NOTICES OF THE WISDOM OF THE KING

Rev. James Bennet, ST. JOHN, N. B.

EVIDENCES of deep and serious thought throughout the volume."-Belfast News Letter, Jan. 21, 1871. "Succeeds well in seizing on the salient points of the words of the Royal Preacher, and in bringing them home to present duty."—Glasgow Daily Review, Feb 6, 1871. "Characterized by directness of aim, sound sense, and right appreciation of the sacred writer's meaning.",—The Preachers' Lantern, (London, Feb. 1871.

"It is a good book of sterling value."-The British and Foreign Ecclesiastical Review, Apri

"The production of a highly cultivated mind.
... We have read several works on Eccleiastes, and well remember the pleasure with which years ago we perused the Royal Preacher, but for fine criticism, comprehensiveness of thought, striking illustration and uncest of thought, striking illustration and uncestentations, yet eloquent and foreible style, The Wisbon OF THE KING, we think, surpasses them all."
—St. Croix Courier, March 6, 1871. "The volume is not an unworthy companion of Dr. Buchanan on the same book."—The Homilist (Landon), April 1871.

"This is a bright, breezy book, both interes g and instructive. We can most conscien ng and instructive. We can most conscien-iously commend this book generally, as one of he most sprightly, attractive and instructive works of its kind that has fallen under our ob-ervation."—Boston Evening Traveller, May

"Every portion of the work indicates ex-tensive scholarship and mature thought."— Belfast Northern Whig. April 8th, 1871. Belfast Northera Whig. April 8th, 1871.

"The force, raciness and robust manliness of Mr. Bennett's style and mode of treatment will arrest attention and exoite interest in quarters where preaching or writing of the average quality would fall flat and dead."—Home and Foreign Record. March, 1871.

"So plain yet so suggestive, so practical yet so profound are these Lectures that while our read them you feel their deep ruth and reality; that you are in contact with realities both visible and invisible; that you are in close contact with the beating heart of nature and humanity, and that all their life and hope flow full and free from God alone."—Fredericton Head Quarters, March 1st, 1871.

"The writer is evidently well acquainted

Head Quarters, March 1st, 1871.

Hatifaz.

"He reveals in the treatment of his themes strong common sense, a firm grasp of thought, a logical acumen and a clear insight into human character. Even when dealing with trite ideas he imparts to them a novelty and interest by which they are lifted into an importance they scarcely deserve. The style throughout is lucid, pure, compact, forcible,—and it is his own—the garb of his own thinking. We have met in our perusal of the book with numerous paragraphs of finished and brilliant rhetoric—fine specimens of pulpit oratory. He is never tame nor tiresome. We have not found one slip shod sentence in the volume."—Christian Visitor, (Baptist) March 6th, 1871.

"We were not prepared to find him writing in such a fini-hed style and issuing such a volume as the result of certain preparations made for an evening lecture to his congregation." If all his pulpit perfermances are equal to these, his people have reason to rejoice in the Providence which guided his steps to them."—Evangelical Witness, May 1st. 1871.

"This is a remarkably thoughtful, solid book Mr. Beonet is evidently at home in Metaphysics and Ethics, and he is a shrewd observer of human nature in its ordinary manifestations; consequently he ranges over the lessons of the Preacher with a power of illustration which shows his mastery of the subject. The style is close and direct, and yet so lucid, that any reader may understand every sentence in the volume. . . It will, we doubt not, take its place, as it ought to do, among our household expositions of this treatise of observation and Jewish wisdom "—The Presbyterian (Philadelphia), May 20, 1871.

Jewish wistom phia), May 20, 1871.

"The lessons to be learned are drawn with a master's hand, and are expressed with a combined force and beauty that we have rarely seen surpassed in the production of any author. The ordinary reader will find noth ng that is above his comprehension, and yet it would be difficult to find a common place thought or form of expression. A combination of these requisites we deem the highest merit a writer can possess.

"We will be much disappointed if the book do not command a wide circulation. Wherever a sound literature is felt to be a deside atum, The Wisdom of the King has but to be known to be prized as a work that the world will not willingly let die."—Saint John Telegraph and Journal.

"The Wisdom of the King is well worth."

willingly let die."—Saint John Teteploph.

"The Wisdom of the King is well worth careful reading. Indeed you cannot read much of it at once. There is a constant play of fancy about the thoughts, and often the very words, that is admirably suited to the Scripture book, of which this is an exposition, but which demands such constant attention on the reader's part that he gets tired, for he does not know where it is to end. The style is compact, lucid, often sparkling and epigrammatic, the sentence cut sharply, but with a poetic fullness of original illustration that redeems them from all hirdness,"—Hulifax Monthly Record, (Church of Scot land).

"Each chapter is so well done, so lucid. yet oncise in its exposition, that it is sometimes flicult to determine which is the best and most nteresting.—Stewart's Quarterly, St. John.

He got into a Chicago paper next, and there they added a cipher to him, and passed him along worth $12,500 He now began to grow wealthy quite fast, and by the time the New York Sun got hold of him he was worth $125,000. He must have stopped at that figure quite a while; but at last, when we had given up all hope of ever seeing him again, he dropped in upon us, quite friendly like, in a Canadian exchange, and we are quite gratified to notice now that he is worth a million and a quarter. But we hope he won't grow any richer. If he does, he will be such a bad example that all our young men will want to turn misers and die millionaires. We appeal to our brethren of the press to frown down the grasping miser. If he gets any richer he will put his wealth into gold and bury it; and money is tight enough now, goodness knows. To determine what amount shall be raised by the District during the ensuing year in supplement of the moneys provided towards Teachers, salaries by the Province and County, and for the purchase, rent or improvement of School grounds and buildings, the purchase, erection, repair, furnishing and care of school-houses and out-buildings, the purchase of fuel, maps or apparatus and prescribed textbooks for the pupils of indigent parents, the payment of interest on money to be borrowed by the District, or any three expenses required in providing an efficient school.

exceeding one third more per pupil than the Trustees of other. Districts within the County.

One-halt of the County fund is to be apportioned and paid semi annually.

No public moneys will be received by Districts which fail to establish Schools under the Act. It will be observed that the amount of Provincial and County moneys to be expended in any District in aid of Schools will depend almost exclusively upon local exertion, or the direct efforts made by the people of the several Districts in maintaining their own Schools. The sum to be received by the Teacher from the Province is definite, but the exact amount that will be received by the Trustees from the County Fund on account of the average attendance of pupils, cannot be known at the time of the School meeting. The meeting should, therefore, be careful in voting its estimates to authorize a sum amply sufficient to enable the Trustees to meet the liabilities of the School year. Any balance remaining in the hands of the Trustees, is, of course, t. be carried to the received in the next School year, while any deficit arising from an authorized expenditure may be carried forward and provided for in the estimates of the following year.

The first disburgement of the County Fund will be apportioned on the School attendance made between January 15th and April 30th, inclusive.
