CANADA'S TOTAL POPULATION STATED AT 5,338,883 SOULS

An Increase in the Decade of Only 10.46 per cent—Ontario's Increase 53,657, While Quebec Gained 132,439.

	1891	1901
Ottawa, Aug. 16.—The population of Canada, according to the census of 1901, is 5,338,883, an increase of 505,644 in the ten years. The population of Canada in 1891 was 4,833,239, an increase of 508,429 in the ten years.
The first bulletin of the census was issued by the Bulletin this morning. It gives the population as above, with the explanation that figures for a few districts, being incomplete, have been estimated, while for the extreme northern portions of the Dominion and the Yukon the returns are not yet in. The increase in the period between 1891 and 1901 has been 10.46 per cent, as against an increase of 11.75 for the previous decennial period. The number of families in 1901 is 1,043,294. In 1891 the number was 921,643. The number of dwellings has increased from 877,586 to 1,066,625.
The most important showing of the census is the increase in the population of Quebec, 132,439. The population of Ontario increased only 53,657. British Columbia increased 91,827; Manitoba, 93,968; New Brunswick, 9,890; and Nova Scotia, 8,720. P. E. Island decreased 5,820. The Northwest Territories increased 78,201.
The population by provinces for 1891 and 1901 is as follows:
Ontario	2,114,821	2,167,978
Quebec	1,488,535	1,620,974
Nova Scotia	450,890	459,116
New Brunswick	321,263	331,053

EAU SENSATION

The Arrival of Boxing Gloves on a Detroit Steam Yacht Causes a Temporary Commotion.

Quite a sensation was caused at the Eau last evening, when the steam yacht "Adieu," owned by some Detroit people, made her appearance, and tied up at the pier.

The party had got sooner made themselves comfortable with their lunch spread out on the piers when some sharp-sighted individual spied a couple of pairs of boxing gloves on board the yacht. He started out immediately and made a detour of the grounds spreading the news wherever he went, that "The first party of scrappers had arrived."

Quite naturally the people became alarmed, and many talked of sending to Chatham for the police. After they had some over and viewed the party, however, they were considerably calmed and thought that the so-called scrappers might not be really so bad as they were said to be.

FIRE PROTECTION

Industrial Committee Decide to Extend it to the McGavin Mills on King Street.

The Industrial committee held a short meeting in the clerk's office, Harrison Hall yesterday afternoon with the chairman and Ald. Fleming present. The request of D. B. McGavin was considered. Mr. McGavin asked for free water for his engine boilers and also for fire protection.

It was decided, however, that the committee would not be justified in giving him free water for his boilers but the latter part of the request will be granted.

The committee will visit the place to-day to arrange the placing of the hydrant.

HIT TRAIN

Lad Fired Bul'et From Barr's Bush into Passing Wabash Express.

John McLean came up before His Honor Judge Bell in the County Judge's criminal court last Thursday charged with shooting a Flobert rifle at a Wabash train.

It appears that McLean, who is a mere youth, was shooting on the Barr farm, just west of the city, when a Wabash express came along. The track passes very close to where McLean was standing with the rifle and one of the bullets passed through the coach window, barely missing the conductor, who was passing through the train at the time.

The Wabash railroad immediately prosecuted, and McLean was brought up for trial. The defendant was represented by J. G. Kerr, who entered a plea of guilty.

The judge, in view of the boy's youth, and the testimonials of his good character, let him off on a suspended sentence. He gave the boy a very severe lecture on the careless use of firearms, and stated firmly that if a similar case came before him he would certainly make an example of the offender.

PUT UP TROPHY

Crow of the Baden-Powell will Meet the Outlaw in a Serious of Races.

Editor Planet.
The challenge from the Outlaw in yesterday's issue contains a very clear statement as to Monday's race, at least it is presumed that it is clear to them, the argument no doubt convincing themselves by the time it was completed. We think, however, the Planet had a very good report of the race.

Nothing was said to us at any time about going around only once and we completed the course as usual and as advertised for the race. Again, nothing whatever was said as to time limit for either race. They seem to be a little strong on limits.

As the second gun had not been fired and they not actually started where did they "voluntarily come back" from?

If, as stated, they offered to abide by judges' decisions, what are they kicking about now? They seem to be poor losers.

