Doors so equipped can't be slammed or left open, the action is quick, firm and noiseless.

A door check is now a necessity rather than a luxury on most outside and many inside doors; its field of usefulness is constantly increasing.
The only successful door checks are those of the liquid type, and the Blount, since its introduction more than ten

Sunshine After the Storm.

CHAPTER IV.

Love's Sweet and Bitter.

"But how much more chatty and delightful little tables scattered about would have been. On these little tables she could have placed the fruit and cake and ices, and the tea and coffee should have been carried round; and there ought to have been plenty of garden-chairs, placed in pairs, each pair out of ear-shot of the other. I know what it is to be one of four or six on the same seat. However, all things considered, lawn tennis is not more objectionable than many of the other entertainments which help to make life miserable."

Mrs. Sheppard did not answer, and Ambrosia turned and looked inquisitive at her.

"I am so ill or very unhappy, Clara. I have suspected one or the other for several days. I think you ought to tell me if anything is vexing or paining you."

"I am so afraid of the servants finding out things. Here we can talk and they cannot come unsuspected within hearing. Amber, I am in great trouble. I have been miserable for three weeks."

"Is it my father? I have noticed that he has been most unreasonable—quite unlike himself."

"That is true, Amber. Robert's fears are being sadly realized. Your father will never more go to Wall Street. I have persuaded him to buy the Mayberry farm. He was born on it. It will soon be all we shall have."

"What do you mean, Clara? Father's business—"

"He left it in Tom's charge. Tom is not your father. Tom seems to have no idea of right and wrong. I cannot get a cent of money from him. At first he was full of excuses, now he does not even answer my letters."

"How can Tom be so wicked? Father ought not to have trusted Tom with money. He must have thought all this stranger would have better."

"Your father broke down in a moment, Amber. He had no time for planning or preparation. Naturally, he turned to Tom. He had a right to expect more from him than from a stranger."

"But Tom conjugates the whole world by the letter 'I,' and you knew this, Clara!"

"But when the thing is done, it is too late to say what ought to be done. Your father's business career is over."

"What are we to do?"

"I can manage a farm. I was brought up on one. You are happily provided for. This knowledge makes the rest more endurable."

"You mean that I will marry Robert soon?"

"Yes. He loves you and you love him."

"Marry is an important and final thing. It ought not to be done in a hurry."

"Amber, do not fritter away so much love and happiness. How could you live on Mayberry farm and do hard work and be compelled to count every cent and to be anxious about simple food and clothing?"

THE NEW INTERNATIONAL ENCYCLOPEDIA SAYS

Cod Liver Oil is one of the most valuable therapeutic agents, that the benefit derived from it in diseases associated with loss of flesh cannot be over-estimated. It is given in TUBERCULOSIS, in RICKETS, in CHRONIC ECZEMA, in many NERVOUS DISEASES and in GENERAL FEEBLENESS.

Scott's Emulsion

is the world's standard preparation of Cod Liver Oil; it contains no alcohol, no drug, or harmful ingredient whatever. It is the original and only preparation of Cod Liver Oil recommended by physicians the world over.

Be sure to get SCOTT'S, known the world over by the mark of quality—The Fisherman.

ALL DRUGGISTS

"Hush! Here comes Will! Good morning, sir. Where have you been so early? Are you not afraid of the heat?"

"Sunshine is life to me, and I have been to the Dutch gardener for some flowers."

"For which you paid twice as much as they were worth."

"Perhaps I did, for—"

"In matters of commerce, the fact of the matter is giving too little and asking too much. Not their fault alone. Earth gets a price for all it gives us. We bargain even for the graves we must lie in."

"It is heaven alone that is given away. 'Tis only God may be had for the asking."

Mrs. Sheppard smiled sympathetically and then rose and returned to the house.

Ambrosia sat still. Her eyes were cast down; there was the shadow of trouble in them. She almost feared Will's clear gaze; he was harder to deceive than his brother Robert.

"I have just heard that my father is not likely to recover his former self. I am very unhappy, Will. And so many men like father—men in the prime of life—come home some day from Wall Street and never go back again. There was Captain James and Mr. Brookes and a dozen more, that in my short life I remember."

"Yes, I think the Share List represents as many tears, as much orphanage, as much widowhood, starvation and misery, as much savagery because deliberate cruelty as all the riot and rapine of the Dark Ages. Robert told me of your father's condition. I am very sorry. It is pitiful when sorrow is all."

Will spoke with a stern gravity, and there was a few moments' silence. Then Amber asked:

"Are you going to the Smiths' this afternoon?"

"No. I am going to Burton's orchard. There is a certain Mrs. Oriole who is living there, and her daughters are to make their debut this afternoon. I promised her to come and see their first attempt at flying. Annie and Jean Smith and Sarah and Floy Round floating about after a ball are not grateful objects, but Mrs. and the Miss Orioles, darting through the cherry trees, are among the things of beauty that are joys forever."

"Will, do be honest. You know it is because you cannot go to Mrs. Smith's without the proper toilet that you prefer the society of the Oriole. You like to go where you can dress in your own way?"

"There is truth in that. I can dress myself always, Amber, without waiting for orders from Paris."

"Where is Robert this morning?"

