SIX REGIMENTS OF STATE GUARD PATROL BOSTON; DEATHS IN STRIKE

Government to Get in Touch With President in Case Federal Troops Needed

A Striking Policeman Fatally Shot—Lawlessness Continues but Looters Less Bold—Sixty Other Unions May go Out in Sympathetic Strike—Grand Lodge of Masons Volunteer to Aid in Protecting Peace

(Special to Times.) Boston, Sept. 11.—Six regiments of the state guard, in all 3,500 men, patrol Boston and the city has the appearance of an armed camp, this being due to the policemen's strike. All the banks, gun stores and large business houses have each two men with guns and fixed bayonets before them. Guards at the State House have been doubled and strangers are barred. Two people were killed last night by state guards in South Boston, and one at West End. A striker was fatally shot in Roxbury today and a young girl died in hospital from her wounds. Scores of women were injured and doubtless as many more were hurried away after being wounded. Police Captain Harman was accidentally shot. Looters and rioters before the courts received stiff sentences. Forty-three metropolitan park police refused street duty and were suspended but 500 new volunteers were enrolled at the chamber of commerce room. Hundreds on strike strikers were roughly handled and beaten by mobs. The lawlessness continued but looters seemed to have disappeared today owing to the presence of men in shaki and many summary examples having been made. A machine gun shot to one section calmed that turbulent place, where yesterday the mobs showed no favor in its jeers but distributed them upon the strikers and strike-breakers. One striking patrolman was arrested while drunk. The Federation of Labor hurriedly closed its convention in Greenfield and Boston delegates rushed home today to look after strike meetings to be held tonight, when it is predicted sympathetic walkouts will be declared in some three-score bodies. The firemen's union has intimated that it will quit if summoned, but to offset this, Brig-General Parker, in charge of the state guard, will supply men from the land force and the navy department has promised men for the fire boat crews. The governor and police commissioners were in conference and the former sent word to the mayor that he would communicate with President Wilson relative to calling for federal troops. The Grand Lodge of Masons in session last night passed a resolution severely criticizing the policemen for striking and promising the government and mayor whatever aid is needed in protecting the peace. PLEA FOR KEEPING OF ALLIED TROOPS IN NORTHERN RUSSIA

Delegation From Archangel District Reaches London FEAR OF A MASSACRE Say Thousands Will be Murdered by Reds if Troops Withdraw—Varying Reports of Fighting by Kolchak's Forces

London, Sept. 11.—(By the Associated Press.)—A demand that Allied troops be retained in Northern Russia has been made by a delegation representing the municipal and zemstvo organizations in the Archangel district, which has just arrived in London. P. Lopkiakoff, who heads the delegation, told the A. P. correspondent that if the Allied troops were withdrawn at least half the present population, numbering 600,000, will be murdered by the Bolsheviks. He declared that not until August 12 was the local government of Archangel notified officially by the British command that the troops would be withdrawn. The announcement, he said, created consternation and the town and county councils met hastily and decided that the situation was not understood in England. As a result the delegation was sent to London in an endeavor, by appealing direct to the British public, to secure a cancellation of the order for the withdrawal of the troops. Against Bolsheviks. London, Sept. 11.—A semi-official dispatch from Omsk, dated September 8, says Admiral Kolchak is continuing his offensive against the Bolsheviks in the Yaloutorofsk section and is pursuing the enemy beyond Petchikova. Prisoners have been taken. The dispatch says also that the Siberians also have started an offensive against the Bolsheviks in the region of Isham. London, Sept. 11.—A Bolshevik wireless dispatch from Moscow today claims the capture of nearly 12,000 prisoners from Admiral Kolchak's all-Russian forces in the region of Ahtubinsk and Orsk, Southern Russia. It is declared the surrender of the remainder of Kolchak's southern army is expected. state guard troops fired into a crowd. Two men were killed at the same time. Another death occurred when Raymond Bayers of Cambridge tried to escape from state guards who had rounded up a group of seventy-five participants in dice games on Boston Commons. Bayers was shot through the neck.

WILL OUTSHINE PARLIAMENT IN IMPORTANCE

Great Industrial Conference in Ottawa Next Week A Get Together Of Capital And Labor On The Big Questions of Mutual Interest—Meeting to be in Senate Chamber

(Special to Times.) Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 11.—In the senate chamber at ten o'clock on Monday there will open with an address by Sir Robert Borden, if he is sufficiently recovered by then a more representative and important conference than that Canada has yet seen. It will represent Canada from ocean to ocean in a more intimate way than does the House of Commons because its representation is not only territorial in its character but will represent the employing and employed workers of Canada according to the kind of peace treaty that is to be made. It is said here that there is not an industry or a worker who will not be represented either directly or indirectly at this industrial conference. Its business is the most important Canadian industry will ever have to transact and that is to find a common basis for united and mutually profitable action in the future. Canada's present position, with her debt rapidly approaching the two billion dollar mark; the need for increased production to meet the demands of markets which will get more critical as their power returns to the sea-lanes; and the industrial relations report with its recommendations favoring an eight hour day, joint industrial councils, a minimum wage and so on, will all be discussed. A MYSTERY SOLVED Disappearance of Keys From Fire Alarm Boxes in Carleton

The mystery of the missing keys which has been puzzling the department of the public safety for several months has been solved, in part at least. During the summer keys have been disappearing from the fire alarm boxes in West St. John at an alarming rate. At least 150 new keys have had to be furnished and there was no indication that the end was approaching. Commissioner Thornton decided recently that the time to stop this drain on the city's resources had arrived and yesterday the detective discovered a key from one of the boxes and took him in charge. The offender was a colored lad, seven years of age. The little chap tearfully protested that this was the first key he ever had attempted to take and that he had done so because he had seen other boys taking the keys. A watch will be kept and if others are apprehended it is probable that steps will be taken to curb their mania for collecting keys.

FIFTY SLATER MEN GO OUT ON STRIKE

Montreal Trouble Regarded as One of Union Politics and Union Etiquette Explained by the men and the management the matter seems to be one of union etiquette. There are two boot and shoe unions in the city of Montreal. The one is known as the Boot and Shoe Union. This is of American origin. There is also the National Shoe Workers' Union. This is a Canadian organization. "We told our men that we would meet them and give them a fair working wage," said Mr. Slater, "and the men all seemed to be satisfied with that arrangement." He said the unions were not satisfied with it, however, and "the American union has been trying to force itself upon us," he continued. The result, when the company refused, he said, was that the American union called its men working in the Slater factory out on strike.

As Hiram Sees It

Mr. Hiram Hornbeam and the Times reporter stood on the curb. A young lady passed, carrying a satchel in her hand and a case under her arm, and wearing a skirt so tight that her movements were very far from natural. "I don't like to be impolite," said Hiram, "but that there gal's waist ort to be a little looser. What in time is she rigged out like that for? Did you ever see the best of it?" "I saw a girl at the Settlement the other day when it rained," said the reporter, "who wore wide trousers and rubber boots. She moved with an ease and grace and freedom that was delightful. I take my hat off to the girl from the Settlement." "Well," said Hiram, "taking a last glance at the city maiden as she lolled painfully around the corner, "for real civilities we hev to come to town. If I was a gal an' hed a good pair o' legs I'd jeb a long hat-pin into a tailor that tried to hobble 'em like that—yes, sir. The Lord didn't never intend a woman to hev to waller around as if she was tryin' to haul her feet out of the mud every step. Gimme the gal that's got a good swingin' gait, an' walks as if she thought no more of a five mile walk to a party an' back agin than that red heifer o' mine this of jumptin' the pasture fence into the out field.—By Hen."

Leaps From Burning Boat To Save Life But Drowns

A drowning accident occurred at Pocologan, Charlotte County, yesterday when Roy Shaw, 18-year-old son of Arthur Shaw of Pocologan, jumped out of a motor boat which was on fire and before he was able to reach the shore, sank from exhaustion. The accident occurred about seven o'clock last evening. Young Mr. Shaw was alone in the boat, was only a short distance from the shore when for some inexplicable reason the gasoline in flames. Evidently realizing that his only chance of safety was to leave the burning craft, he jumped overboard and started to swim ashore. When only a few hundred yards away he was seized with cramp or was exhausted from his efforts for he sank beneath the waves. A party was sent out immediately to grapple for the body and they worked until two o'clock this morning when they found the body and brought it to the home of his bereaved parents. The young man was very popular in the neighborhood and his sad death has cast a gloom over the entire community whose sympathy and newspapers were forced to suspend publication.

KEYWEST BADLY WRECKED IN BLOW

Key West, Fla., Sept. 11.—With daylight today following the storm of yesterday and a night of darkness, the people of Key West and surrounding territory were able for the first time to survey the destruction wrought by the hurricane that swept through here Tuesday night. Not a home in the city had escaped damage. The harbor presented a tangled mass of fishing vessels and other small craft, but latest reports failed to show deaths other than those on the dredge Grampus. Of the fourteen men on the craft ten were rescued last night, one body here recovered and three are missing. The British tanker Tonawanda, which had been scuttled to save the steamer Comet, after that vessel had broken her moorings and gone aground, was reported not in a bad position. The steamer St. Gougal also broke loose. No vessels had left port early today, but no trains came in over the Florida coast railway. In addition to the temporary stoppage of gas and electricity, the telephone service was suspended and newspapers were forced to suspend publication.