We are quite willing to contribute an amount equal to anything they wish to put up to be applied in the purchase of a trophy to be sailed for in a series of races, which is the only way to decide the relative sailing qualities of the two boats. One race proves nothing. We are not in the business for money, however, but simply love of the sport and no good purpose would be served, but yachting only injured, by accepting their proposal.

Crow of Baden-Powell.

JOHN TALKS

Ontario Minister of Agriculture Thinks he has done Nothing to Injure our Agricultural Interests.

Toronto, Aug. 17.—Hon. J. Dryden, minister of agriculture, returned from a trip to the west to-day, and gave an interview regarding his interest in a ranch in Dakota. He said he did not see that he had done anything calculated to injure the agricultural interests of the Province. If he thought any injury would come, he would withdraw, but no possible injury could result. The ranch was only a pasture field, and required no personal attention from him.

"If I had foreseen," said Mr. Dryden, "that some narrow-minded people might object to my course, I then would have refused to have any connection with it, as I do not wish to stir up the opposition of even the weakest of either party, but I have done it, with my eyes open, and do not intend to drop it on the suggestion of anyone adverse in opinions."

Mr. Thos. Crawford, M. L. A., who was said to be associated with Mr. Dryden, in an interview states that he has not a dollar in the enterprise, nor does he intend to invest any in it.

A FAILURE

Local Bean Crop Will be a Very Dismal one it is Feared.

"The farmer, who has beans to sell this year can pretty nearly get his own price for them," said Henry Robinson, bean merchant, this morning, when asked about the outlook for the Planet.

"Beans throughout the district are an utter failure, at least I am positive that there will be no better than a quarter of a crop if that. I have had occasion to drive through the country lately, and I find that the yield of beans planted early will be very light. Late beans are showing up better and will perhaps yield half a crop."

It Means Something

To have the largest circulation in Western Ontario, to carry more advertising than any other newspaper printed or published in this district. It means that.

"The Planet"

gives an advertiser the kind of satisfaction he wants, at a price he is satisfied to pay. It is the real reason. The secret others are seeking to solve. That The Planet is ever winning increased patronage and approval.

CHATHAM, AUGUST 17.

NO HAVEN FOR PUGILISM.

It must be admitted that the somewhat startling despatch concerning an alleged proposal to pull off a prize fight at Round Bay, reads as though some thoroughbred Yankee news-monger had been at the creative end of the wire. The roughs who manage such affairs are surely well enough aware that nothing of the kind would be tolerated in this district. However, the authorities are acting wisely in preparing preventive measures. It is well, once for all, that it should be understood just where Canadian communities stand in reference to those matters.

Of course, the suggestion to have Lieut.-Col. Rankin call out the militia is silly and superfluous. Anyone who knows our efficient police force and energetic constabulary, will realize that they would need no assistance in rounding up a few Yankee roughs.

CRISP'S WORK FOR ITALY.

The verdict of the French newspapers, that the death of ex-Premier Crisp, of Italy, will not cause a single regret in France, probably indicates Crisp's chief claim to the gratitude of his countrymen, and it would be well for his fame if Italy remembered him only for the causes for which the French hated him, says the Toronto News. Unfortunately for his reputation with posterity, he was largely identified with the policy of which the fruits were the establishment of an enormously expensive armament and the repression of Italian industries, and he must share the blame for the present impoverished and wretched condition of the majority of the Italian people. He has, however, a real title to the admiration and good will of his countrymen in the determined opposition which he offered to the ambitious schemes by which France sought to use Italy as a mere counter to further her own selfish ends in the game of European politics, and if he helped to plunge Italy deep into debt he was at the same time chiefly instrumental in preventing her from becoming the dependent of a nation which would have sacrificed her on the first needful occasion. French hatred consequently, instead of being a stain on his memory, is perhaps the finest testimony that could have been pronounced on his life work.

JOHN BULL IS PARTICULAR.

Complaints are reaching Canada from distant lands, of inferior and badly packed Canadian products. Mr. Larke in Australia, Mr. Cummings in Africa, to say nothing of the English importers, all tell the same exasperating tale of poor quality goods being sent out from Canada and damaging Canadian foreign trade. The following remarks made by the Hamilton Post are exceedingly opportune:—Some Canadians are perhaps beginning to think that it is time Professor Robertson and a few other gentlemen gave us a rest on the subject of bad packing of Canadian apples for export.