"He went hurriedly to New York last night. You know he cannot stay away long from you. He had a consultation—not with doctors—but with Italian fresco painters. He is having the house made beautiful for your reception, Amber."

"He did not tell me so."

"Then, when he explains his late frequent absences, do be as surprised and pleased as possible. Oh, Amber! How happy we shall all be! What a fortunate man Robert is! Also, how fortunate I am! I have longed so much for a sister. You and I will be great friends. We always have been great friends. You seemed to take to me, and to trust in me, from the first?"

She looked straight at him with sweet and evident confidence. Then she laid her hands in his, and said:

"Always friends, Will. Faithful brother and sister. And if anything ever goes wrong—any cross word—any little trouble between Robert and myself, you will stand by me and help to make every one happy again?"

"I will stand by you, always."

"Right or wrong?"

"There is no wrong in the question. You could not do anything wrong."

His clear eyes were misty with feeling, and Ambrosia instantly detected the presence of something that might become sentiment. She laughed lightly and stood up, saying:

"It is very warm, indeed. Let us go into the house."

"All right, Amber, supposing I were you, I think I should be less exacting with Robert. He does so earnestly try to please you."

"Supposing you were I, Will, you would not do precisely as I do?"

"You have asked me a very puzzling question, Amber. If I could answer it, how wise I would be! Have you ever studied metaphysics?"

"Certainly not. The man is enough. There was a class at Miss Dean's school that took up the intellectual powers' and I was in it. It was all Greek to me. Last winter, Mrs. Sheppard persuaded me to go to a course of lectures. They had a very learned name—I have forgotten what, and I went. Well, Will, I heard so much about the unknown and the unknowable, the verities and the eternities, that I began to say: 'If I be Amber Sheppard, as I suppose I be, and the Mother-Goose rhyme seemed just as profound.' Then suddenly all the mythical scorn went out of her face, and she said with a marked solemnity: 'After six weeks of it, I will tell you what I did one morning. I went softly into an open church and threw myself at the feet of the Holy Crucified One.'

"My dear Amber! How glad I am to hear you say this!"

"Humanity, progress and the unknown may be grand ideals; but I want a heart—a divine heart—to pity my weakness and to love me through all my folly. When do you expect Robert?"

"By the two o'clock train. Yet he may be later. Do you know, Amber, he was quite jealous of that tall, good-looking youth who was so assiduous in waiting on you last Friday night?"

Ambrosia laughed scornfully.

"Jealous of Will Strong? Will is only a ball-player. His vision never takes in anything larger than a ball. Will was born into this world to pitch a ball, and he sees no other beauty or duty. I hope Robert will find himself a more respectable rival. I hope he will refrain himself from being jealous of all. I take it as an offense. I like to be trusted. I shall expect a husband to trust me even against his seven senses. Has a man seven senses?"

"Has a woman?"

"She has perhaps some that men have lost, or at least she has intimations of them. Will you come into lunch?"

"No, thank you. I shall go back to the hotel and wait for Robert."

He smiled a farewell, and went out into the lonely country road. He was the only figure in sight, and Ambrosia felt there was a kind of pathos in the long, empty fields; they had a weary look, as if their own sameness oppressed them. It was as a fleeting and not very accurate impression; for though there is doubtless no speech or language where Nature's voice is not heard, yet the understanding thereof is a far less general thing. Ambrosia had few sympathies with Nature; she did not even care to understand her. If Will had not been a rich man, she would have regarded his communion with her as a waste of time.

She went into the house, lifting at the threshold a heavy weight of anxiety. Mr. Sheppard was downstairs talking hopefully of the new life which was his only prospect. He was going to ride over to the Mayberry farm, and he was full of plans for the improvement of the place.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

An 'I'll have tomatoes and cucumbers and lettuce in the bed behind the barn and some beans in the one, and Bennis Martin is going to help me weed on shares, an' I just know I can sell everything down to the provision store cause the storeman bought Billy Loomis' father's vegetables last summer and said he wished he had more - an' an' - I'm going to save the dollar granddama gave me Christmas for seeds and all the money I set doing errands, and mamma, please, please can't I have this spring rag money. With this final breathless query Phillip, who had been teetering frantically back and forth from one foot to another in front of his mother, flung himself into a chair beside her and gazed up at her with an eagerness that it seemed to me must draw consent from a heart of stone. Evidently there is some substance harder than stone for this was what Phillip got for an answer: "No, you can't, Phillip, not for any such nonsense. I know just what it would mean. You'd have a whole lot of dirty boys around here tracking in dirt and losing all our garden tools and then you'd get tired of it and you'd forget all about weeding and it wouldn't come to anything at all. You help your father with the flower beds and I guess that's all the gardening you'll want. And now you go right out and wipe your feet. You've tracked in a lot of snow." Were you ever all at once conscious of a cloud passing over the sun on a beautiful bright day by the sudden wiping out of the sunlight in the room or the landscape? Well, that's just the way the beautiful light of enthusiasm that had been shining in Phillip's eager little face went out - just as if it had been suddenly blotted out. "I should think that Phillip's mother would have wanted to cry when she saw it. But she didn't show the slightest sign of my such desire. Instead she turned to me and remarked impatiently: "I never saw such a boy for crazy schemes. Half a dozen times a day I have to nip some such foolishness in the bud."

