ADVERTISE IN THE PLANET

CRIMEA AND CAUCASUS

First on Verge of Revolt and in the Second Anarchy Reigns.

Extremely Alarming News Received at St. Petersburg—Just How Bad It Is Cannot Be Told Because of Rigid Censorship—Theodosia Workmen Are Backing the Kiaz Potemkine Mutineers—Life Guards Mutiny.

St. Petersburg, July 7.—Such news as came from the Black Sea and Caucasus during yesterday was extremely alarming. The whole Crimea Peninsula is on the verge of revolt and anarchy reigns in the mountains of the Caucasus from Batoum to Baku. Only brief details are available on account of the rigid censorship established by Admiral Chukhlin, commander of the Black Sea fleet. Even foreign embassies having consuls at Theodosia have not received any word.

At Theodosia the workmen are backing the mutineers. The crews of several ships in the harbor have joined the population in a panic. The guns of the Kiaz Potemkine are trained on the city and a bombardment is momentarily expected.

Fanned the Flame. Telegrams from the Caucasus, where a state bordering on anarchy has existed for a month, say the news of the mutiny on board the Kiaz Potemkine made an electric impression and was the signal for a general movement with which troops and police are absolutely powerless to cope. Railroad traffic in all directions has ceased and the people are fleeing on horseback and all kinds of vehicles over the mountain roads and trails.

Kiaz Potemkine Blown Up. Odessa, July 7.—It is reported that the battleship Kiaz Potemkine has been blown up near Theodosia.

Bombarding the Town. London, July 7.—The correspondent of The Daily Mail at Odessa says it is reported there that the Kiaz Potemkine is bombarding Theodosia, the town is burning and that the soldiers of the garrison are engaged in looting. He says it is also reported that another torpedo boat has joined the mutineers.

Good Discipline. Theodosia, July 7.—A correspondent of the Associated Press, who visited the Kiaz Potemkine in company with the Mayor, found the battleship commanded by an elected committee of seven, headed by "Ensign and Quarter-master" Alexieff, a quasi-commissioned rank in the Russian navy. Everything was in order and good discipline prevailed. All the guns were loaded, and it was said that the mutineers had a full supply of ammunition. The crew consisted of 750 men and there were 15 more in the torpedo boat.

Life Guards Refused Orders. Berlin, July 7.—A correspondent at Kattowitz, Silesia, reports that he learned that sixteen men designated in each company of the Lithuanian Life Guards Regiment in Warsaw to go to Manchuria refused to make them do so. Their colonel sent to another Life Guard regiment for help, but these men also refused orders. Upon a similar refusal of a third Life Guard regiment, the colonel applied to the commander of Warsaw, who sent a detachment of Cossacks. Some of the mutineers fired on the Cossacks, who returned the fire, fourteen altogether being killed before the others who remained were arrested.

Dock Strike Ends. Cronstadt, July 7.—The dock laborers' strike here has been settled, the commercial transport companies reducing the hours of work to nine hours per day and increasing the men's wages 15 per cent.

Mikado Request to Envoys. Tokio, July 7.—The Emperor delivered an address yesterday to the peace plenipotentiaries, charging them that they should devote themselves with all power to discharge your mission and make every effort to secure the re-establishment of peace on a durable basis.

FRENCH SUBMARINE SINKS.

Ten Men Are Under Water, But Reply to Signals.

Ferryville, Tunis, July 7.—A French submarine boat with a crew of thirteen on board foundered here yesterday. The commander and two men were hurled in the air just before the submarine sank.

The divers says that the men entombed in the submarine boat at the bottom of Bizerta Bay reply to their calls.

Crew Are Saved. Paris, July 7.—A despatch received from Ferryville indicates that the crew of the submarine boat which foundered there yesterday has been saved.

A Girl to Be Pitied. London, July 7.—A Central Prison (letter) for a year was handed out to Albert Smith, the young man who was found guilty of inflicting a knife wound upon young Frank Walsh because he thought that the latter had called him "blubber," a sobriquet which is said to have stuck to him for some years. As the magistrate passed sentence Smith's wife set up a great wail. She had been married but a week, and that week has been spent alone.

The committee appointed by the Catholic Order of Foresters for their annual excursion to Detroit Aug. 15 will spare no pains and will serve abundant refreshments. Music on board.

FIRE ESCAPES FOR FLATS

Several Improvements for Fire Protection Required in the Maple City

Council May Prohibit the Building of Hollow Walls—Successful Trip of Civic Officials

Ald. Potter and Chief Pritchard have returned from Detroit. Their object in visiting that city was to examine the fire escapes with which the theatres of that city are equipped in order to see what is necessary for the Grand.

"We examined the Temple theatre, the Detroit and the Whitney," said Mr. Potter. "The Temple has a very good system but the Detroit Opera House has a better protection against fire than our own. The same fire escape does duty for both galleries and the pit, that is they all open upon the same escape."

"At the present time the local Opera House has a three foot escape from the top gallery in addition to the ordinary exits. It is likely we will insist upon an additional and separate escape from the first gallery and then we will have an Opera House second to none with regard to fire protection."

Mr. Pritchard and Ald. Potter had a very successful trip in regard to finding information re fire escapes. They were received very kindly by Chief Randall of the Detroit fire department, and he devoted a whole hour to explaining to them different points upon which they desired information. They brought back with them plans of fire escapes suitable for flats and it is quite probable that the Council will insist on all flats in Chatham three storeys high, having these fire escapes. They interviewed the manufacturer of these fire escapes and obtained figures as to cost, etc. They also obtained a copy of the Michigan State Law which compels owners of flats to provide fire escapes. All of the buildings in Detroit in fire escapes—seven private residences that are three storeys high.

One of the chief objects of the visit was in reference to the thickness and style of walls on public buildings. Chief Pritchard, personally, is opposed to hollow walls, and not long ago he refused a permit for erecting hollow walls in the new Glassford Hotel. The committee yesterday called on Fire Marshall Baxter, of Detroit, and found him also very much opposed to hollow walls. He did not allow any to be put in Detroit buildings and it is quite likely that this principle will in future be adopted in Chatham.

Ald. Potter will bring in a report on the trip at the Council meeting next Monday night.

4,000 GUESTS

Maple City Will Entertain the P. M. Picnickers on the 22nd inst. — Special Trains.

It has been decided to hold the Pere Marquette annual picnic here on Saturday, the 22nd inst. G. W. Cook and A. Newbury, representing the railroad, are in the city today making the preliminary arrangements.

The whole Buffalo division of the road will picnic here with their wives and families—over 4,000 in all, many of them doubtless staying over till Monday.

Special trains will run from Sarnia, Walkerville, London and St. Thomas.

DOG POISONING

Some People are Resorting to Illegal Means to get Rid of the Dog Nuisance—A By-law Needed.

As is well known, there is a deep feeling in the city at present against dogs running at large. Some people claim the animals have destroyed property, and doubtless this is so. This does not, however, excuse the wanton poisoning that is going on in some sections of the city at present. J. Gilbert, the Queen St. coal merchant, had a valuable terrier poisoned a short time ago, and John Flook, who lives in the same vicinity, had one go the same way. The latest complaint is from the matron of the hospital, Miss Kennedy, who had a large hound poisoned. There are numerous other instances.

If a dog has a tag any person who maltreats it wantonly lays himself or herself open to an information. The proper course to pursue is to claim damages from the dog's owner for any injury the animal may have committed. If the dog is unlicensed, in the absence of any by-law, it is likely that any person harming it could be penalized unless actually protecting his property from the animal. A by-law is needed at once, defining the powers and privileges of both the owners of dogs and those who claim injury.

GREAT SUCCESS

The Students of Ursuline Academy Achieve Splendid Results at Toronto Conservatory of Music Exams.

The results of the Musical Examinations held this year at the Ursuline Academy of "The Pines," and conducted by the Toronto Conservatory of Music, have proved most satisfactory, and must be a source of much gratification to the earnest and thorough teachers of that institution.

Honors in Junior Piano. Miss Ena Pleasence, Certificate with Honors in Primary Piano; Silver Medal from the Academy in Primary Grade.

Miss Florence Dowdall, Certificate with Honors in Primary Piano. Miss Theresa Leroux, Certificate with Honors in Primary Piano.

Eugene Blaise, Certificate with Honors in Primary Piano. The above report shows the exceptional merit and scope of the Musical Course as pursued at the Ursuline Academy. The system of studies is thorough and exhaustive, and offers many of the advantages obtainable nowhere else except in large Conservatories.