Rheumatism

What is the use of telling the rheumatic that he feels as if his joints were being dislocated? He knows that his sufferings are very much like the tortures of the rack. What he wants to know is what will permanently cure his disease.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

It promptly neutralizes the acid in the blood on which the disease depends, completely eliminates it, and strengthens the system against its return. Try Hood's.

to England, the sending of inferior fruit, badly selected cheese, imperfectly stored meat and so on. But it is not. And Professor Robertson, while he may be wounding our national pride, is also performing for us a national service. It is a little difficult for the exporter on this continent, where the public is notorious for putting up with anything, to realize how particular the Englishman is, especially when buying in a new market goods which he has always been accustomed to purchase elsewhere.

We're not so many. But we beat Windsor anyway.

Well, what we lack in quantity we make up in quality.

That "Outlaw" sailing challenge may presage some real lively yachting doings at the Eau.

The local census enumerators may have made mistakes, but they will not be accused of counting anyone twice.

Those census returns didn't amount to much after all. And to think of the long time we've waited for them.

Wouldn't it be an excellent idea, seeing that the local tour has been abandoned, for the subscribers to the cricket field (4 present) the local men on the western eleven with the trip? The Planet believes it would be a graceful act and the compliment is well deserved by the players.

Between this great home journal and the Hamilton Spectator honors have hitherto been easy in the matter of one-dollar-verbatim libel suits. But the Spec's stolen a march on us. It's now receiving notices of writs, at the rate of two a day, from its contemporary, the Herald. And all over the fact that the Spec has been securing so much additional patronage to its circulation lists. Dear me! We're afraid they'll be ten after us next. And we'll have to plead guilty—very much guilty.

Geo. Meynell,

There are 9,883 of us, so Census Commissioner Vaughn says. But wait till you see us ten years from now.

The Toronto News pithily expresses it thusly: Toronto, Can. make Chicago, Ill.

In yacht racing the wind serves the same purpose as the umpire does in baseball, being used to explain a defeat.

The Americans still claim that the Cadillac can beat the Invader in a blow. Possibly. It is in blowing that the Yankee excels.

It is cabled that the next commander of the Canadian militia will be a Canadian officer, says the Hamilton Herald. And so be it.

Mr. John W. Young writing to the Planet to-day points out that Ottawa's residents are very fond of excursions out of town. We don't blame them.

The poor, punished Banner-News cries, "Enough!" All right, sonny. Trot along to your little play-ground. No one will hurt you as long as you behave yourself.

The Guelph Herald published a special souvenir issue in connection with the recent Oddfellows' conference. It is a most creditable one and contains an excellent likeness of O. L. Lewis, of this city, the Grand Master of the order.

There is something suggestive in the figures of the British patriotic fund. The report says that 4,722 widows, 4,188 children, and 9,234 other dependents have been relieved from it up till December. This is indicative of a great deal of sorrow. Sherman's well-known description of war comprised in a short sentence of three words was as correct as it was terse.

Chatham citizens have been recognized with honors at the recent fraternal conferences. O. L. Lewis, as Grand Master, presided at the Oddfellows' gathering in Guelph, while R. A. Harrington was chosen at Hamilton to represent the Foresters of Ontario at the Supreme Court meeting in California. The organizations deserve congratulations upon their selection of these gentlemen.

A few such reverses in international contests as the recent yacht race should make the people of the United States better neighbors. They will gradually become more moderate in their hostilities and more considerate in their times of triumph. In the good work of teaching Uncle Sam any needed lessons of this kind, we are sure that Johnny Canuck is willing to give his modest services.

The fact that the Wm. Gray & Sons Co., of this city, have been selected by the Government to supply the suite of earriages for the royal visit is not surprising beyond the revelation of the fact that occasionally the Government does show really excellent wisdom in awarding contracts. There is no firm in Canada more capable of properly filling such an order than the Maple City manufacturers to whom it has been awarded.

ALWAYS MAKING HEADWAY.
 Banner-News.
 The Planet is a much better paper to-day than it was a year ago.

APPROPRIATE MUSIC.
 Detroit Tribune.
 Have you heard of the new slot machine for cigarettes, which every time it yields a smoker aptly plays a strain of "Nearer my God to Thee"?

