The Romance of a Marriage.

CHAPTER XXXI.

"Yes, insult!" she repeats, and her lips tremble. "Because it sounds like it. It seems as if you thought I was something less than a woman; a—sort of doll without a heart—a thing to chop and change like a weather-cock."

"May!"

"Do you think that—that my love was such a poor kind of thing that would die out and fade away because you hadn't quite so much money—oh, how I hate the word!—as you thought you had? Well, good-bye!"

And she turns, her eyes flashing, her lips quivering, her whole little figure quivering, too.

"May—stop!" he exclaims, aghast and bewildered by this sudden change in her character.

"Well!" she says, turning her head, but keeping her face from him.

But Bob is speechless for a moment; then he says, unsteadily:

"No, May, I didn't think that—that you'd change, or that you wouldn't mind. Why! Don't I know you better than that? But I wanted to do my duty, May; and is it my duty, and the fair thing, to come to you and say, 'I'm a pauper, or next door to one, but all the same I shall keep you to your word, and you must wait until I get rich?' and, he says, bitterly, "Why, that would have been a cowardly thing to do. Don't you see?"

With a little cry of infinite tenderness and affection, she turns to him, and before he knows it almost, her sleek little head lies upon his broad chest.

"Oh, Bob! Bob! forgive me! you were quite right. I mean it was just like your unselfish nobleness, and I was a spiteful little cat!" vehemently; "but I can't say good-bye for all that. I won't!"

With a sudden tightening of the hands grasping his coat-lappets, and a flash of the blue eyes that sends the hot blood to Bob's cheeks, and the fire to his eyes in sympathy—"I won't! Do you think it

HOW YOU CAN TELL GENUINE ASPIRIN

Only Tablets with "Bayer Cross" are Aspirin—No others!

If you don't see the "Bayer Cross" on the tablets, refuse them—they are not Aspirin at all.

There is only one Aspirin, that marked with the "Bayer Cross"—all other tablets are only acid imitations. Look for the "Bayer Cross!" Then it is real Aspirin, for which there is no substitute.

Aspirin is not German but is made in America, and is owned by an American Company, all rights being purchased from the U. S. Government.

Genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" have been proved safe by millions for Pain, Headache, Neuralgia, Colds, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuritis.

Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets—also larger "Bayer" packages, can be had at any drug store.

of the stable," and he glares at Bob furiously.

"Father! father!" cries May, her eyes flashing, her cheeks scarlet. "You—yourself and me. Bob"—turning to Bob with outstretched, appealing hand—"don't mind him; he doesn't mean it; he is angry and—excited!"

"Don't I mean it? But I do!" exclaims Mr. Palmer, with a snort; "and he knows it, too. And it's true. If it ain't, why don't he come and ask me like a man, not entice you, you little fool, to meet him on the sly? What's he got to say to that?"

Bob, pale and quivering, keeps his temper.

"There's something in that, sir," he says. "I ought to have come to you: I see it now. But, you see, when a man fears the answer he shirks putting the question—"

"Answer, yes. I'd have given an answer sharp enough," retorts the sugar-baker, with a sneer. "I'd have sent you about your business pretty soon. A pretty thing! Do you know who the young lady is, young master?"

An answer scarcely being necessary, Bob wisely remains silent.

"I'll tell you, sir. She's my daughter—Houndell Palmer's—of the Court—daughter—and who are you to have the impudence to fall in love with her—for that's what you'll talk about, I suppose? Who are you, I say? Are you a young lord? No! Perhaps you've got a big fortune at your back?"

Bob shakes his head gravely.

"No!" with a snarl. "I know that well enough. You're as poor as a church mouse. Oh, I see your game as clear as print: you think you'll feather your nest with my money, do you?"

Still Bob is silent. "He is her father," he keeps repeating to himself. "I have not been straight with him. I've got to bear it."

But May cannot keep silent.

"Father, for shame!" she pants, with heaving bosom and flashing eyes. "It's true, you stupid little idiot!" he says. "It's your money he wants, not you."

"That's a lie!" says poor Bob, stung into speech at last; and May, as she hears the grim, honest response, feels her heart bound with admiration, even in the midst of her terror and sorrow.

"I beg your pardon, sir, I didn't mean to give you the lie, but it is not true. I love her for herself alone, and I don't care—I wish to Heaven she hadn't a penny."

"I daresay," retorts Mr. Palmer, thrusting one hand in his pocket and shaking the other at the pair. "Well, I'll tell you what: if she was to be fool enough to listen to you and disobey me, you'd have your wish, for I'm—I'm hanged if she'd ever touch a penny of mine!" and he shakes his head fiercely until his face grows even more purple than before.

"I am content to take you at your word, sir," says Bob, gravely. "I am a poor man."

"Poor! I should think you were!" puts in the sugar-baker, with angry contempt.

"But a poor man can be an honest one, and can love as well as a rich one," Bob says, with bitterness. "I love your daughter, Mr. Palmer, and I am sorry I did not come to you before and tell you so straight out."

"I don't care whether you're sorry or not," he snarls. "It don't make any difference to me. I don't take any concern in you or your feelings. All I've got to do with is my gal; and I tell you flat that I ain't toiled and slaved for all these years to see my money wasted on the likes of you. I don't want to quarrel with you"—he adds, sullenly, and with a shake of the head—"and I don't want any row or fuss. All I say is, that this piece of cursed, stupid nonsense must come to an end. The ideal! But there, as I say, I ain't going to say anything unpleasant. Give me your word that there's an end of it, and we won't say no more about it," and he holds out his hand as if he had made an extremely magnanimous offer, which the most unreasoning of young men would not refuse.

But Bob looks at him steadily, and May, glancing from one to the other—from the vulgar, purse-proud, overbearing face of her father to the pale, handsome one of her lover, creeps closer to Bob, and waits, breathless, for the answer. Bob looks him steadily in the face.

"You ask too much, sir," he says in a low tone. "I—I can't give her up I have tried, but I cannot do it."

Something like an oath slips from the sugar-baker's lips; but Bob goes on steadily:

"I will not do it. If you had asked me to wait—wait until I could come better fitted to ask for her, I would have said 'Yes' gladly. Don't be too hard upon me!" he pleads, his voice breaking for the first time.

"Hard be hanged!" retorts Mr. Palmer, coarsely. "You won't give her up, you say. Well, I'm obliged to you for speaking out. I shall know what to do. May, go home!" and he points to the house.

But May does not move; she creeps, indeed, a little nearer to Bob, and her hand stretches out to him pleadingly.

"Go home!" roars Mr. Palmer. "You've seen the last of the impudent young scoundrel."

"Father! father!" she implores, the tears springing to her eyes, her hand raised as if to silence him. "If you only knew him half as well as I do you wouldn't say that!"

"I know him well enough!" he retorts. "And I say he's a scoundrel to steal a man's daughter behind his back!"

"And I say he did not steal!" says May, with a sudden drying up of her tears and a steadfast look in her eyes. "He did not steal, for I gave myself to him, and no one—on, father, not even you—shall take me from him. You force me to speak out; he—has stood and borne all your hard, cruel words; but I cannot any longer. I love him—I love him, and I will never—never give him up while—while—her voice breaks—"while he does not wish it!"

Mr. Palmer stands like a man turned to stone for a moment, then, with an oath, he takes a step forward, almost as if he were about to strike one or both of them. May stands her ground; but Bob steps in between them and holds up his hand with a warning gesture.

"No, no!" he says, hoarsely, and there is something in the tone that arrests Mr. Palmer's steps. "No, no," he repeats. "Keep calm, sir. There—there must be nothing like that between you!"

Then he takes May's hand and looks down at her.

Mad Mullah Power Destroyed

Holland Will Again Refuse Allies Request --- Deschanel Now President --- The Turkish Problem.

MAD MULLAH'S POWER DESTROYED.

LONDON, Feb. 17. The combined operations of British and Italians with tanks and aircraft against the "Mad Mullah in Abyssinia" have been very successful. The enemy was heavily defeated and the operations have been virtually concluded but the Mad Mullah escaped. The Mad Mullah has recently been preaching a Holy War, according to the Somali tribes, and during the recent war continually raided the country, necessitating the maintenance of a garrison by the Italians. The Colonial Home Under Secretary announced to-day in the House of Commons that the dervishes had been attacked by airplanes in Somaliland, and that the Mullah had escaped, but his positions were captured with much booty, and the power of dervishes had been entirely destroyed.

HOLLAND'S DECISION.

THE HAGUE, Feb. 17. Holland will answer the second note by the Entente with regard to the status of former Emperor William by reiterating her original position, refusing to surrender the ex-ruler but acquiescing in the request to guard him closely, it was declared here to-day.

DESCHANEL NOW PRESIDENT.

PARIS, Feb. 17. Paul Deschanel to-day became the tenth President of the French Republic, succeeding Raymond Poincare, who laid aside the robes of office after one of the most critical periods in the history of the country. The formal transfer from the old to the new regime occurred in the palace of Elysee this afternoon.

THE PROBLEM OF TURKEY.

LONDON, Feb. 17. Reports of massacres of Armenians in Galicia came up for discussion in the House of Commons to-day. Mr. Bonar Law, replying to a question that the British representative at Constantinople was taking every step to make plain to the Turkish Government that if this sort of thing continued it would have a serious effect on relations between Turkey and the Allies.

