OPPOSITION ANXIOUS ABOUT JUDGE TUCK

Press Minister of Justice to Announce His Future Status on Bench

Mr. Aylesworth is Non-committal—Dr. Stockton Declares N. B. Judiciary Act an Attack on the Independence of the Judiciary, and R. L. Borden Accuses Dominion Executive of Conniving With New Brunswick Government—Bourassa Quotes Some Indemnities of Senators and M. P.'s Last Session.

(Special to The Telegraph.) Ottawa, July 5.—In committee on the bill abolishing the supreme court of New Brunswick and creating two courts in its place, Dr. Stockton, Mr. Fowler and Mr. Borden endeavored to ascertain as to how the judges would be appointed to the courts. Mr. Aylesworth previously said that there would be six judges appointed and there were six on the present court and it was intended to retain the services of these six judges.

Dr. Stockton said that the court was abolished because it was intended to get rid of one of the judges, namely, the chief justice.

Mr. Aylesworth said that the creation of the courts rested with the province, and what he was doing in this legislation was to meet what the province desired. As to the intention about the judge in reference to their appointments nothing had been arrived at.

Mr. Fowler pressed for an answer as to what was going to be done with the chief justice. He asked Mr. Aylesworth to say that he was to be appointed chief of the court of appeal.

Mr. Aylesworth replied that he could not say what was to be the position of the senior justice judge as to whether he was to be appointed to the court of appeal or to the trial court; neither could he say as to the second senior and the same thing applied to the third senior. The opposition appeared to be only concerned with the chief justice.

Mr. Fowler said that what he wanted was that the seniority of the judges be preserved.

Dr. Stockton said that it was a blow at the judiciary and what he was doing in this legislation was to meet what the province desired with the concurrence of the dominion executive who was attacking the independence of the judiciary. The bill was reported to committee and stands for a third reading.

The final disposition of the public works estimates last night opens the way for possible re-consideration of the bill if the Lord's Day bill can be disposed of in the commonsense today. There are, however, supplementary estimates and many details yet to be worked off. The premier's hope is to have all business finished by Tuesday, but this is regarded as almost impossible.

The bill to provide for a hall mark on Canadian gold and silver received the support of the Banking and Finance committee of the Commons today, and it has been passed by the senate it is assured of being law. W. K. McLaughlin, H. P. Toronto, president of the American Watch Case Company, spoke in favor of the measure. He said there was much misrepresentation as to goods made of gold and silver. The purpose of the bill was to prevent this. It was the custom of some in the trade, he said, to stamp watch cases as being of higher quality than they actually were. He produced a case, guaranteed for twenty years, the gold of which would wear off in three years. There were 200,000 of such cases in Canada today, he said, the manufacturer of which was out of business.

In committee again on Mr. Emmerson's bill to amend railway act, Mr. Lanouette moved an amendment embodying the conclusions of the special committee on his bill. The amendment provided that the company may run up to a speed of ten miles an hour over level crossings in thickly populated parts of cities, towns and villages, but if they desire to exceed that speed they must protect the crossing. The amendment was adopted and the date of coming into force was fixed as January 1, 1906. An amendment by Mr. Emmerson was accepted relating to regulation of express charges, providing that it shall not apply to existing contracts prior to Nov. 1, 1906, or until such time till the railway company determines.

Must Get Villagers' Consent. When the house resumed at 3 o'clock the amendment of Mr. Emmerson making it necessary to get the consent of the village before the companies could use their highways was carried.

Lanouette's amendment was voted down by 27 to 61. Mr. Staples moved to consider clause 29 to insert a provision giving the provinces the right of expropriation of any telephone company with special purpose of meeting the views of Manitoba, as of the province desired to install a telephone system. Mr. Aylesworth said that it would in his opinion be many a long day before public ownership would become an issue in Canada. As to the right of the Canadian parliament to delegate its powers in this regard, to a provincial authority he disputed. The B. N. A. act gave legislative jurisdiction to companies that were before the parliament of Canada. The Canadian Parliament had therefore jurisdiction over the affairs of the Bell Telephone Company and the proposition now was to declare that this did not belong to the dominion parliament but to the province. If parliament could declare itself of the part it could demote itself of the whole in regard to trade and commerce. If this could be done with the telephone system it could be done with the Canadian Pacific Railway and the whole system destroyed by taking away a part. To such a proposition, the Canadian parliament would only give but one answer.