The Piano Department affords every facility for the acquirement of a perfect technique, and tone quality, conception, artistic delivery and general musicianship. The Theoretical Department is equally complete. In no other institution in Canada, outside of Musical Conservatories, is the Theory of Music taught in its highest branches. The entire course embraces Rudiments, History of Music, Form in Composition, Harmony in its highest branches up to five parts; Counterpoint in both strict and free styles; Double Counterpoint in the 8th, 10th and 12th; Triple Counterpoint; Canon, Fugue, Acoustics; Instrumentation, comprising an intimate knowledge of the compass and character of all orchestral instruments, and ability to arrange music for full modern orchestra; Analysis of an orchestral work, and original Composition.

This comprehensive course occupies several years, and for those who have ability the studies are most fascinating. The field of activity and usefulness opened up through it to talented young women should prove most desirable and profitable. The examination papers are set and examined by the Toronto Conservatory of Music, an institution which has a world-established reputation, and whose certificates and diplomas not only admit students to University exams, but have a high standing in all European Schools of Music.

The Ursuline Academy ranks high as an educational institution in all branches of art and science, and they certainly deserve the greatest praise for the efficiency and exhaustiveness of their musical system. We hope in time to see them open up a regular Conservatory Department, which will be a fitting complement to their present superior Academic and Collegiate Departments.

TAKE MY CURE, WHEN CURED YOU PAY ME

The fear that you could not be cured may have deterred you from taking honest treatment, or you may have been one of the unfortunate who have been treated in vain by inexperienced physicians, free treatments, free trial samples, patent medicines, electric belts and other similar devices. Such treatments cannot and will never cure you, nor will these malades cure themselves. When I offer you a cure, and am willing to risk my professional reputation in curing you, and have such faith and confidence in my own medicine as to guarantee a cure, it is not a dollar need be paid until you are cured, a fairer proposition cannot be offered to the sick and afflicted. This should convince the skeptical that I mean what I say, and do exactly as I advertise, as I am positive of curing you in the shortest possible time, without injurious after-effects. My charges will be as low as possible, for conscientious, skillful and successful services, and my guarantee is simple and true. Not a dollar need be paid until you are cured. I have a diploma and certificate from the various colleges and state boards of medical examiners, which should be sufficient guarantee of my standing and abilities. It makes no difference who has failed to cure you, it will be to your advantage to write to me for my opinion of your case, which I give you free of charge. I want to hear from patients who have been unable to get cured, as I guarantee a positive cure for all chronic, nervous, blood and skin diseases, which I accept for treatment. I not only cure the condition itself, but likewise all the complications, such as rheumatism, kidney and bladder troubles, blood poison, physical and nervous debility, lack of vitality, stomach troubles, etc. All medicines are prepared in my own laboratory, and I guarantee each individual case. I will send a booklet on the subject which contains the 14 diplomas and certificates, entirely free. Address simply, Dr. S. Goldberg, 206 Woodward Ave., Suite 311, Detroit, Mich.

OUTING DRESS.

The Latest Norfolk Coat—Smart Wear of the Golfing Girl.

Nothing is quite so smart for sporting clothes as the various mohair fabrics, under whatever title they may be known. The sturdy nature of gowns in this material is shown in the summer model sketched, which is of white mohair trimmed with that supremely effective coarse white Russian braid. The fronts of the close fitting bolero are thrown back to reveal wider fronts of white Irish lace, laid over pale green chiffon velvet, while the sleeves, modestly short, are rendered practically comfortable by close fitting lace cuffs. A wrinkle to be noted in outing fashions is the two folds instead of three in the latest Norfolk coat, the band

A TAKING SUMMER MODEL.

BAD BLOOD

Reveals itself in many ways. Sometimes the impurities in the blood mark and mar the skin with blotches, pimples, boils or other eruptions. Sometimes the result of bad blood is a debilitated condition which is popularly described as "feeling played out, hardly able to drag myself around."

The impurities and poisons which corrupt the blood, clog the liver and cloud the skin are removed by the use of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It does more than eliminate the poisons; it increases the activity of the blood-making glands so that there is an increased supply of pure, body-building blood. It brightens the eyes, cleanses the skin, and gives new, physical energy.

Accept no substitute for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. "I thank God for the good your medicines have done me," writes Mr. James M. Sizemore, of Mitchell, Lawrence Co., Ind., Box 307. "I was not well for two years. My throat was always sore, head ached, and back ached nearly all the time. My weight was 135 pounds. I was taken sick with typhoid fever, and when the fever left me I had such a pain in my left side I could not breathe without pain. I thought I must die. My wife went to the drug store and procured a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and a trial of his 'Pleasant Pellets.' I discontinued the use of my doctor's medicine and began with the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pellets.' I at once began to feel better; the pain soon left my side and I could breathe with ease. In a week or so I felt so good I could not stay in the room. I began to walk about the streets; I felt better each morning. After a month's use of the medicine I weigh 135 pounds and feel better than ever in my life."

In a Glass House.

"If there is one thing more than another that makes me wild," said a member of the Mutual Improvement Club to a friend, "it is to have that Potter woman correct me when I just make a slip of the tongue. Did you hear her say in that supercilious way of hers, 'My dear, I'm sure you could not have meant that they had music between each number'—you meant between every two numbers." And every one near us heard what she said, the cat!"

"Oh, I shouldn't mind her," said the other woman. "If you want revenge just look at her with one of those short waisted, pudgy daughters on either side at the assembly and not a man on the horizon."

"Yes," said the aggrieved one. "Yes, she does look funny; but, my dear, did you realize you said 'on either side' instead of 'on each side'? Of course if they were on either side they'd—well, they couldn't be, you see! I knew you wouldn't mind having me speak of it, for I've noticed you make that little error occasionally, and it's so easy to form a habit."

Shocked the Queen.

The queen of Denmark once paid a visit to the Danish colony of Iceland, where the good old bishop exerted himself to the utmost to show her every thing that was worth seeing. The queen paid many compliments to her host, and having learned that he was a family man graciously inquired how many children he had. It happens that the Danish word for "children" is almost identical in sound with the Icelandic word for "sheep," so that the worthy bishop, whose knowledge of Danish was not so complete as it might have been, understood her majesty to ask how many sheep he owned and promptly answered: "Two hundred."

"Two hundred children!" cried the queen, astounded. "How can you possibly maintain such a number?" "Easily enough, please your majesty," replied the prelate, with a cheerful smile. "In the summer I turn them out upon the hills to grass, and when winter comes I kill and eat them!"

Few ever are satisfied that they are getting all to which they really are entitled in this world.

JOHN HAY BALLADS.

Dead U. S. Statesman Will Be Long Remembered For "Jim Bludso" and "Little Breeches."

The late John Hay was the best evolution of the American newspaper reporter known. He was a reporter who was great at the work, and from that onward successful in everything. A reporter, editor, ballad writer; secretary to Abraham Lincoln and then his biographer; an historian; a diplomat, an Ambassador, the ablest secretary of state the United States ever had, holding that office when he died. The story is current that Hay in his better days thought little of his ballads and his early writings. Whether this is so or not we cannot say, but probably Hay will be remembered longer for "Jim Bludso" and "Little Breeches" than anything else. We reprint these and some others from "Pike County Ballads." Probably John Hay was the inspiration of Mark Twain, Bret Harte, certainly Whitcombe Riley and perhaps also of Rudyard Kipling.

Jim Bludso of the Prairie Belle.
Wall, no! I can't tell what he lives,
Because he don't live you see;
Leastways he's got out of the habit
Of livin' like you and me.
What have you been for the last three year

You haven't heard folks tell
How Jimmy Bludso passed in his checks
The night of the Prairie Belle?

He weren't no saint—them engineers
Is all pretty much alike—
One wife in Natchez-under-the-Hill
And another one here in Pike.
A careless man in his talk was Jim,
And an awkward hand in a row
But he never flunked, and he never lied,
I reckon he never knowed how.

And this was all the religion he had—
To treat his engine well;
Never be passed on the river,
To mind the pilot's bell;
And if ever the Prairie Belle took fire—
A thousand times he swore,
He'd hold his nozzle agin the bank
Till the last soul got ashore.

All boats has their day on the Mississippi
And her day come at last—
The Movastar was a better boat,
But the Belle she wouldn't be passed,
And so she come tearin' along that night.

The oldest craft on the line—
With a nigger squat on her safety-valve,
And her furnace crammed, resin and pine.

The fire burst out as she cleared the bar,
And burnt a hole in the night,
And quick as a flash she turned, and made
For that willer-bank on the right.