LABOR URGES IRISH BILL WITH-DEAWN.

LONDON, Feb. 17. The British Labor Party delegation which visited Ireland recently has reported in favour of withdrawing the Government Irish Bill and settling the Irish question from an entirely different standpoint. It was stated this afternoon. The delegation is said to have come to the opinion that the problem is as much an industrial as a political one and that it should be solved by taking both these factors into consideration.

THE AWFUL COST OF GOVERNMENT CONTROL.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17. If tentative plans of railroad managers go through, the return of the roads to private ownership on March 1, will clear the way for the dismissal of thousands of men, added to the pay rolls since the Government took over the carriers in December, 1917. Estimates of the number of men, it will be possible to dispense with without lowering efficiency, varies from a hundred thousand named by Conservatives, to thrice that number mentioned by others.

CABLES IN TABLOID.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17. The New York Yacht Club formally announced, late to-day, acceptance of Sir Thomas Lipton's challenge for America's Cup. The series of best three out of five races will be held over the Sandy Hook course, beginning on Thursday, July 16th.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.

Private advices received here from friends of Lord Chief Justice Reading are that he has been invited to accept the permanent appointment as British Ambassador to Washington and that he has now the offer under consideration.

LABOR PREFERS TO WAIT.

LONDON, Feb. 17. The Westminster Gazette, Liberal, says that responsible Labor leaders are agreed that a general election at the present time will not be in the best interests of the party, and that every month the election can be delayed, within the next two years is likely to benefit them. It is added that the extreme section represented by such men as Scullion the miner's leader are coming also to this view.

U. S. REPORT ON WAR AVIATION.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17. The War Department spent one billion fifty-one million dollars for aviation during the nineteen months of war, with the result that only two hundred and three American made planes, all these being of the D.H. 4 observation type, reaching the front. The aviation sub-committee of the House War Department's expenditure committee so declared yesterday in its final report. Aviation fatalities among American air forces were comparatively higher than those of any other power, the report shows and it declares that inferior planes and insufficient training were the reason. The report charges Secretary of War Baker, John R. Ryan, Major General G. O. Squires, Colonel Deeds and Colonel Disque in charge of various branches of aviation work with the failure of the United States to be a factor in the air with "wasting of many millions."

TORONTO, Feb. 17.

With incomplete returns, at the close of the financial campaign in connection with the Inter-Church Forward Movement of Methodists, Presbyterians, Anglicans, Baptists and Congregationalists of Canada, the splendid total of eleven millions, three hundred thousand dollars had been piled up to-night.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.

The best friends of the Peace Treaty in Washington were not very hopeful to-night of the possibility of an agreement between Republicans and Democrats in the Senate on reservations.

ALLIES PRESENT EXTRADITION REPLY.

BERLIN, Feb. 17. The Allied note to Germany on the extradition question was handed to the Government at noon to-day. In the absence of Premier Bauer, who is in the Ruhr District, engaged in negotiations with the miners, the note was presented by Lord Kilmarnock, the British charge to Foreign Minister Muller.

LONDON, Feb. 17.

Tom T. Kelly, Lord Mayor-elect of Dublin, was conditionally released from Wormwood Scrubs Prison last night and is now at the home of a friend prior to his removal to a nursing home.

THE ADRIATIC QUESTION.

PARIS, Feb. 17. The Echo de Paris, which is exceptionally well informed, says that the postscript of Mr. Wilson's memorandum, from which the note was drawn up contained "The most brutal menace, that if his warning was unheeded he would withdraw both the treaty of Versailles and the Anglo-Franco-American pact from the Senate." The paper points out that the Allies are "on the horns of a dilemma."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.

Emphatic denial that President Wilson had threatened to withdraw the treaty of Versailles and the American-French treaty from the Senate if the Adriatic question was settled without consulting the United States was made to-day at the White House.

FUJME, Feb. 17.

The annexation of Fiume to Italy is now impossible, says the admission made to the Associated Press correspondent here to-day, by Captain Gabriele D'Annunzio, whose forces have been holding this city for several months.

LONDON, Feb. 17.

The feeling at the Italian headquarters in London with respect to President Wilson's action is strong. Unofficially it is spoken of as an attack upon Italy, and his memorandum is described as an ultimatum. The Italians also feel that Italy's claims to consideration for her part in the war and sacrifices made, have never been quite appreciated by the Allies.

PARIS, Feb. 17.

Paris newspapers to-day hint at the possibility of a compromise being reached on the Adriatic question, which would make unnecessary the application of the treaty of London (with its military safeguards for Italy), and would be consistent with the aspirations of all nations in the Adriatic.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.

The reply of the Allied Supreme Council at London to President Wilson's note on the Adriatic question was received to-day at the State Department from Ambassador Davis, and was decoded as fast as it came in. It was announced officially that not even a summary of the reply would be made public at this time.

LONDON, Feb. 17.

The afternoon session to the Supreme Council decided that the Bosphorus should be internationalized the same as the Dardanelles. Preliminary consideration of the Whole Turkish question was completed to-day and drafting of the treaty will be started immediately. Many demands yet remain to be cleared up, as had been forecasted, and the Council also must await reports of commissions appointed to investigate certain phases of the peace problem.

LONDON, Feb. 17.

Great Britain, it was learned to-day has instructed Admiral de Robeck at Constantinople to announce the fact that the Allies have decided not to deprive Turkey of Constantinople. If persecution of the Armenians continues, however, the Admiral was instructed to say that the peace treaty with Turkey may be considerably modified.

Train Movements.

Three freight trains, preceded by a rotary plough, arrived at Gambia to-day, and are continuing East after a few hours' delay. The Shore train reached town at last midnight, and the outgoing reached Carbonara at 11.15 p.m.

Longer skirts and shorter jackets seem to be coming into favor.

Little Woman Weighed Only Ninety-Five Lbs.

Mrs. McCartney Now Weighs Exactly One Hundred And Ten Pounds Since Taking Tanlac.

"From this time on my faith is pinned to Tanlac," said Mrs. Florence McCartney, wife of Wm. J. McCartney, Suite 1 Burrows Apartments, 221 Saiter Street, Winnipeg, "for four bottles of the medicine had really and truly made me feel like a new person."

"Why, at the time I began taking it," she explained, "I weighed only ninety-five pounds and I now weigh one hundred and ten, making an actual gain of fifteen pounds. Something over a year ago I began suffering from indigestion and gradually losing strength and vitality. I soon found myself unable to keep up and look after my housework as I had been doing. I kept rocking along without doing anything, and I was until my condition became serious. Then I went under treatment and before long they had to take me to a sanitarium where I stayed for three months, feeling just as I did when I was about as bad as when I went. I simply had no appetite at all and what I did eat would ferment and make me miserable. My stomach was in such a bad condition that I was forced to live entirely on liquid foods and a little brown bread. I was as nervous as a witch, suffered all the time with headache, and was so weak I could hardly move a chair and had to hire some one to do every bit of my housework. I would often lie awake all night long, tossing and rolling, not getting a wink of sleep."

"After seeing Tanlac so highly recommended, my husband persuaded me into trying it, and now I just feel like telling everybody what it has done for me. I can eat just anything now and never have a pain or an uncomfortable feeling afterwards and my appetite is so good that I can hardly eat enough to satisfy it. My nerves have gotten back to a thoroughly strong and normal condition and I never have a headache, and my sleep is so sound and refreshing that I get up in the mornings feeling as cheerful and happy as can be. I have let the hired woman go and am doing every bit of my housework without the least trouble. I weigh more since taking Tanlac than I ever did before. Tanlac has helped me so much that I am now giving it to one of my little boys. He has been sick and weak all his life and had gotten so frail that we even had to take him out of school. I believe Tanlac is going to make a strong, healthy boy of him, for he has already improved so much that he is able to attend school every day. I certainly have just cause to praise Tanlac and never hesitate to recommend it every opportunity I have, and I believe my husband is just as enthusiastic about it as I am, if not more so."

Tanlac is sold in St. John's by M. Connors, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative; in Harbor Buffet, by Thomas Wakely & Sons; in Placentia, by James Murphy & Son, and in Topsail by J. K. Bursell.—adv.

Notes From Brigus.

Thursday, the 12th inst., will be remembered by the Jubilee Club as a "red letter" day. In the afternoon members met at the club room to hold their annual beaver-hat parade. Accompanied by the band from St. George's Guild (and the indispensable "small boy") they made the rounds of the town eventually returning to the place of starting. At night a very enjoyable dance was held in the court house, those attending being served supper at the "Cabot Hotel."

We learn that Mr. Henry Leamon, of the Gullies, has purchased the house formerly occupied by the late Benjamin French, and in which the Anglo-American Telegraph Company has its office.

Rev. Father Walker, P.P., St. Brendan's, arrived in town on Thursday night. He left again for St. John's by Friday evening's train.

Just as we were beginning to appreciate the pleasure of regular train service, came Saturday's storm, effectually blocked the train from Carbonara and delayed the St. John's train so that she did not reach us till 5 p.m.

SWITCH OFF!

Put aside the Salts, Oil, Calomel, or Pills and take "Cascarets."

