CLEAN UP RUSSIA, JOB FOR NATIONS

American Commercial Attache Tells of Terrible Conditions Among Muscovites.

"I think Russia is a job for the league of nations," was the conclusion arrived at by Dr. W. C. Huntington, at the Canadian Club yesterday. Dr. Huntington has been the United States commissioner at Petrograd, and his account of the state of Russia was the most vivid, the most detailed, and the most impartial that has been heard in Toronto. He gave the Bolsheviks credit for anything that it was possible to credit them with, but the whole situation was the result of starvation and ignorance, or as he tersely put it, emptiness of belly and anarchy of mind.

He described Russia as a laboratory in which vivisection was carried on, with experiments on the living body of society itself.

He was not talking sob-stuff, which he hated, but the said he was deeply touched with the events that had upset the world. People were so engrossed with what was going on they could not distinguish the true from the false. He wished to give as true an account as he could.

It was a triple tragedy of isolation from western Europe, of vastness, and of climate. They had been cut off from all western influences, and the crusades, the renaissance, the Protestant learning of the post-reformation period had left them untouched.

They were not like Britain, isolated on an island, but were subjected to invasion from every side, and their climate induced a hardness of character and a narrowness which was not intelligible to the Anglo-Saxons to whom life was a comedy in comparison.

Establishment of Democracy.

An unsuccessful effort had been made for eight months to establish democracy in Russia. The upper tenth was too theoretical. They had no experience of life. The lower nine-tenths did not know the difference between liberty and anarchy. They reminded him, he said, of the Pope and the Irish, who were so accustomed to denouncing evils that they did not know what to do when the evils were removed.

"The trouble with Bolshevism is that it is not a creed, but a method," he said. "It is not Socialism. The Socialists hate it. The Bolsheviks have done just what Germany set out to do to get what they wanted by any means. They are the quintessence of unscrupulousness."

"It is the old thing, as old as the world—I want this and I need it, I take it. It has never worked, and it does not work in Russia," he added.

"There is nothing wrong with the soviet organization per se. The Bolsheviks seized it, and it is now a steam-roller business. If the local soviet does not do what is required, orders come from above, and it is replaced. It is not actually a representative organization any more. There is freedom of the press. Nothing but the mildest criticism is allowed," was another point.

"Lenin is a man of good family. He is a fanatic with a mind like a corkscrew. He was described by a friend of Dr. Huntington's as a man who in America would have been a Sunday school superintendent in a Missouri town of 500 people, with children, and would have been a tinsmith by trade."

Trotsky is more brilliant, but not the great man that Lenin is. Make no mistake, said Dr. Huntington, Lenin is able.

Two-thirds of the Bolshevik party are Jewish. The Russian Jew is the intellectual superior of the gentile, and he has a long career of persecution behind him. They are working off an old grudge, but the better class of Russian Jews do not approve of the Bolsheviks.

Dr. Huntington also dealt at length with questions of the land, finance, factory working, the situation, however, he thought was hopeless unless the league of nations took hold of it.

TAXING OFFICER THOM OF OSGOODE HALL DEAD

John H. Thom, who for many years was chief taxing officer at Osgoode Hall, died at his residence, 54 South Drive, on Saturday.

The late Mr. Thom was born in Scarborough in 1837. He was educated at the Toronto Academy and Upper Canada College. From the Toronto University he graduated in arts, and later graduated from Knox College for the Presbyterian ministry.

Mr. Thom was a partner in the law firm of Beattie, Selous and Moss, leaving to become taxing officer. At the time of his death he was the third oldest official at the hall from the standpoint of seniority.

He is survived by his widow and one daughter, Mrs. F. Scott, 5 Rosedale road.

HAD LIQUOR IN STABLE.

John Gilbert was fined $200 and costs in police court yesterday morning for a breach of the Ontario temperance act. Gilbert had obtained a bottle of liquor from the vendors with a doctor's prescription. Gilbert was not in a stable with the bottle and despite an argument by counsel representing Gilbert, Magistrate Kingsford maintained that it was an offense for Gilbert to have liquor in a stable and imposed the fine.

YOUNG BAPTISTS' CONVENTION

Toronto Young People's Baptist Union is arranging to celebrate Victoria Day, May 24th, by attending an interprovincial B.Y.P.U. convention, for Ontario and Quebec, beginning on that date.

As over a thousand delegates were reported at the recent Baptist convention in Toronto, a large attendance is expected to the young people's convention at Hamilton.

SOLDIER'S UNHAPPY PLIGHT

Needing a hundred dollars odd to pay off certain debts, unable to get either gratuity or arrears in pension from the government because he is on the strength of the I. S. C., yet entitled to at least $400, such is the position of Chas H. Stock, former secretary of Riverdale G. W. V. A., a man who has often been able to get grants for other comrades in the past.

Yesterday he presented his case to the organizing secretary of the G. W. V. A., J. V. Conroy, and stated to The World that it was a remarkable error on the part of the authorities to refuse gratuities to patients until they had left the strength of the I. S. C. with the chances of some of them dying, thus leaving their families entirely bereft of the gratuities. In this connection he pointed out that if a returned man died months before his gratuity had been fully paid payments would be made, none being permitted to his dependents in the event of his death.

HELP BLIND SOLDIERS

The field service and home teaching departments of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, conducted a scouting and outpost work. The field worker uncovers new cases and "home teacher" carries on by giving instruction to those who cannot leave the home.

In an Ontario community, not long ago, two cases were investigated. One was the blind and crippled son of an impecunious mother. This boy (the most a young man), has ambition, but is terribly handicapped by his enfeeblement. The institute's scout in her visits to the home has learned to carry on conversation with one hand on the door knob in case discretion becomes the better part of valor.

The other case was that of a young woman whose father is a religious fanatic. The daughter lost her sight suddenly and would like to learn to read and write by touch. The father refuses to allow anything to be done as he firmly believes a miracle will be brought to restore sight. He does not, apparently, recognize in the activities of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, the workings of a modern miracle.