R. L. Borden did not agree with the constitutional view of Mr. Aylesworth. The motion to reconsider was defeated and the bill was reported.

On the third reading of the bill W. F. MacLean moved an amendment to insert in the bill his proposition of two cents a mile for passenger rates on all Canadian railways.

Mr. Emmerson could not accept this. Some companies might be able to carry passengers at two cents a mile but others would not.

On the third reading of the bill W. F. MacLean moved an amendment to insert in the bill his proposition of two cents a mile for passenger rates on all Canadian railways.

Mr. Emmerson could not accept this. Some companies might be able to carry passengers at two cents a mile but others would not.

DIGBY BOATMEN DON'T ACCEPT JURY'S VERDICT

Eight of Them Caught Six Miles from Shore in Terrific Storm

OUT ALL NIGHT

Two Saved Themselves by Throwing Out Fish and Ballast from Sinking Craft, and Passing Schooner Came in Nick of Time—Others Had Terrible Experience Battling for Life.

(Special to The Telegraph.) Digby, N. S., July 5.—One of the worst gales of wind ever known in the Bay of Fundy at this season of the year prevailed here yesterday, accompanied by rain. The fishing fleet arrived safely at Westport, Freeport, Tiverton and along the Digby Neck shore, with the exception of four boats from Culloden. No telephone connections with that village delayed the news until tonight.

The story is a remarkable one, considering that it resulted in no loss of life. When the gale was at its worst four small open fishing boats were almost six miles off shore endeavoring to beat in. One, containing Howard Daley and Dell Till, was blown away off shore and remained all night out of sight of land, its occupants expecting every moment to see the small craft founder in the tremendous sea which was running. But by pluck and good management the little boat was kept afloat and arrived at Culloden safely late this afternoon.

In the meantime the boat containing Percy Ross and his brother Ernest filled up, with the sea breaking over her. The occupants threw out the fish and ballast and were rescued just in time by the Digby fishing schooner Emerald, commanded by Captain Ansel Casey, and taken into Turnews cove, Digby Gut.

The other two boats, containing Will Ross and his son Dillie, and John Daley and Aubrey Port, were also compelled to spend the night in the bay, but could see Point Prince light when the weather was not too thick.

The eight men who experienced such a narrow escape from disaster appear to be all right tonight, but would not care to have the same thing repeated, although they are thorough boatmen and have weathered many a gale.

(Special to The Telegraph.) Toronto, July 5.—Justice Mabee has given judgment in the Owen Sound case on the local option by-law which resulted in a majority in favor of local option. Costs are to be paid by the corporation to W. S. Sinclair, who charged that lobbying and irregularities of various kinds had been used to influence the vote.

"It is only for best of reasons that the court intervenes in a case of this kind," the judge says. "The applicant complained of many irregularities, and certainly many exist. According to his pleading, the vote stood 1,238 for and 782 against. Justice Mabee quoted the act to import that the rates should have been allowed to vote in each ward in which they were qualified. The town clerk had claimed that wards were abolished by the by-law of 1898. The by-law did not have that effect.

A proclamation issued by the town clerk stated that voters must poll in subdivisions in which they resided, and called attention to the statutory penalty for voting more than once. "The clerk," judgment continues, "did not do so, but he gave a kind notice. He was a friend of the by-law."

The provincial secretary has ordered that no licenses be issued pending an appeal.

Western Assurance Company has no need to issue stock.

(Special to The Telegraph.) Toronto, July 5.—J. J. Kenny, president, Western Assurance Company today, say since the notice calling the meeting was issued, a sufficient number of subscriptions to the ordinary stock of the company had been received to render it unnecessary to issue preference stock. The shareholders would, therefore, not be asked to authorize the issue of such stock.

A resolution was adopted approving the action of the directors and authorizing the sale of the remaining half million un-subscribed ordinary capital of the company.

Moran after Boston Ice Combine.