MATTERS OF ST. JOHN INTEREST IN THE PAPERS

Engineering Institute Has Valuable Morning Session A LOT ABOUT TELEPHONES Cables and Other Matters Discussed—Another Paper Dealing With The Heating Of Buildings Is Read

This morning's session of the meeting of the Engineers' Institute of Canada opened at 9:30 o'clock in the rooms of the board of trade with C. C. Kirby, president of the local branch, in the chair. The president of the institute, R. W. Leonard, arrived after the session opened. F. A. Bowman, M. R. I. C., plant engineer of the Maritime Telegraph and Telephone Co., Halifax, read a valuable paper on engineering problems connected with the use of telephone cables. He said that where thousands of telephones were used in a city, all the wires must be compressed into as small a space as possible and the telephone cable was the result. The transmission power of a telephone was arranged so that any subscriber could use his phone for any length of trunk line calls. The current used was so small that a very small wire could be used to transmit it. He explained that the reason why wires leading into the subscribers' place were twisted was chiefly to prevent induction from other nearby circuits. Wires in cables were insulated from one another by two layers of dry manilla tissue paper wound around them. He said that the speed of electricity was the same as that of light—186,000 feet a second. Mr. Bowman exhibited some examples of equipment and cables showing amongst other things the means adopted to prevent dampness affecting the service. He also showed the means used to protect telephones from damage by lightning or other high potential currents. He explained how an aerial cable is supported by a steel wire as the weight of the cable would not allow it to be supported on its own strength. In suspending the cables allowance had to be made for all sorts of weather and the weight of ice and snow arranged for. The speaker also explained how the poles were strengthened by the use of guy wires to assist them in holding up the cables. Underground Cables. He spoke of underground cables, which became necessary in congested parts of the city, and which were much more expensive in installation than overhead cables; conduits had to be laid and manholes provided every three hundred feet. He explained the system of laying underground cables and the distribution of the circuits at different points in the city. Mr. Bowman exhibited a twisted galvanized iron wire used for suspending aerial cables which was afterwards treated with a lead bath. He said his company was the only one in North America, using this wire, and could get it only from Germany. Now it was being manufactured in Canada. He also showed a submarine cable similar to that which spanned Halifax harbor and which was completely destroyed by the explosion in 1917. (Continued on page 2, seventh column)

WILSON PUTS IT UNDER TO HEADS

On board President Wilson's Special Train, Sept. 11.—Ten points in the peace treaty were defined by President Wilson last night as the fundamental principles on which he is asking its acceptance by the United States. They follow: 1.—The destruction of autocratic power as an instrument of international control, admitting only self-governing nations to the league. 2.—The substitution of publicity discussion and arbitration for war, using the boycott rather than arms. 3.—Placing the peace of the world under constant international oversight in recognition of the principle that peace of the world is the legitimate interest of every state. 4.—Disarmament. 5.—The liberation of oppressed peoples. 6.—The discontinuance of annexation and the substitution of trusteeship with responsibility to the opinion of mankind. 7.—The invalidation of all secret treaties. 8.—The protection of dependent peoples. 9.—High standards of labor under international sanction. 10.—The international co-ordination of human reform and regulations.

The matter of the source of the disease is being investigated. There are twenty-two cases at present in the hospital. So far as is possible they are being confined to the upper floor as the facilities there for further accommodation although a suggestion was thrown out yesterday by Dr. Heiden, the superintendent, that tents on the hospital grounds might be utilized for that purpose.

BONES FOUND IN FAIRVILLE

A peculiar matter has been brought to the police. At 72 Main street, Fairville, parts of a human skull were excavated by G. A. Whittaker, who was doing some repair work on the building, which he had recently purchased. The bones are those of a human skull, and it is thought might have been there from twenty to thirty years. Some ten or fifteen years ago these premises were occupied by a Chinese, who occupied the building after the death of a man named John Martin. The chief of police and Coroner Kenney have visited the scene and are investigating the matter, but it is not thought anything will materialize.

TODAY'S EVIDENCE AT THE GUELPH INQUIRY

Ottawa, Sept. 11—The inquiry into the Guelph novitiate charges was resumed this morning. Colonel Godson-Godson being cross-examined by Counsel Ferguson. He said he had been instructed by the adjutant-general to get the papers taken from Major Hirsch's file. In any case he said he would have gone and got them. When the adjutant-general said something to the effect that if witness did not have the papers he should get them, it was natural that Major Hirsch should have been perturbed when he found the papers removed, but witness did not anticipate that at the time.

RENNER PRAISES FRANCE AFTER HE SIGNS THE TREATY

"Conquered in War," He Says, But "Free of Dynasty Whence no Man of Worth Had Sprung."

Paris, Sept. 10.—Dr. Karl Renner, head of the Austrian peace delegation, departed from Vienna this evening at 7:20 o'clock.

Signing the Austrian Treaty.

After the ceremony Dr. Renner, during the course of an interview, said: "If France lends us aid, the name of St. Germain will soon evoke in our hearts feelings which will alleviate the bitterness of the hour we have just passed." The head of the Austrian delegation cent country. What he admired most began by praising France as a magnificence: First, the French peasant; second, the French press and continued: "Austria cannot hate; it always respects the man with whom it has to fight. We are the conquered. Yet, misfortune has given us liberty, freed us from the yoke of dynasty, whence for three generations no man of worth has sprung, freed us from bonds with nations which were never in understanding with us and ourselves. Pointing out Austria's needs in coal and raw material, he said: "We are independent with an independence which cannot be alienated; yet, we depend on the Czechs and Poles for coal, on Banat for cereals, on Italy for maritime commerce."

QUICK ACTION OF RETURNED SOLDIER SAVED BOY'S LIFE

Exhibiting truly soldierly qualities, presence of mind and prompt action at a critical moment coupled with personal bravery, Douglas Thompson, a former member of the "Fighting 26th," saved Albert McCabe, a small boy of less than six years of age, from death by drowning yesterday afternoon. Mr. Thompson, a customs officer, returning after dinner to the Atlantic Sugar Refineries where he was yesterday engaged in weighing sugar was attracted by the actions of two small boys at the edge of the Charlotte street extension wharf opposite the Pender Mall Works. Running across the street, he discovered a third boy just going down in the water and, throwing off his coat and vest he plunged in after the young lad. He caught the boy a few feet under water, brought him to the surface and swam with him to the edge of the wharf where he held him for a few minutes until others who had reached the scene were able to assist both the boy and his rescuer from the water. Mr. Thompson immediately put into use his first aid training of army days and was able to get almost all the water from the boy's lungs by a few minutes' brisk work. The boy was then sent to his home at 122 Britain street and Dr. Baxter summoned. The boy is a son of Burton McCabe, walking boss for the Furness-Wilby Company, who lives at 122 Britain street. Mr. McCabe is loud in his praise of Mr. Thompson for his timely act of un-

WAS PROMINENT IN THE LIFE OF BOSTON

Former Mayor Quincy, Who Died Few Days Ago—Three of His Name and Family to Fill Mayor's Chair.

Josiah Quincy, former mayor of Boston, whose death was announced in the Times on Wednesday, was one of a long line of a family illustrious in the annals of the nation, state and city. He was sixth to bear the name, and the third of that name and family to serve as mayor of Boston. A Josiah Quincy has been mayor of Boston three times, first from 1823 to 1829; second, from 1846 to 1849; and lastly from 1896 to 1900.

Mr. Quincy was born at the Quincy homestead in Quincy, Oct. 15, 1809, son of Josiah Phillips Quincy and Helen B. (Huntington) Quincy. He attended Harvard College and graduated in 1830, a classmate of the late President Roosevelt.

After graduating from college he taught school at Adams Academy, in Quincy, an old endowed school for college preparation. After a year of letters, he went to Harvard Law School and was admitted to the Suffolk county bar in 1834.

His First Public Office.
Mr. Quincy's first public office was that of representative in the state legislature to which he was elected in 1837. He served there in 1838, 1839 and 1841, and the latter term was acknowledged house leader of the Massachusetts Democrats.

Mr. Quincy was one of the pioneers in seeking to improve the conditions of the worker. Many important measures owe their passage to him. He was active in a number of civic movements, notably that of the Civil Service Reform League, of which he was secretary in 1881. He was secretary of the Tariff Reform League in 1882 and was one of the most aggressive Democratic fighters during the tariff issues of the succeeding decade.

Perhaps the most important labor measure fathered by Mr. Quincy in Massachusetts was the act passed in 1888 which fixed the age limits at which children should be employed, provided proper hours for schooling, prevented their employment at unhealthy tasks, and made careful provision for compulsory school attendance.

In 1890 Mr. Quincy became secretary of the Democratic state executive committee, later serving as its chairman, and he was Massachusetts member of the Democratic national committee. He was one of the organizers and first president of the Young Men's Democratic Club. President Cleveland named Mr. Quincy assistant secretary of state in 1893, but he resigned after six months to take charge of the state Democratic campaign. In 1900 Mr. Quincy retired from public office, after serving two years as mayor of Boston and sailing for Europe. Feb. 17, 1900, he married

Mrs. Ellen Tyler, widow of William R. Tyler, in London. After a wedding tour of Egypt and the Orient, they returned to Boston. Mrs. Quincy died Jan. 17, 1904, leaving one son, Edmund.
Nov. 1, 1895, he married Miss Mary Honey, daughter of Hon. Samuel R. Honey of Newport, R. I. The following year he was appointed to the Boston Transit Commission. When that commission became defunct, he was made chairman of the municipal transit department.

Achieved Many Important Works.
In his two terms as mayor of Boston, Mr. Quincy achieved many important works. Both the South station and the old Subway bear his name and he was one of the first agitators for the extension of the banks of the Charles River and their development into the esplanade. He was instrumental in forming the Boston Society of Municipal Officers, and he organized the city printing office and department of electrical construction.

Under Mr. Quincy's regime, the all-year-round bath at Dover street was opened. Two city playgrounds and several gymnasiums were provided by him in various parts of the city. His knowledge of chemistry led to the establishment of a bacteriological laboratory under the board of health and to a thorough reform in the culinary department of public institutions.