In Every Home

There is sure to come physical suffering at times - suffering hard to bear - suffering which will be followed by serious sickness, if the first symptoms are neglected.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

ought to be on hand in every home ready for use at first sign of trouble. This famous family remedy has proved in years and years of trial, its power to correct physical trouble and to ward off disease.

Relieve Suffering

Your druggist can supply you in boxes with helpful directions, 25c. wash it with a clean flannel wet in turpentine, and rub lightly afterward with linseed oil.

To remove rust from kettles fill them with hay, packed tightly, fill in with boiling water and let boil for several hours.

If six to ten drops of spirits of camphor are taken on a lump of sugar when starts a bad cold may be averted.

The darkest stain on a mirror or window pane can generally be rubbed by rubbing with a flannel wet in spirits of camphor.

Figs and dates chopped with dried apples make a delicious combination for a salad with mayonnaise. Serve on lettuce leaves.

When serving poached eggs instead of the usual slice of toast place the eggs on rounds of bread cut thin and sauted in butter.

The juice of stewed cranberries with the addition of lemon and sugar, to taste, makes a delicious drink, diluted with cold water.

Paint the inside woodwork of bedsteads with corrosive sublimate and turpentine; five cents worth of the former to a pint of the latter.

Brite-abrac should be carefully dusted before being washed in hot borax water or soapsuds in which a little ammonia has been dissolved.

Cover plaster of paris figures with a thick coating of starch and water; let it dry on the surface, and the dirt will brush off with the powder.

Most modern brassware is lacquered and needs only to be wiped off with a damp cloth. Work quickly and do not let the surface get wet.

Never darn knitted underwear with wool, as it will shrink and make a hole larger than the original one. Use loosely twisted knitting silk.

To prevent hard-boiled eggs from turning dark, place them in cold water for a few minutes as soon as they are taken from the boiling water.

When finger-nails show a tendency to brittleness, soak them in warm olive oil and let it stay on overnight. Petroleum ointment is nearly as good.

Unlacquered brass can be washed in warm soapsuds, then rubbed with salt and vinegar, put on with a piece of flannel. Polish with dry whiting.

Don't rinse laces in blue water under a mistaken notion that it will improve the color. Rinse in skimmed milk, which will give a soft, creamy color.

If the cake flavoring has been forgotten when making the batter, try sprinkling the required amount over the cake as it stands in the pan before baking.

For hurts of scalds, nothing is more soothing than the white of egg which may be poured over the wound. It is softer as a varnish for a burn than colloidion.

Cold-boiled potatoes, diced and added to an equal quantity of canned salmon and a few chopped olives make a foundation for a tasty salad. Serve with mayonnaise.

A debtor examined in the London Bankruptcy Court ascribed his insolvency to the hobble skirt. He was a petticoat manufacturer, but said that when women hobbled themselves they shranked petticoats, and consequently his trade vanished.

Silence!

The instinct of modesty natural to every woman is often a great hindrance to the cure of womanly diseases. Women shrink from the personal questions of the local physician which seem indelicate. The thought of examination is abhorrent to them, and so they endure in silence a condition of disease which surely progresses from bad to worse.

It has been Dr. Pierce's privilege to cure a great many women who have found a restful remedy in his offer of FREE consultation by letter. All correspondence is held as strictly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription restores and regulates the womanly functions, abolishes pain and builds up and puts the finishing touch of health on every weak woman who gives it a fair trial. It Makes Weak Women Strong, Sick Women Well. You can't afford to accept a secret stimulant as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine of known composition.

Household Notes.

The sediment from javelle water is excellent for scouring. Any piece of woollen wrung out in gasoline makes a good duster. French chalk will remove practically all grease spots from dress material.

Never use soap on window panes. Use either alcohol or ammonia to make them shine. Coal soot is easily removed from tin articles or porcelain if they are first coated with kerosene.

Cream cheese, mixed with canned currants or jellied cranberries, makes a good sandwich filling. The flavor of a cup of cocoa is often made more delicate if the least bit of vanilla is placed in it.

To keep insects away, wipe the floors of closets after they are scrubbed with gasoline or benzine. To remove inkstains from the hands rub the juice of ripe tomatoes over them and rinse in water water.

An eggshell or two or, better still, an oyster shell, should be kept in every teakettle. Then no rust will appear. Instead of sewing hangers to towels make small buttonholes. They will last as long as the towel and can't wear off.

If you cannot get into the deep recesses of a refrigerator with a scrub brush, try using a small, stiff paint brush. If your corn does not pop well it may be that it is too old. Soak in cold water for 15 minutes, drain and try again.

What Are the Terms?

The Commissioners of Newfoundland, Canada and the United States who have been conferring at Washington during the past few days have come to an agreement. The subject under discussion was the reasonableness of British regulations, largely Newfoundland, in British waters to which Americans can resort for fishing under the Convention of 1818.

Last September the Hague Tribunal decided and awarded that--
The right of the British to make rules, without the consent of the United States, to regulate the liberty of the Americans to take fish in treaty waters is inherent to the Sovereignty of Great Britain. Such regulations must not violate the treaty. Regulations, bona fide, not discriminating between local and American fishermen, which are (1) appropriate or necessary for the protection and preservation of such fisheries, or (2) desirable or necessary on grounds of public order and morals without unnecessarily interfering with the fishery, are reasonable and not in violation of the treaty.