Boston, July 5.—An investigation into the methods of a supposed ice combine in this city and vicinity was the purpose for which District-Attorney Moran today summoned to his office Charles W. Hall-street, secretary of the Massachusetts Ice Dealers' Association, and his clerk, Oliver F. Hayward. Mr. Hallstreet did not appear, but he wrote from Kennebunkport (Me.) that he had received no summons, and only knew that his presence was desired through the newspapers.

Negotiations for amatch race between Hugh Calder's Kremont, 2:23 3/4 and Hugh O'Neill's, Daisy Wilkes, 2:24 1/2, for $500 a side was declared off this evening. The parties met at the appointed hour but were unable to agree on a date. Calder wanted the race to take place not later than Monday but this would interfere with Daisy Wilkes taking part in the races at Woodstock next week. O'Neill asked that a date be fixed for some time in September. Calder declined to accept this proposition, so negotiations fell through.

San Francisco, July 5.—For the first time since April 18 San Francisco saloons were permitted to re-open today. Licenses had been granted to about 600 drinking places and all did a rushing business. Extra policemen were detailed for duty in all blocks containing saloons, but no trouble occurred. Saloon licenses are now $500 a year, against $34 before the war.

Wife Summoned to His Side Thursday Night at Montreal Hospital

ANGLICAN SYNOD

(Special to The Telegraph.) Fredericton, N. B., July 5.—Charles F. Randolph, youngest son of the late Hon. A. F. Randolph, was taken ill this evening with a severe attack of appendicitis, and underwent an operation at the Victoria Hospital. At a late hour tonight he was resting quite comfortably.

Mrs. Atherton left for Montreal this evening in response to a telegram stating that her husband, Dr. Atherton, had taken a serious turn. The doctor went to Montreal on Monday to be treated by Dr. Sheppard for internal trouble.

The total amount of lumber rafted by the Fredericton Boom Company up to June 30 was 46,654,795 feet, of which about 40,000,000 feet are spruce. About 50,000 feet were rafted by private parties and delivered to the company at Springhill.

Manager Bliss estimates that there are about 70,000 feet in the booms at the present time.

Synod Programme. The following order of services and business meetings will be observed during the session of the synod:

Tuesday, July 10, 8 a. m.—Celebration of Holy Communion in Christ church cathedral; celebrant, Ven. Archdeacon Neales. 10 a. m.—Opening of synod in church hall, Ven. Archdeacon Neales, bishop's commissary, president. 7:30 p. m.—Public meeting in church hall, Archdeacon Neales in the chair, when interesting addresses on missionary work will be made, viz.: on foreign missions, by Miss Elizabeth R. Scovill; on Canadian missions, by Rev. G. A. Kithing; on diocesan missions, by Rev. Allen W. Smith. Wednesday, July 11, 8 a. m.—Celebration of Holy Communion at cathedral; celebrant, Ven. Archdeacon Neales. 10 a. m.—Meeting of synod in church hall. While Bishop King is able to sit up for a short time daily, he is far from being a well man. Talking excites him and he has to be kept very quiet. Before his illness he had prepared part of the usual bishop's charge to the synod, but it has never been completed and another charge will be delivered by Archdeacon Neales, his commissary.

The synod will have a number of important questions to deal with at its session next week and probably none is more important or is arousing more interest than the appointment of a coadjutor bishop. It is considered as settled that a coadjutor bishop will be appointed at this meeting of the synod.

At Christ church cathedral on Wednesday Harry W. Garvie, of Springfield, York county, and Miss Stella K. Waldron, of Tower Hill, Charlotte county, were married by Rev. T. W. Street.

E. Tiffin, traffic manager of the Intercolonial and Mrs. Tiffin are in the city.

The yacht Thistle with Mr. and Mrs. G. Deverer of Gagetown and party of friends called on the district-attorney Monday night. Mr. Neill has had eighteen thousand salmon fry placed in his lake at Carleton Place.

London Jury Differs on Dr. Adcock Case

Manlaughter the Charge—Fact That Accused Was Formerly a Doctor Weighed With Both Judge and Jury.

Failed to Convict Faith Healer

London, July 1.—A jury in the Old Bailey has just been discharged because it was unable to agree on a verdict in a Christian Science trial, in which Dr. Adcock, a Christian Science healer, was charged with manslaughter in the case of Major Whyte, who died under treatment.