First Woman to Run For Federal House in Carleton-Victoria Contest.
Mrs. Minnie Bell Adney, music teacher, and a daughter of the founder of the famous Sharpe orchard and nurseries near Woodstock (N. B.), announces herself as a candidate in the coming federal by-election in Carleton-Victoria. Mrs. Adney's card, published in the Carleton county papers, says she will support the Union government but stands for reduction of the cost of living and eradication of corruption and profiteering from Canadian public life, besides a fuller measure of recompense for returned men—"something dignified and worthy of the great Canada that sent them forth, speaking in terms of their material advancement and prosperity and keeping the pact with those that sleep in Flanders Fields, the saviors of the world," says the card.

Fred Pearson of Halifax and P. A. S. Franklin, president of the White Star Line, and his son were among the civilian passengers. Sept. 10.—St. Anthony's church, Devon, was the scene of a very pretty wedding at 4 o'clock this afternoon when Mr. and Mrs. Murphy united in marriage Miss Helen McGloan of Marysville, and Detective Patrick F. Biddiscombe, of St. John. The bride was attended by her sister, Kathleen McGloan, and the groom was supported by Detective Kenneth Donohoe.

The church was beautifully decorated and the wedding march was played by Miss Hughes. There were many guests at the ceremony, among them being Judge Ritchie, Mrs. and Mrs. J. Biddiscombe and Miss Biddiscombe, St. John.

At Green Hill, Stanley, on September 8, Mary K., youngest daughter of John Hurley, was married to Perry A. Mitchell, locomotive engineer of the C. N. R. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. D. McCully, B. D., after which a delicious repast was served. Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell left on a trip for Niagara and Canadian cities, and on their return will reside at Edmondston, N. B.

At Salisbury, on September 9, Georgina A., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ansley Lewis, was united in marriage to Harry J. Crudge, C. E., of Moncton, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Norman A. McNeill. After a honeymoon trip to Boston and other American cities, Mr. and Mrs. Crudge will reside in Moncton.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Buchanan, Moncton, on September 9, their daughter, Mary Helen, became the bride of William Welch. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Canon Sism. Mr. and Mrs. Welch will make their home in Moncton.

At St. Bernard's church on September 10, Miss Etta Mary Cooke, daughter of James D. Cooke, was united in marriage to Charles J. Moore, Rev. William Moore of St. John, cousin of the groom, officiated. After a trip to Upper Canadian cities, Mr. and Mrs. Moore will reside in Moncton.

Miss Edith Remone Baird, daughter of Mrs. Dowling Baird, of Perth, was united in marriage on Sept. 10 to Albert Harley Gould Ward, of Newport, R. I. After the marriage a reception was held at the home of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Ward will make their home at Newport, R. I.

An interesting ceremony was solemnized at the United Baptist church, Midland, on Sept. 9, when Miss Bertha Letitia Cosman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Cosman, was united in marriage to Reginald Herbert Maguire, of Elmville. William Cosman and Herbert Maguire, cousins of the bride, acted as ushers and the bride was attended by Miss Ella Fairweather. Rev. I. E. Yanvar performed the ceremony, after which a reception was held at the bride's home. Mr. and Mrs. Maguire will reside in Elmville.

The marriage of Harry Irvine, chief clerk in the C. N. R. offices at Fort William, to Miss Jennie Henderson, daughter of the late John D. Henderson of Moncton, was solemnized on September 10, at the home of the bride, by Rev. Dr. Howley Green. Mr. and Mrs. Irvine will make their home at Fort William.

RECENT DEATHS

Mrs. John Kingston, sr., passed away on Saturday at the Hotel Dieu, Chatham. Her home was in Newcastle and she is survived by her husband, three sons, three daughters, one brother and one sister.

The death of Elmer A. Brown occurred yesterday at his residence, "Johnsoncroft," near Brown's Flats. He was a popular farmer and lumberman in that district and is survived by his parents, his wife, two sons, one daughter, two brothers and two sisters.

Halting opposite the French restaurant which he was wont to patronize he invited his friend to dine with him. "You know," he said "this place is famous for its horse meat. You'll find it a regular treat."
"Horse meat?" exclaimed the friend in alarm. "Wouldn't touch it if I was paid, especially after what happened to poor Duggie."
"Why, what about him?" he was asked.
"Choked to death in a hotel the other day," answered the friend. "He was eating a piece of horse meat when some one said 'Woop!'"

NOW IS TIME TO TRADE WITH SOUTH AMERICA

Excellent Opportunities for Canadian Business Houses To Establish Relations with South American Republics

(Montreal Star.)

"The cry of the world today is Trade, Trade, Trade, and the voice of Canada helps to swell the chorus. We need trade to help defray the cost of our share in the long war with the responsibilities that it entails. We need it to develop our vast natural resources, and we need it to establish our home labor, which has become so unsettled in the turmoil of the last five years, on a firm and prosperous basis. Why then when there is trade almost at our doors do we take so long to arouse from our commercial lethargy and take advantage of it, particularly when our competitors are not so slow in seizing opportunities?" said A. R. Fowler, of this city, in describing the possibility for big trade between Canada and the South American Republics.

Mr. Fowler, who recently arrived in the West from England, has spent many years in the latter country and intends to return there in the fall. He has had exceptional opportunities for observation and has made a study of trade conditions and he believes that what he states of Argentina is applicable to the larger part of South America.

It is Mr. Fowler's firm conviction that Canada's time is ripe and that if she is to make any effort to capture the southern trade she must start now. Argentina, which at the commencement of the war was pro-German, finished by almost breaking relations with the Central Powers. The people of that country absolutely respect the English in business; for the Canadians they have only this business respect, but an admiration for their national life and for the part they played in the world war. It would be hard to imagine a better basis than this upon which to establish commercial relations. Moreover while Canada is hesitating, other countries are acting. England is doing a big business with Argentina, and the Americans are continually increasing their activities, and even Germany is concentrating for a big effort to recapture her pre-war trade.

The articles most needed in Argentina, Mr. Fowler states, are agricultural machinery of all kinds, building and saw-mill machinery and general hardware, particularly barbed wire. There is a big scarcity of saw-mill machinery, and he believes as they are used in the export of very poor quality. In addition to the articles enumerated there is an opening for a certain amount of trade in building and shoes, but as the country itself is rapidly developing this industry there is a heavy import duty entailed. A good type of tractor, used for farming, is in demand, but the cost of gasoline drops. There is, of course, the possibility that Canada cannot compete with the United States in the manufacture of certain machinery, but that is a matter for the Canadian manufacturers to decide.

For imports, Mr. Fowler suggests that Canada could deal in wood, furniture, woods, which he says are very beautiful, horns and hoofs, tallow and quebracho, the latter being a medicinal product. There is already a trade established for wool and quebracho, but Mr. Fowler considers that it could be considerably increased. The remarks so far have had reference to Argentina alone, a country with a population of seven million people, but there is absolutely no reason why similar business could not be carried on with Brazil, Chile, Peru, Ecuador and the United States of Columbia. The last named are reported to be practically untouched commercially. There is an added advantage in the fact that the people of all these countries are considered good payers, although often inclined to ask for longer credits than are conceded to them.

Here, then, on the word of a Canadian business man who has lived on the spot, is trade to be captured. Why should not Canada arise and take her share? Already negotiations have brought the evidence needed as to requirements, conditions, transportation, etc. If she cannot manufacture the goods required as cheaply as well as some of her competitors—and that fact is not yet proved—she should at least be able to protect others. If she cannot compete with her many in trade now that that country by its policy of militarism is reduced to such pitiable plight, then she must indeed stand low among the nations in the roll of commerce. Germany is aspiring to this trade. Five million Germans are endeavoring to establish in Argentina alone a center for their organization having as its ultimate object the control of South American commerce. If there are such possibilities for Germany what may there not be for Canada when she has the advantage of commencing with the good will of the majority of the people with whom she wishes to deal?

Mr. Fowler, like many other business men, is much in favor of Spanish being taught as a commercial language in the schools of Canada. It is already much in use for this purpose in Europe and in many British possessions, and is the native tongue of practically all the South American Republics, with the exception of Brazil, where Portuguese is spoken.

FORCE ELECTION IN MOTHERLAND

Labor Leaders Think Nationalization of Mines Matter Will Split The Coalition

London, Sept. 10—The vote of the labor congress at Glasgow, proving that the whole labor movement is solidly behind the miners' demand for nationalization, indicates that a stiff fight with parliament reassembles in October. The trade union leaders intend to inaugurate a big campaign throughout the country, preaching nationalization.

James Henry Thomas, Labor M. P. and general secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, thinks that the premier will still refuse his consent to the nationalization of the coal mines. Other trade union leaders are inclined to the opinion that the government will be bound eventually to yield, because, unlike the question of direct action, which is strongly opposed by all the moderate elements of the country, nationalization of public services has very strong popular support, and the government, by resisting the demand to nationalize the mines, is credited with doing so in capitalistic interests.

Many labor leaders believe that nationalization will prove the rock on which coalition will split and a general election come about.

PERSIA SOUGHT BRITAIN'S AID

Foreign Minister, Speaking For Shah, Declares Reports of Treaty Incorrect

Geneva, Sept. 11—Prince Pirous Kahn, Persian foreign minister, speaking in behalf of the Shah, told the Associated Press yesterday he could not understand why reports that the Anglo-Persian treaty had created a British protectorate in Persia were given credence in Europe. "This is entirely incorrect," he declared. "It was Persia which took the initiative and asked the help of Great Britain because Persia was ruined and in a state of anarchy, with bands of brigands infesting the country, destroying commerce and endangering the lives of the people. In the meantime the government was virtually without troops and powerless to restore order, retaining authority only in the principal towns. "During the war half a million Persians lost their lives through invasions by the Russians and Turks. Misery and famine still prevail there."