Here of course there is room for differences to arise between the parties as to whether particular regulations are or are not in accordance with the dispositions of the Convention of 1818. That Treaty provided no express means of adjusting these differences. The settlement of differences was implicitly left to the channel of diplomacy.

Originally, according to the text of the Submission, these differences were to be settled by an impartial tribunal. They were properly divided into two classes. Those which had already arisen and those which might arise in future. A Commission of fishery experts was formed to deal with present differences.

Newfoundland, however, preferred to resort to a conference to adjust these differences. Hence the presence of Premier Morris and Attorney General Aylesworth at Washington.

The dispute was between two parties differently situated. On the one side there was the British, largely Newfoundland, the authors and makers of the fishery regulations. On the other side there was the American, disputing the accordance of the regulations with the disposition of the Convention of 1818.

If the matter had been referred to the judicial tribunal, Newfoundland might have had all or any of these regulations reaffirmed as in accordance with the Treaty.

The resort to a conference was an intimation that Newfoundland was prepared to modify some of the regulations in order to get America to agree to the rest. Such was the spirit in which America received and accepted the invitation of Newfoundland, and this feeling was expressed in the American press.

Our Washington dispatch to-day declares that the Newfoundland Government will modify the fishery regulations. According to the Daily News, Sir Edward Morris has cabled Hon. D. Morrison, the Attorney General, that a satisfactory arrangement has been made.

We do not know the terms of the agreement and therefore cannot express any opinion as to being satisfactory or not.

Sir Edward's offer to confer was an intimation that he was prepared to give way to some extent. How far he has given way is left undisclosed. We can only wait and see.

The Daily News betrays some concern about the arrangement, declaring that information as to the terms will be awaited with interest, and possibly with some anxiety.

It looks as if America has got something for nothing. We, however, are still hopeful for the best, and that the something is inconsiderable.

We do not believe Sir Edward has given away the pass.

We believe he is reserving the strength of the Newfoundland fishery position to make a deal with America for free fish for free entry, should the Canadian negotiations for reciprocity fail, as they are likely to do.

Indigestion & Dyspepsia

In all its Forms can be Cured.
It is quite a daily occurrence to hear persons say: "Oh, what a feeling of distress I have after meals, fullness of the stomach, heaviness and headache, I feel too tired to do anything, I have no heart to exert myself and at times I can't go to sleep. I often have a pain in the pit of my stomach, no appetite, my heart beats rapidly on the slightest exertion, I feel just as tired when rising in the morning as when retiring to bed. My sleep is often disturbed, and I often awake with a sense of suffocation and a difficulty of getting going in the morning. I have to be careful of what I eat, and my life seems a veritable burden."
Now, it seems a shame and a pity for persons to be suffering like that when it is in their power to get cured by taking a Bottle of Dr. Stafford's Prescription. A sure cure for persons afflicted with stomach troubles. It can be obtained at

Obituary.

The death occurred this morning, at his residence, Henry Street, of Mr. Thos. Cullen, Supervisor of Balne Johnston's premises. For the past 5 years Mr. Cullen's health had not been of the best, but this did not prevent him from attending to his duties, and his demise occurred after an illness of about 3 weeks duration.

Mr. Cullen was a man widely known, highly esteemed, and greatly respected. He had been connected with the firm of Balne Johnston & Coy. from his boyhood days and in his early manhood was a cutter on the room. He was after some years promoted to the position of weighing master and later when Mr. T. Mullins passed away, he was given charge of the south side premises, retaining the position until the death of the late Jno. Brennan, when he was given the office he occupied up to the time of his death.

Mr. Cullen was a good faithful servant, devoted to his masters' interests and kind and obliging to all who had to deal with him. Mr. Cullen was in his 65th year at the time of his death, and is survived by a widow and one son, Mr. Stan Cullen, of Balne Johnston & Coy. office, to whom we tender our sincerest sympathy. Mr. Pat Pennessy, also of Balne Johnston's, is a nephew of the deceased.

Cabman Badly Injured

Last night cabman A. Symonds, of the Central stand, drove his Victoria down Barter's Hill with four persons in it, and as he turned to go into Central Street the horse slipped and fell, when with the heavy weight of the driver and freight on board, and that of the fit out the whole thing was dragged over the hill which was covered with ice, and brought up at the bottom of the thoroughfare. The driver kept his seat, and when the cab arrived at the foot of the hill it collapsed with a telephone pole striking with great force, the shafts were broken and the fit out very much damaged, and the horse went clear of the carriage. Symonds was pitched from the box and struck the hard ground on his head, became unconscious and lay for a few minutes with blood flowing freely from an ugly cut in the head. Constables Martin and Squib who were near hastened to his aid and conveyed him into Dawson's restaurant near. The police rendered "first aid," and soon Drs. Tait and Campbell were at the man's side and had to put seven stitches in the wound. When Symonds was properly looked after he was conveyed to his home on Barnes Road.

St. Bon's at Home.