These are simple problems which the institute endeavors to solve. The majority of cases, however, present only the problem of supplying the demand for tuition and after care.

Major B. L. Johnston, who resides on Woodlawn avenue, and who went overseas with the original 3rd Battalion, has arrived home after being a prisoner in Germany for over three years. In the battle of St. Julien on April 24, 1915, he was captured by the Germans. After spending over three years in various prison camps he was exchanged to Holland in March, 1918. In October of 1918 he was sent back to England. Major Johnston was formerly manager of the Dominion Bank at the corner of Queen and Victoria streets.

The G.A.C. will hold a general meeting on Friday, March 14. Matters of vital importance will be discussed at that session, and The G.A.C. Weekly will follow soon after, if it is not on the streets before. The illness of Comrade McGuigan has retarded the project of the cigar cooperative store, but this will be under way within the next two weeks, according to information given out from headquarters.

Branches of the G. A. C. have been organized at Montreal and Niagara Falls, and 25 new members were added yesterday to the roster at St. Catharines.

The parliamentary, finance, district organization, constitution, social service and other committees of the provincial executive of the Ontario G.W.V.A. were in session yesterday at the Kent Building preparing reports for today, upon important questions relating to affiliation with other organizations, pensions, and other matters of vital importance to

DOCTOR SAYS HE LOST PRACTICE THRU WIFE

Appeals Magistrate's Conviction Sentencing Him for Non-Support.

Dr. H. C. Hargrave appeared before Judge Coatsworth in the criminal sessions yesterday to appeal his recent conviction in the police court by Magistrate Kingford to serve four months in jail for the alleged non-support of his wife.

The first witness, Mrs. Hargrave, told the court that she had married the appellant in 1892 and had five children with him. She had lived, stated the witness, in a house on Hogarth avenue, which belonged to defendant's mother, and while in residence there she had occasionally received $5 and $10, but had no steady income outside that which was assigned her by her soldier son Harold Hargrave.

Under cross-examination by Hamilton Cassels, K.C., witness admitted that she was only supporting one of her children, but she had herself never tried to earn anything. Proceedings had been taken by herself with regard to securing support for this younger child and Laura the medium of the children's court she received the court award till the child was sixteen.

Witness further stated that she had received no support since 1913, although she had secured a judgment of $40 a week alimony, which still remained unsettled. In reply to Mr. Cassels, witness admitted that her husband had tried to get a divorce, but this had been refused in 1914. She declined further trying to get money from defendant a patient.

"Do you want your husband sent to jail?" queried counsel for the defence, and Mrs. Hargrave broke down in court.

Had Lost Practice.

Dr. Hargrave, giving evidence in his own behalf, told of separating from his wife in 1910, and admitted going to Reno in 1910 to secure a divorce. He supported his wife to the best of his ability, stated witness, but he had lost practically all of his practice as a result of his wife interfering with his patients, and the result of his wife's interference was that he had lost his practice.

He admitted that while he was at the university his wife had taken in the bills of the children, but the children's court had been paid after pressure was used.

"You would rather go to jail than support your wife and children. That is the attitude you take, isn't it?" asked Mr. Greer.

"I am unable to comply with the demands of my wife's lawyers. I don't consider that to be a defiance of the law."

Dr. Hargrave, a son of the accused, who appeared in a soldier's uniform, testified that he had assigned all his pay to his mother. He alleged that his mother had been forced to leave her home by his father. Another son, Wilfred Hargrave, who had been discharged from the army, gave similar evidence.

His honor reserved judgment for a week.

WANTS SCHOOL LEAVING AGE TO BE SEVENTEEN

Chief Inspector R. H. Cowley, of the board of education, is promoting a partial raising of the school leaving age in Toronto, for non-efficient pupils, to 17 years. In support of this movement the chief inspector of schools for Toronto in a recommendation to the board of education points out that the Ontario school law empowers city school boards to make ample provision for the further education of young persons for two years after the usual compulsory school attendance age of fourteen. Mr. Cowley points out that action under this law was approved by the board of education three years ago. The law respecting persons from 14 to 17 years of age allows for their employment in business part of the time, but calls for the provision of special courses of studies.

It is expected that some action will be taken to put it into effect in Toronto this year.

GOES AS MISSIONARY TO WEST AFRICA

Owing to the close of the war Dr. Capt. Norman W. Davis, of McMaster University, will go as a missionary to Nigeria instead of accompanying a British East African expeditionary force of 2,000 natives to which he had been appointed as interpreter. He was on a mission field in Africa when appointed to the expeditionary force, but has come to Toronto on furlough. He will shortly go back to the mission in Nigeria.

HOLY TRINITY CHURCH.

The number of people attending the noon services at "the old church in the square" indicates how these ten services are appreciated. Rev. W. Pearson Robertson, rector of the Church of St. Thomas, Hamilton, who is preaching this week, discoursed yesterday on the words of St. John, "God is Light," as one of the great truths brought out about God to the rude agnosticism, the others being that He is love, righteousness and life.

MARKHAM FARMER ACQUITTED.

Arthur Snowball, a young married farmer from Markham, was yesterday found not guilty by Judge Coatsworth on a charge of assault on a young girl.

RETURNED SOLDIERS.

The returned soldier. The following compose the executive:

Provincial president, C. E. Jenkins, Brantford; vice-president, G. R. Bell, Toronto; W. G. Coles, London; provincial secretary, W. E. Turley; commodore, Thom. Magdaleny, M.L.A., Cobalt; R. Harrison, Windsor; H. S'antoni, Peterboro; W. D. Sharpe, Brampton; E. Appleyard, Woodstock; C. L. Wilcox, Oakawa; Wm. Sara, Port Arthur; E. L. O'Flynn, Belleville; A. H. Peart, Hamilton.

A meeting of all returned 34th Battery boys is being held on Friday. Any who have returned, but not received notice, are requested to phone Major Massie, Main 6795.