PRINCE LEAVES WINNIPEG

Very Hearty Word For City and People As He Says Good-Bye

Winnipeg, Sept. 11—Smiling, waving his cap, and shouting an adieu as he leaped over the railing of the observation car of the royal train, the Prince of Wales left Winnipeg last evening at seven o'clock to continue his tour of the Canadian west.

That he was delighted with his experiences in the city, His Royal Highness emphasized with the greatest heartiness before boarding the train. "I am simply delighted. The spirit of the people has been splendid. Your fine city has impressed me greatly, and I am sure there is a great future before it. Nothing could have been finer than the reception given me. I shall remember it for all time and the remembrance will always give me a thrill of pleasure."

These were, in effect, the words to which with face glowing and eyes shining with pleasure, the prince gave utterance in final hurried chats with the lieutenant-governor, Sir James Aikins, and Premier Norris on the Canadian Pacific Railway tracks before the train pulled out.

GENERAL CURRIE ON VETERANS' REQUESTS

Hamilton, Ont., Sept. 11—General Sir Arthur Currie, Canadian commander, who was received with open arms by this city yesterday, said that while he sympathized with the veterans in their efforts to secure a more liberal allowance, he thought the $2,000 gratuity asked would prove too great a burden for the country to bear. The veterans' plan to have a committee appointed to consider their claims was reasonable, he said, and should receive consideration. He was in favor of generous pensions and said the present pension regulation would have to be re-adjusted.

JAMAICAN BARRIER AGAINST ENEMY ALIENS.

Kingston, Ja., Sept. 11—A bill has been introduced in the provincial assembly by the government prohibiting any former enemy alien from landing in Jamaica without a special permit from the local authorities. The penalty for breaking the law is $500 or twelve months' imprisonment.

LONDON-PARIS
AIR SERVICE WILL OPEN THIS WEEK

Arrangements Completed For Return Trips in One Day With Cabin Accommodation

London, Sept. 10.—The official aerial trips between London and Paris during the peace celebrations proved that a daily aeroplane service between the two capitals is a commercial proposition and private services are about to be begun.

The Aircraft Transport and Travel, Limited, announce that they will inaugurate a daily London-Paris service for passengers and parcels immediately, or as soon as Continental flying is permitted, while the Handley Page Company hope to establish a daily service between London and Paris as well as between London and Brussels this week.

General Sir Sefton Brancher, a director, in reference to the former project, said: "Yes, we follow on from the Government service. Their squadron commander and some of their finest pilots are now with us. Instead of Hendon, we shall fly from Hounslow. We shall use converted D.H. 4's and D.H. 16's, the former carrying two and the latter four passengers.

"The fare will be 20 guineas for the single journey, 40 for the return. Incoming passengers need not don any extra clothing, as they will be in enclosed cabins, furnished with windows that afford unrestricted observation.

"We are going in for speed—100 miles an hour (or two and a quarter hours for the journey), even against an adverse wind. To obviate the difficulty of fog we propose to develop a system of alternative aerodromes—that is to say, if fog prevails at Hounslow we shall start, say, from Polesden. Passengers and parcels will be carried there in a motor car.

"We expect the parcels service (7s. 6d. a pound for ordinary packages and considerably less for regular traffic) will prove more important than the passenger. Parcels can be left at various City and West-end depots up to 10 a.m. and 10.30 a.m., and up to 11.30 a.m. at the aerodrome.

"Departing at noon from Hounslow (a sister machine simultaneously leaving on the other side) Paris will be reached at 2.15 p.m. Making a liberal allowance for Customs routine and the time occupied in arriving at individual addresses, all the packages would be delivered in central Paris by 4 p.m.—in outlying districts by 6 p.m.

"These facilities will no doubt be greatly appreciated by bankers. Stock exchange people, and others. We also hope to be allowed to carry mails. At present there is a daily average of 8,000 messages cabled to Paris, and they are subject to some hours of delay. All these messages could be sent more cheaply by air.

"We shall give this pioneer enterprise a minimum of six months' trial. If one machine will not carry all the traffic that offers, we shall send two, or even three. A subsequent development will, no doubt, be a late return from Paris, so that a person will be able to leave London, transact business in Paris, and return to London the same day."

"Will your machines carry parachutes?" the General was asked.

"No," was the reply, "but our passengers will be supplied with life belts, and the machines will be fitted with flotation gear."

ROBBED OF $1250 IN
HANDKERCHIEF GAME

Harmony of Lawrence, Meets Friendly Duo in Boston

Lawrence, Mass., Sept. 10.—The police have arrested a Greek who, they say, came here from Boston, but whose name they have not divulged, on a charge of robbing Richard Harmony of 469 Broadway of $1250. It is alleged that the handkerchief game was worked. The man is wanted, the police believe, for similar offenses in Lynn and Worcester.

According to the police the man now in custody first met Harmony in the North Station in Boston and asked to be directed to a ticket office where he could buy a ticket to a foreign country. Harmony directed him and was offered a $5 bill for his kindness. Harmony, however, refused the reward, and the two then engaged in conversation. While they were talking, another man stepped up and joined in the conversation.

It was agreed that the two strangers should come to this city with Harmony and once here they accepted his invitation to pass the night in his room. The next day they showed him a large sum of money which he said he could match, and he went to a savings bank and drew out $1250.

Later, at the Lawrence railroad station, the man under arrest is said to have "given" his friend $500 as a present, whereupon Harmony asked to be given some money, it having appeared that the generous one was very wealthy. Harmony was told that if he would hand over his $1250 the giver would add $500 to it and return it to him, and that he could then deposit it all in the bank.

Harmony handed over the money, which the alleged thief put into a handkerchief together with $500. But he slipped this particularly handkerchief into his pocket, handing Harmony a substitute which was filled with paper.

Cautioning Harmony not to open the handkerchief until he reached the bank, the stranger left him, and Harmony carried out directions to the letter, not learning that he had been tricked until he reached the bank.

The search for the wanted man carried the Lawrence police to Worcester, Lynn and Haverhill, the arrest being made in the latter city.

PRESENT RULERS

CRUEL THAN CZAR

Closer Monopoly of Power in Moscow Than Ever in Berlin—Says President Wilson

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 10.—President Wilson appealed to a Kansas City crowd to support the peace treaty of a charter for a new order of world affairs.

The people, said the president, had been misled about the treaty by men who look at it "with the jaundiced eyes of what they are doing" when they were "debating and debating" while tragic situations waited to be dealt with.

"If any persons dare to defeat this great instrument," he continued, "then they will have to gather together their counsellors for the world and do something better. A negotiation will not save the world."

Germany, said the president, would be the only great nation left out of the league, "unless we decide to stay out and come in later with Germany."

Alluding to the American promise to set the Philippine Islands free, Mr. Wilson said the league would solve the "very perplexing" problem of how they were to be kept free after their independence had been granted.

The president asked the audience not to think he had come out to "fight or antagonize" anybody.

"I have the greatest respect," he said, "for the senate of the United States, but I have come out to fight a cause that is greater than the senate, and I intend to fight that cause, in office or out, as long as I live."

Will Effect Disarmament.
Effective disarmament would be accomplished under the covenant, Mr. Wilson predicted, declaring it was ridiculous to talk of the league as tending to war when "its whole essence" is arbitration and peace. The league, he declares, would mean the end of the "military clan" throughout the world forever.

"There is no other way to dispense with great armaments, without an agreement by the great nations of the world," said Mr. Wilson, "and here is the agreement."

JAMES W. OSBORNE
FOUND DEAD IN BED

Assistant Prosecutor in New York 14 Years—Gained Fame in The Patrick and Molnoux Murder Cases

New York, Sept. 9.—James W. Osborne, former assistant district attorney of New York and widely known as a criminal lawyer, was found dead in bed in his apartment at a hotel here. The body was found by his son when he returned to the hotel after spending Saturday night with relatives. The cause of Mr. Osborne's death was given as angina pectoris.

Mr. Osborne had remained in his apartment. Mrs. Osborne had gone to visit her father. Mr. Osborne who was sixty-one years old, was born in Charlotte, S. C. He came to New York when he was twenty-five years old, and five years later entered the district attorney's office. He served under successive district attorneys fourteen years, later entering private practice.

During his term as an assistant district attorney Mr. Osborne gained wide fame by his successful prosecution of Albert T. Patrick, murderer of the aged millionaire William Marsh Rice. Mr. Osborne also prosecuted Ronald B. Molnoux, son of General Edward Molnoux, who was charged with the murder of Mrs. Catherine B. Adams here in 1890.

Four years ago Mr. Osborne figured in the "Oliver Osborne" case, which gained nation-wide publicity. Miss Rae Tamm of New York sued him for $50,000 for breach of promise, alleging he was the "Oliver Osborne" who she said, proposed to her within an hour after engagement, and if we don't do it now the job will still be before us." This task, he continued, must be carried to the extent that no minority anywhere could control the majority.

"The men who now control the affairs of Russia," said Mr. Wilson, "represent nobody but themselves. They have no kind of a mandate. There are only thirty-four of them, I am told. There is a closer monopoly of power in Moscow than there ever was in Wilhelmstrasse, and a man more cruel than the Czar is controlling the destinies of that people."

"If we don't want little groups of selfish men to plot the future of Europe, then we must see to it that little groups of selfish men do not plot the future of the United States."

Citing conditions in Armenia, Mr. Wilson said he "wondered that men do not wake up to the moral responsibility of what they are doing" when they were "debating and debating" while tragic situations waited to be dealt with.

