was a sensation in Sydney, Cape Bre-ton, today at the meeting of the Mari-time Board of Trade. The delegates were being photographed on the steps of the court house at dinner hour, when Judge Meagher, who was presid-ing at the supreme court, came out of the building. The delegates were in his Wolf, a prominent merchant of Halifax, at the afternoon session of the poard made a statement regarding the judge's conduct. The swore out a warrant, had DeWolf arrested and placed in jail.

CAPE BRETON, Aug. 20 .- Mr. Jus-

ench, and John E. DeWolf of Halifax

were the two most talked of men in Sydney today. After the adjournment of the Maritime Board of Trade the delegates sat on the steps of the county court building to be photographed. They packed the steps, so that Mr. Justice Meagher, accompanled by the sheriff and several barristers coming out of the room on the adjournment of the supreme court found it impossible to come down the steps, the way being blocked. The sheriff, however, succeeded in making room for them to pass down. In going through, Mr. Justice Meagher remarked on the ill-manners of the crowd in daring to block the only enrance to the court house. These remarks were not taken very kindly by some of the board of trade delegates, did not recognize the judge or who he was. It was after he eached the sidewalk and had proceeded to walk away that there was a sound like hissing. The judge turned round and scored the board of trade delegates very severely, saying they were the most ill-mannered crowd of blackguards he had ever met, and said that if the parties who hissed were ointed out to him he would immedi-fered them by being called a crowd of blackguards and wanted an explanadirected the sheriff to arrest DeWolfe and place him behind the bars. The Geo. M. Mr. DeWolf characterized it as a disgrace to the city of Halifax that such an insult should be offered to the dele gates to this meeting and suggested the appointment of a committee of three to demand an apology, or failing in this, that a stringent resolution be passed giving the matter the widest publicity possible. He said there was hissing, but not until Judge Meagher had gone on his way and addressed them as an "ungentlemanly gathering of blackguards." Geo. H. Dobson of North Sydney

SYDNEY, Cape Breton, Aug. 20.— The eighth annual meeting of the Maritime Board of Trade opened here this morning, with President Black in the chair. About one hundred delegates are in attendance.

The secretary treasurer's report showed that there are now twenty-four boards in Nova Scotia, four in Cape Breton, three in Prince Edward Island, and nine in New Brunswick, 29 of these being affiliated. W. S. Fisher moved a resolution: That, whereas it is desirable in the interest that every effort should be made to have the import and export trade of Canada carried on over Canadian routes throughout Canadian seaports, and whereas to carry this out most effective it is necessary that our national waterways and ports be so thoroughly protected and equipped that this traffic may be carried on with the greatest possible safety and rapidity, and that the lowest cost. TWEEDIE TALKS.

New Brunswick Premier Interviewed in Montreal.

month of September private conferences will be held, at which it will be decided what action the different provinces will take should an attempt be made to reduce our representation parliament, owing to the decrease in population. There will hardly be any attempt made to change the British provinces of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island may retain the same number of members resent, but we shall certainly maintain that when the provinces were admitted into the union it was generally understood that no matter what the population should be, the number of our members should not be decreased.'

"This question," Premier Tweedie went on to say, "as already stated by Premier Peters of Prince Edward Island, is a very live one throughout the provinces, and I can assure you that any attempt made to decrease our representation will be vigorously opposed. What will have to be done will known here. The storm lasted 45 be to take the meaning of the clauses minutes, cutting down everything in of the act and not the exact wording its course. Hall was left lying on the thereof. If at the time of union the representatives of the three provinces were given to understand that there would not be any change made, would certainly be unfair to try to effect any change now." "And what of your trip to England?

"Seeing that was the first trip I had ver had across the Atlantic I could tell you many things that interested me particularly, but then they would hardly be as interesting to anybody else. The sightseeing, especially dur ing the preparation for the corin June, was certainly wonderful, and everything in connection with it was most interesting indeed. The scene of the coronation was one that is seldon seen in a life-time, and, owing to the illness of His Majesty the King, was re-eminently solemn. The Queen looked most queenly, and yet most womanly. She is much beloved by all people and is now even more so than when one is not accustomed to have one, and that is that one is always anxious to get back to the old habits and work again."

He looked steadily at the witness: who never returned the glance, but kept his eyes fixed on Mr. McKeown, and when the story was told of the threatened shooting of Goodspeed, Higgins laughed contemptuously and his pale face reddened slightly for a few seconds.

This was the only trace of emotion he displayed during the whole examination. What were his thoughts as his every action on that fatal Friday was traced; what his feelings as he heard the terrible details of the murder related and how he controlled so naturally his feelings, if he had any, were past the understanding of any who saw him. The examination began at 10 o'clock yesterday morning and continued until after ten at night. Every session was attended by a crowd which thronged the steps and street opposite the station for an hour before the court room doors were open. The capacity of the room kept hundreds from obtaining admission.

Good order was maintained and crowding in the court room was prevented by the admirable police arrangements made by Chief Clark, who had detailed Officers Finlay, Scott, Thorne and Sullivan to stand outside the rail and keep the people well back. The witnesses were kept on the side of the room to the magistrate's left and were always on hand when called. Mrs. Goodspeed, her daughter, and

> THE FATHER'S EVIDENCE Mr. Doherty then took the stand, and being sworn gave his evidence clearly and without a break. The emotion which he had shown on previous occasions in discussing the murder of his boy was kept strongly under control. He said: I am the father of William Doherty, the murdered boy, and I last saw him alive about noon on August 1st, when he brought my dinner to me at the corner of Britain and Sydney streets. He stayed there about an hour. That was the last time I saw him alive. On the next day I inquired of Frank Higgins and a boy named Alexander whether they had ten o'clock yesterday morning his lips seen Willie. Higgins first said he last saw him about ten o'clock, then he said he had seen him going down with the dinner pail. Both boys said they more so than usual. His hard little had heard he had gone to Springhill. On Sunday I stayed in the house all day and made no further enquiries.

On Monday I was just getting my upper when my woman came in and told me that someone had been found was completely at his ease. He shift-ed himself in the most comfortable po-at once and came along up by Union street to the dead house, where there his feet to and fro carelessly. His was a crowd collected. Mr. Killen saw me and called me in. I looked at the hands were folded quietly in his lap body and could not identify him as Willie by the face. Then I put my hand around the collar of the vest and found where it had been cut down from one of mine and I knew it was my son. Afterward I recognized his cuts and bruises on his face kept me from knowing him by that. I was in the dead house about 5 or 10 minutes then, and next day I went there again. The face had been washed then, and I recognized him plainly.

> to ask. THE FINDING OF THE BODY.