Relatives of Brig.-Gen. M. A. Colquhoun deny that the ever prophesied trouble at the Rhyll camp, Brig.-General Colquhoun is one of two Brantford men who have risen in the service with remarkable rapidity. A fairly well-known business man and company captain with the 88th Dufferin Rifles at Brantford, in 1913, he was gazetted to the 4th Battalion in August, 1914. When the fateful days of 1915 were closed, the services of Major Colquhoun were again rewarded with the position of Colonel, that famous battalion. Later he commanded a brigade at Witley camp. Another Brantfordian of note is General E. C. Ashburn, formerly general of the Canadian forces at Ottawa, well-known Brantford physician and the colonel of the 88th Dufferin Rifles.

Dr. Ashburn, finally returning to Canada, where he was soon given his present responsible office.

Many returned men have complained of delays with respect to the receipt of monthly pensions cheques. Replying yesterday to one man with a grievance, Toronto official of the board of pensions commissioners stated that the regulation ordering cheques for the current month to be sent out at the end of the month, which the local office had no responsibility. In this case the pensioner had received his cheque on January 3rd or 4th, perhaps even in the beginning of the month, was one of those who had no responsibility. DOCTOR SAYS HE LOST PRACTICE THRU WIFE

Appeals Magistrate's Conviction Sentencing Him for Non-Support.

Dr. H. C. Hargrave appeared before Judge Coatsworth in the criminal sessions yesterday to appeal his recent conviction in the police court by Magistrate Kingford to serve four months in jail for the alleged non-support of his wife.

The first witness, Mrs. Hargrave, told the court that she had married the appellant in 1892 and had five children with him. She had lived, stated the witness, in a house on Hogarth avenue, which belonged to defendant's mother, and while in residence there she had occasionally received $5 and $10, but had no steady income outside that which was assigned her by her soldier son Harold Hargrave.

Under cross-examination by Hamilton Cassels, K.C., witness admitted that she was only supporting one of her children, but she had herself never tried to earn anything. Proceedings had been taken by herself with regard to securing support for this younger child and Laura the medium of the children's court she received the court award till the child was sixteen.

Witness further stated that she had received no support since 1913, although she had secured a judgment of $40 a week alimony, which still remained unsettled. In reply to Mr. Cassels, witness admitted that her husband had tried to get a divorce, but this had been refused in 1914. She declined further trying to get money from defendant a patient.

"Do you want your husband sent to jail?" queried counsel for the defence, and Mrs. Hargrave broke down in court.

Had Lost Practice.

Dr. Hargrave, giving evidence in his own behalf, told of separating from his wife in 1910, and admitted going to Reno in 1910 to secure a divorce. He supported his wife to the best of his ability, stated witness, but he had lost practically all of his practice as a result of his wife interfering with his patients, and the result of his wife's interference was that he had lost his practice.

He admitted that while he was at the university his wife had taken in the bills of the children, but the children's court had been paid after pressure was used.

"You would rather go to jail than support your wife and children. That is the attitude you take, isn't it?" asked Mr. Greer.

"I am unable to comply with the demands of my wife's lawyers. I don't consider that to be a defiance of the law."

Dr. Hargrave, a son of the accused, who appeared in a soldier's uniform, testified that he had assigned all his pay to his mother. He alleged that his mother had been forced to leave her home by his father. Another son, Wilfred Hargrave, who had been discharged from the army, gave similar evidence.

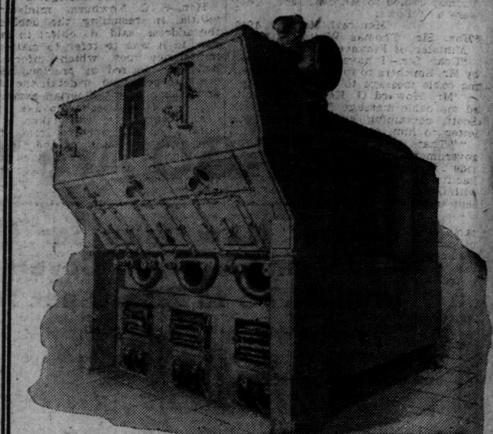

His honor reserved judgment for a week.

RUSSIAN WAS SENTENCED.

"Let me go, Mr. Judge, I never done this business," was the piteous appeal of Fred Oesdy, a Russian, who was yesterday sentenced to three years in the Kingston Penitentiary, by Judge Coatsworth, for shooting with intent to kill at County Constable Davidson, who was chasing him, and several other persons, in possession of liquor on Kingston road.

Oesdy, a tall, well set up young man, first asked, thru his counsel, Fletcher Kerr, that he be allowed to serve his term in Russia. The petition was disregarded by the judge, who informed the prisoner, however, that if application were made he would report in favor of deportation.

EMBRYO ORATORS' SPLENDID EFFORTS

Pupils of Brown School Take Part in Interesting Contest.

If the introduction of the home and school club movement into Toronto had done nothing more than inaugurate the annual oratorical contest in the Brown School, St. Clair avenue, it would have justified its existence. Yesterday afternoon the second annual event took place, when eleven fourth class pupils took part and acquitted themselves so well that their work was both interesting and informing to the audience of adults and children present.

For the most part the subjects chosen dealt with modern science, among these being the telephone, wireless, airplane, and the submarine. Variety was given, however, by addresses on "The Wooden Horse of Troy," "Porcelain," and other subjects. The judges were Miss Gertrude Lawler, M.A., Prof. Auger of Victoria College, and W. C. Ferguson of the School of Paucity. In summing up the contest, which he said was very creditable to the teachers.

The prize winners were the following in the order given: Gailher Zink, subject "Porcelain"; Carolyn Davidson, subject "Ball"; Carolyn Davidson, subject "Horatio Nelson"; Donald McGregor, subject "The Telephone"; Ruth Rogers, subject "Porcelain"; John Carr, subject "The Land of the Rising Sun." The prizes are books, the fly-leaf of which will be illustrated by Miss King, a teacher in the Brown School, who has won many honors for her work in this line, and with which she enriches her teaching. The awards are given by the club.