The Ladies of St. Bon's Association held a successful "At Home" in the British Hall last night. The hall was beautifully decorated, and presented a gay appearance. The C. C. C. Band furnished the music. Games of bridge were indulged in by those who did not care to dance. Teas were served and the festivities kept up till 2 in the morning.

Young Hero Drowned.

Myles Marriott Lost His Life in Chocolate Lake While Trying to Save His Brother Yesterday.

One of the saddest drowning accidents that has occurred for years was that of yesterday afternoon when Myles Marriott, of Melville Island Road, lost his life while trying to save his brother, Ainsley, aged 12 years, from drowning.

The two lads, who had attended Sunday School at the head of the Arm during the afternoon, were on their way home when the accident occurred. They, in company with two younger children, decided to take a short cut to their homes by going across Chocolate Lake. The two smaller children got along all right, but the ice was not sufficiently strong to bear the larger boys. When about twenty feet from the shore Ainsley broke through, and his brother, Myles, in going to his assistance, also went through the ice. The two younger children stood on the ice frightened to move one way or the other.

Marshall Rogers, Murray Rogers and Dudley Martin, three young guests at Birchdale, with Archie Johnson, a bell boy at Birchdale, arrived walking and were the first to arrive on the scene. Seeing the danger of the two children on the ice, they shouted to them to crawl, which they did, thus reaching the shore in safety. The party then ran to nearby homes for assistance. At Arnieview a rope was secured and unsuccessful attempts were made to throw it to the struggling boys. Martin, who is but 13 years old, then tied the rope about himself and waded out into the lake to his neck, but he could not reach the boys and was pulled back to the shore.

A shed was broken open and a boat launched. Johnson made an effort to reach the boys by the boat, but when he got half way out could proceed no further. A man who arrived about that time then went with Johnson. When they reached Myles Marriott, who was the nearest to the shore, the little fellow told the rescuers to save his brother, first as he thought that he could keep afloat a while longer. They went out after Ainsley and reached him as he lost consciousness. By the time Ainsley was taken into the boat, and the boat started to the shore, Myles had lost his grip on the ice and disappeared.

Ainsley was taken to the residence of James Billman, where he received medical attention, and was later removed to his home.

The body of Myles was recovered at 7 o'clock last evening by County Constable Umih and two men named Keady and Drysdale. An inquest was held by County Stipendiary John McDougall, and the verdict was that the lad lost his life while trying to save his brother.—Halifax Record, Jan. 9.

"BENNETT'S BAND" MAKES GOOD IN MONTREAL

A Fine Programme of Music Rendered Before the Newfoundland Society at Alexandra Hall, on Tuesday Evening, January 3rd.—The Audience Heard "The Banks of Newfoundland" for the First Time in the Metropolis of Canada.—Thoughts Wander Back to Home and Fatherland When the Hall Rang With the Strains of John Bennett's Cornet.—"He's Still the Same Old Jack," say his Admirers.

(Special to Evening Telegram.)

The Newfoundland Society recently organized in Montreal is rapidly increasing. At present over one hundred members have joined the Society. At the last meeting held at Alexandra Hall, St. Catherine Street, over thirty new members were added to the roll, besides a large number of application blanks were distributed among the members in order to have the membership still further increased at the next meeting.

After the meeting "Bennett's Band" played a fine programme which delighted the large audience.

The opening number, Terra Nova's Greeting, "The Banks of Newfoundland" was played in a capital style and as the sound rang out in clear and beautiful tones from Prof. Bennett's cornet, many of the old people present shed tears, for they had heard their native country's National Anthem for the first time in their adopted land. Their thoughts wandered back to the scenes of home and fatherland which they had left many years ago. "Absence made their hearts grow fonder" of dear Old Terra Nova. When John Bennett played the "Irish Airs" and made his cornet "whip it out," he made the audience grow wild with enthusiasm, and by special request the band played "St. Patrick's Day," Rev. Father Holland, C. S. S. R., of St. Anne's Church, playing the accompaniment on the organ. Father Holland's father was a Newfoundlander, and played with the late Prof. David Bennett fifty years ago. "The Mocking Bird" was particularly good, Master Jack Bennett giving a faithful imitation of the "songster" on the mouthpiece of his instrument. The Waltz and the Royal March with cornet and euphonium solos played by the Professor and his son, Tom, as well as the Canadian and British, airs evoked loud applause.

Dr. Koddick, Honorary President,

Nerves at High Tension

Slight extra strain means collapse—Restoration obtained by using DR. A.W. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

The successful men and women are often of the high-strung nervous type—keen and active—but with too little reserve force.

A little extra worry and anxiety and snap goes the nervous system. Weeks and months are often required before energy and vigor are regained.

Rest helps, so does fresh air and exercise, but the blood must also be made rich and red by use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mr. Wm. Brant, Victoria St., Stratroy, Ont., writes:—My nervous system had no appetite. My digestion was poor and I had jerking of the limbs. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food helped me and I continued until I had taken twenty-four boxes. This treatment has made a radical change in my condition, building up the system and strengthening the nerves. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, all dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Lieut.-Col. Renouf, President; Dr. B. C. Peters, Vice-President; Messrs. W. C. Gaden and E. W. Mudge, Governors of the Society, were presented with beautiful illuminated programmes, the work of a Newfoundland artist. They were greatly admired by all those who saw them, pronounced works of art, and will form a pleasing souvenir of the first important event of the newly-formed Society.