RUSSIAN REIGN OF TERROR VICTIMS NOW IN ENGLAND
Starving And Ill-Treated Russian Wives And Widows, Fugitives From British Colony, Work In London

London, Sept. 10.—In a suite of rooms in the Russian embassy, at Chesham-place, more than 100 ladies sit sewing day by day.

They are all refugees from Russia, and are either Russians or English women whose lives have been lived in Russia where they formed part of the British colony. They work from 10 o'clock to 5, and receive their lunch and tea and six shillings a day.

Lloyd's representative asked for her history.

"She is a girl-widow, only twenty-five years old, and she had been married less than two years when her husband died in prison, where he had been thrown for the crime of being an Englishman," was the answer.

The young widow, who when she married Mr. Turner, a well-known member of the English colony in Petrograd, was Miss. Frida Lesman, daughter of an old Russian family, told her story.

"I was married to my husband at the English church in Petrograd on July 17, 1917," she said.

"My husband was first taken from me and put in the fortress of Peter and Paul on Aug. 10, 1918. The reason given was that he was an Englishman."

"Shortly after I also was taken to prison, but I was only there for twenty-four hours. It was 3 o'clock in the afternoon before we had any thing to eat; then they gave us our only meal for the day, except some tea, which was so bad that we couldn't drink it. Our meal consisted of water, in which herrings had been cooked, and two pieces of black bread no bigger than my thumb."

"I was released, the guard giving me a blow on the back and telling me to get out quickly. The next day my baby was born. The little child was born dead."

"When I was let out my father was arrested. I went back to my own house, which had been taken over by the Red Guard. They took most of my furniture and jewelry. Fifteen soldiers were stationed in my house, and for the two small rooms which I was allowed to keep I was obliged to pay a rent of 270 roubles a month. Those soldiers played my piano and brought their friends in to my house. Every time I was obliged to pass them to leave my house they mocked me."

"From time to time I had news of my husband. I learnt that towards the end of December, 1918, he had tried to es-

SHAH OF PERSIA
IN SWITZERLAND

Minister Says Anglo-Persian Accord Is Misunderstood in France

Geneva, Sept. 10.—(By the Associated Press)—Ahmed Mirza Shah of Persia, has arrived at Montreux, Switzerland, traveling incognito from Italy by the Sion route.

One of his secretaries told the correspondent that the Shah would remain in Europe at least six months, visiting Paris and London, before going to America.

The secretary said that the Persia-British treaty had been well received in Persia, especially in government and political circles.

One of the ministers accompanying the Shah of Persia is quoted by the Geneva Tribune as saying:

"The British-Persian accord has been falsely interpreted in France. The accord is a national necessity. The treaty of August 10 saved Persia from a dangerous situation. There is no question whatever about a British protectorate over Persia."

SELL PEARLS FOR TWO ICES.
Paris, Aug. 29. (Correspondence of Associated Press)—Two ice cream cones was the price which two Paris hellebros received the other day for $1,000 pearl necklace one of them had stolen from an American Red Cross worker here. The Red Cross worker whose name is not made public, was guest at the hotel where the two in Albert Marant and Jean Arnal, were employed.

Fearing that detectives were watching him, Marant gave the loot to Arnal to sell. Jean took the necklace to the ice cream vendor, who has a portable stand in the Tuilleries Garden, and demanded ten francs, but the vendor induced him to accept instead two ice cream cones, as it was a hot day.

Both hellebros and the ice cream man are in La Santa prison.

cape with Mr. Rayner. He was transferred to another prison, and at the end of March of this year I was told that my husband was dead. They said he died of starvation, but I think he must have been killed. There were drops of blood on his head.

"I have not received my husband's will, or papers, and I am without money."

"Did I tell you that my father also had died?"

Glogged Nostrils Open, Breathing Made Easy, Catarrh Cured!

New Method Very Successful

It is a new method of treatment, that of medicated air, and cannot fail to be beneficial. It goes wherever air can go, thus reaching all the affected parts. It purifies as by fire, simply burning up the disease germs.

Catarrhozone is a non-poisonous and healing agent; it therefore acts upon the mucous tissues of the throat, nasal passages, and bronchial tubes, destroying all microbe life, and at the same time heals up all the inflamed parts.

As a cure for Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, La Grippe; as a strengthener for the throat, Catarrhozone cannot be equalled.

It is a guaranteed cure, and is highly endorsed by prominent physicians who use Catarrhozone in their practice. Sufficient Catarrhozone for two months' use costs $1.00; smaller size 50c., at all dealers.

Water Powers of Province Discussed by Engineers

O. Foss and W. R. Turnbull Deal with Important Subjects at Institute Session—F. P. Vaughan Gives Remarkable Electrical Demonstration

Three busy sessions, morning, afternoon and evening, with lunch at the Banquet House between them, were held at the Engineering Institute of Canada yesterday. The members left the city at 10 o'clock, sat down to luncheon at the Banquet House, excellently served, and really enjoyed, at which Lieutenant-Governor Pugsley was the guest of honor. After luncheon R. W. Leonard, the chairman, introduced the lieutenant-governor.

In his opening remarks Governor Pugsley spoke of the great pleasure it afforded him to be present and referred to his great respect for the engineering profession. He said that while minister of public works he became intimately acquainted with the work done by the engineers, that he felt that the welfare of the country depended largely on them, and that he had never once heard of an engineer falling in the performance of his duty towards the public. He referred to the province and to the city and said that although neither was very large yet he had the greatest possible faith in their future.

He exhorted the engineers to stand together, shoulder to shoulder in building up the country and making this the most important overseas dominion of the empire. In his closing remarks he said that engineers did not believe in talk as the lawyers and politicians did, and that he would therefore be very brief in his remarks. He again thanked the institute for its kindness towards him, and said he hoped for fine weather during their stay in the city.

Mayor Hays

Mr. Leonard then thanked the lieutenant-governor on behalf of the institute and called upon His Worship Mayor Hays to make a few remarks. The mayor referred to the state of affairs in the world and said that he felt that the engineers would play an important part in the reconstruction to follow. He said that it was never more difficult for him to speak than when called upon to do so after listening to the eloquence of the lieutenant-governor, and he felt that the best way to save his reputation was to allow the advice which one of the social newspapers had once given him, and that was to be mercifully brief.

C. C. Kirby, the chairman of the St. John branch, was next called upon and moved that Senator Donville be made an honorary member of the St. John branch of the Engineering Institute. The motion was carried unanimously. Senator Donville, in thanking the branch for the honor it had conferred upon him, said that it was one of the happiest moments of his life as he liked to be among the members of the institute. He said the institute should have a technical school attached to the organization, as he felt that science was at the bottom of everything. In closing he again thanked the institute and said that he felt that the meeting had added ten years to his life.

Colonel Leonard congratulated the St. John branch on the valuable acquisition to its numbers. In speaking of the unrest which prevailed in the country he said that the engineering profession consisted almost entirely of salaried men and therefore was probably the only organization which could faithfully represent the great mass of the people who are interested in all questions of the day. As a last word to the members of the institute he exhorted them to "be steady."

Paper on Water Powers.

Mr. Foss, in his opening remarks referred to the laws governing hydrostatic and hydraulics, which he said, though very simple, were little understood, even by people of high intelligence. He said there was nothing miraculous about water power and that in a comparison of water with other methods of power generation people might easily make the mistake of spending as much money in the purchase, development and transmission of hydraulic power that the output might cost more than if the power were generated some other way, especially when the consumption was small and limited. He said that hydro-power was cheaper, surer and more flexible than any other form of power that can be developed in considerable units.

Prominent Men Witnesses at Guelph Inquiry

Chief Press Censor, Minister of Justice and Minister of Militia On the Stand—Former Minister Also Testifies

Ottawa, Sept. 10.—The case for the complainants in the Guelph Novitiate inquiry was closed today in the court of the Guelph Novitiate. The hearing was marked by the testimony of cabinet ministers and others of equal prominence. Col. E. H. Chambers, chief press censor, was called and asked concerning a memorandum put on the file in connection with the Guelph Novitiate incident. The memo was signed by J. A. Fortier, a censor on Colonel Chamber's staff. It stated that Mr. Doherty had telephoned him and asked him to publish nothing concerning the incident at Guelph. Mr. Doherty had said that soldiers had visited the Guelph College at Guelph and wrongfully removed by force certain persons. Mr. Doherty was chairman of the censor committee and it was natural that a request should come from him. Telegrams sent out from the censor's office to the newspapers and containing this request were read in conversation with witness. Mr. Doherty said it had been alleged against him that he had sent his aide to Guelph to advise the military service. Mr. Doherty explained that the allegation was not correct as his aide's health was not robust, but he was quite willing to serve.

The president, Mr. Leonard, said that it had been his experience wherever hydro-electric power had been developed the establishment of many other important industries always followed. He thought this scheme an admirable one. He thanked Mr. Turnbull on behalf of the institute for his most interesting and valuable paper.

The construction of the Bear River Bridge was then taken up. In a paper by A. T. Macdonald, M.P., he gave a technical description of the construction of the bridge which he said was 1,640 feet long and had been built by the Foundation Company of New York and the Power and Brewster Company of St. John. A vote of thanks was passed for the paper by Mr. Armstrong and seconded by Mr. Hare and passed along to Mr. Macdonald.

Frank P. Vaughan, M.P., M.E.I.C., M.A., I.E.E., E.R.S.A., gave a paper on the construction of the dam at the Lepreau river which empties into the Bay of Fundy about twenty miles from St. John. It offers exceptional facilities for the development of water power. On this river there are three power sites of two ninety feet falls and one of sixty-four and as this stream has a very great run-off these three sites would produce at least three times the amount of power that can be developed on the Lepreau, the Magalloway, twenty miles further away, and be made to produce as much more. He said there was no reason why the development of this power should not be put in hand at once.