There was mainin' and cursin', but Jim yelled out here, "Pike!"
Over all the infernal roar,
"I'll hold her nozzle agin the bank
Till the last galoot's ashore."

Through the hot, black breath of the burning boat
Jim Bludso's voice was heard,
And they all had trust in his cussedness,
And knewed he would keep his word

And sure's your born, they all got off
Afore the smokestacks fell,
And Bludso's ghost went up alone
In the smoke of the Prairie Belle.

He weren't no saint—but at judgment
I'd run my chance with Jim,
'Longside of some pious gentlemen
That wouldn't shook hands with

He seen his duty, a deadsure thing,
And went for it that then,
And Christ ain't a-going to be too hard
On a man that died for men.

Little Breeches.
I don't go much on religion,
I never ain't had no show,
But I've got a middlin' tight grip sir,
On the handful o' things I know.

I don't pan out on the prophets
And free-will, and that sort of thing—
But I b'lieve in God and the angels
Ever sence one night last spring.

I come into town with some turnips,
And my little Gabe come along—
No four-year-old in the country
Could beat him for pretty and strong

Pearl and chipper and sassy,
Always ready to swear and fight—
And I'd hant him to chaw terbacker
Jest to keep his milk-teeth white.

The snow come down like a blanket
As I passed by Taggart's store;
I went in for a jug of molasses
And left the team at the door.

They scared at something and started—
I heard one little squall,
And hell-to-split over the prairie
Went team, Little Breeches and all.

Hell-to-split over the prairie!
I was almost froze with skerk;
But we roused up some torches
And sarched for 'em far an d near.

At last we struck hosses and wagon,
Snowed under a soft white mound,
Upset dead beat—but of Little Gabe
No hide nor hair was found.

And here all hope soured on me,
Of my fellow-critter's aid—
I jest flopped down by my marrow bones
Croch-deep in the snow and prayed.

By this, the torches was played out,
And me and Isrul Parr
Went off for some wood to a sheep fold
That he said was somewhar thar.

We found it at last, and a little shed
Where they shut up the lambs at night
We looked in and seen them huddled thar,
So warm and sleepy and white;

And that sot Little Breeches and chirped,
As peart as ever you see.
"I want a chaw of terbacker,
And that's what's the matter of me."

How did he git thar? Angels,
He could never have walked in that storm.
They jest scooped down and toted him

SHOULD TO GO POLITICS.

Auditor-General on What That Official Ought To Be.

Ottawa, July 6.—When the public accounts committee met yesterday Mr. Bergeron moved that the statement of Auditor-General McDougall in regard to suggested changes in the Audit Act be printed, but Mr. Fielding said that the matter was not yet ended.

The Auditor-General proceeded to read another lengthy statement to the committee. He claimed the saving on the Sorel Bridge matter was due to him and that Mr. Schreiber should have discovered the facts. He doubted the advisability of having a large committee to investigate this matter, and urged the Audit Act amendments be referred to a small committee which should sit continuously. He thought the Auditor-General should have no politics and act absolutely impartially. Railway subsidies, he said, should be under the Audit Act. Mr. McDougall contended for the unitary method of so much per yard, etc., and not by the bulk sum.

After dealing with his early experience with the Conservative administration Mr. McDougall declared an Auditor-General should have no politics, neither should he accept favors from the Government or anyone having dealings with the Government.

"I am not advocating that a man must hold himself so straight as to lean back, as if he belonged to a party before he entered the service. He ought to treat that party as if he had never belonged to any party," said Mr. McDougall, adding: "Perhaps these remarks may be of some little service in dealing with the next man."

$100 REWARD $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

The Miserable Moors.

The lives lived by the Moors are, without exception, the most precarious and miserable that can be imagined. The poor man is thrown into prison for sums he never possessed and can never pay, the rich to be squeezed of all he possesses, while those only can hope to escape who are members of families sufficiently powerful to arouse the fears of the local governor should he attempt extortion and not sufficiently powerful to stir up the jealousy and avarice of the sultan. Even the governors of the provinces suffer themselves as they make others suffer, for just as they squeeze the agriculturist and the peasant so are they in turn squeezed by the sultan and his viziers, and should they fail by constant presents to maintain a good opinion at the court they can expect only imprisonment and often death.

The Only One of Its Kind.

On an evening somewhere about the end of the sixteenth century a traveler from Sweden might have been observed at the door of the Rose theater in London. He was going to see a new piece called "Titus Andronicus," and in order to follow it in the native language he bought a copy of the play, price sixpence, at the theater door. When he went home to Sweden he took the book with him to show his wife and friends what strange stuff the foreigner wanted. For 300 years it was preserved and in 1904, being discovered in the home of a countrywoman, was transferred for safety to the Lund university. The book is the only one of its kind known to exist.

LEARN DRESSMAKING IN TWO WEEKS

I will be at the Garner Hotel, Chatham, on Saturday, July 22nd, between 9 and 6 o'clock, to show how dressmaking can be taught in two weeks. Why spend from six to nine months learning dressmaking in a shop, and then not know anything about cutting, when I teach you everything from measuring to finish in the making of ladies' and children's garments in two weeks. I have taught over 700 girls in this way within the past three years, and all were more than satisfied. If you are the wife or daughter of a farmer, mechanic, laborer, merchant or millinaire, you should learn Dressmaking. No accomplishment you can acquire will prove of such everyday life-long value to you as a practical knowledge of Dressmaking. And if you have this knowledge you can, by saving dressmaker's bills, be able to dress much better, with less money, than you probably do now. I teach you how to put together not only the lining, but all the outer goods in coats, skirts, waists, wrappers, sleeves, in fact everything in dressmaking. And you are losing nothing by trying, for if you are not satisfied at the end of the term, then there will be no charge. School teachers, college girls and everybody who are having your holidays now, do not fail to take advantage of this splendid opportunity. You may never get another like it.

Charge for full course is $10, when you are through, if satisfied, including one of the most perfect fitting systems in use, which I give you free! I will also at the same time teach part of the course, consisting of shirtwaists, sleeves and skirts, and teach you how to use the system for $5.

I will teach at Chatham from July 24th to August 5th. Hours from 8.30 to 5. All wishing to learn, or for full particulars, be sure to see me in the upstairs parlor of the Hotel Garner on Saturday, July 22nd, at the hours named above.

An evening class will also be taught at Chatham this time. Full particulars for it can be had upon application on July 22nd.

UNFORTUNATE ACCIDENT

Alex. Gregory, foreman of Piggett's planing mill, met with a very unfortunate and painful accident at ten minutes to nine o'clock this morning.

He was running a small piece of board across a buzz planer when his hand slipped and became caught in the rapidly revolving knives of the machine. The first two fingers of his left hand were cut off above the first joint, the third finger escaped injury, but the end of the little finger was nipped. Mr. Gregory was at once taken to Dr. Holmes & McKeough's office, where his injuries were dressed. He expects to be able to resume his duties in a few days.

Mr. Gregory's many friends will be sorry to hear of his accident. It is particularly unfortunate as it is just a year ago in August since Mr. Gregory had three fingers taken off his right hand and the little one crippled, in a similar manner.

STOPPED WORK ON BUILDINGS

Scarcity of Lime is Causing Considerable Trouble for Local Contractors

Work on Power House at a Stand still Until Lime Arrives from Wallaceburg—A Serious Famine.

The question of securing lime for mortar is becoming a serious one with the Maple City contractors, and already work has been stopped on a couple of buildings on this account.

As was recorded in The Planet of a recent issue, lime and cement are scarce quantities in Chatham at the present time. There is so much building going on in Chatham this summer that dealers have been unable to get lime into the city fast enough to supply the growing demand. Their stock has been sold out and at present there is not a place in Chatham where time has been secured.

The question has its serious side to the laborers, and as a result of the trouble work was stopped on the railway power house this morning, and at nine o'clock eight masons were laid off until more lime arrives. Word was sent to Wallaceburg to send over a wagon load of lime and it is expected this will arrive this afternoon, and when it does work will be resumed and continued as long as the lime holds out.

Blight & Felder were forced to discontinue work on the bending works on account of no lime, and it is understood all of the works on other buildings will have to be discontinued in the course of a few days if lime does not arrive. This will mean loss of time to a large number of masons and laborers. A large consignment of lime is said to have been shipped to a local firm some days ago but it has not yet arrived. Until it does there are a number of local contractors who are living on Un-easy street.

USED GUN

Teller McBeth of the Bank of Montreal Hands Out a Surprise to a Couple of Midnight Prowlers.