Mr. Mullin had no further questions

Harry Beckwith of Short street called by the crown, repeated his story of the finding of the body near Rockwood substantially as at the inquest, although the questioning of counse brought out further details of the oc-

He said: I was in the park the first Monday in August, in the afternoon alone. I went down along Lover's Lane about one hundred and fifty yards and took a path to the right and went along it about twenty-five or thirty feet. Going along here I noticed a swarm of flies rising up with a buzzing sound from what looked to be a heap of dead wood. I was within reach of the stuff and saw clothes beneath it. Looking further I saw a man's hand and later his head.

Continuing, the witness told of giving the alarm to the park employes and later to the police. He was not cross-examined. Felix Gallagher of the Park laboring staff, said he worked there all day on Monday, Aug. 4. He remembered see ing Harry Beckwith going up the path and returning later with news that he had found a body up there. He sent Beckwith to tell Mr. Henry, and later witness went up to where the body lay. He noticed that some of the covering sticks and grass had been Harvey Knox, of the Park police added his testimony to the evidence pertaining to the finding of Willia Doherty's body. He described the place where the body was found with its covering sticks and bushes and grass. Before the police and coroner arrived he disturbed nothing ,but afterward assisted in removing the stuff and carrying the body to the wagon. The body lay in a hollow, but the sticks and stuff were so piled as to make it appear level. There were raspberry bushes in the heap and the leaves were unwilted and green.

In answer to questions of counsel, he said: I did not know either Doherty or Higgins. I never saw Doherty in the park. I never saw either of them there on that Friday after-

Geo. Henry, Park laborer, gave evidence touching the finding of the body. He saw Harry Beckwith on Monday, August 4th, and as a result of what but not to any amount. When the body he said went up and saw the dead body. It was lying in a hollow covered with brush and the like. Witness did not recognize it. He did not know Doherty at all. THE ARREST. Detective Patrick Killen told of seeng the body in the dead house abou seven o'clock Monday evening. He said at first it was not identified. Then a couple of young fellows came in and said they thought it was Willie Doherty. Higgins was one of the boys. I knew Doherty well during his lifetime, but could not recognize the face so covered was it with wounds and

Just here, as his name was mentioned by the detective, Higgins yawned copiously his exceeding weariness of the whole proceedings.

The witness continued: I was there when Higgins came in. I called him in from the stoop where he was standing with the two Goodspeed boys and ne others. Higgins and one of the Goodspeed boys came in together There was such a crowd that I had to stand at the door, so I could not hear what went on in the dead house. Joseph Doherty was in about the same time and could not recognize the face, but later identified his son by the clothes I know Frank Higgins and arrested him at McAdam Junction Saturday Aug. 9, in company with young Goodspeed. They were in charge of the imnigration agent, who had sent them back to Canada. I told them , what were arrested for, handcuffed them together, searched them on the train and brought them to St. John. The night the body was found Higgins told me the last time he had see Doherty was Friday about quarter after eleven, when he was carrying his father's dinner through the graveyard, where Higgins and Goodspeed were sitting. I saw him every day after that till he was arrested. I had another conversation with him at the coroner's office. Then Higgins said he was talking to Doherty in the graveyard be-Fred Goodspeed. He said that when Kelly and King left Doherty went away just a few minutes later and went toward the Opera House. He declared that he and Goodspeed stayed in the graveyard until a quarter to THE POST MORTEM EVIDENCE. Dr. W. L. Ellis, one of the physicians who performed the autopsy, gave evidence substantially the same as that given by Dr. Macaulay at the coroner's nquest. He described the appearance of the face and body upon superficial examination. Most of the wounds on the face were only flesh wounds. There was one wound over the left eye fracturing the skull, and a piece of stone was found wedged in the fracture. An examination of the chest showed a wound extending through the lower lobes of the left lung and considerabl emorrhage into the chest cavity. A hole was found in the cavity extending through the back. The abdomen con tained a great deal of hemorrhage Two lead bullets were found in the abdominal cavity. There was a lacerated wound through the liver; the right kidney also contained a similar wound. Four penetrating wounds were found in the back, one over the right hip into the abdominal cavity, a second of of the place. Curiously, I lifted some the right of the spine to the abdominal cavity, a third to the left of the spine com nunicated with the chest, the fourth in the left shoulder blade, where a bullet was found. A bullet was found in the left lung. The left ear was injured and the temporal bone was fractured. The stomach contained a number of practically digested berries. The wounds on the face gave evidence of being caused after death. Death was caused by hemorrhage resulting from the penetration of bullets Dr. Macaulay compared them with bullets of 38 calibre and they were the same size. CORONER BERRYMAN.

Dr. Berryman, coroner, gave evid ence regarding his part in the finding of Wm. Doherty's body and its conveyance to town. "When I arrived at the place," he said; "in a hollow about fifty yards from the path I saw a lot of old burnt poles lying across the hollow. A dozen or more large stones were piled over the sticks. Pro truding from the west side of the pile was the hand of a man, Before dis turbing anything I examined the surroundings and found the places whence these stones had been remo Standing at the head of where the ody was lying and looking southward I observed on an old burnt tree about five feet up, a piece of paper folded and pointed toward the body. GOODSPEED'S EVIDENCE.

He said: I will be fifteen years old next April. I have known Frank Higgins between a year and a half and two years, and knew Willie Doherty about the same time. Last September I went away to the States, but returned some time ago. Previous to the day of the murder I used to see remember Friday, the first day of August. I was in the house until ten o'clock in the morning. Got breakfast about eleven, and then went up towards the old graveyard, returning to dinner at noon. About a quarter of one I again went to the graveyard. I saw Frank Higgins and Willie Doherty there sitting on a tembstone near the walk that leads to Elliot row. I stayed there a little while with then and then Clifford King and Harry gins about one dollar and a quarter with their son as he was hurried back while Doherty was reading a new to his cell after the examination.

I did not know the man. He was go ing out Gilbert's lane. We passed him again on the way out. He was sitting down on the grass. We went on up past the refreshment house. Willie Doherty and I stayed looking at the bears and Higgins went off picking berries. Then we followed down the way Higgins had gone and went by over the mill in the rear of Dave Connel's house looking for berries and oming around till we came nearly to the park again. Near that road which comes out from the park I was walking with Doherty and Higgins was coming behind, about twelve feet

I remember Friday, Aug. 4. I knew Doherty by sight. I was out Gilbert's lane that day and saw him and two other boys there between 1.30 and 2 going toward the park. I went into the park ahead of them. The last I saw of them was at the park entrance. Edward Tobin, aged 16, of 13 Erin street, had known both Higgins and Doherty, but didn't go around with them much. IN FRONT OF THE DEAD HOUSE I took him and Goodspeed and Harry McNeil into the police station after they had seen the body. There appeared to be some doubt as to the identity of the body, so I got a pail of water to wash the face and took Higgins and Goodspeed again into the dead house. I uncovered the face and asked Higgins to look at it. I asked him if it was Willie Doherty. He said yes, he thought it was. I washed some of the dirt off the face and taking held of the body with Sergt. Kilpatrick, raised the body to a sitting

He was warned that it was not necessary to say anything, and that whatever he did say could be used in evidence against him. Higgins' reply in a clear, even, un-embarrased voice was: "I have nothing to say except I'm not guilty."