At the close of the contest, Mrs. C. W. Wynyard, president of the club, suggested the buying of a Canadian flag to be placed in the hall, and the children taught to salute it as they entered. The president in this connection referred to the beautiful ceremonies with which "Saluting the Flag" is conducted in the United States, and its effect upon the development of patriotism. Mrs. E. F. Reburn spoke along the same line. The matter was left over for discussion with W. J. Thomson, principal of the school, to whether the innovation would be approved by the board.

CAPT. TOM FORWOOD RETURNING FROM FRANCE

Capt. Thomas Forwood, Q. O. R. has been in Lkaki since the outbreak of war. At first with 19th Battalion, Expeditionary Camp, being a member of the Toronto Board of Trade, he drilled the home guard of that organization. Transferring from the 18th to the 59th he went overseas with that battalion in the early part of autumn of 1915, serving in France for over three and one-half years. Capt. Forwood cables that he expects to sail for home this week with his battalion.

Capt. Forwood is the son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wisniewski, Bedford road, and a member of the Toronto Stock Exchange, firm of Tomenson, Forwood & Co.

EX-DEPUTY CHIEF DENIES CRUELTY

Did Not Tell Sick Constable He Must Work or Quit Force.

Surely it is a sign of the times and some proof that Canada is a real democracy when a police constable cross-examines his ex-deputy chief, thruout a sitting of a royal commission. The police probe, like the mills of God, grinds slowly. The commissioners are getting all the facts.

Ex-Deputy Chief Archibald was the principal witness yesterday. He was interrogated at length by P. C. Evans as to the "crimes" committed by the police and the punishments awarded. According to the deputy chief's evidence, it had been his duty to run a sort of police force orderly room to deal with minor offences, such as "late on parade," "padding sick without cause," etc. Punishments, "fined two days' pay," "extra drills," etc., were awarded.

The case of P. C. Martin, who claimed that he was compelled to go on duty suffering pain in the back, was traversed. He had been injured by a sign falling on him.

Ex-Deputy Chief Archibald said that when Dr. Eddie had pronounced Constable Martin fit for duty, he had been assigned to what were considered light jobs.

"Did you tell Martin that the doctor said he was perfectly well, and if he was not on the door he would be dismissed?" asked P. C. Evans.

"I never said that to a man in my life," replied the witness.

With regard to trade affiliations, Mr. Archibald, in response to further questions, said that in his opinion a police union within the force might be beneficial, but ties with outside organizations might weaken the efficiency of the police in the event of strikes. He himself had felt the need for complete detachment so thoroughly, that he had never joined any secret society.

Further interrogation revealed the fact that a deputation from the Police Benevolent Fund had been accorded a hearing, another which came to present certain grievances had been disqualified on the ground that it did not represent the force.

TUESDAY MORNING, MARCH 11.

Hands Off, Canadian Pacific!

Canada owes nothing to the Canadian Pacific. This road has a system across the continent, has lands, has money, reserves, more assets than almost any company in the world. It has opportunity.

Canada desires to take over the Grand Trunk; first, because of what the Grand Trunk owes Canada; second, because we need the old Grand Trunk and its connections to complete our National Railway system.

Why should the Canadian Pacific and its newspaper friends try to block us in this legitimate desire? And yet Lord Shaughnessy in England, President Beattie in Montreal, are working day and night to delay Canada taking over the Grand Trunk for just cause. Canada will treat the shareholders of the Grand Trunk better than anyone else will treat them.

The London crowd who control the board of the Grand Trunk are not working for the shareholders of that company; they seek to preserve railway power and position for self advantage.

The people of the United States have learned one thing since the fall-down of the American railroads before and since the war: that these lines had to do with the public who used the roads and paid the freight and travel charges; the shareholders who owned the securities; and third, the so-called "executives" who had the control of the roads and administered them, and on the side made big money out of "financing" the roads, buying railway equipment, letting contracts with all kinds of subsidiary companies—sleeping car lines, express companies, carriage concerns, baggage delivery privileges, etc. These executives gave the public, and often even more so the shareholders, the worst of the deal. But they got rich themselves.

The Canadian Pacific executive of today wishes to see the reign of these magnates continued, even in the case of the Grand Trunk.

There is an attempt to put something new and should not be tolerated for a moment by the city council. Under the present constitution of finance, the city's accounts have been brought into excellent shape on the basis of pay-as-we-go policy. We have had some stiff years catching up on the transgressions of the past, when these postponed payments had to be met in a very short time, the load will be appreciably lighter, and nothing should be permitted to interfere with the attainment of the soundest financial position by the city. It would be a gross interference to permit the issue of debentures for current expenses at this time.

The repeal of the municipal tax of a mill on the dollar saves over $600,000 to the city this year. With this leeway, there is no reason why the annual budget should not be acceptable to a city which has prospered under the shadow of the war, perhaps beyond any city in the empire. At any rate, we are able to pay as we go, and we should repel any attempt to leave our expenses to be paid by the boys who are returning from the battlefields of Flanders.

A Way Out in Russia. In Dr. Huntington's brilliant and informing address on Russia at the Canadian Club yesterday, he quoted the view of a representative Bolshevik that the progress of society was held back by the church and the home, and they must be abolished. It is in pursuance of this policy that the Bolsheviks have laid violent hands upon the patriarch head of the Russian Church, Dr. Tykhon.

The Russian Church, as reorganized since the revolution, is the most democratic church in the world, and therefore the strongest antagonist of Bolshevism. All the creatures of the czar were ejected and the holy synod reconstructed from such churchmen as were well known to and trusted by the people. A council elected by universal suffrage, men and women voting, was summoned to consider church reforms. The priests were elected by their parishes, the bishops by their dioceses, and metropolitans by the people of their districts. The supreme power of the church rested in the council. Dr. Tykhon was elected head of this universal church, and there is no exception to the view that he is the finest man in Russia for the position.