GEORGE'S PROSPERITY.
 Comber Herald.
 Mr. G. Claxton, of the Ridgetown Plaiddealer, has $16.30 taken from his room. Few printers have that much wealth. Happy man, George.

 Chatham citizens are having considerable fun these days. The Planet and Banner have gone into the threatening business. It is rag time every day of the week. The negro population should put in an objection.

OUR THIRSTY WORLD

Waters of the Gospel Well Free to All Who Thirst.

WHOSOEVER WILL, LET HIM COME

The Well of the Gospel is Deep Enough to Put Out the Burning Thirst of the Whole of the Human Race—Trust in God's Providence and All Shall Be Well With You.

Washington, Aug. 11.—In this discourse Dr. Talmage represents religion as a great refreshment and invites all the world to come and receive it; text, Genesis xxix, 8, "We cannot until all the flocks be gathered together and till they roll the stone from the well's mouth; then we water the sheep."

A scene in Mesopotamia, beautifully pastoral. A well of water of great value in that region. The fields around about it white with three flocks of sheep lying down waiting for the watering. I hear their bleating coming on the bright air and the laughter of young men and maidens indulging in rustic repartee. I look on, and I see other flocks of sheep coming. Meanwhile Jacob, a stranger, on the interesting errand of looking for a wife, comes to the well. A beautiful shepherdess comes to the same well. I see her approaching, followed by her father's flock of sheep. It was a memorable meeting. Jacob married that shepherdess. The Bible account of it is, "Jacob kissed Rachel and lifted up his voice and wept." It has always been a mystery to me what he found to cry about! But before that scene occurred Jacob accounts the shepherds and asks them why they postpone the slaking of the thirst of these sheep and why they did not immediately proceed to water them. The shepherd replies to the effect: "We are all good neighbors, and as a matter of courtesy we wait until all the sheep of the neighborhood come up. Besides that, this stone on the well's mouth is somewhat heavy, and several of us take hold of it and push it aside, and then the buckets and the troughs are filled and the sheep are satisfied. We cannot until all the flocks are gathered together and till they roll the stone from the well's mouth, then we water the sheep."

Oh, this is a thirsty world! Hot for the head, and blistering for the feet, and parching for the tongue.
The world's great want is a cool, refreshing, satisfying draft. We wander around, and we find the cistern empty. Long and tedious drought has dried up the world's fountain, but centuries ago a shepherd, with a crook in the shape of a cross and feet cut to the bleeding, explored the desert passages of this world and one day came across a well a thousand feet deep, bubbling and bright, and opalescent, and looked to the north, and the south, and the east, and the west, and cried out with a voice strong and musical, that rain through the ages, "Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters!"

Now, a great flock of sheep to-day gather around this gospel well.
There are a great many thirsty souls. I wonder why the flocks of all nations do not gather, why so many stay thirsty, and while I am wondering about it my text breaks forth in the explanation, saying, "We cannot until all the flocks be gathered together and till they roll the stone from the well's mouth; then we water the sheep."

If a herd of swine come to a well, they angrily jostle each other for the precedence; if a drove of cattle come to a well, they hook each other back from the water, but when a flock of sheep come, though a hundred of them, they are meek and they only express it by said bleat-ing, they come together peacefully.
We want a great multitude to come around the gospel well. I know there are those who do not like a crowd; they think a crowd is vulgar.
If they are oppressed for room in church, it makes them positively impatient and belligerent. We have had people permanently leave church because so many other people come to it. Not so did these oriental shepherds. They waited until all the flocks were gathered, and the more flocks that came the better they liked it. And so we ought to be anxious that all the people should come. Go out into the highways and the hedges and compel them to come in.
Go to the rich and tell them they are indigent without the gospel of Jesus. Go to the poor and tell them the affluence there is in Christ. Go to the blind and tell them of the touch that gives eternal illumination. Go to the lame and tell them of the joy that will make the lame man leap like a hart. Gather all the sheep off all the mountains. None so torn of the dogs, none so sick, none so worried, none so dying, as to be omitted. Why not gather a great flock? All this city in a flock, all New York in a flock, all London in a flock, all the world in a flock.