Then the magistrate formally committed him for trial, and he was taken back to jail, there to await it. As he passed through the guard ro his father and mother, who had gone down the stairs ahead, waited for him in the hope of a few words with their

Before closing the court the magistrate spoke of the existence of the two gangs referred to in the evidence. He had long known of their existence and had often referred to them in court, but his remarks had been wrongly taken as only attempts to roast the police...If some attention had been paid to his warnings this crime might never have occurred. With some of their members in Dorchester and some on trial he thought the gang was broken up, and he hoped that the disclosures of the last few days would be a warn ing to many boys in the city.

How a Sackville Man Was Badly Taken in By Two Strangers.

(Sackville Post.)

A good story is told of one of our enterprising young business men. It was the day the Armenian preachers were in town soliciting subscriptions for missions or something of that sort. The young business man had been away all day, and, coming home tovards evening pretty well fagged out, went directly home, determined to take a short nap. He had just got stretched out when there came a ring at the telephone. Two gentlemen were at the shop and want ed to see him at once. He was tired, but business was business he thought, so he hustled down to the shop, only to learn that the two gentlemen had just left. They had got down the street three or four hundred yards. But the man of business by virtue of much halooing finally succeeded in attracting their attention. They halted, and very much out of breath, he soon came up with them.

They had just called at his office; did they wish to see him?

Both gentlemen nodded profoundly. Yes, they had called to see him on a very important matter; they were soliciting subscriptions for a mission in—and here followed the usual recital, and the subscription book was thrust under the Sackville man's nose.

ST. JOHN, N. B., AUGUST 23, 1902.

A STURDY VETERAN.

Congratulations are due to Dr. Bay ard, who at the age of eighty-eight, and in the sixty-sixth year of his active practice, is still alert and vigorous, and disposed to take his share, in attending to the well-being of the community. The career of Dr. Bayard may be considered by those who say that Mr. Schwab has broken down at forty because of his strenuousness. The president of the Steel Trust has probably been no more strenuous in any five years than Dr. Bayard has for fen times that long.

Yet Dr. Bayard is not the oldes physician in St. John. Dr. William Harding, now well advanced in his eighty-ninth year, who, we believe began his medical practice the year before Dr. Bayard, may be met on the street any day. He too had his share in public service, and took his part in fighting ancient epidemics. Dr. Harding, however, retired from active practice some years ago. His less combative disposition and greater serenity would perhaps permit the advocates of

He has carried on a large practice , without sparing himself, and at the same time has been more or less of a storm centre and disturbing influence, cherishing always a noble discontent with all unhealthy influences and surroundings. Notwithstanding all this he is today about the youngest and most cheerful man of fourscore end of Canada.

The St. John public hospital, established nearly half a centur ago, through Dr. Bayard's persistent energy and aggressiveness, was in its early days quite up to the standard of such institutions elsewhere. But the building is now behind the times, and the situation is not one which would be chosen under existing circumstances. It is suggested that a very large sum of money shall be expended for the improvement and equipment of this old building, though the place will certainly have to be abandoned before a great many years. Is Dr. Bayard not young enough to start a new campaign and to lead an agitation in favor of spending this $25,000 or $30,000 on a new building which will give permanent value for the outlay?

FEDERAL AND LOCAL GOVERN-MENTS.

We have Premier Tweedie again with us, fresh from the coronation Perhaps the local government may now be able to fixe the date of the provincial election, though it is more likely that the ministers may wait until Mr. Blair comes home.

There is no particular reason why Mr. Blair should take an interest in the fate of Mr. Tweedie's government, for it has been no source of strength to him or to the federal administration. Enlightened self-interest would perhaps lead the ministers of railways to disclaim aff further responsibility for the government at Fredericton. But the provincial ministry, such as it is, owes its existence to federal influence and patronage employed at the Sast election. Mr. Tweedle and Attora ey General Pugsley will, no doubt, call for the same help that was given do Mr. Emmerson and Mr. White. But any of Mr. Blair's supporters will F'rengly resent an attempt to make tem supporters of the provincial mini ry. PULP OR PULP-WOOD.

The resolution passed by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association in favor of an export duty on pulp-wood will commend itself to practical people in this country. Canada has a larger supply of wood suitable for pulp than any other country in the world. The public is limited the raw material nust soon be procured from Canada, and according to the preamble of the his country. Why should the United States con sumers take this material in the hape of wood and not in the form of pulp or paper? Because they want to pulp and paper industries. This is public policy across the line, and pubpulp and a higher duty on paper. The pulp duty does not wholly exclude anadian pulp, but the paper duty is prohibitive. The consequence is that while with the raw material in our ands we are inda position to contro the whole business from the tree to the finished article. We are getting out of it the least possible benefit, by shipping the wood in its natural condition So long as Canada is willing to supply the wood to them our practical neighbors will take good care that we send them very little pulp and no paper. United States capitalists are buying Canadian spruce forests as fast as they can get them. Every few days we read of the purchase of some new tract of land, or the acquisition of valuable limits. Thus Canada has no even the influence of her own timber

As a country we can now or a fev hence decide for purselves whether the labor required to turn Canadian wood into pulp and paper can determine whether the work shall be done in this country or in another where the law forbids the owner of an industry to employ a Canadian. As the matter stands the forests of Canada are depleted for the production of paper, and Canadian working men are prohibited from carrying on the owners on the side of home industries.

operations. Under natural conditions pulp mills onsuming Canadian material to supply pulp or paper for other countries would be erected in Canada and operated by residents of this country. So far as our exports to the Mother Cou moderation to predict for him a long of affairs. We ship pulp and not pulplife ,with a peaceful and honored old wood to England. But to the United States we are shipping more pulpwood than pulp, because the protective tariff of that country establishes conditions more favorable to industry in that country. That is all right from the United States point of view, but not from ours. The proposed export duty on pulpwood would not restore natural conditions, but it would readjust the balance of advantage and give Canada the pulp industry that belongs to her. In time the policy could be carried farther so that the paper industry depending upon Canadian material would also be established here. But in and eight that can be found in this the meantime there is no reason why Canadian wood-pulp should be shipped in the same state that it grows.

