THE CRANKY GLOBE.

The Globe last evening, in an article on the Grand Trunk Pacific, made these extraordinary statements:

It seems a common sense proposition that the Canadian wheat grower should not be compelled to carry his wheat round the north shore of this province and via Moncton to St. John, if he can carry it more cheaply and in less time than he can carry it to St. John by a route across the State of Maine. One would suppose that the Board of Trade in a commercial city such as St. John would be guided by the principles which underlie the operations of successful trade. Yet for weeks active members of the board have been endeavoring to sustain and uphold views which in the end, should they prevail, would do this city great injury.

No doubt there is much to be said on patriotic grounds in favor of building up Canadian ports by all-Canadian railway routes, but on the other hand it is not an unwise thing to use a railroad across our neighbor's land if he is willing to allow us to use it, in order that the shipper may be quickly and easily served at the port of St. John or any other Canadian port. When all the fever of the present excitement is over, reality will assert itself. At least she usually does.

When the C. P. R. short line was under construction, and even after it was built, the Globe poured ridicule upon it as an impossible route for traffic in competition with American routes. The line, it is true, passed through a portion of the State of Maine, but the very fact did not reconcile the Globe.

Within a few months that paper has admitted frankly that the C. P. R. short line has proved itself a successful route. The people of Canada may therefore endure with cheerfulness the Globe's present attitude on the subject of reason and common sense, feeling assured that time and an all-Canadian route will bring their vindication.

NEW YORK'S TROUBLES.

There seems a possibility that the labor war in New York will be brought to an end this week, though at time of writing the outlook is not very hopeful.

It is estimated that the loss of wages to workmen has been about $12,000,000. The trouble arose when the Board of Building Trades, representing skilled workmen, decided to support the demands of the Drivers' Union, of unskilled men. When that occurred the employers' association declared a lock-out of the drivers and work was paralyzed. The Brooklyn Eagle states the case from the employers' standpoint as follows:

The lumber lockout became effective in Manhattan and the Bronx on May 5. It was brought about by the attempt of the Drivers' Union to enforce terms as to wages and hours on the lumber dealers of that territory. The bosses were not disinclined to agree to the terms, but they realized the fact that if the drivers were permitted to organize it would be impossible because of the growth of sympathetic strikes, for there to carry on business. The drivers are of course unskilled. Any ordinary man picked up in a hurry can fill the job.

Their value as an organized force to the labor unions lay in the fact that if they were called out the business of the bosses would be irretrievably tied up. No lumber can be delivered no work can be done. Consequently if the carpenters' union had a grievance on which the men were striking and the Board of Building Trades were to support the carpenters' views there would not be a stick of lumber delivered in the city. The drivers would go out on a sympathetic strike, although the carpenters' controversy in no way affected them.

Such conditions would be calamitous to business, and to prevent the possibility of their prevalence the lumber dealers looked out their drivers. The dealers kept their other employees at work, and perfected an organization among themselves that manifested meant earnest work. The lockout spread in a measure to Brooklyn about a week ago.

In the Drivers' Union had been left to stand alone it never would have amounted to anything, but the Board of Building Trades, representing carpenters, plasterers, masons, bricklayers and substantially many skilled industries in the building business, indorsed the drivers and took up their fight. This action precipitated the lumber dealers' lockout.

The New York Herald says that the loss to capitalists and employers has been many times greater than that of wage earners, and adds that the trouble "has left hundreds of buildings unfinished skeletons in all parts of the city, has caused delay in the completion of schools, has kept out thousands of children from school during the coming year, and disturbed industrial and financial conditions to an extent not greatly understood by the outside world."

The loss of $12,000,000 to workmen is thus figured out by the Herald.

Amount Per Lost in Days.

10,000 carpenters $1,000,000

12,000 ironworkers 2,700,000

25,000 laborers 4,500,000

7,000 bricklayers 840,000

2,000 bricklayers' helpers 240,000

4,000 plasterers 500,000

3,000 electric workers 320,000

1,000 stone cutters 120,000

2,000 marble cutters 240,000

3,000 plumbers (no work) 320,000

500 steam fitters 53,000

Total $7,484,000

In addition to these there have been out of work most of the time 500 boiler makers, 100 pipefitters, 2,000 marble polishers, 2,000 marble workers, 2,000 gas and electrical fitters, 2,000 steam fitters, 2,000 cement workers, 2,000 wood lathers, 200 hoisting engineers, 2,000 steam fitters, 2,000 cement masons, 2,000 metal lathers, 200 boiler and pipe covers and about 5,000 in miscellaneous trades, which bring the total amount lost to the workmen about $13,000,000.

