TALLY ANOTHER SCORE

The exclusive announcement in the Courier of Saturday that the Ontario Government would devote $10,000 for the further consideration of Grand River flood conditions, and the publication of a preliminary report by an engineer, naturally aroused not only general attention, but also great satisfaction.

The Grand is the most unruly of the many streams which overflow their banks in the Spring, and as it seems a very important industrial district between Galt and Danville, preventative measures are very properly to be first considered in its regard.

Mr. W. S. Brewster, M.P.P. and Mr. Westbrook, M.P., have both worked hard along with others, to bring this matter to a successful issue.

The four Conservative members of the four Brants certainly know how to look after the just interests and requests of their constituents.

A GOOD SHOWING.

The Ontario Bureau of Labor report just issued, gives statistics of the number of new buildings in the various municipalities and their cost during the year 1911. Brantford usually heads the list of the smaller cities in Ontario. Here is the record:

Municipality	No. of New Aggregations	Buildings Erected	Cost
Brantford	531	531	$613,864
Bellefleur	65	65	$300,000
Berlin	197	197	$64,692
Stratford	50	50	$100,000
Guelph	106	106	$13,699
Woodstock	20	20	$200,000
St. Catharines	134	134	$28,438
Kingston	52	52	$15,238
St. Thomas	146	146	$28,551

It will be noticed the only place to approach Brantford in total value was Guelph where they had heavy public building expenditures.

The real significance is in the number of permits.

Here is the standing—
Total for the eight other cities... 77
Total for Brantford alone... 53

The story thus told is that of the erection of a large number of new houses, many of them owned by the men of the factories.

There can be no better guarantee than this for the stability of any community.

A gentleman from the States interested in manufacturing after a recent tour of the city said to a Courier man: "Do you know that one of the biggest assets Brantford possesses is the number of pretty houses you have pointed out to me as owned by workers in the factories. If my concern had thoughts of putting a branch in Canada, that is one of the first things I would consider in favor of your city and I know that other employers of labor feel the same way. Your industrial board, if you have one, ought to push that feature for all it is worth, and it's worth a lot."

SOME MORGAN SAYINGS.

The late J. P. Morgan was not only a man of fabulous wealth but as the foundation of it all he had what was far more valuable — a straight, clean and honorable business career. Here are some of his pungent sayings:

"The control of credits is not the control of money."
"What I call money is the basis of banking."
"England comes nearer than any country in the world to having outstanding obligations supported dollar for dollar in gold. This country's trouble is with its greenbacks."
"Men who control credits control money. You cannot control money, but you can control business."
"If one man had the credit and I had the money, the man would be badly off."
"Money cannot buy character, but commercial credit is based principally on character."
"If a man is not satisfactory to me, I call his loan."
"I think stock manipulation is always bad."
"I favor the English system of full publicity and an absolutely correct prospectus of all concerns to be listed."
"When questioned as to the essentials of success the late financier

TALLY ANOTHER SCORE

The exclusive announcement in the Courier of Saturday that the Ontario Government would devote $10,000 for the further consideration of Grand River flood conditions, and the publication of a preliminary report by an engineer, naturally aroused not only general attention, but also great satisfaction.

The Grand is the most unruly of the many streams which overflow their banks in the Spring, and as it seems a very important industrial district between Galt and Dunnville, preventative measures are very properly to be first considered in its regard.

Mr. W. S. Brewster, M.P.P. and Mr. Westbrook, M.P., have both worked hard along with others, to bring this matter to a successful issue.

The four Conservative members of the four Brants certainly know how to look after the just interests and requests of their constituents.

A GOOD SHOWING.

The Ontario Bureau of Labor report just issued, gives statistics of the number of new buildings in the various municipalities and their cost during the year 1911. Brantford usual heads the list of the small cities in Ontario. Here is the record:-

Table with 3 columns: Municipality, Buildings, Cost. Brantford: 531 buildings, $613,886. Belleville: 65 buildings, $300,000. Berlin: 197 buildings, $364,600. Guelph: 106 buildings, $153,699. Woodstock: 20 buildings, $200,000. St. Catharines: 134 buildings, $280,435. Kingston: 52 buildings, $151,200. St. Thomas: 146 buildings, $265,500.

It will be noticed by the above approach Brantford in total value was Guelph where they had heavy public building expenditures.