A DOUBTFUL MORAL.

All the papers are pointing morals sident of the steel trust. At fifteen or so Charles Schwab was poor enough At twenty he was started on the road to preferment. At a little over thirty he was Mr. Carnegie's chief man wit a salary equal to that of the president of the United States. Before he was forty he was president of the largest industrial combination in the world with an income of a quarter of a million for his services, and was worth plants, while from a beautiful arch of many millions. At forty he is an invalid, unable to get any joy out of bell of sweet peas and white carnalife, and under the necessity of giving up all work and care. Now the papers want to know what is the good of it all, and take for granted that Mr Schwab is a victim of over-strenuous-

Yet any reader of any of thes papers can name a dozen persons, not at all strenuous, who have become invalids while comparatively young men Mr. Carnegie has been strenuous and is strong for his age. The Sun could name a number of quite idle persons who are no older than Mr. Schwab and whose chances of future activity and comfort are worse than his. Let tion, whence amid a superabundance t not be supposed that health and long of rice and good wishes, they left for ife are the reward of imactivity, or that active men must needs die young.

The other day a newspaper man who is laboring in one of the lower section for complicity in the murder of William Doherty. He found the veteran officer, Sergt. Hipwell, in charge of the station. His presence under such memories of another tragedy, which occurred in St. John almost a quarter of a century ago. The newspaper man was then an ambitious young reporter on a city daily, while the sergea a much sprier, though not less faithful, ember of the police force. It was the almost forgotten Quinn murder. Elizabeth Quinn, a woman of 81 years, living alone in a secluded spot a few miles from the Marsh bridge, was found cruelly murdered one evening by neighbor, having had her brains dashed out by an axe. The instrument of death, covered with blood and a few stray hairs from the grey head of the poor creature, was found nearby the the heart and heavy feelings in the corpse. Suspicion early fastened upon stomach a wandering character named William Vaughan, who had been seen lurking about the premises. The reporters and he police almost instantly recognized the man from the description of him that was given. The forenoon following the murder, Vaughan was seen walking up King street by the reporter seize the murderer and cry for the police, but before he could put the thought into execution he noticed that Vaughan was being followed by officer Ross of Carleton, in civilian's The officer, who did not wish to create to the reporter that he had Vaughan under arrest. The reporter wheeled about and followed the officer to the police station. Then, as in the Doherty ase, Sergt. Bilious Dyspepsia.

Dreadful Complaint Accompanied by Headache, Sickness of the Stemach, Vomiting That Can be Permanently and Quickly Cured by Ferrozone.

Some persons have attacks of Bil ious Dyspepsia very frequently, and feel as if they were about to die. The whole system seems to collapse. The ongue becomes coated, the face a salow pallor, and a bitter taste is always oticeable in the mouth. At times the owels are very constipated, but occaionally acute diarrhoea is caused by the accumulation of bile in the sys

It is highly dangerous to allow such condition to imperil your life. It must be cured and the simplest and surest remedy is Ferrozone. It digests every particle of food eaten, and prevents the waste products from clogging up the system. Ferrozone restores all deranged or gans to a healthy, vigorous condition. It keeps the bowels well regulated makes the kidneys eliminate all poisons from the blood, and supplies ecessary elements to build up and strengthen the entire body. Mr. Louis Mechan, one of Peter borough's most enterprising and well three years was an unceasing sufferer from Billous Dyspepsia. He was cured permanently by Ferrozone and by his experience that he gives following testimondal: "About three years ago," says Mr.

eehan, "I had the Grippe, which left me in a very run down condition that finally / developed into Dyspepsia. was unable to eat but a few things and had a craving for acid. I gave up did not help me, and on the advice of a friend used Ferrozone. It not only cured me of Dyspepsia and Biliousness, but has built up my strength to what it was before I had the Grippe. I can recommend Ferrozone as an deal restorative."

He referred in passing, to the question whether the local legislature had power to pass the lunday law, but on account of previous judgements, did not press it. Taking up the sub-section of the act for violation of which the charge was made, he argued that the passengers did not go up for "pleasure and amusement only," but that some had a definite purpose, endance on the service at Brown's Flats and on that of the yacht club. He commented on the fact that row boats and sail boats were met on the trip up and that a number of the yachts of the squadron were sailing around the river, and that for the poor man, without a private yacht or boat, there was no means of enjoying an out-

Judge Ritchie said he would not be at all surprised if during the next session of the legislature the act would be amended so as to make provision for excursions for laboring men Sun-day afternoons during the hours from two to five, when practically no church services were going on. He believed that some people would come out boldly and say that though strongly in favof of a due observance of the Lord's day, everything but liquor might be sold in the park on Sunday. That would afford the poor man an oppor tunity to give his family a cheap and njoyable excursion.

D. R. Chandler, Moncton, $2. Pte. S. B. Smith, 3rd R. C. A., $2... PRESENTATION TO MAJOR PARKS About 3.30 o'clock this afternoon large number of ladies and gentlemen gathered round the marquee tent to attend the At Home given by Lt. Col. McLean and Mrs. McLean and to take part in the presentation to Major John H. Parks of a piece of plate. The president of the association, Lt. Col. McLean, announced the purpose of the assembling and called on the secretary, J. H. Hartt, to read the fol- is nicely engraved: "Major John H.

Dear Mr. Parks—We have requested your presence here this afternoon at our annual gathering, so familiar to you in other years, in order to express to you somewhat of our in order to express to you somewhat of our April, 1902."

Brunswick Provincial Kine Association, in grateful appreciation of his services as president, October, 1878, to April, 1902." gathering, so familiar to you in other years, in order to express to you somewhat of our regret at your retirement from the presidency of this association. It is a noteworthy thing in our history, that for twenty-four years you have been elected continuously as president, and much does the association appreciate the constant interest you have manifested in its success. The period during which you have been so related to the association has witnessed many changes in the conditions of our shooting. Many changes, too, have occurred in the ranks of those who have, as it were, served under you, and in not a few instances two generations of competitors have been encouraged and rewarded by your generous support of this manly pastime. You withdraw from the presidency amidst the regrets of us all, but also with the warmest appreciation of the members past and present, and I now ask your acceptance of this piece of plate as in some degree an expression of those feelings, and we trust that it may be to you a pleasant reminder of your connection with the rifle shooting in New Brunswick, and rest assured of this, that you have our best good wishes for the years to come.