Referring to Bathurst he said that at present this town has a small and inefficiently developed system of hydro-electric power and that Campbell and Dalhousie drive their plants with gas engines, using gas produced from anthracite coal the cost of which made their power very expensive. Newcastle used steam and Chatham oil engines. Tete-a-tete river which enters Bathurst harbor, little north of the town, has an ideal opportunity for very large storage. The fall through a narrow gorge in this river admits of four power sites. At the first site a dam seventy feet high will give a head of 105 feet and at the second site a dam can be built to a height of 130 feet; the third, sixty-five feet and the fourth thirty-five or a total of 335 feet. These four sites will produce 6,000-24 hour power.

He went on to say that although it had been represented to the provincial authorities only a few years ago that there is no power in New Brunswick aside from Grand Falls the commission have been able to locate the existence of 23,000-24 hour power which if all put to work would produce a great change in the conditions in the province. He concluded by saying that the maritime provinces are surely if slowly awakening to the fact that they may overcome to a considerable extent the handicap which the other provinces hold over us in manufacturing due to their enormous water powers by developing what the commission has discovered and looking for more.

Considerable discussion followed the paper in reference to the increased rainfall in some of the rivers referred to by Mr. Foss and he explained that the commission had taken one climatic year, which would not be up to the end of September, to determine the rainfall and by comparing this with other years they would be able to make a good estimate of the power in the small streams and the very large storage in relation to the rainfall area. On Petitcodiac River. The next paper on the Proposed Tidal Hydro-electric Power Development of the Petitcodiac and the Memramouc Rivers was read by W. Rupert Turnbull, F.R.A.S., who said that the site at Hopewell was the most promising one for this development of any that had been examined. Slides were shown to illustrate the tides at Hopewell and the proposed power that could be produced from them. He claimed that the principle proposed was to obtain power from both the tides. The proposed was for the erection of two dams, one to be known as the west dam on the Petitcodiac and the other the east dam on the Memramouc. The former would be 4,800 feet long and the latter 4,800 feet. There would be a lock in the west-dam providing for the passage of vessels. No lock would be necessary on the other dam. He pointed out that the dam would be three feet higher than the highest tides fifteen years and that this would enable steel structures to be built on top which would leave a foundation for a tramway and road if desired. He said that the type of the dam had not been decided upon but that one composed of hollow pieces of concrete had been suggested. Referring to the ice conditions in the two rivers he claimed that the dams would entirely alter them but that some special method of cutting would have to be provided on the face of the dam to eliminate any possibility of damage from the ice. He claimed that 250,000 inhabitants would be benefited by this hydro-electric power as it was proposed to run a main line west to St. John, another main line east to Halifax and branch lines to Moncton and the northern towns. The initial development at Hopewell would be 20,000 horse-power and the total cost of the dams and all equipment would probably be $11,000,000. The charges would be about $45 per horse-power for one year. This would mean an income of $2,025,000 a year. In closing Mr. Turnbull said that he was convinced that the Hopewell plant was a good commercial proposition. C. H. Wright, of Halifax, moved a vote of thanks, seconded by Mr. Cruikshank, Mr. Macdonald and Mr. E. Owens, of his admirable paper. Mr. Wright stated, however, that although he would like to see this scheme developed he felt that smaller and cheaper power would undoubtedly be developed first.

Hard Sentences Were Necessary

To Discipline Slackers on the Eve of Battle, Says U.S. Major-General

Washington, Sept. 9.—Drastic sentences were necessary to inspire terror among the newcomers in the army, in the opinion expressed this afternoon by Major-General John F. O'Ryan before the House Military Affairs sub-committee holding hearings on the matter of modifying laws and regulations governing army courts martial. He said the severe sentences, essential to prevent shirking of battle duty, were imposed under the supposition that they would be shortened later.

Changes in the methods controlling courts martial were opposed by General O'Ryan, except as they relate to legal features and the matter of review. "The chief object of discipline," he said, "in time of war is to deter the great mass of soldiers from committing offences against the regulations. In addition to patriotism, the hope of reward and the desire to acquit themselves well, there must lie compulsion. "The American army had a small percentage of men who might be regarded as undependable. Their idea was not to desert but to be absent without leave on the eve of battle. "Every commander must have at hand summary methods of enforcing discipline. During the battle period it is impossible to provide the court prescribed and carry out the procedure imposed. The men of the 27th division, General O'Ryan said, are satisfied with the court system as it stands. He believes this feeling extends to the National Guard.

"When the army was first mobilized," said General O'Ryan, "officers were appalled by the idea of training and disciplining such a mass of men. They thought it best to inflict such punishment as would terrorize the other men. They thought the sentences after a reasonable time would be modified. Nobody thought the severe sentences would be carried out. "Officers thought this plan would have a beneficial effect unless the sentences were so severe as to be inhuman. The object was to give an example of military justice."

Famous Pictures To Be Disposed of

Works of Romney, Reynolds Raeburn and Reubens to be Sold by Auction—Also Rich Art Treasures.

London, Sept. 9.—Christies announce an auction, beginning Nov. 4, of English and foreign silver, old English furniture, objects of art and pictures being the property of the late Duke of Hamilton. The great Hamilton Palace sale in 1882 was one of the most wonderful events in the annals of the auction room. It lasted seventeen days, twenty-two thousand three hundred and thirty-three lots were disposed of, realizing £298,562 and with the addition of the Prussian government, the total of the various sales reached over half a million pounds sterling. The forthcoming sale will apparently include such things as were retained when the Hamilton Palace was in part dismantled thirty-seven years ago. Nearly all the family portraits then reserved, will now be offered. Nearly all of these are well known and have been exhibited from time to time.

They include two fine whole length portraits by George Romney, of William Beckford, twice lord mayor of London, and builder of Fonthill; a whole length also of Romney, of his more famous son and namesake, the author of "Fanny Hill"; a portrait of the Duke of Devonshire, by Sir Joshua Reynolds; a charming group of the two Miss Beckfords when children. Joshua Reynolds is represented by a whole length of the beautiful Miss Gunning who married the sixth Duke and of the Hon. Mrs. Peter Beckford, a portrait of the tenth Duke of Hamilton when a boy, and the well known engraved portrait of William Beckford. There are also a fine whole length of the tenth Duke of Hamilton by Raeburn, with his favorite Arab horse; a small portrait of the eighth duke and a whole length of the eleventh duke when a child.

Among other pictures, the most interesting is Rubens' "Daniel in the Den of Lions" which once belonged to Charles I, and was bought by Beckford's father for 4000 guineas at the Hamilton Palace sale in 1882, and for 2,000 guineas by the late duke at the Denison sales three years later. It includes some choice pieces mostly of the Georgian and later periods, and the Mary Queen of Scots cabinet. Traditional said to have covered letters between the ill-fated queen and Bethwell. KING ALBERT BRINGS WILSON SET OF BRUSSELS PORCELAIN. Brussels, Sept. 11.—King Albert, on his coming visit to the United States, will offer to President Wilson among other things, a complete table set of Brussels porcelain, with reproductions of the principal Belgian monuments on the various pieces.

On Petitcodiac River. The next paper on the Proposed Tidal Hydro-electric Power Development of the Petitcodiac and the Memramouc Rivers was read by W. Rupert Turnbull, F.R.A.S., who said that the site at Hopewell was the most promising one for this development of any that had been examined. Slides were shown to illustrate the tides at Hopewell and the proposed power that could be produced from them. He claimed that the principle proposed was to obtain power from both the tides. The proposed was for the erection of two dams, one to be known as the west dam on the Petitcodiac and the other the east dam on the Memramouc. The former would be 4,800 feet long and the latter 4,800 feet. There would be a lock in the west-dam providing for the passage of vessels. No lock would be necessary on the other dam. He pointed out that the dam would be three feet higher than the highest tides fifteen years and that this would enable steel structures to be built on top which would leave a foundation for a tramway and road if desired. He said that the type of the dam had not been decided upon but that one composed of hollow pieces of concrete had been suggested. Referring to the ice conditions in the two rivers he claimed that the dams would entirely alter them but that some special method of cutting would have to be provided on the face of the dam to eliminate any possibility of damage from the ice. He claimed that 250,000 inhabitants would be benefited by this hydro-electric power as it was proposed to run a main line west to St. John, another main line east to Halifax and branch lines to Moncton and the northern towns. The initial development at Hopewell would be 20,000 horse-power and the total cost of the dams and all equipment would probably be $11,000,000. The charges would be about $45 per horse-power for one year. This would mean an income of $2,025,000 a year. In closing Mr. Turnbull said that he was convinced that the Hopewell plant was a good commercial proposition. C. H. Wright, of Halifax, moved a vote of thanks, seconded by Mr. Cruikshank, Mr. Macdonald and Mr. E. Owens, of his admirable paper. Mr. Wright stated, however, that although he would like to see this scheme developed he felt that smaller and cheaper power would undoubtedly be developed first.

Hard Sentences Were Necessary

To Discipline Slackers on the Eve of Battle, Says U.S. Major-General

Washington, Sept. 9.—Drastic sentences were necessary to inspire terror among the newcomers in the army, in the opinion expressed this afternoon by Major-General John F. O'Ryan before the House Military Affairs sub-committee holding hearings on the matter of modifying laws and regulations governing army courts martial. He said the severe sentences, essential to prevent shirking of battle duty, were imposed under the supposition that they would be shortened later.

Changes in the methods controlling courts martial were opposed by General O'Ryan, except as they relate to legal features and the matter of review. "The chief object of discipline," he said, "in time of war is to deter the great mass of soldiers from committing offences against the regulations. In addition to patriotism, the hope of reward and the desire to acquit themselves well, there must lie compulsion. "The American army had a small percentage of men who might be regarded as undependable. Their idea was not to desert but to be absent without leave on the eve of battle. "Every commander must have at hand summary methods of enforcing discipline. During the battle period it is impossible to provide the court prescribed and carry out the procedure imposed. The men of the 27th division, General O'Ryan said, are satisfied with the court system as it stands. He believes this feeling extends to the National Guard.