Are you keeping your bowels, liver, and stomach clean, pure, and fresh with Cascarets, or merely whipping them into action every few days with Salts, Cathartic Pills, Oil, or Purgative Waters?

Stop having a bowel wash-day. Let Cascarets gently cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the colon and bowels all the constipated waste matter and poisons so you can straighten up.

Cascarets to-night will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken, or cause any inconvenience, and cost so little too.

Messrs. John Hiscock, Fred Bartlett, Miss Alice Bartlett and Miss Dorothy Chafe, left for the city by this morning's train. Mr. Jas. P. Hearn also left by the same train to carry out some surveying in Placentia Bay.

Owing to wind and weather conditions of the past week, the harbor and bay are now cleared of ice, and once again the salt sea is open to view.

The appearance of the sky towards the eastward this morning, would lead one to expect heavy rains to-day, but the wind has veered from that point, and though the weather is not ultimately settled, there is no augury of an immediate outburst. NEMO. Brigus, C.B., Feb. 16th, 1920.

SEVILLE ORANGES for Marmalade.

The Essence Case Continued.

Prosecution Ends and Defence Begins. Adjournment Takes Place Until 3.30 p.m. To-day.

The by-now famous Essence Case—as it has come to be known—was continued in the Court this morning. The deep interest being manifest in this case was proven by the number of citizens present. Every available bit of space in the Court-room was occupied and many had to stand up. Even the prisoner's bench was filled. Men sat on steps and stairs and not for a long time have so many been present.

Mr. H. A. Winter, for the prosecution, first called Mr. Michael Byrne, a grocer of the Cross Roads. Mr. Byrne some two weeks ago purchased two dozen bottles of Sherriff's Essence of Vanilla from Soper & Moore. He drank one bottle-ful of the essence, first diluting it with lemonade. Another bottle he distributed amongst friends. He got space in the Court which he drank. When in conversation with Mr. Albert Soper, at the time he was making the purchase, the latter asked him for what purpose the essence was intended, and Mr. Byrne assured him that it was solely for legitimate trade.

It was the intention of the prosecution to call the wife of this witness, but as she was not present in Court, her evidence was not waited for. Head Constable John Byrne deposed to having visited Michael Byrne's house and shop and being in conversation with him. Mr. Byrne admitted to the Head Constable that he had gotten drunk on Sherriff's Essence. Edwin Golden, the next witness, a commission merchant, had up to November dealt in essences, but since then had not touched it because of the stigma that surrounded those that did. This ended the prosecution, with the evidence roughly thus: Soper and Moore sold Michael Byrne some Sherriff's Essence of Vanilla, a bottle of which he drank. This made him intoxicated. The Government Analyst had analyzed the essence and found it to contain 99.01 per cent. of Ethyl alcohol by volume. The alcohol is the same as found in rum or any other intoxicating liquors.

In opening the defence, Mr. L. E. Emerson, K.C., stated that if the question were merely one of technical law he would at this stage move for a dismissal of the case. However, as certain things had been introduced he would bring evidence to prove that his clients, Messrs. Soper & Moore, had sold this essence to only bona fide customers and not as a doped or for beverage purposes.

His clients, he stated, could be worth "hundreds and thousands of dollars" if they had wished to sell essence as doped. Albert Soper, senior member of the firm, and defendant, was the first to be called. His firm was wholesale. It sold all kinds, qualities and sizes of essences manufactured, bottled, here and abroad. The firm sold Sherriff's Imperial Essences and has now in stock 8 and seven 16 ounce bottles. He remembered Mr. Byrne coming to him for essences and 2 dozen bottles were sold him. He received the assurance that it would be put into legitimate trade, however. Mr. Soper had had prepared lengthy and varied facts concerning his business and even the profits made on an essence was stated. He was cross-examined by Mr. Winter. After some preliminary questioning Mr. Winter touched upon Mr. Soper's activities in the Prohibition campaign.

Mr. Winter: "I believe, Mr. Soper, that you took a prominent part in the Prohibition campaign?"
Mr. Soper: "It was an honor to do so."
Mr. Winter: "Will you tell us as briefly, why you did so?"
"Because I believed in Prohibition."
"You are still a prohibitionist?"
"Yes."
"Why did you and why do you favor prohibition?"
"Well, on general principles, I would take too long to go into them now."
"You believed, did you not, that it is wrong for a man to drink intoxicating liquors?"
"I certainly do."
"You believe that it is wrong for a man to drink alcohol?"
"Yes."
"Mr. Soper, do you know anything about the ingredients of essences? Is there alcohol in them?"
"Well, in good grade essences there is as much as 60% of alcohol."
"Now, did you know, Mr. Soper, that people in this city had been and are drinking essences of beverages?"
"I had been so informed."
"Did Dr. J. S. Tait, in August, tell you that the vanilla essence was being drunk as a beverage?"
"Yes."
"Did you take any steps to find out if this was so?"
"No, I did not feel called upon to do so."
"Yet you felt called upon to fight Prohibition?"
"Yes."
"You think it is bad for a man to drink alcohol, Mr. Soper? Now, in your opinion, isn't it as bad to drink alcohol in essence as in rum, whisky, or any other liquor? Aren't the physical, mental and moral results even worse?"
"I have been so told."
"Do you consider it wrong to sell liquor?"
"Yes."
"Do you consider it wrong to sell essences?"
"No. They are used as foodstuffs."
"Or is the difference, Mr. Soper, that you weren't selling liquors but you are selling essences?"
"I wish they were not sold—they have caused me enough worry."
Mr. Thomas Soper, also a member of the firm, was next called. His evidence was much the same as that of his brother.

A statement which caused considerable laughter in the court was made by the next witness, a hotel owner, who said that an ounce bottle of vanilla should last a family of from 7 to 10 about 3 months.

Mr. A. E. Parkins, a manufacturing chemist, was the last witness of the defence to be called this forenoon. He manufactured essences, he said, in half ounce, one, two, four, six, eight and 16 ounce bottles; in half gallon, gallon and 5 gallon jars. The large ones were specially made for establishments. Mr. Parkins also gave some evidence on the meaning of non-beverage alcohol—i.e. alcohol with which was put enough foreign matter not to cause intoxication. Medicine, essences, etc., he said, came under this category.

It being now 1.15, adjournment was taken until 3.30 this afternoon. The point at issue is whether essences came under the spirituous liquor law, and the endeavour of the prosecution is to prove that they do.

"O" (Wabana) Co., Hold Enjoyable Re-Union and Soiree at Bell Island.

A most successful re-union of all ranks of "O" (Wabana) Co., C.G.C., was held at the Star Hall, Bell Island, on Friday night, Feb. 13th, when the Officers, Warrant and N.C.O.'s and Privates together with their lady friends and parents, assembled and enjoyed themselves as the guests of the Brigade. The affair was promoted by Officers Capt. J. M. Greene and Lieut. J. J. Murphy, and was conducted by a Committee of the Sergeants' Mess: Sergeants Leo Power, Mike Dunne, John Kent and John Mansfield. Dancing opened the programme at 8.30 which was continued until 10 o'clock, when a short concert was given, the following contributing: Lieut. J. J. Murphy, Sergt-Major J. F. McEvoy, Pte. Thos. Lahey, Pte. Richard Hearne, Sergt. John Mansfield and Capt. Greene. The Brigade, nearly 100, to the sound of "Fall In," were then assembled under Sergt. McEvoy, and after some manoeuvres had been gone through, which were thoroughly enjoyed by the ladies present, they were addressed on Brigade matters by Lieut. Murphy and the Company Commander, Captain Greene, who in a most powerful address exhorted all the members of "O" Co. to stand by their Brigade and to attend regularly when called upon, thus improving themselves and keeping their Brigade up to full strength. Supper was now served by a Ladies' Committee, consisting of Mesdames W. K. Murphy, Michael Dunne, Thos. Kelly, Philip Dwyer, J. Kelly, Lawrence Power, William Power and Misses Murphy and Power. A card tournament was also held for those who did not dance. At midnight dancing was again resumed and "On with the Dance" was the slogan till the wee small hours of the morning, when what proved to be one of the most successful re-unions of "O" Wabana Co., C.G.C. was brought to a close. We understand that it is the intention to hold another such soiree after Easter and that arrangements to that effect are already being made.

THE SOMEDAY HOUSE.

RUTH CAMERON

Some friends of mine, who like many another young couple, are putting whatever money they can keep out of the way of the high cost of living into a co-operative bank against the day when they shall be ready to build their own little home, are also saving something besides money towards that home. Can you guess what it is?

Idea.

They began to save the money as soon as they were married and they began to save the ideas soon after. It came about this way:

It Happens to All of Us.

They had seen a description in a magazine of an inglenook which they thought they would like to have in the someday-house.

One night hubby started to show

this picture to a friend and the magazine containing it had disappeared. "We ought to keep things like that" protested hubby energetically. "We may need them some day."

"All right," said his wife, "we will. I'll have a place you can put anything you want to save and then I'll know what I can get rid of."

And so they set apart a place in the new bookcase (which had been given them by hubby's firm and had several aching voids their books had not yet filled) for all kinds of literature on the someday-house.

What They Have On the Shelf.

To-day the shelf contains a very interesting lot of literature. There are two or three books on houses; there are two years copies of one of the best magazines on houses (when they joined the neighborhood magazine club they stipulated that the magazine they were to have to keep at the end of the year should be this one) and a great many advertisements and advertising booklets which they have cut out or sent for from time to time.

