taking the life of one of these valuable insects? Many boys in days gone by, before agriculture was taught in our rural schools, considered it splendid sport to disturb the home of the bumble-bee. They would approach cautiously, armed with weapons, and kill the bee one by one as they came out to defend their homes, and then help themselves to the scanty supply of honey they procured from the dirty-looking cells. Little did those boys know that they were killing some of their best friends, decreasing the financial returns of the farm, and hence depriving themselves of many necessities and luxuries that they might have enjoyed.

Of course, we all agree that the bumble-bee does not produce much honey, and what it does is of little value, but it is of priceless value in another respect—without the bumble-bee we can get no red clover seed. The process of fertilization. Now, let us examine a clover seed. It is composed of many long, narrow flowers, crowded together, and having stamens which bear pollen before the pistils in their own foret are ready to receive it. It is therefore necessary that the pollen should be carried to other flowers, where the pistils are more advanced condition, for if the pollen does not reach the pistil, no seeds are developed. The flowers are so narrow and deep that the wind cannot blow the pollen about as it does from some flowers, and few insects have tongues long enough to reach the bottom. The honey bee, in search of nectar, can slip it from the shorter white clover before it, but cannot do so from the red. Many other insects find the same difficulty that their tongues are too short. But the bumble-bee has longer tongues that reach to the bottom of the flowers, and enable them to lap up the sweet nectar they contain. While doing this some of the pollen dust in one flower sticks to the tongue and head of the bee, and is carried to another, where it gets rubbed off on the pistil. Thus fertilization is accomplished, and clover seed is produced by the aid of the bumble-bee.

The first cut of red clover gives a small return of seed, because the bumble-bees which fertilize the blossoms are less numerous during the early part of the summer than later. For this reason, as a rule, the first growth is cut for hay or pasture, and the second growth left for seed. By cutting or pasturing the first crop the weeds are checked, and the second growth is cleaner.

New Zealand's Discovery. In New Zealand, in the early days of settlement, the farmers procured their supply of various seeds from Great Britain. Red clover was among those selected. It was imported and sown, and a fine crop grew and blossomed, but no seed was produced. The farmers could not understand these conditions, so they sent to England for another supply. Always a fine crop adorned their fields, but never a seed developed. Finally their agricultural discoverer the reason—there were no bumble-bees in New Zealand. So the next order not only included a supply of clover seed, but also a supply of bumble-bees. Gradually these bees multiplied and were spread throughout the country, and New Zealand farmer was enabled to produce as fine clover seed as any other countryman.

Our little friend the bumble-bee begins its work in the spring. It may be seen flying all alone close to the ground. By close observation we will notice that it creeps into piles of brushwood, under old logs or into fence corners, searching for a nest, and a peculiar one, too, which is an old deserted mouse's nest. This large bee is a very peculiar insect, and it is a bumble-bee with the most suitable burrow for her house building, a fine soil material for shelter and protection. After she has selected her house, she begins her work, which involves laying eggs, gathering honey and pollen, and mixing them into a mass, thus starting a colony. With material from flowers and blossoms she makes a rough mound of mingled pollen and honey, and lays some eggs in this. Soon from this mound emerge the young in the form of grubs, and they feed upon the pollen mass. When fully grown these spin a silken wall about them and change to chrysalis state, and soon another change takes place, and they come forth as winged bees.

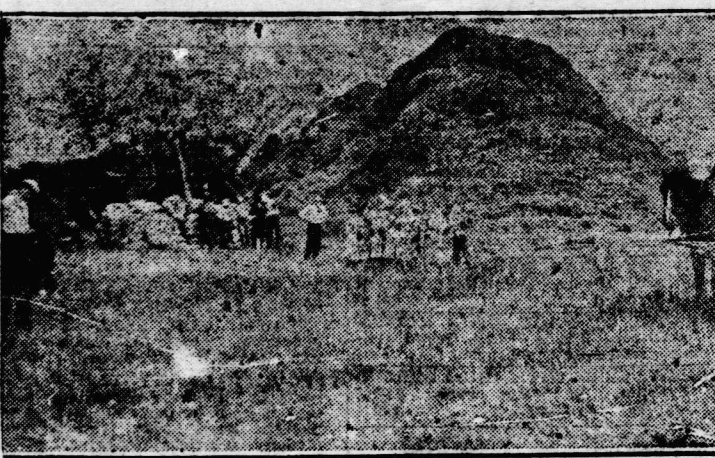

These find that their duties are to gather pollen and carry it home in the pollen sacs on their legs. As more eggs hatch out, more holes are made by voracious grubs and lined with silk, which the queen-mother covers with a thin layer of wax, making pots for the young. Soon a busy colony is formed. Toward the close of summer, if we examine this colony, we find the inhabitants consist of large and handsome queens, smaller females which provide male eggs only and do not live through the winter, several workers, and some males or drones, lazy bees which do no work, and soon die after mating with the queens.