As a democratic and representative body, the Russian Church thus presents the only organized front against Bolshevist anarchy. Every orthodox Russian is an expert in church affairs, says a contributor to The Boston Monitor, and so the Russian Church was able to accomplish a perfectly orderly revolution. It may be that the church will be able to point the way to the state in this instance, and exhort the nation from the disintegrative demoralization with which she is at present afflicted.

THE DAY IN OTTAWA

BY TOM KING.

Ottawa, March 10.—When the house opened this afternoon Sir Thomas White was ready to make his statement about the Grand Trunk Pacific, which all were anxious to hear, but Judge McKenzie, the new leader of the opposition, was first on his feet and called for some statement from the government respecting the strike at the printing bureau. The printing bureau is under the secretary of state and Hon. Martin Burrell replied. He said that only one hundred and one of the twelve hundred employees were out. These are the pressmen and their being out prevents the bureau from turning out the finished product. Hansard, for example, may be set up in type, but it cannot be printed and made available for distribution until it is run off by the press.

The fact is that the printing bureau for years has been an August stable of graft, incompetence and corruption. The stories current in Ottawa for a number of years about this institution almost stagger belief. The payroll has been padded to such an extent of having upon it a large number of people who did little work or no work at all. It was the asylum of refuge for small fry politicians who wanted a sinecure. When there was nothing else a cabinet minister or an influential politician could do to get a follower or dependent, he had him placed in the printing bureau. Our French-speaking friends from Quebec seemed to have a great partying at this institution. What ground they lost during the regime of Hon. Charles Murphy, as secretary of state, they regained under the more kindly auspices of Hon. Louis Corbett. For years it was notorious that a large number of typesetting machines were never taken out of the cases in which they had been shipped to the bureau, because it was not considered desirable to displace a number of men who were setting type by hand. Eight or nine years ago there was a scandal about a suitcase, a few dismissals and a general promise of reform. Enormous quantities of supplies had been purchased far in advance of the needs of the bureau, many of them at high prices, and some of inferior quality. This was partly due to corruption on the part of an official at the bureau, but was also partly due to the pressure brought upon him by cabinet ministers to favor this or that firm. This unfortunate official, alighting to some worthless stores of carbon paper he had purchased, said he had no choice but to favor the firm, because a member of the government had threatened him by the throat and compelled him to give the order.

FRENCH RIVER IMPROVEMENT

What it Means to the Lumber and Pulp Industry

A completion from the records of the crown timber agencies of that district shows that 1,000,000,000 feet of red and white pine timber has been taken off the waters tributary to Lake Nipissing within the past twenty-five years. We believe that the present estimate of 3,500,000,000 feet of the timber yet available by drive and rail to Lake Nipissing, on the territory we set forth as tributary to French River waterway, (including Timagami Forest Reserve, unused crown townships and berths now under license, is a conservative estimate.

On the waters of Lake Nipissing, of the French of the Pickering and the territory immediately adjacent thereto, all available for cheap barge transport, there are 150,000,000 feet of good hardwood, principally birch and maple, suitable for flooring and furniture making, which the settlers (many of them in the Parry Sound district) have cut and hauled miles from a station) cannot haul to the railway, for, after logging and hauling, the railway rate is not low enough to move this economically for export.

On those portions of the French, of Lake Nipissing, and more especially the Pickering, on territory which is totally without transportation, there is unquestionably the largest supply of standing hemlock timber in the province of Ontario today. This section of country has been carefully cruised and there are 15,000,000 ties available, and ties are urgently needed by our electric and steam railways today.

Good basswood exists in large quantities, but no bulk estimate is available, none ever having been actually made. Northern Ontario, north of the Bay, is the main source of supply for cedar poles for Hydro-Electric throughout the Lake Erie, Ontario, Niagara section, and for the Bell Telephone Company and professional Hydro radiators. Barge movement on ties, etc., would cost approximately one-third of the rail rates on the Grand Trunk Railway.

Saving Per Thousand on Lumber. The average cost per thousand on lumber by barge from Georgian Bay ports to Detroit and Tonawanda is $1.50 per thousand, whereas by rail it is $3.50 per thousand, or an average of 14-15 cents per cwt. The average rail rate from Cache Bay and Callanville mills on Lake Nipissing to the wholesale market of Georgian Bay is 8 cents, if shipped by water, and 12 cents, if shipped by rail. A saving of 5 cents per cwt. would be a fair comparison, barge will be a longer time in transit from Lake Nipissing.

At $600 lbs. to the M. feet, this saving would be $1.75 per M. Assuming that 80 per cent of the foregoing estimate of standing white, red and jackpine lumber were exported (the balance being used locally), then the saving on water-borne traffic, through a water shipment of water-borne competitive rate on the Grand Trunk and C.P.R. (the National has no southbound service via Capreol), would be $5,000,000 in favor of the waterway.

What Would Be the Saving on Pulp? Wood Pulp and Paper. It is on pulpwood products, however, that the greatest visible saving from water-borne traffic is apparent. The timber is grown on the ground, and from years of experience, it can be estimated and computed, differing but slightly from the mining tonnage, that the water-borne traffic when their tonnage development is complete, will be cheap power, such as will be developed at the three locks, totaling 70 feet head.

The area to be benefited by water-borne traffic is at least 24,000,000 acres, in Northern Ontario, north of North Bay, along the T. and N. O. and the Transcontinental east and west of Cochrane, is a pulpwood country. If the forest area is put at 1-1-2 cents (every acre per acre grant that it is low enough), this would mean 35,000,000 cords of wood, which will yield at least 20,000,000 tons of paper.

A completion from the records of the crown timber agencies of that district shows that 1,000,000,000 feet of red and white pine timber has been taken off the waters tributary to Lake Nipissing within the past twenty-five years. We believe that the present estimate of 3,500,000,000 feet of the timber yet available by drive and rail to Lake Nipissing, on the territory we set forth as tributary to French River waterway, (including Timagami Forest Reserve, unused crown townships and berths now under license, is a conservative estimate.