The residents in the vicinity of the Seane block were aroused and somewhat startled yesterday morning about half-past one o'clock by the sound of a couple of revolver shots ringing out through the stillness of the night. The bullets descended to earth again without causing any harm or loss of life, but the noise served the purpose intended, and the two men who were prowling around at the rear of the Bank of Montreal quickly departed for parts unknown.

The shots came from the bank building and Teller McBeth was the man who did the shooting. Mr. McBeth had just returned from a small social gathering and upon entering his room at the rear of the bank he heard noises, caused by men who were walking around underneath his window. When he turned on the electric light the noises ceased. He put the light out and the noises commenced again. Mr. McBeth did not know what business the men were up to, so he awoke Teller Hopkirk, and soon after he resorted to the use of shooting off his revolver.

As above mentioned, the men soon made their disappearance when the gun was fired off, and if they intended a raid on the bank they gave up the idea, for that night at any rate.

NARROW ESCAPE

Mr. Shaw, a teamster in the employ of the Electric Railway Company, had a narrow escape from serious injury on Thames street this morning. He had a large load of railway ties on his wagon and was starting for the country with them when some of the ties slipped from their position and fell on the horses' heads.

Mr. Shaw himself was thrown from the load and seriously bruised. The horses' heads were also somewhat bruised, but apart from this, no serious results ensued from the accident.

Supt. Jones Reports to the Water Commissioners that Banner's Fabrication was of Whole Cloth

Cannot Understand why a Professed Newspaper Should Create False Reports to Annoy Citizens

Last night's meeting of the Water Commissioners was important chiefly for the emphatic denial given by Supt. E. B. Jones that he had made admission that bathing has taken place in the sedimentation basin.

Mayor Cowan asked Mr. Jones what truth there was in the report. Mr. Jones very forcibly and very pointedly expressed his opinion of the persons who would spread such a rumor and of the paper that printed such things without going carefully into the matter and enquiring what truth there was in it. If they had enquired they would have found there was no necessity for frightening the people in the way they had—the only report that had reached him was to the effect that the driver of Fleming & Tillson's ice wagon had professed to have seen some men washing their hands and faces in the basin. Even this report rested on a very flimsy foundation. When they say he admitted that there were those who had been bathing going on in the basin they were trying desperately to connect the waterworks department with the matter—any person on the street was capable of making the same admission.

The atmosphere became so torrid that the Banner reporter thought it advisable to move out and did so. There were present W. D. Sheldon and the Mayor, who was chairman in Dr. Bray's absence. The minutes of last meeting were read and adopted. The current accounts were ordered paid.

The cash statement for the month of June showed a balance on hand at the end of the month of $3,756.88.

The P. M. applied for permission to change their service and put in a four-inch main. The Commissioners thought the railway should do this for themselves and the matter was left to the superintendent.

A petition was received from Mrs. Courtney to extend pipe line to her hotel on the corner of Dover and Pitt streets. Granted.

RANKIN HOUSE OASE

The St. Thomas Times, Conservative, says editorially:—

"With The Chatham Planet, The Times regrets that the West Kent license commissioners have allowed political feeling to go to an extreme in the matter of the Rankin House license in Chatham. The hotel was known as a well-kept one, and the proprietor had the esteem of many leading Conservatives, according to report. As The Planet points out, it is pursuing the very policy we all so strongly condemned under the Ross Government, and appears to be a surrender to the hot-headed, excitable element which attaches to all political aperties. It is to be hoped that reasonable and honor will yet prevail in this matter."

HAUL DOWN THE FLAG.

Collector at Charlotte, N. Y., Precipitates an International Incident by Ordering British Flag Lowered.

Buffalo, July 7.—According to a report current among marine men here yesterday, an appeal to the Ottawa and Washington authorities to have the American customs officials at Charlotte, N. Y., punished will be made by Captain William Simmons of the Kingston schooner Acadia. Simmons happened to be at Charlotte on Tuesday, when the residents had the port fairly alive with stars and stripes in honor of Independence Day. Simmons showed his Canadian patriotism by holding the Canadian flag, but by so doing enraged Deputy Collector Duan Bump of Charlotte, who compelled the Canadian to lower his colors.

Simmons Threatened to Shoot.
New York, July 7.—A Rochester dispatch to The Tribune says: A protest has been filed with the Canadian Minister of Marine by Capt. Simmons of the Canadian schooner Acadia, because the port collector compelled him to lower the British flag on his vessel in the harbor of Charlotte on July 4. Collector Bump was informed that the Acadia had hoisted the Union Jack on the morning of the 4th of July, and he ordered Capt. Simmons to haul it down, saying it was an insult to the national holiday. Simmons refused, and threatened to shoot the collector if he boarded his vessel. Finally Simmons lowered the flag when threatened with refusal of his clearance papers.

No Protest in Ottawa Yet.
Ottawa, July 7.—Neither the Secretary of State nor the Minister of Marine has received any protests from Capt. Simmons of the Canadian schooner Acadia, to the effect that when in Charlotte, N. Y., on July 4, he was ordered to lower the British flag, otherwise clearance papers would be refused him.

Hon. Raymond Prefontaine said that although he had not received a protest it might be on the way. "If the United States Collector of Customs has been guilty of the conduct ascribed to him from the press despatches," the Minister observed, "representations will be made to the proper authorities. He had no right to ask that the flag be lowered or to refuse clearance papers."

Yanks Lead By Five Points.

Bisley Camp, England, July 7.—The match between the Seventh Regiment, N. G. S. N. Y., and the Queen's Westminster Volunteers for the Sir Howard Vincent Shield, began yesterday. The weather conditions were unfavorable. The teams—eight men on each side—yesterday fired 15 shots each at 500 and 600 yards. The Americans were five points ahead at the end of the 500 yards range, shooting, the score being Americans 82, Westminster 87. The scores for the 600 yards resulted: Americans 368, Westminster 369. The Americans thus lead by five points at the two ranges.

THE WATER COMMISSION.

Has Instructions of a Wide Nature From the Government.

Toronto, July 7.—The instructions to the recently-appointed power commission are of a much wider nature than was at first supposed. The official document naming and outlining the duties of the commission provides, in addition to the outline of their duties already given, that they are to ascertain the rates or prices that would require to be charged consumers of hydraulic or electrical power in order to meet all expenditure of maintenance and operation and to ascertain the savings that would accrue annually to consumers by the substitution of such rates for the rates now paid.

The commission will also ascertain the actual cost of existing hydraulic and electrical power undertakings, the capacity, state of development, quantity of power supplied and contracted for, the rates charged and to be charged, the actual value of such undertakings, and the estimated capital, if any, necessary to complete such undertakings.

Funeral of Dr. Johnston.

Sarnia, July 7.—Sarnia was in mourning yesterday, all places of business and industry being closed out of respect for the late Dr. Johnston.

M. F. Hunders visited the residence, where the body lay in state, the casket banked with floral offerings. The streets in the vicinity of the house were crowded before the hour of the funeral, and the procession was the longest ever seen in Sarnia. The funeral was under the auspices of the Masons, of whom there were over 300 in attendance. Right Worshipful Bro. Judge Daniel F. MacWatt conducted the Masonic portion of the services and Rev. Canon Davis of St. George's Episcopal Church officiated at the house and grave.

An information has been laid against John Burns for being drunk and disorderly. Burns has been working in the sugar beet fields and came into town to blow his money. He became disorderly yesterday and will now have to contribute to the city's coffers.

E. J. MacIntyre has received a letter from his daughter, Miss Carmen, who is studying violin music in Berlin. Miss MacIntyre has gone to Stralsund, Prussia, on the Baltic Sea, where she will spend a few holidays. Mrs. MacIntyre will join her in about three weeks.

A Job In the Senate
Chamber

By
Frank H.
Sweet

Copyright, 1905, by Frank H. Sweet

She went up the middle steps and
turned around the corner to the right.
A long line was extending back from
the door, expectant, impatient, though
the visitors' gallery would not be open to the public until 12. She drew from her belt the one remaining link of former opulence. It still lacked ten minutes, and she slipped the watch
back with a scarcely breathed sigh.
Why had she come here at all, she thought accusingly? She would be better visiting the stores in search of a position as clerk; there were surely
some business houses she had not yet been in. And—

Her eyes were brighter, and a flush
came and descended to her lips in a soft, evanescent smile that was more
like the smile of the old days before the wifeliness came.

She had been standing at the postoffice door, and he had looked precisely
as he had that day when he parted
from them in the Arizona canyon, he a penniless prospector and her father an extensive mine owner. And he had not forgotten. Even before she saw him
he had sprung from a carriage, without regard to his horses, and was coming up the postoffice steps with outstretched hands.