The real significance is in the number of permits. Here is the standing:- Total for the eight other cities... Total for Brantford alone...

The story thus told is that of the erection of a large number of new houses, many of them owned by the men of the factories.

There can be no better guarantee than this for the stability of any community.

A gentleman from the States interested in manufacturing after a recent tour of the city said to a Courier man: "Do you know that one of the biggest assets Brantford possesses is the number of pretty houses you have pointed out to me as owned by workers in the factories. If my country had thought of putting a branch in Canada, that is one of the first things I would consider in favor of your city and I know that other employers of labor feel the same way. Your industrial border, if you have one, ought to push that feature first. It is worth, and it's worth a lot."

SOME MORGAN SAYINGS. The late J. P. Morgan was not only a man of fabulous wealth but as the foundation of it all he had what was far more valuable—a straight clean and honorable business career. Here are some of his pungent sayings:

"The control of credits is not the control of money."

"What I call money is the basis of banking."

"England comes nearer than any country in the world to having outstanding obligations supported by dollars in gold. This country's trouble is with its greenback."

"Men who control credits control money. You cannot control money, but you can control business."

"If one man had the credit and had the money, the man would be badly off."

"Money cannot buy character and commercial credit is based principally on character."

"If a man is not satisfactory to me, I call his loan."

"I think stock manipulation is ways bad."

"I favor the English system, full publicity and an absolutely correct prospectus of all concerns be listed."

"When questioned as to the sentiments of success the late financier said:-"

As for the Ottawa wind-jammers it is once more a case of "Gab, gab, gab," they still are talking.

Papers on the other side of the line have not been slow to interpret the language and the conduct of certain Grit obstructionists at Ottawa as an indication that Canadians are commencing to tire of British connection.

The Tariff

When questioned as to the essentials of success the late financier once wrote: "Foremost amongst these I should place honesty of purpose, energy, confident judgment, knowledge of men and values, and the ability to construct and harmonize, but above and beyond these is the man himself."

Remarkable Runaway In City on Sunday

Team of Horses Crossed Bridge in a Jump, But Finally Fell Dangling Above River.

Two horses belonging to Liveryman Brown of Dundas, that at some stage of their life must have been used on horse-cars, got away yesterday for a lively run. The horses, attached to a two-seated surrey, got away from the gents who were driving, in the vicinity of the Clarence St. subway, and after breaking all records for the distance between the subway and Colborne St. Station, started along the tracks; these they kept to in a wonderful manner, crossing the railway bridge over the canal at a fast clip and on top the straws, falling several times, but each time managing to get up and get away again. They reached Lorne Bridge and easily crossed the old span, but when they reached the new G. T. R. span on which the ties are much farther apart, they were caught and the horses, going through Chief Lewis, with three men were called out and, after fastening

Laid at Rest

Great Tribute of Respect Paid to Late Mr. Pitcher This Afternoon.

The funeral of the late John P. Pitcher took place this afternoon, when his remains were conveyed from the family residence, 170 William street, and tenderly laid at rest in Mount Hope Cemetery. The funeral was very largely attended as a last memory of one who was beloved by a host of friends and his fellow-citizens, and as the cortege left the family residence, conveying all that was mortal of the deceased, many sad and aching hearts throbbed in sympathy for the sorrowing and bereaved family.

A beautiful and impressive memorial service was held at the family residence, conducted by Rev. A. E. Lavell, pastor of the Brant Avenue Methodist Church, of which church the deceased had been a devoted member for years. The Rev. Mr. Lavell also officiated at the solemn burial services for the dead at the grave, and all that was mortal of the deceased was lowered to its last resting place.

a large log along the top railway of the bridge around which a rope was fastened and the horses, managed to pull the team up and getting them across alright. The horses were taken to the barns opposite the Kerby, and when seen this morning by The Courier representative, were in a pretty bad condition; their legs and bodies were badly skinned. No bones were broken, however in the mad dash for liberty. Chief Lewis when seen re the runaway, stated it was one of the most peculiar runaways he had ever heard of; he did not see how they could keep to the track so accurately and cross the bridges they did without breaking their legs. The rig was broken up quite badly, but the horses will be back to Dundas this morning.

It is said that a man named Norton had gone to the stable here, except by the owner.

Dragon Band.

