THE BRAVE AT HOME.

(By Thomas Buchanan Read.)

The maid who binds her warrior's sash
With smile that well her pain dissembles,
The while beneath her drooping lash
One starry tear-drop hangs and trembles,
Though heaven alone records the tear,
And Fame shall never know her story,
Her heart has shed a drop as dear
As e'er bedewed the field of glory.

The wife who girds her husband's sword,
Mid little ones who weep or wonder,
And bravely speaks the cheering word,
What though her heart be rent asunder,
Doomed nightly in her dreams to hear
The bolts of death around him rattle,
Has shed as sacred blood as e'er
Was poured upon the field of battle!

The mother who conceals her grief,
While to her breast her son she presses,
Then breathes a few brave words and brief,
Kissing the patriot brow she blesses,
With no one but her secret God
To know the pain that weighs upon her,
Sheds holy blood as e'er the sod
Received on Freedom's field of honor!

Corps of Guides

The Corps of Guides, a mounted combatant corps, was organized by Lord Dundonald in 1903, and is a staff organization, with headquarters at Ottawa, and is divided into nine detachments, one assigned to each territorial command.

The functions of the Corps of Guides are similar to those of the Army Intelligence Department of the Imperial Service, and the duties include the collection and compilation of all military statistics, and intelligence concerning the military division to which they belong. The officers of the corps are specially trained in various branches of the service, including military map drawing and topography, scouting and reconnaissance. An important duty of the corps is to provide expert information regarding the features of the country from a military standpoint, and its resources in horses, transport and supplies, and the means of communication by water, rail, road, telegraph, wireless, etc.

The detachment assigned to the Vancouver district consists of one officer and ten men, whose headquarters are on Seaton Street, Vancouver.

Lieut. C. Tweedale is in command of the local detachment and holds a record of nine years' service in the Civil Service Rifles, Saskatchewan Light Horse, and Corps of Guides. He holds certificates of Cavalry Captain, Infantry Lieutenant, and Equitation and Special Course in Military Map Drawing and Topography.

Seven of the ten Guides have gone forward and the detachment has again been recruited up to full strength.

The following guides have gone for foreign service:

Sergeant Robert McMahon.

Guide Corner.

Guide Tromce.

Guide Champion.

Guide Willeocks.

Guide Warrick.

Guide Paul.

Sergeant McMahon and Guides Paul, Corner and Champion have seen service in South Africa. Sergeant McMahon holds the King's and Queen's Medals and the Matabele War Medal. Guides Corner and Champion hold the King's and Queen's Medals, and Guide Paul the Queen's Medal.

D. C. O. R.'s leaving for the front, headed by their regimental band.

6th Duke of Connaught's Own Rifles

This regiment was organized in July, 1899, but actually dates back much further, since it can in reality claim direct descent from the first local militia corps established in British Columbia in Crown Colony days.

The first corps of militia raised on the Mainland of B. C. was the Seymour Artillery, about the year 1859. In 1878 the Seymour Artillery became No. 1 Battery of the B. C. Brigade of Garrison Artillery, No. 2 Battery being in Victoria. In July, 1899, the change occurred from artillery to infantry, and the 2nd Battalion of the Artillery changed their uniforms and training and became the 6th Battalion Rifles. In May, 1900, H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught accepted the Hon. Colonelcy of the regiment, which accordingly became the Duke of Connaught's Own Rifles.

The regiment contributed a considerable number of men when the call came, in 1899, for volunteers for service in South Africa, several of whom were killed and wounded in the action at Paardeburg. To the memory of those who fell in the South African field, a brass memorial tablet was placed on the wall of the drill hall on Cambie Street.

The Overseas Contingent which the D. C. O. R. has contributed to the Empire, in answer to call to arms in 1914, will maintain the record of the regiment and live up to the motto on its coat-of-arms, "Celer et Fortis."

The following officers and men formed the Overseas Contingent which left Vancouver on Wednesday, August 25th:

Major W. Hart McHarg, who saw much active service in South Africa, and holds the Queen's medal with four clasps. He was present at the famous actions at Paardeburg, Houts Nek and Dreifontein.

Captain and Adjutant S. D. Gardner.

Captains T. V. Scudamore, J. W. Warden, C. B. Worsnop, B. N. Humble.

Lieutenants O. F. Brothers, F. E. Buscombe, C. H. C. Gibson, M. O. Captain, R. F. Latta, R. A. Kendal, P. J. Bevan, G. H. Leslie, R. D. Hodgson, C. Parker, H. G. Anderson, H. H. Owen.

Quartermaster—Captain McMillan.

Chaplain—C. C. Owens, Hon. Major.

(Captain Warden was on active service in South Africa, and holds the Queen's medal with five clasps. Lieut. Brothers also saw considerable service in S. A.)

"God Speed"—the first troop-train leaving Vancouver, August 21st, 1914.

Army Service Corps

This necessary branch of the Service is represented in the Vancouver district by the 19th Company, Canadian Army Service Corps, which was organized April, 1912.

The Establishment consists of 106 officers and men and 86 horses. Headquarters situate on Seaton St., Vancouver.

The function of the Army Service Corps is to secure and distribute supplies to the troops, and this includes the purchase and killing of cattle and sheep for meat; the purchase and judging of hay, flour and all supplies; the transportation of supplies and of troops and horses. In the time of war the advance of an army must depend upon the efficiency and resourcefulness of its Service Corps, upon whom falls the work of providing means of transportation, supplies and stores.