This well of the gospel is deep enough to put out the burning thirst of the 1,600,000,000 of the race. Do not let the church by a spirit of exclusiveness keep the world out. Let down all the bars, swing open all the gates, scatter all the invitations to it. "Whosoever will, let him come." Come, white and black. Come, red men, out of the forest. Come, Lap-landers, out of the snow. Come, Pa-ganians, out of the south. Come, infants. Come panting under palm leaves. Come one. Come all. Come now. As at this well of Mesopotania Jacob and Rachel were betrothed, so this morning at this well of salvation Christ, our Shepherd, will meet you coming up with your long flocks of cares and anxieties, and he will stretch out his hand in pledge of his affection, while all heaven will cry out: "Behold, the bridgroom cometh! Go ye out to meet him!"

You notice that this well of Mesopotania had a stone on it, which must be removed before the sheep could be watered, and I find on the well of salvation to-day impediments and obstacles which must be removed in order that you may obtain the refreshment and life of this gospel.

In your case the impediment is pride of heart. You cannot bear to come to so democratic a fountain; you do not want to come with so many others. It is as though you were thirsty and you were invited to slake your thirst at the town pump instead of sitting in a parlor sipping out of a chased chalice which has just been lifted from a silver salver.
You want to get to heaven, but you must be in a special car, with your feet on a Turkish ottoman and a band of music on board the train. You do not want to be in company with rustic Jacob and Rachel and to be drinking out of the fountain where 10,000 sheep have been drinking before you. You will have to remove the obstacle of pride or never find your way to the well.

You will have to come as we came, willing to take the water of eternal life in any way and at any hand, and in any kind of pitcher, crying out: "Oh, Lord Jesus, I am dying of thirst! Give me the water of eternal life, whether in trough or goblet! Give me the water of life! I care not in what it comes to me!"

Here is another man who is kept back from this water of life by the stone of an obdurate heart which lies over the mouth of the well. You have no more feeling upon this subject than if God had yet to do. You the first kindness or you had to do God the first wrong. Seated on his lap all these years, his everlasting arms sheltering you, where is your gratitude? Where is your morning and evening prayer? Where are your consecrated lives? I say to you as Daniel said to Belshazzar, "The God in whose hand thy breath is, and all thy way, thou hast not glorified." If you treated everybody as badly as you have treated God, you would have made 500 apologies; yea, your whole life would have been an apology. Three times a day you have been seated at God's table. Spring, summer, autumn and winter he has appropriately appeared to you. Your health from Him, your companion from Him, your children from Him, your home from Him, all the bright surroundings of your life from Him.
Oh, man, what dost thou with that throb of gratitude toward the God that made you, and the Christ who came to redeem you, and the Holy Ghost who has all these years been importuning you? If you could sit down five minutes under the tree of a Saviour's martyrdom and feel his lifeblood trickling on your forehead and cheek and hands, methinks you would get some appreciation of what you owe to a crucified Jesus.

There are men who are perfectly discontented. Unhappy in the past, unhappy to-day, to be unhappy forever unless you come to this gospel well. This satisfies the soul with a high, deep, all absorbing and eternal satisfaction. It comes, and it offers the most unfortunate man so much of this world as is best for him and throws all heaven into the bargain.

The wealth of Croesus and all the Rothschilds is only a poor, miserable shilling compared with the eternal fortunes that Christ offers you today. In the far east there was a king who used once a year to go on the scales, while on the other side the scales were placed gold and silver and gems—indeed enough were placed there to balance the king.
Then, at the closing of the weighing, all these treasures were thrown among the populace. But Christ today steps on one side the scales, and on the other side are all the treasures of the universe, and he says, "All are yours; all height, all depth, all length, all breadth, all eternity—all are yours." We do not appreciate the promises of the gospel.

When an aged clergyman was dying —a man very eminent in the church —a young theological student stood by his side, and the aged man looked up and said to him, "Can't you give me some comfort in my dying hour?"
"No," said the young man. "I can't talk to you just now." You know all about it and have known it so long. "Well," said the dying man, "just recite to me some promises." The young man thought a moment, and he came up with the promise: "The blood of Jesus Christ cleanseth from all sin," and the old man clasped his hands and in his dying moment said, "That's just the promise I have been waiting for."
The blood of Jesus Christ cleanseth from all sin. "Oh, the warmth, the grandeur, the magnificence of the promise!"