On some of the damp cold rains of the autumn, that work hives in the home of the bumble-bee. Among the casualties we find all the busy workers, all the lazy drones, and the poor old queen-mother that built up the home. The few survivors are the new queens, who sleep through the winter, and the spring each begins a new colony as her mother did.

ed in Ohio in 1868, was introduced into Canada some years later, and is now grown principally in Essex and Kent counties, but has extended at intervals along the shore counties as far as Prince Edward County. Its growth in quantity varies greatly. In 1911 and 1913, 13,000,000 pounds of White Burley were grown in Canada; in 1914, 1915 and 1916, 3,000,000 or 4,000,000 pounds only; in 1917, 15,000,000 pounds, and in 1920, 20,000,000 pounds. The duty on importations is responsible for the great increase in the last few years of home-produced tobacco. There are three varieties of White Burley grown in this country, namely, Broadleaf White Burley, that does not grow well on heavy land; Stanley White Burley that is recommended for dark, heavier soils, and John's Resistant Burley, which is best to sow on "diseased" land; that is, land not free from root-rot. White Burley is used for both chewing and smoking. The annual crop in North America, including Canada, is 350,000,000 to 400,000,000 pounds. Kentucky being the principal seat of its growth, it finds a market in Europe, as well as in Canada and the United States, but while in the last-mentioned country the acreage devoted to White Burley is from three to four hundred thousand acres, in Canada only about twenty thousand acres are covered. Mr. Freeman in his bulletin tells all about its cultivation and preparation for the market.

THRESHING THE GOLDEN WHEAT IN HURON

The above picture represents a threshing at the farm of John Joynt, M.P.P., near Whitechurch, Huron County. This crop of wheat covered 105 acres, and is of very fine quality. It was threshed on the field with a similar outfit to that which is used out west. The strawstack shown in the illustration resembles a small mountain, and the yield of grain will average about 30 bushels to the acre. At the threshing Mr. Joynt was assisted by his sons-in-law, R. Johnston, warden of Bruce County, and Rev. J. W. Lillie, of Detroit. Messrs. Howson & Howson have purchased the wheat from Mr. Joynt, and expect to have almost 2,800 bushels. The wheat was delivered at the mill a week or so earlier than usual.

SHEEP DIPPING A GREAT BENEFIT TO STOCK RAISERS

Any Time After September 1 Is Best Time To Perform Operation.

If sheep raisers only realized the benefits and satisfaction from dipping their sheep, no compulsory law would be required to make them enthusiastic and persistent in the practice of dipping. The benefits are two-fold; first, all vermin and skin troubles can be largely cured or prevented, which has a marked effect in improving the health and feeding gains of the flock; and, second, the quality of the wool is improved and its growth stimulated. Shearing tests have demonstrated that well-dipped sheep will give from a pound to a pound and a half more wool per fleece than if not dipped.

While the spring dipping after shearing with an arsenical dip is very important to give the flock, including the younger lambs, a clean bill, the autumn dipping is still more important and should never be omitted. Care should be taken to follow the directions which come with the dip in its preparation, and means taken to see that the whole sheep, with the exception of eyes and nostrils, gets a good application. There is really only one way to dip, and that is by submersion in a tank sufficiently deep to cover the animal standing on its feet. While for a small flock, as an emergency measure, a molasses hogshead with a foot cut off one end may be used, the proper and economical vessel is a vat built about 8 inches wide at the bottom, 24 feet deep and flaring to 20 inches wide, with one end projecting to make an incline, up which the sheep may be hoisted by a pulley. A draining platform with tight bottom which will hold two or three sheep should be so arranged that the sheep is assisted out upon it the drip from its wool will run from the platform back into the tank. The dip should be made with water at 100 degrees Fahrenheit before being used, after which it will cool rapidly.