THE OTHER FELLOW.

If we were in the other fellow's place. If we knew all that troubles him each day. If we could solve the riddle of his face. And see the many pitfalls in his way. Perhaps we, too, would stand and cry aloud.

And shudder at the jeering of the crowd.

How sorely tempted is the sinner here. Only the sinner well and truly knows; What buds of hope have blighted year by year. Leaving decay where should have bloomed a rose. None but the broken toiler here can tell. Yet, in his place, would we have done so well?

If we were standing where the failure stands. And knew the disappointment he had faced. Had had our life's work crumble in our hands. Or, being weak, had sinned and been disgraced. Perhaps we, too, would shuffle down the street. And lie or steal for something warm to eat.

Better than sneers is pity for the lost. Few men by choice upon life's rocks are wrecked. They that have failed, and now must pay the cost. One hoped to walk the world with heads erect. And we, perhaps, who stretch no hand in aid. Against such odds no better would have played.

THE MARCH

Some one's viewing with alarm, everywhere I chance to stray, overlooking all the charm of the genial winter day. When I leave my squalid hut, fifteen minutes after eight, I am quite a cheerful nut, and I have my smile on straight.

All the world looks good to me, soothing to the heart and mind, every doggone thing I see seems a winner of its kind. But before I walk a block I encounter some poor sump, who puts up a doleful talk from a soul that's pale and limp. He admits the skies are bright, that the sun is going some; "but," he says, "some time to-night forty kinds of storms will come." Everywhere I chance to go, some one's viewing with alarm, handing out big chunks of woe, which will do my spirit harm. When I've walked a half a mile, and have talked with seven guys, I have lost my sunny smile, and the briny fills my eyes. It is always thus, my friend, in the city, on the farm; every place I chance to wend, some one's viewing with alarm.

Fashions and Fads.

The short sleeve is still in favor. Side tunics are new and fetching. The high Medici collar has returned. Real laces are used on tailored lingerie.

Scotch heather sweaters are prominent.

The new Balkan blouse has a high collar.

The entire hat to-day is expressed in the crown.

Figured net is the latest lingerie material.

Colored cotton embroideries are very charming.

Shot taffetas are prized in pompadour patterns.

The new up-and-down trimming is much in vogue.

Eccentric trimmings are features of the overblouse.

200 Hundred Millions Speak English.

It is estimated that the census taken this year will show the population of the United States to be 112 millions.

This means an increase of over 20 millions in the decade, a somewhat remarkable increase when it is remembered that practically half the period was taken up by the war, which although it did not involve the United States in a vast sacrifice of life, interfered with emigration, which had contributed so largely to the increase of population in the previous decade.

The present increase is therefore a natural one, due to the excess of births over deaths, and it should hearten those Americans who a few years ago feared for the vitality of the native stock.

It is hardly likely that a census taken in the near future of any other country that played a part in the war will show an increase of population at all proportionate to that in the United States. Great Britain will probably have a larger population than in 1911, but other countries will perhaps show a loss within their present areas.

The appalling sacrifice of 800,000 lives by Britain during the war, the sharp fall in the birthrate, and the high death-rate during the influenza epidemics, have led some to believe that our population will be smaller at the next census than at the last.

But many of the 800,000 men who fell in the war would have died in the natural course of things if there had been no war, the birth-rate seems to have recovered, the death-rate is healthily low, emigration is next to nothing, and a number of Britons brought home by the war from the far ends of the earth seem to be staying here.

We are at least assured that we are holding our own in numbers, and, unless emigration increases extraordinarily between now and April 1921, our population may easily show a fair increase at the next census. It will hardly be the same in France. She has suffered severely in actual sacrifice of life, and probably has fewer people than before the war within her old territories, but the restored provinces of Alsace and Lorraine will perhaps just make good her loss.

Belgium is recovering quickly, and may not have lost much population through the war. Germany has lost some millions through the surrender of territory, and probably the population in what territory remains to her is not increasing. Austria, once part of an empire of over 50 millions, is now a small land with only nine million people, and many of them are nearly starving.

What the losses or gains in Russia may be no one can say. And it is difficult to reckon exactly the populations of the new States in Middle Europe and the Balkans. But probably the population of Europe as a whole has not greatly increased during the past few years, if it has increased at all. Stoppage of emigration may, however, have set off to some extent the war wastage of lives.

It is satisfactory, in any case, to know that the English-speaking countries of the world are becoming more populous. To the 112 millions of the United States there may be added at the next census at least 65 million whites in the British Empire. This does not necessarily imply the consummation of that great Anglo-Saxondom of which we sometimes talk, for both in America and in the British Empire the race is very mixed, but it does mean that nearly 200 million people will be linked throughout the world by a common tongue. And that may help towards keeping the world's peace.—R. H. B., in "Daily Mail."

The Menace to Europe.

The Turk, according to many eminent authorities, is still the menace to Europe, and if for nothing else his repeated persecutions of the Armenian Christians, should be ejected from his present domains in that continent. Armenia has suffered more terribly from the Ottoman than any other country upon which he has set his rule, and the unhappy people of that ancient nation are still enduring persecution and outrage; tales of which wring the heart and make a touching appeal to Christian sympathy and call for Christian protection. Harried, starved, butchered in cold blood by their inhuman oppressors, their wail ascends to high heaven, but the concert of the Powers turns a deaf ear, and witnesses their misery unmoved, in so far as protection goes. Yet not altogether is the spirit of humanity dead. Food and other relief is being made ready by a generous-hearted public, the donations being universal. But the problem beyond the question of relief is larger and greater.

That problem may be put in the question, what is to be done with the Turks who have caused all this suffering among the Armenians? It is to be expected that the world's moral sense will make the demand upon those capable of putting it into execution that never again will it be possible for the unspeakable Turk to continue to impose their brutal and hideous rule upon those whom for so long they have oppressed and trampled upon. The late W. E. Gladstone was the author of the phrase, now famous, that "the Turk should be bundled bag and baggage out of Europe," but so far this desired expulsion has not been secured, and the Powers do not seem to be able to decide just how to manage the arrangements for a Turkish exodus. It has been intimated that the Supreme Council of the Peace Conference is disposed to permit Turkey to continue in the governing of the territory inhabited by the Armenians. With Palestine, Syria and Mesopotamia freed from Turkish tyranny, it does not seem quite the thing that the bloodstained hand of the Turk should be allowed full power in Armenia and the surrounding countries. Such will not constitute any improvement in the condition of the long-suffering races against which the Turk has a blood lust. Armenia will never be safe, never be immune from massacre so long as the Bosphorus remains in Turkish possession.

Many suggestions have been offered for a solution of this complex problem, but no definite course of action has yet been decided upon, and meanwhile the Turk does as he pleases. "Constantinople," says Lord Bryce, "cannot be left in the hands of the Turks." The late President Roosevelt said "it would be a betrayal of civilization to leave the Turks in Europe." These two opinions dovetail, both of the men expressing them having full and complete knowledge of that about which they were speaking, but no one of the Powers appears inclined to begin the cleaning out process. The difficulties in the way are legion, being made up of religious as well as racial, and require the most delicate diplomatic treatment. But the sore is raw. Turkey is the canker in the body national and international of Europe, and the enlightened conscience of the world will soon be demanding that the Peace Council get busy and remove the evil presence of the Turk once and for all time from Europe.

Spectacular Fire Yesterday.

Flames of Burning House on Signal Hill Seen for Miles Around.
The most spectacular fire seen in St. John's for many years took place on Signal Hill yesterday afternoon, when the residence and outhouse, occupied by Mr. John Bartlett, were completely destroyed. The houses were situated high up on Signal Hill, and as the flames shot skywards they could be seen by everyone in the city beneath and for miles around the suburbs. A quantity of coal in the outhouse, burning, caused big clouds of black smoke, and the reflection of the flames or the smoke presented a magnificent sight. The fire was first discovered by Mrs. Bartlett and her little daughter. Mr. Bartlett was in town at the time. Smelling smoke, they entered an adjoining bedroom and found the place in a blaze. A 'phone message to the Fire Halls was sent in by the Block House, but the impassable condition of Signal Hill Road prevented the companies from going. The nearby ponds were frozen over and nothing to extinguish the fire could be done. The flames gained rapid headway and the houses did not long withstand them. The coal in the outhouse burned for many hours. The cause of the fire is thought to have been sparks escaping from the chimney between the kitchen and the bedroom. Practically all the belongings of Mr. Bartlett were lost and no insurance was carried on them. The building was owned by the Government and was insured.

Branch Installs Officers.

At the annual tea and entertainment of the Albert Edward Branch of the Newfoundland British Society in the British Hall on Tuesday evening the officers for the ensuing year were installed. Mr. J. M. Carberry, Past President of the Adult Body, conducted the installation:
President—H. W. Dicks.
Vice-President—H. Hammond.
Secretary—J. Adey.
Treasurer—R. Dear.
Marshal—N. Pearce.
Deputy Marshal—A. Noseworthy.
Speeches were delivered by Messrs. J. M. Carberry, J. M. Lawrence, W. J. Bugden, W. R. Boone (Past Pres. of the A.E.B.) and H. W. Dicks (Pres.) The President being called to the chair, made a short address, and conducted the concert in a capable manner for which he is noted. Songs and recitations were given by Messrs. J. Peddie, J. Noseworthy, C. Saunders, S. Martin, C. Hammond, W. Hammond, J. Carew, R. Whitten, G. Martin and H. W. Dicks. Prizes were distributed to the members who secured the most candidates during the year and were won by Messrs. R. Lehr, W. Oakley, S. Martin. Refreshments were then partaken of.