Come also to the gospel well, all ye troubled. I do not suppose you have escaped. Compare your view of this life at 15 years of age with what your view is of it at 40 or 60 or 70. What a great contrast of opinion! Were you right then or are you right now? Two cups placed on the hands, the one a sweet cup, the other a sour cup. A cup of joy and a cup of grief. Which has been the nearest to being full, and out of which have you most frequently partaken? What a different place the cemetery is from what it used to be! Once it was to you a grand city improvement, and you went out on the extremity and you had a pleasant pleasure excursion, and you ran laughingly up the mound, and you criticized in a light way the epitaph.
But since the day when you heard the bell toll at the gate when you went in with the procession it is a sad place, and there is a flood of rushing memories that suffuse the eye and overmaster the heart. Oh, you have had trouble, trouble, trouble! God only knows how much you have had. It is a wonder you have been able to live through it.
It is a wonder your nervous system has not been shattered and your brain has not been wrecked. Trouble, trouble!

If I could gather all the griefs of all sorts from these crowded streets and could put them in one scroll, neither man nor angel could endure the recitation. We would have to write them on a scroll as long as your property back again? "No," you say as a Christian man. "I was becoming arrogant, and I think that is why the Lord took it away." You don't have my property back? "Well," would you have your departed friends back again?
"No," you say: "I couldn't take the responsibility of bringing them back; I would really to a realm of tears. I couldn't do it." Well, then, what do you want?
A thousand voices in the audience cry out: "Comfort. Give us comfort!" For that reason we have rolled away the stone from the well's mouth. Come, all ye wounded of the flock, pursued of the wolves, come to the fountain where the Lord's sick and bereaved ones have come. "Ah," says some one, "you are not old enough to understand my sorrows. You have not been in the world as long as I have, and you can't talk to me about my troubles in the time of old age." Well, I may not have lived as long as you, but I have been a great deal among old people, and I know how they feel about their failing health and about their departed friends and about the loneliness that sometimes strikes through their souls.

To lean on a prop for 50 years

There are only two years' difference

Mr. James Beatty, of Kilworth, Ont., tells a typical story of how he first came to know Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets for what they're worth.

He had been sick and ailing with Dyspepsia for some time. He had tried different treatments and various medicines all to no purpose. His stomach had broken down, his food was no use to him, and his whole system of course got out of order.

He saw an advertisement in a Toronto paper one evening in which the reasonableness of the treatment known as Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets set out the only sound principle in the treatment of dyspepsia—Rest to the Stomach.

If a man can't digest his food because his stomach is tired out, how is he going to get better unless his stomach can be rested? But how can his stomach be rested and his food go on being digested? Mr. Beatty found it out. Listen.

"If the work Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets do for everybody is the same as they did for me they are the greatest medicine ever discovered. I saw them advertised in a Toronto paper, and I happened to be in Mr. Homer's

The Signs of Weak Eyes

Tired eyes, overworked eyes, are unmistakable. You are constantly reminded that everything isn't as it should be.

Your head aches, your eyes burn and there is a dull pain behind them. Reading and sewing are decidedly unpleasant, and any work that calls for unusual eye strain you would sooner pass by.

We have all the instruments, a large experience, and guarantee to fit your sight, your features, and we charge for nothing but the glasses.

IS CLIMBING

Talented Young Ex-Chathamite who is Making a Name For Himself on Stage.

The illustrated supplement of the Toronto Globe to-day prints a photograph of Douglas Argyle Paterson, who is meeting with unbounded success as an actor. The cut is accompanied by a complimentary notice of his stage work. Mr. Paterson has just completed a successful season with James-Kiddler Co. in A Midsummer Night's Dream. During the coming season he will take up a more modern work and has been engaged for "Howard Pembroke," an aristocrat of old Virginia in Mark Twain's "Pudding-head Wilson."

Mr. Paterson is an old C. C. I. boy and is also an ex-member of the First Presbyterian Church choir.

It is very gratifying to learn of Mr. Paterson's striking success in his chosen profession, and his many Maple City friends will hope that it is but the beginning of a long and successful career.

FELL ASLEEP

Demise of Mrs. Geo. B. Harris in London.—Was highly esteemed in Chatham.