At the end of the entertainment a hearty vote of thanks was accorded Prof. Bennett for the excellent programme rendered. Lieut.-Col. Renouf thanked the performers and recalled the days when he studied the violin in the studio of Prof. Bennett's father. He was sorry that he had not followed it up, for if he had he would be playing in the orchestra that evening. Prof. Bennett thanked the members for their kindness.

After the reception Prof. Bennett renewed acquaintances with many old friends.

As the crowd filed out of the hall, many were heard to say:—"Why, he's the same old Jack as of former days, and there's lots of music in his cornet yet."

And now John Bennett's many friends would like to know how he's doing. Well, as his manager since his arrival here, I am pleased to tell them that he's here to stay, and has very bright prospects. All his children are in good positions, and I have booked the following engagements for the orchestra:—the Franciscan Social, the Lecture of the Total Abstinence Union of Canada at the Monument National, the largest theatre hall in the city. All the Bennett family will play that evening, and will be assisted by two clarinet players and a cornet player, the full orchestra comprising twelve pieces. His Grace Archbishop Bruchesi, the clergy of the city, His Worship the Mayor, Sir Wilfred Laurier, Premier of Canada, Sir Lomer Gouin, Premier of Quebec, Sir Thomas O'Shaughnessy, President C. P. R., Hon. Charles Murphy, Secretary of State, and several other high dignitaries have been invited.

On Friday evening, February 17th, the Bennett family will give a public concert in the Belmont School Hall, and will be assisted by some of the leading talent of the city. As organizer of the concert its success is already assured.

"Bennett's Silver Cornet Band" of twenty-two pieces, will lead the procession in the St. Patrick's Day parade, and in the evening the Bennett family orchestra will play at the concert of the Hibernians, No. 3 Division. Prof. Bennett is to be presented with a set of instruments for his band.

Let those who gloat over John Bennett's leaving the Colony as well as those who are responsible for it, take this as a consolation, that he's going to succeed, and succeed well in this city, and in a short time will be better off financially than he ever was even in his best days at St. John's, for he has strong backing and he must and will prosper in the meantime. Prof. Bennett, through his manager, wishes to be kindly remembered to all his old friends, and also wishes them the compliments of the season.

Morris Will Modify Fishery Regulations.

Special to Evening Telegram.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.
The Commissioners of the United States, Canada and Newfoundland have reached a decision. The Canadian and Newfoundland Governments undertake to change the existing regulations in order to remove the objections of the United States, thus making it unnecessary to call upon the Board of Experts. The effect of this arrangement is to make it unnecessary to re-assemble the Hague Tribunal to act upon the reports of the experts and eliminate any further proceedings at the Hague. All differences which may arise in future as to these or any future regulations which cannot be disposed of by diplomatic negotiations will be referred to the permanent mixed fisheries commission which is to be established in accordance with the recommendations of the Award.

Japan's first official protest against the proposed anti-Japanese legislation in the United States, comes in the form of a letter from Consul-General Nomura of San Francisco, to Senator Wright, Chairman of the Senate Committee on Federal Relations. "I think the people of this State hardly realize the deep concern felt in Japan on this subject," says the Consul-General. "Discrimination this time will be particularly surprising to the Japanese people, in view of the efforts made during the past two years to cultivate the good will of the American people, and to prove to them the sincerity of Japanese good will."

Troops were called out today to quell a riot. They fired a volley into the crowd, killed eleven persons and wounded fourteen. Every year riots mark the celebration of Muharram, the first month of the Mohammedan year. Trouble is sure to arise between the Sunnites or the Orthodox section, and the second great division of Mohammedan rioting began with stones and the police found them selves unable to stop the fighting. Then troops were rushed to the scene and at the first rioting afterwards were given the order to fire. The bodies of the dead lay in the street for a considerable time after the rioters were dispersed.

Few Doses Will Regulate Kidneys.

The blessed relief that follows the use of Pape's Diuretic is a revelation to sufferers from backache or kidney bladder and urinary disorders.

The time to cure kidney trouble is while it is only trouble—Before it settles into Dropsy, Gravel, Diabetes or Bright's Disease.

Pape's Diuretic acts at once upon the kidneys, bladder and urinary system; cleanses, vitalizes and regulates these organs, ducts and glands and completes the cure within a few days. The moment you suspect any kidney or urinary derangement or feel a constant dull backache or the urine is thick, cloudy, offensive or full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, you should begin taking Pape's Diuretic at once, with the knowledge that there is no other remedy, at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which will effect so thorough and prompt a cure.

Misery in the back, sides or loins, sick headache, inflamed or puffy eyelids, nervousness, rheumatism and darting pains, heart palpitations, bilious stomach, Prostatic trouble, dizziness, sleeplessness, listless, worn-out feeling and other symptoms caused by inactive, sluggish kidneys simply vanish. Uncontrollable urination (especially at night), smarting, discolored water and all bladder misery ends.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker or any mercantile agency will vouch for the responsibility of Pape, Thompson & Pape of Cincinnati, who prepare Pape's Diuretic—50 cent treatment—sold by every druggist in the world.

Social at Gower Street Y.M.A.