"Good heavens! You here, Muriel—Miss Ashburton," he had cried, with a gladness in his voice which he did not attempt to conceal and which brought an answering color to her face and light to her eyes. There had been nothing between them except a look
and hand pressure, but she had often thought of him in these later dreary
years and was glad to know he had remembered her. "I looked for you everywhere—everywhere," he had continued, "but without a clue. I was afraid you had gone from my life. But pardon me; we cannot talk here, and I have a great deal to say. May
I call on you at once—this evening?"

"My father is dead," she had managed to say. Her brain had been in a whirl, her heart in a tumult. What did it all mean? What was this impulsive madman saying, implying? By a strong effort she had controlled herself.

"Yes, you may call," she had answered in a low voice. "I—I will be glad to see you." And she had given him the number of the house in which she rented one small room.

"Thank you. I will be there early. I would ask to go back with you now,
but I have an appointment which is already overdue. Isn't it providential, though, this meeting? I have been in Washington only three days, and to turn up against you like this!"

"Have you employment here?" she had asked for want of something better to say.

"Yes, temporarily; a job in the senate chamber. You remember I was a jack of all trades, from a farm boy to an impecunious prospector, with occasional dab at fresco painting and journalism to help me through college. But I will not detain you here in the wind
any longer."

She had watched him spring into the carriage and drive away, an odd light
in her eyes and a warm color in her cheeks. As she went down the sidewalk she laughed softly. Eight years before she would not have been like this. Evidently he was without any regular employment, just doing some temporary work in the senate chamber—fresco painting probably, for he had spoken of being familiar with that. At first, from his being in the carriage
holding the horses, she had thought he might be a coachman, waiting for his employer's return. But, after all, what did it matter? Coachman or painter or impecunious prospector, he was warm hearted and honest and ambitious. She could read that in his eyes and in the strong, full grasp of his hands. And he had remembered her—and cared for her. It was beautiful to know that in the hurrying, indifferent world there was one who still thought of her and cared for her a little. The manner of his search for employment, and some-
how, she shrank from that just now,
even though she had been restricting
herself to a single meal a day for a week. She would celebrate the finding of a friend. It was opening day at the senate chamber, and perhaps she might see this friend himself, or some of the work he had been doing.

There was a sudden stir in the line
ahead of her, and she felt herself being pushed forward. The door was open
at last, and foot by foot, yard by yard,
she was being impelled toward it. But
when she entered every seat was taken,
and she could only crowd herself into
the narrow space behind the last row.
She could see the chaplain and a few
of the senators on the far side of the chamber and upon the few desks in sight a gorgeous display of flowers.

Presently she heard the opening prayer and bowed her head. Then there was a confusion of voices, with quick, crisp sentences from one desk
and another, followed by a short recess
in which there was a great shaking of hands and introductions among the senators. At the end of fifteen or twenty minutes some of those in the visitors' gallery began to rise and leave.
They had witnessed the opening and

OPERATION AVOIDED

EXPERIENCE OF MRS. GLENN

She Was Told That an Operation Was Inevitable. How She Escaped It

When a physician tells a woman suffering with ovarian or womb trouble
that an operation is necessary, the very thought of the knife and the operating table strikes terror to her heart, and
our hospitals are full of women coming
for ovarian or womb operations.

Mrs. Robert Glenn

There are cases where an operation
is the only resource, but when one considers the great number of cases of ovarian and womb trouble cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after physicians have advised operations, no woman should submit to one without first trying the Vegetable Compound and writing Mrs. Pinkham,
Lynn, Mass., for advice, which is free.

Mrs. Robert Glenn, of 434 Marie St., Ottawa, Ont., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
is so well and widely known that it does not need my recommendation; but I am pleased to add it to the many which you have given me for nearly three years, and the doctors told me that I must undergo an operation; but as I was unwilling to do this, I tried your Vegetable Compound, and I am only too pleased that I did so, for it restored me to perfect health, saving me the pain of an operation
and the immense bills attending the same."

Ovarian and womb troubles are steady-ly on the increase among women. If the monthly periods are very painful,
or too frequent and excessive—if you have pain or swelling down in the left side, bearing down pains, leucorrhoea, don't neglect yourself; try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

were now going home to lunch. Soon
she was able to step down to a vacant
seat in one of the front rows.

She had now a good view of the chamber, and her gaze swept curiously
from desk to desk. Many of the senators she recognized from pictures she had seen in current periodicals. Suddenly she started and half arose. She had not thought to see him down there;
if she met him at all it would be in one of the corridors, and probably at work. But there he was, at one of the desks, examining some papers.

What did it mean? He had no right to be in there now, while the senate
was in session.

An hour later she descended to the next floor, still dazed and wondering.
As she left the elevator she met him
face to face.

"What! you here, Muriel—Miss Ash-
burton?" he cried. "This is splendid!
Now we can have that talk without waiting until evening. I know a cozy little table down in a corner of the cave where we can be all by ourselves.
We will talk while we eat our lunch.
Come."

She was looking at him with wide
eyes.

"Why were you in there, at a desk?"
he demanded.

"In the senate chamber? Oh, that's my job. You see, when I left you that day I went straight to one of the new towns and opened a law office. My father was a lawyer, and I had studied with him. Somehow the people seemed to like my ways, and last year they hatched up a plot to send me here. But come, we can talk better at the table.
I have a proposition for your consideration, and," his voice suddenly becoming grave, "I hope you will be able to see your way to accede to it. Come."

And she, after a moment's bewil-
dered, ecstatic hesitation, went.

Flucky Oglethorpe.
Of General Oglethorpe, the founder
of the state of Georgia, Boswell, Dr.
Johnson's biographer, relates this story: "When a very young man, only fifteen, serving under Prince Eugene of Savoy, he was sitting at table in company with a prince of the house of Wurtemberg, who took up a glass of wine and by a fillip made some of it
fly into Oglethorpe's face. The young soldier was in a dilemma. He durst not challenge so distinguished a personage, yet he must notice the affront.
Therefore, keeping his eye fixed on his highness and smiling at the time, as if
he took what had been done in jest, Oglethorpe exclaimed, 'That's a good joke, but we do it much better in England.' Whereupon he flung a whole glassful of wine in the prince's face.
The affair ended in good humor."

There was a sudden stir in the line
ahead of her, and she felt herself being
pushed forward. The door was open
at last, and foot by foot, yard by yard,
she was being impelled toward it. But
when she entered every seat was taken,
and she could only crowd herself into
the narrow space behind the last row.
She could see the chaplain and a few

chamber and upon the few desks in

WHAT KING OSCAR LOSES.

Royal Residences At Christiania and Income of $136,250.

When the Norwegian Storting, by
a simple degree, declared the union
with Sweden dissolved and that the King of two countries had ceased to act as King of Norway, the material
loss of King Oscar and the royal family of the Bernadottes was not so great as might seem at the first blush.
The union has been more nominal
than real and the golden link of the crown has never been particularly solid. King Oscar has, indeed, at one stroke lost nearly half of his subjects
and considerably more than one-third of his territory, but in Norway the Monarchy has never drawn from the State revenues an excessive income.
King Oscar has never encouraged a lavish expenditure in the management
of his court, and a modest private fortune, supplemented by a moderate private income, has sufficed for the needs of the royal family, which has in manners formed habits of democratic simplicity.

The civil list of King Oscar as King
of Sweden is about $363,710, and the royal family enjoys also an annuity of about $82,000, voted to King Carl XV.
Sweden. Norway allowed the monarch
a civil list much less than half that granted by Sweden, about $136,250, on which to maintain the royal dignity.

By law King Oscar was bound to pass six weeks annually in Norway.
Until recently—and it must be remembered he is in his seventy-seventh year—he attended every year the opening of the Norwegian Storting,
and on his visits to Norway resided
in one or the other of the royal residences at Christiania; the Royal Palace and his country seat, Oscarsholm.

The Royal Palace situated on an eminence in the western part of the city, was built in 1822-1848, and with the gardens did not cost more than $122,000, voted by the Storting. The private apartments contain paintings
and sculptures by Norwegian artists,
most of which were presented to the King and Queen on their silver wedding, in 1848. The throne room contains portraits of Oscar I. and Queen Josephine, besides other members of the royal family.