On the waters of Lake Nipissing, of the French of the Pickering and the territory immediately adjacent thereto, all available for cheap barge transport, there are 150,000,000 feet of good hardwood, principally birch and maple, suitable for flooring and furniture making, which the settlers (many of them in the Parry Sound district) have cut and hauled miles from a station) cannot haul to the railway, for, after logging and hauling, the railway rate is not low enough to move this economically for export.

On those portions of the French, of Lake Nipissing, and more especially the Pickering, on territory which is totally without transportation, there is unquestionably the largest supply of standing hemlock timber in the province of Ontario today. This section of country has been carefully cruised and there are 15,000,000 ties available, and ties are urgently needed by our electric and steam railways today.

Good basswood exists in large quantities, but no bulk estimate is available, none ever having been actually made. Northern Ontario, north of the Bay, is the main source of supply for cedar poles for Hydro-Electric throughout the Lake Erie, Ontario, Niagara section, and for the Bell Telephone Company and professional Hydro radiators. Barge movement on ties, etc., would cost approximately one-third of the rail rates on the Grand Trunk Railway.

Saving Per Thousand on Lumber. The average cost per thousand on lumber by barge from Georgian Bay ports to Detroit and Tonawanda is $1.50 per thousand, whereas by rail it is $3.50 per thousand, or an average of 14-15 cents per cwt. The average rail rate from Cache Bay and Callanville mills on Lake Nipissing to the wholesale market of Georgian Bay is 8 cents, if shipped by water, and 12 cents, if shipped by rail. A saving of 5 cents per cwt. would be a fair comparison, barge will be a longer time in transit from Lake Nipissing.

At $600 lbs. to the M. feet, this saving would be $1.75 per M. Assuming that 80 per cent of the foregoing estimate of standing white, red and jackpine lumber were exported (the balance being used locally), then the saving on water-borne traffic, through a water shipment of water-borne competitive rate on the Grand Trunk and C.P.R. (the National has no southbound service via Capreol), would be $5,000,000 in favor of the waterway.

What Would Be the Saving on Pulp? Wood Pulp and Paper. It is on pulpwood products, however, that the greatest visible saving from water-borne traffic is apparent. The timber is grown on the ground, and from years of experience, it can be estimated and computed, differing but slightly from the mining tonnage, that the water-borne traffic when their tonnage development is complete, will be cheap power, such as will be developed at the three locks, totaling 70 feet head.

The area to be benefited by water-borne traffic is at least 24,000,000 acres, in Northern Ontario, north of North Bay, along the T. and N. O. and the Transcontinental east and west of Cochrane, is a pulpwood country. If the forest area is put at 1-1-2 cents (every acre per acre grant that it is low enough), this would mean 35,000,000 cords of wood, which will yield at least 20,000,000 tons of paper.

 TORONTO

Old G.T.R. Employee Dies
After Envious Record

The Grand Trunk Railway lost one of its oldest employees in the death of Mr. George Flook, at Toronto, on March 8. Mr. Flook entered the service of the Great Western Railway as a workman in 1867, was appointed conductor in 1872, since which time he has been continually in train service, with the exception that for a few years he held the position of station-master at Hamilton.

Mr. Flook was a very efficient and faithful employee, and was held in high esteem by the officials of the company, which was evidenced by the magnificent wreath which they contributed. During his 52 years of service there is not a single black mark on his record.

The Grand Trunk Railway was represented at the funeral on Monday by W. S. Wilson, superintendent of transportation, and Geo. A. Stokes, superintendent Toronto terminal.

For several years past Mr. Flook has been in charge of the International Limited between Toronto and Detroit, and is well known to the traveling public.

REGENT'S SPLENDID BILL

A reckless wager and its result is the theme of "The Light of Western Stars" at the Regent this week. The plot is worthy of the cowboy hero and the western setting. And the author is Zane Grey, which completes a list of qualifications for a good play.

Gene Stewart, typical of the west, makes a bet to the effect that he will marry the first girl who comes to the village. The sister of his boss is thus the victim of a marriage, performed at the point of a gun. Major Hammond, Zane Grey's creation, is a man who treats things as a joke, and is afterward pleasantly surprised to find it perfectly valid.

The cowboy-husband leaves for the Mexican border in a fit of remorse, but returns at an opportune moment and saves Majesty from Don Carlos, an unscrupulous neighbor. Then when he falls in love with his wife, there ensues a great misunderstanding which sends Gene away again into the very hands of his enemy, Don Carlos. Majesty and her friends make a wild ride to save Gene, and a timely rescue is made just as the hour of execution arrives. Gene and Majesty are made happy in a perfect understanding.

Dustin Farnum justifies his reputation as an actor in this picture, and his acting is virile and genuine. A visit from Majesty's eastern friends adds the necessary touch of humor.

An overture, Robespierre, by the Regent orchestra, was admirably rendered and met with the usual welcome from the audience. A trio from the orchestra played a splendid selection, the Sextette from Lucia.

The Regent graphic, slow motion-lectures and a good comedy, complete a bill which came up to the standard of this theatre.

JOSEF HOFMANN—GREAT PIANIST.

Without a doubt an immense audience will greet the world-renowned pianist, Josef Hofmann, when he gives his recital in Massey Hall tomorrow night. Parties from surrounding towns have made applications for seats and the utmost enthusiasm among the musical public is very apparent. The sale of seats begins on Saturday at the Massey Hall box office.

AT THE ALLEN.

Losing nothing of its fourteen-year-old intimacy and humor, "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" was presented to crowded houses at the opening of its week's engagement in the Allen Theatre yesterday.

Marguerite Clark is the "Levy" from the usual tomboyish portrayal of the piece, and the role which was the usual thing on the stage, became enhanced yesterday under the deft craftsmanship of the famous little star. True, it does not really do away with the hoydenish Mary, but there are other things brought out and developed which the original directors never knew the possibility of. All of the old time laugh producing scenes are there as large as life, and never was Miss Hazy's wed-

HOME CIRCLE CONCERT.