Legislator Laid to Rest.

Attended by the most representative following of citizens since the funeral of the late Lord Bishop of Newfoundland, the funeral of the late Hon. A. F. Goodridge took place yesterday afternoon. At St. Thomas's Church the burial service was conducted, prayers being recited by Rev. Dr. Jones and the Lesson read by Bishop White. At the graveside the commitment was conducted by Rev. Canon Bolt.

A Big Success.

On Tuesday evening American Chain Overshoes, in which the principle of the weed chain used on automobile tires has been humanely adapted to horses' shoes, were first tried on the streets of St. John's and created quite a sensation among horse owners. Attached to the fore hoofs of a heavy truck horse they enabled the animal to get a footing on ice and snow without exertion, which his bare hind shoes were unable to hold. Later they were tried on a cab horse and worked with the same results, except owing to a mistake in size one chain got detached. American Chain Overshoes are not sold by blacksmiths. B. I. S. Annual Meeting.

The largest gathering in many years was present at the 114th annual meeting of the Benevolent Society on Tuesday night. After the reports for the year had been read and adopted, Mr. T. H. O'Neill was moved to the chair and, assisted by Dr. V. P. Burke and Messrs. P. J. Grace, M. Savage and R. Alsop, conducted the election of officers for the ensuing term. As all the offices, excepting 2nd assistant-vice-president, were contested, the election proved very exciting. Hon. J. D. Ryan, K.C.S.G., who retired from the Presidency after filling the office for 25 years, thanked the members for their hearty co-operation and assistance during his term, the history of which he briefly reviewed. It may be said that to his interest in the cause of education, is due the erection of the O'Donel Wing, and the Holy Cross School. In the new president of the Society, Mr. W. J. Higgins, K.C., a worthy successor has been found. He is the first of the Christian Brothers' boys to attain this important position. Mr. Higgins for some twelve years was secretary of the Society and filled the position most capably. He also held other offices, and has played a leading part in the athletic affairs of the body and in school movements. He was warmly congratulated on his election, and in replying hoped to follow in the footsteps of his predecessor with credit to the institution and satisfaction to all. The other officers also expressed thanks for their election, and a vote of thanks was accorded Messrs. P. E. Moore, M.H.A., and T. P. Halley, the retiring officers and those who conducted the election, after which the meeting closed.

Following are the new officers:—
President.—W. J. Higgins, K.C.
Vice-President.—J. O. Pippy.
1st Asst. Vice-President.—W. B. Comerford.
2nd Asst. Vice-President.—J. A. Barron, L.L.B.
Treas.—J. C. Campbell.
Secy.—Allan Doyle.
Chairman of Schools.—J. P. Crotty.
Chairman of Charities.—J. J. Mullaly.
Chairman of Reviews and Correspondence.—M. J. Kean.
Secy. of Schools.—J. O'N. Conroy.
The Treasurer and Chairman of Schools were re-elected.

At the Cathedral and St. Patrick's.

Rev. Fr. Connors, C.M., delivered an eloquent sermon on the spiritual benefits of Lent at the R.C. Cathedral last evening. His Grace, the Archbishop, occupied the Throne. The Rosary was recited by Rev. Dr. Greene, and Rev. Fr. Rawlins imparted Benediction. At St. Patrick's church Rev. Fr. Wilson conducted the services, and Rev. Fr. Conroy, of the Vincentian Order, preached a powerful sermon on "Penance."

The Evangelists

At Gower Street Church.

The attendance was remarkably great on Tuesday night; the interest does not abate in any degree. The subject was "The relatives of Jesus," and was presented in a most convincing way, showing that our Lord paid his earthly mother much loving respect, still that human ties could not interfere with his heavenly Father's will, and the Divine character and mission; and that by faith we are related to Christ as if we were his kindred. "For whosoever shall do the will of My Father which is in Heaven, the same is my brother, and sister and mother."

Last night there was another capacity audience. There was the usual whole-souled singing, and a splendid solo by Mr. Demarest. "What my soul seeks, O Redeemer, is Thy wondrous gift of love." It was very touching. Mrs. Demarest began her discourse by reading the following passages. "A new commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another as I have loved you. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another." (John 13: 34, 35). "If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love, even as I have kept my Father's commandments, and abide in his love." "This is my commandment, that ye love one another as I have loved you." "Ye are my friends if ye do whatsoever I command you, that ye love one another." (John 15: 10, 12, 14, 17).

She then read the greater part of that incomparable chapter, the 13th of 1st Corinthians, remarking that Henry Drummond said that every Christian should read this chapter every day of his life. "There is only one sign given in the Scriptures by which men may know Jesus Christ; there is only one infallible proof; only one evidence of our christianity. Only once did Jesus say, 'By this shall all men know me.' 'By this shall all men know me.' He was speaking of the new commandment which He gave to His disciples: 'A new commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another as I have loved you.' 'As I have loved you.' What a standard! Not as a brother loves a brother, as a husband loves his wife, or even as a mother loves her child, but 'as I have loved you.'

"And how did He love us? 'Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends.' True love always spells sacrifice. It is essentially contrary to selfishness. Only those who have ceased to love themselves can really love others. 'By this shall all men know.' Not by your church membership, not by your loud professions, not by partaking of the blessed sacraments, not by your good works or anything else, but—'but your love one to another.'

"There are many counterfeits of love as of everything else in our moral and religious markets. There is lust, selfish desire, love of those who love you, love of being loved, etc., but only the true christian, he who has become a 'partaker' through regeneration of the divine nature can 'love his enemies, bless those that curse him, and pray for those that desperately use him.' It is impossible for the unregenerate to hope to live the 13th of Corinthians, which is the sum total of the christian life. This new Commandment of our Lord Jesus Christ cannot possibly be obeyed by any but His true disciples. For the latter, however, it is obligatory. He will not recognize any as His followers who, though they call His Lord, Lord, do not the things which He says. (Luke 6: 46.)

"I have known men orthodox in their beliefs who could quote the Bible practically from cover to cover, and yet manifested a brutal temper towards their wives and children, whose home life was anything but happy. 'Though I have the gift of prophecy and understanding all knowledge and have not love, I am nothing.'

"I have also known those whose faith in God was such that it surmounted all obstacles, and yet who damned to the lowest pit of hell those who did not see eye to eye with them. 'Though I have all faith, so that I could remove mountains, and have not love, I am nothing.'

"There are those who will make large contributions to charitable institutions and for social betterment, and yet who will not kindly treat and assist some poor relative who has not pleased them in every respect. 'Though I bestow all my gifts to feed the poor and have not love, it profiteth me nothing.'

"When in my teens I heard a story which made an indelible impression on my mind. It was that of an early martyr on his way to the stake, there to be burned alive for his faith, the friend who had betrayed him burst through the crowd and the guarding soldiers and flung himself at his feet, crying, 'I betrayed you. Forgive me before you die. Forgive me.' holding on to his feet and weeping piteously. The martyr never said a word, but spurned him, and quietly walked up the scaffold and there was burned. A frightful story! I always hope that martyr repented before he faced his Lord, for 'though I give my body to be burned and have not love, it profiteth me nothing.'

"Mrs. Demarest also gave a wonderful illustration of John the Baptist in his remarkable self-renunciation, because of his realization of his unworthiness compared to the Lord Jesus Christ, of whom he was the forerunner. 'He must increase, and I must decrease.' This was an illustration of 'Love envieth not' and by incorporating the principle of that wonderful chapter in the life we carry out His directions. To-night the subject may be 'The Price of the Priceless,' but if led otherwise it may be changed. Revs. Swann and Broughton assisted last night. A. W. M.

B. I. S. Dramatic.

Channey O'Connell's famous 1917 success, "The Heart of Paddy Whack," will be the presentation of the Irish Players for St. Patrick's afternoon and night at the Casino Theatre. The theme is a charming, simple love story laid in the suburbs of Dublin with a surprise climax. Through the whole runs a delicious vein of bright and pleasing comedy—even livelier than last year's success, "Molly Bawn." A new leading lady in the person of Miss Mollie Ellis (daughter of Geo. Ellis, Esq.) will make her debut, and shows every promise of becoming a stellar attraction in local theatricals. The production will be under the direction of Mr. F. F. Moore, who plays the title role. Others in the cast will be Meadames Ryall and Callahan; Misses M. Vigners and Mary Grace; Capt. O'Grady, Messrs. W. B. Comerford, Peter O'Mara, P. Grace, Jas. Aiyward and Harry Cole.

PARADE RINK CARNIVAL.—On Tuesday night a Carnival, the first for the season at the Parade Rink, was held and attended by some 300 masqueraders. The ladies' prizes were won by Miss E. Johnson, Mrs. J. Kin-sella, Miss L. Butler and Miss Grant-Ouif. M. J. Gosse, S. James, S. Grimes and Jas. Snow. The affair proved very enjoyable.