After the reading of the address, Lt Col. McLean called on Lt. Col. Beer to supplement the feeling expressed in the address by a few remarks. Beer said he felt from his heart the association were losing a good man from their head; though he had no doubt they were getting a good man in Lt. Col. McLean to take his place. He briefly outlined the history of the association. After the decease of Col. Perley, the association had the good fortune to pick out a man who had the entire confidence of every sho in the province, and no one's name could be put in nomination as long as Maj. Parks was able and willing to hold the position. The Hon. Attorney General Pugsley made a short, happy speech, in the course of which he stated he had known Maj. Parks for some years, and that, when in January, 1876, Maj. Parks presented him with what he considered the greatest gift he ever received, his wife, he (the Major) displayed the same good judgment he had always displayed as president of general thought the local government, although they have nothing to do with rifle associations so that they might continue to improve throughout the province. For himself he was prepared to support any reasonable request that might be presented on behalf of these associations.

Maj. Arnold, who was introduced as one of the oldest friends of Maj. Parks, made special reference to the generosity exhibited by Maj. Parks in aid of the association during his long term of office. In concluding he wished Maj. Barks many happy years of Three rousing cheers were then given Three rousing cheers were then given for Maj. Parks, who in responding, thanked the members of the association and the ladies and gentlemen present for their kindly reception of him. He was impressed with a sense of the kindness of the association. He had passed many bears as a rehad passed many happy years as pre-sident of the association, and he could never remember having had any clash during all that time, although his term had not been so successful as he could have wished. He would treasure the handsome piece of plate presented to him, and for which he was very grateful, and thankful, as Points. long as he lived. In regard to the Independent and Canadian Forest Sgt. W. Besides the interest taken by the officers of the association, a great deal depended on the militiamen, who must keep continually practicing, the love of shooting increasing with the practice. He looked forward with glow-ing anticipation for the future of New Brunswick Provincial Rifle Association. After he had once more thanked the association for their gift, Major Parks was again the recipient of three-hearty cheers. Mrs. H. H. McLean, Mrs. R. C. Skinner, Miss Skinner, Mrs. O. R. Arnold, and Miss Arnold, assisted by a number of other ladies, served hot coffee, sandwiches, cake and other light refreshments from the marquee and a most enjoyable afternoon was con-months, is able to be out again.

Early in September Dr. McLeod will visit the county, and later, Rev. B. H. Thomas. These will be followed by a number of other speakers, the dates of whose meetings have not yet been arranged. Besides, there are a number of local men, who have to take the platform to advance the movement, and the prohibitionists claim that the united efforts of these gentlemen will be sufficient to arouse such interest and enthusiasm among the Albert county voters, that the de feat of any candidate who will not take such pledge as has been mentioned, will be practically assured. It is the intention to run a continual series of meetings from now till election day. The schedule of meetings be addressed by Mr. Cabill is as follows: Aug. 26th, Hillsboro; Aug. 27th, Lower Coverdale; Aug. 28th, Hope-well Cape; Aug. 29th, Albert Mines: Aug. 30th, Hopewell Hill; Sept. 1st, Waterside; Sept. 2nd, Alma; Sept. 3rd,

A ROMANTIC STORY.

Sam Napier, Whose Tragic Death Was Recently Reported, Discovered the Largest Nugget of Pure Gold Ever Found on This Rarth-His Own Story of the Find.

OTTAWA, Aug. 18 .- A romance and tragedy were bound up in the life of Samuel Hawkins Napier, in charge of one of the Gilmour & Hughson Lumber Company's supply stations two hundred miles up the Gatineau country, in the pine woods, far and away beyond the utmost limits of civilization, whose body, half eaten away by rats, was brought down to Desert for interment last week. He was the discoverer of the greatest nugget of pure gold that the world ever knew. Travelling with it from Melbourne, Australia, to London he became one of the lions of the world's capital and the guest of royalty. Returning to Bathurst, New Brunswick, he was elected a member of the proyincial parliament for his native county of Gloucester. But long since the fortune which came to him so easily passed from its hands and its former possessor was glad to earn his daily bread by the sweat of his brow at almost any employment he could command. The story is one for the latter day novelist, but with gether true. In 1852 the world was stirred by the reports of the fortunes won by the pick in the gold fields of Australia. The adventurers of Europe and America found their way thither, some to the realization of the dreams they had and left the tent open. We thought it cherished, others to the disappointment the best way to prevent suspicion, and and grief of unsatisfied ambition. At it worked all right. No one in the that time a purser on a clipper sailing camp knew of the nugget, and our for-ship plying between Liverpool and tune and lives depended on the secret Melbourne was the subject of this being well kept. For three months the sketch. The fever in time caught him too, and in 1857 he threw up the sea to the end of that time we washed out join his brother at the Kingowar dig-our claim. We found a number of gings, not far from Melbourne. Their nuggets in the same hole, one of which claim was not a large one in extent, weighed eight pounds. But for the thirty-six feet square, but in it was most part the big nugget was all we eyes of the Queen of England sparkle. all our scores we had only a thousand

'We had got down to the pipe-clay extinct river and was the chief charac-teristic of all alluvial diggings in Austo come. My first thought was that some one would come along and see what we were digging out; so we tried to keep it partly covered while we dug away with pick and shovel."

'Weren't you excited ?" I asked. "Excited! I cannot describe to you how excited I was, especially when the nugget was at last got free. It was all I could do to lift it and I saw that the was solid, pure gold. It was two feet four inches long, by ten inches get with us. Her Majesty and the wide, and from an inch and a half to It weighed exactly 146 pounds, four ounces, three pennyweights, and was actually the largest and finest nugget of pure old ever found anywhere in the world. knew that it was of great value/ "Certainly. I knew it was a fortune, and the very knowledge that it was enormously valuable made us afraid that so reone would discover what we had found and rob us of it. The first thing we did was to cover it over with loose dirt and then we sat down to plan how we would get it out, so as to worked ourselves into a state of anxiety. Low could we get that nugget out without someone seeing it. Had we only unearthed a fortune to find ourselves in danger of losing it? "At last, we lit upon a plan: We remembered that we had loaned a tub to a tailor in the mining camp. We would go down to his place and get the tr's on a wheelbarnow and as we ranged the whole plan very carefully. We were to take turns in wheeling, and if any one spoke to us one was to stop and talk while the other wheeled right on. The scheme worked well and just about dusk we landed the nugget in our tent. We threw it under one of the low beds and sat down to wait till midnight. Early in the night we put out our light and pretended to go to bed. It seemed to us 12 o'clock yould never come. lights were out and not a soul stirred in the camp. Now was out time to put the nugget in a place of safety. "With a pick and shovel we began to work right in the middle of our tent. We worked hard, and in the course of a few hours we had a hole six feet deep. Into that we laid the nugget and filled in the earth with great care, so as not to leave a trace of our work Then we felt safe. No one had seen the nugget but ourselves, and it was now burled six feet out of sight.