Members and friends turned out in large numbers last night at the concert held in Foresters' Hall under the auspices of the Canadian Home Circle. R. W. Hawkins, supreme leader, was chairman, and in his opening remarks reminded the audience that during the four years of the war the circles, which are benefit organizations, had had a hard time. Now that peace was here they only sought to better things. He also reminded his listeners that fraternity meant thinking of others besides themselves.

An entertaining program was given by Miss Edna Ash, pianist; readings, Miss Florence Hazel Wharton; violin, Albert Smeader; musical monologues, Claude Parker; vocal, Mrs. C. E. O'Brien.

PLAYS, PICTURES AND MUSIC

"BOOMERANG" IS CHARMING.

A delightful little comedy charmingly acted, appeared at the Princess last night. "The Boomerang," is not an Australian piece, but is located in some rural burg where they can take the ten o'clock train to New York. A Belasco company gets the proper atmosphere, with the exception perhaps of the golf club scene, which is not quite as expert as it might be. Dr. Gerald Sumner (Hober, Conness) has just returned from Europe after putting the finishing touches to an eleven years' medical course. His father has furnished him a modern medical office, but no patient has turned up. Two weeks after it has been opened, when the play begins, a patient is announced, but this proves to be a mistake. It is only a young lady in search of a position as nurse, Virginia Xelva (Louszia Valentine), who proves to be a very charming assistant, who looks after the doctor's office, and keeps his office and engagement books in order. The first patient, Budd Woodbridge (Harry Hayden) is introduced by his mother (Alma Chester), who believes he has nervous prostration. In an amusing scene, the doctor diagnoses the case as one of despairing love. Mr. Hayden makes a thorough analysis of the case of the sheepish young lover. The boomerang which the doctor casts is a regimen which, while it secures the recovery of his patient, becomes a potent factor in the treatment of his own case. The counterplot is in a geniusly worked out, and a great deal of amusement results from the staid, conscientious young lover and his enamored, grace Tyler (Leonora Phelps), and their attacks of jealousy and despair.

The audience enjoyed the play hugely, and roared with laughter over the medical camouflage which pervades the first act. The piece was charmingly staged, and the Princess orchestra furnished delightful music.

THE PASSING SHOW.

With a fine-up for seats at the box office, as the first night crowd surged out of the Royal Alexandra last night, "The Passing Show of 1918" is evidently a dollar-winner for Mr. Sofka. Man. Was it just the posters, or during intermission, had the boys wagged along King street that there was something doing at the Allen? Don't let us worry about it, they know what is good for them, no doubt. A dazzling array of color and syncopated melody, "The Passing Show" flirts gaily with the high spots of all the shows. Merop's Little Lulu, of Babylonian stuff, says "Howdy" to old France, trips down Broadway at midnight and buys wheat cakes at Childs'. Every little movement is an excuse for change of costume that is the word; they could not be called dresses.

"The Passing Show of 1918" is super-vaudeville, burlesque de luxe, dreams of fair ladies and the concentrated essence of ninety-nine fashion parades. With it Irene Franklin, the intangible, choron lady, is stepping ahead of the tune with some food "back from the war" business. Three recalls after "We Can Fight in Peace" was her refrain. She had a very clever "Stage Doorman," Will H. Philbrick. Roy Cummings and the Howard brothers made one potent factor in the program. Frequently, Adele Asaire and Dorsha are dancers of ability. The latter's Juiciness dance in the courtyard of the staid, conscientious young lover and his enamored, grace Tyler (Leonora Phelps), and their attacks of jealousy and despair.

The audience enjoyed the play hugely, and roared with laughter over the medical camouflage which pervades the first act. The piece was charmingly staged, and the Princess orchestra furnished delightful music.

FISKE O'HARA MAKES HIT

A familiar figure to all theatre-goers is with us again in the person of Misko O'Hara, "Marry in Haste," at the Grand this week, affords him ample scope for his powers, both as an actor and an Irishman.

The story concerns a young son of Erin, typical from his laugh to his sense of humor. Happy-go-lucky Dick, the son of the Earl of Leigh, in response to his father's command, to perpetuate the house of Leigh, vows to marry the first girl who appears. She is Suzanne, the French maid. The wedding takes place, and afterwards Dick finds that he is in love with Lady Evelyn O'Connor, and therefore leaves to Evelyn's father, a man in a predicament, and naturally, a series of complications arise, the important question being to discover who the really married, which remains a mystery throughout.

Dick's delight to find that Evelyn is his bride and his cousin's joy that they are together, are conceivable and solve the problem very efficiently. Through the play, Mr. O'Hara lends to the scenes a realism touched with a light humor. He knows his part for Evelyn's father, and naturally, as a thoroughly lives up to it. His humor is very natural and he also sings several Irish songs.

Gertrude Kitchie, as Lady Evelyn, makes a charming Irish beauty, and Patricia Clark, as Peggy, is endearing with her bright, fun and vivacious manner. Robert Russell, as Charles, is a true gentleman of the past, and Mr. Miller, as the Earl, imparts to his character much of the determination of an old nobleman. Suzette gives a bright characterization, and Dennis O'Brien (Mr. Sheehan) deserves mention for his clever impersonation of an old lawyer.

THE SHOW AT SHEA'S

A young American actor attracted considerable attention at Shea's this week. Allan Rogers is distinguished from the ordinary by reason of a clear, true voice and a charming personality. Mr. Rogers chose from his repertoire songs of a happy, happy nature, and these, and a bit of opera were unusually well rendered.

The headline attraction this week is something which sends you home wondering if there is such a thing as mental telepathy. For Leona La Mar will tell you the innermost secrets of your soul, and will work it out for you after noon on the sublime and the ridiculous. Many of the revelations caused uproar in the theatre. Felix Adler and Frances Ross, a humorous sketch, "What Pools We Mortals Be," gave a good comedy act, and "The Gipsy" and "The Gipsy's" synopsis, put on a splendid musical show. Orville Stamm, the late physical instructor in the U.S.N., was a valuable addition to the program, and Fred and Minnie Brad showed themselves to be skilled in the art of capering. Robbe and Nelson in a mixture of their own and other songs and dances, and the chorus carried by George acting, while Emma Haig and Lou Lockett made a hit with really graceful and original songs and dances. Miss Juliette in "La Sals" and "The Ideal Mimic" and her caricature of Harry Lauder was especially good. Her mimicry for a shopgirl was typical and amusing. A revue of various famous members of the stage were well received and applauded.