Bell Island Star of the Sea

HOLD ENJOYABLE RE-UNION AND SUPPER.

One of the most pleasing events in the annals of the Bell Island Star of the Sea Association, was the Re-union and Smoker held in the new Club Rooms during the past week. The new Executive and House Committee certainly measured up to the occasion, and provided a treat, which was much appreciated by the members present, and which is a forecast of what is to follow during the year, shows that the members are in for a most pleasant social year. The chair was occupied by the newly-elected President, Mr. J. M. Greene, who was ably supported by the Chairman of the House Committee, Mr. M. Dunne, and by the Honorary President, Mr. P. F. Power. Over one hundred members were present, and considering the weather, and the distances they came from, showed that enthusiasm in the Society was soaring high. Prior to the Concert an impromptu Card Game was indulged in; while during the evening refreshments and "smokes" were distributed by Secretary, R. J. Jackman, in a manner that pleased all. Herewith is the programme as rendered:—

1. Opening Remarks—Chairman House Committee.
2. President's Address—Mr. J. M. Greene.
3. Comic Song—Mr. D. J. Jackman.
4. Recitation—Mr. R. R. Costigan.

16. Song—Ex-Corporal Gus Connors.

19. Recitation—Mr. J. M. Greene.
20. Solo and Chorus—Mr. R. R. Costigan.
21. Address—Mr. R. J. Jackman.

With the rendering of the National Anthem was brought to a close the first Club Re-union of the Bell Island Star of the Sea; which it is hoped to be repeated often. The next Club event will take place on next Friday the 20th, at 8.30 p.m., when a short lecture, to be followed by a Card Tournament, will be held.

Knocking Down a Lighthouse.

An extraordinary accident took place near Fleetwood on Saturday, February 19, 1870, as the schooner "Elizabeth Jane," of Preston, which was laden with pig iron and had come from Ardrossan, approached the mouth of the Channel opposite Fleetwood. Adjoining the mouth of the Channel, which is about three miles out of Fleetwood, there was a lighthouse fixed upon screw piles, and, when about half-a-mile off, the captain of the schooner found that he was flowing rapidly inwards, and the vessel, being unable to tack rapidly floated towards the lighthouse, and before the anchor, although quickly lowered, could get a hold, she ran bow foremost into the piles. The collision was very violent, the piles were smashed and the body of the lighthouse, an immense hexagonal wooden frame, filled with windows, and surmounted with a large revolving light, was pitched upon the fore-castle of the vessel. There were two men in the lighthouse, one man working while the other slept. Neither of them suffered any injury, nor were any of the crew of the schooner hurt. The accident was seen by the people on shore, and a tug boat at once steamed out to render assistance. The schooner was afterwards towed into port with the lighthouse still on board. A new lighthouse of stone was built up on the promenade of Fleetwood.

Serious Accidents in Placentia Bay.

Two serious accidents were reported to Mr. W. J. Walsh from his district during the week. At Red Island, F.B., a man named Walsh had his leg shot off, and at North Harbor Patrick Ryan and child were seriously burned in a fire, which, it is presumed, also destroyed his dwelling. At Mr. Walsh's request a doctor is being sent to attend the Ryan's, going from Whitebourne this morning. The Government has been asked to have the Argyle call at Red Island and bring the man Walsh to Placentia, whence he will be brought on to the city for treatment at the hospital.

The Edmund Donald has sailed for Halifax, taking 110 casks of cod liver oil, 15 casks seal oil and 200 bris. of herring from Job Bros. & Co. Capt. Lahey and crew of the schr. Union Jack, have returned to the city. Their vessel, which is loaded with codfish at Little Bay Islands, is frozen in and will be held there until late in the spring. After a run of 69 days from Macpico, the schr. John W. Miller reached port yesterday. The vessel Nina Lee is now on her way from Cadiz, salt laden, to A. E. Hickman & Co. Ltd. The Nellie Louise, which put into Asores in a damaged condition, in November last, is still there undergoing extensive repairs. S.S. Sachem left Halifax at 5 p.m. yesterday for this port.

The Public is the Jury.

Boiled milk keeps longer than raw milk because the bacteria have been destroyed. Boiling, however, destroys the "life" of the milk and lowers its digestibility. Boiled milk will eventually gather bacteria and sour.

"KLIM" is the solids of milk other than fat. It contains practically no moisture. Therefore it will not sour or freeze.

"KLIM" is not cooked or boiled. It is "live" milk in powdered form. Its flavor is that of fresh pasteurized separated milk. It is natural and genuine. It contains no preservative or sweetener.

"KLIM" is now procurable at all the principal grocery stores. A one pound tin costs the consumer 55 cents and makes a full gallon of rich pasteurized milk. You make only just what milk you require at a time and it is therefore most economical for household use.

"KLIM" is not suitable for infant feeding.

Personal.

The many friends of Rev. C. A. Whitmarsh will be pleased to hear that he has recently been called to an important charge in the City of New York, Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church. He is already settled in his new field of labour and prospects for a successful pastorate are very bright. We are also pleased to be able to report that the health of Bro. Whitmarsh is much improved.—Methodist Greeting.

Mr. Alan Noseworthy, son of Head Constable S. Noseworthy, is now third engineer of the S.S. Saturnia of the Anchor Line, plying between Glasgow, Halifax, and Portland, Maine. During the war Alan served on a cruiser in the Persian Gulf and on a monitor on the Yangtze-Kiang River. Since being released from service he obtained his chief engineer's certificate, passing creditably in his first exams.

"Watch Your Feet"

The Lodge School of Spiritualism.

(P. J. K.)
Agreeably frank is the admission of Sir Oliver Lodge, when during one of his lectures in Carnegie Hall at New York, he said, "No man is asked (or expected) to believe what he has not actually experienced, or at least had a literal proof of."

Such an admission by Sir Oliver shows that he does not expect all to accept his closely studied cases as facts, and which is on the whole a complimentary bouquet to even such an audience as sensational, mad, America, brings to the bearing of all mystic. A part of the faith that Sir Oliver Lodge is now an exponent of, is as old as the world itself, and that part is—"the immortality of the soul and the Life Everlasting."

The English Scientist placing this as his foundation to the "New Faith," he now stands for giving an additional possibility—not probability — of an "attentia" to the old creed, and as material as the age we live in, seeks to standardize death with possibilities of explanation rather than what it has ever appeared to be. To accept the teachings of this New School of Spiritualism (as undoubtedly they will be accepted by thousands of the weak and gullible), would be to throw down and destroy as necessary sequences much and many of the dogmas of the creeds and churches.

An examination of the words of Sir Conan Doyle, Mr. Leaf, Sir Oliver Lodge and others of the New Thought, shows those points regarding the next world which have been gleaned from Spirits of the Deaprted.

(1) Life is taken up in the next world at the point it is broken off here.

(2) A person is no better or worse when he enters upon the next world than he was here.

(3) There are the same sources of existence

Here is—in those three points—a distinct contradiction to the Bibles of every church and creed, for what about that edict that "the humble will be exalted," or "after death, comes judgment," or the rewarding of the wicked? Strange truths those, and that yet sound so natural even against such declared and assuming "non-change" as present-day scientists would make probable.

A recent issue of the New York Times reports a warning uttered before the Catholic Library Association by the Rev. Dr. Joseph McMahon against Catholics attending spiritualistic services. He told his congregation that the church placed "an absolute prohibition upon any dabbling in spiritualism," and this was in view of the approaching visit of Sir Oliver Lodge to America.

"The consciences of Catholics are now enlightened by instructions from the Holy See," he said, "and any Catholic attending a service will be conscious that he is sinning against the Holy Ghost." Clergymen of the Protestant Faith, are too, outspoken in this denunciation. Such divines as Rev. Dr. Frederick Lynch, Rev. Dr. P. MacKay, Rev. W. B. Rastorough and others condemn in plain and unmistakable terms the spirit of the new cult. England has gone medium-mad, and never has occultism had so many fervent disciples. Fashionable mediums are having the times of their lives. Their "consulting rooms" are thronged daily with an eager crowd of inquirers, and for a couple of pounds one can hold communication with any of the departed from Socrates down to Dr. Crippen. And as the people have gone mad over this new manifestation, so too have the newspapers and magazines, and hardly a month goes by that some prominent magazine does not feature an article on some form of spiritualism from Sir Conan Doyle, Sir Oliver Lodge, Professor Hyslop, Mrs. De Kovan, Margaret Cameron or some other well known name.

Mrs. Celestine Saunders is the latest to enter the arena, and Mrs. Saunders, who is reputed to be the greatest living prophetess and psychic medium for the Psychological Research Society of America, makes these claims, "That she knows how the soul appears leaving the body. Its action, its size, its color. How the soul attends the funeral of the body. What the soul does before the body is buried. The first expunge of the soul in eternity. Clever Mrs. Saunders!"

But this woman goes farther—as if there were no limit to her impudence. She speaks of casting out Devils, and says that by psychic means evil spirits (that have taken possession of the insane) may be ejected. The new year has come to us charged with some surprising effects, and a madness in sensation is around. There is apparently no limit fixed to which these bold and daring enthusiasts may reach, and in the material light in which the new craze is regarded, nothing is sacred. Men and women are playing with the cult of death, they are grossly handling the mysteries of mysteries and facing in horrible research the infinite. Minds crazed with fanatic enthusiasm are intrepid in this unchristian groping into the spirit life, and forgotten is the ban of God Himself on the mystery of death He has made immutable.