There died yesterday, in London, after a brief illness, Mrs. Geo. B. Harris, of Eldon House, Ridout street. The deceased lady was well and favorably known in Chatham and surrounding districts as Miss Lucy Ronalds. She was born on the Ronald estate, Raleigh. Some fifty-six years ago, and has a large relationship in Essex. Besides her husband, Geo. B. Harris, barrister at law, London, deceased leaves to mourn her loss one daughter, who is at home, and two sons. One of the latter holds a commission in the British army in India, and the other is a mining engineer in South Africa. In speaking of her death, the London Free Press says: "One of the most estimable of women has gone hence in the demise of Mrs. Harris. Her life was full of good works. The poor of the city knew her and loved her for her many deeds of charity. By her friends she was ever held in the very highest regard. All who knew her esteemed her beyond the ordinary."

Deceased was a warm personal friend of the late Mrs. Rufus Stephenson, of this city.

In matting's, newness is not an essential virtue. If they are carefully stocked age has a positive merit.

The sharp price-shortening quoted below comes because of store-keeping sentiment rather than from the nudge of necessity.

A rule of this store forbids any stock whatsoever from remaining in quantity after its season of active selling has passed.

This month ends it for matting's, we have no further thought of getting value out of those in stock. Prompt riddance of all we've got is our only aim.

Price in some cases is but a part of what the goods cost us.

The great Scotch picnic is to be held at Erieau on Tuesday next, and from present indications the crowd attending will be greater than ever and the program as distributed is one of the best we have ever seen. This annual outing is becoming more popular each year, as it gives all in this western peninsula a chance to meet their friends. The railway, we understand, have hired fifty extra coaches to carry the crowds. The committee have secured splendid train service and cheap rates. Come, rain or shine, is the invitation to all, and we have no doubt that all who go will enjoy the day.

A very pretty but quiet wedding took place on Wednesday evening, the 14th inst., at 6.30, at the First Methodist Church. Miss Kate Bere, second daughter of William Bere, Esq., of London township, was married to Mr. Frank D. Jenner, of this city, formerly of Chatham. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Kennedy.

The bride was given away by her eldest brother, William. She was beautifully attired in stone blue satin, trimmed with mousseline de soie, pearls and baby ribbon, carrying a shower bouquet of bridal roses.

The bridesmaid, Miss Annie M. Hart, left for the west, and on their return carried a bouquet of white carnations. Mr. John Bere, brother of the bride, supported the groom. The groom's present was a valuable gold chain. Many other beautiful presents testified to the high esteem in which the young couple are held. Mr. and Mrs. Jenner left for the west, and on their return will reside at 880 William street, city.

IN CANADA'S FAIR CAPITAL

J. W. Young Writes The Planet Giving his Impressions There.

Its People are Great Excursionists—Id Chathamites who Live There.

Ottawa, Ont.

During the ride from Toronto, one has a good opportunity of studying the country. What struck me most forcibly was the poor character of the farm houses, in great contrast to the dwellings of the rural population of Kent. The crops, too, consisting of wheat, oats and buckwheat, were about three weeks behind those of Western Ontario. Very little corn is sown, and where it was to be seen it was only a couple of feet high, while at home it was already in tassels.

What I most missed, however, were the orchards. In Western Ontario no farm house looks natural without a large orchard, and in Eastern Ontario no farm house looks complete with one. There are some homes with apple trees around them, but the fruit producers are few in number and small in size. The country is rolling and there are many hills and gullies. Stones and boulders everywhere lie scattered on the ground and a vivid imagination would lead its owner into the error of thinking that the farmers not being able to raise grain had sown stones with the expectation of reaping a stone quarry.

From one huge stone standing on an upland, a tree eight inches in diameter is growing. The roots have split the stone in two directions. It is a puzzle where the tree gets its sustenance, but cedar trees are found growing all over this country and it would appear that not even a blade of grass could find sustenance. At Peterborough a young couple, bright and fresh looking, had got on lunch at a hotel. The lady wanted a second banana. Papa said it couldn't have it and baby cried but, after some coaxing, was reconciled with a soda biscuit. If Papa had been there, there would have said, "a few cries are good for a baby. They keep its lungs from remaining undeveloped. Let them cry."

At Smith's Falls a change of cars was necessary and soon we were speeding towards Ottawa through the fertile Ottawa valley. The crops looked better than they had since leaving Toronto, but they are away behind Western Ontario. At Stittville the farmers were just hauling in their hay crop on Saturday, and the cat crop was just ripening and buckwheat was in flower, and yet it would be some time ere it would be in flower.