Any time after September 1 is a good time to dip. A breezy day is naturally best, but, for any reason, dipping is delayed further delay waiting for the right day is inadvisable. Particularly when poison dips are used, the sheep should be kept off ground until they are dry. Good average results are obtained from three or four hours at least being required. Plans of dipping tanks and full information as to dips and methods may be obtained from the Sheep and Goats Division, Live Stock Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

SAVE YOUR FEED CORN

Every farmer who has good corn fit for seed should save as much of it as possible. Farmers who have the chance to go into the fields to select their own seed should do so as soon as it is fully matured, so that the time that corn is ready to cut is a very good time to do it. This gives one the chance to select the most mature ears from stalks showing vigor and growth. Good average results are obtained from three or four hours at least being required. Plans of dipping tanks and full information as to dips and methods may be obtained from the Sheep and Goats Division, Live Stock Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

SEALS AGAIN MULTIPLYING. For sealing in Alaskan and British Columbian waters, which suffered for many years because of decimation of the herds through indiscriminate killing, has returned, and thousands of animals are expected to be taken this year.

Off the west coast of Vancouver Island alone Indians are expected to capture 2,000 of the fur-bearing animals, and the total catch for the year may reach 100,000, it is estimated. Last year the waters along the Washington coast produced 1,200 skins. The story of the Alaskan fur herd is an interesting one. When the United States acquired Alaska from Russia, the herd was estimated at 2,500,000. Then, through pelagic sealing, with its indiscriminate slaughter and attendant waste of life, as well as through lack of international understanding on the question of conservation, the seals all but disappeared, the industry fell off, and their capture became illegal. The decline of the seal herd was pitiable. Shot at sea under this method five or more bodies were lost for each one recovered. There also was great waste due to starvation of pups on the shore. Under such conditions the great herd rapidly dwindled until in 1911 there were but approximately 125,000.

Of profits, the seals, the seals, multiplied rapidly after the closed seasons were instituted for their protection.

MAKE INCREASE OF BEE COLONIES AFTER MAIN FLOW

Several Methods May Be Successfully Used in Manipulating the Hives.

The most economical time to make increase is at the close of the main honey-flow. There is no definite time which can be set for this event, as in any one locality the honey-flow is of different duration in different seasons, due to weather conditions, but the experienced beekeeper can judge very closely when the honey-flow is beginning to stop, and he should have his queens reared and ready to make increase by that time.

One method which works very nicely is as follows: Apparatus necessary is a hive-body containing dry, drawn combs, a cover, bottom and some sort of queen excluder. During the heat of the day when the field bees are flying, remove the colony from the stand and place it at one end of the hive-body, leaving the drawn combs and queen in the center of the body. The field bees will release the queen and enable her to build up a brood nest. In this way the bees are kept free from insects at moulting times, what I term the "feather house" is liable to attack the growing feathers, and the feathers will appear especially in the tail—with streaks of white on the wings.

Lastly, many birds' constitutions are weakened by the strain upon their system by the growth of new feathers, and if the queen is given at such a time, will frequently be found with hard and dry casings confining the feathers and preventing proper development. A teaspoonful of flour of sulphur to each half-dozen mixed in the soft food twice or three times a week is always advisable in warm weather during the moulting season, and on alternate days, if as much carbonate of iron as will lie on a dime and the same quantity of castor sugar be given to each in the meal, a richer, glossier color will be the result. Do not ruin your young stock for the sake of saving a little extra expenditure or yourself a little extra trouble.

YOUNG PIGS BEFORE WEANING

When the pigs are born, the attention should be on hand to see that everything goes well. If the pigs are strong and the sow lies quiet, it is better not to interfere. Sows that have been properly fed and given sufficient exercise seldom have difficulty in farrowing. If the pigs seem somewhat weak or if the sow is very restless it is safer to place the pigs in a well-bedded box or basket to keep them out of the way until all are born. If the pen is chilly a bottle of hot water placed in the bottom of the basket and covered with a blanket, with another blanket over the top of the basket will help keep up the vitality of the pigs.

The pigs should be placed to the test as soon as possible. The weaker the pigs, or the colder the pen, the more important an early drink of the mother's milk becomes. If a piglet is not unduly protracted, and if the pigs are come ordinarily from disease, wintering, etc.

In sections of the country where the honey-flow does not come until August it is possible to split the colony during fruit bloom, and make each half strong enough to gather surplus by the time the main honey-flow comes.

YOUNG SHOW CHICKENS

The early breeder will have specimens showing, or about to show, their adult plumage. Such a time is often the critical period of a bird's future, whether it becomes a good show specimen, merely a breeder, or whether through neglect in management the owner considers it a waste of oil only for the pot.