"Teacher" Wants to Know.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—In reviewing the last copy of the N.T.A. Journal I was surprised to read that the Executive of the N.T.A. had voted down the resolution that Teachers be pensioned on two-thirds the average salary for five years. I must confess I fail to see why there is a difference in the pensioning of a teacher and of other civil servants. If we compare the average salary of a teacher with that of the other employees of the civil service, we find the teachers' average is lower.

When the teacher is going to be pensioned he is forced to be retired on two-thirds the average salary for the last ten years, while the civil servant is retired on two-thirds the salary he is receiving at the time of retirement. Yet in all the years he has been teaching, the teacher has worked for a smaller salary than his brother in the other departments. Those gentlemen who form the Executive of the N.T.A., especially the headmasters of the city colleges, have not to worry whether it be a five or ten year average they will be retired on. They have always received a good living wage even before the Government granted those war-time increases to offset the high cost of living. If they were pensioned on two-thirds the average salary for ten years in pre-war days, it would be a very respectable income to live on. In the great majority cases the out-port teacher has not received any kind of a respectable income until the present time. If we look over the school reports they are still receiving fairly modest ones. Then why is the exception made in his case? Why cannot the dominion be generous and place him on the same footing as other Government officials and give him two-thirds the salary he is receiving when he retires from one of the noblest and self-sacrificing professions in the state?

In all associations it is the rule for the executive of the organization to put in concrete shape the expressed views of the majority of the members of the body. The two conventions which were held in St. John's, voted nearly unanimously for two-thirds the teachers' salary the year of retirement. The N.T.A. Executive made no effort to carry out the will of the majority of its organization. They sent no deputation to the Government and get their views on the matter. The members of the Executive discussed the matter amongst themselves and the majority present went so far as to vote down the proposal to give the teachers two-thirds the average salary for five years.

If the present Executive of the N.T.A. does not want to carry out the wishes of the teachers, the teachers should call another convention next summer and elect an Executive that will. The slogan of the convention should be, Teachers should be placed on the same footing as other civil servants and be retired on two-thirds the salary they are receiving when they are retired.

In conclusion, I may add all the teachers of the country should be members of the N.T.A. They should take more interest in the organization, elect an Executive that will carry out the wishes of the teachers and be a powerful factor in the educational life of the dominion.

Sincerely yours,
TEACHER.

To-Night's Literary Debate.

The Methodist College Literary Institute debate for to-night promises to be of particular interest. The subject for discussion will be, "That the Autocracy of Labor is more tyrannical than the Autocracy of Capital." Mr. H. Gordon Bradley, L.L.B., will lead the affirmative side, and Mr. R. F. Horwood the negative. The subject was set for March 4th, but the executive committee changed the fixture. The attendance at the debates this year is larger than for many years past. The organization is singularly fortunate in having in active membership many of our prominent citizens, quite a few of whom are very ready to acknowledge the assistance the Institute has rendered in fitting them for positions of responsibility in the community. Upwards of fifty new members have been admitted this year, which speaks well for its vitality after an existence of fifty-three years. A large attendance to-night is looked for.

To-Night's Hockey.

The line-up of to-night's hockey game will be:

Power	defence	Hunt

Callahan	defence	Rendell
M. Power	right wing	Ewing

BISHOP, SONS & COMPANY, Ltd. - Mail Orders Receive Careful Consideration

Who Said It!

Admiral Sims must disclose the name of the man who gave him that explicit admonition. The country will not be satisfied until his identity is made known. The proper congressional committee must demand it. Amazing and sensational is the written statement of the admiral that in the latter part of March, 1917, in that period of "barely 48 hours" which began with his being ordered abroad and ended with his starting across, he "received no formal instructions or statement of the Navy Department's plans or policy," but only "brief orders delivered verbally in Washington," but that he did receive "the following explicit admonition: 'Don't let the British pull the wool over your eyes. It is none of our business pulling their chestnuts out of the fire. We would as soon fight the British as the Germans. The country must know who said that. However unfortunate, to all who are jealous for the nation's reputation for sincerity, and efficiency, this partial disclosure may seem the full disclosure now is tentative. For that statement involves not only the conduct of the war by the Navy Department but the whole policy of the Administration. It was said at the end of March, 1917. And four days before Admiral Sims arrival in London, less than two weeks presumably from his departure from Washington, the United States declared war on Germany. Long before the President had sent remonstrance upon remonstrance to Berlin—the "strict accountability" note, the "deliberately unfriendly" note, the threat to sever diplomatic relations; not only the Lusitania but the Leelanaw, the Sussex, the Antons, the Cushing, and Gulflight, the Nebraskan and scores more of ships had been put down with the loss of American lives; Count von Bernstorff had been sent home, ruthless submarine warfare had been resumed, the scheming of Germany with Mexico had become known; the President had seemed more than once to vacillate and several times had declared his purpose to keep the country out of war, but on March 21, perhaps before Admiral Sims sailed, Wilson called Congress to meet on April 2 in special session. And yet some one whom Sims accepted as an authoritative spokesman for the administration used the language in question, and the admiral took the "admonition" seriously, and in his reticence it to have been so intended. To be sure Admiral Sims has more than once been reminded of a tendency to indiscreet speech. President Taft reprimanded him years ago for carelessness of that kind. More lately we find Rear Admiral Sir Douglas Brownrigg, in an article upon the naval censorship in Great Britain, narrating the story of a dinner in London, at which Admiral Sims told a lot of facts about the mysterious "Q" boats, and indiscretion of such magnitude that the Englishman after profuse apologies ventured to remind the American of the proprieties of the situation, whereupon the admiral "had the grace to blush" and admitted that he had forgotten the necessity for caution. However, the beans are spilled, and the country wants to know who said it.—Boston Herald.

Lloyd George Made Wilson Look Like a Fool.

A new book which has caused quite a sensation in London is "The Economic Consequences of the Peace," written by J. M. Keynes, a Cambridge man who sat as deputy for the Chancellor of the Exchequer on the Supreme Economic Council at Paris. His estimates of the big figures at the Peace Conference are extremely interesting and a bit startling, although his estimate of President Wilson is very much the same as Frank Simonds', although more strikingly put. In Mr. Keynes' book Clemenceau stands out as an advocate of the Carthaginian peace, the mechanist of the Congress of grey suede gloves and black boots of the country type, "dry in soul and empty of hope," caring only to buttress France against the next war with Germany.

"He spoke seldom," writes Mr. Keynes, "but speech and passion were not lacking when they were wanted, and the sudden outburst of words, often followed by a fit of deep coughing from the chest, produced their impression rather by force of surprise than by persuasion." His plan was to put up his Ministers to make impossible demands against Germany, so that he could throw them over and obtain from George and Wilson as a concession the irreducible minimum on which he had already fixed his mind. President Wilson is the fool of the place—a high-minded theoretical fool—coming over with no ground-work plan by which the Fourteen Points could be realized, with no knowledge of Europe, and utterly impervious to atmosphere or to the mentality of the allied statesmen, of whom Mr. Keynes said he was the dope. Worst of all, "his hands, though capable and fairly strong, were wanting in sensitiveness and fineness." "What chance," asks Mr. Keynes, "could such a man like Mr. Wilson have against Mr. Lloyd George's unerring, almost medium-like sensibility of everyone immediately around him? To see the British Prime Minister watching the company with six or seven senses not available to ordinary men, judging character, motives, and subconscious impulse, perceiving what each man was thinking and even what each man was going to say next, was to realize that the poor President would be playing blind man's bluff in that party." The author clearly regards both Clemenceau and Lloyd George as unscrupulous. The former he excuses on the grounds of bigoted patriotism; for Lloyd George he put in no defence. Between them, they bamboozled the President and cheated "this blind and deaf Don Quixote" out of his new world. All this makes rather ironic reading after recent events at Washington. Still, it is Mr. Keynes' view, buttressed by intimate knowledge and presented with great literary skill.

The German Attitude.

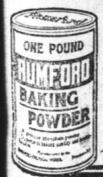

Germany's disinclination to accede to the demand of the Allies for the surrender of Germans charged with war crimes is a test of the Peace Treaty. It is less its purpose to protect 896 Germans whose extradition the Allies demand than it is to see whether the terms of the Peace Treaty can be broken. This is the clause in the treaty under which the demand for extradition is made: "The German Government shall hand over to the Allied and Associated Powers, or to such one of them as shall so request, all persons accused of having committed an act in violation of the laws and customs of war, who are specified either by name or by the rank, office, or employment which they held under the German authorities." If that clause of the treaty can be successfully ignored; and so they will be. It is easy to see in the present course of the German government a survival of that spirit which made the war begun in 1914 inevitable, that led to the rape of Belgium and the callous disregard for every pledge which Germany as a nation had made. On January 25 at Berlin, in a mass meeting to protest against this extradition, a National Liberal member of the Assembly precisely echoed the notorious and un-forgotten assertion of Germany that a treaty was a scrap of paper. For it was his contention, but ten days ago, that though the present treaty obligated Germany to surrender the men asked for, that promise was null and void before "the Supreme Judge." To the mind of Germany there is no binding force in a treaty. To the mind of Germany the Supreme Judge is enlisted in the German cause. Has Germany learned so little? There is the making of war to come in that attitude.—Boston Record.