Failed to Convict Faith Healer

Major Whyte had fractured his spine in a hunting accident. After eighteen months of medical treatment, in which the progress made was not what he hoped for, he turned to Christian Science. He eventually died from abscesses, which arose from neglected him, received a griffin a week for his services.

Failed to Convict Faith Healer

The defence was that Dr. Adcock only visited him as a friend, though he had not known him before, while the Christian Science treatment was really given by another Christian Scientist. The fact that Dr. Adcock actually used an aseptic powder to a certain extent and was formerly a qualified doctor probably had some weight with the jury, as it did with the judges, who pointed out that Major Whyte was a man of strong will, and however foolish a man might be he was master of his own opinions.

Failed to Convict Faith Healer

The case, however, may be taken to show that Christian Scientists run the greatest risk in the country in handling a serious illness. It may be noted that a sentence of three months at hard labor was recently imposed on a father belonging to a peculiar sect who refused to call in medical aid for his child, who was dying of an infantile complaint, when according to the medical evidence the child's life might have been saved.

The new forestry act was referred to, and Mr. Tweedie was asked if any arrangements had been made as to the forestry convention which will be held this year to discuss all lumber matters and hear the views of those interested in forest preservation. He replied that in view of the conference with the provincial premier, which it was expected Sir Wilfrid Laurier would call soon after the session closed, he had considered it better not to fix any date until it was certain he could be present.

PROGRESS AND POVERTY

Whatever his old friends of the labor party may think of John Burns in his high-spirited and more conservative attitude as a member of the government...

In saying that it seemed as if material progress were hitting the child too hard, the speaker expressed a feeling that is steadily growing on the world, and is leading to the adoption of compulsory school attendance, factory acts, and other measures...

1. The only additional expense was the salary of a transient officer; and extra printing of forms. 2. The school attendance increased 5 per cent. 3. No school houses were built on that account.

It is, of course, much more easy to point out the evil than to apply the remedy. In the large cities there is so much of abject poverty that even for those who are not idle and shiftless the mere keeping of soul and body together is to many a dreiful task.

THE TAX EVADED. Large estates in the United States appear to be able to escape the inheritance tax with marked success.

SYMPATHY RUN MAD. The New York Evening Post is not too severe in denouncing the misdirected sympathy which makes the work of prosecution so difficult in a case like that of Inaw, who murdered Stanford White.

THE DRY DOCK. The modest eulogy of the patience and persistence of the president of the Imperial Dry Dock Company which Ald. Bullock delivered at Wednesday's meeting of the city council was timely and appropriate.

as a political dry dock, and playfully observed that Mr. Robertson had run several elections on it. Well-meaning citizens from time to time assured him that he would never succeed with the scheme.

EDUCATION. The city council Wednesday afternoon, without a dissenting voice, decided to apply the compulsory school attendance act in this city.

BRITAIN TAKES "THE WHITE MAN'S BURDEN"

The Central Figure at the Fourth of July London Banquet

After a Few Witty Remarks on the Gold Question He Passed to His Subject Which He Discussed in a Masterly Manner—Praised the English Language and Dwelt on the Duty of Christian Nations, the Benefits of Education and Spread of Popular Government.

London, July 4.—Wm. J. Bryan was the central figure at the annual Independence day dinner of the English Society at the Hotel Cecil tonight. Nearly 500 members and guests surrounded the society's hall and cheered patriotic sentiments with the peculiar zeal of a born exile. Ambassador Whitelaw Reid and Mr. Bryan engaged in some sharp but good natured rivalry and banter over political differences, the crowd evincing its enjoyment of the sport with cheers and shouts of laughter.

Mr. Reid, in responding to Sir W. B. Richmond's graceful proposal of his health, said, with reference to Mr. Bryan:

"As home as a citizen, I have openly and squarely opposed him at every stage of his conspicuous career. I am emphatically sure that when I return home I shall continue to do the same. I believe he is as well established as I am, though by different reasoning, that the country we both love and try to serve has not been ruined by its gold. About as the official representative of the American people without distinction as to party, I am glad to welcome him here as a typical American, whose whole life has been lived in the daylight and one whom such a great host of my countrymen have long trusted and honored."