The second royal residence ("Oscar's Hall") makes a favorite excursion
spot for visitors to Christiania, as it is beautifully situated on the Christiana Fjord, two miles from the city.
It was built in 1847 by King Oscar I.
in Anglo-Gothic style. It was sold by Charles XV. to the Government, but
was set apart for the use of the reigning monarch. The painter Tidemand is well represented by some of his characteristic pictures of Norwegian peasant life. In the grounds are to be seen antique Norwegian buildings, an old Norwegian church, dating from the twelfth century and typical farmhouses
of the country.

A JAPANESE SPARTAN.

Remarkable Letter Written From the Battlefield By a Corporal.

The following extract from a letter
written to his wife by a Japanese soldier will give a good idea of the Spartan sentiment in the field of duty and glory
is their chief thought, and this thought
far outweighs all other considerations.
"My dearest," he wrote, "I especially ask you strictly to observe the following rules, which I herewith send you:

"1. Never accept presents in money
or kind from any one; to do so will be
to bring shame on your husband.

"2. Keep all my letters from the front, and do not hand them about for everybody to see.

"3. Think that our parting at Shimbashi was a last farewell, as though you had accompanied my body to the temple; and that presently you will receive the news of my having travelled over the plains of battle and entered paradise.

"4. Do not expect to see me back;
think that I have gone to meet an honorable death.

"5. When news comes of my death
repress your sorrow.

"6. After my death live on the pension you will receive from the Government, and carry on the worship of my ancestors.

"7. Remember that you are a soldier's wife and behave accordingly.
Do not fail to visit the families
of those who die in battle, and to con-
dole with them.

"8. Be respectful to your parents and the aged; treat your inferiors
kindly, and keep your own spirit pure
and noble.

"9. Be careful never to disgrace
the honorable name I have given you
at the cost of my life."

The writer of this letter, Corporal Yamazaki Unosuke, was formerly a workman at the Shubunsha Lithographic Press in Tokio. He was sent to Korea early last year, and served with great credit in many engagements. At the battle of Peshuhulle he discharged his duties as orderly with astonishing quickness and boldness, and though wounded himself, saved the life of a comrade, First Class Private Tanaka, whose wounds he bandaged
to the neglect of his own.

In the engagement which termina-ted in the occupation of Maershan he was severely wounded in the head,
and died on the way to the bandaging
tent.

Repairing Lord Mayor's Coach.

The corporation of London has just appropriated £14,253 for repairs to the Lord Mayor's state coach, says The London Globe. This coach involves an annual outlay of from £400 to £1,500
for repairs. Last year the city spent £250 upon it, and when it was repaired the coachbuilders sent this note with
it: "We dare not guarantee this coach
for the journey from Mansion House to the law courts. At any moment the fore part may part from the hind part."
The coach has been in use since 1761,
and therefore, from an English point of view, is not at all old. But the old-
ermen are beginning to talk about having a new one built.

Grateful to Grandma.

Mrs. Cummins—So you love your grandmamma, do you, Grace? And why do you love her?"

Grace—Because she used to punish
mamma, when mamma was a little girl.
I hope she used to spank her as hard as mamma spanks me.

THERE has only been one real improvement in cooking ranges in many years. That improvement is the Imperial Oxford Diffusive Oven Flue.

While other makers were adding dampers, racks, door openers and
shakers in a vain attempt to make improvements, we studied the heart of the range. We knew that the only improvement you wanted was a better
oven, an oven that would help you bake
better bread, pies and cakes, roast beef
to a turn, retaining its juice and flavor.

Our investigations and experiments produced the oven-heating system of the

Imperial Oxford Range

The important feature of this system
is the diffusive flue which draws in fresh air, superheats it and distributes
it evenly throughout the oven. The article on the bottom shelf farthest
from the fire is getting as much heat
on all sides as the article on the top shelf next the fire.

We would like to explain this more fully. If your dealer doesn't handle
the Imperial Oxford Range, write us
for particulars. We will send catalogue and tell you where you can see the range.

Ups and Downs of Santa Cruz.

Probably no other of the West Indian islands has had such a checkered career as Santa Cruz. In turn it has belonged to Spain, which abandoned it;
to England and Holland jointly; to England alone; to Spain again, which fell upon the colonists and destroyed
or deported them all; to France, which took it from Spain; to the Knights of Malta, who received it as a gift from France; to a private company of adventurers. Then it was resumed possession of by France, but abandoned,
so that in 1720 it was uninhabited.
Then it became a no man's land until 1727, when France took it again, and
presently sold it to a Danish company,
which sold it in turn to the king of Denmark. In 1801 England took it
once more, gave it back to Denmark,
repented and took it away again in
few months, held it for eight years,
and then returned it to Denmark, which holds it still.

EXPERIENCE OF A BIRCHTOWN LADY

Tried in Vain to Cure Her Dyspepsia Till She Used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets—They Cured Her Completely and Permanently.

Miss Mary Brown, of Birchtown, Shelburne Co., N. S., relates an experience that is of immediate interest to thousands of people in all parts of Canada. These thousands are the people who face a square meal with mingled feelings of pleasure and dread, in other words the victims of indigestion and dyspepsia.

"I can say I had Dyspepsia for some time," says Miss Brown. "I tried many medicines but never met with anything to help me till I used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

"After taking three boxes I think they have made a perfect cure, and it is over a year now since I took them I think I can safely say the cure was a permanent one."

If you want to eat three square meals a day and enjoy them use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Tar and Feathers for Italian.

Brookville, July 6.—A few days ago an Italian named Ragazzino was released from jail after serving a sentence for abduction of two young girls named Widdie, who live a few miles from Brookville. Tuesday Ragazzino made his appearance in the vicinity of the Widdie's home and during the night was treated to a coat of tar and feathers. He afterwards appealed to the police for assistance.

WATER IN YOUR BLOOD.

Lots of people have thin, watery blood—they eat plenty but don't digest. When digestion is poor, food isn't converted into nourishment—in consequence the body rapidly loses strength. To positively renew health, nothing equals Ferrozone. It excites sharp appetite, makes the stomach digest, forms life-sustaining blood. Abundant strength is sure to follow. If you need more vitality, extra energy, better nerves, then use Ferrozone, the medical triumph of the age! Fifty cents buys a box of fifty choicely coated Ferrozone tablets.

Arrested for Wrecking Trains.

Quebec, July 6.—Three men have been arrested at Chateau Richer on suspicion of having attempted to wreck trains on the Quebec Railway Light and Power Co. line, running between Quebec and St. Anne de Beaupre. They are Charles Roy, Apollinaire Blais and George Gauchon, all residents of Chateau Richer.

THE ROOT OF NEURALGIC HEADACHE.

Is an irritable condition of the nerves caused by cold. Relief comes quickly from Nerviline, the great pain reliever of to-day. "I consider Nerviline a magical remedy for neuralgia," writes Mrs. E. G. Harris, of Baltimore. "But I never worry if Nerviline is in the house. A few applications never fail to kill the pain. I can also recommend Nerviline for stiffness, rheumatism and muscular pains." In use nearly fifty years; try Nerviline yourself.

Fire in Forest Rescued.

Toronto, July 6.—The officials of the Crown Lands Department yesterday received information that a disastrous fire had occurred in the Temagami forest reserve on the line of the New Ontario Railway, 70 miles from North Bay. The fire began on Monday, and yesterday's report was that it had been extinguished. Flames from a locomotive were the cause, the country being dry as tinder from lack of rain.

PROVED IN MOUNT FOREST.

Every doctor in this town tried his best to relieve Mrs. J. Witham, of Asthma, and none succeeded. "For years," she states, "I was a dreadful sufferer; nothing gave relief. At times I found it necessary to have all the doors and windows open to get my breath. When in despair I heard of Catarrhazone. I used it and now am perfectly cured." This proves beyond doubt that any case of Asthma is curable with Catarrhazone. No remedy so pleasant, none so absolutely certain to thoroughly cure; try Catarrhazone yourself; it's guaranteed.

Women always say they are satisfied to have the truth told about them even if it is only a pleasant dream.

In late years men have made fortunes out of the tailings of gold mines. The mills in which the ore formerly was crushed and the crude processes then in use allowed a large percentage of the precious metal to escape, and that loss amounted in some cases to a fortune. The stomach is just like a stamp mill in this respect, that when it is not in perfect order it allows the escape and waste of much of the precious nutriment contained in the food. That loss, when continuous, means the loss of man's greatest fortune—health. Science offers a remedy for this condition in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It corrects the "weakness" of the stomach, prevents waste and loss of nourishment, and puts the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition into a condition of health which enables them to save and assimilate all the nutriment contained in the food which is eaten. In all cases of constipation the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will speedily and permanently cure the disease.

The instinctive feeling of a great people is often wiser than its wisest men.