At a recent meeting of the Band Committee of the 25th Brant Dragoons it was unanimously decided to take a deeper interest in the affairs of the band. The musical organization is steadily improving. The committee feel pleased to know that the band is under the charge of such an educated musician as Lieut. J. H. Pearce, Mus. Doc., Dr. Pearce is one of the best musicians in Canada, there being only twelve other musicians holding the degree of Doctor of Music in this country. The winter's instruction is now evident. The technique and expression is especially marked. The Dragoon officers are determined to have a band second to none in Canada and the Band Committee has decided to start an Endowment Fund. Trust deed is being prepared and the income from the Endowment Fund will be used along towards the yearly expenses of the band, while the fund itself will be kept as a permanent asset, thus making the future of the band certain. Lieut.-Col. Muir, the commanding Officer, has donated to the Band committee the sum of $300 towards this fund. The aggressive course pursued by Lieut. R. T. Hall, chairman of the committee, during the past year is bearing gratifying results. The musical organization will soon have a reputation local and provincial.

Tom Longboat is Shap

He Will Give Italian Good day Night—Jack Dennis Here—Willie Kolemian

By Lou E. Marsh It begins to look as if Tom Longboat, the wonderful Inuit runner, had at last fallen wise to himself that he will now take his training seriously.

Last season when he wandered hither and thither at his own will and trained haphazardly, he a number of sound trouncings, culmination of which was his defeat by a hitherto almost unknown Inuit runner, Maurio Visconte, at beat him at Riverdale Rink in tail end of a 15 mile race simply cause the Indian was not in shape to get the distance.

That last defeat galled the Inuit into action and since then he has been quickly training and preparing for the 1913 campaign. He is now in better shape than he ever to get down to real hard campaigning. He won his opening race at York, March 13, when he ran little Italian into the ground in miles, and he will repeat, so he when he meets the Italian here Toronto in Riverdale Rink, Wednesday night.

At that the outcome is by no means sure, for the little bootblack quip when he beat the Indian in December, and steady training has given him lots of speed, especially on an indoor track with corners like Riverdale arena, where his short stature and light weight are factors greatly in his favor. He runs the long legged lathy skin.

Longboat has made one mistake this race—he has done all his training out of doors for an indoor.

A Fine Plan If the Italian wins this race he goes back to Italy and campaign country. He is only to years of age.

"I go back Italy and say I am a runner," he said one day. "I know-a Longboat, because hees Dorando and beat him in New York and Buffalo. I beat him. I to Dorando's place. I like-a to Longboat over there and run-a Big crowd come-a to see him. They not know-a what Indians like-a there. Me beat-a Longboat make one big-a fortune."

All of which sounds pretty fine. The Indian's next big race is 4 in New York, when the out season opens with Longboat and Willie Kolemian, the Finn.

To say that a protest in this column against one bowling club securing against one bowling club securing land from the city gratis, and other clubs being forced to buy their's at great expense in addition to paying taxes thereon and to say that a protest against the boys being thrown out into the street, was unjust, uncalled for and not in accord with the facts, may sound alright from an official of the bowling club in question at a merry social gathering where enclosures are frequent, but from the standpoint of civic business or experience it does not even look good.

AMERICANS BETTER FED IN YOUTH THAN ENGLISHMEN

So Declares Writer Who Says He Has Studied Question of Different Methods of Training in the Two Countries.

LONDON, April 7.—The fact that Bombardier Wells was knocked out in America by a little-known man in two rounds and that our middleweight champion was treated in a similar fashion by another American on Monday at the National Sporting club is disheartening, to say the least.

There must be a reason for these successes of Americans over Englishmen and I think I know what it is in two words—physical fitness. I lived in America for a number of years and have always taken the greatest interest in boxing, athletics and physical culture. I have always wondered at the average strength and vigor of the American boxers as compared with our own men, and am forced to the conclusion that the American pugilist is superior to the Englishman in that most essential quality which in older days was called "hotness." Usually speaking, Americans have more of this in them than our men have. We have a few, such as Owen Moran, who have as much stamina as any of their American competitors, but only a few.

The English boxer is a plucky as any and generally he is the superior boxer. He is inclined to be too reckless in his boxing, in fact, and find himself being outboxed against an inferior pugilist takes risks which his staying power may not warrant. There have been too many examples of this in the late for any thinking man to dispute it. In meeting the average American he is taking on a more rugged tuff than himself, one who is used to the wear and tear of fighting, and who can stand the pace better.