The results of this lockout are felt even in St. John. Since building operations cannot be carried on in New York the market for spruce lumber is affected, and where millions of feet effort worthy of the consideration of those who are interested in the progressive theatre. The version of the Resurrection used by Mr. Harkins is well arranged. One of the great scenes of the play is the female prison at Moscow. The other, an inn on the road to Siberia where Prince Mekladof catches up with the prisoners before a pardon for Katsusha from the czar. This act, unlike most plays, is one of the strongest in the piece.

KATE CLAXTON HERE AGAIN.

One of the most popular of stage favorites, Miss Kate Claxton, will be a visitor here on Thursday, June 11th, at the Opera House. She brings her old favorite play, "The Two Orphans," which is always sure of generous patronage. In many respects it is one of the most remarkable plays ever produced. For upwards of twenty years it has been one of the most popular of all plays, and its continued popularity this season with Miss Claxton as the blind girl, attests its remarkable quality as a potent drawing card. Miss Claxton has made a notable revival of "The Two Orphans" this season, and is said to bring the strongest company ever in her support, as well as a new and complete scenic production, painted by two of New York's famous scenic artists.

CLARY IN PORTLAND.

There are still many in the city, particularly in North End, who have never heard Clary. An opportunity, and probably the last one, is presented tomorrow, Thursday evening, in Portland at the Methodist church, and this will also be the first time the great contralto has ever sung here to organ accompaniment. It will be a grand concert. Tickets can be had at the door, and from church members.

A BIG FAILURE.

A. E. Ames & Co., the largest financial firm in Canada, failed yesterday as a direct result of a decline in Twin City stocks. The total liabilities are said to be between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000. The announcement of the failure caused a panic on the Toronto stock market yesterday, and there was a further sharp decline in stocks.

Miss Addy, daughter of Doctor H. G. Addy, left yesterday afternoon for Boston, from which city she will sail with friends on the steamer Commonwealth for the old country. Some time will be spent in Switzerland and France.

Rev. H. F. Waring, formerly of Brunswick street Baptist church, but now of Halifax, came to the city yesterday, called by the death of Inspector Waring.

ROLLING MILLS EXTENSION. A New Building and Additional Machinery to Be Added.

The Portland Rolling Mills have begun the extension of their works by calling for tenders for the erection of a large new building. This building is to be situated on the northern side of and adjoining the present mills, being connected with the part used as a mill works. It will be one hundred and forty feet in length by ninety feet wide and will be used as an extension to the mill and horseshoe works. The present branch of the mills used for nails, tacks, spikes and horseshoes has been found far too small for the requirements of the work, the men and machines are crowded, and there are not enough machines running to fill all the orders that might be taken. Several new machines have been purchased but cannot be set up until there is room for them.

The new building, tenders for which will close tomorrow, will afford much greater capacity and relieve the present congestion.

Concerning future plans the managers of the mills are reticent. They do not deny that important extensions, including car works, are under consideration, but state that as yet very little has been settled. A short time ago Superintendent Perkins went to the United States to look at modern machinery and tenders are now also being called for additions to the plant.

JUNE, WEDDINGS.

FAIRWEATHER-NILES.

Last evening at the home of the bride's parents, Walter Scovill Fairweather, of Boston, son of the late Douglas M. Fairweather and in the employ of the McClary Manufacturing Co., was united in marriage to Miss Jessie Blanche Niles, third daughter of Henry Niles, 127 Douglas avenue, Rev. Dr. G. G. Gates performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a white voile frock with underdress of cream tulle silk. Miss Niles, her sister, was bridesmaid, and Ernest Field supported the groom. After the customary supper was served. The happy young couple will leave for Boston and New York today by boat to spend the honeymoon. Upon their return they will reside at 127 Douglas avenue.

The presents were numerous and handsome, among them being a solitaire diamond ring from the groom to the bride, and the some to the bridesmaid.

MITCHELL-HETHERINGTON.

The wedding took place at six o'clock this morning of Robert A. E. Mitchell, son of George Mitchell, 223 Brussels street, Miss Mary Jean Hetherington, daughter of Robert Hetherington, of the Washdenoak. The ceremony was performed at the Kings Daughters' Guild by the Rev. Christopher Burnett, pastor of Lennox Street Baptist church. The best man was J. Christie, of Moncton, and the bride was attended by Miss Jennie Jewett.

The large list of gifts included a cheque for $50 from William Christie, of Moncton; $100 from Mrs. C. O. Gates, of Moncton; a mahogany book case from the proprietors of the London House Wholesale, for which the groom travels; and a mahogany table with chairs from the employees of the firm. The couple took the 4:45 train for a trip to the New England States and New York, and on their return will live at No. 47 Elmwood street.