AT LOEW'S THEATRE

In "The Heart of Wetona," at Loew's Theatre, this week, Norma Talmadge plays "the part of the Indian maid who attempts to shield her seducer, whom she still cares for, against the revengeful passion of her father. Wetona's mother was a white woman, who had married Tuamnah, chief of a tribe of the Comanche Indians. At a celebration of the wedding, the tribe chose Wetona as a virgin, to bear sacred food to the holy man at the ceremonies. She refuses, believing it to be sacrilegious, and tells her father with haunted eyes and heaving breath, that "Wetona's love as a girl, must not bring food to the holy man." When her father learns this, he determines on vengeance, which culminates when he shoots Anthony Wells, the man who wronged her. The story of Hardin, the white agent of the government, who is a traitor, contributing to the vaudeville entertainment are Holden and Harrow, with melodies and conversational humor; Creamer, Barton and Speer, who can sing; Wateksa and understudy, with performing seals, which are marvellous of intelligence; Emmet, Ryan and Co., Ziegler Twins and Co., and Kone and Helman in "A Ragtime Cocktail."

MOLLIE WILLIAMS ATTRACTS.

Mollie Williams, described by the regular patrons of the Gayety Theatre as the daintiest and loveliest in burlesque, is at the Richmond street playhouse this week, with her own show. Mollie has appeared at the head of her own show for a number of years, and the chorus carried by her is always the big hit of the season. The costumes are all designed by Miss Williams, and the well selected pony chorus look active when they prance before the footlights in the numerous musical successes given during the production of the two burlettas.

It has been customary for this clever feminine principal to give as a special attraction a short dramatic performance. This season Miss Williams is seen in "The Queen of Hearts." This is a new three-act dramatic playlet presented in 15 minutes, featuring herself, assisted by members of her company.

The burlesques are bright and are given amid bright stage surroundings which are of the latest minute designs in the way of stage settings. The comedy is good, and a clever troupe of burlesque celebrities surround Miss Williams.

AT THE STAR.

George Clarke, the funniest "tramp comedian" of those in any of the shows on the stage, is the attraction this week at the Star Theatre. Clarke, known as the tramp violinist, is a clever funmaker. His performance is above the average, and his character is a treat to that of the worn-out Jewish comedians, who have been featured in the majority of the musical farces. Clarke gives a number of specialties, all of which were well received at the opening matinee.

"Rained in an Incubator" and "In the Musical farce, Harry Campbell, Charles Raymond and Joe Lurigo are a trio of young men who are prominent during the performance.

Two other hits are "The Great Specialist," all of which were well received at the opening matinee.

"Rained in an Incubator" and "In the Musical farce, Harry Campbell, Charles Raymond and Joe Lurigo are a trio of young men who are prominent during the performance.

GOOD BILL AT STRAND.

Wallace Reid at the Strand, who featured the star film attraction of the week in "The Dub," was an expert at the art of meeting all manners of emergencies with a keen sense of humor. This film portrays the experience of a young construction contractor temporarily on his beam ends, who was selected for a delicate piece of work by those who hoped he would be unable to carry it out. His many well-timed emergencies and his courageous insistence gave the lie to the opinion of his employers that he was a cowardly boy.

Among other films were the Houdini serial and a farcical comedy which comprised fat men and thin, lions, cubs and alligators, angry women, thin women and fat, and a medley of mixed up wives, who are American police and deep sea baths.

AT THE MADISON.

J. Stuart Blackton's big production, "The Common Cause," is headlining the bill at the Madison Theatre for the first half of this week, and is certainly well worth a visit. The photoplay, while not a war play, shows the war in tabloid form, especial stress being laid on the aims of each side in the entering of the war. There is an epilog and a prolog considerably enlarges the appeal of the photoplay proper, thru which runs a very tender and touching love story. The presenting cast is an all-star one.

Fred Bancroft Files Claim
In His Action for Slander

The slander action of Fred Bancroft against Controller Sam McBride is now almost ready for the trial in the legal arena. At Osgoode Hall yesterday the final records pertaining to the case were passed, and the case will be heard as soon as the various counsel—Heilmuth and Cattenach, for the plaintiff, and Lennox and Lennox for Controller McBride—are ready for action.

In his statement of claim, which was filed yesterday, Mr. Bancroft accuses Mr. McBride of having conspired to him at a sitting of the city council, as a "damned spy," a traitor or agent for the Kaiser, "a snake in the grass," and other opprobrious epithets. As a result, so claims plaintiff, the council refused to pay him $210 which was coming to him as arbitrator's fees. Mr. Bancroft claims that his reputation has suffered as a result of this attack. He claims he has been brought into public odium and ridicule, and that score asks for $20,000 damages.

Well-Known Church Worker, Mrs. Bascom, Passes Away

Mrs. Anna M. Bascom, wife of Dr. Joseph Bascom, who for the past twenty-five years has carried on a practice at 1839 West King street, passed away yesterday at the residence of her niece, Mrs. (Rev.) A. Newton St. John, Thornbury.

Mrs. Bascom was very well known in Toronto, being prominent in W. C. T. U. and church work generally. Her help will be greatly missed in these and other circles.

Mrs. Bascom will take place at Uxbridge, where she formerly resided, and where Dr. Bascom was at one time mayor.

Spanish Strikers Must Work Under Military Discipline

Washington, March 10.—Spanish workers on strike will be mobilized by the government, organized as public service units, and sent back to work under military discipline, according to official dispatches today from Madrid. The strikes, which began at Cordova, March 8, apparently as the result of syndicalist agitation, have spread to Madrid, Barcelona and Valencia, the dispatches said.