Yesterday evening at the invitation of the President of the Association, Mr. P. H. Hudson about fifty men attended a social at the Gower Street Y.M.A. An elaborate program had been arranged, and the proceedings opened with a fine speech by the President in which he thanked the members for their co-operation in making the venture such a success.

Songs were rendered by Messrs. W. H. Peters, E. Taylor and Giddy, R. N. The latter was encored for a rousing rendition of "The Veteran's Flag." Messrs. Coyne, R. Hearder and G. James recited. Mr. Barnes, although over 70 years of age, was particularly pleasing in a dramatic rendering of "An Ode to a Mummy" which he had learned in his boyhood days. Mr. V. G. Currie reading "Papa and his Boy," was amusing. Mr. Roy Kendall accompanied the songs in a praiseworthy manner.

Speeches were made by Rev. L. Curtis, D. D., and J. Giles, whilst Mr. LeDrew (President of George St. Y. M. A.), reciprocated the fraternal greetings extended to his Association.

After partaking of ample refreshment provided by the ladies, the National Anthem was sung, and the party dispersed, having spent a most enjoyable time.

FURLONG-FLYNN.

A very pretty marriage took place last evening at the R. C. Cathedral when Miss Nellie Flynn and D. J. Furlong were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was performed by Rt. Rev. Mons. Roche. The bride was attired in a very pretty costume of cream serge, with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of orange blossoms. She was assisted by Miss Madeline Furlong, who was attired in a very pretty gown of pale blue silk, with hat to match. Mr. P. J. Furlong acted as best man. After the ceremony the happy couple drove to their future residence, New Gower Street, where supper was served. Songs were rendered by some of the guests and a very enjoyable evening was spent. Many costly presents were received by the bride and groom. The Telegram extends congratulations.

Minard's Liniment Co., Limited.

Gentlemen,—I have used MINARD'S LINIMENT from time to time for the past twenty years. It was recommended to me by a prominent physician of Montreal, who called it the "great Nova Scotia Liniment." It does the doctor's work; it is particularly good in cases of Rheumatism and Sprains.

Yours truly,
G. G. DUNSTAN,
Chartered Accountant,
Halifax, N. S., Sept. 21, 1905.

RECEIVED NICE PRESENT.—This morning, just before the Prospero left for the northward, a boy came into Bowring's coastal office and handed Capt. A. Kean a splendid black thorn walking stick, silver mounted and engraved with his name by Mr. Alfred Macnamara. The donor is unknown, but the captain is none the less thankful for the handsome present given him.

A Lady Says:

Mr. A. Plectott, Minister of Fisheries, came in from Conception Bay by train to-day.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURE S COLDS, ETC.

A Modern Miracle.

He Had Eczema 25 Years and Doctors Said "No Cure."

Yet Zam-Buk Has Worked Complete Cure.

This is the experience of a man of high reputation, widely known in Montreal, and whose case can readily be investigated. Mr. T. M. Marsh, the gentleman referred to, lives at 104 Delorimier Avenue, Montreal, and has lived there for years. For twenty-five years he had eczema on his hands and wrists. The disease first started in red blotches, which itched, and when scratched became painful. Bad sores followed, which discharged, and the discharge spread the disease until his hands were on raw, painful state of sores. Just think of this state of affairs continuing for twenty-five years!

In that time four eminent medical men tried to cure him, and each gave up the case as hopeless in the end. Naturally, Mr. Marsh tried remedies of all kinds, but he, also, at last gave it up. For two years he had to wear gloves day and night so terrible was the pain and itching when the air got to the sores.

Then came Zam-Buk! He tried it. Just as he had tried hundreds of remedies before. But he soon found out that Zam-Buk was different. Within a few weeks there were distinct signs of benefit, and a little perseverance with this great herbal balm resulted in what he had given up all hope of—a complete cure! And the cure was no temporary cure. It was permanent. He was cured nearly three years ago. Interviewed the other day, Mr. Marsh said: "The cure which Zam-Buk worked has been absolutely permanent. From the day that I was cured to the present moment I have had no trace of eczema, and I feel sure it will never return. Having suffered for twenty-five years, I had naturally concluded that my case was incurable, and I regarded my cure as a modern miracle."

If you suffer from any skin trouble cut out this article, write across it the name of this paper, and mail it with one cent stamp to pay return postage, to Zam-Buk Co., St. John's Nfld. We will forward you by return a free trial box of Zam-Buk. All druggists and stores sell this famous remedy, 50c. box, or three for $1.25. Refuse harmless substitutes.

Liner's Food Bill.

They do not victual ocean liners on the "snack-from-the-joint-and-two-veg." principle. Here are some items culled from a large Atlantic liner company's food bill for one year:

Meat: Fresh beef, pork, veal, mutton and lamb, over 10,000,000 pounds. Poultry and game: Ducks, fowls, turkeys, etc., more than 1,000,000 pounds. Fish, about 1,900,000 pounds, says the Washington Post. Beverages: Champagne, claret, minerals, etc., 800,000 odd bottles, besides 500,000 gallons of lager beer. The amount of bread consumed was 3,900,000 pounds.