BARON DE ROTHSCHILD

LIFE SKETCH DOMINATING SPIRIT IN NOTED FAMILY.

Mastered Finance and Became Famous in World Finance—His Statement of the Law of Money—Magistrate Widely Known As Philanthropist and Collector of Art Treasures—Rise of Great Bankers.

Baron Alphonse de Rothschild, who passed away at Paris on May 25, was the second son of Baron James de Rothschild, and was born Feb. 1, 1827. After receiving a liberal education he was inducted into the mysteries of banking, and almost at once disclosed his business abilities. While still a young man he developed a rare taste in matters of art, and his collection of art treasures is believed to be unsurpassed. He always had been a princely entertainer. The leading artists, writers and savants of Europe found a welcome in his mansion in the Rue Florentin, at the corner of the Place de la Concorde.

This house was once the residence of the famous Prince Talleyrand, and for a time sheltered Alexander I., Emperor of Russia. In this Parisian palace Baron Alphonse during the last thirty years entertained almost every royal personage that visited the French capital. The Prince of Wales, now King Edward of England, and the King of Greece have been numbered among his guests, and so have been the present Italian monarch and all the Orleanist princes.

This entertainment of royalties is hardly to be wondered at, for Baron Alphonse was the dominating spirit of the powerful Rothschild family in their monetary relations with all the Governments of Europe. In this, of course, is included the financing of the colossal indemnity which France paid to Germany after the war of 1871. The house has double interests in Italy, with the Vatican and with the Quirinal, and it practically holds in its hands the financial interests of Spain. The same is true with regard to Austria. The house also has had extensive dealings in the securities of American mines and railways.

In his charities the Baron was munificent. He has given millions to the poor of Paris. Within two weeks a hospital that he donated has been opened, and last summer, with his two brothers, he gave 10,000,000 francs to build homes for workmen, the income from the dwellings to be used for social improvements.

But even these philanthropic operations did not protect him from attack. In 1895 an attempt was made upon his life, prompted, as charged, by the Socialists of Paris. A letter was sent to Baron Alphonse containing some explosive substance. The Baron at the time was away, and a clock opened the mine, and the detonation hurled the man to the ground, but otherwise he was unhurt. Two years previously the Baron met with an accident in the hunting field, through which he lost an eye, and the mishap greatly embittered his life.

The Baron's law as to finance was thus expressed a few years ago: "It is the money that circulates which fructifies; and money circulates with the same risk to all. Frighten and threaten capital and it vanishes: Capital is like water. Grasp it violently and it slips through your fingers; treat it gently, dig a canal in which to lead it, and it flows. Be sure your ticket reads in a country's fortune. It represents the energy, intelligence, thrift and labor of the people. Capital is labor. Apart from unhappy exceptions, which seem to be unavoidable, each share in the people's capital according to his intelligence, energy and the work accomplished."

That he held radical views as to tollers' rights is shown in the following expression from him: "It is unjust to compare a man with capital and intelligence, organizing facilities, invention and knowledge with any gross, brutal workman, who applies to his work the unintelligent labor of his hands."

Baron Alphonse, owing to his age, was considered to be the head of the whole Rothschild family. He was a member of the Academy of Fine Arts and a commander of the Legion of Honor.

The story of the rise of the Rothschilds is as remarkable as any in fiction. The first of the family to become a banker was Mayer Anselm, who was born in Frankfurt in 1743. It was the purpose of the lad's father to train him to become a rabbi, but the lad had other views, and instead of studying the Talmud secretly conned an arithmetic. He was permitted to enter the banking house of Oppenheim at Hanover, but later returned to Frankfurt and opened an establishment of his own. When he was taken to 1812, after having amassed a fortune, he summoned his five sons to his bedside and impressed upon them to be faithful to the Mosaic laws, to remain united to the end and to undertake nothing without having first consulted their mother. Anselm's last words were: "Observe these rules and you soon will be rich among the richest, and the world will belong to you."

With the purpose of keeping their money in the family, the Rothschilds have followed a policy of intermarriage. Baron Alphonse, who was a grandson of Mayer Anselm, married a cousin. The instances in which the Rothschilds have married outside the family are comparatively few, one of the notable cases being that of Hannah, daughter of Baron Mayer, who in 1878 was married to the Earl of Rosebery. She died in 1890.

There are now twenty branches of the Rothschild family, and the London, Paris and Vienna houses are all managed by descendants of Mayer Anselm. Gustav, Edmund, Adolph and James are now the chief members of the Paris house. Lord Nathaniel de Rothschild and Baron Alfred and Leopold are associated at London, while Baron Nathaniel Mayer is the family's leading representative at Vienna. The Frankfurt and Naples houses have ceased active operations.

HER SKIN WAS YELLOW.

"I had only to try Dr. Hamilton's Pills to appreciate their merit," writes Miss Annie Bryce, of Woodstock. "My system was out of order. My blood was weak and thin. I had a nasty, murky complexion. My skin was hard and dry. The first box of Dr. Hamilton's Pills made a complete change. I felt better at once. Healthy color came into my face. In about three weeks I was cured." Dr. Hamilton's Pills effect an easy cure. Try these good pills, 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1.00; at all dealers.

Matchmaking in France.

A recent writer says of the commercial side of matchmaking in France: "In most French marriages money plays the important part. The first question asked by the young man is, 'How much?' As a rule, it is an easy matter to ascertain without applying directly to the papa, but even when no question of dowry is raised at the formal demand there is always a contract drawn up by a notary, which specifies the exact sum the girl receives."

DANGEROUS STEPS

A Citizen Suggests that the Post Office Steps be Placed in a Safer Condition

"There is a matter that should be called to the attention of the post office officials," remarked a citizen this morning, "and that is the bad condition of the post office steps." These stone steps are used probably more than any other steps on any building in the city, for every one has to go there for their mail. Constant use has made them so that they are worn down very smooth and are now very slippery and dangerous. It is a wonder some one has not slipped down and met with a serious accident long ago.

The matter could be easily remedied if the authorities would hire a mason to go over the steps with a chisel and make them rough again. This should be done right away.

CRUELTY CASE

Humane Officer McGregor Asked to Look Into the Conduct of the G. T. Hog Pens.

"It is reported to me that several of the hogs crowded into the Grand Trunk pens are dying from time to time," said Health Inspector Mounteer to The Planet this morning. "This is caused by the unfortunate animals being crowded into the blistering pens and left packed in there in the hot sun."

"I would like to see the attention of Humane Officer McGregor called to the matter. Mr. McGregor is an efficient officer and I feel sure he would deal firmly with the case."

EPWORTH LEAGUERS IN SESSION

Gathering of Over 20,000 Delegates and Friends at Denver.

Denver, July 7.—The seventh international convention of the Epworth League opened yesterday with three simultaneous meetings, which taxed to the utmost the capacity of Coliseum Hall, Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church and Central Presbyterian Church, the largest auditoriums in this city. Fully 20,000 delegates and visitors have been attracted.

The chairman was Bishop Joseph Berry of Buffalo, N. Y.; Dr. Stephen J. Herben of Chicago, editor of The Epworth Herald, and Rev. Melvin Taylor of Quebec, Canada.

Governor McDonald, Mayor Speed and others made welcome addresses, and responses were given by Rev. G. F. Salton, Ottawa, Ont.; Rev. S. P. Chown, D. D., Toronto; Rev. I. Topp, Toronto, and others.

JUGGLING OF FIGURES

Enables Fielding to Claim Deficit as a Surplus.

Expenditure Far Outstrips Revenue—

Hon. Mr. Fielding Admits a Waning Surplus—Says Government's Motto is to Spend Freely but Wisely—A Few Slight Changes in the Tariff—Hon. Mr. Foster Shows Surplus is a Most Convenient One.

Ottawa, July 7.—With the proverbial flourish of trumpets, Hon. W. S. Fielding yesterday introduced the budget. In spite of the forced applause at convenient intervals from the Liberal side of the House, it must be confessed that the effort of the Finance Minister was not a scintillating success. There was lots of sparkle and a plethora of nicely rounded phrases, but they meant little. For Mr. Fielding, in spite of his heroics, did not have an easy job to tackle. He had to explain, as will be seen in his statement, a largely increased expenditure. His explanation was sugar-coated, but the bitter pill was there all the same—the fact that an increased expenditure has largely overbalanced the increase in revenue. Another fact was made evident. The surplus for the year just closed was not so large as that of last year.

Hon. George E. Foster, criticizing the statement, pointed out the large liabilities of the next few years and uttered a word of warning. Money will have to be raised shortly at the specific time when the country is seemingly pledged to the hilt for running expenses.