Bryan's Happy Reply

Mr. Bryan, arising amid laughter and cheers, said:

"The temptation to make a political speech is strong within me. I have not had a chance to do so for ten months. However, I will restrain myself. With reference to the ambassador's remarks on gold, I wish to say that when I see the progress my country has made since I have left, I wonder what it would have done walking on two legs. It is pleasing to testify that the ambassador not only has fought me, but that he has been proved by the No American rejoices more than I that he is 3,000 miles from his base. While abroad I have met many good Republicans—holding office—and I only wish there were enough of them abroad to take all the Republicans out of the country."

Chairman R. W. Jones proposed the health of King Edward, and Haymer Greenwood, president of the Canadian Society and member of parliament for the city of York, presided over the dinner.

Following the passage between Ambassador Reid and Mr. Bryan, the latter read his formal speech as follows:

"The memory of the evening spent with the American Society, Thanksgiving Day, two and a half years ago, is such a pleasant one that I esteem myself fortunate to be able to accept the invitation so kindly extended by our distinguished ambassador, Hon. Whitelaw Reid, to be your guest on this occasion. Our English friends, under whose flag we meet tonight, realizing that this is the anniversary of our nation's birth, would doubtless pardon us as we thus rejoice in our independence, for it is at such times as this that we are wont to review those national achievements which have given to the United States its prominence among the nations. But I hope I shall not be thought lacking in patriotic spirit, if, instead of drawing a picture of the past, bright with heroic deeds and unparalled in progress, I sum up, you rather to a serious consideration of the responsibility resting upon those nations which aspire to pre-eminence. This line of thought is suggested by a sense of propriety as well as by recent experience—a sense of propriety because such a subject will interest the Briton as well as the American, and by recent experience because they have impressed me not less with our national duty than with the superiority of Western over Eastern civilization."

Quotes Kipling

Asking permission to such a theme it is not unfeeling to adopt a phrase coined by a poet to whom America, as well as England, can lay some claim, and take for my text "The White Man's Burden."

"Take up the white man's burden—
—Be pale to bleed,
To build far-flung on the waves
The temple of his god,
To wipe a tear from every eye,
To poise a hundred wearies,
To open a sullen eye,
To bend sinners' bodies to his will,
To win the quarrel, his hardihood,
To do the deed more noble
Than our great Achilles did."

No one questions that Japan's influence has been a beneficent one since she has emerged from obscurity and become a power people with public schools open to all her boys and girls. The transition from a position of obscurity into a world power was scarcely more rapid than the transition from a manse into an ally. China is entering upon a similar experience, and I am confident that her era of reform will make her, not a yellow peril, but a powerful colossus in the international vanguard. In India, in the Philippines, in Egypt and even in Turkey, statistics show a gradual extension of education, and I trust I will be pardoned if I say that neither the arms nor the money, nor yet the commerce of our nations have given so just a claim to the gratitude of the people of Asia as have our school teachers sent, many of them, by private rather than by public funds.

Japan's Advance

The English language has become the vehicle for the conveyance of governmental truth ever more than for the spread of general information, for beginning with Magna Charta and continuing through the era of the American revolution and the Declaration of Independence down to the present, no language has been so much employed for the propagation of that which is generally known as the government's authority to the consent of the governed. Our own nation presents the most illustrious example known to history of a great population working out its own destiny through laws of its own making and under officials of its own choosing, although I may add, we scarcely go beyond England in recognizing the omnipotence of parliament from the people. It is difficult to overestimate the potency of the conception of government upon the progress of a nation, and, in turning the thought of the world away from despotism to the possibilities of self-government, the tale of our nation has been a most potent force.