No one could get it without great trouble. But a nugget buried in the ground was no use to us. We must get it to Melbourne. There was plenty of time to organize a plan, and besides there might be other auggets in our got out of the claim. The circumstances are best given in ride. Armed only with a shotgun and go to Melbourne, which meant a long Napiers own words as taken by John Lambert Payne, secretary to the minsuspicion on the part of the others that we had a prize, we reached Melbottom which marked the bed of an bourne. Next day we deposited the nugget in the bank, and our fears were tralia, when my pick struck something hard. There was not the same ring to it. It struck dead. Scraning the dirt Kingower gold fields. While in Melit. It struck dead. Scraping the dirt away I caught sight of the bright yellow color of pure gold. The Queen sent for us and we dined at Buckingham Palace. We drove down from the Bank of England Prince Consort received us most gracithree inches and three-quarters thick. ously, and the Prince of Wales, who was a lad of fifteen, showed a very deep interest in the nugget. I do no deep interest in the nugget. I do not wonder at that, for it was one of the prettiest sights one could see. It was 23.7 carats fine, or as near absolutely pure gold as it is possible to get it.

Of course the young Prince could not pure gold as it is possible to get it.
Of course the young Prince could not lift it. Then the nugget was put on exhibition at the Crystal Palace, for which privilege we were paid $250 a week. We lived at a swell hotel on the Surrey side and had a great time. This lasted for three months, during which time Sir Roderick Murchison had a cast made of the nugget for the British Museum. The work was so perfectly done by an Italian that you couldn't prevent any one knowing it. We dis- tell one from the other until you liftprevent any one knowing it. We discussed scheme after scheme until we worked ourselves into a state of any. Finally we sold the nugget for $60,000. It was not worth more than $50,000 intrinsically, but being the largest and finest gold nugget ever found we got $10,000 more for it than its real value. After a time it passed into the hands of the Bank of England, the intention being to keep it for the British Museum. But about that time a new general manager or directorate came passed the hole where the nugget lay every one the nugget was melted down and turned into money. It yielded $10,000 sovereigns, and that was the end of the great nugget."

Are War Canoe Champions of America -Grand Trunk Club Victors.

CHATHAM, Aug. 18.-This has been by far the most exciting day at camp Nauset since the American canoe asociation began its annual meet at

The great event of the meet, the war canoe race for the championship of America, had been scheduled to be paddled at 10 o'clock this forenoon, but was postponed until five this afternoon to allow the Canadian crew to partici pate, as they missed connections with the Sunday train for the cape and could not reach camp until noon today. They reached Chatham at 11 a. m., their big new war canoe being brought down from Harwich over the Chatham branch in a passenger car, together with their club four canoe and several small ones. The boats were quickly loaded upon a lumber dray and reached the camp about 1 o'clock, when the big campe was eyed critically by the Yankee canoeists, as was also the muscular crew of 15 men.

BIG CANADIAN CANOE. The new Canadian boat, which is built on lines furnished by members of the club, is 30 feet long, 17 inches deep, 44-inch beam, and weighs 250

bounds, while the American cance, although of the same length, is only sinches wide, and thus considerably

It has long been a moot question a to whether a canoe of a type that would carry 15 men could be paddled as fast as a lighter and , narrowe craft with a crew of nine men complete victory of the Cana dians today, however, would seem to settle that question, although the fact that Medford crew was not in the mos complete racing trim, while the Waw bewawas were in a still less favorable position on account of having three en in their crew who had never be fore been in a race, would count for something in the result. refore it is partially arranged already that tomorrow the Canadian crew will send nine picked men over the course in the Wawbewawa's boat against the Medford nine and see if they can win out with their sharp quick stroke of 70 to the minute in the lighter boat, against the longer swinging Medford stroke of 60 to the min

The hundreds of visitors who came to see the contest and had waited patiently through the day until nearly sunset were well paid by having an opportunity to witness probably as hotly a contested struggle as ever oc curred at Pleasant Bay. The Can adians were apparently confident, especially after learning that they were to go up against some who were not trained for racing, while they were all in fine mettle.

LIVELY CONTEST.

As soon as the gun was fired they shot across in the lead with a stroke of about 60 to the minute, all in perfect unison, which sent the big canoe ahead at great speed. Wawb went over second, with Medford about a length astern, both crews paddling a long body stroke of 48 to 50.

At the first quarter Medford began to work up on Wawbewawa and both crews began to get into a quicker stroke, while the Canadians, seeing that they had a sure thing at 65, kept their boat going at a steady rate into the head sea against the tide and wind

At the half Medford was second boat with the Wawbewawas about one length astern, but paddling a mighty good race, and at the three-quarter the relative positions had not changed, Grand Trunk being ahead, Medford second and Wawbewawa third, about a length apart. The Canadians here pushed ahead and finished about three lengths in the lead, their time being 7m. 263-5s., with Medford 18s. behind and Wawbewawa 10s. later. The Canadians therefore won the

A MASCOT'S DEATH. Dog That Passed Through the South African War Killed Here.

There is sorrow in one squadron of the Second Canadian Mounted Rifles over the untimely death of their mascot, a dog belonging to Sergt. Bet-tle. After passing through the South African campaign safely he was killed by the wheels of a waggon in St. John. The dog was purchased in a Kaffir kraal and at once attached himself to Sergt. Bettle's squadron. During the campaign he was twice wounded by fragments of shells, but gallantly kept to the front and never went to the hospital. He passed through the heavy Hart's river fight and was lying near Lieut. Ralph Markham when the latter was shot. When peace was declared he left his native home with his new

There never will be a treatment for Deafness that will cure all cases. Such a thing is ridiculous and impossible. There never will be a treatment that will cure every case of any disease. Do not listen to the advice of those who tell you that your deafness has lasted so long that nothing else can be done for it. Very many who have been deaf for years can be entirely cured, and still many others who are rendered by their deafness totally unfit to transact business, or have intercourse with their friends, can receive enough benefit to make them useful citizens, and a comfort and a blessing to their homes, and the community at large.

Therefore, TAKE NO RISK! Do not let a trouble of the ear of any kind run on from week to week, month to month, or perhaps year to year, until the parts are so completely destroyed that there is little hope of regaining this valuable and important sense. AN ABSURD REASON.