On reaching Ottawa I was met by Rodney Smith, one of His Majesty's Customs, Chatham, but now a clerk in the Customs Department, Ottawa. After dinner, I, a stranger, went to see the capital of Canada. There were a number of features of the city that struck me forcibly during my trip from the union station to my friend's rooms. They were the large number of small houses, the many cripples in the place, the number of people in mourning, and the number of fine young men who make their home in Ottawa. The inferiority of the houses when compared with residences in other cities, is easily accounted for. Ottawa above all is the home of the lumbering industry and the great majority of her citizens derive their sustenance from working amid the trees of the forest or in the lumber mills and factories, and the men cannot afford to build houses. The style of the better class of houses is not inviting. Ottawa is an ancient city and all the houses have been fashioned apparently on the one plan, and they have no architectural beauties. French cottages are met with most frequently. These are generally brick veneer and plain. Some only have described the houses of Ottawa as all straight up and down, and this certainly gives the best idea possible to convey of the lack of handsome homes. A few modern houses are now being erected on Sand Hill, and there are others scattered throughout the city, but speaking generally Ottawa has no architectural beauty in her residences. Even the buildings being erected to replace those destroyed by the fire are all straight up and down. The many cripples in Ottawa is due to two widely separate reasons. First, the many factories and railways here to make cripples, and secondly, the civil service which affords an asylum for all the political cripples in the Dominion who happen to have friends in the Government.

The many people in mourning attire whom I encountered on my initial trip to Ottawa, is probably accounted for when it is remembered that I left Chatham on Friday. The number of excellent young men in Ottawa is accounted for easily. About a year ago the Canadian government moved clerks from all the customs offices in Ontario to Ottawa, and the Ontario boys are a pretty fine line anyhow. We and the rest will doff hats to that. The Ottawa boys know how to give the stranger a good time, and that too, without buying out a brewery. They can give a good many young fellows lessons on how not to support a barroom, and yet they have a good time. The new inter-provincial bridge between Hull and Ottawa has only been opened for traffic. It is a huge massive structure of steel, and the trolley and steam cars cross by this bridge. It was just sunset when my friend and I reached the bridge, and from here you certainly can get a good view of Ottawa. From this point of vantage, the scene is one of grandeur and picturesque. To the left is Parliament hill, with the government buildings, just showing above

WILLOW WIELDERS

The Oldest First-class Cricketer.

Mr. Herbert Jenner-Fust is the oldest first-class cricketer. He is 95 years of age, and was born on Feb. 23, 1806.

He is the sole survivor of the teams who took part in the first match between Oxford and Cambridge Universities, and he had the honor of being captain of the Cambridge eleven. Sixty-eight years ago Mr. Herbert Jenner-Fust was president of the M.C.C.

In his cricketing days he was known as Mr. Herbert Jenner, and while at school played for Eton against Harrow. He was an all-round cricketer, for he could bat and bowl well, and was also a splendid wicket-keeper, and when behind the stumps very rarely donned pads or gloves. In his first 'varsity' match he took six wickets and scored 47 runs—more than half the total made for his side.

Mr. Jenner-Fust tells a very good story about his first match with Eton and Harrow. Playing for Harrow was the late Bishop Wordsworth and he succeeded in bowling Mr. Jenner-Fust. The latter, however, had to wait for his revenge until the occasion of the first 'varsity' match, when he succeeded in bowling the bishop after he had made eight runs.

Mr. Wordsworth was a splendid cricketer, and his love for athletic sports stood him in good stead after he reached the bench of bishops.

Mr. Jenner-Fust naturally thinks the old cricketing days and rules were superior to the laws of the game as now laid down. He thinks the players of the present day take too much care of themselves, and do not much care of the game.

Mr. Jenner-Fust used to wear kid gloves occasionally when wicket-keeping, but that was the only protection he ever adopted. He thinks the bowler who tries to get a batsman out leg-before-wicket is no worse than the batsman who shields his wicket with his pad.—London Daily Mail.

AGAINST HER RULE.

"Cholly" Dinsmore proposed to me last night," confided Miss Burdette to Miss Kiddie.

"Did you tell him if he could support you in the style to which you have been accustomed?"

"O, dear, no. I never ask men who propose to me that question."