Colliery Explosion Near Hanley.

An explosion took place on Tuesday afternoon, February 18, 1920, at the colliery of the North Staffordshire Iron and Coal Company, at Talko-on-the-Hill, near Hanley, where three hundred men and boys were employed. In the "eight-foot seam," where the explosion occurred, not more than twenty-three or twenty-four were at work at that time. Some parts of the workings underground were set on fire by the explosion, and the roof of the roadways also fell in, which, together with the "after-damp," or suffocating carbonic acid gas, that followed the combustion of the "fire-damp," or carburetted hydrogen, made it impossible for several hours to reach the place where the men were. Some of the explorers, who went down the shaft in the "cage," used for ordinary descent and ascent, were drawn up again completely exhausted, as were most of the colliers who had been working in the "seven-foot seam" adjoining that which was the actual seat of the explosion. It was the task of several hours to extinguish the flames below, when the number of victims positively ascertained was reckoned at eighteen. Six years before a similar accident caused the loss of the lives of eighty workmen.

Fads and Fashions.

Figured voile is used for children's play frocks. Long sleeves with puffed tops are coming into favor. Silk ratine is much used for Southern sweaters. Navy is still the lasting color for general wear. Deep pockets at the side give the extended hip line. Silver lace appears on gray taffeta afternoon gowns. The corsages of evening gowns continue to be very spare. The French designers are very partial to the cape wrap. Bouffant frocks of lace are wired to increase their fluffiness. The blouse effect in dresses is new and decidedly smart. One sees beautiful suits made entirely of caracul or mole.

THE NEW CHAMPION

This NEW MODEL, built in the Champion Factory at St. John's, is the LAST WORD in Marine Motor Construction, having two inlet and two exhaust valves on the head. Will burn kerosene through the Schebler Carburetor, as well as gasoline, using no extra fuel, but developing the same power at a lower price.

The NEW MODEL will be supplied with two separate Ignition Systems in either High Tension Waterproof Magneto, or Jump Spark with Timer. Also Jump Spark with Timer, and Make and Break System.

The new engine can be started and run at any time with the two systems working at once.

In accessibility it cannot be beaten, as the complete engine can be taken apart with one money wrench in twenty minutes.

The remarkable reputation which the former Champions have earned from their sturdy construction, their marvellous power, and low fuel consumption, and the fact that there has not been five cents in repair parts replaced on any Champion Engine running last year, proves that the Champion—the entirely NEWFOUNDLAND BUILT MOTOR ENGINE—is the finest machine that can be installed in the WORKING BOAT.

The New Engine will live up to its reputation and make a better.

We are concentrating most of our time on this NEW MODEL, and will be ready to make deliveries on MARCH 1st at the rate of six or more a day, about which time we will publish a list of dealers in ST. JOHN'S and OUTPORTS in NEWFOUNDLAND, where the NEW CHAMPION can be purchased.

We would urge every prospective purchaser, also dealers, to write or call, or wire, and have one of these new engines reserved for Spring delivery. They are made in the following sizes: 5, 6 and 8 H.P.; also two-cycle 3 and 4 H.P.

Visiting the Old Home.

Mr. Valentine Merchant, an old and well known former resident of St. John's, is now visiting the city. For the past thirty years or more he has been residing in Kingston, Ontario, where he carries on a successful jewellery business. "Val," as he was familiarly called, and his brother Frank, who left here for Australia many years ago, were among the first pupils to enter St. Bonaventure's College at its opening. They were also class-mates of the late Archbishop Howley, as also of the late R. Ratus, F. Blundon, N. Armstrong and other well known pupils of that day. Mr. Merchant, who is looking hale and hearty, intends calling on many of his old-time friends during his stay.

Cost of Removing Snow.

The Municipal Council has expended $3,204.22 more than the amount of the contract with the Reid Co., for the removal of snow from the street railway line. The contract with the Reid Co. was for $2,587.50. On account of the extraordinary snow fall this winter the expenditure for removal has been the highest in the annals of the Council.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES GARTHER IN COWS.

The Exchange Question.

HON. JOHN ANDERSON RETALIATES.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir—I would pass by "Curb Broker's" insolent letter, which appeared in your issue of the 17th inst., were it not that I am afraid of other persons, as ignorant as "Curb Broker" himself (which scarcely seems possible), might have misconstrued my meaning when I said it was more profitable to this Dominion to import from Canada than from the United States. These are the words and figures I used:

"It is to Canada we must look for the reduction in the high cost of living in foodstuffs, and other productions of that great manufacturing country. With exchange on New York at 10% to 15% against Canada and Newfoundland and exchange still going up, we are paying for pork, flour, beef and all other kinds of commodities imported from the United States ten to fifteen per cent. higher than from the Dominion of Canada. If the latter can supply the goods, and prices being equal, we must increase the trade of Newfoundland with our sister Dominion.

"For example if we buy from the United States:

200 brls. Pork at $40. . . . $ 8,000.00
200 brls. Flour at $10. . . . 2,000.00

Payment by New York exchange at 15% 1,500.00

We pay $11,500.00

Dominion of Canada.

200 brls. Pork at $40. . . . $ 8,000.00

200 brls. Flour at $10. . . . 2,000.00

$10,000.00

Collection draft ¼ of 1% 25.00

$10,025.00

United States—Pork $46 per barrel; Flour $11.50 per barrel.

Dominion of Canada—Pork $40. per barrel; Flour $10.00 per barrel."

When citing the instances of Pork and Flour, I was merely, as I clearly stated, giving examples of what exchange meant, and I implicitly made the proviso that "if Canada can supply the goods, and prices being equal, we must increase the trade of Newfoundland with our sister Dominion."

It is, therefore, preferable to purchase Pork and Flour or any commodities in Canada, if possible. To support my contention, the following recent public messages are of interest:

Discontinuing Importations of American Fodder.

Copenhagen, Feb. 16.

Danish importers have decided to discontinue all importations of American cattle fodder because of the extremely high rate of exchange. It was stated to-day in business circles.

Exchange Stops Export.

New York, Feb. 17.

Steamship men and marine insurance brokers here report that a material slump in exports to Europe has resulted from the foreign exchange situation, with accompanying restrictions as to financing bills of lading. Many steamships have been compelled to depart with partial cargoes.

No Shipments Being Made.

Chicago, Feb. 17.

The statements that the export trade of the American Meat Packers, the largest single industry in the United States, has practically ceased as a result of foreign trade situation, was made in a bulletin issued yesterday by the Institute of American Meat Packers. Beef exports ceased some time ago, and during the past month pork exports have also dried up.

The above cablegrams are the best answer to "Curb Broker's" attempts to ridicule my statement. My anonymous critic's remarks, therefore, are more abusive than valuable. He is like "The Philosopher Toad."

"Deep down in a hollow some wisecracker sits,
Like a toad in his cell in the stone;
Around them in daylight the blind owlets sit,
And their creeds are with ivy o'er-grown.

"Contented to dwell deep down in the wall
Or move like the snail in the crust of his shell,
Or live like the toad in his narrow abode
With their souls closely wedged in a thick wall of stone,
By the grew weeds of prejudice rankly o'er-grown."

"Curb Broker," the wisecracker-critic, is of the kind who see no good in anything, or like the man who, when he pricks his finger, bleeds lemon-juice. If he can give to the public some intelligent views on National or International exchange he might do some good, but he appears to have acquired so many of the porcine qualities of the ware he sells, that he is incapable of doing anything else but grunt.

Yours faithfully,
JOHN ANDERSON.

Important Announcement!

We are now ready to announce to the trade and to the public generally the opening of our Manufacturing Concern of Ladies' Readymades.

This is an enterprise which merchants will hail with joy, as Newfoundland has always been greatly affected by the lack of local made Ladies' Readymades, and at the present time this drawback is more keenly felt than ever before.

The severe rate of exchange, the high duties, freight charges and the uncertainty of safe transportation, which heretofore was a source of worry and trouble to you, we now shift to our shoulders and deliver to you at your door the finished product, in perfect condition, and at prices far cheaper than that of imported merchandise.

Another benefit that you derive from local made goods is that the local manufacturer strives to produce his merchandise to suit the needs and tastes of the Newfoundland people; a thing which foreign manufacturers cannot and do not do. We have made a careful study of the Newfoundland woman's likes and dislikes in the matter of Readymades and we are now producing Costumes, Raglans and Skirts to please your customers.

Advocate local made goods and increase your business. We are now showing samples. If you cannot call, drop us a card and our representative will call.

Isn't It Wonderful?

THIS tin of Klim, pasteurized separated milk in powder form, represents the modern development in the use of such milk. Just as the flour mills make better flour than the old-time grind-stone method, so is Klim purer, less expensive, less wasteful and easier to keep than the same milk in liquid form. Get Klim from your grocer. Use from the tin as needed. Will not freeze nor turn sour. No bottles to wash, no tickets to buy. Write for "The Wonderful Story of Klim," an interesting recipe book. 55c. at your Grocer's.