Potatoes stand at 20,000,000 pounds, butter at 1,200,000 pounds, and ice at 24,000,000. Cigarettes and cigars were smoked up to the tune of 2,327,225. Taking just this last item, and allowing three cigars and seven cigarettes as a daily dose per head, the number of smokers consumed in one single year on these liners would keep 19 men in tobacco every day of their existence for a period of about 70 years.

Horney-Man Monkeys.

Queer Shaped Skeletons Found in California Canyon.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 6.—What are described as skeletons of a strange tribe of horned man-monkey pigmies are being exhumed from an ancient burying ground discovered near Jack Rabbit Lodge in the delta of Topanga Canyon near Santa Monica. Forty-four skulls and almost as many complete sets of torso and limb bones have been recovered, together with strange antiquities apparently used by the tribe as weapons, and many stone mortars.

The tribe is thought to have been the last of the kind, and it is asserted by a legend of the oldest Spanish families that Aztec Indians exterminated them upon their invasion into Southern California.

FELL OVER STAIRS.

—Mrs. R. Anthony fell over the stairs leading to the basement of her house on Colonial Street last night, and was very much hurt and badly shaken. A doctor had to be called. This morning her condition was improved very little.

To-day the Spaniard, Benigno Diaz, who stabbed Francis Bjorn on the S. S. Benedick, was up in court, and a preliminary investigation was held into the case before Judge Conroy. The evidence of Dr. Rendell and others will be taken before it can be determined if he will be committed for trial in the Supreme Court.

Prisoners Brought In.

By the shore train last night Const E. Quinlan arrived here with two young men, residents of Harbor Main, who were tried before Magistrate O'Toole yesterday on charges of looting and disorderly conduct. For several nights past these chaps gathered with others about the station at Avondale and committed various depredations, annoying people about there, and Constable Quinlan summoned them. One was held on two charges of disorderly conduct and fined $5 or 20 days for one offence and $10 or 30 days for the other. The other man was fined $19 or 30 days. Both could not pay their fines and came here to serve the terms of imprisonment imposed. A third party, who also was fined, paid the amount.

Trouble on Mullock-st.

The neighbours were alarmed by the cries of a woman who repeatedly kept shouting: "Father, I'll be killed." In the dead hours of the night, on Mullock Street last night. Some of the people arose from their beds and on going out saw that it was Mrs. Clance, whose father, Mr. Kelly, lives in the same house with herself and husband, four children and Mrs. Kelly's brother. They all live in a small room and people fear that there will be trouble.

Australia's Capital City

Washington, D.C., Jan. 6.—Architects and landscape artists from practically every section of the world will be invited to submit designs for the new capital city of the Commonwealth of Australia, according to consular reports. The Commonwealth Government has selected Canberra, New South Wales, as the site for the new city.

The new capital city lies among a series of hills, of slight altitude, which make ideal sites for the principal public buildings. The capital building itself probably will be built in the valley of the hills, to be protected from the winds.

A Venturesome Peer.

The adventures in strange lands of Lord Headley, who was sixty-five recently, would provide material for more than one fascinating volume. An Irish peer, he has seen a great deal of soldiering. He fought in the Carlist war, and went through the Franco-Prussian War with the French Army Corps. And he has made long journeys and explored the slopes of the Andes and the hinterland of Peru. Some months after Lord Headley was expected back from a shooting expedition in Mashonaland, a grisly story arrived of his having been out to pieces by Matabele. But he came home safe and sound, while obituary notices of his career were still current.

Here and There.

The Danish schooner, Aegir, arrived at Sports today after a run of 20 days, fish laden by Bowring Bros.

STAFFORD'S Liniment can be used both internally and externally—14c. a bottle.

The s.s. Bellavente will be undocked this evening. The s.s. Adventure will go on.

CODFISH AND HERRING.

Herring of very large size are being taken at Harbor Main, and people with nets out make big hauls daily. Codfish is also fairly plentiful in the waters round the place, and a few days ago Peter Hannon secured a quarter of a quintal.

FELL OVER STAIRS.—Mrs. R. Anthony fell over the stairs leading to the basement of her house on Colonial Street last night, and was very much hurt and badly shaken. A doctor had to be called. This morning her condition was improved very little.

In Terrible State.

When the Telegram yesterday recorded the illness of sanitary man George Cheeks, the hopes of the citizens that typhus fever would be quickly stamped out, received a serious set back.

Cheeks has been ill since Saturday, and only yesterday the case was diagnosed as typhus fever. The man, who has been in the Sanitary Department for many years, occupies the under flat of a small house on Barte's Hill on its western side, and far removed from Pope Street, the scene of the first outbreak of the disease. The upper part of the house is occupied by Mrs. Kelly, daughter of Mr. Collins who was the second to be stricken with the malady after it was first noticed to be in the city. Mrs. Kelly and her friends naturally called at Collins' house while Mr. Collins was ill, and also when Mrs. Collins was stricken, and the belief is that they brought the germs to the Cheeks' residence.

The house is now quarantined and placarded, and Cheeks was in hospital is very ill of the disease. The house on Pope Street where the disease first made its appearance was in a terrible condition and filled with filth and refuse of all kinds! No less than 18 cart loads of rubbish were taken from the cellar and closets in the place, and the other houses near were almost as bad. The wonder is that some deadly malady did not long ago occur in these hovels which should not have been used as dwellings for years past, being utterly unfit for human habitation.