I think I know the reason for this and if my conclusions are correct, they should make English parents pause and think. The reason why the American is more rugged than the Englishman on the average is because he is a better nurtured child. From tea and milk and the popular beverage that the Englishman drinks, the constitution was the envy of the world. He was always pictured as a sturdy, strongly built, and vigorous man, full of resistance and capable of holding his own against any former. Delectable and enjoyable as tea is to an adult, it is nothing less than a destroyer of vitality when given to a child.

Common sense should tell one that that it is debilitating, yet in this country it is the common practice to give it to infants in arms. Is it any wonder, then, that children grow to manhood constitutionally weakened? The wonder is that they mature at all.

Many heads of families in America would consider it almost criminal to give a child tea or coffee regularly. Water and milk and the American child's drinks and plenty of both. The diet of the American child is better meals is thickly buttered wholesome bread with fruit. Water is nature's drink, and when one recalls that water-drinking people—such as Bulgarians, Turks, Montenegrins, Greeks and Japs—are the hardest on the earth, it will be seen why Americans, who are great water drinkers, are favored with more ruggedness than Englishmen.

Better Fed in Youth.

The American child, too, is much better fed than our own. The foundations of the vitality possessed by Papke, Klaus, Falzer, Smith, Harry Lewis and many other American fighters, who have proved stumbling blocks to our champions, was laid in their infancy and youth. You can not expect vigorous manhood without putting it into the child, and as the majority of our boxers come from a class where the knowledge of proper feeding is negligible, it is not to be wondered at that they are vanquished by those better cared for in their youth, even though the victor is a less expert boxer, as is the case with the Americans.

There is another disparity between boxing conditions in the two countries which makes a harder fighter of the American in England. It is no disgrace to "retire" from a contest, leaving the other man the winner. Since coming home I have witnessed some pitiable spectacles of this. In America the man who surrenders is called a "quitter." Anathema is heaped on his head, and so strong is the feeling against "quitting" that a man, even if he is a coward, is more afraid to "quit" than to finish a fight. It is drummed into him that he must win or lose, do his best and he does so. No boxer who has a reputation for being a "quitter" can hope for matches in America. The public would not go to see him, and no promoter has the temerity to defy public opinion on the point.

These are the two greatest differences and while they exist the American will always be the ring fighter of the Anglo-Saxon race.

meetings on the Canadian circuit. J. P. Pearson was unable to make the trip to Lexington this week, as he anticipated in search of a green trotter and now that the Canadian circuit have been closed, the idea has been abandoned for the present.

The well known bookmaker, Ed. Le Bar, formerly of Belleville, was a visitor in Toronto Saturday. He is now located at the Canadian Soo, where he has opened a public training stable for harness horses. George Powell, Jr., formerly of Orillia, will do the teaming for the stable, at which he is most competent.

James Noble, Sr., has been engaged as track superintendent at Duferin Park until after the June meeting of the Duferin Driving Club.

The advance guard for the meeting arrived on Thursday, when W. A. Pollock came in from the Canadian Soo with a green pacer for the 2.30 class stake. He is located at the west side course.

The veteran driver Dan McEwen, has a large string of both trotters and pacers in training at the Fair Grounds track in London in preparation for the seasons campaign.

Billy Hodson, the well known Montreal reinsman, has opened a public stable at the Roadville, Mass. track. He has at present four head in training.

This Girl Gets $20,000 a Year For Expenses.

NEW YORK, April 5.—An allowance of $20,000 a year for the support and maintenance of a girl of sixteen who has a sensible mother is not too much, according to a report of William Rand, Jr., as referee, which was filed in the supreme court to-day. This sum is allowed to Mrs. Bessie McLeod Leggett, widow of Francis H. Leggett, late head of the grocery firm of Francis H. Leggett & Co., as guardian of her daughter, Francis, who inherited the bulk of her father's estate.

Mr. Rand was appointed not only to determine the yearly allowance to Miss Leggett but the amount to be repaid to her mother for expenditures in behalf of her daughter during the last three years. The estate left in trust to her daughter now consists of $337,000 in real estate, and $150,330 in the personal property, which yields an income of $86,273 a year.

In his report the referee said that Miss Leggett is living in a large residence in Berkeley Square, London which was provided for her by her father before his death, and is occupied by her mother and aunt. The expenditures for maintaining the establishment amount to $30,000 a year, and the referee believes that the young woman should pay one third of the cost because it is maintained chiefly for her. The referee said that teachers, doctors, dentists, clothing, horses, autos, and servants for the daughter have cost $14,000 a year for the last three years, and for this reason makes an allowance of $4,000 for moneys expended by the mother in her daughter's behalf during that period.