The tariff, as had been predicted, was dealt with very gingerly, and the old war horse of an excuse was trotted out that the tariff commission would be appointed shortly and would deal with a great many matters left untouched in the budget. After some discussion the House went into committee on the tariff resolutions. The resolutions were reported and the bill founded on them read a first and second time. The tariff bill will be read a third time to-day. The House adjourned at midnight.

Mr. Fielding's Speech.

Mr. Fielding's speech may be summarized in the following results:

Tariff Changes.

Rolls Oats—Duty imposed of 60 cents per hundred weight.

Dry White Lead—Duty increased from 5 per cent, to 30 per cent, with British preference.

Cement—To equalize, duty of 25 per cent, ad valorem imposed on bags in which cement is imported from United States.

South African Wines—Duty of 25 per cent, to encourage trade.

Settlers' Effects—Clause substituted to prevent the importation of any machinery or plant under the guise of effects.

Machinery—Best sugarmachinery and machinery used in alluvial gold mining continued on free list for another year.

Molasses—To accommodate Newfoundland trade, molasses from British West Indies coming through Newfoundland will be admitted free as though coming direct.

Tariff Commission.

Members to be appointed from the Cabinet; meetings to be held in the large cities of Canada; probable revision a year hence on basis of maximum general tariff and minimum general tariff and a British preference.

The Surplus.

A surplus of $15,958,984 is announced—"the largest in the history of Canada"—was $16,500,000.

A surplus of $9,000,000 is estimated for the fiscal year, 1906-6.

Receipts and Expenditure.

For the fiscal year, 1903-4:

Revenue (estimate) $71,000,000

Revenue (actual) 70,450,000

Expenditure (estimate) 54,500,000

Expenditure (actual) 55,612,832

Increase 1,112,832

Capital expenditure (estimate) 11,500,000

Capital expenditure (actual) 11,248,711

For the fiscal year 1904-5:

Revenue (expected) 71,250,000

Increase of 600,000

Expenditure (consolidated fund account) 62,250,000

Increase of 6,637,168

Expenditure (capital account) 12,500,000

Net addition to debt 1,250,000

Estimates, 1905-6.

Expenditure (consolidated fund account) 11,889,898

Expenditure (capital) 16,689,472

Revenue 72,250,000

Largely Increased Expenditure.

"A gratifying increase" is reported in receipts from customs, excise and postal services; and a material decrease from Dominion lands. Due to decreased receipts from the Yukon.

The times have come when only a moderate increase in revenue, but a largely increased expenditure are to be expected. The Government is not afraid to spend wisely, believing it to be true economy.

Loans will continue maturing yearly until 1913; then a long period without any.

The Government will pay a bonus of 3-8 of one per cent. for the return from banks of foreign silver in exchange for Canadian currency. It is expected to benefit the country by increasing Canadian coinage.

Mr. Fielding's Conclusion.

In conclusion Mr. Fielding declared that the progress of Canada, day by day was a most hopeful character. Industrial concerns as a rule were in good shape, and as to the exceptions it would be necessary to enquire how far their trouble was caused by the tariff. From all parts of the country the reports as to the crops were more than usually favorable. With the immigration flowing into Canada, with the record of the past, there was reason to feel the utmost confidence in the future. As to immigration, as to whether there should not be greater discrimination, he had full confidence in the power of Canada and its institutions to assimilate these people of all nationalities. Nevertheless he appreciated the fact that we should be anxious to bring in a larger percentage of British immigrants.

Mr. Foster to the Front.

Mr. Foster, beginning his reply, went on to point out that for six or seven years there had been a steady increase of revenue, but this process was now ceasing and there was not very much to be hoped for on the present basis. The word of caution which had been uttered by the Minister of Finance in this respect deserved to be more than alluded to—it deserved to be translated into a principle by the Government from this very moment. As to the surplus, time was when the strong men of the Liberals questioned the right of any Government to have a surplus. The Minister of Finance had alluded to the surplus as magnificent. It was more than magnificent, it was accommodating. It might be viewed from three very different standpoints. If you leave out certain items, the surplus would be so much. If you charged to capital certain items which the Minister frankly admitted should not be charged, you would have another kind of surplus. If you did neither of these things you would have a third surplus. It had been said that unfriendly critics objected to any surplus being declared until all the expenditures of the Government were met. The Minister of Finance dissented from that view. Mr. Foster also dissented from that view, but only on condition that a strict and definite line should be drawn between capital expenditure and the expenditure out of the revenue for the year. If each were defined properly and adhered to it was possible to make a distinction. That was not done by the Government. The distinction between capital and consolidated revenue had been radically changed by the present Government so that now it was not possible to arrive clearly at either.

Not Chargeable to Capital.

Mr. Foster held that bounties should not be charged to capital account. If the Government undertook to build a railway the cost was an item chargeable to capital, but the moment it was built and in operation the capital account should be closed and the maintenance and betterment should come out of income, year by year, and be placed against the revenue of the road.

The Finance Minister had spoken of the saving of interest charges on the debt, and would have the House believe it had been brought about by the wonderful management of this wonderful Government. All things had contributed to this result. Other loans naturally went a higher rate. The rate had fallen now, and such was the condition of the money market that it was possible to take these loans up and substitute money borrowed at three and two and a half per cent.

More Juggling of Figures.

For 1904-1905 the consolidated revenue expenditure was estimated at $62,200,000, and the receipts at $71,200,000. This left about $9,000,000 which was claimed as a surplus. What would the surplus have been if the proper distinguishing line had been adhered to? There should be added to this estimated expenditure $12,500,000 of capital expenditure, including subsidies to railways and bounties to different industries. The surplus then would diminish to a deficit of $3,500,000, or when the sinking fund was taken out a deficit of $1,800,000.

The expenditure for the past year was greater by five million dollars than the preceding year, and the estimates showed an unexampled expenditure for the present year. The Finance Minister thought there should be no cause for alarm, but business men were using caution, and what business men used statesmen might well use also. It would have been well if the Government had considered reasonable economy in view of the state of the finances of the country and of future obligations.

"One trouble in all this is, I am afraid," said Mr. Foster, "that each department, now more than ever, is a law unto itself, each makes its own estimate, pushing on with a single eye to its own necessities and not taking into account the immense added expenditure which it is entailing upon the country."

As to the intercolonial.

But most startling of all was the defiant assertion of the Minister of Railways that he did not want to see the day when there could not be a deficit on the intercolonial. It was a railroad that ought to pay its expenses at least, but here was a Minister piling up de-

"As to the tariff, what shall I say?" he continued. "Is there a sound scheme which hon. gentlemen opposite have ever builded for themselves, in which they have installed their gods and said, 'There be our gods, Israel, and here we shall come and worship?'"

Mr. Foster then went on to point out that these one-time apostles of free trade had now arrived at a tariff that was the ne plus ultra of protectionism, plus bonuses and plus dumping machinery. Mr. Foster also pointed out that in 1896 the total expenditure was $3.14 per head, while to-day it was $13 per head per annum.

GOOD IDEA

Mayor Cowan Favors the Scheme for Doing Away With 2 Crossings at the Grand Trunk Crossing on Queen St.

"The idea to do away with the two crossings at the G. T. R. is a good one," said Mayor Cowan this morning, "and if the Grand Trunk would meet the city half way in making the necessary changes I am sure the Council would approve of it."

At the present time there are the Queen street and the William street crossings. Where the electric road crosses the tracks it will be exceedingly dangerous if things are left as they are at present—a high board fence surrounds the agent's house, shutting out the view until a car or a rig is right on the tracks. The two streets could be made to meet before they cross the tracks and have only one broad crossing, doing away with the house. It would greatly add to the appearance of the neighborhood and would be safer by far. This is the only method in which the G. T. R. will consent to the electric road crossing its line and it is, eminently, the most sensible one.

APOLOGISTS FOR "MERCERIZED COTTON"

In clothing claim that such fabrics wear as well as all all-wool of similar weight.

It is not true. They may wear as long, if the proportion of cotton is large, they may wear longer, a pair of cotton jeans trousers will probably outwear your all-wool, two to one. If you want mere durability, buy jeans.

But don't expect all-wool looks from cotton "mercerized" or any other. Whatever cotton your clothes contain will show; you won't need an expert to point it out to you after a month's wear.

You'll get out of your clothes just as much wear, and just the kind of wear, the maker puts into them, and no other.

We put all-wool and silk into ours; the label is the sign of it; a small thing to look for, a big thing to find.