QUEBEC WOMAN SHOTS MAN DEAD

Forest Howard, of Sweetsburg, Killed Almost Instantly by Mrs. Tracy

Christian Nations Should Stand for Peace

The Christian nations must lead the movement for the promotion of peace, not only because they are enlisted under the banner of the Prince of Peace, but also because they have attained such a degree of intelligence that they can no longer take pride in a purely physical victory. The belief that moral questions can be settled by the shedding of human blood is a relic of barbarism; to doubt the dynamic power of righteousness is infidelity to truth itself. That nation which is unwilling to trust its cause to the universal conscience or which shrinks from the presentation of its claims before a tribunal where reason holds sway betrays a lack of faith in the power of the Christian religion. It is to be regretted that the world's peace would be greatly promoted by an agreement among the leading nations, that, in the event of a dispute, the matter should be referred to an impartial court for investigation, each nation agreeing to accept or reject the decision. The preliminary investigation would, in almost every instance, insure an amicable settlement and the resulting agreement would be a sufficient protection against any possible injustice.

An Appeal for Labor

Let me go a step farther and appeal for a clearer recognition of the dignity of labor. The industrial revolution, the work of the hand has exerted a beneficial influence on the world. The theory that idleness is more honorable than toil—that idleness is more respectable than work—that others have produced than to be a producer of wealth—has not only robbed society of an enormous sum, but it has created an almost insupportable burden on the leisure classes and those who support them. Tolstoy is right in asserting that most of the perplexing problems of society grow out of the lack of sympathy between man and man. Because we imagine ourselves above work while others see before them nothing but a life of drudgery, there is constant working and constant idleness. When men and women become ashamed of doing nothing and strive to give to society full compensation for all they receive from society, there will be harmony between the classes.

Nations Should Set a Good Example

But the advanced nations cannot content themselves with the conferring of incidental benefits, if they would justify their leadership they must put forth concrete and constant effort for the promotion of universal education. The nations which lag behind, incidental benefits may be given even though the real purpose of a nation is a wholly selfish one, for as the educator of Joseph into Egypt, results in blessing to his family and to the land of the Pharaohs, so captives taken in war have sometimes spread civilization, and blacker carried away into slavery have been improved by contact with the whites. But nations cannot afford to do evil in the hope that Providence will transmute the evil into good and bring blessing out of the better sense of the term, must intend benefit as well as confer it, they must plan advantage, and not leave the results to chance.

I take it for granted that our duty to the so-called inferior races is not discharged by merely feeling their inferiority and contributing to their temporary support when some other calamity overtakes them. A much greater assistance is rendered them when they are led to a more elevated plane of thought and activity by ideals which stimulate them to self-development. The improvement of the people of inferior races should be the paramount object in all intercourse with the Orient.

Education a Great Blessing

Education comes first, and in nothing have the United States and England been more clearly helpful than in the advancement of universal education. If the design of God are disabused by His handiwork, then the creation of the human mind is indubitable proof that the intellect is intended for learning should be monopolized by a few, and He arranges Himself against the plans of Jehovah, who would deny the intellect to any part of the human race? It is a false civilization, not a true one, that encourages the permanent separation of the masses into two distinct classes, the one encouraged to improve the mind and the other condemned to hopeless ignorance. Equally false is that conception of education which would make the prosperity of one nation depend upon the exploitation of another. While no one is so enlightened enough to estimate the consequences of human action, as we can rely upon the principle that each individual profits rather than loses through the progress and prosperity of his neighbors, so we cannot doubt that it is to the advantage of each nation that every other nation shall make the largest possible use of its own resources and the capabilities of its people.

Popular Government Spreading

Can we doubt the efficiency of example in the light of history? There has been great increase in education during the past century, and the school houses have not been opened by the bayonet, they owe their existence largely to the moral influence which neighboring nations exert upon each other. And the spread of popular government during the same period, low rapid! Constitution after constitution has been adopted and limitation after limitation has been placed upon arbitrary power until Russia, yielding to public opinion, establishes a legislative body and China sends representatives to the parliament of the world to share the responsibilities of government.

I regret to say that the establishment of three infants to the Foresters' Orphan Home at St. Andrews, N. B., this year, the expenses of the High Court meeting, a balance of $1,238.87 made the year's receipts $5,363.47. The expenses for the year were $1,865.67, leaving a balance on May 31 of $1,497.80. A detailed statement of expenditures for the year is being sent to the Supreme Court for approval.

Supreme Chief Ranger Orohyatekha visited high court soon after opening and instructed the candidates in the unwritten work of the order. He also addressed the court briefly. He said the order was still doing business in the old stand and doing it successfully.