The chief causes—which all arise from the neglect or inability of the owner to provide against them—are three-fold in number, viz.: Want of shade, insects, and the lack of assistance whilst moulting.

With reference to the first, if show specimens (and one cannot afford to have a show specimen till after they have moulted into their adult plumage) are allowed to run out in the sun and rain their plumage quickly becomes "water-soaked"; that is, faded, patchy, dull instead of glossy, yellow instead of white. If the young stock and the old too, are not kept free from insects at moulting times, what I term the "feather house" is liable to attack the growing feathers, and the feathers will appear especially in the tail—with streaks of white on the wings.

THE APPLE MAGGOT

BY L. CAESAR AND W. A. ROSS.

For over twenty years the Apple Maggot or Railroad Worm has been recognized as a pest of apples in Ontario. From time to time it has appeared in large numbers in infested orchards and has caused serious losses, in some instances amounting to the entire crop. Up to the present the insect has been found in most of the southern counties extending from the Ottawa River on the east to Lake Huron and the Detroit River on the west, and it is highly probable that it occurs in all counties where apples are grown. Fortunately, the total number of infested orchards is small, probably less than five per cent. in any county, and much less than one per cent in the province as a whole.

It is worthy of note that well-cared-for orchards which are properly sprayed with arsenical sprays are almost entirely free from this pest. The adult insects commence to emerge from the soil in late June and early July, and continue to emerge for about seven weeks. They are blackish two-winged insects, a little smaller than house-flies. The abdomen of the female is crossed by four white bands and that of the male by three. The wings have conspicuous dark markings. Several days after emergence the female begins egg-laying. By means of a sharp, slender ovipositor she inserts her eggs beneath the skin of the apple. The eggs hatch in five to six days, and the larvae or maggots derived from them tunnel their way here and there through the flesh of the apple, leaving behind them trails of dead brown tissue. The larvae mature when the fruit is ripe, by which time it has usually fallen. The larvae then leave the apples, enter the soil and change to the pupal stage, in which stage the winter is passed. Most of the pupae transform to flies the following summer. However, a certain percentage of them remain in the soil strong, lively, and comfortable, they may wait for their first drink until all are born, but in such cases the attendant must use his judgment. As soon as the sow appears to have settled down quietly it is best to put the little pigs with her and leave them together. It is well not to interfere except when it is absolutely necessary. By the time the pigs are three weeks old they will have learned to eat. If at all possible, it is a good plan to give them access to another pen in which is kept a small trough. Here they can be fed a little skim milk with a very little middlings stirred into it. The quantity of middlings can be increased gradually as the pigs grow older. If they can be taught to nibble at sugar beets or mangels during this time so much the better. A small amount of soaked whole corn, or almost any other grain, scattered on the floor of the pen, will cause them to take exercise while hunting for it. If it is not possible to provide an extra pen, the sow may be shut out of the pen while the pigs are being fed. Many people simply allow their young pigs to eat with the sow, but this is a bad plan. If the pigs can be fed separately, Exercise is very important for young pigs, and the best means of securing it must be adopted. If they are kept in a small pen with their mother, some of the best pigs will likely become too fat, and probably sicken and die.

NON-FERTILE EGGS

Poultry keepers are advised by A. C. Smith, chief of the division of poultry husbandry at University Farm, Minnesota, to kill their breeding males if they have young stock to take the place another season of the old birds or if it is planned to introduce new blood. If valuable breeders, the males should be separated now from the flock, he says, and placed with one male or two in a comfortable and roomy pen. The males should have the same care as the females, a variety of feed and a place to exercise. They should also be kept free from lice and mites. The least development of the germ spot in the egg means a relative deterioration in keeping quality. It is evident, then, that during warm weather a great loss can be prevented by shipping only infertile eggs.

Ladies!

is about to end your troubles.

MIRACLE

Discolored or Freckled Skin Easily Peeled Off

The freckling, discoloring or roughening to which most skins are subject at this season, may readily be gotten rid of. Mercolol has spread lightly over the face before retiring and removed in the morning with soap and water, completely absorbs the disfigured outer skin. Get an ounce of the wax at any drug-gist's. There's no more effective way of banishing freckles or other cutaneous defects. Little skin particles come off each day, so the process itself doesn't even temporarily mar the complexion, and one soon acquires a brand new, spotless, gloriously beautiful face. Wrinkles caused by weather, worry or illness, are best treated by a simple solution of powdered azolette, one ounce, dissolved in one-half pint witch hazel. Bathing the face in this produces a truly marvelous transformation.