"When the army was first mobilized," said General O'Ryan, "officers were appalled by the idea of training and disciplining such a mass of men. They thought it best to inflict such punishment as would terrorize the other men. They thought the sentences after a reasonable time would be modified. Nobody thought the severe sentences would be carried out. "Officers thought this plan would have a beneficial effect unless the sentences were so severe as to be inhuman. The object was to give an example of military justice."

Famous Pictures To Be Disposed of

Works of Romney, Reynolds Raeburn and Reubens to be Sold by Auction—Also Rich Art Treasures.

London, Sept. 9.—Christies announce an auction, beginning Nov. 4, of English and foreign silver, old English furniture, objects of art and pictures being the property of the late Duke of Hamilton. The great Hamilton Palace sale in 1882 was one of the most wonderful events in the annals of the auction room. It lasted seventeen days, twenty-two thousand three hundred and thirty-three lots were disposed of, realizing £298,562 and with the addition of the Prussian government, the total of the various sales reached over half a million pounds sterling. The forthcoming sale will apparently include such things as were retained when the Hamilton Palace was in part dismantled thirty-seven years ago. Nearly all the family portraits then reserved, will now be offered. Nearly all of these are well known and have been exhibited from time to time.

They include two fine whole length portraits by George Romney, of William Beckford, twice lord mayor of London, and builder of Fonthill; a whole length also of Romney, of his more famous son and namesake, the author of "Fanny Hill"; a portrait of the Duke of Devonshire, by Sir Joshua Reynolds; a charming group of the two Miss Beckfords when children. Joshua Reynolds is represented by a whole length of the beautiful Miss Gunning who married the sixth Duke and of the Hon. Mrs. Peter Beckford, a portrait of the tenth Duke of Hamilton when a boy, and the well known engraved portrait of William Beckford. There are also a fine whole length of the tenth Duke of Hamilton by Raeburn, with his favorite Arab horse; a small portrait of the eighth duke and a whole length of the eleventh duke when a child.

Among other pictures, the most interesting is Rubens' "Daniel in the Den of Lions" which once belonged to Charles I, and was bought by Beckford's father for 4000 guineas at the Hamilton Palace sale in 1882, and for 2,000 guineas by the late duke at the Denison sales three years later. It includes some choice pieces mostly of the Georgian and later periods, and the Mary Queen of Scots cabinet. Traditional said to have covered letters between the ill-fated queen and Bethwell. KING ALBERT BRINGS WILSON SET OF BRUSSELS PORCELAIN. Brussels, Sept. 11.—King Albert, on his coming visit to the United States, will offer to President Wilson among other things, a complete table set of Brussels porcelain, with reproductions of the principal Belgian monuments on the various pieces.

Duke of Devonshire Sells Famous Home

Devonshire House, in Piccadilly, Purchased By a British Firm of Builders

London, Sept. 9.—Devonshire House, the famous Piccadilly residence of the Duke of Devonshire, has been sold, the purchase money amounting to about $8,750,000. It was at first reported that the purchasers were an American syndicate which proposed to erect a huge hotel on the site, but The Chronicle learns that the property was bought by one of the biggest building firms in London, and that the purchase money is all British. Devonshire House was built in 1733 by the third Duke at a cost of about $1,000,000. Its value has appreciated considerably since then, many additions having been made to it at various times. Devonshire House has many fashionable and distinguished associations, and played a leading part in the social and artistic life of London. It has been said that a Devonshire House ball was worthy to compare with the masques given at Buckingham Palace by the queen.

Bangor Electrician Killed Showing Safety Device

While explaining to an assistant superintendent the working of a new safety device for storage cells at the power plant of the Bangor Railway and Electric Company at Veale, which he had just completed, Fred Hutchinson, thirty-five years old, was instantly killed by contact with high tension wires under the cells.

Hutchinson had been an electrician all his life and was considered an expert. He devised a system of wiring for the storage cells which would make them much less dangerous to workmen. He was going over the work with Asst. Supt. A. L. Davis, who had asked him a question about a connection. Davis shut off the current, probably in less than fifteen seconds, but it was a fatal shock. Hutchinson leaves his wife and three children.

Charged with Murder of Dominion Policeman

At the preliminary examination of Albert Nowlan, charged with the murder of Dominion Policeman Richards, before Magistrate Deigo Richibucto, yesterday morning, much evidence was taken. The first witness, J. A. Chamberlain, Dominion police officer, gave evidence of finding the body of Richards and of hearing a shot followed by a cry. Cross-examined, he said that the shot came from the big woods, but a man could not be seen there. In the afternoon John E. Gibson gave evidence of hearing of the death of Richards, on his arrival at the Roy post office and of finding a button and some shot near where the blood showed by a brook. Evangeline Nowlan, sister of the prisoner, last evening gave evidence of hearing three reports of a revolver and also of seeing one man in a red shirt and a second man she did not know or could not describe. The court resumed again this morning.

Cured His RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no loss of time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Fuller, Carpenter, 35 F. Marcellus avenue, Mansquan, N. J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

Do You Remember The Old Corn Doctor?

He stood on the street, in the olden days, and offered a "magic corn cure." The same ingredients, harsh and inefficient, are sold in countless forms today. But they did not end corn, and they do not now. Nor does padding, nor does paring—methods older still. The One Right Way Modern scientists in the Bauer & Black laboratories have evolved a perfect method and embodied it in Blue-jay.

Every Wage Earner Should Answer Question Himself or Herself

WHAT DOES THE FUTURE HOLD FOR YOU IF HEALTH GIVES WAY?

In dollars and cents, what is the worth of the brain of your arm; what is the value of the staying power that permits continuous labor—what are they worth to you? Suppose you did something so foolish as to reduce your strength, vitality or judgment one half, and it were impossible to get them back—how much would you pay to regain the lost portion? When you let yourself run down, you reduce your chances for success in life—if sleeplessness comes you score lower still—should appetite or digestion fail, you are starved in the face of physical bankruptcy.

 Chief interest in the day's events appeared to centre in the three-cornered racing duel in 10 pace for the Syracuse

"BABE" RUTH'S GREAT WORK ON BALL DIAMOND

Something Of The Home Run King's Record

Ball Over Fence In Every American League City Except Washington—And He May Be Good For A Few More Yet

Writing in the Boston Globe, Melville E. Wenham writes of Babe Ruth's capture of the home run record—
 "Bucky" Freeman was set up twenty years ago, and yesterday King George took the mark up several notches before he finishes his string of 1919 wallpings.

Back in 1899, Freeman, playing for the Washington club, made twenty-five home runs, fifteen of them over the short fences that bounded the Senatorial barnyard, and having no foul-strike rule. Yesterday Boston's heavy hitter registered his twenty-sixth home run blow—and set up a new record. How long it will stand nobody knows, for George is likely to send the mark up several notches before he finishes his string of 1919 wallpings.

In one of the record books in which data relating to baseball is annually published, it is set forth that back in 1888 the pitching distance was different club drove out no fewer than twenty-seven home runs. The National League records, however, do not show this feat, and, according to John A. Heydler, the National League has no official memoranda of any such bit of hitting on Williamson's part.

Mr. Heydler telegraphed the Globe yesterday, and before the Red Sox double-header with the New York Yankees started, that, in his opinion, twenty-six home runs, when made by Ruth, should be taken as the record. Freeman's home runs and Ruth's were made under the same playing conditions.

"And granting," said Mr. Heydler, "that Williamson did make twenty-seven home runs, it hardly could be fair to compare it with the modern records. In 1888 the pitching distance was different, the batsman could call for a high or low ball and he could have the benefit of seven unfair fouls. In my opinion twenty-six home runs will establish a new record—and my congratulations to the big lad when he does it."

The fans love a great hitter, but they pretty much adore the fellow, who, when he comes to bat, causes the fielders to back away toward the boundaries and then proceeds to aim his blows for districts well beyond the limits of the playing field. And this season he has boosted the ball over the fence in every American League town except Washington.

Here in Boston there has been no ball players since the great Mike Kelly's day when a name has been such a household word with the fans. The recent crowd at Fenway Park was which a sixth-place club was playing rarely were attracted there by the chance they might see "Babe" Ruth make one of his famous home run "busts," as he calls 'em.

Ruth and his hitting have held Boston's interest in the National game to a point that never could have been maintained on the record of the former city. The Subway farmer stands on a pedestal, and alone, in baseball today.

Big George started his distance hitting down Fenway the spring when on the Sox's training trip. The boys practiced on the enclosure of a half-mile race track and the home plate was close to the pole opposite the middle of the grandstand. The first day out "Babe" decided that he would boost the ball away across the field and onto the backstretch, and he did it several times before the Regulars and the Yannisians started their three-game series which they won up for their six-game bout with the New York Giants.

The Red Sox played eighteen games before they opened the season for the championship on New York on April 23, and in these matches Ruth made thirty-one hits in sixty-five times at bat, for a hitting average of .477. He made four in a row on April 18 and two more the following afternoon. And then when the season opened on the Polo Grounds, April 23, Ruth made a home run for a get-a-way, driving out a liner to centre field and making the circuit when the ball hopped past Duffy Lewis and danced along to the boundary.

A curious fact relating to all Ruth's home-run hitting this year has been the small number of base-runners who have been on when the base-clearing wallpops have been delivered. In making twenty-six home runs in his league games this year Ruth has sent in only twenty-eight runners ahead of him.