"Well." says some one in answer to the words of my text, "the reason I despise the church of God is because there are certain parts of the Bible I do not understand. Therefore I will fiet press to believe what I cannot comprehend." Now, my friend, such a statement is simply absurd. From such talk one might suppose that the only inexplicable things in the whole universe are those recorded between the lids of holy writ. Why there are whole realms and cycles and universes of facts in every direction yet untraversed and unexplained. You cannot focus the whole heavens with one telescope nor span infinity with the finite. You might as well try to build a range of mountains from Long Island to England by pitching pebbles into the Atlantic ocean or try to empty Pacific by dipping up the waters with a sewing girl's thimble as to attempt to tuild up a system of science or to develop a belief in the Bible unless you are willing to accept some things which you cannot explain. But, though statements may be made in the Bi!ble which you and I cannot understand, the salient truths, the Calvary truths, the converting truths, are all simply old truths. I defy any unbiased man to read the simple words of the four gospels and remain blind to their meaning. No man can read the story of the prodigal son and fail to realize that God is represented by the aged father, that his own sinful life is represented by the sins of the younger son, that repentance and peace are represented by the return home and the divine love and forgiveness by the ring and the fatted calf and the father's kiss. Spiritual light and deeper faith will come later. So, my brother, as you believe in God the Father God the Son and God the Holy Ghost as you believe that Jesus suffered and died upon the cross for our sins, as you believe that Christ has gone to heaven to prepare a dwelling place for those who are cleansed by his blood you believe all that is needed to qualify you to come into the church he established on earth. This was the saving belief of the Philippean jailer, to whom Paul said, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved and thy house." A man is not neces sarily barred from the church of Jesus Christ because he does not fully understand all the Bible. He is received and welcomed because he believes that "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosover believeth on him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

ONE PASTOR'S EXPERIENCE.

One day a woman came to the most noted minister of the south, the Rev B. M. Palmer, of New Orleans, She said, "Pastor, I cannot accept and believe the doctrines of the Presbyterian church; therefore I am afraid I must have my name dropped from the church "What do you not believe? asked Dr. Palmer. "Well, there is the Presbyterian doctrine of foreordina tion. I cannot believe that God knows the end from the beginning. I cannot understand how he can foresee everything and yet I be a free agent." never asked you to believe the doc-trine of foreordination," said Dr. Palm-"Well," said the woman, "I cannot believe the doctrine of election "I never asked you to believe the doc trine of election," again said Dr. Palmer. "What, then, do you want me to believe?" "As a minister of the Presbyterian church," Dr. Palmer replied, "I have to accept the Confessi of Faith, but you as a lay member only have to believe two great doc trines. The first is, that man is a sin ner. You believe that? The second is, that Jesus is a Saviour and died for your sins. You believe that. As a believer in those two great doctrines, I want you to throw yourself upon the mercy of Christ, and you can be saved. This is all the Presbyterian church

ANOTHER REASON ANSWERED.

"Well," remarks another man, "I do not join the church because of the inonsistencies of its members. Some profess one thing and practice another. They say Christians ought to be of the half who do attend church do the gossip at the club or in a ballro With the startling statements of that hypocrites I do not want to join it."

Step, my brother! You know that As long as the church is filled with some of the very best men in every community are members of the different Christian churches. You know, as well as I know, that though some of who have banded themselves together for the purpose of prayer and communion with God and of trying to make their fellowship better and purer and truer and more Christlike. There are thousands and tens of thousands of church members who are no more hypocrites than your Christian father and mother, who were also members To demonstrate how much you really respect the Christian church, though you may not know it, I would like to ask you a question. If you were stranded as a young woman in a distant city, without money or friends, to whom would you go for help?. To the salpon keeper? To the rich brewer? No, no! Without doubt you would go straight to some Christian minister's home, You would so to him, just as many young men and women come to me, and you would say, "My father and mother are members of Dr. So-and-so's church, in such and such a town. I have no money. I want to get home. Will you help me?" have you realize how much you respect the church of the Lord Jesus Christ 1 would picture you stranded as a shipwrecked sailor upon a strange coast. What would you most prefer to seea fortress, a king's palace, an army encampment or the steeple of a Chrisery intelligent man or woman knows > munity which does not protect the Christian church is an unsafe community in which to dwell, and there is no exception to the rule. WHAT THE OHURCH IS FOR. When you criticise the sincerity of certain church members, you should not forget that the church of Christ was instituted for the imperfect as well as the perfect, for the moral cripples as well as for those who are spiritually whole. In the church there are to be found members like a man whom a friend of mine was one evening defending. Howard Crosby came to this gentleman and said: "Doctor, how can you like such a man? You know he is not what he ought to be." My friend turned to him and said: "Dr Crosby if you had a little child who had lost an eye or was deaf or who was born lame would you despise him on account of his infirmity? Well, my friend is a moral cripple. I do not like him be cause he has lost one eye and one leg and one arm, but I do love him because, by the grace of God, he is trying to struggle against his daily temptations and his spiritual deformities." So you will find in the church of God today moral cripples. They are struggling every day of their lives against sinful temptations; they keep on struggling, keep on praying, keep on reaching up to God; keep on staying in the church because they know that Christ did not come to institute a church for perfect men. He came to heal the sick and not the well. The church of God is the great earthly opthalmologist, loves to open the eyes that are blinded of sin. "Well," observes another hearer, the reason I do not join the church is because I believe a man can be jus as good a Christian ouside the church as inside." Now, I would not assert that all men who are non-churchgoer are unchristian men. John Newton used to say: "When I get to heaven, I shall have three great surprises. One great surprise will be to find so many people there I did not expect to see, The next surprise will be to find so many people absent whom I expected to see, and the third great surprise will be to find that I got to heaven myelf." Like John Newton, when mo self." Like John Newton, when most of us reach heaven—I pray we may all be there—I believe we shall be very much surpised to find there some people who never entered the church door and never publicly professed their faith at the church altar. Mr. Beecher once beautifully and poetically said: "I am glad that some gospel seeds have been blown over the church wall and that fruit trees and flowers most pleasant to the eye are springing up outside the church garden as well as inside, and, though I wish they were within the though I wish they were within the inclosure, where the boars out of the woods could not waste them and the wild beasts of the field devour them, yet I love them and am glad to see them growing there."