Was Mother of Warriors

Mrs. Stephen Cara Receives Sad News From the Old Land.

The sad intelligence was received last week from London England by Mrs. Stephen Cara, 170 Sheridan St., in the death of her mother, which reads as follows:—

"By the death of Mrs. Matilda Reid, which took place at 11 Berkeley Gardens, Church Street, Kensington, on the 5th of March, Staff Sergeant R. Reid, of the Veterans' Company, Kensington, Battalion, National Reserve, has lost a devoted wife and the Empire a true British mother of that good old-fashioned type of womanhood who believed it to be the British mother's duty to train her children to fear God and honor the King, and serve their country."

SH! LADIES! SECRET TO DARKEN

FADED GRAY HAIR—USE SAGE TEA.

Sage Mixed With Sulphur Restores Natural Color and Lustre to Hair.

Why suffer the handicap of looking old. Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance.

Your hair is your charm. It frames or masks the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy, and scraggly just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur restores its appearance a hundred fold.

Either prepare the tonic at home or get from any drug store a small bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," ready to use; but listen, avoid preparations put up by druggists as they usually use too much sulphur, which makes the hair sticky. Get "Wyeth's" which can always be depended upon to darken beautifully, and is the best thing that is known to remove dandruff, stop itching scalp and falling hair.

By using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair. It does it so naturally and evenly—you moisten a sponge or soft brush, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time, which requires but a few moments. Do this at night and by morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two its natural color is restored and it becomes glossy and lustrous and you appear years younger.

Mrs. Reid was the oldest daughter of the second family, of the late Mr. Hugh Runsheath, for many years the head sanitary inspector of Newry, County Down, Ireland.

The remarkable circumstance in Mrs. Reid's life was that both her young sisters followed her to the Bedfordshire regiment and the whole five of her daughters have been married into the Army and Navy. The three sisters in the Bedfordshire regiment were married to fifteen non-commissioned officers representing England, Ireland and Scotland, and Mrs. Reid's five sons-in-law also represent the United Kingdom, there being three Englishmen, one Irishman and one Scotchman.

Perhaps there was no woman in Lexington suffered more during the last days of the siege of the city, for she had to stifle her own terrible feelings of anxiety for her eldest son, serving on the Maxim battery in Mafeking, to cheer her daughters whose husbands were serving with the Composite Regiment of Household Cavalry.

Before the funeral started from Berkeley Gardens, the Rev. Mr. Davis, of St. George's church, held a short but impressive service in the Death Chamber at which the whole of her family were present.

The carriage in the first carriage were: Staff-Serjt. R. Reid and his eldest daughter, Mrs. Cheyning, late of the Royal Horse Artillery, his oldest son, Serjt.-Major Hugh Douglas Reid, N.R., Hammersmith, and next oldest daughter, Mrs. Dunlop, late of the Royal Horse Artillery; Mr. R. Reid, Jr., and his twin-sister, Mrs. Bradley, wife of P. O. Bradley, of H.M.S. "Princess Royal."

In the second carriage were Mrs. Hugh Douglas Reid, daughter-in-law; 1st Class Petty Officer A. Bradley, Royal Navy, son-in-law; Col. Serjt. J. Bishop, late of the Bedfordshire Regiment (brother-in-law); and Mrs. E. Holing, cousin.

On the coffin were six beautiful wreaths from her sorrowing husband, widens and sisters.

The funeral arrangements were carried out by W. S. Bond, undertaker, Shepherd's Bush Green.

All the Tired Nervous Women

CAN FIND A CURE IN DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Madame Perreault Tells How She Cured Her Kidneys With Dodd's Kidney Pills, and Found Health and Contentment.

VERNER, Ont., Apr. 6 (Special)—"I am very content. Dodd's Kidney Pills have made me well."

These are the words of Madame ugene Perreault, a highly respected lady of this place, and mother of a large family. For twenty years she has been a sufferer. But let her tell her own story.

"I was always tired and nervous," she states. "I felt heavy and sleepy after meals. My limbs were heavy, and I had a dragging sensation across my loins. My skin itched and burned at night. I had a bitter taste in my mouth, especially in the morning. In twenty years I hardly knew what it was to have a well moment. Then I commenced to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Six boxes cured me."