In eight games there has been nobody on base, in twelve games there has been only one runner, and in two games two runners have scored ahead of the Boston slugger. Four times, however, in St. Louis, New York, Cleveland and Detroit the "Babe" has delivered his blow with the bases filled.

Down South in the Spring Ruth also did most of his long hitting when the bases were clear. In six of the 10 games in which he clipped the ball over the fence, there was no runner ahead of him, and in each of the other four games only one runner shared the benefit of Ruth's lift over the boundary fence. Scored Hooper Seven Times.

In the league games nine different players have been on base when Ruth has come through. Naturally the boys at the top of the batting list have been the ones to do the trotting at the head of the Ruth home-run band wagon.

"Babe" has scored Harry Hooper seven times, Bobby Roth seven times, Oscar Vitt six times, Amos Steunk and Everett Scott twice each, and Gilhooley, Lamar Caldwell and Jack Barry once each.

Besides hitting home runs this season Ruth has done a lot of good business with single hits, doubles and triples. In his 115 ball games this year to date he has made 126 hits in 888 times at bat for an average of .325. He has made 61 single, 26 doubles and 18 three-baggers besides his 26 home runs.

Ruth has participated in 115 games for the Red Sox this season, and has failed to get a hit in 36 of them. He made one hit in 46 games, two hits in 25 games, three hits in seven games, four hits in one game and five hits in one game.

The grand knights of Greater Boston of the Knights of Columbus councils were to meet on Tuesday at the Pere Marquette council headquarters, South Boston, to perfect arrangements for Babe Ruth day at Fenway Park Saturday, Sept. 20. As Ruth is a knight himself, every effort is being made to get every member interested in the testimonial to assist.

Great Play.
 Toronto, Sept. 10.—The great event in Toronto's contests in the Ontario lawn tennis tournament was the final in the men's open doubles between the two Australian pairs, Brookes and Paterson, defeating Lyett and Thomas. The brand of tennis displayed was such in many respects as has never been witnessed here before. The marvelous volleying of the four with terrific overhead smashes of Paterson and the delicacy of the touch of Brookes' masterhand were the most noticeable features of the play. Brookes and Paterson defeated Lyett and Thomas 6-2, 6-3 and 6-4.

CITY WORKMEN APPEAR BEFORE COMMON COUNCIL

Support Petition For Wage Increases

WANT RAISE NOW

Say They Cannot Live On Wages And City Has No Money For Increases—Reduction in Staff, Only Middle Course, Says Mr. Jones

A delegation representing city employees appeared before the common council, in committee, this morning in support of their petition for an immediate increase in wages averaging fifty cents a day. The men stated their case, arguing that the cost of living made an increase necessary but the members of the council replied that no money was available for increased wages and none could be provided until the 1920 estimates were put into effect. The employees did not regard this as satisfactory but were asked to give the situation further consideration.

The delegation consisted of James McCarthy and Andrew Martin, water and sewerage department; R. F. Gooderich and Philip Grassie, public works; J. A. Bingham and J. Campbell, ferry; Thomas Hosford and Alfred McFarlane, market.

The Men's Case.

Mr. McCarthy, spokesman for the delegation and convener of the employees' committee, said that the high cost of living made it impossible for them to live on their wages. He remarked that some of the water and sewerage employees were getting $4 a day while others were getting $2 or $2.50. In reply to the mayor, he said that perhaps two men were getting the minimum; they were old men but one had worked for the city for fifty years. One acted as a lamp lighter. The regular rate was about $3 a day, while other laborers were receiving 45 and 50 cents an hour for a nine-hour day. He felt the city workmen should get at least $3.50 a day. Their union did not think that old men should be discriminated against. In reply to the mayor, Mr. McCarthy said that he was a master mechanic in the water and sewerage department. He received $4 a day and would want an increase if the others got it.

To Mr. Fisher, he said that city employees of all departments had met and agreed on their demands.

To Mr. Bullock, he said the committee represented the employees of the water and sewerage, public works, ferry and market departments, except those already drawing union wages. Chauffeurs were paid $18 a week while their union scale was $22. The wharf carpenters were not members of the union.

Public Works.
R. F. Gooderich, timekeeper in the public works department, said that the rates of wages paid by the city made it impossible for the men to provide for their old age and there was little for their home. The regular rate was $8; some men received only $2.50 and at least one man was contented at $1.75 a day. Contractors took city jobs and paid their men 40 to 45 cents an hour and he thought that the city should be able to pay as much.

To the mayor, he said that he knew of at least two former employees of the city who were in the poor house, but admitted that this was not necessarily because they had been city employees. Regarding chauffeurs, he said that the two mentioned who got $18 a week were not classed as regular chauffeurs and so did not get union wages.

Mr. McCarthy said that the civic employees' union did not include any employees who were members of other unions, such as carpenters and chauffeurs.

Mr. Gooderich said that one of the city carpenters belonged to both the carpenters' and the civic union.

City's Attitude.

Mr. Fisher said that the city desired to pay fair wages and he felt that all the men wanted, but the difficulty lay in determining what was fair. When they knew that they were not paying but he felt that the union had not made out a clear case. He suggested that the matter be considered further by the union and another hearing arranged. Thomas Hosford said he was a watchman in the market and received $2.50 a day; for a time he had received only $2.25. He had worked in the water and sewerage department, but his present work was steadier and less laborious. J. Allingham, of the ferry department, said the scale varied in that department, ranging from $80 to $120. The men who received $120 a month said it took every cent they got to live, so it was hard to see how others could live on $80. He was speaking for the men who were getting less than $100 a month and their request was for $15 a month. They wanted the raise made effective at once, as they could not live on hot air until the first of the year. The ferry men were capable, sober and industrious and he believed they all were worth more than $100 a month.

Mr. Jones said that the council already had informed the men that the city could grant no increases until the new year, as there was no money to provide for an increase at present. The only way by which increases could be granted immediately would be by reducing the number of employees or the number of hours they worked. He wanted to see the men get fair play, but the city could not increase wages when they had no money.

Mr. Bullock said that the alternatives suggested would not apply to the ferry department, as they could reduce neither the number of men nor hours.

Mr. Thornton did not think that the city should be required to pay as much for light work as for heavier jobs. Returned soldiers had applied for some of these jobs, and were willing to take them at the present scale. He admitted that he did not see how a man could support a family on the wages some of them received, but the city had no money to grant increases.

SUGAR-FREIGHT RATES ORDER IS RESCINDED

Order-in-Council Which Gave Rate To Refineries in St. John And Halifax

Publication of an order-in-council relating to freight rates on sugar indicates that the refineries in St. John and Halifax have lost their fight for the continuation of the special rates which they have contended were necessary in order to permit them to compete with the Montreal refineries. The former arrangement lessened the handicap imposed on the eastern refineries by reason of their geographical position when seeking western business and the cancellation of the concessions will give the upper Canadian manufacturers a great advantage. The matter has been before the Dominion Railway Commission for several years.

The order-in-council is as follows:—
"1. The paragraphs in the order-in-council (P.C. 2089) of the 24th August, 1918, relating to freight rates on sugar, reading as follows:

"To Montreal for local deliveries; 32 cents per 100 lbs. from St. John, N. B., and 38 cents per 100 lbs. from Halifax.
"To destinations in Canada west of Montreal; the 5th class rates current in Montreal, subject to the addition of 14 1/2 cents per 100 lbs. from St. John and 15 1/2 cents per 100 lbs. from Halifax," are hereby rescinded, and the rates are rescinded under order-in-council (P.C. 1868), dated the 27th day of July, 1918 shall become effective after the expiration of thirty days after the date of this order-in-council, subject to such changes and modifications as may be ordered by the board on any application that may be made, or which may be put into effect by any carrier, and subject to any application to the board which interested shippers may make against the action of the carriers, or any of them;

"2. The rates on sugar from Vancouver, B. C., fixed and determined by the said order-in-council of the 24th August, 1918 (P.C. 2089), shall remain in full force and effect, subject to such changes and modifications as may be ordered by the board on any applications that may be made, or which may be put into effect by any carrier, and subject also to any application to the board which interested shippers may make against the action of the carriers, or any of them."

WIFE SAYS SHE WAS STRUCK BY HUSBAND

Lindsay Sabean of Erin Street, Arrested on Two Charges, Pleads Guilty to One

Lindsay Sabean of Erin street was arrested last night by Policeman Thomas, being given in charge by his wife. It was said that he went home last night in a late hour after having been drinking and started an argument with his wife and threatened her life. Policeman Thomas, night desk man, was called and took the accused in charge.

In the police court this morning he was charged with being drunk and pleaded guilty, but when asked concerning the affair with his wife he said he did not remember what happened. Mrs. Sabean told of being chased up Erin street by her husband and said that he struck her several times when they were in the house. She also said that he struck her while in the street on Saturday. Other witnesses were Mrs. Charles DeLoy and George Anderson who said that Mrs. Sabean went to his house Sunday with blood on her face. The accused was remanded to jail.

ates were prepared, but they would give the matter careful consideration. The delegates then withdrew.

Telephone Conduit.

J. E. Marshall, for the N. B. Telephone Company, appeared to ask permission to lay underground conduit in Waterloo street, from Union to Richmond. He explained that they would lay a three inch conduit, one of which would be reserved for the use of the city, according to the standing agreement.

In reply to the road engineer, Mr. Marshall said they would have enough room to put all their wires underground if required to do so, but it was not considered advisable in a wooden dwelling district. Furthermore, the aerial wires were more effective than the underground conduits, as sound travelled three times as far as through the underground cables.

There was a general discussion of the comparative utility of underground and overhead wires. Finally it was agreed that the city engineer's approval should be secured for the plan under discussion and decision was postponed. On motion of Mr. Fisher payment of $245 to St. Mary's Band for public band concerts was authorized.