Now, Parley, it back upon the church of Christ as I love him and eternity. back upon the church of God and yet give to Christ your true and feryent love, because I believe that, as Christians, we should look upon the church as a collection of God's children. Thereas a collection of God's children. There-fore we should accept and love its members as our spiritual brothers and sisters, children of God, and we our-selves should long to be of the selves should long to be of the spinitu-An old Boston merchant loved a on merchant's only son had enlist ed for the civil war. Down at the front in 1864 he was shot. Wounded unto death, he was carried into the home of a southern lady and nursed there until he died. But just before his death he looked up into the sweet face of the southern lady and said: "I am the only son of a rich Boston merchant. My father will be heartbroken when he hears of my death. After the war is over, and as your money is all swept away, I want your son to go to Boston and see my father. I want him to tell my father that you have nursed me for weeks and months. Then my father will love your son for my sake." the dying boy with trembling fingers upon a slip of paper;-"Dear Father-I am dying. This young man is the son of the dear lady who has taken your place and mother's. Take her son to your heart for my sake." Time passed on, and the awful carnage came to an end. The home of the southern lady was swept away. day the young man, armed with the dead son's letter, started for Boston. When he was ushered into the office of the old merchant, at first the latter would not even speak to him. The old merchant kept on at his desk writing. But when the young man placed the message of the dead boy upon the merchant's desk the broken hearted father arose and put his arms about the young man's neck and sobbed, "I will love you for my boy's sake yes, for my dead boy's sake." Now, I do not believe it is possible for us to love Christ unless we also love his church for his sake. I do not believe, it is possible for us to love the church unless for Christ's sake we also leve Christ's children, who are members of that church, nor do I believe it possible for a Christian man to be as good a Christian outside of the church of Christ as if he were a true, hearty, ac-

Mark you well my statement. I did not affirm that there were no Christian men outside of the church of Jesus Christ, but I did affirm that a man cannot be as good a Christian outside of the Christian church as inside. There may be good Christians found outside of the church. There may be good Christians who prefer the society of Sabbath desecraters and worldly pleasure seekers instead of the society of God's children, who love to gather in the house of praise, but I frankly confess I have never found good Christians who prefer to seek the society of of those who delight in God's house Jack roses may grow in cesspools, but as a rule the most beautiful roses blush the shadow of the church spire is a a deeper red and swing a sweeter incense in a flower garden than among the thorns of a wild hedge.

ONE HONEST REPLY

"Well," answered another man, will tell you frankly why I despise the church of God. The reason I do not oin the church is because it is too straightlaced for me, and I am willing to give up my own way of living. My brother, I believe you have told me the exact truth. I believe ninety-ninehundredths of those who scoff at the church scoff principally because they re not ready to surrender some secret sin. But as you have given me one honest answer I want you to give me another to a question just as import-ant. If you are not ready to surrender your secret sin and join the church where is that sin going to send you? Some time ago I stood in the depot of our national capital watching a little colored boy about five years old asleep upon one of the benches. The little baby had a card "Conductor, will you please see that this little boy is put in the right train and sent to Atlanta Ga., where friends will meet him?"

As I stood there watching that little child I said to myself: "Some people seem to be sleeping in the great depot of sin as unconscious of their surroundings as that colored baby. They care, And satan has pinned a tag upon them to send them through, like baggage, to the great city of eternal despair.

My unrepented brother, as you are unwilling to join the church because you are reluctant to give up your secret sin, I ask you where will that secret sin ultimately send you? You need to be aroused from your spiritual lethargy and to realize your awful danger. would especially plead with you to sur-render your sins and dedicate your life to Jesus Christ by joining the church because, in your heart, you know well what you ought to do. I have always shrunk from the thought that people who were born in sin and ignorantly reared in sin and who ignorantly died in sin and unrepentant were totally lost. It has always been a questio in my mind whether some of those poor in my mind whether some of those poor, loathsome creatures who were reared in the slums of a great city and who mever heard the name of Jesus except in blasphemy might not in God's mercy be made fit for the celestial city as some who, having been born in Christian homes, have led a very different Christian life. God will never condemn to the state of the case who is horn blind because he can one who is born blind because he can rot see. He will never destroy one who is born deaf and dumb because he cannot speak or hear; but, my brother though there may be some excuse for those born in the sinful slums of a great city for not renouncing their sins and joining the church, there is no exuse for you! You were born in a Christian home, you were reared amid Christian surroundings, you were started out with Christian prayers, and the mere fact that you made such an ex-cuse as you have proves that the Holy Spirit is mightly striving with you today to confess Christ and join the church the Saviour founded on earth. You are in exactly the same position But, though there may be Christian as was Dr. Pariey when he was a dismen and women living outside of the sipated college student. One morning, mate came into his room and, sitting t to me. I am a nobody, but you hav eternity, are pleading and begging you in Christ's name to turn from you sins. They are pleading with you to come into the church of Jesus as a repentant sinner because you know and feel-you intensely feel today-that you ought to come. Are you man enough in Christ's name to come to his altar

YOUR DUTY TO THE CHURCH. But there is one answer yet to the question of my text. The answer nes from many a troubled heart. You say to me: "Mr. Talmage, I do not despise the church except by my actions in a public way. The reason I do not join the church is because I have so many home duties that I can not do my share in church work, if I should join. In a few years I expect to take my place as a member at the church altar." Now, my friend, I want you to realize this great truth; God never ordained that one duty should conflict with other duties. He never wants a mother to leave the bedside of her sick child in order to attend a missionary meeting. He never compels a man to do for the church more than he can conscientiously do But Christ does demand this: He does demand that you profess and confess his love before men. And you canno do that in a better way than at the church altar. Then let the most imminent Christian duty decide what you ought to do thereafter.

And I would especially plead with you to confess Christ in the church before men because, as you have oth ers depending upon you, your presen actions will probably decide how you loved ones will act and feel toward the church of Christ's establishment. This fact was demonstrated some years ago in Smyrnia. Two soldiers for some weeks had been attending the mission services. One night, in answer to the invitation to come forward and confess Christ and join the church, one of the sailors turned and said: "Well, I will come if Bill will." But Bill would tive, conscientious member of that hot come. But the night before the church. forward and gave their hearts to Christ and joined the church. Ther the Christian workers in Smyrna ask ed Bill how it was that he came to join the church. In nough sailor fashion he said: "Well, I liked to attend your meetings because they made me feel good. I used to think of the old when on Sunday afternoons in the old home at New Bedford we used to sing the same songs. Mother was there and my sisters and brothers and father were all there, and I really wanted to join your church; but when made me mad. What had I to do with Tom's actions? But a couple of nights ago Tom was sick. I sat up with him, and as he was tossing around in his bunk I heard him muttering some thing, and as I put my ear down to his mouth I heard him say: 'Oh, Bill, won't you come, Bill? It's my last chance for heaven, Bill. Oh, Bill, won't you come? Won't you come? And then and there I said to myself 'If my actions are going to keep Tom out of heaven, why I'll come." here we are, sir, Tom and Bill!" So today the loved ones in your home and in the store and those who are de pendent upon you are pleading with you to come into the church for their sakes as well as for your own sake and for Christ's. "Despise ye the church?" Nay, nay! In your heart you feel that it is in the church you ought to confess Christ. You know it is into the church you will want to be carried when you are dead, and it is from its hallowed precincts you will want to go forth to meet him when you shall dwell with him in heaven for-