Madame Perreault's symptoms were those of kidney disease. They are the symptoms of nine out of ten of the nervous, rundown, pain-racked women of Canada. Madame Perreault found a speedy and complete cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills. They simply cured her kidneys.

Pirates

By WALT MASON

Some pirates are found on the ships; they hold up the tourists for tips; extending a hand from the time they leave land till the passengers go with their grips. Some pirates are in the hotels, responding to tinkling of bells; they touch you for plunks for manhandling your trunks, for showing guests up to their cells. A pirate's in charge of the lift; his motions are eager and swift of you hand him two bits; if you don't he'll throw fits, and upward will sullenly drift. A pirate's at hand when you eat, and if you don't tip and repeat, he'll see that your tea is as sour as can be, and make sure that your vinegar's sweet. Train pirates for victims await, and if you would travel in state, you'll dig up your purse (with a low, smothered curse) and shell out the pieces of eight. Alas! We are such easy marks! In taverns, on railways, in barks, we stand for it all, with our backs to the wall, and hand out our coin to the sharks. Some day we must rise in our might, and for our pallidiums fight; we must cleave to the lips this foul monster of tips, and put all the pirates to flight.

When You Have a Pipe Dream, Why not Have a Large Sized One?

Announcement About Street Railway Double Tracking Was Joke Sure and Simple—No New Agreement is Planned By City.

The smile of a civic official who loves a joke, and a glib reporter of the Expositor who couldn't see one—this combination was responsible on Saturday for a screaming announcement by the Expositor that the Brantford street railway was to be double-tracked, and that a new agreement was to be entered into between the city and the company. "The most absurd tommyrot ever printed," said a member of the City Council this morning. "Whenever you see a double-track story, discount it one hundred per cent, or even more until the taxes are paid. Do the same with any story about a new civic agreement, because this city has surely had enough agreements with the street railway and has been buncoed enough in the last six years to make everybody ashamed of himself." But the story of the Expositor announcement Saturday! A certain civic official who likes to dream of the impossible, but who had no idea that a glib reporter was in the dream business, smilingly announced that a network of double tracks of which this city had never dreamed was about to be constructed by the street railway. The joke of the story is that it comes at a time when the bondholders will feel lucky if they can get out from under the impending crash by even saving a remnant of their investment. The Expositor's guess department, however, announced that the bondholders would reconstruct the railway. The point that there are first mortgage bondholders, second mortgage bondholders, and bondholders galore is being saved a remnant of their investment. Floods Along the St. Lawrence River—The picture shows boats being used in the streets of Montreal. The ice jam which caused the high water broke on Tuesday, and the flood water immediately began to recede.

What the Other Fellow Thinks.

Canada's Prosperity

Montreal Witness (Liberal)—Commercial prosperity seems to follow Mr. Borden's stately lead as faithfully as it did the white plume of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. As our trade increased by leaps and bounds during Sir Wilfrid's long term, so it is continuing to increase, and Canada never had such a year as the last. A revenue increased by thirty-five millions has left a treasury running over against the Government's many undertakings for expenditure. If investors abroad needed assurance of Canada's prosperity, these figures would seem to supply it.

Hydro-Electric Scores Again

Stratford Herald—The Owen Sound town council has found that electricity produced by its municipal steam power plant costs all of $1.66 per horse-power. The offer of H.V.O. Electric power produced at Eugenia Falls at $31 per h.p. for 800 h.p. is therefore no small attraction to the northern town.

A Comparison

Woodstock Sentinel Review—A writer in an esteemed contemporary regrets that there is a falling off in the matter of real ability in the Canadian Parliament of to-day as compared with the past. Other writers deny that there is any ground for such regret and declare that in point of ability the Parliament of to-day has nothing to fear from a comparison with the past. It was the opinion of the late Sir Richard Cartwright that the advantage was with the older Parliaments. He admitted that in one respect the later Parliaments were better: There was less intemperance.

NOTABLE DAY AT COLBORNE

Silver Anniversary Services Were Greatly Enjoyed. Former Pastors Present.

The three services at Colborne St. Church yesterday were not only very interesting and instructive but were especially well attended on the occasion of the silver anniversary. The church was prettily decorated throughout with various kinds of flowers, and silver lettering, etc. At the morning service the Rev. Mr. Cooley, an ex-preacher at Colborne street, and at the present time president of the Hamilton Conference, officiated. On the platform with him were Rev. Hobbs, Woodsworth, also former pastors of the church. Mr. Cooley used as a central thought of his address "Zion," referring to Zion as the sacred city used to-day as the symbol of the city of God in every country; Zion, a term full of high hope and fervent respect for men who had grown up in deep respect for God. "Great cities have sometimes to thank men for their greatness," stated Mr. Cooley. "The little town Avon claimed Wm. Shakespear as a resident; the little town Epworth claimed John Wesley as a resident; 'Zion,' continued Mr. Cooley, 'is simply to these, in that it is the symbol of all great men in whose veins flow the blood of immortality and divine love. The highest gift in the world, stated Mr. Cooley, 'is the gift of men who are the world as true Christians or believers in Zion.'"

Mrs. Leeming sang a solo in a very pleasing manner; the choir rendered "Jerusalem my glorious home" which was very much appreciated.

Afternoon Session
The Sabbath school session was an open one, at which a large number of the congregation were present, bringing the total attendance up to six hundred and forty-two. The school room was daintily decorated with white bunting and silver paper effects were draped throughout. Rev. Mr. W. J. Smith of Hamilton, the former pastor who was always so popular with the young people, spoke basing his remarks on who speak shall be made strong." Immediately preceding his address, he was presented with a large bouquet of roses by a member of the Cradle Roll. Mr. J. M. Young, assistant-superintendent, presented the school with a large picture of the officers and teachers of the Sunday school.

Mrs. Leeming spoke most delighted those present with a solo. Evening Service
Following the "Hallelujah Chorus" which was rendered in excellent style by the choir, Rev. Mr. Woodsworth gave an interesting address, stating many interesting facts relating to the beginning of the church's opening. "This church opened on April 1st, 1888. At that time the outlook was far from bright, stated Mr. Woodsworth. "In 1888 the membership was three hundred and six. Today I'm told the membership is over seven hundred," stated the speaker. "During those twenty-five years this church has contributed to foreign missions alone upwards of $32,000; This is indeed a very enviable record and," said Mr. Woodsworth, "I earnestly hope and pray that these remarkable advances may still go on, as I have every reason to believe they will."

Rev. Mr. Hobbs
The Rev. Mr. Hobbs followed with a few remarks, using as a subject two questions which he stated must be answered by the Christian. The first of these was: "Who art the Lord." In answering this, Mr. Hobbs said "he did not believe that a great many of professing Christians were scientifically acquainted with the Lord. I'm about sick and tired," said Mr. Hobbs, "of hearing these people saying that they are trying to be obedient to the Lord." The second question he had was "Lord, what will Thou have me to do?" "I've come to the conclusion," stated the speaker, "that there is too much of 'haphazard' in our religion of to-day." In closing, Rev. Mr. Hobbs said, in addressing Rev. Mr. Holling, "I envy you this charge. I wish I could come back to it again with the experience I have obtained since I left here some years ago."

Following the address of Rev. Mr. Hobbs, Mrs. Leeming rendered by request, "Ninety and Nine." This was especially well rendered.

New Members

One of the especially noticeable features of the day's service was the receiving of fifty-five new members into the church at the morning service, including ten young men from the S. P. I. class of the Sunday school.

While no special canvass was made for the thank offering of $700, there was a very liberal response, and with the contributions still to come, it is expected that the amount will be about $800.

Queer Antics of Old Horse

At the central fire hall there is an old horse by the name of "Doc" who has just had a unique experience. "Doc" developed a pronounced case of what is known among horse-men as "cribbing." There was an iron feed box in his stall, which "Doc" could not resist endeavoring to chew up. Night or day, the horse would be found struggling away until results began to get serious.

In order to break him of the habit the firemen charged the feed box with electricity, and watched results. Although the "shock" knocked old "Doc" sprawling out of his stall, breaking a heavy chain with which he was tied, back he came for more feed box and more electricity. Although the horse knew it hurt him, he wouldn't resist. The result was that he had to be placed in another stall where there was absolutely nothing he could get hold of, and "Doc" is now well. His new stall is a sort of prison cell, as it were.

There is more concern in this section of the country than at other districts put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a good many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed legal remedies, by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally, it does from 10 drops to a tea-spoonful.
